What is the book of Exodus about?

Exodus continues the story of the previous book, Genesis. The first half of Exodus is about how Yahweh made Abraham's descendants into a nation. This nation, which would be called "Israel," was meant to belong to Yahweh and worship him. The second half of Exodus describes how God gave the Israelites his law through Moses. The law of Moses told the Israelites how to obey and worship Yahweh properly.

The book of Exodus tells how the Israelites were to build the tabernacle. The tabernacle was a tent where Yahweh would be among his people. The Israelites worshiped and sacrificed animals to Yahweh at the tabernacle. (See: law, law of Moses, law of Yahweh, law of God and tabernacle)

How should the title of this book be translated?

"Exodus" means "exit" or "departure." Translators may translate this title in a way that can communicate its subject clearly, for example, "About the Israelites Leaving Egypt" or "How the Israelites Left the Land of Egypt." (See: How to Translate Names)

Who wrote the book of Exodus?

The writers of both the Old and New Testaments present Moses as being very involved with writing the book of Exodus. Since ancient times, both Jews and Christians have thought that Moses wrote Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy.

Why did Moses write so much about God delivering or rescuing the people of Israel?

Moses wrote much about God rescuing his people from the Egyptians to show that Yahweh is very powerful. Egypt was the most powerful nation at that time, but Yahweh was still able to free the Israelites from the Egyptians. Also, by rescuing the Israelites, Yahweh showed that he had chosen them as his people, and they should worship him.

How does the book of Exodus show the fulfillment of the promises given to Abraham?

The book of Exodus shows God beginning to fulfill his promise to Abraham. In Genesis, God promised Abraham that he would have many descendants and that they would become a large nation. When God rescued the Israelites from the Egyptians, he took them to Mount Sinai. There he made a covenant with them, and they became the nation that belonged to Yahweh.

Part 2: Important Religious and Cultural Concepts

What was the Jewish Passover?

The Jewish Passover was a religious festival. Yahweh commanded the Israelites to celebrate it every year. Passover was a time to remember how God rescued Israel from the Egyptians. The first Passover meal was eaten in the evening just before they left Egypt.

What was the law of Moses to the people of Israel?

The law of Moses instructed the people of Israel about what Yahweh required them to do as his people. In the law, God told the people how they should live so that they would honor him. He also instructed them about their need to offer animal sacrifices. God required these sacrifices so that he could forgive their sins and continue living among them. The law also described the duties of the priests and told how to build the tabernacle.

What did it mean that Israel was to be a “kingdom of priests and a holy nation” (19:6 ULT)?

Israel was a holy nation because Yahweh separated them from all other nations to belong to him. They were to honor and worship him only. This made them different from all the other nations of the world. These other nations worshiped many false gods.

Part 3: Important Translation Issues

Thus says Yahweh

This phrase is used many times in the Old Testament to introduce Yahweh’s speech. Your team should pick a standard translation. See 4:intro for more.

Pharaoh's stubborn heart

Between chapters 4–14 there are 18 cases where Pharaoh's heart is described as strong (11x), heavy (6x), or hard (1x), and one case where the Egyptians' hearts are described as strong. These are metaphors for being stubborn, that is, being unwilling to obey Yahweh or even to do what is clearly in his own and Egypt's best interest. Many cultures have similar metaphors, but not all will use the same body part. Within these cases, six times there is a neutral description that Pharaoh was stubborn without saying anyone made him so (7:13, 7:14, 7:22, 8:19, 9:7, 9:35); three times Pharaoh makes himself stubborn (8:15, 8:32, 9:34); and ten times Yahweh makes Pharaoh/the Egyptians stubborn (4:21, 7:3, 9:12, 10:1, 10:20, 10:27, 11:10, 14:4, 14:8, 14:17).

Why are the details of the construction of the tabernacle in Exodus 25–32 repeated in Exodus 35–40?

In Exodus 25–32, God describes exactly how the tabernacle was to be built. The details were repeated in Exodus 35–40. This showed that the people were to be careful to do exactly as God commanded.

Are the events in the order that they actually happened?

Most, but not all, of the events in the book of Exodus are told in the order that they actually happened. Translators may need to make it clear when the events are in an unusual order.

What does it mean that God "lived" among his people?

The book of Exodus presents God as living in the tabernacle among the nation of Israel. God is everywhere, but he lived among the Israelites in a special way. God dwelled with the Israelites because they belonged to him. He promised to lead them and bless them. In return, the people were to worship him and honor him.

Exodus 1 General Notes

Structure and formatting

This chapter is intended to form a smooth transition from the last chapter of the book of Genesis.

Special concepts in this chapter

Israel's growth

Israel grew in number. This was in fulfillment of the covenant God made with Abraham. It also caused the Egyptians great concern that there would be more Israelites than Egyptians, because the Egyptians would be unable to defend themselves against such a large number of people. Pharaoh also tried to kill all of the male babies so they would not become soldiers who fought against him. (See: fulfill, fulfilled, carried out and covenant)

End of the famine

It is obvious that some time has passed since the beginning of the famine which brought the Israelites into Egypt. Yahweh appears to be punishing the Hebrews for not returning to the Promised Land, but instead, choosing to stay in Egypt. No return attempt is recorded to have been made. (See: Promised Land and Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

“All of the descendants of Jacob were 70 in number”

This number included both Jacob's children and grandchildren. It may cause confusion, but it is important to remember Jacob only had 12 sons.

Exodus 1:1

Verses 1–7 are background information for the story. If your language has a way of structuring background information, consider using it for these verses. (See: Background Information) and his house (ULT)

Here, house refers to all of the people who live together, usually a large family with servants. Alternate translation: “and his household” (See: Metonymy)

the ones who came...They came in (ULT)

The words translated as came in could also be translated as “went in.” Use whichever form is most natural in your language. (See: Go and Come)

Israel...Jacob (ULT)

Jacob and Israel are two names for the same man. (See: How to Translate Names)

ULT

¹ And these are the names of the sons of Israel, the ones who came to Egypt. They came in with Jacob, a man and his house:

Exodus 1:2

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

² Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah,

Exodus 1:3

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

³ Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin,

Exodus 1:4

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁴ Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

Exodus 1:5

70 (ULT)

“70 in number” (See: Numbers)

ULT

⁵ And all the lives, going out of the loins of Jacob, were 70 lives. And Joseph was in Egypt.

Exodus 1:6

And...died (ULT)

Jacob and his sons spent the rest of their lives in Egypt and died there. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

ULT

⁶ And Joseph and all his brothers and all that generation died.

and all his brothers (ULT)

All his brothers includes ten older brothers and one younger brother. If your language has different words for those, you can say, “his ten older brothers and his younger brother”

his brothers (ULT)

This an instance of the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

Exodus 1:7

And the sons of Israel (ULT)

This is the first of many times in this book that sons of Israel refers to the Israelite nation or people. Alternate translation: “And the people of Israel” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

⁷ And the sons of Israel were fruitful and propagated and multiplied and were mighty, with great greatness; and the land was filled with them.

were fruitful and propagated and multiplied and were mighty (ULT)

All of these verbs mean similar things and are used together to emphasize that the Israelite people became very numerous. If your language doesn't have as many words that mean the same thing, you can use fewer words and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: “multiplied and became extremely numerous” (See: Doublet) were fruitful...and multiplied...and the land was filled (ULT)

Compare your translation of fruitful ... and multiplied ... and the land was filled here to Genesis 1:28; 9:1, 7; and especially Genesis 35:11, where God renamed Jacob to be called Israel.

were fruitful (ULT)

The birth of children to the Israelites is spoken of as if they were plants that were producing fruit. Alternate translation: “had many children” or “gave birth to many children” (See: Metaphor) and the land was filled with them (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “they filled the land” (See: Active or Passive) with great greatness (ULT)

Here the same word is used twice to emphasize how many the Israelite people had become. If your language does not repeat words like this, express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: “with much power” (See: Idiom)

with them (ULT)

Here, them refers to the Israelites. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Exodus 1:8

And...arose (ULT)

This sentence introduces a new event in the story. If your language marks this with particular discourse features, apply them here. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

⁸ And a new king arose over Egypt, who did not know Joseph.

a new king (ULT)

The story begins with the new king. Your language may have a specific way to introduce new events or new characters in a story. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

And a new king arose over Egypt (ULT)

Here, Egypt refers to the place and the people of Egypt. Alternate translation: “And a new king began to rule over the Egyptians and the country of Egypt” (See: Metonymy)

did not know Joseph (ULT)

Here, Joseph refers to both the person Joseph and to all of the good things that he did for Egypt. See the UST. (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 1:9

And he said (ULT)

“And the king said” (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Behold (ULT)

Here, behold draws special attention to what is about to be said. Use a way of drawing people’s attention that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: “Listen” (See: Exclamations)

ULT

⁹ And he said to his people, “Behold, the people of the sons of Israel are many and mighty compared to us.”

his people (ULT)

The people are spoken of as if they belonged to the king. This is an instance of the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

his people (ULT)

There is some ambiguity as to whom exactly Pharaoh was addressing. It could have been: 1) the people who lived in Egypt, the Egyptians or 2) some group of “his people” like his advisors, generals, nobles, or friends and family. Even if option 1 is meant, it is quite possible that he actually spoke to some smaller group of representatives, as in option 2.

compared to us (ULT)

Use a way that is natural in your language to compare non-specific sizes of groups of people. Alternate translation: “more than we are”

Behold (ULT)

Beginning from behold to the end of verse 10 is a direct quote of what the king said. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 1:10

let us act wisely...the ones hating us...with us (ULT)

The word us is inclusive and refers to the king and his people, the Egyptians. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We') lest he multiplies, and it happens that a battle occurs (ULT)

The king suggests a combination of two hypothetical events: 1. There are even more Israelites, 2. There is a battle. These are followed by a series of undesirable consequences: 3. The Israelites join an enemy, 4. The Israelites attack the Egyptians, 5. The Israelites leave Egypt. While the series of consequences is also technically hypothetical, the king's language indicates that if 1-2 happen, then 3-5 are certain. Use language that makes it clear that the first two events are hypothetical, and that the next three are consequences that could be expected if the first two events happen. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions) and he leaves from the land (ULT)

"and he leaves Egypt"

the land (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of what the king said comes to an end. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹⁰ Come, let us act wisely towards him; lest he multiplies, and it happens that a battle occurs, and he even adds himself onto the ones hating us, and he fights with us, and he leaves from the land."

Exodus 1:11

overseers of (ULT)

Egyptians whose job it was to force the Israelites to do hard work.

labor gangs (ULT)

Here the plural means groups. Alternative translation: "work crews" in order to afflict him by their burdens (ULT)

"to force the Israelites to do hard work for the Egyptians"

cities of storage (ULT)

These were places where the leaders put away food and other important things to keep them safe. Alternative translation: "cities in which to put away things to keep them safe" (See: Translate Unknowns)

cities of storage (ULT)

The possessive is objective; storage of goods is what occurs in the cities. (See: Possession)

ULT

11 And they set over him overseers of labor gangs in order to afflict him by their burdens. And he built Pithom and Rameses, cities of storage for Pharaoh.

Exodus 1:12

And insofar as they afflicted him, thus he multiplied and thus he spread out (ULT)

This sentence expresses a result that is opposite of what the king expected. If your language has a way to express something happening that was opposite of what was expected, use that structure. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

¹² And insofar as they afflicted him, thus he multiplied and thus he spread out. And they felt a sickening dread from the face of the sons of Israel.

And they felt a sickening dread (ULT)

“And they were afraid” (See: Abstract Nouns)

from the face of the sons of Israel (ULT)

Here, face figuratively means the presence of a person. The phrase means that the Egyptians were afraid of the Israelites’ existence in the country. Alternate translation: “whenever they saw an Israelite” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 1:13

And the Egyptians enslaved the sons of Israel with rigor (ULT)

Here, rigor is a noun used to modify the verb enslaved. Rigor could refer either to how hard the work was or how unkindly the Egyptians treated the Israelites. Alternate translation: “And the Egyptians made the sons of Israel work very hard” or “And the Egyptians harshly made the sons of Israel work” (See: Abstract Nouns)

ULT

¹³ And the Egyptians enslaved the sons of Israel with rigor.

Exodus 1:14

And they embittered (ULT)

The difficult lives of the Israelites are spoken of as if they were bitter food that was difficult to eat. (See: Metaphor)

by hard slavery (ULT)

Slavery is an abstract noun modified by hard. Alternative translation: “by making them work hard as slaves” (See: Abstract Nouns)

by mortar (ULT)

This was a wet glue or mud put between bricks or stones that held them together when it dried. (See: Translate Unknowns) and by bricks (ULT)

Bricks are hardened rectangular blocks of mud, clay etc., used for building. (Source: Wiktionary) The clay or mud was hardened either in the sun or by heating it to higher temperatures in other ways. (See: Translate Unknowns)

all their work with which they worked for them was with rigor (ULT)

“the Egyptians made them work very hard” or “the Egyptians forced them to work very hard” See how you translated this in verse 13

And they embittered...for them (ULT)

These pronouns refer to the Egyptians. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) their lives...their work...they worked (ULT)

These pronouns refer to the Israelites. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

14 And they embittered their lives by hard slavery, by mortar and by bricks, and by all kinds of slave labor in the fields; all their work with which they worked for them was with rigor.

Exodus 1:15

And...spoke (ULT)

This sentence introduces a new event in the story. If your language marks this with particular discourse features, apply them here. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

to the...midwives (ULT)

Midwives were women who helped a pregnant woman give birth to a baby.

was Shiphrah...was Puah (ULT)

These are Hebrew women's names. (See: How to Translate Names)

was Shiphrah...was Puah (ULT)

The midwives are introduced here as new participants in the story. Use your language's way to introduce new characters in a story. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

15 And the king of Egypt spoke to the Hebrew midwives, of whom the name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name of the second was Puah.

Exodus 1:16

And he said (ULT)

In the UST, And the king said, is combined with “spoke” from verse 15, because the verb for “say” is used twice before he speaks. This may be strange in some languages. If it would be unnatural to say that the king spoke or said twice, you may leave one off.

ULT

16 And he said, “When you assist the Hebrew women as midwives and you see on the birth stool, if he is a son, then you shall cause him to die; but if she is a daughter, then she shall live.”

When you assist the Hebrew women as midwives and you see on the birth stool, if he is a son, then you shall cause him to die; but if she is a daughter, then she shall live (ULT)

This is a direct quote of what the king said. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

When you assist...as midwives...and you see...then you shall cause...to die (ULT)

The king is speaking to the two midwives, so the form of you is plural. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual or plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

on the birth stool (ULT)

Women sat on this short stool as they gave birth. Therefore, it is associated with birth. Alternate translation: “as they give birth” (See: Metonymy)

if he is a son, then you shall cause him to die; but if she is a daughter, then she shall live (ULT)

These two statements are hypothetical conditions (starting at if) with instructions for what the midwives should do in each situation (starting at then). (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

Exodus 1:17

But...feared (ULT)

Use a conjunction or other language structure that expresses contrast. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

17 But the midwives feared God and did not do according to what the king of Egypt spoke to them; and they let the sons live.

Exodus 1:18

to the midwives (ULT)

These were women who helped a woman give birth to a baby. See how you translated this in Exodus 1:15.

Why have you done this thing, and let the sons live (ULT)

This is a direct quote of the king's question. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) and he said to them, "Why have you done this thing, and let the sons live (ULT)

This could be translated as an indirect quote. Alternate translation: "and he asked them why they were letting the sons live." (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Why have you done this thing, and let the sons live (ULT)

Alternate translation: "Why have you not killed the baby boys?"

have you done (ULT)

This you is plural. The king is speaking to the two midwives. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual or plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

18 And the king of Egypt called out to the midwives, and he said to them, "Why have you done this thing, and let the sons live?"

Exodus 1:19

Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and, before the midwife comes to them, they have given birth (ULT)

This is a direct quote of the midwives' response. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹⁹ And the midwives said to Pharaoh, "Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and, before the midwife comes to them, they have given birth."

Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and, before the midwife comes to them, they have given birth (ULT)

The midwives give a reason, the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women, and then they expand on that reason, for they are lively (or energetic), with the result that before the midwife comes to them, they have given birth. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

And the midwives said (ULT)

It may not make sense in your language to say that multiple people said something, so you may need to translate it in the singular (see UST). (See: Synecdoche)

the midwives (ULT)

These were women who helped a woman give birth to a baby. See how you translated this in Exodus 1:15.

Exodus 1:20

to the midwives (ULT)

These were women who helped a woman give birth to a baby. See how you translated this in Exodus 1:15.

And the people multiplied and became very mighty (ULT)

These words mean similar things and are used together to emphasize their numeric growth. If your language doesn't have as many words that mean the same thing, you can use fewer words and express the emphasis in another way. (See: Doublet)

And God caused good to the midwives (ULT)

This phrase is more logically connected to the statements in verse 21. It describes the result of the midwives fearing God with a general statement. You may need to rearrange vs 20-21 so that the reason (vs 21) comes before both the general and specific results. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

20 And God caused good to the midwives. And the people multiplied and became very mighty.

Exodus 1:21

And it came about, since the midwives feared God (ULT)

This is the reason for what God did. You may need to rearrange vs 20-21 so that the reason (vs 21) comes before both the general and specific results. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

²¹ And it came about, since the midwives feared God, that he made houses for them.

that he made houses for them (ULT)

This describes the result of the midwives fearing God with a specific statement. You may need to rearrange vs 20-21 so that the reason (vs 21) comes before both the general and specific results. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

houses (ULT)

“households”

Exodus 1:22

You shall throw every new-born son into the river (ULT)

This order was given in order to drown the male children. The full meaning of this may be made explicit. Alternate translation: “You must dispose of each new baby boy in the river so he will drown” or “Drown each baby boy in the river when he is born” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²² And Pharaoh commanded to all of his people, saying, “You shall throw every new-born son into the river, but every daughter you shall let live.”

And Pharaoh commanded to all of his people, saying, “You shall throw every new-born son into the river, but every daughter you shall let live (ULT)

From You shall to the end of the verse is a direct quote of Pharaoh’s speech. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. However, it could be translated as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: “And Pharaoh commanded all of his people to throw every baby boy into the river, but to let every girl live.” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

You shall throw...you shall let live (ULT)

The uses of the word you here refer to all the Egyptians. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 2

Exodus 2 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

Covenant

God begins to relate to the Israelites based on his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Moses' heritage

In the first part of this chapter, Pharaoh's daughter recognizes Moses as being a Hebrew, but in the last part of this chapter, the Midianites believe him to be an Egyptian.

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Identification of participants

- Moses is the only participant named in most of this chapter. This is because many of the participants play very minor roles and because this part of the story is focusing on Moses' life.

Ironical situations

- While Pharaoh tried to diminish the power of the Israelites by killing all of their baby boys, God used Pharaoh's own daughter to save Moses.
- Moses believes he is meant to be the rescuer of his people, but they reject him. Ultimately, Moses was correct, but God had not yet sent him for that mission.

Exodus 2:1

And...went (ULT)

A new scene begins here; that may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

¹ And a man from the house of Levi went and took a daughter of Levi.

a man...a daughter of (ULT)

These are new participants. They remain unnamed until Exodus 6:20 where they are identified as Amram and Jochebed. For now it is best to leave them unnamed in your language, if possible. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) and took a daughter of Levi (ULT)

This is an idiom for marrying. (See: Idiom)

Exodus 2:2

good (ULT)

Alternative translations: “pleasing,” “fine,” or “healthy” (UST)

And she saw...and she hid him (ULT)

Hiding the boy was a result of seeing that he was good. Alternative translation: “Since she saw ... she hid him” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

three (ULT)

3 (See: Numbers)

ULT

² And the woman conceived, and she birthed a son. And she saw him, that he was good, and she hid him three months.

Exodus 2:3

an ark of papyrus reeds (ULT)

This is a basket made from a tall grass that grows by the Nile River in Egypt. (See: Translate Unknowns) and she daubed it with bitumen and with pitch (ULT)

You could explicitly state that this was to keep out water. Alternate translation: “spread tar on it to keep water from getting into it” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) and she daubed it (ULT)

This means that she applied a waterproof coating. (See: Translate Unknowns) with bitumen (ULT)

This is a sticky black paste made from petroleum. It can be used to keep out water. Alternate translation: “with tar” (See: Translate Unknowns) and with pitch (ULT)

This is a sticky brown or black paste that can be made from tree sap or from petroleum. Therefore, pitch would include not only bitumen but also plant-based resins. It too can be used to keep out water. Alternate translation: “and with tar” or “and with resin” (See: Translate Unknowns)

in the reeds (ULT)

These reeds were a type of tall grass that grew in flat, wet areas. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

³ And she was not able to hide him still, and she took for him an ark of papyrus reeds and she daubed it with bitumen and with pitch. And she placed the child in it, and she placed it in the reeds along the shore of the river.

And his sister stationed herself at a distance (ULT)

This means she stood far enough away so that she would not be noticed, but close enough to see the ark. Use a word that expresses this sort of distance in your language.

ULT

⁴ And his sister stationed herself at a distance to know what would be done to him.

at a distance (ULT)

This probably means somewhere in the reeds where she could see the basket, but no one would see her. (See: Abstract Nouns)

his sister (ULT)

Here, the actions of his sister show that she is older. If your language uses a different term for siblings based on their relative ages and/or the gender of the siblings use one that means “a boy’s older sister.” See UST. (See: Kinship) to know what would be done to him (ULT)

This is her purpose in being close by. Alternative translation: “in order to learn what would happen to him” (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

And...came down (ULT)

Came down may be literal or figurative, as important places are often considered to be in a higher place. This means she came from her home, probably Pharaoh's palace. If a perspective is required for Pharaoh's daughter, you may choose go or come as works best in your language. "Come" is better as the scene is at the river and she comes to the scene location. However, you also need to consider your language's way of introducing new participants. (See: Go and Come)

ULT

⁵ And a daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash at the river, and her young women were walking along the hand of the river. And she saw the ark in the middle of the reeds, and she sent her slave woman, and she took it

And a daughter of Pharaoh came down (ULT)

The daughter of Pharaoh is introduced here as a new participant. Along with choosing come or go as mentioned in the previous note, you may need to mark her introduction in a particular way in your language. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

and her young women (ULT)

These women are introduced here as new participants; however they are not mentioned again after this verse. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) along the hand of the river (ULT)

Hand is a metaphor for "side," which in this case can be translated as the shore or bank (UST) of the river. (See: Metaphor)

and her young women (ULT)

These were the young women whose job it was to be with her and make sure nothing bad happened to her.

and she took it (ULT)

It is not clear who is meant by she here, either Pharaoh's daughter or the servant. It is likely that Pharaoh's daughter stays the subject. Alternative translation: "and she took the ark from her slave" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Exodus 2:6

and behold (ULT)

The word behold signals the surprising information that follows. See UST. (See: Exclamations)

And she had compassion on him (ULT)

The text does not state exactly what caused her to have compassion on the baby. If a reason must be provided in your language it should be connected to either his crying (this is the better option) or that he was a “good” baby verse 2. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

6 and opened, and she saw him, the child; and behold, a crying boy. And she had compassion on him, and she said, “This one is from the children of the Hebrews.”

This one is from the children of the Hebrews (ULT)

This is a direct quote. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. It seems to have been said loud enough for the baby’s sister to hear. (See: Quote Markings) and call for you a nursing woman from the Hebrews? And she could cause the child to nurse for you (ULT)

This is a direct quote of the baby's sister. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁷ And his sister said to the daughter of Pharaoh, "Should I go and call for you a nursing woman from the Hebrews? And she could cause the child to nurse for you."

and call for you a nursing woman from the Hebrews (ULT)

This is a suggestive question. The child's sister is hopeful that Pharaoh's daughter does not have a plan yet for the baby beyond saving his life. However, it is still a true question, for without Pharaoh's daughter's permission, the child's sister will not be able to fetch the woman. If your language has a way of forming questions that are also suggestions, use it here.

his sister...the daughter of Pharaoh (ULT)

These are both the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession) nursing...And she could cause...to nurse (ULT)

To nurse means to feed with milk from the breast.

And she could cause the child to nurse for you (ULT)

This is the purpose of the sister's proposal. Alternative translation: "And she could nurse the infant for you" (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

Exodus 2:8

Go...And...went (ULT)

The girl left Pharaoh's daughter to go to the child's mother. The girl was almost certainly on foot. Use verbs of motion that express this. (See: Go and Come)

ULT

⁸ And the daughter of Pharaoh said to her, "Go." And the girl went and called the mother of the child.

Go (ULT)

This is a direct quote. Pharaoh's daughter commands the baby's sister. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

the daughter of Pharaoh...the mother of...the child (ULT)

These are both the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

Exodus 2:9

the daughter of Pharaoh (ULT)

This is the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

to her (ULT)

The child's mother is reintroduced as a participant. Alternative translation: "to the baby's mother" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

⁹ And the daughter of Pharaoh said to her, "Take this child and cause him to nurse for me, and I shall give your wages." And the woman took the child and caused him to nurse.

Take this child and cause him to nurse for me, and I shall give your wages (ULT)

This is a direct quote. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

your wages (ULT)

This refers to payment that Pharaoh's daughter would give to the mother in exchange for her service of nursing the baby.

And...took...and caused him to nurse (ULT)

The mother's acceptance of the deal is implied. You could make it explicit, as in the UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 2:10

And the child grew older, and she brought him (ULT)

An unspecified amount of time is designated by this. He would have stayed with his mother at least until he was weaned (no longer drinking his mother's milk). (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship) to the daughter of Pharaoh (ULT)

This is the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession) and he became as a son to her (ULT)

"and he became the adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter" and he became as a son to her. And she called his name Moses (ULT)

These events were likely simultaneous, because her act of naming him may have been what made him become as a son to her. Consider using a conjunction that does not make a great separation between these events. (See: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship)

Moses and she said, "For out of the water I drew him (ULT)

Translators may add a footnote that says, "The name Moses sounds like the Hebrew word that means 'draw out.'" and she said, "For out of the water I drew him (ULT)

This is a direct quote. It could be stated indirectly. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. Alternate translation: "because she said she draw him out of the water" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Moses (ULT)

Moses - (See: How to Translate Names)

ULT

¹⁰ And the child grew older, and she brought him to the daughter of Pharaoh, and he became as a son to her. And she called his name Moses and she said, "For out of the water I drew him."

Exodus 2:11

And it happened in those days that Moses had grown up and went out (ULT)

A significant amount of time has passed; later texts state that Moses was 40 years old at this point. Alternative translation: "Many years later, once Moses was grown, he went out" (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

This introduces a new event in the story. In your language, use a phrase that indicates a new event occurring after significant time has passed. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

11 And it happened in those days that Moses had grown up and went out to his brothers, and he saw their burdens. And he saw an Egyptian man striking a Hebrew man from his brothers.

and went out (ULT)

The UST supplies a probable location that he went out from; it could also have been simply out from the Egyptian area or out to the work area or cities. Use go or come as appropriate in your language. (See: Go and Come) striking a Hebrew man (ULT)

"hitting a Hebrew" or "beating a Hebrew"

Exodus 2:12

And he turned this way and that way (ULT)

These two opposite directions have the combined meaning of “everywhere.” Alternate translation: “He looked all around” (See: Merism)

and he struck (ULT)

The context makes clear that Moses struck the Egyptian hard enough or repeatedly until Moses killed him. Consider using a word that indicates a deadly blow. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

12 And he turned this way and that way, and he saw that there was no man, and he struck the Egyptian, and he hid him in the sand.

Exodus 2:13

And he went out (ULT)

See how you translated this in Exodus 2:11. (See: Go and Come)

second (ULT)

The ordinal number here could mean “the next day” (UST) or simply on some day following the events of the previous verse. (See: Ordinal Numbers)

and behold (ULT)

Here, behold shows that Moses was surprised by what he saw. You can use a word in your language that will give this meaning. (See: Exclamations) to the guilty one (ULT)

Based on Moses’s question, this means the aggressor or the man wrongfully attacking his neighbor. Alternate translation: “the man who was guilty of starting the fight”

Why are you striking your companion (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

13 And he went out the second day, and behold, two Hebrew men were fighting. And he said to the guilty one, “Why are you striking your companion?”

Exodus 2:14

Who set you as the ruler man and judge over us (ULT)

The man used this question to rebuke Moses for intervening in the fight. Alternate translation: "You are not our leader and have no right to judge us!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

¹⁴ And he said, "Who set you as the ruler man and judge over us? Are you saying to kill me like you killed the Egyptian?" And Moses feared and said, "Certainly the thing is known."

Who set you as the ruler man and judge over us? Are you saying to kill me like you killed the Egyptian (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Are you saying to kill me like you killed the Egyptian (ULT)

The man used a question here to be sarcastic. Alternate translation: "We know that you killed an Egyptian yesterday. You had better not kill me!" (See: Irony)

Are you saying to kill me like you killed the Egyptian (ULT)

The man asks a question that is intended to make a statement. Alternate translation: "Do you think you can kill me without anyone finding out? We know what you did to the Egyptian" (See: Rhetorical Question)

Are you saying to kill me (ULT)

"Are you planning to kill me" or "Are you threatening to kill me"

Certainly the thing is known (ULT)

It is likely this is something Moses said to himself, that is, he thought it to himself rather than speaking to the men in front of him. (See: Aside) and said, "Certainly the thing is known (ULT)

It may be clearer to present as an indirect quotation what was likely a thought Moses had. Alternative translation (as indirect quotation): "because he thought that everyone knew what he had done" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

thing, and he sought to kill...Moses (ULT)

Pharaoh most likely delegated this task. Alternative translation: “and he sought to have Moses killed” (note that the passive form will not work in every language), see UST from the face of (ULT)

His face means his presence. (See: Metonymy)

And he dwelt...And he dwelt (ULT)

These are the same verb. There are three possible interpretations: 1. Moses lived in Midian. He sat by this well one day. This may have been the well for the town he lived in. 2. Moses lived in Midian. His home was by this well. 3. Moses was a wanderer. He was in Midian and sat by this well when the next event occurred.

ULT

15 And Pharaoh heard this thing, and he sought to kill Moses. And Moses fled from the face of Pharaoh. And he dwelt in the land of Midian, and he sat down by a well.

Exodus 2:16

And the priest of Midian had seven daughters (ULT)

This sentence is background information. (See: Background Information)

ULT

¹⁶ And the priest of Midian had seven daughters. And they came and drew and filled up the troughs to cause the flock of their father to drink water.

And the priest of Midian had seven daughters (ULT)

This sentence is used to mark a transition. However, the last clause of the previous verse (“and he sat down by a well”) seems to be related to this new scene so you may want to make your transition there as is done in the UST. (See: Introduction of a New Event) seven daughters. And they came (ULT)

The daughters are new participants. Indicate that in a way that is natural in your language. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

And they came (ULT)

The perspective of the narrative is set at the well. The daughters came from elsewhere to the well. They were probably on foot. Here each language will need to choose the appropriate word. (See: Go and Come)

And the priest of Midian had seven daughters (ULT)

This is the possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

seven (ULT)

7 (See: Numbers)

This means that they brought up water from a well.

the troughs (ULT)

These were a long, narrow, open containers for animals to eat or drink out of. (See: Translate Unknowns)

the flock of their father (ULT)

There are two possessives here: 1) their father is the possessive of social relationship; 2) the flock of ... father is the possessive of ownership. (See: Possession)

Exodus 2:17

And...came (ULT)

A group of men came. They may not have been far away before coming and driving the women away. (See: Go and Come) the men who were shepherding (ULT)

These are new, very brief, participants. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

but...arose (ULT)

Use an expression that communicates that what Moses did was unexpected. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

17 And the men who were shepherding came and drove them away, but Moses arose and saved them and caused their flock to drink water.

Exodus 2:18

And they came (ULT)

The daughters came from the well to their father, probably on foot. You can use come or go. (See: Go and Come)

ULT

18 And they came to Reuel their father, and he said, "Why have you hurried coming today?"

Reuel (ULT)

Reuel, a name or perhaps a title, is used of the man only here and in Numbers 10:29. He is otherwise called "Jethro." (See: How to Translate Names)

Reuel (ULT)

The priest of Midian was mentioned in v. 16 in a background statement but is a new participant starting here. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

their father (ULT)

This is a possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession) and he said, "Why have you hurried coming today (ULT)

This is a direct quote. You could use an indirect quotation such as "and he asked how they were able to return so quickly that day." (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

coming (ULT)

Alternative translation: "in returning" (See: Go and Come)

Exodus 2:19

An Egyptian man rescued us from the hand of the men who were shepherding. And he even drew especially for us and caused the flock to drink water (ULT)

This is a direct quote. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹⁹ And they said, "An Egyptian man rescued us from the hand of the men who were shepherding. And he even drew especially for us and caused the flock to drink water."

An Egyptian man (ULT)

Jethro's daughters assume Moses was Egyptian. When you translate it, you should be clear that this refers to Moses.

from the hand of (ULT)

Hand figuratively refers to the power, control, or actions of the shepherds. Alternative translation: "from the strength of" or "from the harm of" or see UST. (See: Metonymy)

he...drew especially (ULT)

The repeated word expresses surprise or emphasizes the magnitude of Moses' act of kindness to the women. (See: Idiom)

Exodus 2:20

his daughters (ULT)

This is a possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

And where is he? What is this? You left the man (ULT)

These questions are a mild rebuke to the daughters for not inviting Moses into their home according to the normal hospitality of that culture. Alternate translation: “You should not have left this man at the well!” (See: Rhetorical Question)

And where is he? What is this? You left the man? Call him and he shall eat bread (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Him refers to Moses. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

²¹ And Moses was willing to dwell with the man, and he gave Zipporah his daughter to Moses.

Exodus 2:22

I have become a foreigner in a foreign land (ULT)

Only this portion is a quotation. As a possibility for clarity, the UST includes both speech events as one quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²² And she birthed a son, and he called his name Gershom; for he said, “I have become a foreigner in a foreign land.”

Gershom (ULT)

This is Moses’ son. (See: How to Translate Names)

Gershom (ULT)

His name, Gershom, sounds somewhat like the Hebrew for “a stranger here.” You may consider using a footnote to explain that. (See: How to Translate Names)

I have become a foreigner in a foreign land (ULT)

“stranger in a foreign land”

Exodus 2:23

And it happened in these many days (ULT)

This introduces a new section and series of events. A large amount of time went by. According to Stephen's sermon in Acts 7:30, Moses was in Midian 40 years. Alternative translation: "This is what happened during the many days Moses was in Midian." (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

23 And it happened in these many days.
And the king of Egypt died. And the sons of Israel groaned from the slavery.
And they cried out, and their plea ascended to God from their slavery.

And it happened in these many days (ULT)

Verses 23-25 give a summary of what happened in Egypt and with the Israelites and God while Moses was in exile. These verses give background information to set the scene. (See: Background Information)

And...groaned (ULT)

They groaned because of their sorrow and misery. Alternate translation: "sighed deeply" and their plea ascended (ULT)

The cries of the Israelites are spoken of as if they were a person and were able to travel up to where God is. Alternate translation: "and their cries arose" (See: Personification)

²⁵ And God saw the sons of Israel, and God knew.

Exodus 3 General Notes

Structure and formatting

This chapter records one of the most important events in the history of the Israelite people: the revelation of the name Yahweh at the burning bush. (See: reveal, revealed, revelation)

Special concepts in this chapter

God's holiness

God is so holy that people could not look upon him without dying. This is why Moses covered his eyes. It is also why he took off his shoes. (See: holy, holiness, unholy, sacred and Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Yahweh

The name Yahweh is sacred in the Hebrew religion. It is the personal name of God, which he revealed to Moses. It is by this name that he is known. Yahweh means "I am." Some translations use all capitals to set this apart, "I AM." Great care must be taken in translating the phrase "I am that I am." (See: Yahweh)

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Participants

"The angel of Yahweh," "Yahweh," and "God" all appear to be speaking to Moses and interacting with him from the burning bush. Furthermore, God says that his name is "I AM." (See note above on Yahweh and I AM.) Yahweh and God are the same while there is speculation about who the angel of Yahweh is.

Exodus 3:1

And Moses was shepherding (ULT)

This phrase brings the story focus back to Midian and Moses. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And Moses was shepherding the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian. And he led the flock beyond the wilderness, and he came to the mountain of God - to Horeb (ULT)

Verse 1 provides immediate background context, setting the scene for Moses' interaction with Yahweh. (See: Background Information)

the flock of...Jethro (ULT)

This is an ownership possessive. (See: Possession)

his father-in-law (ULT)

This is a possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

the priest of Midian (ULT)

This is a possessive of social relationship. Jethro is a priest who serves the Midianites. (See: Possession) and he came to (ULT)

"and he arrived at" (See: Go and Come)

the mountain of God (ULT)

This is an associative possessive. This mountain was associated with God in some way. In Exodus 3:12 God tells Moses that he and the Israelites will serve him on this mountain. Later in the story, this promise is fulfilled, and it is where God makes his covenant with Israel and gives them the 10 Commandments. So it may have been called the mountain of God in retrospect (as Moses probably wrote this book sometime after the Israelites were wandering in the wilderness). However, it is possible that the mountain was already associated with God's presence or worship somehow before Moses went there with the flock. (See: Possession)

ULT

¹ And Moses was shepherding the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian. And he led the flock beyond the wilderness, and he came to the mountain of God-to Horeb.

Exodus 3:2

And the angel of Yahweh appeared to him in a flame of fire from the middle of a bush (ULT)

This is a summary of what happened. The next few verses tell the story of how this happened and how Moses discovered what was happening.

Yahweh (ULT)

This is the name of God that he revealed to his people in the Old Testament. See the translationWord page about Yahweh concerning how to translate this.

and behold, the bush was burning in the fire, but the bush was not being consumed (ULT)

The word behold here shows that Moses saw something that was very different from what he expected. He expected the bush to be burnt up completely by the fire. Consider using an interjection in your language that expresses that the next thing is a surprise. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

being consumed (ULT)

Being consumed means being eaten completely until gone. In the case of fire, this is a metonym for burning completely until gone. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

² And the angel of Yahweh appeared to him in a flame of fire from the middle of a bush. And he looked, and behold, the bush was burning in the fire, but the bush was not being consumed.

Exodus 3:3

Let me turn aside and see this great sight! Why does the bush not burn up (ULT)

This is a direct quote. It's not specified who Moses spoke to; he may have been alone or with a group of shepherds or his family. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

³ And Moses said, "Let me turn aside and see this great sight! Why does the bush not burn up?"

Exodus 3:4

Yahweh...God (ULT)

These terms both refer to the same being since God's name is Yahweh. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

⁴ And Yahweh saw that he had turned aside in order to look, and God called to him from the middle of the bush, and he said, "Moses, Moses." And he said, "Behold me!"

Exodus 3:5

You must not come close to here. Take your sandals off from on your feet, for the place on which you are standing, it is holy ground (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁵ And he said, "You must not come close to here. Take your sandals off from on your feet, for the place on which you are standing, it is holy ground."

for the place on which you are standing, it is holy ground (ULT)

This is the reason Moses must stop coming close to the burning bush and take off his sandals. Your language may need to put the reason before the commands, as in, "The place on which you are standing, it is holy ground, so you must not come close to here. Take your sandals off from on your feet." (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 3:6

I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob (ULT)

All of these men worshiped the same God. Alternate translation: “the God of your father, of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob”

ULT

⁶ And he said, “I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.” And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid from staring toward God.

I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob (ULT)

This a direct quotation. The UST continues the quotation from verse 5 rather than including an additional “he said.” This may be more natural in some languages. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

your father (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “your ancestor” or (2) “your father.” If it means “your ancestor,” then the phrases following it clarify who “your father” refers to: it refers to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. If it means “your father,” then it refers to Moses’s own father. In most cases it will be best to translate it as “your father,” i.e. Amram, Moses’s father.

And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid from staring toward God (ULT)

Reason: for he was afraid from staring toward God Result: And Moses hid his face Some languages may need to put the reason before the result. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship and Exodus 33:20)

Exodus 3:7

And Yahweh said (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins that continues through the end of verse 10. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁷ And Yahweh said, "I have certainly seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt. And I have heard their cries from the faces of those who oppress him. I surely know his anguish."

I have certainly seen (ULT)

The repetition of see expresses the intensity, certainty, or clarity of Yahweh's seeing. (See: Idiom)

the affliction of my people (ULT)

There are two possessives here. 1) "affliction of ... people": This is an event-related possessive where the people are the objects of affliction. They are treated badly as slaves. 2) "my people": This one is more difficult as it involves both ownership and the possessive of social relationship. God views his people as his possession, and he is also in relationship with them as their God because they are descended from Abraham, though at this time they may not know God as theirs. (See: Possession)

from the faces of those who oppress him (ULT)

Faces refers to the whole person or the presence of the person(s) who were oppressing the Israelites. If this image is used in your language, you may translate it. If a similar image is used, you may consider using it. If neither is the case, you may omit the word "face" and translate the meaning. (See: Metonymy)

those who oppress him (ULT)

"his oppressors"

surely (ULT)

The conjunction is probably functioning modally here, intensifying the expression of Yahweh's knowledge. Your translation should express Yahweh's knowing with certainty or strength.

those who oppress him...his anguish (ULT)

These pronouns, him and his, refer to the Israelites as a group in the singular. They agree with "people" as a collective noun in 3:6. Some languages may have to use plural pronouns. Others may have to match the pronoun's gender to the grammatical gender of the word for "people" in their language. If necessary, change "him" to "them" or change "his" to "hers" or "its" (depending on grammatical gender of "people".) Alternate translation: "those who oppress them...their anguish" (See: Collective Nouns)

his anguish (ULT)

This is an event-related possessive where the people (as a group: his) are the subjects of anguish. Your translation should express that they are in deep mental and emotional distress (anguish). (See: Possession)

his anguish (ULT)

It is implied that they are in deep mental and emotional distress (anguish) because they are treated badly as slaves. You may make this explicit. Alternate translation: "his anguish from his slavery" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 3:8

And I have come down to deliver him from the hand of the Egyptians and to bring him up from that land to a good and wide land, to a land flowing with milk and honey; to the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites (ULT)

Verse 8 contains God's intended result from his acts of seeing and hearing, expressed in both verses 7 and 9. You may need to expressly mark this, for instance by introducing verse 8 with something like "therefore," and verse 9 with something like "again, because." (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

⁸ And I have come down to deliver him from the hand of the Egyptians and to bring him up from that land to a good and wide land, to a land flowing with milk and honey; to the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

And I have come down (ULT)

God is figuratively expressing that he is descending from heaven to earth to intervene. God is always everywhere, but this means his special attention will be directed to this situation. Use whatever form of come or go is appropriate in your language for this. (See: Go and Come) to deliver him...and to bring him up (ULT)

Here, him refers in the singular to the Israelites as a group. It is agreeing with "people" as a collective noun in 3:6. Some languages may have to use plural pronouns. Others may have to match the pronoun's gender to the grammatical gender of the word for "people" in their language. See what you did in the previous verse. (See: Collective Nouns)

from the hand of (ULT)

Someone's hand is a common metaphor for power and control. Use a similar image if your language has one. (See: Metaphor) from the hand of the Egyptians (ULT)

This is a possessive where the Egyptians are the subject of the hand, which means power. The Egyptians used their power and control to oppress the Israelites. Use a phrase in your language that expresses the idea of a group of people having power. (See: Possession) to a good and wide land, to a land flowing with milk and honey (ULT)

There are multiple levels of parallelism here. First, the statements, to a good and wide land and to a land flowing with milk and honey are in parallel with each other. Within each of those, good and wide are in parallel with each other and also milk and honey are in parallel with each other. Each of these levels is meant to reinforce and expand on one another. These are not examples of synonymous parallelism, and each part of the statement should be translated. (See: Parallelism)

milk and honey (ULT)

Here, milk is a metonym for domestic animals and the food products obtained from them; honey is a metonym for the food obtained from growing plants. See UST and the next note (See: Metonymy)

a land flowing with milk and honey (ULT)

God spoke of the land being good for animals and plants as if the milk and honey from those animals and plants were flowing through the land. If this metaphor makes sense in your language, you may translate it, if your language has metaphors that mean a land is good for producing healthy livestock and good crops, you may consider using those. If neither is the case, you may translate the meaning. See UST. (See: Metaphor)

flowing with (ULT)

“full of” or “with an abundance of”

milk (ULT)

Since milk comes from cows and goats, this represents food produced by livestock. Alternate translation: “food from livestock” (See: Metonymy)

and honey (ULT)

Since honey is produced from flowers, this represents food from crops. Alternate translation: “food from crops” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 3:9

And now (ULT)

This functions as a discourse marker expressing logical conclusion. "Therefore" (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

behold (ULT)

This is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. If there is not a good way to translate this term in your language, this term can be omitted from the translation, or you can use an alternate translation like "certainly." (See: Exclamations)

ULT

⁹ And now, behold, the cry of the sons of Israel has come to me. And moreover, I have seen the oppression with which the Egyptians are oppressing them.

the cry of the sons of Israel has come to me (ULT)

Here, the cry is spoken of as if it were a person who is capable of moving on his own. Alternate translation: "I have heard the cries of the people of Israel" (See: Personification)

I have seen the oppression with which the Egyptians are oppressing them (ULT)

Here, oppression is an abstract noun which you could translate as a verb if you cannot use this form in your language. Alternate translation: "I have seen how the Egyptians are oppressing them" (See: Abstract Nouns)

Exodus 3:10

And now (ULT)

And now functions as a discourse marker expressing logical conclusion. “Therefore” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

from Egypt (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of what the Yahweh said starting in 3:7 ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

10 And now go, and I shall send you to Pharaoh. And bring out my people, the sons of Israel, from Egypt.”

Exodus 3:11

Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, and that I should bring out the sons of Israel from Egypt (ULT)

Moses uses this question to tell God that he, Moses, is not the right person for the task. Alternate translation: See UST (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

¹¹ And Moses said to God, "Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, and that I should bring out the sons of Israel from Egypt?"

Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, and that I should bring out the sons of Israel from Egypt (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 3:12

I shall certainly be with you, and this will be the sign for you that I have sent you: when you bring the people out from Egypt you all will serve God on this mountain (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

you all will serve (ULT)

If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

¹² And he said, “I shall certainly be with you, and this will be the sign for you that I have sent you: when you bring the people out from Egypt you all will serve God on this mountain.”

Exodus 3:13

Behold, I am about to go to the sons of Israel, and I will say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you.’ And they will say to me, ‘What is his name?’ what should I say to them (ULT)

This is a direct quotation containing two second-level quotes within it. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹³ And Moses said to God, “Behold, I am about to go to the sons of Israel, and I will say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you.’ And they will say to me, ‘What is his name?’ what should I say to them?”

Behold, I am about to go to the sons of Israel, and I will say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you.’ And they will say to me, ‘What is his name (ULT)

Moses presents God with a hypothetical situation here. The three events (go, say, say) are part of one hypothetical event. You should translate this in a way that makes it clear that this is a future, not-yet-real event. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

Behold (ULT)

Behold is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. In this case, Moses uses it to introduce what he views as a probable future occurrence. Alternative translation: “Now”

am about to go (ULT)

In your language, use go or “come” as makes most sense for Moses’ hypothetical action of going from the mountain to where the Israelites are. (See: Go and Come)

The God of your fathers has sent me to you (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation inside a quotation. However, you may also choose to translate it as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: “that the God of their fathers has sent me to them” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

The God of your fathers (ULT)

Here, fathers figuratively means “ancestors.” Alternate translation: “The God of your ancestors” or “The God whom your ancestors worshiped” (See: Metaphor)

What is his name (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation inside a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

what should I say to them (ULT)

Moses is asking God what he should do as a result of the hypothetical situation he presented. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 3:14

I AM WHO I AM (ULT)

This is God's response to Moses's question about God's name. This can be made explicit. Alternate translation: "God said to Moses, 'Tell them that God says his name is "I AM THAT I AM."'"

ULT

14 And God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM." And he said, "You shall speak this way to the sons of Israel, 'I AM sent me to you.'"

I AM WHO I AM (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) this whole sentence is God's name or (2) God is not telling his name but something about himself. By saying this, God is teaching that he is eternal; he has always lived and always will live.

I AM...I AM...I AM (ULT)

Languages that do not have an equivalent to the verb "am" may need to render this as "I LIVE" or "I EXIST."

And he said (ULT)

This is still God speaking. It may make more sense to omit this in some languages.

I AM sent me to you (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation inside a quotation. However, you may also choose to translate it as an indirect quotation as in the UST. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

Exodus 3:15

And God also said to Moses (ULT)

As God is still speaking, it may make more sense to omit this in some languages.

to Moses (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quotation begins that continues until the end of chapter 3 at verse 22. This quotation contains four levels as God tells Moses to tell the Israelite elders a specific message from God. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

15 And God also said to Moses, “You shall speak this way to the sons of Israel: ‘Yahweh, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, sent me to you. This is my name forever, and this is my memorial from generation to generation.’”

Yahweh, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, sent me to you. This is my name forever, and this is my memorial from generation to generation (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. It may be possible to translate it as an indirect quotation, but you will need to be careful to correctly change the pronoun persons. Alternative translation: “You must tell the Israelites that Yahweh, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, sent you to them. This is his name forever, and this is his memorial from generation to generation.” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

the God of your fathers (ULT)

Here, fathers figuratively means “ancestors.” Alternate translation: “the God of your ancestors” or “the God whom your ancestors worshiped” (See: Metaphor)

from generation to generation (ULT)

The repetition of generation means something like “to each and every generation,” which means for all people at all times. (See: Merism)

Exodus 3:16

Yahweh (ULT)

This begins a second-level quotation that continues until the end of verse 17. It contains a third-level quotation that begins at “I have certainly” and also continues to the end of verse 17. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. The closing marks for both the second and third-level quotations should not occur until the end of verse 17. (See: Quote Markings)

Here, fathers figuratively means “ancestors.” Alternate translation: “the God of your ancestors” or “the God whom your ancestors worshiped” (See: Metaphor)

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (ULT)

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob were three of the Israelites’ ancestors. They all worshiped the same God.

I have certainly attended (ULT)

This begins a third-level quotation that continues until the end of verse 17. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening third-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation that is within a quotation. The closing marks for both the second-level and third-level quotations should not occur until the end of verse 17. (See: Quote Markings)

I have certainly attended (ULT)

The Hebrew word meaning attended, visited, or observed is repeated here for emphasis. This word often means God is coming to take action. Translate this phrase in a way that communicates God’s focused, caring observation. (See: Idiom)

to you (ULT)

The word you refers to the people of Israel. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

what is being done (ULT)

In some languages you may not be able to translate this in the passive form. Alternative translation: see UST. (See: Active or Passive)

in Egypt (ULT)

The phrase in Egypt is a metonym for the Egyptian oppressors. Alternative translation: “by the Egyptians” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 3:17

I will bring you up from affliction in Egypt to the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, to a land flowing with milk and honey (ULT)

This is a fourth-level quotation. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer three levels. Alternatively, it can be translated as an indirect quotation, see UST. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

¹⁷ and I said, 'I will bring you up from affliction in Egypt to the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, to a land flowing with milk and honey.'"

and honey (ULT)

If you are using direct quotations, at the end of this verse you should have three closing markers. In English, it looks like ' ' ' (without spaces). (See: Quote Markings)

I will bring...up (ULT)

Regardless of the geographic realities, to bring up does not primarily have a literal meaning. Rather, it means to bring the Israelites into a better situation. God promised to bring them up from their low status as slaves to a place where they would be the masters of a good land. (See: Idiom)

milk and honey (ULT)

Here, milk is a metonym for domestic animals and the food products obtained from them; honey is a metonym for the food obtained from growing plants. See UST and the next note (See: Metonymy)

a land flowing with milk and honey (ULT)

God spoke of the land being good for animals and plants as if the milk and honey from those animals and plants were flowing through the land. See how you translated this in Exodus 3:8 at [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/03/08/pxy8\]\]](#). flowing with (ULT)

"full of" or "with an abundance of"

milk (ULT)

Since milk comes from cows and goats, this represents food produced by livestock. Alternate translation: "food from livestock" (See: Metonymy)

Since honey is produced from flowers, this represents food from crops. Alternate translation: "food from crops" (See: Metonymy)

The word you refers to Moses. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) to your voice (ULT)

This phrase means the elders will listen to the message Moses brings from God. Alternative translation: “to your message” or “to my message which you tell them” (See: Synecdoche) and the elders of Israel (ULT)

This is a possessive of social relationship. Alternative translation: “elders in charge of the Israelites” (See: Possession)

Israel (ULT)

Israel is a collective noun that refers to all the Israelites. Alternative translation: “the Israelites” or “the Israelite people” (See: Collective Nouns)

Egypt (ULT)

Here, Egypt refers to the Egyptian nation. Alternate translation: “of the Egyptians” (See: Metonymy)

If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

with us...let us go...and let us sacrifice (ULT)

These instances of us are exclusive; they include Moses, the elders, and all the Israelites, but exclude the king of Egypt. If your language makes this distinction, verify that you used the correct form. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive ‘We’)

and not with a strong hand (ULT)

The word hand is a metonym for the power of the owner of the hand. Possible meanings are (1) “only if he sees that he has no power to do anything else,” where the “hand” belongs to Pharaoh; where the “hand” belongs to Yahweh, (2) “only if I force him to let you go” or (3) “not even if I force him to let you go.” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

19 And I know that the king of Egypt will not permit you to go; and not with a strong hand.

Exodus 3:20

Here, he refers to the Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

you out (ULT)

Here, you refers to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

20 And I shall send out my hand and I shall strike Egypt with all my wonders, which I shall do within him. And after that, he will send you out.

Exodus 3:21

favor...in the eyes of the Egyptians (ULT)

In the eyes of the Egyptians is an idiom for the Egyptian's feelings. Favor means those feelings are positive. Taken together, this means that when the Egyptians see the Israelites (Hebrews) leaving Egypt, they will gladly help them (because they want them to leave so badly due to the Egyptians suffering under God's judgment). If your language has the same or a similar idiom, you can translate or use it. Otherwise, you can translate the meaning. (See: Idiom)

ULT

21 And I shall give this people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians, and it will be that when you go, you will not go empty.

in the eyes of the Egyptians (ULT)

This is a part-whole possessive. Also, if your language uses a specific form of the possessive for things one cannot lose, it would be appropriate to use that form here. (See: Possession)

The double negative, not ... empty is used to mean "full." Alternate translation: "[go] with many things" (See: Double Negatives)

you will not go empty (ULT)

This phrase is used to emphasize the opposite meaning. Alternate translation: "you will go with your hands full of good things" or "you will go with many valuable things" (See: Litotes)

and from one sojourning in her house (ULT)

Sojourning means living somewhere other than one's native land, usually temporarily. It is unclear both who the sojourning (visiting) women are and in whose house they are sojourning, leaving several possibilities. Most translations that make a decision about who they are identify both the temporary resident and her host home as Egyptian. This makes sense as the Israelites will be plundering the Egyptians. If it is possible to leave this ambiguous in your translation, that would be best.

ULT

²² And a woman will ask from her neighbor and from one sojourning in her house for items of silver, and items of gold, and clothing. And you will put them on your sons and on your daughters. And you will plunder the Egyptians."

And you will put them on your sons and on your daughters. And you will plunder (ULT)

Each of these is a plural you. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

the Egyptians (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh's word starting in verse 15 ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 4

Exodus 4 General Notes

Potential Translation Issues

Quotations

- There is a difficult transition between 4:4 and 4:5 because the quotation stops in the middle to inject a bit of narrative. When it resumes in 4:5, the sentence seems incomplete (even if merged directly with the quotation fragment in 4:4). (See: Ellipsis)* Yahweh's instructions to Moses are complex and there are up to four levels of quotations in this chapter. Translators will need to decide if some of these need to become indirect quotations (if that is possible in their language) and take great care to use the proper quotation markings in the proper location.

Order of events

- The order of events is not always clear. In 4:14 Yahweh tells Moses that Aaron is coming to meet him, but Yahweh telling Aaron to go meet Moses in the wilderness is not recorded until 4:27.
- The timing of the events in 4:18-4:27, especially verse 18-19 and 27, in relation to the rest of the events of the chapter is unclear.

Thus says Yahweh

The first of over 400 occurrences throughout the Old Testament of a standard phrase used to introduce direct, authoritative instruction from Yahweh occurs in 4:22. It occurs ten times in the book of Exodus; nine of these are between chapters 4–11. It would be good for your team to have a standard way to translate this that makes it clear that the words that come next are directly from God. If your language has a standard way of introducing a new message from your leader that alerts the hearers that these are the words of the leader, that would be a good phrase to consider.

Yahweh's attempt to kill someone

The encounter recorded from 4:24 to 4:26 is one of the strangest and most difficult passages in the entire book. Difficulties include:

- To whom do the pronouns refer? Masculine pronouns are used throughout the section, but there are two possible antecedents, Moses (who is not named in the narrative) and Zipporah's son (who was presumably also Moses' son, but this is how he is referred to in this text. For why, see below on why Yahweh did this). Most commentators believe the pronouns refer to Moses.
- Circumcision is described in fairly graphic detail. Different cultures will need to approach this differently. Some may have terms for circumcision, while others may be comfortable translating mostly literally, and others will need to use euphemisms or other strategies to translate. (See: circumcise, circumcised, circumcision, uncircumcised, uncircumcision)* The meaning of the phrase a bridegroom of blood (ULT) is unknown.
- Why did Yahweh attack Moses? Many commentators conclude that Moses had neglected to circumcise one of his sons because it displeased Zipporah, and Yahweh was holding Moses responsible before he returned to lead the Israelites (who should have been circumcised). When Zipporah repented by circumcising the son herself and touching the foreskin to Moses' feet, Yahweh relents. These conclusions should help inform translation but should not be made explicit in the text.

Study concepts in this chapter

Moses does not understand

Although Moses believes in Yahweh, he does not trust in him. This is because Moses lacks understanding. Moses tries to believe the things he is asked to do are done by his own power. Yahweh is trying to get Moses to trust that these things are Yahweh's doing. (See: believe, believer, belief, unbeliever, unbelief and trust, trusted, trustworthy, trustworthiness)

Children of God

This chapter introduces the concept that Israel, the people group, is the chosen people of God and God's firstborn son. (See: chosen, choose, chosen people, Chosen One, elect and people of God and firstborn)

Yahweh hardened Pharaoh's heart

Scholars are divided over how to understand this statement. There is debate over whether Pharaoh plays an active or passive role in the hardening of his own heart. Translators should simply follow the text. In Exodus 4-14 there are ten statements that Yahweh hardens Pharaoh's heart, and ten statements that Pharaoh hardens his own heart. (See: Active or Passive)

Exodus 4:1

And Moses answered and said (ULT)

Here, answered and said is a Hebrew expression which does not convey any extra information. Unless your language naturally uses a similar structure, it is better to translate one verb and omit the other. Alternate translation: "Moses answered"

ULT

¹ And Moses answered and said, "But look, they will not believe me, and they will not listen to my voice; for they will say, 'Yahweh has not appeared to you.'"

But look, they will not believe me, and they will not listen to my voice; for they will say, 'Yahweh has not appeared to you (ULT)

Yahweh has not appeared to you (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. However, you could translate it as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: "that Yahweh has not appeared to me" (See: Quotes within Quotes)

But look (ULT)

This is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. If there is not a good way to translate this term in your language, this term can be omitted from the translation, or you can use an alternate translation like "Listen to me."

Exodus 4:2

to him...And he said (ULT)

“Moses” (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

What is that in your hand (ULT)

A staff (ULT)

ULT

² And Yahweh said to him, “What is that in your hand?” And he said, “A staff.”

Exodus 4:3

Throw it to the ground (ULT)

from its face (ULT)

Here, “face” figuratively represents the snake itself. Alternative translation: “from the snake” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ And he said, “Throw it to the ground.”
And he threw it to the ground, and it became a snake. And Moses fled from its face.

Exodus 4:4

and take it by its tail (ULT)

“and pick it up by the tail” or “and grasp it by the tail”

Reach out your hand and take it by its tail (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁴ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Reach out your hand and take it by its tail”--and he reached out his hand and he caught it to him, and it became a staff in his palm--

Reach out your hand and take it by its tail (ULT)

This direct quotation is interrupted by Moses obeying Yahweh. This is probably a tightly ordered sequence of events where Yahweh paused and then continued speaking immediately after Moses obeyed. The quote resumes in verse 5 and there is more discussion there about how to handle the resumption. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship) and it became a staff (ULT)

“and it turned into a rod” or “and it changed into a staff”

Exodus 4:5

in order to cause them to believe that Yahweh appeared to you; the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob (ULT)

This continues the direct quotation from the first part of verse 4. It may be more natural to reorganize verses four and five to keep the quote together. If you rearrange like this, Moses picking up the snake/staff should come after the full quotation. However, it is better to do something similar to the UST, which restates that Yahweh is speaking and provides some implied directives from Yahweh to make a complete sentence. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁵ “in order to cause them to believe that Yahweh appeared to you; the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.”

in order to cause them to believe that Yahweh appeared to you; the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob (ULT)

This quote is not a complete sentence; the UST provides a clarification. (See: Ellipsis) cause them to believe...their fathers (ULT)

These pronouns refer either to the Israelites or to the Israelite elders. God had instructed Moses to gather and speak to the elders; if you make this participant explicit, elders is a better option. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

to you (ULT)

This refers to Moses. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob (ULT)

Abraham, Isaac and Jacob were three of their ancestors. They all worshiped the same God.

Exodus 4:6

Put your hand in your bosom (ULT)

and behold (ULT)

This word is used to create an exclamation, showing surprise. (See: Exclamations)

like snow (ULT)

The word like (ULT) or “as” (UST) here is used to compare how Moses’ hand looked. You may not have a word for snow in your language. If so, consider an alternative that describes something very white. You may need to make the whiteness explicit. Alternate translation: “like wool” or “that made it look white like the sand on the beach” (See: Simile)

ULT

⁶ And Yahweh also said to him, “Put your hand in your bosom.” And he put his hand in his bosom. And he brought it out, and behold, his hand was being struck with a skin disease like snow.

Exodus 4:7

Return your hand into your bosom (ULT)

and behold (ULT)

This word is used to create an exclamation, showing surprise. (See: Exclamations)

ULT

⁷ And he said, "Return your hand into your bosom." And he returned his hand into his bosom; and he brought it out from his bosom, and behold, it was restored like his flesh.

Exodus 4:8

And it will be (ULT)

Yahweh's speech resumes here and continues through the end of verse 9. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁸ "And it will be, if they do not believe you, and they do not listen to the voice of the first sign, then they will believe the voice of the following sign."

and they do not listen to the voice of the first sign, then they will believe the voice of the following sign (ULT)

Here the signs are spoken of as if they had a voice with which they could speak. If this imagery would not make sense in your language, you may need to translate this in a way that makes explicit that the signs are meant to be proof that God sent Moses. Alternative translation: "and are not convinced that God has appeared to you by seeing the first sign, then they will be convinced by seeing the second sign." (See: Personification)

they do...believe...they do...listen...then they will believe (ULT)

These pronouns refer either to the Israelites or to the Israelite elders. God had instructed Moses to gather and speak to the elders; if you make this participant explicit, elders is the better option, but be sure to do the same as you did in verse 5. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

they do not believe...then they will believe (ULT)

"they do not acknowledge... then they will acknowledge" or "they do not accept... then they will accept"

Exodus 4:9

they do...believe...they do...listen (ULT)

These pronouns refer either to the Israelites or to the Israelite elders. God had instructed Moses to gather and speak to the elders; if you make this participant explicit, elders is the better option, but be sure to do the same as you did in verse 5. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) that it will become blood on the dry land (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh's speech from the previous verse ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁹ And it will be, if they do not believe even these two signs, and they do not listen to your voice, then you shall take from the water of the river and you shall pour it on the dry land. And it will happen, the water which you take from the river, that it will become blood on the dry land."

Exodus 4:10

Oh my Lord, I am not a man of words; not since yesterday, nor since three days ago, nor since you spoke to your servant. For I am heavy of mouth and heavy of tongue (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹⁰ And Moses said to Yahweh, “Oh my Lord, I am not a man of words; not since yesterday, nor since three days ago, nor since you spoke to your servant. For I am heavy of mouth and heavy of tongue.”

Oh (ULT)

This word is used by a speaker to beg a superior to allow him to speak. Alternate translation: “Please”

I am not a man of words; not since yesterday, nor since three days ago (ULT)

“I have never been an excellent speaker”

a man of words (ULT)

This expression means “a man who uses words well,” in other words, an eloquent man who can speak well and convincingly.

not since yesterday, nor since three days ago (ULT)

This phrase simply means “in the past.” (See: Merism)

your servant (ULT)

Moses refers to himself as God’s servant to lower his status before God (and perhaps by doing so to make his argument of inability stronger). (See: First, Second or Third Person)

heavy of mouth and heavy of tongue (ULT)

These phrases mean basically the same thing. Moses uses them to emphasize that he is not a good speaker. (See: Doublet)

tongue (ULT)

Here, tongue refers to Moses’ ability to speak. Alternate translation: “speech” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 4:11

And Yahweh said to him (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues to the end of the next verse. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

11 And Yahweh said to him, "Who put a mouth in mankind; or who makes a mute or a deaf or a seeing or a blind? Is it not I, Yahweh?"

Who put a mouth in mankind (ULT)

Yahweh uses this question to emphasize that he is the Creator who makes it possible for people to speak. Alternate translation: "I, Yahweh, am the one who created the human mouth and the ability to speak" (See: Rhetorical Question) who makes a mute or a deaf or a seeing or a blind (ULT)

Yahweh uses this question to emphasize that he is the one who decides if people can speak and hear, and if they can see. Alternate translation: "I, Yahweh, make people able to speak, or hear, or to see, or to be blind!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

Is it not I, Yahweh (ULT)

Yahweh uses this question to emphasize that he alone makes these decisions. Alternate translation: "I, Yahweh, am the one who does this!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

Exodus 4:12

And I shall be with your mouth (ULT)

Here, mouth refers to Moses' ability to speak. Alternate translation: "I will give you the ability to speak" (See: Metonymy)

you will speak (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote from the previous verse ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

12 And now go! And I shall be with your mouth, and I shall teach you what you will speak."

Exodus 4:13

Oh my Lord, please send by a hand you send (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹³ And he said, "Oh my Lord, please send by a hand you send."

Oh (ULT)

This word is used by a speaker to beg a superior to allow him to speak. See what you did in verse 10. Alternate translation: "Please"

please send by a hand you send (ULT)

In translating this phrase, it is important to make clear that Moses is asking Yahweh to send someone else. Here he is not accepting Yahweh's commission.

by a hand (ULT)

This phrase means "by a person." The figure is of a person taking Yahweh's message in his hand to the Israelites and Pharaoh. (See: Synecdoche)

Exodus 4:14

And the nose of Yahweh burned (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning that Yahweh is angry. Alternate translation: “Yahweh became angry” (See: Idiom)

and he said (ULT)

“and Yahweh said” (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

at Moses, and he said (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins that continues until the end of verse 17. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Is not Aaron, the Levite, your brother (ULT)

Yahweh uses this rhetorical question to suggest an alternative to Moses. Alternative translation: “I know you have a brother, Aaron the Levite.” (See: Rhetorical Question)

your brother (ULT)

His brother Aaron was three years older than Moses (see Exodus 7:7), which may be important for translating “brother” in some languages. (See: Kinship) can speak well (ULT)

In Hebrew, the word speak is repeated. This means he speaks well. English cannot convey this by doubling, so the meaning of the repetition was translated in the ULT in this case. If your language can say something like “speaking speaks” to mean “speaks well,” consider it; otherwise, translate the meaning similarly to the ULT or UST. (See: Idiom)

behold (ULT)

Behold is used to draw attention to surprising information that follows. If your language has a term that functions in that way (“Listen!” or “Look!” or “Pay Attention!”), use it here.

is coming (ULT)

Yahweh says Aaron is coming from Egypt to Midian to find Moses. He is probably on foot. Depending on the language, the required form of go or come may vary. (See: Go and Come) and he will be glad (ULT)

Aaron will be glad because he sees Moses. Consider a conjunction or other form that expresses result as in the UST or alternative translation: “and because he sees you, he will have joy” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

14 And the nose of Yahweh burned at Moses, and he said, “Is not Aaron, the Levite, your brother? I know that he can speak well. And even more, behold, he is coming to meet you, and he will see you and he will be glad in his heart.”

in his heart (ULT)

Here, heart refers to inner thoughts and emotions. If the heart is not a body part your culture uses to refer to a person's thoughts and emotions, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 4:15

the words (ULT)

Words here are spoken of as if they were something that can be physically placed in a person's mouth. Alternate translation: "the message that he is to repeat" (See: Metaphor)

And I am with your mouth and with his mouth (ULT)

The word mouth here represents Moses' and Aaron's choice of words. Alternate translation: "And I will be with you as you speak and with him as he speaks" (See: Metonymy)

you both...you should do (ULT)

These refer to Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual form if you have one or, if not, use a plural. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

15 And you shall speak to him, and you shall put the words in his mouth. And I am with your mouth and with his mouth, and I will teach you both what you should do.

Exodus 4:16

like a mouth (ULT)

This phrase compares Aaron to a mouth, because he will be the one to actually vocalize to the Israelites and Pharaoh what Moses tells him to say. Alternate translation: “the one to say what you tell him to say” (See: Simile)

ULT

16 And he will speak to the people for you. So it will be, he will be like a mouth for you, and you will be like God to him.

will be like God to him (ULT)

The word like here means Moses would represent the same authority to Aaron as God did to Moses. Alternate translation: “you will speak to Aaron with the same authority with which I speak to you” (See: Simile)

Exodus 4:17

with...you will do the signs (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

17 And you shall take in your hand this staff, with which you will do the signs.”

And...this...staff (ULT)

Yahweh assumes that Moses will know that by this staff, he means the one that Moses said he had in his hand in v. 2, and with which God told him to do a miracle in vv. 3-4. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 4:18

Jethro (ULT)

Jethro is reintroduced as a participant in the narrative here. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

And...went (ULT)

Because the setting has shifted back to Jethro's home, some languages may need to use "come" here. (See: Go and Come)

his father-in-law (ULT)

This refers to the father of Moses' wife. Some languages may use a different term for the husband's or wife's father. (See: Kinship)

and he said (ULT)

"and Moses said" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

to him (ULT)

"to Jethro" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Please let me go and let me return to my brothers who are in Egypt and see whether they are still alive (ULT)

my brothers (ULT)

"my relatives" (See: Metonymy)

and see whether they are still (ULT)

Later in the Bible we are told that Moses was in Midian for 40 years. Moses' request may have been literal or an idiom that meant he wanted to know how they were doing. (See: Idiom)

Go in peace (ULT)

This is a phrase of assent and blessing. It may be necessary for some languages to explicitly add, "Yes," to the beginning of Jethro's response. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

18 And Moses went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law and he said to him, "Please let me go and let me return to my brothers who are in Egypt and see whether they are still alive." And Jethro said to Moses, "Go in peace."

Go in peace (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 4:19

And Yahweh said to Moses (ULT)

The timing and situation for Yahweh speaking to Moses here is not specified. Some conjecture that it was part of the narrative of the encounter with Yahweh from the previous verses but placed after his request to Jethro for an unknown reason. Another speculation is that Moses delayed returning to Egypt (either by his own choice, Yahweh's instructions, or someone else delaying him) and Yahweh came and told him again (the UST explicitly offers this optional translation). (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

ULT

19 And Yahweh said to Moses in Midian,
"Go! Return to Egypt! For all the men who were seeking your life are dead."

Go! Return to Egypt! For all the men who were seeking your life are dead (ULT)

who were seeking your life (ULT)

This means they were seeking to end his life, that is, to kill him. Alternate translation: see UST.

Exodus 4:20

and his sons (ULT)

Moses' second son is not introduced until 18:4 but had already been born before they left Midian. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) and he returned towards the land of Egypt (ULT)

It is clear from verse 24 and 25 that his family went with him, so you may need to translate as "they returned." (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

and he returned towards the land of Egypt (ULT)

After the incident on the road in verses 24-26, Moses' family is not mentioned again until 18:2 which says that Moses sent them back, so a translation similar to the UST which only commits to the family starting on the way to Egypt may be better. This option has the further benefit of allowing for the several events that happen before Moses gets to Egypt. The ULT's "towards" is another way of giving space in the translation for the next several events. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

the staff of...God (ULT)

The phrase the staff of God refers to the staff that God told Moses to take with him in v. 17. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

the staff of...God (ULT)

The book describes this staff as the staff of God because God appointed it as his instrument so that Moses could do miraculous works through it. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could say that explicitly. Make sure your translation does not lead people to think the staff was a magic wand or shaman's staff that had its own power, or power from Moses, or that the staff gave Moses the ability to command God. In every instance where miracles happened, God told Moses to do something with the staff, Moses obeyed, and then God caused a miracle. Alternate translation: "the staff that God had told him to bring because God intended to work powerfully through it when Moses stretched it out." (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

20 And Moses took his wife and his sons and caused them ride on a donkey, and he returned towards the land of Egypt. And Moses took the staff of God in his hand.

Exodus 4:21

While you are going (ULT)

This begins a direct quotation that continues to the end of 4:23. It contains up to fourth-level quotations. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

see (ULT)

Most translations and interpretations of the verb see take it to mean something like “see that you do.”

all the miracles that I put in your hand (ULT)

Here the miracles are spoken of as if they were items Moses could carry. In part, this may be because the three signs already given to Moses involved the use of his hand. Alternative translation: “all the wonders I have authorized you to perform” (See: Metaphor)

before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

This time while before the face of still has the standard figurative meaning of “in the presence of,” it is a much more literal use here. Moses is to actually do the miracles in front of Pharaoh so he can see them. Alternative translation: “so Pharaoh can see them” (See: Metonymy)

But as for me, I shall strengthen (ULT)

Referring to himself in the opening of this sentence serves to emphasize a contrast in what might be expected and what will happen. Translate this in a way that clearly contrasts the performance of miracles before Pharaoh (which might be expected to lead to him releasing the Israelites) with what Yahweh says he will do. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

But as for me, I shall strengthen his heart (ULT)

This means that God will make him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart would be made stronger. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person’s will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. Alternate translation: “But as for me, I will cause Pharaoh to be stubborn” (See: Metaphor) and he will not let the people go (ULT)

Make it clear in your translation that this is a result of God hardening Pharaoh’s heart. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

21 And Yahweh said to Moses, “While you are going to return to Egypt, see all the miracles that I put in your hand, and do them before the face of Pharaoh. But as for me, I shall strengthen his heart, and he will not let the people go.”

Exodus 4:22

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This is the first of hundreds of occurrences throughout the Old Testament of a standard phrase used to introduce direct, authoritative instruction from Yahweh. It would be good for your team to have a standard way to translate this that makes it clear that the words that come next are directly from God. If your language has a standard way of introducing a new message from your rulers that alerts the hearers that these are the words of the rulers, that would be a good phrase to consider.

ULT

²² And say to Pharaoh, 'Thus says Yahweh: "Israel is my son, my firstborn,

Thus (ULT)

Thus begins a second-level quotation that continues until the end of 4:23. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer level, the first level. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This begins a second-level quotation that continues until the end of 4:23. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. However, you may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the levels of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: "that Yahweh says" (See: Quotes within Quotes)

my son (ULT)

This is the beginning of a third-level quotation that continues until the end of 4:23. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening third-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation within a quotation. (If you chose to translate, "Thus says Yahweh," as an indirect quote, this will be a second-level quotation.) (See: Quote Markings)

Israel is my son, my firstborn (ULT)

Some languages may need to change the metaphor here into a simile. See UST. (See: Metaphor)

Israel is (ULT)

The word Israel here represents all the people of Israel as a group. It is important to keep the singular reference to Israel as son, rather than change it to something like 'the Israelites are my children,' because God is making a particular contrast here between his son and Pharaoh's son. Some languages may not be able to use "Israel" as a collective noun and may need to choose a translation like "the nation of Israel" or "the Israelite nation." (See: Collective Nouns)

Israel is (ULT)

The Israelite nation is often referred to simply by the name of the patriarch. For alternative translation see: [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/04/22/pt4n\]\]](#) (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 4:23

Let my son go that he may serve me (ULT)

This is a fourth-level quotation. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer levels. (If you chose to translate "Thus says Yahweh" as an indirect quote, this will be a third-level quotation.) (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²³ and I said to you, 'Let my son go that he may serve me.' But you have refused to let him go. Behold, I shall kill your son, your firstborn.'" and I said to you, 'Let my son go that he may serve me.' But you have refused (ULT)

The fourth-level quotation here may be a good one to translate as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the levels of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: "and I told you to let my son go that he may serve me. But you have refused" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

my son (ULT)

Yahweh continues to metaphorically speak of Israel as my son. See what you did at [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/04/22/1od0\]\]](#). Alternative translation: "the Israelite nation which is like a son to me" (See: Metaphor) that he may serve me...to let him go (ULT)

The pronouns he and him agree with "son." What you use may depend on how you translated son at [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/04/23/k7mh\]\]](#). (See: Pronouns)

Behold (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to surprising information that follows. Alternative translation: "Know this"

your son (ULT)

This refers to the actual son of Pharaoh.

your son...your firstborn (ULT)

After this phrase, the three levels of direct quotations end bringing a complete close to all quotations that started in verses 21 and 22. If you are using direct quotations, at the end of this verse you should have three closing markers, third level, second level and first level. In English, it looks like " ' " (without spaces). (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 4:24

And it happened (ULT)

This introduces a new event. Mark the transition in a natural way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event) that he encountered...to kill him (ULT)

Here, it is not clear who him refers to. Most commentators believe it refers to Moses, but it could refer to the son, though that is less likely. If it is necessary to choose for your translation, use Moses. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) to kill him (ULT)

Here, he refers to Yahweh. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

²⁴ And it happened on the road, in the lodging-place, that he encountered Yahweh, and he sought to kill him.

Exodus 4:25

Zipporah (ULT)

This is the name of Moses's wife. (See: How to Translate Names)

Zipporah (ULT)

Zipporah is introduced here as a new participant. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

²⁵ And Zipporah took a flint and she cut off the foreskin of her son, and she touched it to his feet, and she said, "Surely you are a bridegroom of blood to me."

a flint (ULT)

This was a knife with a sharpened stone blade. (See: Translate Unknowns)

the foreskin of (ULT)

The foreskin is the retractable fold of skin which covers and protects the end of the penis. (See: Translate Unknowns) to his feet (ULT)

It is possible that the word feet may have been a more respectful way to refer to the genital area of the body. However, that possibility is not high enough that you should translate it either literally as genitals or with another euphemism meaning genitals in your language. If you have a word that means primarily feet or legs, but could in some cases also euphemistically mean genitals, you may consider it. (See: Euphemism)

Surely you are a bridegroom of blood to me (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Surely you are a bridegroom of blood to me (ULT)

The meaning of this metaphor is unclear. It was probably a known saying in that culture. Alternate translation: "you are related to me by this blood" or "you are my husband because of blood" (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 4:26

And he relented (ULT)

As a result of Zipporah's action. Consider a conjunction or other form that expresses result as in the UST. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

²⁶ And he relented from him. That was when she said, "bridegroom of blood" because of the circumcision.

And he relented (ULT)

"Yahweh relented" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

from him (ULT)

As in 4:24 this could mean either Moses or the son, but most commentators think it is still Moses. The UST uses "anyone" to preserve ambiguity. Alternative translation: "from Moses" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) bridegroom of blood (ULT)

This is a unique quotation because Zipporah probably does not speak again; rather, the quotation refers back to her statement in 4:25. Your language may handle this sort of quotation in a special way. (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations) bridegroom of blood" because of the circumcision (ULT)

It is not clear if the quotation includes because of the circumcision or if that is a comment explaining the quotation. Translations are divided in where they end the quotation, but most exclude because of the circumcision and it is best to follow that unless a locally respected translation includes it. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 4:27

And...said (ULT)

You may want to add a word that marks the beginning of a new part of the story, as the UST does. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

Aaron (ULT)

Aaron is introduced as a new participant. Some languages may mark this in some way. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

27 And Yahweh said to Aaron, "Go into the wilderness to meet Moses." And he went, and he met him at the mountain of God, and he kissed him.

Go into the wilderness to meet Moses (ULT)

at the mountain of God (ULT)

See how you translated this in 3:1, consult this this note: [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/03/01/p27s\]\]](#) (See: Possession) and he kissed (ULT)

This was a traditional way of greeting which showed love. You can make this explicit as the UST. (See: Symbolic Action)

Exodus 4:28

he had sent him...he commanded him (ULT)

These are a bit awkward to translate in English, so the UST adds more information. Other languages may not have the same difficulty.

he had sent him...he commanded him (ULT)

The words he refers to Yahweh, and him refers to Moses. Alternative translation: "Yahweh sent Moses...Yahweh commanded Moses" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

28 And Moses told Aaron all the words of Yahweh that he had sent him, and all the signs that he commanded him.

Exodus 4:29

And...went (ULT)

This begins a new event which you may need to mark in your translation with a transitional word like the UST's "When." (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

²⁹ And Moses and Aaron went; and they gathered all of the elders of the sons of Israel.

Exodus 4:30

before the eyes of the people (ULT)

This means he did the signs so they could see them. Alternative translation: "in their sight" (See: Metonymy)

the people (ULT)

Context suggests that people refers to the leaders gathered in 4:29. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

30 And Aaron spoke all of the words that Yahweh had spoken to Moses. And he did the signs before the eyes of the people.

Exodus 4:31

the people (ULT)

Context suggests that people refers to the leaders gathered in 4:29.
(See: Introduction of New and Old Participants) had attended...the sons of Israel (ULT)

“saw the Israelites” or “was concerned about the Israelites” and they bowed and prostrated themselves (ULT)

Alternative translations: “they bowed their heads in awe” or “they bowed down low in reverence.” (See: Symbolic Action)

ULT

³¹ and the people believed. And they heard that Yahweh had attended to the sons of Israel and that he had seen their affliction, and they bowed and prostrated themselves.

Exodus 5

Exodus 5 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

A slave's work

The Egyptians were known for making their slaves do a lot of work. The Israelite slaves were forced to make a specific number of bricks every day. In this chapter, they were required not only to make these bricks, but also to gather straw, one of the raw materials, in order to make these bricks.

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

“Let my people go”

This is a very important statement. Moses does not seek permission to leave, asking Pharaoh to “let go” of the Hebrew people. Instead, he demands that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

Titles

The leaders are given different titles in this chapter. The ULT uses “taskmasters” and “foremen.” Many cultures will not have these types of titles. Generic expressions like “Egyptian leaders” and “Hebrew leaders” may be necessary.

Exodus 5:1

And afterward, Moses and Aaron went in and said to Pharaoh (ULT)

This time phrase, and afterward, marks a transition in the narrative. Alternative translation: “After that” (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

¹ And afterward, Moses and Aaron went in and said to Pharaoh, “Thus says Yahweh, the God of Israel: ‘Let my people go, and they shall celebrate me in the wilderness.’”

And afterward, Moses and Aaron went in and said to Pharaoh (ULT)

It is unclear how long Moses and Aaron waited until they went to see Pharaoh. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

went in (ULT)

In this instance, depending on how they have to set scenes, some languages may need to use “came in.” (See: Go and Come)

Pharaoh (ULT)

Pharaoh is reintroduced as a participant in the narrative for the first time since chapter two. Some languages may need to mark his reintroduction in a particular way. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Thus says Yahweh, the God of Israel: ‘Let my people go, and they shall celebrate me in the wilderness (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Let my people go, and they shall celebrate me in the wilderness (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

and they shall celebrate (ULT)

This is a celebration to worship Yahweh. Alternative translation: “so they can worship me with eating and drinking”

Exodus 5:2

And...said (ULT)

The result here is exactly as God has said; therefore, a contrastive transition word is reasonable but not required given the immediate human context. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

² And Pharaoh said, "Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I shall not let Israel go."

Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I shall not let Israel go (ULT)

Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go (ULT)

This is not a rhetorical question, though Pharaoh may have spoken with contempt. Pharaoh would have considered himself a go. The Egyptians had several gods, and most people groups were assumed to have their own gods. Therefore, Pharaoh had truly not heard of Yahweh (who has just told his name to Moses).

Israel...Israel (ULT)

Here the nation is spoken of as an individual. Alternative translation: "the nation of Israel" (See: Collective Nouns) to his voice (ULT)

This represent the words God spoke. Alternate translation: "listen to what he says" (See: Metonymy) and moreover (ULT)

This functions to strengthen Pharaoh's statement about his decision. Alternative translation: "and most definitely"

Exodus 5:3

And they said (ULT)

It may not make sense in all languages for multiple people to speak. Since Aaron was appointed as Moses' spokesman, consider the alternative translation: "Aaron replied" (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

The God of the Hebrews has met with us.
Please, let us go a journey of three days into the wilderness, and let us sacrifice to Yahweh our God lest he come upon us with the plague or with the sword (ULT)

The God of the Hebrews (ULT)

This term is also used for Yahweh, the Israelites' God.

with us...let us go...and let us sacrifice...he come upon us (ULT)

Here, us (or "we" in UST) refers to the Hebrew people (the Israelites). It exclude Pharaoh and his people. Some languages may need to consider whether to use an inclusive or exclusive form. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We')

with the sword (ULT)

Here, sword represents war or an attack by enemies. Alternate translation: "cause our enemies to attack us" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ And they said, "The God of the Hebrews has met with us. Please, let us go a journey of three days into the wilderness, and let us sacrifice to Yahweh our God lest he come upon us with the plague or with the sword."

Exodus 5:4

Moses and Aaron, why are you causing the people to leave off from their tasks? Go to your burdens (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁴ And the king of Egypt said to them, “Moses and Aaron, why are you causing the people to leave off from their tasks?
Go to your burdens.”

Moses and Aaron, why are you causing the people to leave off from their tasks (ULT)

Pharaoh uses this question to express his anger towards Moses and Aaron for taking the Israelites away from their work. Alternate translation: “Stop distracting the people from doing their work!” (See: Rhetorical Question)

Go to your burdens (ULT)

This your could refer to Moses and Aaron, or it could mean “all you Israelite people.” The second meaning is more likely. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual or plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 5:5

And Pharaoh said (ULT)

It is unusual for the same speaker to be reintroduced like this. Some translations omit the repetition, but there is another option. This statement may be more connected to the next couple of verses, so it might be appropriate to make a minor break before this verse. Pharaoh may have been more commenting to himself, or he only thought this statement silently, and it led to his next actions. (See: Aside)

ULT

⁵ And Pharaoh said, “Behold, the people of the land are now many, and you have caused them to rest from their burdens.”

Behold (ULT)

This is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say.

and you have caused...to rest (ULT)

Here, you means Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual form (if you have one) or plural (if not) form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 5:6

the taskmasters among the people and officers (ULT)

Pharaoh may have sent a messenger or messengers to the taskmasters and officers or spoken to one or a few representatives of them at his court rather than speaking to them directly.

Alternative translation: "Pharaoh gave an order for the taskmasters among the people and officers that said,"

ULT

⁶ And on that day, Pharaoh ordered the taskmasters among the people and officers, saying,

the taskmasters (ULT)

Taskmasters were Egyptians whose job it was to force the Israelites to do hard work. These are probably the same as the "overseers" of labor gangs from Exodus 1:11, but here the term is harsher. Alternative translation: "oppressors"

and officers (ULT)

Officers were probably Israelite slaves who were in charge of the other Israelites but who answered to the Egyptian taskmasters.

saying (ULT)

This is a way of introducing a direct quotation in Hebrew; most translations can omit it without harm.

Exodus 5:7

Do not continue (ULT)

This command was given to multiple people; if your language distinguishes between singular and plural forms when giving commands, make sure this is a plural form. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

⁷ “Do not continue to give straw to the people to make bricks as yesterday and the day before yesterday. They shall go and gather straw for themselves.

Do not continue (ULT)

Verses 7-9 are a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate the start here with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of the quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

as yesterday and the day before yesterday (ULT)

This is a Hebrew idiom meaning “in the past.” Alternative translation: “as before” or “as previously” (See: Idiom)

Exodus 5:8

you shall put (ULT)

If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

the bricks (ULT)

Bricks are hardened clay blocks for building. See how you translated in [1:14][../01/14.md]. (See: Translate Unknowns) yesterday and the day before yesterday (ULT)

This is a Hebrew idiom meaning “in the past.” See how you translated this in 5:7 Alternative translation: “before” or “previously” (See: Idiom)

Let us go, let us sacrifice to our God (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. It is a quote of Moses and Aaron. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁸ But you shall put on them the quota of the bricks which they were making yesterday and the day before yesterday; do not diminish from it. For they are idle, therefore they are crying, saying, ‘Let us go, let us sacrifice to our God.’

Exodus 5:9

and shall not gaze at words of lies (ULT)

Here words are spoken of as if they could be looked upon.

Alternative translation: as UST or “and not listen to words that are lies” (See: Idiom)

ULT

⁹ Let the slavery be heavy on the men so they shall do it, and shall not gaze at words of lies.”

Exodus 5:10

And...went out (ULT)

This begins a new scene, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

the taskmasters of (ULT)

Taskmasters were Egyptians whose job was to force the Israelites to do hard work. See how you translated this in 5:6. See [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/05/06/zd4m\]\]](#)

Thus says Pharaoh (ULT)

This is the same quote form as is used for when Yahweh gives a direct command. See 4:intro for more information.

and said to the people saying, “Thus says Pharaoh (ULT)

It might be helpful in some languages to translate thus says Pharaoh as an indirect quote so that his conveyed command is not a quote within a quote. Alternate translation: “and told the people that Pharaoh says” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

I...not (ULT)

This is the beginning of a second-level quotation that continues until the end of verse 11. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the start of a quotation within a quotation. However, you could also translate this as an indirect quote. See UST. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

I am not giving straw to you (ULT)

The structure of this phrase and the one that opens the next verse create a strong contrast between what I (Pharaoh) and you (you all, the Israelites) will do. Translate this in a way that emphasizes, if possible, the contrast between “I” and “you.” Alternative translation: “It is not I who will give you straw.” (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

I...not (ULT)

Pharaoh does not physically give the Israelites straw. Rather, he had commanded his servants take straw that belongs to Pharaoh and give it to the Israelites. Now he told his servants to stop providing straw. (See: Metonymy)

to you (ULT)

You is plural and refers to the Israelite people. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

10 And the taskmasters of the people and officers went out and said to the people saying, “Thus says Pharaoh: ‘I am not giving straw to you.’

Exodus 5:11

You go and get your own straw from wherever you might find it (ULT)

The structure of this phrase serves as the opposing side of the contrast Pharaoh sets up in the last phrase. By explicitly using a pronoun with a command, he is emphasizing who will go get straw.

If possible, translate this in a way that emphasizes the contrast between “I” and “you.” See [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/05/10/7zfp\]\]](#) for more info. Alternative translation: “Rather, it is you yourselves who must go get straw from wherever you might find it” (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

¹¹ You go and get your own straw from wherever you might find it, for there will be no reducing of things from your slavery.”

You (ULT)

Here, you is plural and refers to the Israelite people. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

You...your own (ULT)

The repetition of you emphasizes that the Egyptians will no longer help the slaves. Alternative translation: see UST (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

for there will be no reducing of things from your slavery (ULT)

This can be stated in positive form. Alternate translation: “for you must continue to make the same number of bricks as before” (See: Double Negatives)

for there will be no reducing of things from your slavery (ULT)

After this phrase (at the end of the verse), the direct quotes end. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level (and second-level if you made both levels direct quotes) quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 5:12

throughout all the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a generalization used to show the extra effort Israel made to meet Pharaoh's demands. Alternate translation: "to many places throughout Egypt" (See: Hyperbole)

ULT

¹² So the people dispersed throughout all the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw.

stubble (ULT)

Stubble is the part of a plant that is left over after harvest. (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 5:13

Now the taskmasters (ULT)

Taskmasters were Egyptians whose job it was to force the Israelites to do hard work. See how you translated this in Exodus 5:6.

Now the taskmasters (ULT)

The change of subject is emphasized here. If your language has a way of specifically focusing on the actor in a narrative, use it here. See the UST for how that is done in English. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Finish your work, the task of day by day, as when there was straw (ULT)

the task of day by day (ULT)

Day by day means “daily.” Alternative translation: “the daily task”

ULT

13 Now the taskmasters were hastening them, saying, “Finish your work, the task of day by day, as when there was straw.”

Exodus 5:14

the taskmasters of (ULT)

Taskmasters are Egyptians whose job it was to force the Israelites to do hard work. See how you translated this in Exodus 5:6.

And the officers of the sons of Israel...were beaten (ULT)

The text does not specify who beat the officers. It was probably either the taskmasters or someone the taskmasters ordered to beat the officers. If your language cannot express this with the passive, you can make the taskmasters the subject. (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

14 And the officers of the sons of Israel, whom the taskmasters of Pharaoh had put over them, were beaten, saying, "Why have you not finished your required brick making like yesterday and the day before yesterday, neither yesterday nor today?"

Why have you not finished your required brick making like yesterday and the day before yesterday, neither yesterday nor today (ULT)

The taskmasters used this question to show they were angry with the lack of bricks. Alternate translation: "You are not producing enough bricks, either yesterday or today, as you did in the past!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

Why have you not finished your required brick making like yesterday and the day before yesterday, neither yesterday nor today (ULT)

have you...finished your required (ULT)

Here, you and your are plural. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. However, also see [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/05/14/emq7\]\]](#). (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

have you...finished your required (ULT)

Here, you and your do not simply refer to the officers; they refer to the groups of Israelite workers the officers are in charge of. (See: Synecdoche) like yesterday and the day before yesterday (ULT)

This is a Hebrew idiom meaning "in the past." Here it specifically refers to the time before the Egyptians stopped giving the Israelites straw. See how you translated this in 5:7 Alternative translation: "before" or "previously" (See: Idiom)

This time expression refers to more recent days, ones since the Egyptians stopped providing the straw to the Israelites.

Exodus 5:15

And...came in (ULT)

This begins a new scene, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. The officers have gone to where Pharaoh is. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And...came in (ULT)

You will need to decide if go or come is the better translation in your language. (See: Go and Come)

Why (ULT)

This begins a direct quote that continues to the end of the next verse. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

to your servants (ULT)

Here, the Israelite officers use the term your servants to refer to themselves in the third person as a way of showing humility. It is also possible that they mean to include all the Israelites. Either option is valid if your language must state who is meant by "your servants." Alternate translation: "to us" (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

15 And the officers of the sons of Israel came in and cried to Pharaoh, saying, "Why are you doing this to your servants?"

Exodus 5:16

No straw is being given to your servants (ULT)

The text does not specify who is not giving them straw. From context, the taskmasters and, by implication, Pharaoh himself are the ones not doing this. If your language cannot express this with the passive, you can make the taskmasters or Pharaoh the subject. Alternative translation: "You are not giving your servants any straw." (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

16 No straw is being given to your servants. And they are saying to us, 'Make bricks!' And behold, your servants are beaten but it is the sin of your people."

to your servants...your servants (ULT)

Here, the Israelite officers use the term your servants to refer to themselves in the third person as a way of showing humility. It is also possible that they mean to include all the Israelites. Either option is valid if your language must state who is meant by "your servants." Alternate translation: "to us" (See: First, Second or Third Person)

they are saying (ULT)

They refers to the Egyptian taskmasters. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

And...bricks...Make (ULT)

Make bricks is a second-level direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

And behold (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to surprising information that follows.

your servants are beaten (ULT)

The text does not specify who beat the officers. It was probably either the taskmasters or someone the taskmasters ordered to beat the officers. If your language cannot express this with the passive, you can make the taskmasters the subject. (See: Active or Passive)

but it is the sin of your people (ULT)

The Israelites are indirectly accusing Pharaoh of doing wrong. To translate this, consider polite or indirect ways of making accusations in your culture. (See: Euphemism)

but it is the sin of (ULT)

"but it is the wrong-doing of"

Exodus 5:17

You are...you (ULT)

These uses of you are plural. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

17 And he said, “You are lazy! Lazy! That is why you are saying, ‘Let us go sacrifice to Yahweh.’

You are lazy! Lazy (ULT)

Pharaoh repeats himself for emphasis. In your translation, make sure the idea of laziness or idleness is repeated or strengthened in a way that is natural. Alternative translation: “You are extremely lazy” (See: Exclamations)

Let us go sacrifice to Yahweh (ULT)

Here the king is quoting another person’s speech. This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 5:18

And straw will not be given to you (ULT)

You can translate this in active voice if needed. The subject could be “I” (as in Pharaoh) or “we” (as in the Egyptians or Pharaoh and his taskmasters) or “my people.” See UST. (See: Active or Passive) to you...you will give (ULT)

This means all the Israelites or the officers as representatives of all the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

18 And now go! Work! And straw will not be given to you, but you will give the set amount of bricks.”

Exodus 5:19

And the officers of the sons of Israel saw themselves in distress regarding the saying, “You shall not reduce the day-by-day task from your bricks (ULT)

You may need to reorder the events in this verse in your language to put the reason before the result. See UST. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

¹⁹ And the officers of the sons of Israel saw themselves in distress regarding the saying, “You shall not reduce the day-by-day task from your bricks.”

You shall not reduce the day-by-day task from your bricks (ULT)

This is a direct quotation of what Pharaoh said. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation of another person’s speech. (See: Quote Markings)

Here the officers are both the subject and object, because they are thinking about their own situation. Different languages have different methods of marking this. (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

And...saw...themselves in distress regarding the saying (ULT)

“knew that they were in trouble, because the king said” or “perceived themselves in danger, because the king said”

Exodus 5:20

And they met (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And they met...to meet them when they came out (ULT)

Here, they and them refer to the officers. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

20 And they met Moses and Aaron, who were waiting to meet them when they came out from Pharaoh.

Exodus 5:21

May Yahweh look on you and judge; for you have caused our scent to stink in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of his servants, to give a sword into their hand to kill us (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²¹ And they said to them, “May Yahweh look on you and judge; for you have caused our scent to stink in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of his servants, to give a sword into their hand to kill us.”

May Yahweh look on you and judge (ULT)

They used this form to curse Moses and Aaron.

on you and judge (ULT)

You refers to Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual or plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural) you have caused our scent to stink in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of his servants (ULT)

The Egyptians responded to the Israelites the same way they would respond to a foul odor. Alternate translation: “you have caused Pharaoh and his servants to hate us” (See: Metaphor)

a sword into their hand (ULT)

Here, a sword into their hand is a metonym for “a reason in their mind.” The Israelites are afraid that the Egyptians will feel that they are doing the right thing if they kill the Israelites, because Moses and Aaron are making demands to the king and because the Egyptians view the Israelites as lazy and dangerous. Alternate translation: “them a reason to think they would be right” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 5:22

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues to the end of the chapter. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²² And Moses went back to Yahweh and said, "My Lord, why have you afflicted this people? Was this why you sent me?"

Was this why you sent me (ULT)

This question shows how disappointed Moses was that the Egyptians were treating the Israelites even more harshly now. He is expressing that he thinks God has caused the opposite of what he promised to happen. Alternate translation: "You sent me to rescue them." (See: Rhetorical Question)

Exodus 5:23

in your name (ULT)

Here, in your name indicates that Moses delivers Yahweh's message. Alternate translation: "for you" or "your message for him" (See: Metonymy)

And you have certainly not rescued (ULT)

In Hebrew, rescued is repeated for emphasis. (See: Idiom)

(See: Quote Markings)

²³ And since I came to Pharaoh to speak in your name, he has afflicted this people. And you have certainly not rescued your people."

Exodus 6

Exodus 6 General Notes

Possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Repetition of events:

Most of the content of this chapter is very similar to the events and dialogue in chapters 3-4. For consistency, translators should consult the decisions they made there while keeping in mind that this narrative is not exactly the same. Also, verses 10-12 and verses 28-30 are very similar to each other. These events are probably a recommissioning of Moses. After his first encounter with Pharaoh went very poorly and the Israelites seem to reject God, reminds Moses of God's promises and power.

Referring to God

A name for God (Yahweh) and a title for God (El Shaddai) are mentioned in this chapter (6:2-6:3). The precise meaning of El Shaddai is not known, but most scholars think it means something like "almighty." Translators who have worked on Genesis may find confusing the statement that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob did not know Yahweh as the name of God.

Other possible translation difficulties:

With little explanation, a large portion of the chapter is devoted to the genealogy of Moses and Aaron. Some of the people in the genealogy lived much longer than is normal for humans today. If translators are not familiar with the lengths of people's lives in the early days of the world (as recorded in Genesis, especially chapter 5), this may cause confusion.

Study concepts in this chapter

Promised Land

According to the covenant Yahweh made with Abraham, Egypt is not the home of the Hebrew people. Their home is the Promised Land in Canaan. The people are to return home to their land. (See: covenant and Promised Land)

"Let my people go"

This is a very important statement. Moses is not asking Pharaoh to "let go" of the Hebrew people. Instead, he is demanding that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

God and his people

In verse 7, note mention of a very important biblical theme of God being "your God" and the special relationship that his people have with him.

Exodus 6:1

Now you will see what I will do to Pharaoh: for by a strong hand he will let them go; and by a strong hand he will drive them out of his land (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Now you will see what I will do to Pharaoh: for by a strong hand he will let them go; and by a strong hand he will drive them out of his land.”

Now (ULT)

This refers to future events starting very soon. Alternative translation: “Starting soon” or “Very soon” (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

by a strong hand...and by a strong hand (ULT)

Hand is a metonym for power. Alternate translation: “by a strong power ... and by a strong power” (See: Metonymy)

by a strong hand...and by a strong hand (ULT)

It is not clear in the text whose hand is referred to here. The options are: (1) Both refer to God’s hand (forcing Pharaoh’s actions), (2) Both refer to Pharaoh’s hand (forcing the Israelites out), (3) They don’t refer to the same person’s hand; the first refers to God’s and the second to Pharaoh’s. The UST has followed (1) which is the most common interpretation. Alternate translation: (1) “by my strong hand ... and by my strong hand” or (2) “by his strong hand ... and by his strong hand” or (3) “by my strong hand ... and by his strong hand” (See: Metonymy) for by a strong hand he will let them go; and by a strong hand he will drive them out of his land (ULT)

These two phrases mean similar things. God says the same thing twice, in similar ways, for emphasis. You do not need to repeat both phrases in your translation if that might be confusing for your readers. Instead, if it would be clearer in your language, you could combine them. Alternate translation: “I will force him to let my people leave the land” However, there is a slight difference in meaning, and you could also choose to bring that out in your translation. The second phrase intensifies the first by portraying Pharaoh as not merely letting the Israelites go, but as forcing them to leave the land. Alternate translation: “I will force him to let them go, in fact, I will force him to force them to leave his land” (See: Parallelism)

of his land (ULT)

“from Egypt”

Exodus 6:2

And God spoke to Moses and said to him (ULT)

There is a transition here. Before this verse, Yahweh was answering Moses' question more directly. At the beginning of this verse, Yahweh is reintroduced as "God" because he begins to make a clarifying statement about himself and his relationship with the Israelites and their ancestors as well as his plans for the Israelites. Much of this section repeats what Yahweh has already told Moses. You may want to consider a section break before this verse. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

² And God spoke to Moses and said to him, "I am Yahweh

And God spoke to Moses and said to him (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins that continues until the end of verse 8. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 6:3

as El Shaddai (ULT)

This is a title for God that many scholars think means “almighty.” You will need to decide if you will transliterate the term into your language or translate the meaning. Either approach has broad support. Alternative translation: “as the strongest God of all” (See: Copy or Borrow Words)

ULT

³ and I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob as El Shaddai; but by my name Yahweh I was not known to them.

but by my name Yahweh I was not known to them (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “but they did not know me by my name Yahweh” (See: Active or Passive)

but by my name Yahweh I was not known to them (ULT)

This statement is very difficult to understand as God’s name, Yahweh, is used throughout Genesis, including by Abraham and others. There are many theories about what it means; the view followed by the UST is that now God is revealing to the Israelites a fuller meaning of his divine name than what Abraham and others knew. Alternate translation: “but my name Yahweh was not understood by them” to give to them the land of Canaan (ULT)

Exodus 6:4

This is the content of the covenant promise from God to his people. Some languages may need to make this part a direct quotation. Alternate translation: " I said, 'I will give you the land of Canaan' " (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

ULT

⁴ And moreover, I established my covenant with them, to give to them the land of Canaan, the land of their sojourning, in which they sojourned.

the land of...their sojourning, in which they sojourned (ULT)

These two phrases mean similar things. If it would be clearer in your language, you could combine these phrases. Alternate translation: "the land they lived in as temporary residents"; otherwise, "the land that was not their home but where they lived as foreigners" (See: Parallelism)

Exodus 6:5

the groaning of (ULT)

This means making sad sounds because of pain and suffering.

and I have remembered my covenant (ULT)

I have remembered my covenant means God is going to take action. Alternative translation: "I will keep my promise"

ULT

⁵ And moreover, I have heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, whom the Egyptians are enslaving, and I have remembered my covenant.

Exodus 6:6

Therefore (ULT)

God is now telling Moses to deliver a message to the Israelites of what God is going to do because of everything that he said in verses 2-5. The reason-result relationship is strongly marked here, so translations should make sure to use a connector that marks verse 6-8 as a result of verses 2-5. Alternate translation: “Because of this” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

⁶ Therefore, say to the sons of Israel, ‘I am Yahweh. And I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rescue you from their slavery. And I will redeem you with an outstretched arm, and with great judgments.’

Therefore, say to the sons of Israel (ULT)

This is a command from Yahweh to Moses. Alternate translation: “So Yahweh told Moses to say to the Israelites”

I am (ULT)

This begins a second-level quotation that continues to the end of Yahweh’s speech at the close of verse 8. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

you...you...you (ULT)

You refers to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

from under the burdens of the Egyptians (ULT)

This refers to all the hard work the Egyptians made the Israelites do. Alternate translation: “from the hard work the Egyptians force you to do” (See: Synecdoche) with an outstretched arm (ULT)

Arm here is a figurative way of referring to God’s power, influence, and capacity for action. Outstretched means that he is using that power. Alternate translation: “by my great strength” (See: Metaphor) and with...judgments (ULT)

Here, the term judgments refers to the plagues that God is about to send to harm Egypt and the Egyptians. Each plague is a response to Pharaoh’s stubbornness. Alternate translation: “and by [greatly] harming the Egyptians”

Exodus 6:7

you...to you...And you will know...your God... you (ULT)

Here every occurrence of you refers to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

⁷ And I will take you to myself as a people, and I will be to you as God. And you will know that I am Yahweh your God, the one bringing you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians.

from under the burdens of the Egyptians (ULT)

This refers to all the hard work the Egyptians forced upon the Israelites. See what you did in the previous verse at [\[\[rc://en/tn/help/exo/06/07/oqnw\]\]](#). Alternate translation: “from the hard work the Egyptians force you to do” (See: Synecdoche)

Exodus 6:8

you...to you (ULT)

Here, every occurrence of you refers to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

⁸ And I will bring you to the land that I raised my hand to give it to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. And I will give it to you as a possession. I am Yahweh.’”

I raised my hand (ULT)

This is an action that signifies making an oath. Raising the hand may not have the same meaning in your culture so you may need to use a different symbolic oath-taking action in your translation, or simply translate the meaning. Alternate translation: “I promised” (See: Symbolic Action)

as a possession (ULT)

This means the Israelites will own the land. Alternate translation: “as your own land”

I am Yahweh (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh ends. Both the first-level and second-level quotes end. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level and second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation and a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 6:9

but they did not listen to Moses because of shortness of spirit and because of hard slavery (ULT)

In some languages it will be necessary to put the reason for the people not listening before the result. Alternate translation: “but because of shortness of spirit and because of hard service, they did not listen to Moses” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

⁹ And Moses spoke in this way to the sons of Israel, but they did not listen to Moses because of shortness of spirit and because of hard slavery.

because of shortness of spirit (ULT)

Here, the people’s spirit is spoken of as something that could be measured. By calling it “short,” the author is saying they did not have very much motivation or hope. Alternate translation: “because they had no hope”

Exodus 6:10

saying (ULT)

This is used to mark the beginning of a direct quotation. It can be omitted if it is unnatural.

ULT

¹⁰ And Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying,

Exodus 6:11

Go speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, that he should let the sons of Israel go from his land (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹¹ "Go speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, that he should let the sons of Israel go from his land."

that he should let the sons of Israel go from his land (ULT)

This is an indirect quote; in some languages you will have to make it a direct quote. Be careful to change the third-person pronouns to second-person pronouns if you do this. Alternate translation: "saying, 'You must let the sons of Israel go from your land'" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Exodus 6:12

Behold, the sons of Israel have not listened to me, so how will Pharaoh listen to me? And I have uncircumcised lips (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹² And Moses spoke before the face of Yahweh, saying, "Behold, the sons of Israel have not listened to me, so how will Pharaoh listen to me? And I have uncircumcised lips."

before the face of Yahweh (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of a person. There may also be a hint of impudence in Moses' attitude that is conveyed by saying he before the face of Yahweh. Alternate translation: "in the presence of Yahweh" or "boldly to Yahweh" (See: Metonymy)

Behold (ULT)

Behold is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. If there is not a good way to translate this term in your language, this term can be omitted from the translation, or you can use an alternate translation like "as you know."

Behold, the sons of Israel have not listened to me, so how will Pharaoh listen to me (ULT)

Moses asked this question hoping God would change His mind about using Moses. This rhetorical question can be translated as a statement. Alternate translation: "Since the Israelites did not listen to me, neither will Pharaoh!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

Behold, the sons of Israel have not listened to me, so how will Pharaoh listen to me (ULT)

Moses is presenting a reasoned argument: since this, then probably that. Use a natural way of expressing such arguments in your language. Alternate translation: "Since the sons of Israel have not listened to me, why would you think Pharaoh would listen to me?" (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

And I have uncircumcised lips (ULT)

This is a metaphor that means that Moses was not a good speaker. It is somewhat crude; your translation of this phrase could convey that Moses spoke impolitely. Alternate translation: "And I do not speak well" (See: Metaphor) to...and he gave them a command...the sons of Israel and to Pharaoh (ULT)

Exodus 6:13

This phrase is somewhat difficult to translate. Here, command could also be translated as “charge” or “commission.” Another difficulty is knowing to whom the command is directed: is it to Moses and Aaron or are they to give the command to Pharaoh and the Israelites, thus to could be translated as “for” or “regarding” Alternate translations: “and he charged them regarding the sons of Israel and regarding Pharaoh” or “and he gave them a command for the sons of Israel and for Pharaoh” or “and he gave them a commission to the sons of Israel and to Pharaoh”

ULT

Miracles

When Yahweh had Moses perform miracles, Pharaoh's men were able to copy these miracles. It is unknown how they were able to do this, but since it was not from Yahweh, they were probably done under some evil power. (See: miracle, wonder, sign and evil, wicked, unpleasant)

Pharaoh's hard heart

Pharaoh's heart is often described as hard, strong, or heavy in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh's instructions.

"Let my people go"

This is a very important statement. Moses is not asking Pharaoh to "let go" of the Hebrew people. Instead, he is demanding that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

Possible translation difficulties in this chapter include:

- Moses as God to Pharaoh
- A number of difficult terms: prophet, signs, wonders, miracles, sorcerers, magicians, magic, judgments, canals, reservoirs
- The use of "heart" to refer to the seat of will and emotion
- Up to third-level quotations

Exodus 7:1

Moses (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues to the end of verse 5. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Look, I have made you God to Pharaoh and your brother Aaron will be your prophet.”

Look (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to surprising information that follows. Alternative translation: “Listen carefully”

I have made you God to Pharaoh (ULT)

This means Moses would represent the same authority to Pharaoh as God did to Moses. See how you translated the very similar phrase in Exodus 4:16, see this note. Alternate translation: “I will cause Pharaoh to consider you as a god” (See: Metaphor) and your brother Aaron will be your prophet (ULT)

This phrase compares Aaron to a prophet, because he will be the one actually to proclaim to Pharaoh what Moses tells him. See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 4:16, see this note. Alternate translation: “and Aaron your brother will act like your prophet” (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 7:2

your brother (ULT)

Aaron is older than Moses. If your language uses a different term for the sibling relationship based on gender and age order, choose the appropriate one. (See: Kinship)

that he should let the sons of Israel go from his land (ULT)

Some languages may need to make this a direct quote. If so, be sure to mark it as a second-level quotation, subordinate to Yahweh's main speech. Alternative translation: "saying, 'You must let the sons of Israel go from your land'" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations) from his land (ULT)

"Egypt"

ULT

² You shall say everything that I will command you. And your brother Aaron shall speak to Pharaoh that he should let the sons of Israel go from his land.

Exodus 7:3

will harden the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God will make him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were hard. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in Exodus 4:21, but note the slightly different metaphor there: the heart being strong vs. hard. Alternate translation: "will cause Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³ But I will harden the heart of Pharaoh, and I will multiply my signs and my miracles in the land of Egypt.

my signs and my miracles (ULT)

The words signs and wonders mean basically the same thing. God uses them to emphasize the greatness of what he will do in Egypt. (See: Doublet)

Exodus 7:4

to you (ULT)

Here, you means Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual form (if you have one) or plural form (if not) here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

my hand (ULT)

The words my hand represent God’s great power. Alternate translation: “my power” (See: Metonymy)

on Egypt (ULT)

On Egypt refers to the land and everything in it, including people, animals, and plants. (See: Metonymy)

These phrases refer to the Israelites in three different ways; they do not refer to three different groups of people. Armies is the same word translated “hosts” in Exodus 6:26. Alternate translation: “the armies of my Israelite people”

ULT

⁴ And Pharaoh will not listen to you, so I will put my hand on Egypt and will bring out my armies, my people, the sons of Israel, from the land of Egypt with great judgments.

Exodus 7:5

And the Egyptians will know that I am Yahweh (ULT)

This is the result of God rescuing the Israelites. In some languages the result will have to be placed after the cause, as in the UST. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

⁵ And the Egyptians will know that I am Yahweh when I stretch out my hand over Egypt to bring the sons of Israel out from their midst."

when I stretch out my hand over (ULT)

This phrase represents God's great power. Alternate translation: "when I show my powerful acts against" (See: Metonymy) to bring the sons of Israel out from their midst (ULT)

The goal of God's powerful acts was to rescue the Israelites. Alternate translation: "so that I bring the sons of Israel out from their midst" (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

from their midst (ULT)

At the end of this verse, the direct quote that began in verse 1 ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. Note that the UST is reordered. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 7:6

And...did...they did (ULT)

This repetition emphasizes the statement. Some languages can use repetition for emphasis; others will need to use another way of expressing emphasis. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

⁶ And Moses and Aaron did, they did just as Yahweh commanded them.

Exodus 7:7

And Moses was a son of 80 years and Aaron was a son of 83 years when they were speaking to Pharaoh (ULT)

This verse contains background information. If your language marks background information with particular discourse features, use them here. (See: Background Information)

ULT

⁷ And Moses was a son of 80 years and Aaron was a son of 83 years when they were speaking to Pharaoh.

80...83 (ULT)

“eighty ... eighty-three” (See: Numbers) was a son of 80 years...was a son of 83 years (ULT)

This is an idiom that refers to their age. See UST. (See: Idiom)

Exodus 7:8

And Yahweh said (ULT)

This verse marks the beginning of new sections, both major and minor. The major story of the plagues and Exodus itself unfolds from here until after Pharaoh's army is defeated at the Red Sea. The next minor event is the miracle of the rods becoming snakes. Either by using particular forms that your language uses to mark transitions or by making a section break and heading, this transition should be marked for readers. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

⁸ And Yahweh said to Moses and to Aaron saying,

saying (ULT)

Here, saying marks the beginning of a direct quote and is often omitted in translation when such a construction is unnatural in the target language. See UST.

Exodus 7:9

For Pharaoh will speak to you, saying, ‘Create a miracle yourself,’ and you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down before the face of Pharaoh, let it become a serpent (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁹ “For Pharaoh will speak to you, saying, ‘Create a miracle yourself,’ and you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down before the face of Pharaoh, let it become a serpent.’”

For Pharaoh will speak to you, saying, ‘Create a miracle yourself,’ and you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down before the face of Pharaoh, let it become a serpent (ULT)

The two quotations in this verse could be stated as indirect quotes. Alternate translation: “When Pharaoh tells you to do a miracle, then you will tell Aaron to take his staff and throw it down before Pharaoh so that it may become a snake” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Create a miracle yourself (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. If you did not decide to make it an indirect quotation, it may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Take your staff and throw it down before the face of Pharaoh, let it become a serpent (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. The second level may end after Pharaoh. If you did not decide to make it an indirect quotation, it may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

saying (ULT)

Here, saying marks the beginning of a direct quote and is often omitted in translation when such a construction is unnatural in the target language. See UST.

to you...yourself (ULT)

These are plural, referring to Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual form (if you have one) or plural form (if not) here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Create a miracle yourself (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer level.
(See: Quotes within Quotes)

Take your staff and throw it down before the face of Pharaoh, let it become a serpent (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer level.
(See: Quotes within Quotes)

before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

Although before the face of still has the standard figurative meaning of “in the presence of,” it is a much more literal use here. Moses and Aaron are to actually do the miracles in front of Pharaoh so that Pharaoh can see them. Alternative translation: “so Pharaoh can see it” (See: Metonymy) before the face of Pharaoh and before the faces of his servants (ULT)

Exodus 7:10

This time, while before the face of still has the standard figurative meaning of “in the presence of,” it is a much more literal use here. Aaron actually does this right in front of Pharaoh and his servants so they could watch what happens. Alternative translation: “where Pharaoh and his servants could see it” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

¹⁰ And Moses and Aaron entered in to Pharaoh, and they did just as Yahweh commanded. And Aaron threw down his staff before the face of Pharaoh and before the faces of his servants, and it became a serpent.

his servants (ULT)

His servants probably refers to important advisors that would be in the king’s court, and does not refer common servants.

Exodus 7:11

wise men and sorcerers...the magicians of (ULT)

Here, magicians probably describes both wise men and sorcerers rather than being a third group. See translationWords articles for each term.

ULT

¹¹ And Pharaoh also called for wise men and sorcerers. And the magicians of Egypt also did so by their magic.

Exodus 7:12

And...swallowed up (ULT)

“ate up” or “devoured”

And the staff of Aaron swallowed up their staffs (ULT)

This is a surprising and amusing twist which was not what the magicians expected. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

the staff of...their staffs (ULT)

It may be necessary in some languages to translate the word staff as “snake” since it had turned into one. This may be true if it would not make sense in the target language to say (because it is not living) that a staff swallowed or ate something. It may also be not make sense in some languages to speak of the snakes as staffs once transformed. (See: Personification)

ULT

¹² And each man threw down his staff, and they became serpents. And the staff of Aaron swallowed up their staffs.

Exodus 7:13

And the heart of Pharaoh was strong (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in Exodus 4:21, but note that this is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn, as many others in this part of the narrative do). Alternate translation: "Pharaoh was still defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

13 And the heart of Pharaoh was strong, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had spoken.

just as Yahweh had spoken (ULT)

Because Yahweh's prediction precedes this event, some languages may need to place the reference to that prediction before the statement that it was fulfilled. See UST.

Exodus 7:14

The heart of Pharaoh is heavy (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of Pharaoh's stubborn attitude as if Pharaoh's heart were heavy. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. This is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn as many others in this part of the narrative do). See how you translated this in Exodus 7:13, but note the slightly different metaphor there: the heart being heavy vs strong. Alternate translation: "Pharaoh is defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

14 And Yahweh said to Moses, "The heart of Pharaoh is heavy; he has refused to let the people go."

And...said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

Moses (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues to the end of verse 18. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 7:15

Behold (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to information that follows.

he goes out to the water (ULT)

There are various theories as to what Pharaoh went down to the Nile to do, but there is no need to speculate or specify in the translation.

ULT

15 Go to Pharaoh. Behold, in the morning he goes out to the water, so station yourself to meet him on the edge of the river. And take in your hand the staff that turned into a snake.

Exodus 7:16

And say to him (ULT)

“Say to Pharaoh”

Yahweh (ULT)

This begins a second-level quotation that continues until the end of verse 18. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

16 And say to him, ‘Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to you to say, “Let my people go, and they will serve me in the wilderness. And behold, until now, you have not listened.”’

the God of the Hebrews (ULT)

Yahweh claimed the Hebrews (Israelites) as his own. They worshiped him. This is a possessive of social relationship. (See: Possession)

Let my people go, and they will serve me in the wilderness. And behold, until now, you have not listened (ULT)

This is a third-level quotation. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer levels. Alternatively, you could translate it as an indirect quotation as in the UST. If you do this, take care to adjust the pronoun person (second/third) as appropriate. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

And behold (ULT)

Behold is used to draw attention to the information that follows. In some languages, it will not be translated.

Exodus 7:17

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

By this (ULT)

This begins a third-level quotation that continues until the end of verse 18. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer levels. It is possible that the third-level quote actually ends before Behold, in which case, in the rest of the quote I refers to Moses, not Yahweh. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

Behold (ULT)

Behold is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. Alternate translation: "Look at this"

ULT

17 Thus says Yahweh: "By this you will know that I am Yahweh. Behold, I am about to strike against the waters that are in the river with the staff that is in my hand, and they will turn to blood."

Exodus 7:18

and the river will stink (ULT)

The river will stink will happen because the fish die. Alternate translation: “and because of that the river will stink” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

18 And the fish that are in the river will die, and the river will stink. And the Egyptians will exhaust themselves to drink water from the river.”””

And the Egyptians will exhaust themselves to drink water from the river (ULT)

In some languages you will need to put the reason before the result. Alternative translation: “In order to find water to drink from the river, the Egyptians will exhaust themselves.” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

And the Egyptians will exhaust themselves (ULT)

Here, themselves refers back to the subject (the Egyptians) to indicated that the Egyptians are the object of the verb as well. Different languages have different methods of marking this. (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

from the river (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh’s commands ends. Depending on your decisions about the embedded quotation levels, you may have up to three levels of quotations that need to be closed here. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with closing quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation and quotations within quotations. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 7:19

Say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt; over their streams, over their canals, and over their pools, and over every reservoir of their water, and it will become blood.’ And there will be blood in all the land of Egypt, and in containers of wood and in containers of stone (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

¹⁹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt; over their streams, over their canals, and over their pools, and over every reservoir of their water, and it will become blood.’ And there will be blood in all the land of Egypt, and in containers of wood and in containers of stone.”

Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt; over their streams, over their canals, and over their pools, and over every reservoir of their water, and it will become blood (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

over their streams, over their canals, and over their pools, and over every reservoir of their water (ULT)

This list is meant to expand on and reinforce the idea of all of the water in Egypt. You should translate the list in such a way that the locations of the blood are not limited to these specific places, but to imply universality. (See: Merism)

in all the land of (ULT)

“in every part of”

and in containers of wood and in containers of stone (ULT)

This possessive show composition. Alternate translation: “and in containers made from wood and in containers made from stone” (See: Possession)

Exodus 7:20

in the river (ULT)

The name of the river may be made explicit. Alternate translation: “in the Nile River” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of his servants (ULT)

This means in their sight. Alternate translation: “in the sight of Pharaoh and his servants” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

20 And Moses and Aaron did so, just as Yahweh commanded. And he raised the staff, and he struck the water that was in the river, in the eyes of Pharaoh and in the eyes of his servants. And all the water that was in the river turned to blood.

Exodus 7:21

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²¹ And the fish that were in the river died, and the river stank, so the Egyptians were not able to drink water from the river. And the blood was in all the land of Egypt.

Exodus 7:22

the magicians of (ULT)

See how you translated this term in 7:11. (See: Translate Unknowns)

And the heart of Pharaoh was strong (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong.

If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. This is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn as many others in this part of the narrative do). See how you translated this in Exodus 7:13. Alternate translation: "Pharaoh was still defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

22 And the magicians of Egypt did the same with their magic. And the heart of Pharaoh was strong, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had spoken.

just as Yahweh had spoken (ULT)

Because Yahweh's prediction precedes this event, some languages may need to place the reference to that prediction before the statement that it was fulfilled. See UST and how you handled this in 7:13 where the same sentence appears.

Exodus 7:23

And he did not set his heart even to this (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning Pharaoh did not think about the meaning of the miracle he had just seen. Alternate translation: “And he did not consider what even this meant” (See: Idiom)

ULT

²³ And Pharaoh turned around and went into his house. And he did not set his heart even to this.

Exodus 7:24

all the Egyptians (ULT)

The word all here is a generalization that means “many.” At the least, the upper class would have sent their slaves to dig for them.
Alternate translation: “Many of the Egyptians” (See: Hyperbole)

ULT

24 And all the Egyptians dug water to drink around the river, for they were not able to drink from the waters of the river.

Exodus 7:25

And...were filled (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And seven days were filled (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning seven days later. (See: Idiom)

seven (ULT)

"7" (See: Numbers)

ULT

²⁵ And seven days were filled after Yahweh struck the river.

Exodus 8

Exodus 8 General Notes

Possible translation difficulties in this chapter

- the exact insects in plagues 3-4 are not certain, translation teams will need to decide what insects they can use for each
- Pharaoh makes his own heart heavy, that is, he determines to be proud and resist Yahweh twice in this chapter
- the Israelites' sacrifices are spoken of as an abomination to the Egyptians but it is not specified how or why that is

Lifting up the hand and staff:

In the next few chapters God will instruct Moses and/or Aaron to raise his hand and/or staff. The narrative will then record that whoever will raise his hand and/or staff. The instruction and the action do not always match exactly. God may say raise your hand and the narrative may say Moses raised his staff. These are not conflicting reports. Translators should understand that the hand and the staff are always understood together. They are one unit and they can both be mentioned or they can be mentioned separately. In each case, Moses or Aaron raises his hand with the staff in it. This fact is merely expressed differently.

Special concepts in this chapter

Pharaoh's hard heart

Pharaoh's heart is often described as hard in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh's instructions. When his heart was hardened, it became less and less receptive to Yahweh.

Let my people go

This is a very important statement. Moses does not ask Pharaoh for permission to "let go" of the Hebrew people. Instead, he is demanding that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

Exodus 8:1

Go (ULT)

This begins a direct quote that continues until the end of verse 4.
(See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

Thus (ULT)

This begins a second-level quote that continues until the end of verse 4. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer level. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

Let...go (ULT)

This begins a third-level quote that continues until the end of verse 4. It should be marked in some manner that distinguishes it from the outer levels. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and you shall say to him, 'Thus says Yahweh: "Let my people go and they shall serve me."

Exodus 8:2

to let go (ULT)

What Pharaoh is to let go is not specified, but “my people” or “the Israelites” are the understood object. Alternate translation: “to let the Israelites go” (See: Ellipsis)

behold (ULT)

Behold is an interjection meant to focus the attention of the listener on what comes next, in this case a dire warning. Alternate translation: “look out”

ULT

² And if you refuse to let go, behold! I am about to strike all your territory with frogs.

Exodus 8:3

into your house, and in the room of your bed, and on your bed, and into the house of your servants, and among your people, and in your ovens, and in your bread making bowls (ULT)

This long list means “everywhere in Egypt.” It is presented in this way for rhetorical effect, that is, to convince Pharaoh of how bad this plague will be so he will obey. You should translate the list in such a way that the frogs’ location is not limited to these specific places. The list should imply universality. (See: Merism)

ULT

³ And frogs will swarm the river. And they will climb, and they will go into your house, and in the room of your bed, and on your bed, and into the house of your servants, and among your people, and in your ovens, and in your bread making bowls,

Exodus 8:4

Up to three levels of quotes end at the end of this verse. Depending on how many levels you chose to mark as direct quotations, you should indicate them ending here with closing second-level (and third-level) quotation mark(s) or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of quotations and quotations within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁴ and the frogs will climb on you, and on your people, and on all your servants.""

Exodus 8:5

Say to Aaron, ‘Reach out your hand with your staff over the canals, over the streams, and over the pools, and cause the frogs to come up on the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level opening and closing quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁵ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Reach out your hand with your staff over the canals, over the streams, and over the pools, and cause the frogs to come up on the land of Egypt.’”

And Yahweh said to Moses, “Say to Aaron (ULT)

It may be helpful to translate this first quotation indirectly to avoid having two levels of quotations in this verse. Alternate translation: “And Yahweh told Moses to say to Aaron” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Reach out your hand with your staff over the canals, over the streams, and over the pools, and cause the frogs to come up on the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation (if you chose to make Say to Aaron a direct quotation). It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level opening and closing quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation inside a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) your hand...with your staff (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

over the canals, over the streams, and over the pools (ULT)

This list is meant to convey the idea of all the water in Egypt where frogs might live. You should translate the list in such a way that the locations are not limited to these specific places. The list should imply universality. This is made clear in 8:6. (See: Merism)

Exodus 8:6

And Aaron reached out (ULT)

It is implied that Moses told Yahweh's instructions to Aaron. You may choose to make this explicit as in the UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁶ And Aaron reached out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frog came up and covered the land of Egypt.

his hand (ULT)

It is implied that Aaron was holding his staff as instructed. You may choose to make this explicit. See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff. Alternate translation: "his hand holding his staff" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

And Aaron reached out his hand over the waters of (ULT)

Aaron would not have been able to reach his hand over all the water in Egypt. He likely stretched his hand over some nearby portion of the Nile symbolizing all the water of Egypt. (See: Synecdoche)

and...came up (ULT)

Verse 3 has specified from where the frogs will come. Here it is implied, but you may make it explicit as in the UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

the frog (ULT)

There were so many frogs that the text uses the collective singular. If that does not make sense in your language, you may simply use the plural as in the UST. (See: Collective Nouns) and the frog came up and covered the land of Egypt (ULT)

This means that there were frogs everywhere in Egypt. The image is like that of a blanket smothering the entire country. (Or more directly, like one giant, nation-sized frog sitting on top of the entire land). (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 8:7

the magicians...with their magic (ULT)

See how you translated these in 7:11. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

⁷ And the magicians did likewise with their magic; and they brought up frogs over the land of Egypt.

Exodus 8:8

And Pharaoh called for Moses and for Aaron (ULT)

“Then Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron” or “And the king summoned Moses and Aaron”

And Pharaoh called for Moses and for Aaron and he said (ULT)

It is implied that Moses and Aaron came between being called and Pharaoh speaking to them. You may need to make that explicit. Alternate translation: “And Pharaoh called for Moses and for Aaron, and after they came he said” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁸ And Pharaoh called for Moses and for Aaron and he said, “Pray to Yahweh that he may take away the frogs from me and from my people. And I will let the people go, and they may sacrifice to Yahweh.”

Pray to Yahweh that he may take away the frogs from me and from my people. And I will let the people go, and they may sacrifice to Yahweh (ULT)

to Yahweh that he may take away the frogs from me and from my people (ULT)

In some languages you may have to make the content of Pharaoh’s prayer to Yahweh a direct quote. Note that this will make it a second-level quotation and you will need to mark it with second-level quotation markings if your language uses them. Alternate translation: “to Yahweh saying, ‘Please take away the frogs from Pharaoh and from his people.’ ” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

And I will let the people go, and they may sacrifice to Yahweh (ULT)

This promise is conditional on the frogs going away. Alternate translation: “Once the frogs are gone, I will let the people go, and they may sacrifice to Yahweh” (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

Exodus 8:9

Glorify yourself over me: when shall I pray for you, and for your servants, and for your people, to cause to cut off the frogs from you and from your houses? They will be left in the river only (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁹ And Moses said to Pharaoh, “Glorify yourself over me: when shall I pray for you, and for your servants, and for your people, to cause to cut off the frogs from you and from your houses? They will be left in the river only.”

Glorify yourself over me (ULT)

Moses speaks with false humility here. He is ironically pointing out Pharaoh’s powerlessness before Yahweh. Alternate translation: “You can choose” (See: Irony) for you, and for your servants, and for your people...from you and from your houses (ULT)

These lists mean “for everyone” and “from everywhere” (in Egypt). This makes clear that Moses will ask for a complete end of the plague. You should translate the list in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

Exodus 8:10

Tomorrow (ULT)

ULT

¹⁰ And he said, "Tomorrow." And he said, "Just as you say. So that you will know that there is no one like Yahweh, our God.

Just as you say (ULT)

A direct quote begins here that continues to the end of the next verse. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

So that you will know that there is no one like Yahweh, our God (ULT)

This knowledge is the goal of Yahweh's granting a respite from the frogs. In some languages you may need to place this at the end of verse 11 after Moses says the frogs will leave. (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

our God (ULT)

Here, our refers to the Israelites' God, excluding Pharaoh and the Egyptians. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We')

Exodus 8:11

from you, and from your houses, and from your servants, and from your people (ULT)

This list means “from everywhere and everyone” (in Egypt). This shows that the end of the plague will be as complete as its extent. You should translate the list in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

ULT

¹¹ And the frogs will withdraw from you, and from your houses, and from your servants, and from your people. They will be left in the river only.”

They will be left in the river only (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Moses that started in the previous verse ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 8:12

he had set (ULT)

“Yahweh had set”

And Moses and Aaron went out (ULT)

A minor scene shift occurs here and may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

¹² And Moses and Aaron went out from being with Pharaoh. And Moses cried out to Yahweh concerning the matter of the frogs that he had set on Pharaoh.

Exodus 8:13

from the houses, from the courts, and from the fields (ULT)

This list means “from everywhere” (in Egypt). This makes clear that there was a complete end of the plague. You should translate the list in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

ULT

¹³ And Yahweh did according to the word of Moses: and the frogs died off from the houses, from the courts, and from the fields.

Exodus 8:14

into many piles (ULT)

Literally, “piles piles.” Repetition is used in Hebrew to emphasize how many or how big they were.

ULT

14 And they gathered them into many piles, and the land stank.

Exodus 8:15

and he caused his heart to be heavy (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if he made his own heart heavy. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in Exodus 7:14, but note, there, that the state of Pharaoh's heart is reported, whereas here, Pharaoh makes his own heart heavy. Alternate translation: "and Pharaoh determined to be defiant" (See: Metaphor)

just as Yahweh had said (ULT)

"just as Yahweh had said Pharaoh would do"

ULT

15 And Pharaoh saw that there was a respite, and he caused his heart to be heavy and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said.

Exodus 8:16

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the start of the third plague sequence. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

16 And Yahweh said to Moses, "Say to Aaron, 'Stretch out your staff and strike the dust of the ground, and it will become lice in all the land of Egypt.'"

Say to Aaron, 'Stretch out your staff and strike the dust of the ground, and it will become lice in all the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. However, it may be helpful to translate one of the parts as an indirect quotation so that you do not have to have two levels of quotations here. Alternate translation: see UST or "[And Yahweh told Moses] to tell Aaron" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Stretch out your staff and strike the dust of the ground, and it will become lice in all the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation (unless you translated one portion as an indirect quotation). It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level (or first-level) quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation (within a quotation). (See: Quote Markings)

Stretch out your staff and strike (ULT)

This is one action or motion but it is described with the two verbs that occur throughout this section of plague judgment.

your staff (ULT)

This is Aaron's staff. See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

lice (ULT)

We do not know exactly what this word means. It is probably a tiny (as in dust-particle size) biting insect. You should choose a different insect here than in the next plague (8:21-8:31). (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 8:17

Again, this is one action or motion but it is described with the two verbs that occur throughout this section of plague judgment. See how you translated it in the previous verse.

his hand...with his staff (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

lice...lice (ULT)

Again, we do not know this term for certain, so see how you translated it in 8:16. (See: Translate Unknowns)

on man (ULT)

This includes women and children. Alternate translation: “people” or “mankind” or “humans” See UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

All the dust of the ground...in all the land of Egypt (ULT)

This extraordinary statement is used to emphasize the extent and severity of the plague. (See: Hyperbole)

ULT

17 And they did so: and Aaron stretched out his hand with his staff and he struck the dust of the ground, and it became lice on man and on beast. All the dust of the ground was lice in all the land of Egypt.

Exodus 8:18

the magicians...with their magic (ULT)

See how you translated these in 7:11. (See: Translate Unknowns)

lice...lice (ULT)

See how you translated this term in 8:16. (See: Translate Unknowns)

on man (ULT)

This includes women and children. Alternate translation: “people” or “mankind” or “humans” See UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

ULT

18 And the magicians did so with their magic to bring out lice, but they were not able. And there were lice on man and beast.

Exodus 8:19

the magicians (ULT)

See how you translated this term in 7:11. (See: Translate Unknowns)

It is the finger of God (ULT)

The words “finger of God” represent the power of God. Alternate translation: “This is the powerful work of God” (See: Synecdoche)

ULT

19 And the magicians said to Pharaoh, “It is the finger of God.” And the heart of Pharaoh was strong, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh said.

And the heart of Pharaoh was strong (ULT)

Pharaoh’s stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person’s will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in Exodus 7:13. This is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn as many others in this part of the narrative do). Alternate translation: “Pharaoh was still defiant” (See: Metaphor)

to them (ULT)

It is possible that them refers to the magicians here. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

just as Yahweh said (ULT)

Some languages will need to place this before the thing that Yahweh predicted, as in the UST.

Exodus 8:20

and station yourself before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

“and present yourself to Pharaoh”

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the beginning of the fourth plague sequence. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

²⁰ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Rise early in the morning and station yourself before the face of Pharaoh. Behold, he goes out to the waters. And you shall say to him, ‘Thus says Yahweh: “Let my people go and they will serve me.”’

before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

Here, face figuratively means the presence of a person. (See: Metonymy)

Behold (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to important information that is next. In some languages and translation styles it will make the most sense to omit this, as in the UST. Alternate translation: “Listen carefully”

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This phrase opens a direct quote which continues until the end of verse 23. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. However, you may also consider making the opening portion an indirect quote so that you do not have a quote inside of a quote for the next verses. Alternate translation: “that Yahweh says” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

Let...go (ULT)

This phrase opens a second-level direct quote which continues until the end of verse 23, unless you made thus says Yahweh an indirect quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) and they will serve me (ULT)

This is the purpose of the people being let go. Alternate translation: “so they can serve me” (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

Exodus 8:21

behold me (ULT)

This is used to draw attention to important information that is next.
Alternate translation: "Listen carefully"

the swarm...the swarm (ULT)

This is a collective singular noun that refers to a great number of swarming, biting insects. Alternate translation: "swarms of flies"
(See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

²¹ Surely if you do not immediately send my people out, behold me! I am about to send the swarm at you, and at your servants, and at your people, and into your houses. And the houses of Egypt will be full of the swarm, and even the ground which they are on.

the swarm...the swarm (ULT)

These are probably the large common flies that bother humans and livestock. (See: Translate Unknowns) at you, and at your servants, and at your people, and into your houses...the houses of Egypt...and even the ground (ULT)

This long list means, "everywhere in Egypt." It is presented in this way for rhetorical effect, that is, to convince Pharaoh of how bad this plague will be so he will obey. You should translate the list in such a way that the flies' location is not limited to these specific places, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

Exodus 8:22

so that the swarm will not be there (ULT)

This is the result of Yahweh treating the land of Goshen differently.
Alternate translation: "by keeping the swarm from there" (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

the swarm (ULT)

This is a collective singular noun that refers to a great number of swarming, biting insects. See how you translated this in 8:21. Alternate translation: "swarms of flies" (See: Collective Nouns)

the swarm (ULT)

These are probably the large common flies that bother humans and livestock. See how you translated this in 8:21 (See: Translate Unknowns) in order that you may know that I am Yahweh in the middle of the land (ULT)

This is the goal of treating the Israelites differently. In some languages you may need to put this phrase the beginning of the verse. (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

I am Yahweh in the middle of the land (ULT)

Here, am could be connecting I and Yahweh or it could be connecting I, Yahweh and in the middle of the land.
Alternate translation: "I, Yahweh, am in the middle of the land"

ULT

22 And in that day, I will distinguish the land of Goshen, on which my people dwell, so that the swarm will not be there, in order that you may know that I am Yahweh in the middle of the land.

Exodus 8:23

redemption (ULT)

This is a noun derived from a verb meaning “to buy back.” Very broadly it can mean “to save or rescue.” See the next note regarding textual variants for more information. (See: Abstract Nouns)

ULT

²³ And I will put redemption between my people and between your people. This sign will happen tomorrow.””

redemption (ULT)

Many translations follow the Septuagint here, which uses the word “division.” A minor change to the Hebrew would also produce the word translated “treat differently” in the previous verse. Alternate translation: “a division” (See: Textual Variants)

my people (ULT)

Yahweh’s people, that is, the Israelites. Alternate translation: “the Israelites”

your people (ULT)

Pharaoh’s people, that is, the Egyptians. Alternate translation: “the Egyptians”

This sign will happen tomorrow (ULT)

After this phrase, the three levels of direct quotations of Yahweh that started in 8:20 ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with closing first-level, second-level, and third-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of quotations. You may not have three levels if you made any level an indirect quote. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 8:24

And Yahweh did so (ULT)

The UST supplies a brief sentence filling in the gap between Yahweh's command to Moses and the onset of the plague. Some languages will need something like that to make the progression of events clear. Alternate translation: "Moses obeyed the instructions Yahweh gave him and Pharaoh responded as Yahweh had said he would. And Yahweh did so" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²⁴ And Yahweh did so, and a heavy swarm came to the house of Pharaoh and the houses of his servants and all the land of Egypt. The land was ruined from the face of the swarm.

And Yahweh did so (ULT)

There is a minor scene change here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

a...swarm (ULT)

There are probably the large common flies that bother humans and livestock. See how you translated this in 8:21 (See: Translate Unknowns)

and...came (ULT)

Some languages may need to translate this as going rather than coming. Alternate translation: "and ... went" (See: Go and Come) to the house of Pharaoh and the houses of his servants (ULT)

This means "to everyone everywhere" (in Egypt) as made explicit in the next statement. This makes clear that the insects were throughout the land. You should translate this in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

The land was ruined from the face of the swarm (ULT)

This can be translated in active form. Alternate translation: "The swarms of flies devastated the land" (See: Active or Passive) from the face of the swarm (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of the insects. Alternate translation: "because the insects were everywhere" (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 8:25

And...called (ULT)

This happened during the plague. (See: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship)

Go, sacrifice to your God in the land (ULT)

to your God (ULT)

Here, your is plural. it could refer either to Moses and Aaron or to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a dual form (if you have one) if your team decides it means Moses and Aaron, otherwise use a plural form. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

²⁵ And Pharaoh called to Moses and to Aaron and said, "Go, sacrifice to your God in the land."

Exodus 8:26

And Moses said (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins that continues until the end of 8:27. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) an abomination of the Egyptians...an abomination of the...Egyptians (ULT)

We do not know what about their sacrificing was an abomination to the Egyptians. The same term is used in Genesis 43:32 and 46:34 to describe the Egyptians' feelings about eating with Hebrews and about the Hebrew profession of shepherding, respectively. Translators should attempt to convey the strong negative feelings that would be provoked in the Egyptians without speculating as to the cause.

we will sacrifice...our God...we would sacrifice...would they...stone us (ULT)

Here, we, our, and us should all be translated as exclusive (if your language makes that distinction). Pharaoh and the Egyptians are not included. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We') and would they not stone us (ULT)

Moses asks this question to show Pharaoh that the Egyptians would not allow the Israelites to worship Yahweh by making a sacrifice repugnant to them. Alternate translation: "they will certainly stone us!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

before their eyes (ULT)

This is a figurative way of saying "where they can see." Alternate translation: "in their sight" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

²⁶ And Moses said, "It would not be right to do so, because we will sacrifice an abomination of the Egyptians to Yahweh our God. Look, we would sacrifice an abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and would they not stone us?"

Exodus 8:27

We must travel...and we will sacrifice...our God...to us (ULT)

Here, we, our, and us should all be translated as exclusive (if your language makes that distinction). Pharaoh and his people are not included. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We')

to us (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote of Moses' argument to Pharaoh ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²⁷ We must travel a journey of three days into the wilderness, and we will sacrifice to Yahweh our God, just as he is saying to us."

Exodus 8:28

I will let you go and sacrifice to Yahweh your God in the wilderness; only you may certainly not go very far. Pray for me (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²⁸ And Pharaoh said, "I will let you go and sacrifice to Yahweh your God in the wilderness; only you may certainly not go very far. Pray for me."

you...your God...you...very far (ULT)

If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

you (ULT)

"the Israelites"

certainly...you...very far (ULT)

In Hebrew, far is repeated to emphasize (with not) that they are absolutely not to go too far. If your language does not use repeating words like this, express the emphasis in another way. (See: Idiom)

Exodus 8:29

Behold, I am about to go out from with you. And I shall pray to Yahweh, and he will withdraw the swarm from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people tomorrow. Only may Pharaoh not continue to deceive in order to fail to let the people go to sacrifice to Yahweh (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²⁹ And Moses said, "Behold, I am about to go out from with you. And I shall pray to Yahweh, and he will withdraw the swarm from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people tomorrow. Only may Pharaoh not continue to deceive in order to fail to let the people go to sacrifice to Yahweh."

Behold (ULT)

This is a term meant to focus the attention of the listener on what the speaker is about to say. If there is not a good way to translate this term in your language, this term can be omitted from the translation. Alternate translation: "Know this"

the swarm (ULT)

These are probably the large common flies that bother humans and livestock. See how you translated this in 8:21 (See: Translate Unknowns)

from Pharaoh...Pharaoh (ULT)

Moses may be using the third person to refer to Pharaoh to show respect, because the king appears to be relenting. If use of the third person is not a way of showing respect in your culture or is not a valid way of addressing an individual at all, you may need to change the form. Alternate translation: "from you ... you" (See: First, Second or Third Person)

from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people (ULT)

This list means "from everywhere and everyone" (in Egypt). This shows that the end of the plague will be as complete as its extent. You should translate the list in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism) may Pharaoh not continue to deceive in order to fail to let the people go (ULT)

This can be stated in positive form. Alternate translation: "you must begin to deal truthfully with us and let our people go" (See: Double Negatives)

Only may Pharaoh not continue to deceive (ULT)

"But you must not deceive us" or "But you must not lie to us"

Exodus 8:30

And Moses went out (ULT)

There is a minor scene shift here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

³⁰ And Moses went out from with Pharaoh and prayed to Yahweh.

the swarm (ULT)

These are probably the large common flies that bother humans and livestock. See how you translated this in 8:21 (See: Translate Unknowns)

from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people (ULT)

This list means “from everyone and everywhere” (in Egypt). This makes clear that there was a complete end of the plague. You should translate the list in such a way that it does not convey limitation to these specifics, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

Not one remained (ULT)

This extreme statement emphasizes how thoroughly Yahweh removed the insects from the land. Alternate translation: “There was not a single one of these insects left in the whole land” (See: Hyperbole)

ULT

31 And Yahweh did according to the word of Moses; and he withdrew the swarm from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people. Not one remained.

Exodus 8:32

And Pharaoh caused his heart to be heavy (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if he made his own heart heavy. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 8:15. Alternate translation: "Pharaoh determined to be defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³² And Pharaoh caused his heart to be heavy at this time also, and he did not let the people go.

Exodus 9

Exodus 9 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

Pharaoh's hard heart

Pharaoh's heart is often described as hard in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh's instructions. When his heart was hardened, it became less and less receptive to Yahweh.

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Let my people go

This is a very important statement. Moses is not ask Pharaoh to "let go" of the Hebrew people. Instead, he is demanding that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

Exodus 9:1

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the beginning of the fifth plague sequence. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

to Moses (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues to the end of 9:4 and contains two more levels of quotes. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

to him (ULT)

After this phrase, a second-level direct quote begins which continues to the end of 9:4 and contains one more level of quotes. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) and speak to him: 'Thus says Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews (ULT)

You may want to translate the quote beginning with Thus says Yahweh as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the levels of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: "and say to him that Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, says" (See: Quotes within Quotes)

on your livestock (ULT)

While the word your here is not plural, the next verse shows that it refers to all the people of Egypt who owned cattle. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, you may want to use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural) on the horses, on the donkeys, on the camels, on the cattle, and on the flock (ULT)

This long list is meant to reinforce the universal effects of the coming plague. It is presented in this way for rhetorical effect, that is, to convince Pharaoh of how bad this plague will be so he will obey. You should translate the list in such a way that it is not limiting, but is understood to imply universality. (See: Merism)

"which belongs to any of the sons of Israel"

And no thing will die from any of the sons of Israel (ULT)

After this phrase, the three levels of direct quotes of Yahweh ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with closing quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of levels of quotations. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 9:5

And Yahweh set an appointment (ULT)

“And Yahweh made an appointed time”

saying (ULT)

This marks the beginning of a direct quotation. It can be omitted in translation if your language does not use a similar form. However, in this sentence it is the only verb related to speech, so you may need to translate it similarly to the way the UST does. .

ULT

⁵ And Yahweh set an appointment, saying, “Tomorrow Yahweh will do this thing in the land.”

Tomorrow Yahweh will do this thing in the land (ULT)

Yahweh (ULT)

Yahweh is speaking here. Therefore you could change the third person Yahweh to first person if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: “I, Yahweh,” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

Exodus 9:6

And Yahweh did (ULT)

It is implied that Moses went and spoke to Pharaoh as directed. You may need to make that explicit in your translation in some languages. Alternate translation: "Moses did as Yahweh had commanded. And Yahweh did" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

6 And Yahweh did this thing the next day, and all of the livestock of Egypt died. But from the livestock of the sons of Israel not one died.

all of the livestock of (ULT)

This is exaggerated to emphasize the seriousness of the event. There were still some animals alive that were afflicted by later plagues. However, it may be best to translate this with the word "all." (See: Hyperbole)

the livestock of Egypt...But from the livestock of the sons of Israel (ULT)

This means the livestock owned by the two groups. Alternate translation: "the livestock that the Egyptians owned ... But from the livestock that the Israelites owned" or "the livestock belonging to the Egyptians ... But from the livestock belonging to the Israelites" (See: Possession)

Egypt (ULT)

Here, Egypt refers to the Egyptians. Alternate translation: "the Egyptian peoples'" (See: Metonymy)

the sons of Israel (ULT)

Here, sons figuratively means descendants. The phrase speaks of all of the Israelites as descendants of the patriarch Jacob, who was also known as Israel. Alternate translation: "the Israelite peoples'" (See: Metonymy)

But from the livestock of the sons of Israel not one died (ULT)

This emphatic negative statement could be stated positively. Alternate translation: "But every single one of the Israelites' livestock lived" (See: Litotes)

Exodus 9:7

and behold (ULT)

Behold is used to draw attention to surprising information that follows. Alternate translation: “and listen” not even one of the livestock of Israel had died (ULT)

This emphatic negative statement could be stated positively. Alternate translation: “every single one of the Israelites’ livestock was alive” (See: Litotes)

of Israel (ULT)

Here, Israel refers to the Israelites. Alternate translation: “of the Israelites” (See: Metonymy)

of Israel (ULT)

Here, Israel is a collective singular noun. If your language would not refer to a group of people in this way, you may need to translate it as plural. Alternate translation: “the Israelites” (See: Collective Nouns)

But the heart of Pharaoh was heavy (ULT)

Pharaoh’s stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were heavy. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person’s will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. This is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn as many others in this part of the narrative do). See how you translated this in Exodus 7:14. Alternate translation: “But Pharaoh was defiant” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

⁷ And Pharaoh sent, and behold, not even one of the livestock of Israel had died. But the heart of Pharaoh was heavy, and he did not let the people go.

Exodus 9:8

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the start of the sixth plague scene. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

to Moses and to Aaron (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) to you...both your hands of (ULT)

You and your refer to both Moses and Aaron. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use dual form (if you have one) or plural forms (if not) here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Take to you a fullness of both your hands of (ULT)

“Each of you fill both your hands with”

ash of a furnace (ULT)

“ash from a furnace” or “ash produced by a furnace”

ash of (ULT)

Here, ash is singular. For some languages you may need to make it plural as in the UST. (See: Collective Nouns) toward heaven (ULT)

“toward the sky”

before the eyes of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means in his sight. Alternate translation: “in the sight of Pharaoh” or “so Pharaoh sees it” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

⁸ And Yahweh said to Moses and to Aaron, “Take to you a fullness of both your hands of ash of a furnace. And Moses shall sprinkle it toward heaven before the eyes of Pharaoh.”

Exodus 9:9

boils, bursting blisters (ULT)

This is a condition where the skin is red and hot, the skin breaks, and blood and puss come out. (See: Translate Unknowns)

man (ULT)

This includes women and children. Alternate translation: “people” or “mankind” or “humans” See UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

beast (ULT)

“wild and domestic animals” or “wild animals and livestock”

ULT

⁹ And it will become powder over all the land of Egypt. And it will become boils, bursting blisters, on man and on beast in all the land of Egypt.”

Exodus 9:10

ash of (ULT)

Here, ash is singular. For some languages you may need to make it plural as in the UST. See how you translated this in the previous verse. (See: Collective Nouns)

ash of...a furnace (ULT)

“ash from a furnace” or “ash produced by a furnace” See how you translated this in the previous verse.

and they stood before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

Here, before the face of means in Pharaoh’s presence. Alternate translation: “and stood in Pharaoh’s presence” See how you translated a similar statement in the previous verse. (See: Metonymy) toward the heavens (ULT)

“toward the sky” See how you translated this in the previous verse.

boils, bursting blisters (ULT)

This is a condition where the skin is red and hot, the skin breaks, and blood and puss come out. See how you translated this in the previous verse. (See: Translate Unknowns)

on man (ULT)

This includes women and children. See how you translated this in the previous verse. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women) and on beast (ULT)

“and on wild and domestic animals” or “and on wild animals and livestock” See how you translated this in the previous verse.

ULT

10 And they took ash of a furnace, and they stood before the face of Pharaoh. And Moses sprinkled it toward the heavens, and it became boils, bursting blisters, on man and on beast.

Exodus 9:11

the magicians...on the magicians (ULT)

See how you translated magicians in 7:11.

to stand before the face of Moses (ULT)

Here, before the face of means in Moses' presence. Alternate translation: "to stand in Moses' presence" (See: Metonymy) because of the face of the boils (ULT)

Here, the face of means the existence of or perhaps pain from the boils. Alternate translation: "because of the boils" (See: Metaphor)

the boils...boils (ULT)

This is a condition where the skin is red and hot, the skin breaks, and blood and puss comes out. See how you translated this in 9:9. However, this time only boils is used, without the description ("bursting blisters") that is in the previous two verses. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

11 And the magicians were not able to stand before the face of Moses because of the face of the boils. Because boils were on the magicians and on all of Egypt.

Exodus 9:12

But Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God made him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart was strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "But Yahweh caused Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

¹² But Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said to Moses.

Exodus 9:13

And Yahweh said to Moses (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the beginning of the seventh plague sequence. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And Yahweh said to Moses (ULT)

After this phrase a direct quote begins that continues until the end of 9:19. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

13 And Yahweh said to Moses, "Rise early in the morning, and stand before the face of Pharaoh, and say to him, 'Thus says Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews: "Let my people go, and they shall serve me."

and stand before the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

Here, before the face of means in Pharaoh's presence. Alternate translation: "and stand in Pharaoh's presence" (See: Metonymy) and say to him, 'Thus says Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews (ULT)

After and say to him, a second-level quote begins which continues until the end of 9:19. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. However, it may be useful to translate this short quote frame as an indirect quotation as the UST does. (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Yahweh...Thus says (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

Let...go (ULT)

Let is the first word of a third-level direct quote which continues until the end of 9:19. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening third-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a third-level quotation. If you chose to make the second level an indirect quote, this may only be a second-level quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 9:14

For (ULT)

Here, For means something like “I am warning you that unless you do this.” Alternate translation: “Otherwise,” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

I am about to send all my plagues to your heart (ULT)

Here, to your heart is a synecdoche that means that even Pharaoh will be hurt by the plagues. Alternate translation: “I am about to send all my plagues against you personally” (See: Synecdoche)

ULT

14 For this time I am about to send all my plagues to your heart, and on your servants, and on your people, in order that you may know that there is nothing like me in all the earth.

Exodus 9:15

For now I could have stretched out my hand and struck you and your people with a plague, and you would have been destroyed from the land (ULT)

ULT

¹⁵ For now I could have stretched out my hand and struck you and your people with a plague, and you would have been destroyed from the land.

This verse presents two things that God could have done but did not do to the Egyptians. This is to set up the reason he gives in the next verse. Be sure that it is clear in your translation that these are hypothetical past events. See the note regarding Yahweh's stated goals in the next verse. Some languages may need to reverse the order of these verses to put Yahweh's goals before his non-action. (See: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions)

I could have stretched out my hand and struck you (ULT)

Here, my hand refers to God's power. Alternate translation: "I could have used my power to attack you" (See: Metonymy) and struck you and your people with a plague (ULT)

Here, a plague is spoken about as if it were something that could be used to hit someone. Alternate translation: "and caused you and your people to suffer from a plague" (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 9:16

However, for this reason I appointed you: in order to show you my power, and in order to proclaim my name in all the earth (ULT)

The statements from to show to the end of the verse are Yahweh's stated goals, and thus, his reasons for not yet destroying Egypt and Pharaoh. You will need to translate, However, for this reason I appointed you: in order in a way that connects with the previous verse in an action-goal manner. (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

ULT

¹⁶ However, for this reason I appointed you: in order to show you my power, and in order to proclaim my name in all the earth.

and in order to proclaim my name in all the earth (ULT)

Here, my name represents Yahweh's reputation. Alternate translation: "and so that people everywhere will know who I am" (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 9:17

You are still exalting yourself against my people (ULT)

Pharaoh's opposition to letting the Israelites go to worship Yahweh is spoken of as if he were raising himself up as a barrier to them.

Alternate translation: "You are still blocking my people" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

¹⁷ You are still exalting yourself against my people by failing to let them go.

You are...exalting yourself (ULT)

Here, Pharaoh fills two different roles in the sentence. Different languages have different methods of marking this. Translate this in a way that conveys that Pharaoh is making Pharaoh (himself) proud (metaphorically expressed as Pharaoh making Pharaoh (himself) the obstacle in the Israelites' way to freedom as discussed in the previous note.) (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

You are...exalting yourself (ULT)

Here, you is Pharaoh.

against my people (ULT)

Here, my people are the Israelites.

Exodus 9:18

Behold me (ULT)

“Pay attention to the important thing I am about to tell you”

at this time...which there has never been anything like (ULT)

“at this time. There has never been anything like this”

ULT

18 Behold me! I am about to cause extremely heavy hail to rain tomorrow at this time, which there has never been anything like in Egypt from the day it was founded until now.

Exodus 9:19

send and bring to safety your livestock and all that is yours in the field (ULT)

The form of address here is singular; Moses is speaking directly to Pharaoh. However, the next two verses make it clear that Pharaoh's servants heard and understood this warning to be for them as well. In this sense Pharaoh represents the Egyptians. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

¹⁹ And now send and bring to safety your livestock and all that is yours in the field; and the hail will come down on every man and beast that is found in the field, and was not gathered to the house, and they will die.””” and the hail will come down on (ULT)

“the hail will come down on”

every man (ULT)

Here, man means humans and includes men, women, and children. Alternate translation: “everyone” or “anyone” (See: When Masculine Words Include Women) and beast (ULT)

This includes domestic and wild animals.

and they will die (ULT)

The people and animals will die because they are hurt fatally by the hail. You may need to make this explicit. Alternate translation: “and the hail will kill them” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

and they will die (ULT)

Up to three levels of direct quotation (depending on your earlier decision about converting a level to an indirect quotation) end at the end of this verse. You should indicate that ending here with closing first-level, second-level, and third-level (if required) quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of quotations within quotations. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 9:20

The fearers of (ULT)

As in some other occasions, Moses' conversation with Pharaoh is not recorded. You may need to make explicit the fact that he did as Yahweh instructed. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

The fearers of the word of Yahweh from the servants of Pharaoh (ULT)

"Those of Pharaoh's servants who feared Yahweh's warning"

ULT

²⁰ The fearers of the word of Yahweh from the servants of Pharaoh made their slaves and their livestock run to the houses,

Exodus 9:21

but whoever did not set his heart to (ULT)

Here, set his heart means he believed or thought something was true. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. Alternate translation: "but whoever did not respect" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

²¹ but whoever did not set his heart to the word of Yahweh left his slaves and his livestock in the field.

Exodus 9:22

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A minor scene shift occurs here and may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

your hand (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

man (ULT)

This includes women and children. See UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

beast (ULT)

This includes domestic and wild animals.

ULT

22 And Yahweh said to Moses, “Reach out your hand toward the heavens and there will be hail in all the land of Egypt, on man, and on beast, and on every plant of the field in the land of Egypt.”

Exodus 9:23

his staff (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

ULT

23 And Moses stretched his staff to the heavens, and Yahweh gave thunder and hail, and fire darted to the land. And Yahweh rained hail on the land of Egypt.

Exodus 9:24

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁴ And there was hail and fire coming in the middle of the very heavy hail such as had never been in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation.

Exodus 9:25

from man to beast (ULT)

This is a figure of speech used to emphasize the extent and severity of the hail. Alternate translation: “every living thing” (See: Merism)

from man (ULT)

This includes women and children. Alternate translation: “from people” or “from mankind” or “from humans” See UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

beast (ULT)

This includes domestic and wild animals.

ULT

²⁵ And the hail hit everything in the land of Egypt, everything which was in the field, from man to beast. And the hail struck every plant of the field, and it broke every tree of the field.

Exodus 9:26

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁶ Only in the land of Goshen, where the sons of Israel were, there was no hail.

Exodus 9:27

And Pharaoh sent (ULT)

A minor scene shift occurs here and may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

I have sinned (ULT)

Some commentators suggest translating sinned more literally, that is “missed the mark,” because Pharaoh is probably not admitting a moral failure, but instead, admitting that he misjudged.

is righteous...are guilty (ULT)

Many commentators suggest that Pharaoh is using these terms in a narrow, legal sense and only referring to this instance. That is, he is saying something like “I’ve lost this round in court.” See UST.

and my people (ULT)

My people refers to the Egyptians.

ULT

27 And Pharaoh sent, and he called for Moses and for Aaron. And he said to them, “I have sinned this time. Yahweh is righteous, and I and my people are guilty.”

Exodus 9:28

and you will not continue to stay (ULT)

This negative statement strengthens the force of Pharaoh's statement that he will let the people go. (See: Litotes)

ULT

²⁸ Pray to Yahweh, for the thunder of God and hail are too much. And I will let you go, and you will not continue to stay."

Exodus 9:29

And Moses said to him (ULT)

“And Moses said to Pharaoh”

I will spread my palms to Yahweh (ULT)

This symbolic gesture accompanies prayer. Alternate translation: “I will pray to Yahweh” (See: Symbolic Action)

ULT

²⁹ And Moses said to him, “As I leave the city, I will spread my palms to Yahweh. The thunder will cease, and the hail will not continue, so that you may know that the earth belongs to Yahweh.”

Exodus 9:30

But you and your servants (ULT)

This phrase is shifted to the beginning of the sentence to mark focus on Pharaoh and his servants because, despite Yahweh demonstrating his power, they are not yet afraid of him. If your language has a form or discourse feature that draws contrastive focus to participants, use it here. (See: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions)

ULT

³⁰ But you and your servants, I know that you are not yet afraid of the face of Yahweh God.”

of the face of Yahweh (ULT)

Here, face means presence or power. Alternate translation: “of Yahweh” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 9:31

And the flax...and the flax (ULT)

Flax is a plant that produces fibers that can be made into linen cloth.
(See: Translate Unknowns)

was in ear (ULT)

This means the seeds at the top of the stalk were developing but still green. (See: Translate Unknowns) was in bloom (ULT)

“was flowering”

ULT

31 (And the flax and the barley were struck down, for the barley was in ear, and the flax was in bloom.

Exodus 9:32

and the spelt (ULT)

Spelt is a kind of wheat. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

³² But the wheat and the spelt were not struck down for they are late.)

Exodus 9:33

and he spread his palms to Yahweh (ULT)

This symbolic gesture accompanies prayer. See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 9:29. Alternate translation: “lifted up his hands toward Yahweh and prayed” (See: Symbolic Action)

ULT

33 And Moses left the city from being with Pharaoh, and he spread his palms to Yahweh; and the thunder and hail ceased; and the rain was not poured on the earth.

Exodus 9:34

and he caused his heart to be heavy (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if he made his own heart heavy. This time his servants do the same. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 8:15. Alternate translation: "Pharaoh determined to be defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³⁴ And Pharaoh saw that the rain, and hail, and thunder ceased; and he added to his sin, and he caused his heart to be heavy, he and his servants.

and he added to his sin (ULT)

This statement is from the author's perspective. Therefore, unlike in 9:27, sin should be translated with the word your language uses for "sin."

and he caused his heart to be heavy, he and his servants (ULT)

"and he caused his heart to be heavy. His servants did also" or "and he caused his heart to be heavy. His servants did the same"

Exodus 9:35

And the heart of Pharaoh was strong (ULT)

Pharaoh's stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in Exodus 7:13. This is a neutral statement (it does not say that anyone caused him to be stubborn as many others in this part of the narrative do). Alternate translation: "Pharaoh was still defiant" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³⁵ And the heart of Pharaoh was strong, and he did not let the sons of Israel go, just as Yahweh had said by the hand of Moses.

just as Yahweh had said by the hand of Moses (ULT)

This is similar to 9:12. In this case, what Yahweh said is figuratively spoken of as if it were something that could be held in someone's hand. This means that Moses delivered a message from Yahweh that Pharaoh would be stubborn. It is not clear if this message was given to the Israelites or if this refers to Moses' statement to Pharaoh in 9:30. (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 10

Exodus 10 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

Pharaoh's hard heart

Pharaoh's heart is often described as hard in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh's instructions. When his heart was hardened, it became less and less receptive to Yahweh.

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Let my people go

This is a very important statement. Moses does not ask Pharaoh to "let go" of the Hebrew people. Instead, he demands that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people.

Exodus 10:1

for I have made his heart and the heart of his servants heavy (ULT)

This means God made Pharaoh and his servants stubborn. Their stubborn attitude is spoken of as if their hearts were heavy. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21, but note that the metaphor is slightly different here. Alternate translation: "for I have caused Pharaoh and his servants to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh, for I have made his heart and the heart of his servants heavy, in order to perform these my signs in his midst,

Exodus 10:2

I toyed with Egypt (ULT)

"I mocked Egypt"

ULT

² and so that you may proclaim in the ears of your son, and the son of your son that I toyed with Egypt, and my signs which I performed among them; and you will know that I am Yahweh."

Exodus 10:3

and said to him (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues until near the end of 10:6. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) and said to him, “Thus says Yahweh, God of the Hebrews (ULT)

It may be helpful to turn the introductory quotation into an indirect quotation so that you do not have to use quotes within quotes. Alternate translation: “and told him that Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, said thus” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

Until when will you refuse to be humble from my face (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of Yahweh. Particularly, it means the presence of his judgment (the plagues). Alternate translation: “Until when will you refuse to be humble when I judge you” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ And Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says Yahweh, God of the Hebrews: ‘Until when will you refuse to be humble from my face? Let my people go, and they will serve me.’”

Exodus 10:4

behold me (ULT)

Behold me adds emphasis to what is said next. Alternate translation: “beware” locust (ULT)

Locust is a singular noun referring to the group as one. Alternate translation: “locusts” (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

⁴ For if you refuse to let my people go, behold me, I am about to bring locust within your borders tomorrow.

Exodus 10:5

And it will cover the sight of the land, and none will be able to see the land (ULT)

These parallel statements have a similar meaning. They are used to emphasize the great number of locusts that are coming. In some languages this will not have the same rhetorical effect, and you will need to use another device to emphasize the statement. (See: Parallelism)

And it will cover the sight of the land (ULT)

“And it will cover the land from sight”

And it will cover...And it will devour...And it will devour (ULT)

Here the pronoun it agrees in number with the collective singular “locust” in the previous verse. Insects are often referred to without gender in English, but you will need to use whatever number, gender, and/or noun class is required in your language to agree with the word for “locust” that you used in the previous verse. See UST. (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

⁵ And it will cover the sight of the land, and none will be able to see the land. And it will devour the remnant of whatever escaped, of whatever is left to you from the hail. And it will devour every tree growing for you from the field.

Exodus 10:6

on the earth (ULT)

This could either mean on the earth (planet) or “on the land” (Egypt). Either way, it is meant to emphasize an extremely long time, meaning never. (See: Hyperbole)

And he turned around (ULT)

Verse 3 says that Aaron came in to see the king with Moses. It is implied that he left with him as well. You may make this explicit if it would help your readers. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁶ And they will fill your houses, and the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians, which your fathers had never seen, nor the fathers of your fathers, from the day they came to be on the earth until this day.” And he turned around and left from being with Pharaoh.

Exodus 10:7

Until when will this be a trap to us (ULT)

Pharaoh's servants ask this question to show Pharaoh that he is stubbornly causing the destruction of Egypt. This rhetorical question can be translated as a statement. Alternate translation: "We cannot allow this man to continue to bring trouble to us!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

the men (ULT)

Here, men may be literal or it may refer to the Israelites, including the women and children. In verse 10 the king rejects the idea of letting the women and children go, and in verse 11 he specifically says that the men can go. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

Do you not understand yet that Egypt has perished (ULT)

Pharaoh's servants ask this question to bring Pharaoh to recognize what he refuses to see. This rhetorical question can be translated as a statement. Alternate translation: "You should realize that Egypt is destroyed!" (See: Rhetorical Question) that Egypt has perished (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "that these plagues have destroyed Egypt" or "that their God has destroyed Egypt" (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

⁷ And the servants of Pharaoh said to him, "Until when will this be a trap to us? Let the men go and they will serve Yahweh their God. Do you not understand yet that Egypt has perished?"

Exodus 10:8

And Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “And a servant brought Moses and Aaron back to Pharaoh” (See: Active or Passive)

Who and who (ULT)

“Who all”

ULT

⁸ And Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh, and he said to them, “Go serve Yahweh your God. Who and who shall go?”

Exodus 10:9

We shall go...We shall go (ULT)

We means the Israelites and does not include Pharaoh or the Egyptians. Use an exclusive form here if your language has this distinction. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We')

ULT

⁹ And Moses said, "We shall go with our young and with our old. We shall go with our sons and with our daughters, with our flocks and our herds because the festival of Yahweh is for us."

Exodus 10:10

May Yahweh be with you in the same way as I will let you and your children go (ULT)

May Yahweh be with you is usually a blessing but is almost certainly not here. It likely means something like “It will take Yahweh’s power to make me let you and your children go,” or “May Yahweh be as favorable to you as I am to the idea of letting your children go.” Pharaoh is saying that it will take Yahweh to make him do what Moses wants, but he does not think that will happen. Alternate translation: “It will be clear that Yahweh is with you if I let you and your children go”

ULT

¹⁰ And he said to them, “May Yahweh be with you in the same way as I will let you and your children go. See, for evil is before your faces!”

See, for evil is before your faces (ULT)

The phrase for evil is before your faces could either be a warning from Pharaoh that Moses’ actions will lead to evil for the Israelites, or it could mean that Pharaoh thinks the Israelites plan something that he considers evil.

Faces is a metonym for the whole person. Alternate translations: “I see that you plan evil” or “Be careful! Your actions will have bad consequences” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 10:11

the men (ULT)

This interjection clarifies who may go. Alternate translation: “the leaders” from the face of Pharaoh (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of Pharaoh. Alternate translation: “from his presence” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

11 Not so! You may go, the men, and serve Yahweh, because this is what you are seeking.” And he drove them from the face of Pharaoh.

Exodus 10:12

And Yahweh said (ULT)

There is a minor scene change here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

your hand (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

with the locust (ULT)

Locust is a singular noun referring to the group as one. See how you translated this in 10:4. Alternate translation: “locusts” (See: Collective Nouns) and let it rise up...and let it devour (ULT)

Here, the pronoun it agrees in number with the collective singular “locust.” See how you translated this in 10:5 (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

12 And Yahweh said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt with the locust, and let it rise up over the land of Egypt; and let it devour all of the plants of the land, everything which the hail had spared.”

Exodus 10:13his staff (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

an east wind (ULT)

The wind blew from east to west.

the locust (ULT)

See how you translated this in 10:4. Alternate translation: “locusts” (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

13 And Moses reached out his staff over the land of Egypt, and Yahweh drove an east wind over the land all that day and all night. The morning was, and the east wind had brought the locust.

Exodus 10:14

the locust...locust (ULT)

See how you translated this in 10:4. Alternate translation: "locusts"
(See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

14 And the locust rose up over all the land of Egypt and came to rest everywhere within the borders of Egypt. They were extremely numerous. Never before was there such locust like it, and nothing will be like it after.

Exodus 10:15

And it covered...And it devoured (ULT)

Here the pronoun it agrees in number with the collective singular "locust." See how you translated this in 10:5 (See: Collective Nouns)

And it covered the sight of all of the land (ULT)

See how you translated this in 10:5.

And it devoured all of the plants of the land and all of the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. And not any of the greenery remained, in a tree or in a plant of the field, in all of the land of Egypt (ULT)

These parallel statements reinforce one another. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

15 And it covered the sight of all of the land, and the land was dark. And it devoured all of the plants of the land and all of the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. And not any of the greenery remained, in a tree or in a plant of the field, in all of the land of Egypt.

Exodus 10:16

your God and against you (ULT)

Here, you and your are plural. These could refer either to Moses and Aaron or to all the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

ULT

16 And Pharaoh hurried to call for Moses and for Aaron and said, “I have sinned against Yahweh your God and against you.

Exodus 10:17

bear (ULT)

“take away”

just this once...only (ULT)

Pharaoh could either be desperate and using just this once ... only to attempt to make his request as small as possible to increase the chances of it being granted, or he could be still too proud to admit guilt beyond this single incident (which is probably his bold statement about Yahweh being with the Israelites in 10:10). The former seems more likely given that he terms this plague “this death.” If your culture has a way of making a request seem as small as possible, you may want to use it to translate Pharaoh’s request.

ULT

17 And now, please bear my sin, just this once, and pray to Yahweh your God and let him take this death only away from me.”

your God (ULT)

Here, your is plural. This could refer either to Moses and Aaron or to all the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

this...death (ULT)

The word death here refers to the destruction by the locusts of all plants in Egypt, which would eventually lead to the deaths of people, because there would be no crops. (See: Metonymy)

this...death (ULT)

The word death here refers to the destruction by the locusts of all plants in Egypt, which would eventually lead to the deaths of people because there would be no crops. The full meaning of this statement can be made explicit. Alternate translation: “this destruction that will lead to our deaths” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 10:18

And he went out (ULT)

Moses and Aaron were summoned to the king in 10:16 so some translations will need to say that they both left.

ULT

18 And he went out from being with Pharaoh, and he prayed to Yahweh.

Exodus 10:19

a very strong sea wind (ULT)

“a very strong west wind” or “a very strong wind from the west” and it carried away the locust (ULT)

“and it moved the locusts upwards”

the locust...locust (ULT)

See how you translated this in 10:4. Alternate translation: “the locusts ... of the locusts” (See: Collective Nouns)

and it drove it (ULT)

Here, the first it refers to the wind, the second agrees in number with the collective singular “locust.” See how you translated this in 10:5 (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

19 And Yahweh turned a very strong sea wind; and it carried away the locust, and it drove it into the sea of reeds; not one locust remained in all of the territory of Egypt.

Exodus 10:20

And Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God made him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "But Yahweh caused Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

²⁰ And Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not let the sons of Israel go.

Exodus 10:21

And Yahweh said (ULT)

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. This is the start of the third plague sequence. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

your hand (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

Egypt; and darkness will feel (ULT)

This is a somewhat puzzling construction which describes the darkness. Most English translations take it as a passive, which restated actively means, “people will feel the darkness,” meaning metaphorically what is expressed in different ways in the UST and the alternate translation here. Another option is to view the Hebrew verb form as causative and translate as such: “and the darkness will cause people to feel,” meaning people will have to feel where they are going because they will not be able to see. A final option would be a personification of darkness such that the darkness gropes around, filling in every place in the land. Alternate translation: “Egypt — an extremely oppressive darkness” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

21 And Yahweh said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward the heavens, and let it become dark over the land of Egypt; and darkness will feel.”

Exodus 10:22

his hand (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding the hand and staff.

for three (ULT)

“for 3” (See: Numbers)

ULT

22 And Moses stretched out his hand above the heavens, and dark darkness was in all of the land of Egypt for three days.

Exodus 10:23

No man could see his brother (ULT)

This phrase means that people could not see the people who lived closest to them, whether or not that person was literally their brother. Alternate translation: “No one could see the people who lived with them” (See: Metonymy)

man...man (ULT)

Here, man refers to any human in general. Alternate translation: “person” (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

for three (ULT)

“for 3” (See: Numbers)

ULT

23 No man could see his brother; and no man rose from his place for three days. But for all the sons of Israel, there was light in their dwelling-places.

Exodus 10:24

Go serve Yahweh. Only, your flocks and your herds must remain behind; however, your children will go with you (ULT)

This is a direct quote of what the king said. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²⁴ And Pharaoh called to Moses, and he said, "Go serve Yahweh. Only, your flocks and your herds must remain behind; however, your children will go with you."

Go serve...your flocks and your herds...your children...with you (ULT)

Every instance of you and your, as well as the imperative verb forms in this verse, are plural. They refer to the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 10:25

And Moses said (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues until the end of 10:26. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

²⁵ And Moses said, “Also you, you must give in our hands sacrifices and burnt offerings, and we will do to Yahweh our God.

Also you, you must give in our hands sacrifices and burnt offerings (ULT)

The construction here is difficult. Based on context, Moses is probably not saying that Pharaoh needs to provide his own animals to the Israelites. He is asking Pharaoh to let the Israelites take their own animals. Give in our hands means to take with them, by whatever means, which may include holding a rope in the hand to lead the animals or any other means of herding the animals. See UST. (See: Metonymy) sacrifices and burnt offerings (ULT)

Here, sacrifices and burnt offerings refers to the animals of their flocks and herds that they must take. Alternate translation: “animals for sacrifices and burnt offerings” (See: Metonymy) and we will do to Yahweh our God (ULT)

Here, do means “do the sacrifices and burnt offerings.” Alternate translation: “and we will make those sacrifices and burnt offerings to Yahweh our God” in our hands...and we will do...our God (ULT)

Here, we and us refers to the Israelites (same group as the speaker’s) while excluding Pharaoh and the Egyptians (listeners’ group). If your language distinguishes between forms of we and us based on who is included, be sure to use the one appropriate to the described group. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive ‘We’)

our livestock...with us...we shall take...our God. And as for us...we will...know...we must serve...we arrive (ULT)

Here, we, our, and us each refers to the Israelites (same group as the speaker's) while excluding Pharaoh and the Egyptians (listeners' group). If your language distinguishes between forms of we, our, and us based on who is included, be sure to use the one appropriate to the described group. (See: Exclusive and Inclusive 'We')

ULT

²⁶ And even our livestock shall go with us. Not a hoof shall be left behind, for we shall take from them to serve Yahweh our God. And as for us, we will not know with what we must serve Yahweh until we arrive there."

Not a hoof shall be left behind (ULT)

This can be translated in active form. Alternate translation: "We cannot leave behind a single animal" (See: Active or Passive)

a hoof (ULT)

Here the word hoof refers to the entire animal. Alternate translation: "a single animal" (See: Synecdoche)

there (ULT)

The destination is unspecified. Previous context suggests it would be at the mountain of God (see 3:1, especially 3:12, and 4:27) which would take three days to travel to (see 3:18 and 5:3).

Exodus 10:27And Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God made him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "But Yahweh caused Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

²⁷ And Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he would not agree to let them go.

and he would not agree to let them go (ULT)

"and Pharaoh would not consent to let them go"

Exodus 10:28

Watch yourself (ULT)

Here, the listener, Moses, fills two different roles in the sentence. He is the person told to look (subject) and he himself is what he is told to look at (object). Different languages have different methods of marking this. Alternate translation: "You watch yourself" (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

ULT

28 And Pharaoh said to him, "Get away from me! Watch yourself; you shall not again see my face; because in the day of your seeing my face, you shall die."

you shall die (ULT)

Pharaoh means he will have Moses killed. You may choose to make this explicit as in the UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

my face...my face (ULT)

Here, face refers to the whole person. Alternate translation: see UST (See: Synecdoche)

Exodus 10:29

Just as you say (ULT)

With these words, Moses emphasizes that Pharaoh has spoken the truth. Alternate translation: “What you have said is true” (See: Idiom)

ULT

²⁹ And Moses said, “Just as you say, I will not ever see your face again.”

your face (ULT)

Here, face refers to the whole person. Alternate translation: “you” (See: Synecdoche)

Exodus 11

Exodus 11 General Notes

Chapter 11 is a transition point in the book. The previous nine plagues (in their three sequences of three) have come to an end and the last plague, the death of the firstborn, is about to occur, along with the Passover and the Exodus itself. It is difficult to know if the events in chapter 11 all are recorded in the order in which they happened. For translation, you should follow the order of the text if it will not confuse your readers.

It may be helpful to think that after the end of chapter 10, Yahweh spoke to Moses immediately, before he actually left Pharaoh's presence (v. 1-2). Verse 3 is a comment suggesting that the Egyptians will be willing to do as the Israelites are told to ask them to do in v. 2. In verses 4-7 Moses gives Pharaoh and his officials a message from Yahweh that Yahweh is giving to Moses right at that moment. At the end of v. 8 Moses leaves Pharaoh's presence (completing the interaction from the end of ch. 10). Verse 9 may either be Yahweh telling Moses what is going to happen, or it could be part of the summary that occurs in v. 10. Verse 10 summarizes what has happened in chs. 5-10 (especially the plagues in chs. 7-10) in preparation for the great last plague.

Special concepts in this chapter

Pharaoh's hard heart

Pharaoh's heart is often described as hard in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh's instructions. When his heart was hardened, it became less and less receptive to Yahweh.

Let my people go

In the previous chapters, Moses did not ask Pharaoh's permission for the Hebrew people to leave. Instead, he demanded that Pharaoh free the Hebrew people. In this chapter, the same wording is used to refer to Pharaoh "allowing" the Hebrew people to leave Egypt.

Exodus 11:1

to Moses (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues until the end of 11:2. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

As soon as he lets go...he will...drive...away (ULT)

These verbs (lets go and drive away) are meant to immediately follow one another. When you translate, make sure they are almost simultaneous in time; the letting go happens and then immediately the driving away happens. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

he will certainly drive...completely away (ULT)

The wording here is very forceful. Use strong words, forms, or phrasing when you are translating.

you...you (ULT)

Each occurrence of the word you in this verse is plural and refers to Moses and the rest of the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “One more plague I will bring on Pharaoh and on Egypt. After that he will let you go from here. As soon as he lets go, he will certainly drive you completely away from here.”

Exodus 11:2

Speak now in the ears of the people; and let them ask, a man from his neighbor and a woman from her neighbor, items of silver and items of gold (ULT)

In this verse the author interjects a comment about the situation. Some translations choose to put the verse in parenthesis to indicate this. You may mark it in a way that is natural to your language. (See: Aside)

ULT

² Speak now in the ears of the people; and let them ask, a man from his neighbor and a woman from her neighbor, items of silver and items of gold.

now (ULT)

Here, now conveys urgency, indicating that Moses should speak soon, without delaying for other things. If you have a way of giving a command that shows that it is important for someone to do it quickly, it would be better to translate in that way than in a way that means “now” in a time sense (versus earlier or later).

in the ears of the people (ULT)

“so the people hear you” or “when all the people are listening”

items of silver and items of gold (ULT)

These could be any sort of thing made from silver or gold (for instance: utensils, cups, pitchers, plates, candleholders), not just jewelry.

Exodus 3:22 contains similar instructions; see how you translated there.

gold (ULT)

At the end of this verse, the direct quote of Yahweh that started in the previous verse ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 11:3

the people...favor...in the eyes of the Egyptians (ULT)

Here, in the eyes of the Egyptians is an idiom for the Egyptian's feelings or opinion. Favor means those feelings are positive. Taken together, this means that when the Egyptians see the Israelites leaving Egypt, they will gladly help them. (Because the Egyptians have suffered under God's judgment, the Egyptians want so badly to see them leave). If your language has the same or a similar idiom, you can translate or use it. Otherwise, you can translate the meaning. See how you translated this in 3:21. (See: Idiom)

ULT

³ And Yahweh gave the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians. Furthermore, the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the eyes of the servants of Pharaoh and in the eyes of the people.

in the eyes of the servants of Pharaoh and in the eyes of the people (ULT)

Here, in the eyes of the servants of Pharaoh and in the eyes of the people is an idiom for their feelings or opinions. If your language has the same or a similar idiom, you can translate or use it. Otherwise, you can translate the meaning. See how you translated a similar idiom in 3:21. (See: Idiom)

And Yahweh gave the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians (ULT)

Exodus 3:21 contains a related phrase; see how you translated it there.

Exodus 11:4

And Moses said (ULT)

After this phrase, a direct quote begins that continues until the end of 11:8. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁴ And Moses said, "Thus says Yahweh:
'About the middle of the night I will go out in the midst of Egypt,

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

This quotation form is used to introduce commands from Yahweh. See 4:intro for more information.

Thus says Yahweh (ULT)

After this phrase, a second-level direct quote begins which continues until the end of 11:7. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

Exodus 11:5

firstborn...from the firstborn of...the firstborn of...firstborn of (ULT)

The “firstborn” always refers to the oldest male offspring.

from the firstborn of Pharaoh, who sits on his throne, to the firstborn of the slave girl who is behind the mill; and every firstborn of a beast (ULT)

This is a merism. First, two extremes are mentioned: the highest of society (Pharaoh, who sits on his throne) and the lowest (the slave girl who is behind the mill). Then the animals (beasts) are added making it a three- item list of parts of society and even economy to show the totality of the coming judgment. (See: Merism) who is behind the mill (ULT)

“who is grinding at the handmill” or “who is behind the handmill grinding grain”

ULT

⁵ and every firstborn in the land of Egypt will die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh, who sits on his throne, to the firstborn of the slave girl who is behind the mill; and every firstborn of a beast.

Exodus 11:6

which nothing like it has ever happened, and nothing like it will happen again (ULT)

This is a merism that uses the extremes of past and future to emphasize the concept of “never.” Alternate translation: “such as has never been and never will be” (See: Merism)

ULT

⁶ And there will be a great cry in all the land of Egypt, which nothing like it has ever happened, and nothing like it will happen again.

Exodus 11:7

will not sharpen...his tongue (ULT)

This means make an unfriendly noise. Alternate translation: “will not growl” (See: Idiom)

you will know (ULT)

Here, you is plural. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural) that Yahweh distinguishes between Egypt and between Israel (ULT)

See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 9:4.

Israel (ULT)

After this phrase, the second-level direct quote ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁷ But to each of the sons of Israel, a dog will not sharpen his tongue, from man to beast; so that you will know that Yahweh distinguishes between Egypt and between Israel.’

Exodus 11:8

and they will bow to me (ULT)

This does not mean to bow for worshiping. They will bow to Moses to beg him to leave. They will do this to show how desperate they will be for Moses and the Israelites to go. (See: Symbolic Action)

and they will bow to me (ULT)

They will bow to Moses to beg him to leave. They will do this to show how desperate they will be for Moses and the Israelites to go. If this action would not mean the same thing in your culture, you may need to make the reason they are bowing explicit. Alternate translation: “and they will bow down to me to beg” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁸ And all your servants, these will come down to me and they will bow to me, saying, ‘Go, you and all the people who are at your feet!’ And after that I will go out.” And he went out from Pharaoh with burning of the nose.

and all the people who are at your feet (ULT)

Here, the people are figuratively pictured as below Moses, as his followers. The reference to feet also can mean they go the same place he goes, again, meaning “follower.” If your language uses a similar image to mean follower, you can translate the image; if not, you may use another image from your culture or translate the meaning. Alternate translation: “and all the people who are following you” (See: Metaphor)

And after that I will go out (ULT)

This means that Moses and the Israelites will leave Egypt. Alternate translation: “After that I will leave here” or “After that I will go out from Egypt” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

I will go out (ULT)

After this phrase, the direct quote ends. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with a closing first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings) with burning of the nose (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning that Moses is angry. Alternate translation: “enraged” (See: Idiom)

Exodus 11:9

Pharaoh will not listen to you, in order to multiply my miracles in the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

⁹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Pharaoh will not listen to you, in order to multiply my miracles in the land of Egypt.”

Exodus 11:10

And Moses and Aaron did all these miracles before the face of Pharaoh. But Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not let the sons of Israel go from his land (ULT)

ULT

¹⁰ And Moses and Aaron did all these miracles before the face of Pharaoh. But Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not let the sons of Israel go from his land.

This verse is summarizing and wrapping up the story of the plagues.

If your language has a way of summarizing information at the end of a story, try to translate this verse (and possibly verse 9 - see the introductory notes to this chapter) in this way. (See: End of Story)

But Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God made him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "But Yahweh caused Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

Unleavened bread

The concept of unleavened bread is introduced in this chapter. Its significance stems from its connection to the events in this chapter. (See: unleavened bread)

Ethnic segregation

The Hebrew people were to be separate from the rest of the world. Because of this, they separated themselves from other people groups. At this time, these foreigners were looked upon as unholy. (See: holy, holiness, unholy, sacred)

Pronoun usage

In the long quotation (verses 3-20) that Yahweh tells Moses and Aaron to convey to the Israelites, he speaks of them in the third person ("they must") in verses 3-4 and verses 7-8 and to them in the second person ("you must") for all the rest of the instruction. Some languages may need to keep the pronoun person consistent throughout the quotation.

You plural

In this chapter, almost every occurrence of "you" or "your" is plural. Each one refers to all the Israelites. Those that are not will be marked. If your language uses different forms of "you" depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form throughout unless otherwise noted. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural)

It is the first to you of the months of the year (ULT)

The command here is to both Moses and Aaron. If your language uses a different form if two are people addressed, use a dual form here. (See: Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural) saying, 'On the tenth of (ULT)

After saying, a second level direct quotation begins which continues until the end of verse 20. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening second-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation within a quotation. Saying is used to mark the beginning of a quote. Many times it can be omitted in translation if the target language does not use a similar structure. (See: Quote Markings)

This seems to be indicating that if multiple families live in one house, the man who is the leader of the family group that lives there should take one lamb for that whole household. Alternate translation: "the father of each household must take a lamb for his household, one per household"

a lamb...to a house (ULT)

"one lamb per house"

a lamb...a lamb (ULT)

This word literally means, "of the flock," and could also be translated as a sheep or a goat. Here, the ULT uses lamb (a young sheep), because verse 5 specifies that it must be one year old. "Kid" (a young goat) would be equally valid as verse 5 also says that it could be either a sheep or a goat. You may translate it as whatever would be most familiar of sheep or goat—preferably a word that means a young sheep or goat.

ULT

³ Speak to all the congregation of Israel, saying, 'On the tenth of this month they shall take to themselves, each man, a lamb to the house of the fathers: a lamb to a house.'

This phrase could either mean simply a neighbor that lives nearby or it could refer to a family of similar size, or of the right size to split a lamb with.

After this phrase, the direct quote of Yahweh's commands to Moses and Aaron for the Israelites ends (two levels). It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with closing second-level and first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the end of quotations. (See: Quote Markings)

Here, sons includes everyone. Alternate translation: see UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

Exodus 12:26

your sons (ULT)

This refers to all children, as in the UST. (See: When Masculine Words Include Women) to you...What is this service to you (ULT)

After you, a second-level quotation begins. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. However, you may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: “to you what this ritual means to you,” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

²⁶ And it will happen, when your sons are saying to you, ‘What is this service to you?’

ULT

²⁸ And the sons of Israel went and did;
as Yahweh had commanded Moses and Aaron so they did.

Exodus 12:29

The next few verses are the climax of this part of Exodus. A number of literary features mark it out. First, it is specially introduced with and so it happened, which is used to mark major breaks in the narrative. Second, it uses repetition: firstborn is repeated four times in verse 29 so that the reader cannot possibly miss what is happening. Night is repeated in verse 29, 30, and 31. Got up/get up is repeated in verse 30 and 31. In verses 31 and 32 “also” occurs five times (it is translated as “both” once in the ULT). Third, the places of both Pharaoh and the captive are elaborated on to slow the pace and create a vivid mental image for the reader. In verse 30 there is the listing of sorts of people who got up; note the use of the double negative for emphasis. Your translation should attempt to use the same or similar literary features of your own language that slow down the pace, create vivid imagery, and emphasize that this is a climax point.

ULT

²⁹ And so it happened, in the middle of the night, and Yahweh struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh sitting on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the house of the pit, and all the firstborn of beasts.

from the firstborn of Pharaoh sitting on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the house of the pit, and all the firstborn of beasts (ULT)

This is a merism used to indicate that there was no person or household excluded from Yahweh’s judgment. It both speaks of extreme parts of society and then makes this into a list by including the animals. Alternate translation: “the firstborn of Pharaoh who sits on the throne and the firstborn of the captive who was in the house of the pit and the firstborn of everyone in between was struck; even all the firstborn of the beasts were struck” (See: Merism)

the firstborn...from the firstborn of...the firstborn of...the firstborn of (ULT)

In these usages, firstborn always refers to the oldest male offspring. See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 11:5.

to the firstborn of the captive who was in the house of the pit (ULT)

“to the firstborn of people in the house of the pit” This refers to prisoners in general and not to a specific person in prison.

Exodus 12:30for there was not a house where there was not someone dead (ULT)

This double negative emphasizes the positive. Alternate translation: “because someone was dead in every house” (See: Double Negatives)

ULT

³⁰ And Pharaoh got up in the night—he, and all his servants, and all the Egyptians. And there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where there was not someone dead.

Exodus 12:36

the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians (ULT)

Here, in the eyes of the Egyptians is an idiom for the Egyptian's feelings or opinion. Favor means that those feelings are positive. Taken together, this means that when the Egyptians saw the Israelites leaving Egypt, they gladly helped them (because they wanted them to leave so badly due to the Egyptians suffering under God's judgment). If your language has the same or a similar idiom, you can translate or use it. Otherwise, you can translate the meaning. See how you translated this in 3:21. (See: Idiom)

ULT

³⁶ And Yahweh gave the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians. And they made the request, and they plundered the Egyptians.

Exodus 12:37

the hosts of (ULT)

The term hosts refers to a large group of people, often organized into groups for war. See how you translated this in Exodus 6:26. Alternate translation: “your groups” or “your divisions” (See: Translate Unknowns)

for Yahweh...all the sons of Israel to observe for...throughout their generations (ULT)

This is a hypothetical situation. You will need to use whatever form your language uses to mark something as potentially true. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

if you circumcised (ULT)

Here you is singular. It refers to a specific man and his slave. It might make more sense to use the third person here. Alternate translation: “if he circumcised” (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Singular)

ULT

⁴⁴ But any slave of a man, a purchase of silver, if you circumcised him, then he may eat it.

Exodus 12:45

all his males shall be circumcised. And then he may draw near to keep it (ULT)

The sojourner will be circumcised in order to draw near to keep the Passover. Some languages may need to place the purpose clause first. Alternate translation: “in order draw near to keep it all his males must be circumcised” (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

Special concepts in this chapter

- There are several concepts that will be important to understand and translate with care (some have already been encountered in Exodus). They are: set apart, sign, symbol, redemption, and sacrifice.

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

- There are a number of names of people groups and places in this chapter. However, many have been translated in earlier passages.
- Transporting the bones of Joseph may be an unknown concept in some places.
- It may take some time to decide on a good translation for the pillars of fire and cloud that lead the Israelites.

11 And it will be, when Yahweh brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as he swore to you and to your fathers, and he gives it to you,

Exodus 13:12

then cause to pass over (ULT)

This is a deliberate word-play with Exodus 12:12 and Exodus 12:23 because these memorial sacrifices are to be reminders of what happened at the first Passover. It would be good to make a similar word-play in your translation, if possible, but following the meaning as in the UST is fine.

ULT

12 then cause to pass over to Yahweh all the openers of the womb; and all the openers of the litter of beasts that are yours. The males are for Yahweh.

Exodus 13:13

This marks the transition from instruction to narrative. You should mark the resumption of the narrative in a natural way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event) that God did not lead them by way of the land of the Philistines, although it was nearby (ULT)

The route on which God took the Israelites was not the expected route. In some languages you may need to put the portion that describes the expectation first. Alternate translation: “although it was nearby, God did not lead them by way of the land of the Philistines.” (See: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions)

Lest the people repent when they see war and return to Egypt (ULT)

In some languages you may need to put the reason before the hypothetical result. Alternate translation: “When they see war, they may repent and return to Egypt” (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

repent (ULT)

“turn back”

ULT

17 And so it was, when Pharaoh let the people go, that God did not lead them by way of the land of the Philistines, although it was nearby. For God said, “Lest the people repent when they see war and return to Egypt.”

Exodus 13:18

And...by fives (ULT)

The meaning of this term (by fives) is uncertain. Many English translations opt for something like “prepared for battle” because this seems to be the meaning in Numbers 32:17 and the related verses in Joshua 1:14 and 4:12. Because of what the previous verse said about war, it may mean that they went out in formation—like an army would march—but perhaps not armed. Alternate translation: “And ... in formation like an army”

ULT

18 And God caused the people to turn to the way of the wilderness, to the sea of reeds. And the sons of Israel went up from the land of Egypt by fives.

Exodus 13:19

And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him (ULT)

See Joshua 24:32 regarding the burial of Joseph's bones.

the bones of...God will certainly attend to you, and you shall bring...my bones...up with you from here (ULT)

This is an almost exact quote of what Joseph said in Genesis 50:25; reference your translation there when translating this.

ULT

¹⁹ And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for he had certainly caused the sons of Israel to vow, saying, "God will certainly attend to you, and you shall bring my bones up with you from here."

Exodus 13:20

from Succoth, and they camped at Etham (ULT)

“from a place named Succoth and they camped at a place named Etham”

at Etham (ULT)

Etham was possibly located south of the route heading towards the Philistines, at the border of the wilderness.
(See: How to Translate Names)

ULT

²⁰ And they journeyed from Succoth, and they camped at Etham on the edge of the wilderness.

Exodus 13:21

And Yahweh went before their faces (ULT)

Here, before their faces means “in front of the people.” Alternate translation: “And Yahweh led them by going in front of them” (See: Metonymy) to be light to them (ULT)

“to be light for them”

fire to be light to them, to go by day or by night (ULT)

They could travel by either day or night because God provided light at night. You could reorder the cause and effect if that is more natural in your language. Alternate translation: “fire. They could go by day or by night because he was light to them.” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

21 And Yahweh went before their faces by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them on the way; and by night in a pillar of fire to be light to them, to go by day or by night.

Exodus 13:22

the daytime pillar of cloud or the nighttime pillar of fire (ULT)

“the pillar of cloud by day or the pillar of fire by night” from the face of the people (ULT)

Here, from the face of the people means “from in front of the people” where they could see it. Alternate translation: “from where they could see it” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

²² He did not withdraw the daytime pillar of cloud or the nighttime pillar of fire from the face of the people.

Exodus 14

Exodus 14 General Notes

Structure and formatting

This chapter contains an important event in the history of Israel known as the “parting of the sea of reeds (Red Sea).” Throughout this chapter and chapter 15, the word “sea” is used. The context shows that this is the sea of reeds (Red Sea). Since the text does not explicitly say that though, the ULT will only say “sea.” In your translation, it may help people to be more specific than the text, if just using “sea” is confusing.

Special concepts in this chapter

Pharaoh’s hard heart

Pharaoh’s heart is often described as hard in this chapter. This means that his heart was not open or willing to understand Yahweh’s instructions. When his heart was hardened, it became less and less receptive to Yahweh.

Pharaoh’s chariots

These chariots were a fighting force. Pharaoh took an army to kill the Hebrew people. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Important figures of speech in this chapter

Rhetorical Questions

The Israelites asked a few rhetorical questions of Moses. These questions were not really directed at Moses, but at Yahweh. This showed their lack of faith in Yahweh. (See: Rhetorical Question and faith)

Exodus 14:1

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying,

Exodus 14:2

Say (ULT)

This verse begins a direct quote which continues into verse 4. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

² “Say to the sons of Israel that they should turn and camp before the face of Pi Hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, before the face of Baal Zephon. You are to camp by the sea opposite it.

Pi Hahiroth...Migdol...Baal Zephon (ULT)

These are locations on Egypt’s eastern border. (See: How to Translate Names)

the sons of Israel that they should turn and camp before the face of Pi Hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, before the face of Baal Zephon (ULT)

The portion after that could be translated as a direct quotation. That would make a second-level direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. Alternate translation: “the sons of Israel, ‘Turn and camp before the face of Pi Hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, before the face of Baal Zephon.’ ” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

You are to camp (ULT)

Here, you is plural and refers to Moses and the Israelites. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 14:3

And Pharaoh will say about the sons of Israel,
'They are confused in the land. The wilderness has closed in on them (ULT)

This can be stated as an indirect quote. Alternate translation:
"Pharaoh will say that the Israelites are confused in the land and the wilderness has closed in on them" (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

ULT

³ And Pharaoh will say about the sons of Israel, 'They are confused in the land.
The wilderness has closed in on them.'

The wilderness has closed in on them (ULT)

Pharaoh speaks of the wilderness as a person who has trapped the Israelites. If this might be confusing for your readers, you could express this meaning in a non-figurative way. Alternate translation: "It is as if the wilderness is closing in on them." (See: Personification)

Exodus 14:4

And I will strengthen the heart of Pharaoh (ULT)

This means God will make him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "But I will cause Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

⁴ And I will strengthen the heart of Pharaoh, and he will pursue after them. And I will be glorified because of Pharaoh and because of all his army. And the Egyptians will know that I am Yahweh." And they did so.

and he will pursue after them (ULT)

"and Pharaoh will pursue the Israelites"

And I will be glorified (ULT)

If it would be clearer in your language, you could say this with an active form. Alternate translation: "And people will glorify me" (See: Active or Passive)

And I will be glorified because of Pharaoh and because of all his army (ULT)

Yahweh is leaving out some of the words that a sentence would need in many languages to be complete. If it would be clearer in your language, you could supply these words from the context. Alternate translation: "And I will be glorified because of what I do to Pharaoh and to all his army" (See: Ellipsis)

And they did so (ULT)

This can be made explicit. Alternate translation: "So the Israelites turned and camped as Yahweh had instructed them" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) to the people (ULT)

“against the Israelites”

What is this we did that we released Israel from our slavery (ULT)

They asked this question to show they thought they had done a foolish thing. This rhetorical question can be translated as a statement. Alternate translation: “We should not have let the Israelites go free from working for us!” (See: Rhetorical Question)

What is this we did that we released Israel from our slavery (ULT)

This is a direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with first-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

This means God made him stubborn. His stubborn attitude is spoken of as if his heart were strong. If the heart is not the body part your culture uses to refer to a person's will, consider using whichever organ your culture would use for this image. See how you translated this in 4:21. Alternate translation: "And Yahweh caused Pharaoh to be stubborn" (See: Metaphor)

with a high hand (ULT)

"boldly" or "defiantly"

ULT

⁸ And Yahweh strengthened the heart of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he pursued after the sons of Israel; and the sons of Israel were going out with a high hand.

Exodus 14:9

all of the horses of the chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his army (ULT)

It is unclear exactly what the groupings here are. Horses of the chariots (probably meaning “horse-drawn chariots”) and horsemen could be two groups or two references to the same group. Army could mean another group, perhaps on foot (see 15:19), or it could be a summary grouping. Furthermore, most translations render horses of the chariots as “horses and chariots,” suggesting four total groups (possibly because of v. 23). Alternate translation: “all the horse-drawn chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his foot soldiers”

ULT

⁹ And the Egyptians pursued after them. And all of the horses of the chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his army overtook them camping above the sea; above Pi Hahiroth before the face of Baal Zephon.

Alternate translation: "There were plenty of graveyards in Egypt for us to be buried in. You did not have to take us into the wilderness to die!" (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

Exodus 14:16

raise your staff and reach out your hand (ULT)

See note in the introduction to chapter 8 regarding hand and staff.

Exodus 15

Exodus 15 General Notes

Structure and formatting

Verses 1b-18 and 21b of chapter 15 verses are poetry. They are a song of praise to Yahweh because he defeated and destroyed the Egyptian army (Exodus 14:26-28). Translating poetry should be done by someone who is a skilled poet in the target language. Because the forms of poetry are so different in different languages, a translation that is good poetry in the target language may seem very different from the original poem. The structure may look quite different. The poet will be well served by looking at the entire poem from multiple perspectives. He will need to know the meaning of the poem, the themes and discourse structure of the poem, and the feelings that the poem is supposed to create in the reader at each point (UST, tNotes). He will need to understand how that was accomplished by the original form and structure (ULT). Then he will need to compose the translated poem using forms and structures that have the same or similar meaning, themes, discourse elements, and feelings.

Structure

This song follows a basic AB structure which is given to us in verse 1b-c and 21b-c:

- A - praise to Yahweh - he is magnificent (expressed in various words)
- B - because he defeats our enemies

The song can be divided into three major sections, each of which is patterned as: AB(a)b. Each section starts with an AB portion which is characterized by fewer verbs (or participles, how to express) (especially the A portion). The section then elaborates on each. Note that there are other possible analyses of the structure of the poem.

Here is an outline of the structure according to this model:

- Section 1 (see alternate breakdown below):
 - 1b: A "Let me sing to Yahweh, for he has triumphantly triumphed;"
 - 1c: B "the horse and the one riding it he threw into the sea."
 - 2-3: a
 - 4-5: b
- Section 2:
 - 6a: A
 - 6b: B
 - 7a: a "And in the abundance of your majesty"
 - 7a-10: b "you overthrow those who rise up against you..."
- Section 3:
 - 11: A
 - 12: B
 - 13a: a (possibly) "In your covenant loyalty"
 - 13a-17: b
- 18: finale

Alternate breakdown of section 1: it is possible to view 1b-c as the introduction and divide verse 2 such that:

- 2a: A "Yah is my strength and my song"
- 2b: B "and he has become my salvation"

- 2c-3: a
- 4-5: b

Themes:

There are several images and themes that are throughout the song as well as some that are throughout an individual section.

- “High” versus “low”: Yahweh is high, while his enemies are low.
 - The following words are all related to the idea of being high or rising up: triumph (v1), exalt (v2), majestic (v6, v11), majesty (v7), and the mountain of [Yahweh’s] possession (v17). In the last case Yahweh’s people are brought to a high place with him.
 - In contrast, his enemies are low. Note in verse 7, Yahweh overthrows those who rise up against [him]. Ideas of being low are as follows: sank (v4, v10), deeps (v5), descended into the depths (v5), melted away (v15), and fall on them (v16).
- The strength of Yahweh in verses 2, 6, and 13.
- The effectiveness of Yahweh’s hand versus the enemy’s hand. Yahweh’s hand (and arm) is effective in verses 6, 12, 16, and 17 but the enemy’s hand is ineffective despite his boasting in verse 9.
- There is parallel imagery near the end of each section. The enemy is compared three times by simile to a heavy, inert object. In verses 5 and 16 that is a stone, in verse 10 that is lead.
- More parallel imagery occurs at the end of sections one (v5) and two (v10): that of the enemy sinking in the water and being covered by it.
- In sections two and three the water (v8) and the other peoples (v16) are made still by Yahweh.
- Section two begins and ends with majestic (v6, v10) and that word is picked up in the beginning of section three (v11).
- In section two (v9), the enemies seek to dispossess (or disinherit) the Israelites; in section three (v16), the Israelites come to live in the land of Yahweh’s possession (or inheritance).
- In verse 11, three themes for the third section are introduced. These are each expanded on in that section.
 - Holiness occurs again in verses 13 and 16
 - Fear is vividly described in verses 14-16 (shake, terror, panic, trembling, melted away, dread)
 - Yahweh does miracles to protect and build a home for his people
- Verses 14-16a are a chiasm, a complex parallel structure where concepts are repeated in reverse order:
 - A: 14a: peoples (nations) become afraid
 - B: 14b: inhabitants of Philistia are afraid
 - C: 15a: rulers of Edom are afraid
 - C’: 15b: rulers of Moab are afraid
 - B’: 15c: inhabitants of Canaan are afraid
 - A’: 16a: people become afraid
- In section three, there is another parallel structure:
 - v13: you led this people => v16: your people pass by
 - v13: this people you redeemed => v16: this people you acquired (or purchased or ransomed)
 - v13: you led them to the home => v17: you will bring them ... [to] the place ... you made
 - v13: of your holiness => v17: the holy place

Special concepts in this chapter

The Israelite’s discontent

In verse 24 the word murmur is introduced for the first time. This is a very strong term for “grumble” or “complain” that is used to describe the Israelites’ attitude throughout their time in the wilderness. It occurs several times in Exodus and Numbers.

Yahweh's laws

In verses 24-26, there is an introductory revelation of the requirement that Israel keep the covenant by obeying the law of Moses. (See: law, law of Moses, law of Yahweh, law of God and reveal, revealed, revelation)

Exodus 15:1

he has triumphantly triumphed (ULT)

It can be stated explicitly over whom Yahweh triumphed. Alternate translation: "he has achieved a glorious victory over the army of Egypt" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

he has triumphantly triumphed (ULT)

"he is highly exalted" or "he is extremely high" or "he is exaltedly exalted"

ULT

¹ Then Moses and the sons of Israel sang this song to Yahweh. And they said, saying, "Let me sing to Yahweh, for he has triumphantly triumphed; the horse and the one riding it he threw into the sea."

the horse and the one riding it he threw into the sea (ULT)

Moses sang about God causing the sea to cover and drown the horse and rider as if God had thrown them into the sea. Alternate translation: "he has made the horse and rider drown in the sea" (See: Metaphor)

the horse and the one riding it (ULT)

This refers to all or many of the Egyptian horses and riders that were chasing the Israelites. Alternate translation: "the horses and their riders" (See: Generic Noun Phrases) and the one riding it (ULT)

Here, rider could either refer to a person who sits on a horse or who travels in a chariot that a horse is pulling.

Exodus 15:2

my strength...Yah is (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) "Yahweh is the one who gives me strength" or (2) "Yahweh is the strong one who protects me." (See: Metonymy)

Yah is...and my song (ULT)

Moses calls Yahweh his song because Yahweh is the one he sings about. Alternate translation: "the one I sing about" (See: Metonymy) and he has become my salvation (ULT)

Moses calls Yahweh his salvation because Yahweh saved him. Alternate translation: "he has saved me" or "he is the one who saves me" (See: Metonymy)

This is my God, and I will glorify him, the God of my father, and I will exalt him (ULT)

These lines are expressing very similar ideas for emphasis. If that is a normal way to make an emphatic (poetic) statement or if it would be understood in your language you can translate in a similar way. If, however, repetition like this would create a different meaning, find a structure in your language that would fit. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

² Yah is my strength and my song, and he has become my salvation. This is my God, and I will glorify him, the God of my father, and I will exalt him.

Exodus 15:3

ULT

⁴ He threw the chariots of Pharaoh and his army into the sea. And his chosen officers sank in the sea of reeds.

they descended into the depths like a stone (ULT)

Exodus 15:6

Moses speaks of the enemy as if it were fragile and could be shattered like glass or pottery. Alternate translation: “completely destroys the enemy” (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 15:7

you overthrow those who rise up against you.
You send out your heat, it devours them like
stubble (ULT)

These lines are synonymous parallels where the second takes the abstract idea in the first portion (you overthrow those who rise up against you) and makes it concrete (though still with poetic imagery). Alternate translation: “you overthrow those who rise up against you by sending out your heat to devour them like stubble” (See: Parallelism)

ULT

⁷ And in the abundance of your majesty you overthrow those who rise up against you. You send out your heat, it devours them like stubble.

And in the abundance of your majesty (ULT)

If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the idea behind the abstract nouns abundance and majesty as an adverb and adjective respectively. Alternate translation: “You are abundantly majestic and” or “Because you are abundantly majestic” (See: Abstract Nouns)

those who rise up against you (ULT)

Rebelling against Yahweh is spoken of as rising up against him. Alternate translation: “those who rebel against you” or “your enemies” (See: Metaphor)

your heat (ULT)

“your wrath” or “your fury”

Here the enemies (or those who rise up against Yahweh) are pictured as if they were a highly flammable piece of dried grass. Alternate translation: “it devoured the enemy as if they were stubble” (See: Simile)

Exodus 15:8

And by the breath of your nostrils (ULT)

Moses speaks of God as if God had a nose, and he speaks of the wind as if God blew the wind from his nose. Alternate translation: "You blew on the sea and" (See: Personification)

And by the breath of your nostrils the waters were piled up; the flowing waters were stood upright like a heap (ULT)

This can be expressed with an active form. Alternate translation: "The blast of your nostrils piled the waters up and made the flowing waters stand upright in a heap" (See: Active or Passive) the waters were piled up; the flowing waters were stood upright like a heap; the deeps thickened in the heart of the sea (ULT)

Exodus 15:9

my soul will be satisfied in them (ULT)

This can be expressed with an active form. Alternate translation: "I will satisfy my desire on them" (See: Active or Passive)

my hand will dispossess them (ULT)

The meaning of this phrase is unclear. The word translated dispossess could also mean "possess" or "inherit." What seems clear is that the Egyptians plan to use their power to prevent the Israelites from possessing good things. Whether this is a reference back to plunder earlier in the verse, or to recapturing them as slaves, or to taking over the Israelites' place in the land of Goshen, or of keeping them from reaching the promised land (of Yahweh's possession, see verse 17 regarding where Yahweh will bring his people), or something else is not so clear. Dispossess was chosen rather than another term because the verb is in a causative form here. Alternate translation: "my hand will possess them" or "my hand will inherit them"

my hand will dispossess them (ULT)

Here hand is used figuratively of the Egyptians' power (that is, their military strength). Alternate translation: "my power will dispossess them" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

⁹ The enemy said, 'I will pursue, I will overtake, I will share out the plunder; my soul will be satisfied in them, I will empty my sword, my hand will dispossess them.'

Exodus 15:10

You blew with your wind (ULT)

Moses spoke about God making the wind blow as if God blew the wind through his nose or mouth. Alternate translation: “But you made the wind blow” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

¹³ In your covenant faithfulness, you led this people you redeemed. In your strength, you guided them to the home of your holiness.

It means that the people will feel the emotions of terror and dread very strongly. Alternate translation: “They will be overwhelmed with feelings of terror and dread” (See: Metaphor)

God’s arm represents his great strength. Alternate translation: “Because of your great strength” (See: Metonymy)

they are still as a stone (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “They will be silent like stone” or (2) “They will be motionless as stone” (See: Simile)

Exodus 15:17

You will bring them, and you will plant them (ULT)

Where God would bring them can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: "You will take your people to Canaan and plant them there" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 15:24

And the people murmured against Moses (ULT)

Murmur is a very strong term for “grumble” or “complain” that is used to describe the Israelites’ attitude throughout their time in the wilderness. It occurs several times in Exodus and Numbers. Alternate translation: “And the people were unhappy and told Moses” or “And the people angrily told Moses”

ULT

²⁴ And the people murmured against Moses saying, “What can we drink?”

Exodus 15:25

Exodus 16

Exodus 16 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

Complaints

After complaining about the water, the Israelites complained that they had less food than in Egypt. This is intended to show their ungratefulness and their sinful view of Yahweh. (See: sin, sinful, sinner, sinning)

Prohibition against storing food

The people were not allowed to store the food, called manna, that Yahweh provided to them. This is because they were to trust in Yahweh to provide for their needs every day. (See: trust, trusted, trustworthy, trustworthiness)

Sabbath

This is the first recorded celebration of the Sabbath rest. (See: Sabbath)

Possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Bread as food

Yahweh speaks of the food that he will send as if it were bread. The manna he gave them was perhaps not literally bread. The Israelites would eat this food every day, just as they had eaten bread every day before this. Alternate translations: “food” or “food like bread” (See: bread and Metaphor)

Chronology

Verses 34-36 are written from a much later perspective. Translators will need to find a way to show that this portion gives background information from a much later point (at least 40 years).

Ark of the covenant

Related to the chronology issue, although the covenant has not yet been made, it is referenced in Exodus 16:34. This is probably an editorial comment made after these events. (See: covenant)

Wilderness of Sin

Sin is the name of a part of the Sinai Wilderness. It is the description of a place, and it has nothing to do with sinning. (See: How to Translate Names)

Exodus 16:1

Sin (ULT)

The word Sin here is the Hebrew name of the wilderness. It is not the English word "sin." (See: How to Translate Names) on the fifteenth day of the second month (ULT)

This time coincides with the end of April and the beginning of May on Western calendars. (See: Hebrew Months)

on the fifteenth day of the second month (ULT)

"on day 15 of the second month" (See: Ordinal Numbers)

ULT

¹ And they journeyed on from Elim, and all of the congregation of the sons of Israel entered into the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from the land of Egypt.

Exodus 16:2

And all the congregation of the sons of Israel murmured (ULT)

Here, all is a generalization. Alternate translation: “And many of the community of the sons of Israel murmured” (See: Hyperbole)

And...murmured (ULT)

“And ... were angry and spoke”

ULT

² And all the congregation of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron in the wilderness.

Exodus 16:3

If only we had died (ULT)

This is a way of saying that they wished that they had died. It is a hypothetical past statement. Alternate translation: “We wish that we had died” (See: Hypothetical Situations)

by the hand of Yahweh (ULT)

The phrase the hand of Yahweh represents Yahweh’s action. Alternate translation: “by Yahweh’s action” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ And the sons of Israel said to them, “If only we had died by the hand of Yahweh in the land of Egypt, sitting by a pot of meat, eating bread to the full. For you have brought us out into this wilderness to kill this whole assembly with hunger.”

Exodus 16:4make bread rain down from heaven for you (ULT)

God speaks of food coming down from heaven as if it were rain.
Alternate translation: "make bread come down from heaven like rain" or "make bread fall to you from the sky" (See: Metaphor)

in my law (ULT)

"in my instruction"

ULT

⁴ And Yahweh said to Moses, "Behold me make bread rain down from heaven for you. And the people shall go out and gather the portion of a day each day, so that I may test them: will they walk in my law or not?"

Exodus 16:5

And so it will be, on the sixth day, that they shall prepare (ULT)

“It will happen on the sixth day that they will prepare” or “On the sixth day they will prepare”

on the sixth day (ULT)

“on day 6” (See: Ordinal Numbers) twice (ULT)

two times

ULT

⁵ And so it will be, on the sixth day, that they shall prepare what they bring in, and that will be twice as much as what they gather daily.”

Exodus 16:7

And who are we that you murmur against us (ULT)

Moses and Aaron used this question to show the people that it was foolish to complain against them. Alternate translation: "We are not powerful enough for you to complain against us." or "It is foolish to complain against us, because we cannot do what you want." (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

⁷ In the morning you will see the glory of Yahweh in his hearing your murmurings against Yahweh. And who are we that you murmur against us?"

Exodus 16:8

And what are we (ULT)

Moses used this question to show the people that he and Aaron did not have the power to give them what they wanted. Alternate translation: "Aaron and I cannot give you what you want." (See: Rhetorical Question)

And what are we? Not against us is your mumuring, but against Yahweh (ULT)

The people were complaining against Moses and Aaron, who were Yahweh's servants. So by complaining against them, the people were really complaining against Yahweh. Alternate translation: "Your complaints are not really against us; they are against Yahweh, because we are his servants" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁸ And Moses said, "So Yahweh gives you meat to eat in the evening and bread in the morning to satiation; Yahweh is hearing your murmurings that you murmur against him. And what are we? Not against us is your mumuring, but against Yahweh."

Exodus 16:9

And Moses said to Aaron, “Say to all of the congregation of the sons of Israel, ‘Approach (ULT)’

There are two layers of quotes here. You may want to translate one or the other as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: “And Moses told Aaron to tell all of the congregation of the sons of Israel, “Approach” or “And Moses told Aaron, “Tell all of the congregation of the sons of Israel to approach” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

⁹ And Moses said to Aaron, “Say to all of the congregation of the sons of Israel, ‘Approach the face of Yahweh, for he has heard your murmurings.’”

Exodus 16:10

And so it was (ULT)

This phrase is used here to mark an important event in the story. The important event here is the people seeing Yahweh's glory. If your language has a way for doing this, you could consider using it here.

and behold (ULT)

13 And so it was, in the evening quail came up and covered the camp. And in the morning the dew was lying round about the camp.

Exodus 16:14like frost (ULT)

Frost is frozen dew that forms on the ground. It is very fine. (See: Translate Unknowns) like frost (ULT)

The original readers knew what frost is like, so this phrase would help them understand what the flakes were like. Alternate translation: “that looked like frost” or “that was fine like frost” (See: Simile)

ULT

14 And the lying dew went up; and behold! on the face of the wilderness were thin flakes, thin like frost on the ground.

Exodus 16:15

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

ULT

²¹ And they gathered it morning by morning, each man according to the mouths of his eating. And the sun became hot, and it melted.

Exodus 16:22

And so it was (ULT)

This phrase is used here to mark the beginning of a new part of the story. Verses 16:22-30 tell about what the people did concerning the manna on the sixth and seventh days of the week. If your language has a way for marking this as a new part of the story, you could consider using it here. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

22 And so it was, on the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for each person. And all the leaders of the community came and told Moses.

Verses 34-36 provide a later commentary on the chapter. If your language has a way of marking background information you may want to use it starting from verse 34 or verse 35. You may want to leave verse 34 more connected to verse 33 even though it references the Covenant which has not been given yet. (See: Background Information)

Exodus 17 General Notes

Important figures of speech in this chapter

Rhetorical Questions

Moses uses several rhetorical questions in this chapter. The purpose of these questions is to convince people of their sin. Likewise, the people's rhetorical question showed their ignorance. (See: Rhetorical Question and sin, sinful, sinner, sinning)

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Wilderness of Sin

Sin is the name of a part of the Sinai Wilderness. It is not the description of a place, and it has nothing to do with sinning. (See: How to Translate Names)

Naming

As in the last couple of chapters, places and things are named for what happens in that location. In this chapter is Massah (which means "test"), Meribah ("arguing"), and an alter named "Yahweh is my Banner" because Yahweh will be at war with the Amalekites forever.

Meribah is a place in the desert whose name means “complaining” in Hebrew. (See: How to Translate Names)

In some languages it may be unnatural to explicitly have the negative option included in this question or to have it at the end. It may be omitted or relocated in the question if that is the case.

Hur is a new participant in the story which you may need to point out in your translation. However, he is a very minor character. He only appears in this passage and once much later in the book, so you may not need to highlight him at all. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Exodus 18

Exodus 18 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

Leadership lessons

Jethro taught Moses an important leadership lesson in this chapter. Many scholars look at this chapter for important leadership lessons. Moses delegated some of his responsibilities to other godly men so that he would not become worn out by all the demands made of him. (See: godly, godliness, ungodly, godless, ungodliness, godlessness)

Possible translation difficulties

Order of events

The timing of the events in verse 2 is not clear and whatever their timing, may be difficult to translate. The question is: Is Jethro's taking Zipporah related to the past event of Moses sending her back to him at some otherwise unmentioned point in time, or is Jethro's taking related to his coming to meet Moses in verse 5.

Verse 11

Verse 11 is difficult in the original and requires interpretation.

God and Yahweh

For this chapter God, who is named Yahweh, is mostly referred to as God instead by his name as is usual in much of the rest of the book. Translations should not suggest that they are not different beings.

Kinship: Father-in-law

Jethro is the father of Moses' wife. Some languages may make a distinction between that and a woman's father-in-law. If that is the case, note it in verses: 1-2, 5-8, 12, 14-15, 17, 24, and 27. (See: Kinship)

Participant reference

Jethro is often referred to simply as the father-in-law of Moses in this chapter. He is also named explicitly an unusually high number of times (it would be more usual to have more pronouns referring to him). This is likely to emphasize his familial ties and authority (or honored status). Some languages may need to use alter the way he is referred to for naturalness or to convey the same sense of familial ties and authority (or honored status).

Exodus 18:1

father-in-law of Moses (ULT)

Exodus 19 General Notes

Special concepts in this chapter

“A kingdom of priests”

The function of the priests was to intercede for the people. The Levites were the only priests in Israel; this is a metaphor indicating that the nation was to intercede for the world as a whole. They were also to be holy, or set apart, from the rest of the world. (See: priest, priesthood and Metaphor and holy, holiness, unholy, sacred)

Revealing the Law

The events of this chapter are concerned with preparing the people to receive the law of Moses. The people go through all of this to prepare themselves for the law, which shows the great importance of this event for Israel. (See: law, law of Moses, law of Yahweh, law of God)

Boundaries between Yahweh and the people

Moses is told to make the people holy in preparation for meeting Yahweh, then boundaries are set up to keep the people separate from Yahweh, then the priests are told to make themselves holy. The theme of a holy separation is beginning to be developed that will become much of the law code.

Exodus 19:1

In the third month...on the same day (ULT)

This means they arrived at the wilderness on the first day of the month just as they left Egypt on the first day of the month. The first day of the third month on the Hebrew calendar is near the middle of May on Western calendars. Alternate translation: “In the third month...on the first day of the month” (See: Hebrew Months and Ordinal Numbers) you shall speak to the house of Jacob, and you shall tell the sons of Israel (ULT)

Exodus 19:3

These two phrases have exactly the same meaning. This may be for poetic effect as Yahweh's statement here through verse 6 is somewhat artfully crafted. You may need to use a strategy other than parallelism to achieve a similar poetic effect in your language. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

³ And Moses went up to God, and Yahweh called to him from the mountain saying, "Thus you shall speak to the house of Jacob, and you shall tell the sons of Israel:

Exodus 19:4

You yourselves saw (ULT)

(See: Quote Markings)

This may mean instruct the people, or it may mean Moses will have a role as well. Alternate translation: “and tell them to dedicate themselves to me” or “and help them to purify themselves for me” saying, 'Watch yourselves (ULT)

A second-level direct quotation begins with watch. It is not clear where this command that Moses is to give the Israelites ends. Most English translations end it in verse 13 before the last sentence. For that reason, it may be most helpful to translate the instruction as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: "telling them to watch themselves" (See: Quotes within Quotes)

he shall be shot (ULT)

This refers to being killed by someone who shoots arrows from a bow or stones from a slingshot.

shall ascend (ULT)

If you translate this with come or go, consider which would be the correct perspective for your language and the text context. Yahweh is speaking, so perhaps it would be best to say "come up," however the people will be the ones moving so maybe it should be "go up." (See: Go and Come)

ULT

13 No hand shall touch that one.

Instead, he shall be stoned or he shall be shot. Whether animal or human, he shall not live.' At the prolonged sound of the horn, they shall ascend on the mountain."

“Generation” is implied by sons. Alternate translation: “the sons down to the third and fourth generations” (See: Ellipsis)

ULT

⁵ You shall not bow down to them and you shall not serve them, for I, Yahweh your God, am a jealous God. I visit the iniquity of the fathers on the sons on the third and on the fourth of the haters of me.

Exodus 20:6

covenant faithfulness (ULT)

The abstract noun faithfulness can be stated as “faithfully” or “faithful.” Alternate translation: “I am faithful to the covenant with thousands of those who love me” (See: Abstract Nouns)

ULT

⁶ But I show covenant faithfulness to thousands, to lovers of me and to keepers of my commandments.

to thousands (ULT)

“Generation” is implied by the previous verse. However, this may not be the case, therefore two notes following deal with either possibility. (See: Ellipsis)

to thousands (ULT)

“to the thousandth generation” or “for a thousand generations”

to thousands (ULT)

Option 1: This large number is used to mean “forever” or “to all descendants forever.” Alternate translation: “for every generation” (See: Hyperbole) to thousands, to lovers of me (ULT)

Option 2: The word thousands is a metonym for a number too many to count. Alternate translation: “forever to innumerable people who love me” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 20:7

You shall...lift up...lifts up (ULT)

To lift up, take, or use the name of Yahweh (with emptiness, i.e. improperly) covers many sorts of speaking or invoking his name, or making a claim to him, or attempting to manipulate him, or misrepresenting him. A broad word should be used in translation of this term.

ULT

⁷ You shall not lift up the name of Yahweh your God with emptiness, for Yahweh will not leave unpunished anyone who lifts up my name with emptiness.

You shall not lift up the name of Yahweh your God (ULT)

“You must not use the name of Yahweh your God” with emptiness...with emptiness (ULT)

“carelessly” or “without proper respect” will not leave unpunished (ULT)

This double-negative can be stated as a positive. Alternate translation: “I will certainly consider guilty” (See: Double Negatives)

Exodus 20:8

to set it apart to me (ULT)

“to make it holy to me” or “to consecrate it to me”

ULT

⁸ Remember the Sabbath day, to set it apart to me.

Exodus 20:9

your work (ULT)

“your occupation” or “your livelihood”

ULT

⁹ Six days you may labor and do all your work,

Exodus 20:10

within your gates (ULT)

Cities often had walls around them to keep out enemies, and gates for people to go in and out. Alternate translation: “within your community” or “inside your city” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

10 but the seventh day is a Sabbath for Yahweh your God. You shall not do any work, you, or your son, or your daughter; your male servant, or your female servant; or your cattle, or the foreigner who is within your gates.

Exodus 20:11

on the seventh day (ULT)

“on day seven.” Here “seventh” is the ordinal number for “7.” (See: Ordinal Numbers)

ULT

11 For in six days Yahweh made the heavens and earth, the sea, and everything that is in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore Yahweh blessed the Sabbath day and set it apart.

Exodus 20:12

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

¹² Honor your father and your mother, so that your days may be long on the land that Yahweh your God is giving you.

Exodus 20:13

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

13 You shall not murder.

Exodus 20:14

You shall not commit adultery (ULT)

“You must not have sex with anyone other than your spouse”

ULT

14 You shall not commit adultery.

Exodus 20:15

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

15 You shall not steal.

Exodus 20:16

You shall not testify false testimony against your neighbor (ULT)

“You must not speak a false report against your neighbor”

ULT

16 You shall not testify false testimony against your neighbor.

Exodus 20:17

You shall not covet (ULT)

“You must not strongly want to have” or “You must not want to take”

ULT

17 You shall not covet the house of your neighbor; you shall not covet the wife of your neighbor, or his male servant, or his female servant, or his ox, or his donkey, or anything that belongs to your neighbor.”

Exodus 20:18

the mountain smoking (ULT)

“the smoky mountain” and they trembled (ULT)

“they shook with fear” and they stood from a distance (ULT)

“stood far away”

ULT

18 All the people were seeing the thundering and the lightning and the sound of the horn and the mountain smoking. And the people saw it, and they trembled, and they stood from a distance.

Exodus 20:19

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

19 They said to Moses, "You speak to us and let us listen! But do not let God speak to us lest we die."

Exodus 20:20

so that the fear of him may be on your faces, and so that you do not sin (ULT)

“so that you will honor him and not sin”

the fear of him may be on your faces (ULT)

Here, fear is spoken of as something that could be on their faces. It may mean they would have such a fear that their attitude could be seen on their faces. Alternate translation: “reverence for him will show on your faces” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

²⁰ And Moses said to the people, “Do not be afraid, for God has come to test you so that the fear of him may be on your faces, and so that you do not sin.”

Exodus 20:21

and Moses approached (ULT)

“and Moses went closer to”

ULT

²¹ So the people stood far off, and Moses approached toward the thick darkness where God was.

Exodus 20:22

You yourselves have seen (ULT)

A second-level direct quotation begins here that continues until the end of the chapter. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

22 And Yahweh said to Moses, “You shall speak thus to the sons of Israel: ‘You yourselves have seen that I have talked with you from heaven.’”

Exodus 20:23

gods of silver or gods of gold (ULT)

“gods made out of silver or gold” or “idols made out of silver or gold”

ULT

23 You shall not make alongside me—you shall not make gods of silver or gods of gold for yourselves.

Exodus 20:24

an altar of earth (ULT)

An altar made of materials from the ground, such as stone, soil, or clay.

I cause my name to be remembered (ULT)

Here, name is a metonym for God's being. Alternate translation: "I cause myself to be remembered" (See: Metonymy)

I cause my name to be remembered (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "choose for you to remember me" (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

24 You shall make an altar of earth for me, and you shall sacrifice on it your burnt offerings, and peace offerings, sheep, and oxen. In every place where I cause my name to be remembered, I will come to you and bless you.

Exodus 20:25

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁵ And if you make me an altar of stones, you shall not build them of cut stones, for causing your tool to move over it will defile it.

Exodus 20:26

And you shall not go up to my altar on steps (ULT)

If you need to connect this statement more explicitly to the previous statements regarding building the altar you could add a phrase about building steps. Alternate translation: "Do not build steps up to the altar and go up to it on those steps" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²⁶ And you shall not go up to my altar on steps, so that your nakedness is not exposed over it.'

so that your nakedness is not exposed over it (ULT)

This could be stated in an active manner. Alternate translation: "so that you do not expose your nakedness over it" (See: Active or Passive) your nakedness (ULT)

"your private parts"

Exodus 21

Translation issues in this chapter

Hypothetical situations

Throughout the case law a hypothetical situation is introduced with “when” or “if,” then there is a description of the situation, then there is the penalty or action to be taken in those situations. A hypothetical person may be introduced with “anyone” or “whoever.” Most verses for the next several chapters will have these hypothetical situations. See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions Translators familiar with Hebrew may want to notice that, generally, major divisions are introduced by כִּי (ki) and minor divisions within a topic are introduced by וְ (‘im).

Passive construction

Many portions of these situations are written in the passive voice. Some languages may have to change all or some of these to active voice. See: Active or Passive.

Daughters sold as servants

The section from verses 7-11 may be some what confusing because a daughter that is sold as a servant is seamlessly connected to her becoming someone’s wife.

Ransom payment

In verse 30 a man whose bull killed someone may evade the death penalty by paying a ransom price, but the conditions for that happening are not clear.

Exodus 21:1

you must set before them

Yahweh continues speaking to Moses. There is no quote break between chapters.

you shall set (ULT)

“you must give” or “you must tell”

before their faces (ULT)

Here, faces figuratively represents the presence of the nation. Alternate translation: “before them” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

¹ And these are the ordinances that you shall set before their faces:

Exodus 21:2

General Information:

Yahweh tells Moses his laws for the people of Israel.

If you buy a Hebrew servant (ULT)

This is the first of many hypothetical situations, introduced by “when” or if, which you will encounter over the next several chapters. See the introduction to chapter 21. You will need to translate these consistently in a manner that expresses that these situations have not happened. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

ULT

² ‘If you buy a Hebrew servant, he shall serve for six years, and in the seventh year he shall go free without paying anything.

Exodus 21:3

If he came by himself, he shall go free by himself (ULT)

What “by himself” means can be stated clearly. Some languages require that the additional condition, that he marries while a slave, be stated clearly. Alternate translation: “If he became a slave while he had no wife, and if he marries while he is a slave, the master need only free the man” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

³ If he came by himself, he shall go free by himself; if he is the husband of a wife, then his wife shall go free with him.

by himself...by himself (ULT)

“alone” or “without a wife”

If...he is the husband of a wife (ULT)

“if he was married when he became a slave” or “if he came as a married man”

Exodus 21:4

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁴ If his master gave him a wife and she bore him sons or daughters, the wife and her children are her master's, and he must go out by himself.

Exodus 21:5

plainly says (ULT)

“makes a statement”

I shall not go out free (ULT)

“I do not want my master to set me free”

ULT

⁵ But if the servant plainly says, “I love my master, my wife, and my children; I shall not go out free,”

Exodus 21:6

God (ULT)

The word for God at its most literal means “great ones.” Here it may have this basic meaning and refer to human judges or other leaders in Israel. It may also be a metonym and refer to the judges because they represent God to the people and have his authority. Texts other than the standard Hebrew text support this reading. See Exodus 22:8-9 for another example of this. Alternate translation: “the judges” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

6 then his master shall bring him to God. He shall bring him to a door or to a doorpost, and his master shall bore his ear through with an awl. Then he shall serve him forever.

and...shall bore...through...his ear (ULT)

“will put a hole in his ear” with an awl (ULT)

a pointed tool used to make a hole

forever (ULT)

“until the end of his life” or “until he dies”

Exodus 21:7

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁷ And if a man sells his daughter as a female servant, she shall not go out as the male servants go out.

Exodus 21:8

has designated

This verse is the first of three possible situations between a master and his female slave.

has designated

“has chosen”

he must let her be bought back

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “he must allow her father to buy her back” (See: Active or Passive)

he has treated her deceitfully

“since he has deceived her”

ULT

⁸ If she is bad in the eyes of her master, who has appointed her for himself, then he shall cause her to be ransomed. He has no authority to sell her to a foreign people, since he has acted treacherously with her.

Exodus 21:9

he has treated her deceitfully

This verse is the second of three possible situations between a master and his female slave.

he appoints her for his son (ULT)

“he decides that she is the one who will be his son’s wife” he shall act toward her according to the custom of daughters (ULT)

“he must do to her according to the manner that daughters are customarily treated”

ULT

⁹ And if he appoints her for his son, he shall act toward her according to the custom of daughters.

Exodus 21:10

designates her as a wife for his son

This verse and the next are the third of three possible situations between a master and his female slave.

he shall not diminish her food, her clothing, or her marital rights (ULT)

This can be stated in a positive form. Alternate translation: "he must give the first wife the same food, clothing, and marital rights she had before" (See: Double Negatives) or her marital rights (ULT)

This term only occurs here in the Bible. It probably means things that a husband must do for his wife. Most commentators believe it specifically means having sexual relations with her, possibly so that she can bear children. Alternate translation: "or her right to intimacy" or "or her childbearing rights" (See: Euphemism)

ULT

¹⁰ If he takes another to himself, he shall not diminish her food, her clothing, or her marital rights.

Exodus 21:11

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

11 But if he does not provide these three things to her, then she can go free without silver.

Exodus 21:12

Whoever strikes a man (ULT)

“Whoever attacks a man”

he shall surely be put to death (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must certainly execute that person” or “you must certainly kill that person” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

¹² Whoever strikes a man and he dies, he shall surely be put to death;

Exodus 21:13

but if he did not lie in wait (ULT)

“but if he did not plan to do it” or “but if he did not do it on purpose” then I will appoint a place for you where he can flee (ULT)

ULT

13 but if he did not lie in wait, but God let it happen by his hand, then I will appoint a place for you where he can flee.

The purpose of choosing a place can be stated clearly here. Alternate translation: “I will choose a place that he can run away to be safe” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 21:14

with cunning (ULT)

“after thinking carefully about it”

then you shall take him (ULT)

The word “him” refers to the one who killed his neighbor.

for execution (ULT)

“to execute him”

ULT

14 If a man willfully acts against his neighbor to kill him with cunning, then you shall take him from my altar for execution.

Exodus 21:15

Whoever hits his father or his mother shall surely be put to death (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "If anyone hits his father or mother, you must surely put him to death" or "You must surely kill anyone who hits his father or mother" (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

¹⁵ Whoever hits his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.

surely (ULT)

"must certainly"

Exodus 21:16

shall surely be put to death (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must kill that kidnapper” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

16 Whoever steals a man—whether he sells him, or he is found in his hand—he shall surely be put to death.

Exodus 21:17

Whoever acts contemptuously towards his father or his mother shall surely be put to death (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "You must surely kill anyone who curses his father or his mother" (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

¹⁷ Whoever acts contemptuously towards his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.

Whoever acts contemptuously towards (ULT)

The word translated acts contemptuously means the opposite of "honor" (as in the commandment to honor one's parents). Alternate translation: "Whoever acts dishonorably towards"

Exodus 21:18

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

18 If men fight and a man hits his neighbor with a stone or with his fist, and he does not die but falls to bed;

Exodus 21:19

he rises (ULT)

“he gets better”

then...is free (ULT)

“then ... is innocent”

for his sitting (ULT)

This refers to a situation when someone cannot work to earn money. You can express this clearly in the translation.
Alternate translation: “for the time he could not work” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) and for his complete healing (ULT)

“and for his medical costs” or “and for his costs for healing”

ULT

¹⁹ if he rises and walks about in the outdoors on his staff, then the striker is free. He only shall pay for his sitting and for his complete healing.

Exodus 21:20

under his hand (ULT)

“because of the injury” or “because his master hit him”

he shall certainly be avenged (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must certainly punish that man” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

20 And if a man hits his male servant or his female servant with a staff and he dies under his hand, he shall certainly be avenged.

Exodus 21:21

for he is his silver (ULT)

A common view is that the loss of the valuable property, the slave, is itself a punishment. It may be that the master loses the slave for a time and also has to pay for his healing, or it may be that the slave dies after a few days. You can express clearly in the translation that the servant was valuable to his master. Alternate translation:

“because he has already lost his servant who was valuable to him” or “because he has already lost his servant’s work for a time and had to pay for his healing” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

21 However, if he stands a day or two, he shall not be avenged, for he is his silver.

Exodus 21:22

and her children come out, but there is no serious injury (ULT)

It is not clear in the passage what happens to the child. The text is simply as in the ULT. Some have taken it to mean that the child dies because of premature birth and the serious injury only relates to the woman. In this case, a fine is imposed for the loss of the child. However, the text could also mean that the child is born at least mostly safely. A fine is still imposed because of the great danger to the two lives. Then the next few verses give consequences for any injury either to mother or child.

ULT

²² And if men fight together and strike a pregnant woman and her children come out, but there is no serious injury, then he shall surely be fined as the husband of the woman puts on him, and he shall give according to the judges.

serious injury (ULT)

“hurt”

then he shall surely be fined (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must certainly fine the guilty man” or “the guilty man must pay a fine” (See: Active or Passive)

according to the judges (ULT)

“what the judges decide”

Exodus 21:23

then you shall give a life for a life (ULT)

This means that if someone is hurt, the person who caused the hurt must be hurt in the same way. Alternate translation: “you must take the killer’s life for the murdered person’s life” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

23 But if there is serious injury, then you shall give a life for a life,

Exodus 21:24

an eye for an eye (ULT)

This means that if someone is hurt, the person who caused the hurt must be hurt in the same way. Alternate translation: “the striker’s eye for the injured person’s eye” (and etc throughout this and the next verse) (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²⁴ an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a hand for a hand, a foot for a foot,

Exodus 21:25

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁵ a burn for a burn, a wound for a wound, or a bruise for a bruise.

Exodus 21:26

a man (ULT)

Here, man refers to the owner of a slave.

in compensation for (ULT)

“as payment for”

ULT

²⁶ And if a man hits the eye of his male servant or the eye of his female servant and destroys it, he shall let him go free in compensation for his eye.

Exodus 21:27

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁷ And if he knocks out a tooth of his male servant or a tooth of his female servant, he shall let him go free as compensation for the tooth.

Exodus 21:28

an ox gores (ULT)

“an ox injures with its horns”

the ox shall surely be stoned (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must surely stone the ox to death” (See: Active or Passive) and its flesh shall not be eaten (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “and you must not eat its flesh” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

²⁸ And if an ox gores a man or a woman and he dies, the ox shall surely be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox is innocent.

Exodus 21:29

and its owner was warned (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “and someone warned its owner” (See: Active or Passive)

and its owner was warned (ULT)

The content of the warning could be made explicit. Alternate translation: “and its owner was warned that it gores” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) and its owner also shall be put to death (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must also kill its owner” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

²⁹ But if the ox had a habit of goring in the past, and its owner was warned but did not keep it in, and it kills a man or a woman, the ox shall be stoned, and its owner also shall be put to death.

Exodus 21:30

If a ransom is imposed on him, he shall give the ransom of his life, according to all that is imposed on him (ULT)

The text does not specify who will impose a ransom on the ox's owner. Since other texts indicate that justice is retributive and performed by the dead person's family, that is one option. Another is that the judges will impose it. One of these can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: see UST (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

³⁰ If a ransom is imposed on him, he shall give the ransom of his life, according to all that is imposed on him.

If a ransom is imposed on him...is imposed on him (ULT)

These statements can be made active rather than passive. However, you must make a decision regarding who is imposing the ransom, or use an unspecified pronoun if that is possible in your language (this second option would not make sense in English). Alternate translation: "If the judges impose a ransom on him ... they impose on him" (See: Active or Passive)

Exodus 21:31

it gores...it gores (ULT)

“it injures with its horns ... it injures with its horns”

to him (ULT)

Here, him probably refers to the ox’s owner. Alternate translation: “to the owner” (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

ULT

31 If it gores a son or it gores a daughter, it shall be done to him according to this ordinance.

Exodus 21:32

thirty silver shekels (ULT)

A shekel weighed 11 grams. Alternate translation: “330 grams of silver” (See: Biblical Money)

If the ox gores a male servant (ULT)

Because they are to kill the ox, the slave must have died. You can make this explicit. Alternate translation: “If an ox kills a male servant” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) and the ox shall be stoned (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must kill the ox by stoning it” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

³² If the ox gores a male servant or a female servant, he shall give thirty silver shekels to the master, and the ox shall be stoned.

Exodus 21:33

opens...a cistern (ULT)

“uncovers a hole in the ground” or “takes a cover off a hole in the ground”

ULT

33 And if a man opens a cistern, or if a man digs a cistern and does not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls there,

Exodus 21:34

He shall cause silver to return to its owner (ULT)

The owner must be paid for the loss of his animal. Alternate translation: "he must pay the owner for the dead animal" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

shall compensate (ULT)

"must make restitution"

and the dead animal shall become his (ULT)

The one who paid for the loss of the animal will become the owner of the dead animal and can do what he wants with it. The full meaning of this statement can be made explicit. Alternate translation: "will belong to the owner of the pit" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

³⁴ the owner of the pit shall compensate. He shall cause silver to return to its owner, and the dead animal shall become his.

Exodus 21:35

the ox of...and divide...its silver (ULT)

“and divide the money” or “and divide the money they receive”

ULT

³⁵ And if the ox of a man strikes the ox of another and it dies, then they shall sell the live ox and divide its silver, and they shall also divide the dead ox.

Exodus 21:36

If it was known (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: see UST (See: Active or Passive) the ox...had a habit of goring in the past (ULT)

“had gored other animals before”

and its owner has not kept it in (ULT)

This means that the owner did not keep his ox safely where it could not wander to hit other animals. This can be clearly stated in the translation. Alternate translation: “and its owner did not keep it inside a fence” or “and its owner did not tie it securely” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

he shall surely compensate ox for ox (ULT)

The owner of the ox that killed must give an ox to the man who lost his ox. This can be stated clearly in the translation. Alternate translation: “the owner of the ox that killed must surely give a living ox to the owner of the ox that died” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

36 If it was known that the ox had a habit of goring in the past, and its owner has not kept it in, he shall surely compensate ox for ox, and the dead animal shall become his own.

Exodus 22

Exodus 22 General Notes

Structure

This chapter continues the list of case laws for Israel. Any attempt to outline structure would have almost as many sections as there are verses.

Translation issues in this chapter

Hypothetical situations

Throughout the case law a hypothetical situation is introduced with “when” or “if,” then there is a description of the situation, then there is the penalty or action to be taken in those situations. A hypothetical person may be introduced with “anyone” or “whoever.” Most verses for the next several chapters will have these hypothetical situations. See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions Translators familiar with Hebrew may want to notice that, generally, major divisions are introduced by כִּי (ki) and minor divisions within a topic are introduced by וְ (‘im).

Passive construction

Many portions of these situations are written in the passive voice. Some languages may have to change all or some of these to active voice. See: Active or Passive.

Exodus 22:1

General Information:

Yahweh continues telling Moses his laws for the people of Israel.

If a man steals an ox or a sheep and slaughters it or sells it (ULT)

This is the first of many hypothetical situations in this chapter, introduced by “when” or if, which you will encounter over the next several chapters. See the introduction. You will need to translate these consistently in a manner that expresses that these situations have not happened. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

five...and four (ULT)

5 ... 4 (See: Numbers)

ULT

¹ If a man steals an ox or a sheep and slaughters it or sells it, he shall compensate five cattle for the ox, and four sheep for the sheep.

Exodus 22:2

If a thief is found while breaking in (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "If anyone finds a thief while he is breaking in" (See: Active or Passive)

while breaking in (ULT)

"while using force to come into a house" and he is struck and he dies (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: "if anyone strikes the thief so that he dies" (See: Active or Passive)

there is no blood-guilt for him (ULT)

"no one will be guilty of murdering him"

ULT

² If a thief is found while breaking in, and he is struck and he dies, there is no blood-guilt for him.

Exodus 22:3

But if the sun has risen on him (ULT)

“if it is light before he breaks in” or “if he breaks in and it is after sunrise”

then he shall be sold for his theft (ULT)

This can be stated in an active form. Alternate translation: “you must sell him as a slave in order to pay for what he stole” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

Exodus 23 General Notes

Structure

This chapter continues the list of case laws for Israel. It also touches on the patterns of life regarding the Sabbaths (verses 10-12) and Festivals (verses 14-19). At verse 20 Yahweh begins telling them about their future as they go to and live in the promised land.

Special concepts in this chapter

Celebrations of feasts and festivals

The people of Israel were required to celebrate certain feasts and festivals. These were part of the law of Moses and some are described in this chapter. Their purpose was to worship Yahweh and to remember the great things Yahweh has done for them.

Exodus 23:1

General Information:

Yahweh continues telling Moses his laws for the people of Israel.

You shall not take up a report of emptiness (ULT)

¹ You shall not take up a report of emptiness. You shall not put your hand with the wicked to be a witness of violence.

This could be translated differently to avoid the abstract nouns report and emptiness. Alternate translation: “You must not report emptily” or “You must not report falsely” (See: Abstract Nouns)

You shall not put your hand with the wicked (ULT)

Here, to put your hand with the wicked means to support the lies that he is telling in order to harm someone else. The image is of putting out your hand to help him, to make him stronger than he would be on his own.

Alternate translation: “You must not assist the wicked” (See: Idiom)

a report of emptiness (ULT)

“a false testimony”

a witness of violence (ULT)

Here, violence can also mean “wrong.” Either way, it means to harm another person by committing injustice (violence to justice) by lying. Alternate translation: “a false witness” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 23:2

nor shall you testify (ULT)

“and you also must not speak”

You shall not follow a crowd into evil (ULT)

This festival celebrated the final harvesting of all the crops for the year. This festival was also known as the Festival of Shelters or the Festival of Booths. The idea came from the practice of the farmers living in temporary booths, or huts, out in the fields to guard the crop as it ripened. See Deuteronomy 16:13. Alternate translation: “And the Festival of the Ingathering”

ULT

16 And the Festival of the Harvest: the firstfruits of your labors which you sowed in the field. And the Festival of the Gathering: in the exiting of the year, in your gathering of your labors from the field.

Do not cause bitterness in him, for he will not bear with your transgressions, for my name is within him (ULT)

There are two reasons given for the instruction do not cause bitterness in him. They are chained together such that you could say: "Because my name is within him, he will not forgive your transgressions, therefore do not cause bitterness in him." Exodus 23:29

from before your face (ULT)

This means “ahead of you.” Alternate translation: “from before you” (See: Metonymy)

lest the land become desolate (ULT)

You could make the rest of the idea explicit if it would help. Alternate translation: “lest the land become desolate because no one would be living in the land” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

29 I will not drive them out from before your face in one year lest the land become desolate, and the animals of the field become too many for you.

Exodus 23:30

from before your face (ULT)

This means “ahead of you.” Alternate translation: “from before you” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³⁰ I will drive them out little by little from before your face until you become fruitful and possess the land.

Exodus 23:31

from before your faces (ULT)

This means “ahead of you.” Alternate translation: “from before you” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

31 And I will set your borders from the sea of reeds to the sea of the Philistines, and from the wilderness to the River. For I will give the inhabitants of the land into your hand. And you will drive them out from before your faces.

Exodus 23:32

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

³² You shall not make a covenant with them or with their gods.

Exodus 23:33

surely it will become a snare for you (ULT)

This means worshiping other gods will lead the people of Israel to certain destruction as if they were an animal caught in a hunter's trap. It could also be saying that leaving the other people around will make it so that the Israelites see the other people's worship and are lured (like in a trap) into worshipping the other gods, which is a sin against Yahweh. See UST. Alternate translation: "worshipping them will surely destroy you" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³³ They shall not live in your land, lest they cause you to sin against me; for you will serve their gods, surely it will become a snare for you."

Exodus 24

Exodus 24 General Notes

Structure

Yahweh summons Moses v. 1-2

Moses reads the covenant and the people accept it, this is ritually marked by sacrifice and sprinkling of blood v. 3-8

Moses and Israelite elders go up the mountain, see God and eat v. 9-11

Yahweh summons Moses further up the mountain without the other elders and he goes v. 12-15

Description of Yahweh's glory and Moses is at the top of the mountain v. 16-18

Potential translation issues

- there are a number of similes used to describe people's encounter with God
- “covenant” appears in a variety of ways
- the mountain, the mountain of God, and Mount Sinai are all the same location

Special concepts in this chapter

Moses’ covenant

The people of Israel promise to obey the covenant Yahweh made with Moses. Their continued blessings were contingent upon their obedience to this covenant. (See: promise, promised and covenant)

God’s holiness

Because Yahweh is perfectly holy, he can only be approached in a certain way. Because of this, only Moses was allowed near Yahweh. This is also why Yahweh is described as a “devouring fire.” (See: holy, holiness, unholy, sacred)

Exodus 24:1

Nadab...Abihu

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

Nadab and Abihu (ULT)

These are men's names. See how you translated these names in Exodus 6:23. (See: How to Translate Names)

to Yahweh (ULT)

Yahweh refers to himself in the third person, you may change it to first person if it would be unclear in your language. Alternate translation: "to me" (See: First, Second or Third Person) and seventy (ULT)

"and 70" (See: Numbers)

and you shall bow down (ULT)

Here, "to me" is implied, you may make it explicit if it would be unclear in your language. Alternate translation: "and you shall bow down to me" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

¹ And he said to Moses, "Come up to Yahweh—you and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu and seventy from the elders of Israel, and you shall bow down from a distance."

Exodus 24:2

and they (ULT)

This refers to all the other people mentioned in verse 1. Alternate translation: "and Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and the elders" (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

to Yahweh (ULT)

Yahweh refers to himself in the third person, you may change it to first person if it would be unclear in your language. Alternate translation: "to me" (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

² And Moses alone shall come near to Yahweh, and they shall not come near, and the people shall not come up with him."

Exodus 24:3

with one voice

Verses 3-8 are a different scene than the rest of the chapter, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. It seems that there were some preparations needed before Moses and the elders could go up to meet Yahweh. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

with one voice

See Exodus 19:8 for how you translated a very similar event.

with one voice (ULT)

This is an idiom that means the people were in complete agreement. Alternate translation: “together” or “in agreement” (See: Idiom)

ULT

³ And Moses went and recounted to the people all of the words of Yahweh and all of the ordinances. And all of the people answered with one voice and said, “We will do all the things that Yahweh has spoken.”

Exodus 24:4

at the bottom of the mountain (ULT)

“at the base of the mountain” and twelve...according to the twelve (ULT)

“and 12 ... according to the 12” (See: Numbers)

ULT

⁴ And Moses wrote all of the words of Yahweh. And he rose early in the morning and built an altar at the bottom of the mountain and twelve stone pillars according to the twelve tribes of Israel.

Exodus 24:5

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁵ He sent the young men of the sons of Israel and they offered burnt offerings and sacrificed peace offerings of bulls to Yahweh.

Exodus 24:6

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁶ And Moses took half of the blood and put it into basins and sprinkled half of the blood onto the altar.

Exodus 24:7

the book of the Covenant (ULT)

Here, book does not mean something in our modern format. It was likely a piece of papyrus (an early form of paper made from reeds) or animal skin that rolled up. Alternate translation: “the Covenant he had written down” (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

⁷ And he took the book of the Covenant and read it aloud in the ears of the people. And they said, “We will do and hear all that Yahweh has spoken.”

Exodus 24:8

the blood (ULT)

This refers to the blood that Moses had put into the bowls. This can be stated clearly. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

according to all of these words (ULT)

These words refers to what Moses just read aloud, that is, Yahweh's commands. You can make this more clear. Alternate translation: "which I just read aloud to you and you agreed to" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁸ And Moses took the blood and sprinkled it onto the people. And he said, "Behold! the blood of the covenant that Yahweh has cut with you according to all of these words."

Exodus 24:9

Nadab...Abihu

A new scene begins with this verse, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. Here the narrative is connected to verse 2. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

ULT

⁹ And Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy from the elders of Israel went up.

And...went up (ULT)

These are men's names. See how you translated these names in Exodus 6:23. (See: How to Translate Names)

And...went up (ULT)

The men went up the mountain. You can state this clearly. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 24:10

And under his feet (ULT)

This speaks of God as if he had human feet. (See: Personification)

tile...of (ULT)

a hard surface for walking or riding

sapphire (ULT)

This is a gemstone that is blue in color. If there is a blue gemstone that your people are familiar with you may use it here as the exact gemstone is not certain. You may also describe it. Alternate translation: “a blue gemstone” (See: Translate Unknowns) and its substance was as the sky in purity (ULT)

This is a simile. Alternate translation: “and it was blue like the sky” (See: Simile)

ULT

10 And they saw the God of Israel. And under his feet was like tile made of sapphire, and its substance was as the sky in purity.

Exodus 24:11

And he did not send out his hand to the leaders of the sons of Israel (ULT)

This means that God did not harm the leaders. Alternate translation: "God did not harm the Israelite leaders" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

11 And he did not send out his hand to the leaders of the sons of Israel. And they saw God, and they ate and drank.

And he did not send out his hand to the leaders of the sons of Israel (ULT)

What would be expected is if they saw God they would die. The Israelite elders ability to see God and live is unexpected, be sure your translation conveys that. Alternate translation: "However, he did not send out his hand to the leaders of the sons of Israel" (See: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions)

Exodus 24:12

to teach them (ULT)

This means so that Moses and the other Israelite leaders could teach the laws and commandments to the Israelite people. You may need to make this clear. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

12 And Yahweh said to Moses, "Come up to me to the mountain and be there. And I will give you the tablets of stone and the law and the commandments that I have written to teach them."

Exodus 24:13

and his servant Joshua (ULT)

The word translated servant here is usually associated with a higher position, like a government minister. Avoid using a word that implies a lower class serving role. Alternate translation: “with Joshua who assisted him” or “with Joshua who helped him”

ULT

13 And Moses and his servant Joshua got up and Moses went up to the mountain of God.

and...Joshua (ULT)

Joshua is introduced here again, if your language marks new participants in the narrative in a certain way, use that form here. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

Exodus 24:14

And he had said to the elders (ULT)

The structure of the Hebrew indicates but does not require that this speech by Moses happened before verse 13 (hence had said). The ULT takes this view, however, for languages where it is hard to express events out of order, the UST reflects the other grammatical possibility and says in 24:13 that Moses started up the mountain and in 24:15 that he went the rest of the way up the mountain. Following this you can view this verse as if Moses paused and gave these final instructions as he was leaving the elders behind, keeping a sequential structure. Either approach is permissible by the text, but the approach of the ULT is preferred if possible. (See: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship)

ULT

14 And he had said to the elders, "Wait for us in this place until we return to you. And behold! Aaron and Hur are with you—Whoever is a master of words may come near to them."

us (ULT)

"Joshua and me"

and Hur (ULT)

Hur was a man who was a friend of Moses and Aaron. See how you translated this name in Exodus 17:10. (See: How to Translate Names)

And behold (ULT)

Behold is used to draw attention to important information that Moses is about to tell them. It is frequently omitted, if your language uses a statement to draw attention to important information you should consider using it here. Alternate translation: "Remember"

Whoever is a master of words (ULT)

This is an idiom that means that someone has a legal dispute or complaint. Alternate translation: "Whoever has a legal claim" or "Anyone with a law case" (See: Idiom)

Exodus 24:15

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

¹⁵ And Moses went up to the mountain, and a cloud covered the mountain.

Exodus 24:16

the glory of Yahweh (ULT)

This was the brilliant light of Yahweh's presence. Alternate translation: "the brilliant light showing Yahweh's presence" (See: Metonymy)

six (ULT)

"6" (See: Numbers)

on the seventh day (ULT)

"on day number 7" (See: Ordinal Numbers)

ULT

16 And the glory of Yahweh settled on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And on the seventh day he called to Moses from within the cloud.

Exodus 24:17was like a devouring fire (ULT)

This means the glory of Yahweh was very large and seemed to burn brightly like a fire. Alternate translation: "like a big fire burning" (See: Simile) in the eyes of the sons of Israel (ULT)

Their eyes represent seeing, and seeing represents their thoughts or judgment about they saw. Alternate translation: "to the Israelites" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

17 And the appearance of the glory of Yahweh was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the eyes of the sons of Israel.

Exodus 24:18

forty days and forty nights (ULT)

“40 days and 40 nights” (See: Numbers)

ULT

18 And Moses entered the middle of the cloud and went up to the mountain. And Moses was on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

Exodus 25

Exodus 25 General Notes

Structure:

- v. 1-7: Instructions for gifts the Israelites may give to help build the place they will worship God
- v. 8-9: Introductory building instructions
- v. 10-22: Instructions for building the Box of the Testimony
- v. 23-30: Instructions for building the table
- v. 31-39: Instructions for building the lampstand
- v. 40: Summary instruction

Special concepts in this chapter

- The tent of meeting and Box of the Testimony are introduced in this chapter.
- Translators will need to take care translating the concept of atonement.

Potential translation issues in this chapter:

- There are many unfamiliar items in this chapter. Fortunately they are mostly all physical items. Translators will have to try to understand what each item is and translate it into the closest equivalent in their culture. It may be helpful for translators to try to find images depicting some of the items the Israelites were to make.
- There are some biblical weights and measurements that translators may not have encountered before.
- From verse 11 until the end of chapter 30 almost every instruction regarding the construction of the tent of meeting and all the associated items are given with a singular form of “you” as if Moses himself would make them. However, it is clear and made explicit in chapter 31 that certain skilled craftsmen will receive these instructions from Moses and make these items. In some languages you may need to change from second to third person throughout, following the pattern in 25:10. There are a few exceptions which will have their own note. See: First, Second or Third Person and Singular Pronouns that refer to Groups.

Exodus 25:1

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh spoke to Moses saying,

Exodus 25:2

Speak (ULT)

At the beginning of this verse, a direct quote begins that continues until the end of Exo 30:10. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with an opening first-level quotation mark or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate the beginning of a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

² “Speak to the sons of Israel and they shall take a contribution for me. You shall take my contribution from every man whose heart incites him.

Speak to the sons of Israel and they shall take a contribution for me (ULT)

In some languages you may have to make and they shall take a contribution for me a direct quote. Note that this will make it a second-level quotation and you will need to mark it with second-level quotation marking if your language uses them. Alternate translation: “Say to the sons of Israel, ‘You shall take a contribution for me.’ ” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

whose heart incites him (ULT)

This is an idiom that indicates a person’s desire to give an offering. Many languages will have a similar idiom though the body part may vary. Alternate translation: “who wants to give one” (See: Idiom)

You shall take (ULT)

The word you is plural and refers to Moses and the leaders. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

Exodus 25:3

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

³ And these are the contributions that you shall receive from them: gold, and silver, and bronze;

Exodus 25:4

and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “material that is dyed blue, purple, and scarlet,” probably wool yarn, or (2) “blue, purple and scarlet dye” to dye the linen. The original audience would have known what was meant. This material seems to have been used for embroidery later, so “yarn” or “thread” may be the best understanding. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁴ and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair;

and worm of scarlet (ULT)

A bright red color for dying cloth was extracted from these worms. Alternate translation: “and bright red” (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 25:5

reddened (ULT)

When animal skins are tanned (processed into usable leather) they become reddish. It is not clear if these hides are dyed red or simply reddened in the tanning process. Alternate translation: "tanned"
(See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

⁵ and reddened hides of rams, and hides of sea-cows, and wood of acacias;

sea-cows (ULT)

The meaning of this word is not known, it may refer to some water mammal that has skin that can be made into a high-quality leather. Sea cows on Wikipedia (See: Translate Unknowns)

acacias (ULT)

A small tree with spreading foliage and durable wood. See on Wikipedia (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 25:6

spices (ULT)

Here, spices are dried plants that people grind into a powder and put in oil or food to give it a nice smell or flavor (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

⁶ oil for the light; spices for the oil of anointing and for the incense of fragrance;

Exodus 25:7

stones of onyx (ULT)

An onyx stone is a valuable stone that has layers of white and black, red or brown. If this stone is unknown to your people, consider translating it by using a word for a familiar stone with a similar pattern, if possible. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

7 stones of onyx and precious stones for settings for the ephod and for the breastpiece.

and precious stones for (ULT)

“and valuable gems for” or “and treasured gems for”

Exodus 25:8

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁸ And they shall make a sanctuary for me and I shall live in their midst.

Exodus 25:9

you (ULT)

Here, you is singular and refers to Moses. (See: Forms of You)

its utensils (ULT)

Here, utensils is a general term that you could translate by a broad term that could encompass all of the things used in the tabernacle as described in this and the several following chapters. Alternate translation: “its implements”

you shall make it (ULT)

Here, you is plural and refers to Moses and the people of Israel. If your language uses different forms of “you” depending on the number of people addressed, use a plural form here. (See: Forms of ‘You’ — Dual/Plural)

you shall make it (ULT)

Since Moses does not construct these items himself, you may consider shifting the instructions to the third person if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: “they shall make it” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

⁹ According to all that I am about to show you—the pattern of the tabernacle and the pattern of all of its utensils—and thus you shall make it.

Exodus 25:10

acacias (ULT)

These trees, acacias, are small trees with spreading foliage and durable wood. See how you translated this in 25:5. See on Wikipedia (See: Translate Unknowns) two cubits and a half...and...one cubit and a half...and...one cubit and a half (ULT)

You can convert these lengths to a measurement system familiar to your people, if that is the style of translation that you are using. A cubit is approximately 46cm. For your reference, a more precise conversion to metric is: 115cm ... 69cm ... 69cm (See: Biblical Distance) and a half...and a half...and a half (ULT)

The word half means one part out of two equal parts. (See: Fractions)

ULT

10 And they shall make a box of wood of acacias—its length: two cubits and a half; and its width: one cubit and a half; and its height: one cubit and a half.

Exodus 25:11

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

11 And you shall overlay it with pure gold, inside and outside you shall overlay it, and you shall make on it a border of gold around it.

Exodus 25:12

And you shall cast four rings of gold for it (ULT)

Casting was a process in which gold was melted, poured into a mold that was in the shape of a ring, and then allowed to harden. If this sort of metal-working process is unknown to your people, you may simply describe it, or use a word meaning “make” as the UST does.

The UST approach is preferred, as the creation process is not in focus here, and it would be cumbersome to include the description in the text. You could use a word meaning “make” and include the description in a footnote, if you are including those, and your team feels it is important to understand. Alternate translation: “You shall make four rings of gold by melting the gold and pouring it into molds” (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

¹² And you shall cast four rings of gold for it, and put them on its four feet: two rings on its one side, and two rings on its second side.

Exodus 25:13

acacias (ULT)

A small tree with spreading foliage and durable wood. See how you translated this in 25:5. See on Wikipedia (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

13 And you shall make poles of wood of acacias and overlay them with gold.

Exodus 25:14

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

14 And you shall put the poles into the rings on the sides of the box, to carry the box with them.

Exodus 25:15

The poles shall be in the rings of the ark; they shall not be removed from it (ULT)

These two phrases mean similar things. Yahweh is saying basically the same thing twice to emphasize how important this command is.

If it is confusing for your readers to repeat both phrases, you can combine them and show the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: "The poles belong in the rings of the box; never is anyone to remove them" (See: Parallelism)

ULT

¹⁵ The poles shall be in the rings of the ark; they shall not be removed from it.

The poles shall be in the rings of the ark; they shall not be removed from it (ULT)

You can translate this in active form. See UST. (See: Active or Passive)

Exodus 25:16

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

16 And you shall put into the box the Testimony that I give to you.

Exodus 25:17

two cubits and a half...and...a cubit and a half (ULT)

You can convert these lengths to a measurement system familiar to your people if that is the style of translation that you are using. A cubit is approximately 46cm. For your reference, a more precise conversion to the metric system is: 115 centimeters ... 69 centimeters ... 69 centimeters (See: Biblical Distance)

ULT

¹⁷ And you shall make an atonement lid of pure gold—its length: two cubits and a half; and its width: a cubit and a half.

and a half...and a half (ULT)

The word half means one part out of two equal parts. (See: Fractions)

Exodus 25:18

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

18 And you shall make two gold cherubim, you shall make them of hammered work from the two ends of the atonement lid.

Exodus 25:19

You shall make the cherubim from the atonement lid on its two ends (ULT)

This seems to indicate that the cherubim should be formed out of the same piece of gold as the rest of the lid. It may, however, mean that at the end they should be one piece, so the gold should be heated to melting and the lid and cherubim joined together.

Alternate translation: "You shall join the cherubim to the atonement lid on its two ends"

ULT

¹⁹ And make one cherub from this end, and one cherub from this end. You shall make the cherubim from the atonement lid on its two ends.

Exodus 25:20

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁰ And the cherubim shall be spreading out their wings upward, covering over the atonement lid with their wings and their faces shall each be towards his brother. The faces of the cherubim shall be towards the atonement lid.

Exodus 25:21

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²¹ And you shall put the atonement lid on the box from above, and you shall put into the box the Testimony that I give to you.

Exodus 25:22

with you...with you...you (ULT)

Here, you is singular and refers to Moses. If you have been using a plural you for Yahweh's commands which have been to give to others, make sure you use the singular form of "you" here. (See: Forms of You)

ULT

22 And I will meet with you there and I will speak with you all that I will command you for the sons of Israel from above the atonement lid, from between the two cherubim which are above the Box of the Testimony.

Exodus 25:23

acacias. Its length: two cubits, and its width: one cubit, and its height: a cubit and a half (ULT)

You can convert these lengths to a measurement system familiar to your people, if that is the style of translation that you are using. A cubit is approximately 46 centimeters. For your reference, a more precise conversion to metric is: 115 centimeters ... 46 centimeters ... 69 centimeters (See: Biblical Distance)

ULT

²³ And you shall make a table from wood of acacias. Its length: two cubits, and its width: one cubit, and its height: a cubit and a half.

and a half (ULT)

The word half means one part out of two equal parts. (See: Fractions)

Exodus 25:24

two cubits...one cubit...a cubit and a half

This verse is almost identical to 25:11.

ULT

²⁴ And you shall overlay it with pure gold, and you shall make for it a border of gold around it.

Exodus 25:25

a handbreadth (ULT)

You can convert this length to a measurement system familiar to your people, if that is the style of translation that you are using. A handbreath is a measurement of approximately eight centimeters. (See: Biblical Distance)

for it (ULT)

“for the table”

ULT

²⁵ And you shall make a rim for it, a handbreadth all around, and you shall make a border of gold around its rim.

Exodus 25:26

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁶ And you shall make four rings of gold for it and put the rings on the four corners, where its four legs are.

Exodus 25:27

to house (ULT)

Here, to house means that the rings will hold the poles. Since the rings are where the poles belong for use when carrying the table, the rings are figuratively their house. If your language has a similar idiom meaning “place of belonging,” you may use it, or you may translate the idea. Alternate translation: “to be a place for” (See: Idiom)

ULT

27 The rings shall be close to the rim to house the poles to carry the table.

Exodus 25:28

And the table shall be carried with them (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “And you shall carry the table with them” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

28 And you shall make the poles out of wood of acacias and cover them with gold. And the table shall be carried with them.

Exodus 25:29

its plates, and its pans, and its pitchers, and its bowls (ULT)

We do not know precisely what these dishes were. It is likely that the plates were mostly flat dishes for holding the bread that would be on the table; the pans may have been shallow bowls or deep plates for holding incense, or they may have been something more like a ladle or spoon; the pitchers probably held wine to be poured into the bowls for the drink offerings. You will need to translate using the closest word for each such item in your culture. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

²⁹ And you shall make its plates, and its pans, and its pitchers, and its bowls with which it will be poured out. You shall make them from pure gold.

with which it will be poured out (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “that the priests will pour out” (See: Active or Passive)

Exodus 25:30

the bread of faces (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of Yahweh. This bread represented the presence of God. Alternate translation: “the bread of the Presence” (See: Metonymy)

before my face (ULT)

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of Yahweh. Alternate translation: “in front of me” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³⁰ And you shall continually put the bread of faces on the table before my face.

Exodus 25:31

of hammered work (ULT)

“of beaten gold” See how you translated this in Exodus 25:18.

shall be made (ULT)

This can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you shall make” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

31 And you shall make a lampstand of pure gold. The lampstand—its base and its shaft—shall be made of hammered work. Its cups, its buds, and its blossoms shall be from it.

Exodus 25:32

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

³² And six branches shall be going out from its sides—three branches of the lampstand from the one side, and three branches of the lampstand from the second side.

Exodus 25:33

shaped like almond blossoms (ULT)

An almond blossom is a white or pink flower that has five petals. (An almond is a kind of nut.) You may want to include a short description as a footnote or in the text (if that is your translation style) the first time this object is encountered. Alternate translation: “shaped like the five-petaled almond flower” (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

33 Three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, shall be on the one branch, a bulb and a blossom; and three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, shall be on the one branch, a bulb and a blossom; thus for the six branches going out from the lampstand.

Exodus 25:34

Exodus 25:35

And a bulb will be under two of the branches from it, and a bulb will be under two of the branches from it, and a bulb will be under two of the branches from it—for all six branches extending out from the lampstand (ULT)

“There must be a leafy base under the first pair of branches—made as one piece with it, and a leafy base under the second pair of branches—also made as one piece with it. In the same way there must be a leafy base under the third pair of branches, made as one piece with it. It must be the same for all six branches extending out from the lampstand.”

All the items described in this chapter are implied as what Moses is told to see and make. You could make that explicit in your translation if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: "See and make everything I have described" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁴⁰ See and make by the pattern that you are being shown on the mountain.

See and make (ULT)

Here, see relates to observing or overseeing. Essentially, Yahweh is telling Moses to be careful as he observes the pattern on the mountain and as he sees the craftsmen of Israel working on these items, so that they are made correctly. Alternate translation: "Watch carefully so you can make these things well" (See: Metonymy)

you are being shown (ULT)

Exodus 26

Exodus 26 General Notes

- The sacred tent has four layers (from inside to out): linen, goats' hair, tanned rams' skins, and fine leather.
- There are multiple different curtains described using three different Hebrew words: one sort of curtains to make the walls of the tent (verses 1-13), another to separate the Holy Place and Most Holy Place (verses 31-34), and another for the entrance of the sacred tent (verses 36-37). If there are words in your language that would make a distinction between these sorts of hanging cloths, it would be appropriate to make a distinction in your translation.

Structure and formatting

This chapter is a continuation of the material in the previous chapter. - v. 1-30: Instructions for constructing the exterior of the sacred tent - v. 1-6: Inner covering - v. 7-14: Outer covering layers - v. 15-30: Wooden framework - v. 31-35: Instructions for arranging the interior of the sacred tent - v. 36-37: Instructions for hanging the entrance curtain

Special concepts in this chapter

The tent of meeting

This chapter gives specific instructions regarding the building of a tent where Moses would meet Yahweh and the box would be stored. This would eventually become the tabernacle. Note: "tabernacle" is simply an English word transcribed from the Latin for "tent," which translates the Hebrew for "dwelling place," that has taken on religious significance via the King James Version of the Bible. The terms "tabernacle" and "tent" should be considered interchangeable. It was to be considered a very holy place. (See: tabernacle and holy, holiness, unholy, sacred)

Exodus 26:1

you shall make (ULT)

Yahweh is speaking to Moses, so the word you is singular. Yahweh probably expected Moses to tell someone else to do the actual work, but Moses would be the one responsible for seeing that the work was done correctly. "Tell a craftsman to make" (See: Forms of You)

ULT

¹ And the tabernacle you shall make with ten curtains: twisted fine linen, and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet; cherubim—the work of a skilled craftsman you shall make them.

curtains (ULT)

The curtains were large, heavy sections of woven cloth that were used to form the covering and dividing walls of the tabernacle. (See: Translate Unknowns)

and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet (ULT)

A bright red color for dying cloth was extracted from these worms. Alternate translation: "and bright red" (See: Translate Unknowns)

a skilled craftsman (ULT)

a person who is skilled in making beautiful objects by hand

Exodus 26:2

You can convert these lengths to a measurement system familiar to your people if that is the style of translation that you are using. A cubit is approximately 46 centimeters. For your reference, a more precise conversion to metric is: 12.9 meters ... 184 centimeters. (See: Biblical Distance)

² The length of each curtain shall be 28 cubits and the width of each curtain shall be four cubits. All of the curtains shall be one size.

Exodus 26:3

the tent (ULT)

As in verse 7, the tent refers to the outer tent over the sacred tent. Alternate translation: “the outer tent”

ULT

13 And a cubit from this side and a cubit from that side, the excess of the length of the curtains of the tent shall hang over the sides of the tabernacle, from this side and from that side to cover it.

Exodus 26:14

ULT

14 And you shall make a covering for the tent of reddened hides of rams, and a covering of hides of sea-cows above that.

two bases under one frame for its two tenons, and two bases under one frame for its two tenons (ULT)

The effect of this is to start a list, and the hearer will assume it should be completed. Try to translate this in the way that a speaker of your language would give instructions that are meant to be carried out on a whole group of objects. This same phrasing occurs again in verse 21 and verse 25. Exodus 27 General Notes

This chapter is a continuation of the material in the previous chapter. - v. 1-8: Instructions for constructing the altar
- v. 9-19: Instructions for constructing the outer curtain walls forming the courtyard around the sacred tent - v.

Special concepts in this chapter

The tent of meeting

This chapter gives specific instructions regarding the building (around the tent of meeting) of the courtyard area containing the altar where priests made sacrifices to Yahweh.

Potential translation issues

- The verb make at the beginning of verse 9 is the only verb from verses 9-18. Some languages may be able to translate a clause chain this long without additional verbs, others (including English), will need to supply at least a minimum number of verbs (ULT) or quite a few verbs (UST) for naturalness.
- There continues to be a number of possibly unknown terms, still all tangible objects.

Exodus 27:1

five cubits...and five cubits...and three cubits (ULT)

You can convert these lengths to a measurement system familiar to your people, if that is the style of translation that you are using. A cubit is approximately 46 centimeters. Exodus 27:5

And you shall put it under the ledge of the altar below, and the network shall be up to the middle of the altar (ULT)

Here, he refers to Yahweh in the third person. If it would be unnatural in your language for someone to refer to himself in this way, you may need to change it. Alternate translation: “I showed” or “Yahweh showed” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

⁸ You shall make it hollow of planks. Just as he showed you on the mountain, so they shall do.

they shall do (ULT)

Here, they refers to whoever will make all these items. It is an indication that even though Yahweh has been speaking to Moses in the singular throughout, these instructions are meant to be conveyed to craftsmen in Israel. See 25:intro for more. (See: First, Second or Third Person)

Potential translation issues

- Verses 17-20 list 12 kinds of stone. Scholars are not sure which kinds of stones the Hebrew words refer to. Some translations list different stones. The UST gives the probable color of the gemstone. Translators may use names of familiar gem stones.

Exodus 28:1

And you (ULT)

Here you refers to Moses, in this case it is something he must do.
(See: Forms of You)

Aaron...your brother (ULT)

Aaron is older than Moses. If your language uses a different term for the sibling relationship based on gender and age order, choose the appropriate one. (See: Kinship) and Nadab and Abihu...and Ithamar (ULT)

These are men's names. (See: How to Translate Names)

ULT

Here you refers to Moses, in this case it is something he must do.
(See: Forms of You) to all of the wise of heart, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom (ULT)

There is a little bit of parallelism here. Yahweh is clarifying who causes someone to be wise of heart. You could translate this in a more causal way if that would make more sense. Alternate translation: “to anyone whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom making them wise of heart” (See: Parallelism)

to all of the wise of heart, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom (ULT)

Here, heart and spirit are both referring to innate possession by a person that is, traits of a person. Wisdom refers to skill or talent with crafting in this case. Together wise of heart and filled with the spirit of wisdom both essentially mean “a talented craftsman.” If it is more clear to your readers you may consider making some of this more explicit. Alternate translation: “to every talented craftsman, those whom I have made skilled in their work” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ And you, you shall speak to all of the wise of heart, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, and they shall make the clothes of Aaron to set him apart to be a priest for me.

Exodus 28:4

Exodus 28:5

and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “material that is dyed blue, purple, and scarlet,” probably wool yarn, or (2) “blue, purple and scarlet dye” to dye the linen. The original audience would have known what was meant. This material seems to have been used for embroidery later, so “yarn” or “thread” may be the best understanding. See how you translated this in 25:4 (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁵ And they shall take gold, and blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet, and fine linen.

worm of scarlet (ULT)

Exodus 28:12

The text does not specify if Yahweh or Aaron or someone else is the one being reminded by the stones. It also does not specify exactly what the reminder is of. Try to maintain this ambiguity if possible in your translation.

Here, face figuratively represents the presence of Yahweh. Alternate translation: “in the presence of” (See: Metonymy) and Aaron shall bear the iniquity of the holy things (ULT)

Here, iniquity is pictured as something that can be carried or worn like the turban. It also seems to be picturing handing off the iniquity from the people to Aaron. Also, here, iniquity actually seems to refer to the punishment for anything that might be wrong regarding the things the Israelites offer Yahweh. You may need to use a different word than bear to convey the transfer of responsibility for wrongs from the people to Aaron. Alternate translation: “and Aaron shall be responsible for any wrong related to the holy things” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

³⁸ And it shall be on the forehead of Aaron and Aaron shall bear the iniquity of the holy things which the sons of Israel shall cause to be holy, for all of the gifts of their holy things, and it shall be on his forehead continually for their acceptance before the face of Yahweh.

Exodus 29

Exodus 29 General Notes

Large translation teams working on multiple books at the same time should note that this chapter is very similar to Leviticus 8.

Structure

As you translate, you may perceive a different structure in this chapter than what is below. Feel free to organize in a way that is clear in your language. This chapter is really one united whole, the outline below is one possible way of subdividing it. The Consecration of the Priests - v. 1-3 Preparing items - v. 4-9 Preparing Aaron and his sons - v. 10-14 Sacrificing the bull to purify the altar - v. 15-34 Sacrificing the rams - v. 15-18 The first ram wholly burned - v. 19-28 The second ram used for consecrating and divided for eating - v. 29-30 Priestly succession - v. 31-34 More instructions regarding eating the second ram - v. 35-37 Instructions to do all this for seven days - v. 38-41 Instructions for perpetual offerings - v. 42-46 Yahweh's affirmation

Special concepts in this chapter

Consecrating priests

This chapter records the process of consecrating priests. The priests were to be set apart from the rest of Israel because Yahweh is holy. (See: consecrate, consecrated, consecration and priest, priesthood and holy, holiness, unholy, sacred)

Other possible translation difficulties in this chapter

Forms of you

For this chapter, it seems that the singular you that Yahweh has been using to give Moses general instructions for the last several chapters actually refers to Moses himself. If you have been translating the instructions using a plural form of you or by shifting the instructions to the third person, you should switch back to a singular form referring directly to Moses for this chapter.

“I will live among the Israelites”

As God, Yahweh is everywhere and cannot be limited to a single space. This phrase indicates that he permanently remains within Israel in a special way while they have the ark.

Exodus 29:1

And this (ULT)

A new scene begins here, there is a change in topic from instructions for making garments for priests to consecrating priests. This may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

Exodus 29:2

ULT

³ And you shall put them into one basket, and you shall bring them near in the basket, and the bull and the two rams.

Here, in the basket is almost parenthetical. You may need to restructure the sentence or use punctuation to make it clear that the bull and the two rams are connected to bring not, in the basket. Alternate translation: “and you shall bring them near (in the basket) along with the bull and the two rams”

Exodus 29:4

ULT

⁶ And you shall set the turban on his head and put the crown of holiness on the turban.

the crown of...holiness (ULT)

This crown is described in Exodus 28:36 as being engraved with the words “Holy to Yahweh” and made of pure gold. There it is referred to by a different Hebrew word, translated “rosette.” (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 29:7

And you shall fill the hand of Aaron and the hand of his sons (ULT)

Interpretations of this phrase vary. Some take it to mean that the actions previous to this statement describe the consecrating of Aaron and his sons as priests. And at this point they are ordained. Others suggest this phrase may introduce the following material as the consecration process. However, because there are several statements regarding this consecration (literally filling the hand) throughout the chapter (see verses 29, 33, and 35), it may also merely be a summary and reminder statement of the purpose of the entire process as the instructions transition from dressing the priests to the sacrificial portion of the ritual. It would probably be best to translate this in the way a mid-text summary reminder phrase would be spoken in your language, avoiding any indication that it refers only to the previous or following text.

ULT

⁹ And you shall wrap them—Aaron and his sons—with the sash and bind headbands to them. And the priesthood will be to them as a statute forever. And you shall fill the hand of Aaron and the hand of his sons.

Exodus 29:10

Here, face refers to the front of the tent. See UST. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

10 And you shall bring the bull to the face of the tent of meeting, and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the head of the bull.

and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the head of the bull (ULT)

The slaughter of the bull in the next verse occurs while they continue to have their hands on the bull's head. Take care to arrange the phrases and to use words or forms that indicate that the two events happened at the same time. (See: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship)

ULT

¹⁵ And you shall take one ram, and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the head of the ram,

and cause all of the ram to become smoke

“and burn all of the ram to make smoke”

It is a burnt offering to Yahweh. It is an appeasing, aromatic, fire offering to Yahweh
(ULT)

These phrases are in parallel with the second expanding and clarifying the first. In some languages, you may need to use a different structure to expand and clarify the burnt offering. Alternate translation: “It is a pleasing smelling burnt offering made by fire to Yahweh” (See: Parallelism)

ULT

¹⁸ and cause all of the ram to become smoke on the altar. It is a burnt offering to Yahweh. It is an appeasing, aromatic, fire offering to Yahweh.

Exodus 29:19

the second (ULT)

Except for the second, this verse is identical to verse 15.

ULT

19 And you shall take the second ram, and Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the head of the ram,

Exodus 29:20

and you shall slaughter the ram (ULT)

They killed the ram by cutting its throat. This can be stated clearly in the translation. Alternate translation: "Then kill the ram by cutting its throat" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²⁰ and you shall slaughter the ram and take some of its blood. And you shall put it on the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and on the tip of the right ear of his sons, and on the thumb of their right hand, and on the great toe of their right foot. And you shall sprinkle the blood all around on the altar.

Exodus 29:21

And you shall take some of the blood that is on the altar and some of the oil of anointing, and sprinkle it (ULT)

Moses would mix the blood and oil. You may need to make this explicit. Alternate translation: “And you shall take some of the blood that is on the altar and mix it with some of the oil of anointing and sprinkle it” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

²¹ And you shall take some of the blood that is on the altar and some of the oil of anointing, and sprinkle it on Aaron, and on his garments, and on his sons, and on the garments of his sons along with him. And he will be set apart, and his garments, and his sons, and the garments of his sons along with him.

Exodus 29:23

and one round loaf of bread, and one cake of bread of oil, and one wafer from the basket of unleavened bread that is before the face of Yahweh (ULT)

All of these items were in the basket mentioned in verse 2, not just the wafer. Be sure this is clear in your translation. Alternate translation: “and from the basket of bread without yeast that is before the face of Yahweh: one round loaf of bread, and one cake of bread of oil, and one wafer”

ULT

²³ and one round loaf of bread, and one cake of bread of oil, and one wafer from the basket of unleavened bread that is before the face of Yahweh.

and one round loaf of bread, and one cake of bread of oil, and one wafer from the basket of unleavened bread (ULT)

This means the cake made with oil in the dough. Alternate translation: “and one cake of bread made with oil” (See: Possession) that is before the face of Yahweh (ULT)

This means in the presence of Yahweh. Alternate translation: “that you have placed before Yahweh” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 29:24

all these (ULT)

Here, all these refers to the parts of the sacrifice mentioned in the previous verses. (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them) and you shall raise (ULT)

While the text reads, you shall raise, logically, it is Aaron and his sons who will raise the offerings at this point. It may be clearer to your readers to change the person here. Alternate translation: “and they shall raise” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

24 And you shall put all these on the palms of Aaron and on the palms of his sons and you shall raise them as a raised offering before the face of Yahweh.

and you shall raise them as a raised offering before the face of Yahweh (ULT)

The act of raising the meat and bread symbolized dedicating it to Yahweh. The priests would be acting out handing the offering to him. You may need to make this clear in your language. Alternate translation: “and they shall show that they are giving them to me by holding them up to me” (See: Symbolic Action)

before the face of Yahweh (ULT)

This means in the presence of Yahweh. Alternate translation: “before Yahweh” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

27 And from the ram of consecration which is for Aaron and which is for his sons you shall set apart the breast of the raised offering that was raised and the thigh of the contribution that was contributed.

Exodus 29:28

And it shall belong to Aaron and to his sons—as an eternal requirement—for it is an offering from the sons of Israel (ULT)

“This offering is what Aaron and his sons will always receive from the people”

for it is an offering from the sons of Israel.
And it shall be an offering from the sons of Israel from the sacrifices of their peace offerings, their offerings to Yahweh
(ULT)

The amount of repetition in this verse may make it difficult to translate smoothly. You may consider combining some of them if that would work better in your language. Alternate translation: “for the Israelites must offer this portion from what they bring to Yahweh as peace offerings to them”

ULT

²⁸ And it shall belong to Aaron and to his sons—as an eternal requirement—for it is an offering from the sons of Israel. And it shall be an offering from the sons of Israel from the sacrifices of their peace offerings, their offerings to Yahweh.

Exodus 29:29

This refers to the second ram, the one described in verses 19 and following.

in a holy place (ULT)

This is not the same as the holy place outside of the most holy place. This probably refers to a place within the courtyard. However, exactly where it is is not otherwise specified. Alternate translation: “at the entrance to the tent of meeting” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

³¹ And you shall take the ram of consecration and boil its meat in a holy place.

ULT

³⁴ And if any meat of the consecration or any of the bread remains until the morning, then you shall burn the remainder with fire. It shall not be eaten because it is set apart.

Exodus 29:36

General Information:

This verse and the next explain the purpose of the sacrifice detailed in verses 10-14.

And you shall offer a bull of purification for atonement daily and you shall purify the altar by making atonement for it (ULT)

The phrase and you shall purify the altar by making atonement for it describes the purpose of offering the bull. You may want to use a stronger connector, or in languages that need to put purpose first you may need to re-order the clauses. Alternate translation: “And you shall offer a bull of purification for atonement daily, thus you shall purify the altar, by making atonement for it.” or “You shall purify the altar by making atonement for it: you shall offer a bull of purification daily for its atonement.” (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

Exodus 29:40

"1/10 of ...1/4 of ...1/4 of" (See: Fractions)

a tenth of fine flour (ULT)

Many commentators suggest that this means one tenth of an "ephah" even though "ephah" is not written. If your translation style retains the original measurement words, you may need to insert the word you are using for "ephah" here. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

a tenth of fine flour...the fourth part of a hin...the fourth part of a hin of (ULT)

The values given in the UST are approximations, the exact size of an ephah and hin is not precisely known. An ephah (the implied measurement) may have been around 22 liters, so this is about 2.2 liters of flour. A hin may have been around 3.7 liters, so this is about one liter of both oil and wine. (See: Biblical Volume)

Structure:

- v. 1-10: Incense altar
 - v. 1-6: Instructions for making the incense altar
 - v. 7-10: Use of the incense altar
- v. 11-16: Ransom money for taking a census
- v. 17-21: Instructions for a washbasin
- v. 22-30: Anointing oil
 - v. 22-25: Instructions for making the oil
 - v. 26-33: Instructions for using the oil v- 34-38: Making and using sacred incense

You may want to refer back to several other passages regarding making rings for carrying poles when translating this verse. See Exo 25:12, Exo 25:26, Exo 25:27, & Exo 27:4.

housings (ULT)

Here, housings means that the rings will hold the poles. Since they are where the poles belong for use, they are figuratively their house. If you have a similar idiom meaning “place of belonging” you may use it or you may translate the idea. Alternate translation: “to be a place for” (See: Idiom)

Exodus 30:9

shall not offer up strange incense or a burnt offering or a grain offering on it...you (ULT)

Later, in verses 34 and following, God describes how to make the one sort of incense that he wants burnt on this altar. Alternate translation: "You shall only offer up the kind of incense I tell you. You shall not make burnt or grain offerings on it."

There were evidently shekels of more than one weight at the time. This specified which one was to be used.

ULT

¹³ Every passer over to the counted ones shall give this: half of a shekel, according to the shekel of the sanctuary (the shekel is 20 gerahs). The half shekel is an offering to Yahweh.

Exodus 30:14

Every passer over to the counted ones (ULT)

This is an idiom that suggests that the men were counted by walking past someone who was counting people as they walked by. It is the same phrase as in the previous verse. Alternate translation: “Everyone counted” (See: Idiom)

ULT

14 Every passer over to the counted ones, from a son of 20 years and up, shall give the contribution of Yahweh.

from a son of 20 years (ULT)

This is an idiom that refers to age. See UST and how you translated the same idiom in Exo 7:7. (See: Idiom) from a son of 20 years and up (ULT)

Larger numbers are spoken of as being up or above smaller numbers. Alternate translation: “from twenty years old and more” or “who is twenty years old or older” (See: Metaphor)

See how you translated this in Exodus 3:13. (See: Biblical Money)

your lives (ULT)

The plural form of you is used here. In many cases, since Yahweh is speaking to Moses about the people that will be counted, it may make more sense to change to the third person. However, Moses would be counted as well and would have to pay the ransom, so a form of you that could include Moses and all the other Israelite men would also be an appropriate translation. Alternate translation: “for their lives” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

15 The rich shall not increase and the poor shall not decrease from the half shekel for giving the contribution of Yahweh to cover over your lives.

Exodus 30:16

to...And it shall be as a reminder for the sons of Israel before the face of Yahweh, to cover... your lives (ULT)

This sentence is very unclear. It is not clear who is being reminded of what. This could mean: (1) It will remind Yahweh that the Israelites have given money for their lives. Therefore he should welcome them. (2) It will remind the Israelites that they have given Yahweh money for their lives. Therefore he will welcome them.

ULT

¹⁶ And you shall take the silver of ransoms from the sons of Israel and you shall give it to the work of the tent of meeting. And it shall be as a reminder for the sons of Israel before the face of Yahweh, to cover over your lives."

This is a person who is skilled in mixing spices and oils. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

25 And you shall make it into an oil of anointment of holiness, an ointment from an ointment mixture, the work of an ointment mixer. It shall be an oil of anointment of holiness.

Exodus 30:26

and...with its formula (ULT)

“and ... with the same ingredients” or “and ... with the same items” or “and ... according to this recipe”

It is holy, it shall be holy to you (ULT)

The second half of this statement (it shall be holy to you) explains to the people the result of this oil being holy, which is, they must respect it as a holy thing. It may make more sense in some languages to move this whole statement to the beginning of the verse because the rule about pouring on someone’s body is an application of the result. Alternate translation (placed at the beginning of the verse): “Because it is sacred, you must treat it like it is sacred, therefore” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 30:33

The metaphor cut off has at least three possible meanings. The following alternate translations express those: (1) "that person must be sent away" or (2) "that person will no longer be considered to be one of the people of Israel" or (3) "that person must be killed" See how you translated cut off in Exodus 12:15. (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 30:34

General Information:

Yahweh continues to tell Moses what to do. Yahweh gives the commands only to Moses: all instances of you are singular. However, the words “blended by a perfumer” might mean that Moses could have the perfumer take the spices, blend them, grind them, and give them to Moses so Moses could put part of the mixture in front of the ark, as in UST.

ULT

³⁴ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Take to yourself spices—stacte, and onycha, and galbanum—spices and pure frankincense. They shall each be in equal amounts.

stacte, and onycha, and galbanum...and pure frankincense (ULT)

Here is a brief description of these materials, though we really do not know exactly what they are. Stacte is a resin from certain gum plants. Onycha is from certain shellfish or mollusks. Galbanum is another kind of gum resin. (See: Translate Unknowns)

Exodus 30:35

And you shall make it into incense, an ointment, the work of an ointment mixer (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) Moses was to have a perfumer do the work or (2) Moses was to do the work himself the way a perfumer would do it. See how you translated these words in Exodus 30:25.

ULT

³⁵ And you shall make it into incense, an ointment, the work of an ointment mixer: salted, pure, holy.

Alternate translation: “in front of the testimony” (See: Metonymy)

the testimony (ULT)

Here, testimony probably refers to the sacred chest that contained the tablets of the law. See UST. (See: Metonymy)

to you (ULT)

Here you is plural and refers to Moses and all the people. (See: Forms of You)

ULT

ULT

³ And I have filled him with the spirit of God, with skill, and with understanding, and with knowledge, and with all kinds of craftsmanship,

Exodus 31:12

ULT

12 And Yahweh said to Moses saying,

Exodus 31:13

saying (ULT)

A second-level direct quotation starts after saying. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. There are multiple possible endings for this quotation, which will be addressed in later verses. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

13 “And you, speak to the sons of Israel saying: ‘Surely you shall keep my Sabbaths, for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations so that you may know that I am Yahweh who sets you apart.’”

Surely you shall keep my Sabbaths (ULT)

God speaks of obeying his instructions about the Sabbath as keeping the Sabbath. Alternate translation: “You must certainly obey Yahweh’s instructions about the Sabbath” (See: Metonymy) throughout your generations (ULT)

“through all the generations of your descendants.” See how you translated this in Exodus 12:14.

Exodus 31:14

to you (ULT)

One possible ending place for the second-level quotation that began in the previous verse is after to you. The rest of Yahweh's instructions to Moses in this section do not use the second person to address Israel directly, so you may close the second-level quotation here. (See: Quote Markings)

ULT

14 And you shall keep the Sabbath, for it is holy to you.' The profaner of it shall surely be put to death, for every worker of work on it—that person—shall be cut off from his people.

shall surely be put to death (ULT)

shall surely be put to death (ULT)

Here, shall surely be put to death, can be stated in active form. Alternate translation: “you must surely kill” or “you must surely execute” (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

15 Work shall be done six days, but the seventh day is a Sabbath of Sabbath, holy to Yahweh. Every worker of work on the Sabbath day shall surely be put to death.

Exodus 31:16

And the sons of Israel shall keep the Sabbath (ULT)

Exodus 32

Exodus 32 General Notes

Structure and formatting

The events in verses 1-6 of this chapter occur while Moses spoke with God and therefore happen some time during the events recorded between Exodus 24:15 and Exodus 31. (See: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship)

- v. 1-6: The people ask Aaron to make them a god and he makes the golden calf
- v. 7-29 - Yahweh and Moses' reaction
 - v. 11-14 - Moses intercedes for the people
- v. 30-34 - Moses intercedes for the people

Some translations set each line of poetry farther to the right than the rest of the text to make it easier to read. The ULT does this with the poetry in 32:18.

Special concepts in this chapter

Idolatry

The making of the golden calf was considered a form of idolatry. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 32:1

the people saw

This chapter begins with a major scene shift, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

And the people saw (ULT)

Here understanding something is spoken of as if it were being seen. Alternate translation: “And the people realized” (See: Metaphor) and the people gathered themselves (ULT)

This means the people were not summoned by Aaron, they decided to come gather themselves. (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

Arise (ULT)

Arise strengthens the force of the command following it. The people were demanding that Aaron make an idol for them. It did not necessarily mean to literally stand up. (See: Idiom) shall go before our faces (ULT)

Here, gods that shall go before our faces means that the Israelites want idols to lead them. Alternate translation: “shall lead us” or “shall be our leader” (See: Metonymy)

for this Moses (ULT)

People showed disrespect by putting the word this before his name, as if Moses were someone they did not know and could not trust. They were creating distance between him and themselves socially. When translating, use a form in your language that communicates the same sense of disassociation between people.

ULT

¹ And the people saw that Moses delayed in coming down from the mountain, and the people gathered themselves around Aaron and said to him, “Arise, make gods for us that shall go before our faces, for this Moses, the man who brought us up from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.”

Exodus 32:2

and bring them (ULT)

The word them refers to the golden rings. (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

ULT

² And Aaron said to them, “Tear off the rings of gold that are on the ears of your wives, your sons and your daughters, and bring them to me.”

Exodus 32:3

all the people (ULT)

This refers to all the people who rejected Moses as their leader and Yahweh as their God. Later parts of the text reveal that there were people still faithful to Moses and Yahweh, and a great deal more gold. Alternate translation: “many people” (See: Hyperbole)

ULT

³ And all the people tore the rings of gold off themselves that were on their ears and brought them to Aaron.

Exodus 32:4

and fashioned it with a tool and he made a calf of molten metal (ULT)

Most likely this means that Aaron melted the gold and poured it into a mold that had the shape of a calf. When the gold became hard, he removed the mold, and the hardened gold had the shape of a calf. (See: Translate Unknowns)

ULT

⁴ And he took it from their hand and fashioned it with a tool and he made a calf of molten metal. And they said, "These are your gods, Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt."

And they said (ULT)

It is not clear who they is who spoke. Alternate translation: "And someone said" (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

gods...brought you up (ULT)

Because the speaker of this sentence is unknown and mentioned in the plural, it is possible that it is the people speaking. In that case, it would be possible for a translation to use the first person rather than second person here. Alternate translation: "our gods ... brought us up" (See: First, Second or Third Person)

These are your gods (ULT)

In the text, there only appears to be one "god" (the golden calf idol) presented to Israel. If it would be clearer to your audience, you may consider translating these ... gods as singular. Alternate translation: "this is your god"

Exodus 32:5

And Aaron saw (ULT)

You may need to make explicit what he saw. “When Aaron saw what the people did” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

before the face of it (ULT)

Here, before its face means in front of. Alternate translation: “in front of it” (See: Metonymy)

before the face of it (ULT)

Here, it is the golden bull-calf. Alternate translation: “in front of the bull-calf idol” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

⁵ And Aaron saw, and he built an altar before the face of it and Aaron proclaimed and said, “Tomorrow will be a festival to Yahweh.”

Exodus 32:6

to play (ULT)

This word may imply drunken and sexual sin (for a sexual implication see Genesis 26:8). However, the only actions mentioned in the text are singing (v. 18) and dancing (v. 19) so translators should avoid using a term that is overly suggestive. Alternate translation: “to revel” (See: Euphemism)

ULT

⁶ And they arose early the next day and offered burnt offerings and brought peace offerings. And the people sat down to eat and to drink, and got up to play.

Exodus 32:7

to carouse in wild celebration

There is a scene shift back to the top of the mountain with Moses and Yahweh here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event) have corrupted themselves (ULT)

Here, the reflexive themselves is used to translate the fact that the Israelites actions made the Israelites corrupt. Alternate translation: “have acted corruptly” (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

ULT

⁷ And Yahweh spoke to Moses, “Go! Descend! For your people, whom you brought up from the land of Egypt, have corrupted themselves.”

Exodus 32:8

They have quickly turned from the way that I commanded them (ULT)

Here God speaks of the people disobeying what he commanded them as if he had told them to walk on a certain road and they left that road. Alternate translation: “They have quickly stopped doing what I commanded them to do” or “They have quickly stopped obeying what I commanded them to do” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

⁸ They have quickly turned from the way that I commanded them. They have made a calf of molten metal for themselves and have bowed before it and sacrificed to it. And they have said, ‘These are your gods, Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt.’”

These are your gods, Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt (ULT)

This is a second-level direct quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this by marking it with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quote Markings)

These are your gods, Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt (ULT)

You may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: “that these are your gods, Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

These are your gods (ULT)

In the text, there only appears to be one “god” (the golden calf idol) presented to Israel. If it would be clearer to your audience, you may consider translating these ... gods as singular. See how you translated this in verse 4. Alternate translation: “this is your god” your gods...brought you up (ULT)

Because the speaker of this sentence is unknown and mentioned in the plural, it is possible that it is the people speaking. In that case, it would be possible for a translation to use the first person rather than second person here. See how you translated this in verse 4. Alternate translation: “our gods ... brought us up” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

Exodus 32:9

people...is a...hard of neck (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of the people being rebellious as if they had hard necks. The image comes from an animal that does not want to go the way his master is trying to direct him (not going in the way God commanded). Alternate translation: "is a rebellious people" (See: Metaphor)

ULT

⁹ And Yahweh said to Moses, "I have seen this people and behold! it is a people hard of neck.

this...it (ULT)

People is a collective noun so the pronouns referring to the people are singular. You may use plural pronouns if that is the normal usage in your language. Alternate translation: "these ... they" (See: Collective Nouns)

Exodus 32:10

So now (ULT)

So now is used here to mark that Yahweh's next statements are a result of what he has said in the previous verses. Alternate translation: "Therefore" (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

10 So now, leave me alone! And let my nose burn against them, and I will destroy them. And I will make you into a great nation."

And let my nose burn against them (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning that Yahweh is angry. Alternate translation: "And let me be angry with them" (See: Idiom)

you (ULT)

The word you refers to Moses. (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

Exodus 32:11

Yahweh, why does your nose burn against your people whom you have brought out from the land of Egypt with great power and with a strong hand (ULT)

Moses used this question to try to persuade Yahweh not to be so angry with his people. This rhetorical question can be translated as a statement. Alternate translation: "Yahweh, do not let your nose burn against your people whom you have brought out from the land of Egypt with great power and with a strong hand." (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

¹¹ But Moses entreated the face of Yahweh his God. And he said, "Yahweh, why does your nose burn against your people whom you have brought out from the land of Egypt with great power and with a strong hand?"

does your nose burn against your people (ULT)

This is an idiom meaning that Yahweh is angry. Alternate translation: "are you angry with your people" (See: Idiom) with great power and with a strong hand (ULT)

These two phrases share similar meanings and are combined for emphasis. If doubling in this way would not convey emphasis in your language, you will need to find a way to translate it that does give emphasis. Alternate translation: "using your very strong power" (See: Doublet) and with a strong hand (ULT)

Here, hand represents God's actions or works. See how you translated this in Exodus 6:1. Alternate translation: "and with powerful works" (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 32:12

Why should the Egyptians say, saying, ‘He brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to destroy them from on the face of the ground (ULT)

Moses used this question to try to persuade God not to destroy his people. This rhetorical question can be translated with a statement. Alternate translation: If you destroy your people, the Egyptians might say, ‘He brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to destroy them from on the face of the earth.’ (See: Rhetorical Question)

ULT

¹² Why should the Egyptians say, saying, ‘He brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to destroy them from on the face of the ground’? Turn from your burning nose and repent from the evil to your people.

should the Egyptians say, saying, ‘He brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to destroy them from on the face of the ground (ULT)

After saying, this is a second-level quote. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. However, you may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage. Alternative translation: “the Egyptians say that you brought them out with evil intent, to kill them in the mountains and to destroy them from on the face of the earth” (See: Quotes within Quotes) from on the face of the ground (ULT)

Here, face means “surface.” Alternate translation: “from the surface of the earth” or “from the earth” (See: Metonymy)

Turn from your burning nose (ULT)

“Stop your burning anger” or “Stop being so angry”

Turn from your burning nose and repent from the evil to your people (ULT)

Here, Yahweh’s anger (burning nose) and plan to punish the people are spoken of as things that he could turn away from and repent of (repentance also means to turn from). This imagery may not translate into your language and you may need to use a different expression. Alternate translation: “Calm down and please do not stay determined to do evil to your people” (See: Idiom) from your burning nose (ULT)

This is an idiom that means anger. Alternate translation: “your terrible anger” (See: Idiom)

Exodus 32:13

Remember (ULT)

“Think about”

you swore (ULT)

“you made an oath”

and I will give to your descendants all this land of which I have spoken (ULT)

That is, the land of Canaan.

ULT

13 Remember Abraham and Isaac and Israel, your servants that you swore to them by yourself and spoke to them, ‘I will cause your descendants to increase as the stars of the heavens, and I will give to your descendants all this land of which I have spoken. And they will inherit it forever.’”

Exodus 32:14

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

¹⁴ Then Yahweh repented from the evil that he had spoken to do to his people.

Exodus 32:15

The tablets were written on both their sides, on this {side} and on that {side} they were written (ULT)

If it would be clearer in your language, you could say this with an active form. Alternate translation: "Yahweh had written on both the sides of the tablets, on this side and on that side he had written."
(See: Active or Passive)

ULT

¹⁵ And Moses turned and went down from the mountain, and the two tablets of the testimony {were} in his hand. The tablets were written on both their sides, on this {side} and on that {side} they were written.

Exodus 32:16

And the tablets, they {were} the work of God.
And the writing, it {was} the writing of God
(ULT)

These two sentences have an unusual structure that places emphasis on tablets and writing. If your language would emphasize these topics in a different way than moving them to the front of the sentence follow your language's natural usage for emphasis. Alternate translation: "And the tablets themselves were the work of God. And the writing itself was the writing of God" (See: Information Structure)

ULT

¹⁶ And the tablets, they {were} the work of God. And the writing, it {was} the writing of God, {it} was engraved on the tablets.

Exodus 32:17

Joshua (ULT)

Joshua was last mentioned in Exodus 24:13. The text does not say if he was on top of the mountain with Moses or if he waited for him part way up. Consider if your language will need to re-introduce Joshua in any way here. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

17 And Joshua heard the noise of the people in its shouting, and he said to Moses, “{There is} the noise of war in the camp.”

Exodus 32:18

There is not the sound of singing of strength, and there is not the sound of singing of weakness, the sound of singing I am hearing
(ULT)

These lines are widely considered to be poetic. It is not clear why a poetic form is used here. In some languages it may not be appropriate to convey this response in poetic form, in which case another form may be used. (See: Poetry)

ULT

¹⁸ But Moses said, "There is not the sound of singing of strength, and there is not the sound of singing of weakness, the sound of singing I am hearing."

There is not the sound of singing of strength, and there is not the sound of singing of weakness, the sound of singing I am hearing (ULT)

The poetic form here is parallelism in the repetition of sound of singing. If it would be unclear to say that Moses heard the sound of singing in the third line after saying he didn't hear the sound of singing twice before, something more like the UST may be followed that is more contrastive. (See: Parallelism)

the sound of singing I am hearing (ULT)

If it is unclear to say that Moses hears the sound of singing after twice saying he didn't hear that, you may want to make the type of singing explicit. Consider referring to your translation of the last word of verse 6 (to play in the ULT). Alternate translation: "the sound of playful singing I hear" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 32:19

And the nose of...burned (ULT)

This is an idiom for being angry. Alternate translation: "And Moses was very angry" (See: Idiom)

under (ULT)

"at the bottom of"

ULT

19 And it happened as he approached to the camp and he saw the calf and dancing. And the nose of Moses burned. And he threw the tablets from his hands and shattered them under the mountain.

Exodus 32:20

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

²⁰ And he took the calf that they had made, and burned {it} in the fire, and ground {it} until it was fine, and scattered {it} on the face of the water, and caused the sons of Israel to drink {it}.

Exodus 32:21

And Moses said to Aaron, “What did this people do to you, that you have brought a great sin on them (ULT)”

Moses' question is a second-level quote. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. However, you may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage.. Alternate translation: “Then Moses asked Aaron what the people did to him, that he had brought such a great sin on them” (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

²¹ And Moses said to Aaron, “What did this people do to you, that you have brought a great sin on them?”

that you have brought a great sin on them (ULT)

Moses spoke of causing people to sin as if sin were an object and Aaron put it on them. Alternate translation: “that you have caused them to sin greatly” (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 32:22

Do not let {your} nose burn (ULT)

This is an idiom for anger. Alternate translation: “Do not be angry” (See: Idiom) that it {is/was} in evil (ULT)

This is probably an idiom meaning one of two things: 1) that the people are prone to evil, 2) that the people were in trouble (that is, they felt troubled because of not having contact with God). Alternate translation: “that they are set on evil” (See: Idiom)

it {is/was} (ULT)

Here, it is used because people is grammatically singular in Hebrew. Alternate translation: “they are” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

ULT

²² And Aaron said, “Do not let {your} nose burn, my lord. You know the people, that it {is/was} in evil.”

Exodus 32:23

Make for us a god that will go before our faces. As for this Moses, the man that brought us up from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him (ULT)

This is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

²³ And they said to me, 'Make for us a god that will go before our faces. As for this Moses, the man that brought us up from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.'

this Moses, the man (ULT)

People showed disrespect by putting the word this before his name, as if Moses were someone they did not know and could not trust. They were creating distance between him and themselves socially. When translating, use a form in your language that communicates the same sense of disassociation between people. See how you translated this in verse 1.

Exodus 32:24

And I said to them, 'Whoever has gold, take it off yourself (ULT)

Whoever has gold, take it off yourself is a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation.

However, this can be stated as an indirect quote. Alternate translation: "So I told them that whoever had any gold should take it off" (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

²⁴ And I said to them, 'Whoever has gold, take it off yourself.' And they gave {it} to me and I threw it in the fire and this calf came out."

take it off yourself (ULT)

He instructs people to take their own gold off. Alternate translation: "you take off your own" (See: Reflexive Pronouns) and I threw it in the fire and this calf came out (ULT)

Aaron claims an unusual sequence of events here. The translation should surprise an audience unfamiliar with the story. He states that the result of simply throwing gold in the fire is the appearance (by its own power or volition it seems) of the calf. This is a lie. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 32:25

was let loose (ULT)

“were behaving wildly” or “were not controlling themselves” that it was let loose, for Aaron had let it loose (ULT)

Here, the pronoun it agrees with the grammatical number of people (singular). Alternate translation: “that they were let loose, for Aaron had let them loose” (See: Collective Nouns)

ULT

²⁵ And Moses saw the people, that it was let loose, for Aaron had let it loose, to mockery by the risers-up against them.

Exodus 32:26

and said, “Who {is} for Yahweh...me...to (ULT)

You can state this as an indirect quote. Alternate translation: “and said that whoever was for Yahweh should come to him” (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

Who {is} for Yahweh (ULT)

Moses speaks of being loyal to Yahweh as being for Yahweh. Alternate translation: “Whoever serves Yahweh” (See: Idiom)

ULT

²⁶ And Moses stood in the gate of the camp and said, “Who {is} for Yahweh, to me!” And all of the sons of Levi gathered themselves to him.

Exodus 32:27

go back and forth from entrance to entrance

“go from side of the camp to the other, starting at one entrance to the camp and going to the entrance on the other side of the camp”

ULT

27 And he said to them, “Thus says Yahweh, the God of Israel: ‘Each man put his sword on his side. Pass through and return from gate to gate in the camp, and kill each his brother, and each his companion, and each his neighbor.’”

Exodus 32:28

about 3,000 (ULT)

“about three thousand” (See: Numbers)

ULT

²⁸ And the sons of Levi did according to the word of Moses. And on that day about 3,000 men from the people fell.

Exodus 32:29

Fill your hand (ULT)

This seems to be an idiom for giving authority to someone. See how you translated this in Exodus 28:41. However, this usage is different from that text as here it is not specified what authority they are given or what they are consecrated for other than for Yahweh. Alternate translation: “Consecrate yourselves” (See: Idiom)

ULT

29 And Moses said, “Fill your hand for Yahweh today! For a man {was} against his son and against his brother and to give a blessing over you today.”

Fill your hand for Yahweh today (ULT)

Here it is unclear if fill should be rightly understood in the past or as a command. You may want to follow the decision of another translation your people are familiar with. Alternate translation: “You have filled your hand for Yahweh today”

For a man {was} against his son and against his brother (ULT)

The fact that they did this in obedience to God can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: “for you have obeyed Yahweh and killed your sons and your brothers” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) and to give a blessing over you today (ULT)

This phrase is difficult to interpret. Several options depend on exactly how the conjunction, preposition, and verb combination are interpreted. The first difficulty is related to the difficulty with the previous verb, have they already been blessed or are they going to be blessed? (Alternate translation: “and to have given a blessing over you today”) The second is, should the clause connections be understood to say that the blessing is because of their actions, or more strongly, that a desire for blessing motivated them to take action? (Alternate translation: “and therefore to give a blessing over you today” or “so that a blessing may be given over you today”) The third is, while ultimately all blessing is from Yahweh, is Yahweh or the Levites the subject? (Alternate translation: “and to give a blessing over yourselves today” or “and so Yahweh gives a blessing over you today”) As with the previous clause, you may want to follow the decision of another translation your people are familiar with. Alternate translation: “by that you brought blessing on yourselves”

Exodus 32:30

have sinned a great sin (ULT)

Here, sin is repeated as a verb and then noun for emphasis. Along with great it suggests that the people sinned very very badly. If the repetition of words in this way would not create emphasis use another form in your language that does. Alternate translation: “you have sinned extremally badly” (See: Doublet)

ULT

30 And it happened the next day that Moses said to the people, “You have sinned a great sin. And now I will go up to Yahweh. Perhaps I can atone for your sin.”

have sinned a great sin (ULT)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for sin, you could express the idea behind it in another way. See UST. (See: Abstract Nouns)

Exodus 32:31

this people has sinned...sin (ULT)

Here, sin is repeated as a verb and then noun for emphasis. Along with great it suggests that the people sinned very very badly. If the repetition of words in this way would not create emphasis use another form in your language that does. Alternate translation: "this people has sinned extremally badly" (See: Doublet)

ULT

31 And Moses returned to Yahweh and said, "Oh, this people has sinned a great sin and made themselves gods of gold."

sin (ULT)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for sin, you could express the idea behind it in another way. See UST. (See: Abstract Nouns) gods of (ULT)

"a god"

Exodus 32:32

But now, if you forgive their sin (ULT)

Moses leaves out his conclusion, perhaps as a way of making this conditional phrase into a request, perhaps to avoid suggesting to God what would be good for him to do. However, if leaving out a conclusion would be misunderstood in your language you may need to rephrase it or add the implied conclusion. Alternate translation: “But now, if you forgive their sin, good!” (See: Ellipsis)

ULT

³² But now, if you forgive their sin; but if not, please blot me out of your book that you have written.”

blot me out of (ULT)

The word “me” here refers to the name of Moses. Alternate translation: “erase my name from the book” (See: Metonymy)

you have written (ULT)

What God had written in the book can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: “the book in which you have written the names of your people” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 32:33

I will blot him out from my book (ULT)

Here, “him” represents that person’s name. Alternate translation: “I will erase that person’s name from my book” (See: Metonymy)

from my book (ULT)

This refers to the book of Yahweh that Moses spoke of in Exodus 32:32.

ULT

33 But Yahweh said to Moses, “Whoever that sinned against me, I will blot him out from my book.”

Exodus 32:34

But on the day I visit them, then I will visit their sin on them (ULT)

Yahweh makes it clear that he will punish the people because they sinned by making and worshipping the idol. If it would be more clear in your language to place the reason first you may consider reordering the clauses. Alternate translation: "However, because they sinned, one day I will come to punish them." (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

³⁴ So now go, lead the people to where I have spoken to you! Behold, my angel will go before your face. But on the day I visit them, then I will visit their sin on them."

Exodus 32:35

they had made the calf (that Aaron made (ULT)

The first made here could mean 1) “do” which could imply worship 2) the people are being spoken of as having made the calf themselves (as well as Aaron) because they demanded it and gave their gold for it. Alternate translation: “they had worshiped the calf that Aaron made” or “they were guilty along with Aaron of making the calf” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

ULT

³⁵ And Yahweh plagued the people on account that they had made the calf (that Aaron made).

And Yahweh plagued the people on account that they had made the calf (that Aaron made (ULT)

If your language requires placing the reason before the result you may reorder these clauses. Alternate translation: “And on account that they had made the calf (that Aaron made), Yahweh plagued the people. (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 33

Exodus 33 General Notes

This chapter is largely about Moses continuing to negotiate for a closer relationship between Yahweh and himself and Yahweh and the people. There are a number of important theological issues addressed especially Yahweh's holiness and character. Several key terms appear.

Potential Translation Issues

Yahweh's statement to Moses in verse 5 seems to have happened before the people's reaction in verse 4, so in some languages you may need to reverse them.

Verses 7-11 seem to be background, general information about a somewhat unspecified time period. Be sure this is clear in how you structure these verses. See the beginning of verse 7 in the UST. While the term in verses 7-11 is often used interchangeably with the tabernacle that will be built in chapters 35-39, it is a temporary and different tent. One distinguishing feature is that it is well outside the camp while the tabernacle will be in the center of the tent.

The word tent in verses 7-11 refers either to this temporary "tent of meeting" that Moses set up, or to the tents that the Israelites lived in. Pay attention throughout these verses to which tent is referred to.

Exodus 33:1

saying, 'I will give it to your seed (ULT)

The words following saying are a second-level quotation. It may be helpful to your readers to indicate this with second-level quotation marks or with whatever other punctuation or convention your language uses to indicate a quotation within a quotation. However, you may want to translate this as an indirect quotation in order to reduce the layers of quotations in this passage. See UST. (See: Quotes within Quotes)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh spoke to Moses, "Go, arise from here, you and the people whom you have brought up from the land of Egypt to the land which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, 'I will give it to your seed.'"

Exodus 33:2

And I will send an angel before your face, and I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, Hivites, and the Jebusites (ULT)

See how you translated these in Exodus 23:20 and 23:23.

ULT

² And I will send an angel before your face, and I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, Hivites, and the Jebusites.

Exodus 33:3

with} milk and honey (ULT)

Here, milk is a metonym for domestic animals and the food products obtained from them; honey is a metonym for the food obtained from growing plants. See how you translated this in Exodus 3:8. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

³ {Go} to a land flowing {with} milk and honey, but I will not go up in your midst, because you {are} a people hard of neck, lest I destroy you on the way."

flowing {with} milk and honey (ULT)

God spoke of the land being good for animals and plants as if the milk and honey from those animals and plants were flowing through the land. See how you translated this in Exodus 3:8. (See: Metaphor)

hard of neck (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of the people being rebellious as if they had hard necks. See how you translated this in Exodus 32:9. (See: Metaphor)

Exodus 33:4

and each one did not put his ornaments on him (ULT)

Here, his and him refer to both men and women. Alternate translation: “and the men and women did not put on their ornaments” (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

ULT

⁴ And the people heard this evil word, and they mourned, and each one did not put his ornaments on him.

his ornaments (ULT)

This may have referred to beautiful clothing as well as chains and rings made from gold or silver that had could have had jewels in them. Alternate translation: “his adornments” (See: Translate Unknowns)

jewelry

Yahweh’s statement to Moses in verse 5 seems to have happened before the people’s reaction in verse 4, so in some languages you may need to reverse them. (See: Verse Bridges)

Exodus 33:5

And Yahweh {had} said (ULT)

The word had places Yahweh's statement back in time. It can be understood from context as it seems Yahweh's statement to Moses in verse 5 seems to have happened before the people's reaction in verse 4. If you are reversing the order of the verses for your language, you should omit it in your translation. (See: Connecting Words and Phrases)

ULT

⁵ And Yahweh {had} said to Moses, "Say to the sons of Israel, 'You are a people hard of neck. {If} I went up among you {for} one moment, then I {would} destroy you. And now, take your ornaments down from on you and I will know what I will do to you.'"

Say to the sons of Israel (ULT)

You may want to make the introductory portion of this quotation (Say to the sons of Israel) indirect to keep from having a quote inside a quote. See UST. (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

hard of neck (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of the people being rebellious as if they had hard necks. See how you translated this in Exodus 32:9. (See: Metaphor)

You are a people hard of neck. {If} I went up among you {for} one moment, then I {would} destroy you (ULT)

Because the Israelites are so obstinate (reason), Yahweh's reaction to being near them would be destruction (result). You may need to restructure this in your language if the order of reason and result is particular. Alternate translation: "If I went up among you for one moment, then I would destroy you because you are a people hard of neck." (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

If} I went up among you {for} one moment, then I {would} destroy you. And now (ULT)

Because the surrounding narrative clearly shows that this is not what Yahweh did or will do, this is a hypothetical situation. Some languages may need to reorder the clauses. Alternate translation: "Since I would destroy if I went up among you for one moment, then" (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

And now, take your ornaments down from on you and I will know what I will do to you (ULT)

The goal of the Israelites removing their ornaments is so that Yahweh can consider his reaction. Some languages may need to reorder this structure. Alternate translation: "So that I will know what I will do to you, take your ornaments down from on you" (See: Connect — Goal \(Purpose\) Relationship)

And now, take your ornaments down from on you (ULT)

This was a way for the Israelites to show that they were sorry for sinning. If this would not be understood you may need to make it explicit in the text or a footnote. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 33:6

And...stripped themselves (ULT)

Here, themselves refers to the Israelites, they are both the ones doing the action and the ones the action is done to. A special form of verb or pronoun may be required to translate this in your language. (See: Reflexive Pronouns)

ULT

⁶ And the sons of Israel stripped themselves {of} their ornaments from Mount Horeb.

from Mount Horeb (ULT)

Here, from means “from that point of time and continuing into the future.” Try to find a form in your language that means “from then on” for your translation. See UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 33:7

a stubborn people

Verses 7-11 seem to be background, general information about a somewhat unspecified time period. Be sure this is clear in how you structure these verses. See the beginning of verse 7 in the UST. (See: Connect — Background Information)

a tent (ULT)

The word tent in verses 7-11 refers either to this temporary “tent of meeting” that Moses set up, or to the tents that the Israelites lived in. Pay attention throughout these verses to which tent is referred to. Here it refers to the “tent of meeting.”

ULT

⁷ And Moses would take a tent and would pitch it on the outside of the camp, at a distance from the camp. And he called it the tent of meeting. And it happened, every seeker of Yahweh would go out to the tent of meeting that {was} on the outside of the camp.

Exodus 33:8

his tent (ULT)

This refers to the people's tents.

ULT

⁸ And it happened as Moses went out to the tent, all the people would stand up and each would be stationed {at} the entrance of his tent. And they stared behind Moses until he went in to the tent.

Exodus 33:9

the pillar of cloud (ULT)

The cloud had the shape of a pillar. See how you translated this in Exodus 13:22. Alternate translation: “the cloud shaped like a pillar” (See: Metaphor) would come down (ULT)

Where it came down from can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: “would come down from the sky” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

And he would speak (ULT)

Grammatically, the most likely referent for this pronoun is the pillar of cloud. By metonymy and based on verse 11 this probably refers to Yahweh. (See: Metonymy)

ULT

⁹ And it happened, as Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud would come down and stand {at} the entrance of the tent. And he would speak with Moses.

Exodus 33:10

And all of the people saw the pillar of cloud standing {at} the entrance of the tent, and all of the people would get up and bow down, each {at} the entrance of his tent (ULT)

This verse uses contrastive parallelism. The presence of Yahweh is represented in the cloud that stands at the entrance of the tent while the people prostrate themselves at the entrance to their tents. It would be good to try to retain the contrasting image in your translation if possible. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

¹⁰ And all of the people saw the pillar of cloud standing {at} the entrance of the tent, and all of the people would get up and bow down, each {at} the entrance of his tent.

his tent (ULT)

This refers to the people's tents.

Exodus 33:11

face to face (ULT)

Speaking directly rather than through dreams and visions, is spoken of as if Moses and God saw each other's faces while they spoke.

Alternate translation: "Yahweh would speak directly to Moses" (See: Metaphor) as a man speaks to his friend (ULT)

The metaphor of speaking face to face is explained by the simile here. How you handled face to face in your language may determine how you should handle this explanatory simile. (See: Simile)

but his servant Joshua son of Nun, a young man (ULT)

Joshua has been introduced before but not mentioned since Exodus 32:17. Different languages may need to re-introduce him in different ways. (See: Introduction of New and Old Participants)

ULT

11 And Yahweh would speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. Then Moses would return to the camp, but his servant Joshua son of Nun, a young man, would not withdraw from the midst of the tent.

Exodus 33:12

See

A new scene begins here, which may need to be marked in a certain way in your language. (See: Introduction of a New Event)

See

You may want to make these two second-level quotations indirect to reduce the levels of quotation. See UST. (See: Direct and Indirect Quotations)

ULT

12 And Moses said to Yahweh, “See, you {have been} saying to me, ‘Take this people up,’ but you have not caused me to know whom you will send with me. And you have said, ‘I know you by name, and you have also found favor in my eyes.’”

See (ULT)

This is an interjection to get someone’s attention. Alternate translation: “Look!” or “Listen!” or “Pay attention to what I am about to tell you”

I know you by name (ULT)

To know someone by name is to know them well. Alternate translation: “I know you well” (See: Idiom)

and you have also found favor in my eyes (ULT)

You could state this in an active manner if your language would not use passive in this way. Alternate translation: “and my eyes find you favorable” (See: Active or Passive)

you have...found favor in my eyes (ULT)

Here, found favor is an idiom that means be approved of or that God is pleased with Moses. Alternate translation: “You please my eyes” (See: Idiom)

and you have also found favor in my eyes (ULT)

Here, eyes are a metonym for sight. Alternate translation: “and you have also found favor in my sight” (See: Metonymy)

and you have also found favor in my eyes (ULT)

Here, sight (by metonymy from eyes) is a metaphor representing God’s evaluation. Alternate translation: “and you have also found favor in my evaluation” (See: Metaphor)

and you have also found favor in my eyes (ULT)

Here, favor is an abstract noun that you could express in another way if necessary in your language. Alternate translation: “and you have also been found favorable in my eyes” (See: Abstract Nouns)

Exodus 33:13

I have found favor in your eyes...I can find favor in your eyes (ULT)

Here, found favor is an idiom that means that God is pleased with Moses. You may also need to make the phrase active in form and change the abstract noun favor into another form. Finally, eyes are a metonym for sight, and sight is a metaphor representing his evaluation. See how you dealt with the multiple issues in the phrase you have found favor in my eyes in Exodus 33:12.

ULT

¹³ And now please if I have found favor in your eyes, please cause me to know your ways and I will know you so that I can find favor in your eyes. And see that this nation is your people."

please cause me to know your ways (ULT)

Here, ways is a metaphor either for Yahweh's plans or for the holy life he requires. Alternate translation: (1) "please cause me to know what you are going to do in the future" (2) "please cause me to know how people can do what pleases you" (See: Metaphor)

I can find favor in your eyes (ULT)

This instance of the phrase find favor in your eyes means in the future. Consider how to translate it in your language to convey an on-going situation. Alternate translation: "I can always find favor in your eyes"

Exodus 33:14

My face will go (ULT)

Yahweh's face represents his presence which represents himself.
Alternate translation: "I will go" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

14 And he said, "My face will go and I will cause rest for you."

My face will go and I will cause rest for you (ULT)

The preposition connected to you here has a very flexible meaning and seems to be connected to both will go and will cause rest. If this would be unclear, consider repeating it in both clauses. Alternate translation: "My face will go with you and I will cause rest for you" (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

for you (ULT)

The word you here refers to Moses. It is singular. (See: Forms of You)

Exodus 33:15

If your face {is} not going (ULT)

If your face is not going is a hypothetical situation in which Moses makes a request that they not go anywhere without Yahweh. In some languages you may need to place the request first. Alternate translation: “Do not take us up from here if your face is not going” (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

ULT

15 And he said to him, “If your face {is} not going, do not take us up from here.”

If your face {is} not going (ULT)

Yahweh’s face represents his presence which represents himself. Alternate translation: “If you are not going” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 33:16

And in what then will it be known that I have found favor in your eyes, I and your people? {Is it} not in your going with us? And I and your people shall be distinct from all of the people that {are} on the face of the earth (ULT)

ULT

¹⁶ And in what then will it be known that I have found favor in your eyes, I and your people? {Is it} not in your going with us? And I and your people shall be distinct from all of the people that {are} on the face of the earth."

This verse contains two or three rhetorical questions and the length of the second is debated. The first rhetorical question, And in what then will it be known that I have found favor in your eyes, I and your people? is used for emphasis and means, "There is only one way people will know that I and your people please you." The second, Is it not in your going with us? is used to answer the question and means "That way is your going with us." It is possible that the rest of the verse is (1) a statement further clarifying of how Yahweh's favor is demonstrated (ULT, UST), (2) an extension of the second rhetorical question ("Is it not in your going with us so that I and your people shall be distinct from all of the people that are on the face of the earth?"), or (3) a separate rhetorical question making the same point ("And shall I and your people be distinct from all of the people that are on the face of the earth?") Moses used these questions in order to emphasize that if Yahweh does not go with them, no one will know that Yahweh is pleased with Moses and the people. Use whatever forms would be natural in your language to present an argument like this. (See: Rhetorical Question)

And in what (ULT)

This refers back to Moses' hypothetical situation in the previous verse, that is, Yahweh not going with them. Use whatever connecting forms are necessary to make that clear. (See: Information Structure)

And in what then will it be known (ULT)

You can express this with an active form. Alternate translation: "And in what then will people know" (See: Active or Passive)

I have found favor in your eyes (ULT)

Here, found favor is an idiom that means that God is pleased with Moses. You may also need to make the phrase active in form and change the abstract noun favor into another form. Finally, eyes are a metonym for sight, and sight is a metaphor representing his evaluation. See how you dealt with the multiple issues in the phrase you have found favor in my eyes in Exodus 33:12. (See: Idiom)

Exodus 33:17

I will also do this thing that you have spoken, for you have found favor in my eyes, and I know you by name (ULT)

Here, for signals a reason clause. Some languages may need to reorder the clauses here. Alternate translation: “Because you have found favor in my eyes and I know you by name, I will also do this thing that you have spoken” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

ULT

¹⁷ And Yahweh said to Moses, “I will also do this thing that you have spoken, for you have found favor in my eyes, and I know you by name.”

you have found favor in my eyes (ULT)

Here, found favor is an idiom that means that God is pleased with Moses. You may also need to make the phrase active in form and change the abstract noun favor into another form. Finally, eyes are a metonym for sight, and sight is a metaphor representing his evaluation. See how you dealt with the multiple issues in the phrase you have found favor in my eyes in Exodus 33:12. (See: Idiom)

you have found (ULT)

Here you is singular and refers to Moses. (See: Forms of You) and I know you by name (ULT)

To know someone by name is to know them well. See how you translated this in Exodus 33:12. Alternate translation: “I know you well” (See: Idiom)

Exodus 33:18

your glory (ULT)

In languages without abstract nouns you may need to change glory to another form. See UST. (See: Abstract Nouns)

ULT

18 And he said, "Please show me your glory."

Exodus 33:19

I myself will cause all my goodness to pass over above your face (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of his goodness like it was an object that he could move over Moses. If this would be misunderstood in your language, you may need to change or remove the figure. See UST. (See: Metaphor)

my goodness (ULT)

In languages without abstract nouns you may need to change goodness to another form. See UST. (See: Abstract Nouns) above your face...before your face (ULT)

Here, face means "you." Alternate translation: "above you ... before you" (See: Metonymy) and I will proclaim in the name of Yahweh (ULT)

The meaning of the phrase is unclear. It may mean that Yahweh will disclose something about his character to Moses. Alternate translation: "and I will proclaim my name, 'Yahweh,' " and I will favor whom I will favor, and I will be compassionate to whom I will be compassionate (ULT)

These statements use parallelism internally and between each other. They stress Yahweh's divine prerogative to do whatever he wants. The structure also parallels Yahweh's I AM statements in Exodus 3:14. If this form of parallelism would be misunderstood in your language, consider another form that emphasizes that Yahweh is graciously kind to exactly and only those whom he chooses without outside influence. (See: Parallelism)

ULT

¹⁹ And he said, "I myself will cause all my goodness to pass over above your face, and I will proclaim in the name of Yahweh before your face: and I will favor whom I will favor, and I will be compassionate to whom I will be compassionate."

Exodus 33:20

But he said (ULT)

In some languages it may be better not to stop and restart the quotation by omitting And he said at the start of this verse. Yahweh is speaking from 33:19-34:3. (See: Quotations and Quote Margins) for mankind can not see me and live (ULT)

“because no person can live after he has seen me”

ULT

²⁰ But he said, “You are not able to see my face, for mankind can not see me and live.”

Exodus 33:21

And Yahweh said (ULT)

In some languages it may be better not to stop and restart the quotation by omitting And Yahweh said at the start of this verse. Yahweh is speaking from 33:19-34:3. (See: Quotations and Quote Margins)

²¹ And Yahweh said, “Behold, a place with me, and you shall station yourself on the rock.

Exodus 33:22

while my glory passes over (ULT)

Yahweh speaks of his glory like it was an object that he could move over Moses. If this would be misunderstood in your language, you may need to change or remove the figure. Alternate translation: “while I pass over gloriously” (See: Metaphor)

ULT

²² And it will happen, while my glory passes over, that I will put you in a crevice of the rock and my hand will cover over you until I have passed over.

my glory (ULT)

In languages without abstract nouns you may need to change glory to another form. See UST. (See: Abstract Nouns) and my hand will cover over you (ULT)

Here, Yahweh speaks as if he had hands like a person that could cover things. If this would be misunderstood in your language you could use a simile to keep the image as this figure is important to keep and extends into the next verse. Alternate translation: “I will cover you like with a hand” (See: Personification)

Exodus 33:23

Then I will take away my hand, and you will see my back, but my face will not be seen (ULT)

The strong personification image of Yahweh continues throughout this verse and should be kept if possible. You may have to use similes if this would be misunderstood in your culture. Alternate translation: “Then it will be like I stop covering you with a hand and you will see a small part of my glory, like a person’s back, but not my full glory, like a person’s face.” (See: Personification)

ULT

²³ Then I will take away my hand, and you will see my back, but my face will not be seen.”

but my face (ULT)

Here, but my face is moved to the front of the clause to emphasize contrast with my back. If your language has a certain way of contrasting elements be sure to make a strong contrast between Yahweh’s face and back. (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

but my face will not be seen (ULT)

This can be expressed in active form. Alternate translation: “but you will not see my face” (See: Active or Passive)

Exodus 34

Exodus 34 General Notes

Outline

- v. 1-4 Yahweh orders Moses to return to the mountain
- v. 5-9 Yahweh reveals himself to Moses and Moses reacts
- v. 10-28 Covenant renewal
- v. 29-34 Moses reports to Israel

Possible translation difficulties in this chapter

- In verse 1, Yahweh says he will write on stone tablets, yet later (v. 27-28) he commands Moses to write and the text says Moses writes.
- Yahweh reveals something significant about himself or his character to Moses. There are a number of difficult terms and concepts.
- The biblical metaphor of true worship as sexual fidelity appears in v. 14-16.
- Several verses are repeated either exactly or closely from earlier chapters.
- In v. 12-26 Yahweh appears to give a different 10 commandments from those in Exodus 20 (but also largely repeated from other earlier parts of Exodus) raising the question of what was actually written on the stone tablets in v. 28.
- The concept of Moses's shining face may be difficult in some cultures.

“He will bring the punishment for the fathers’ sin on their children”

This phrase does not mean that a child is necessarily punished for the sins of their parents. Many scholars believe that this passage indicates that a parent's sins will have consequences that will affect their children and grandchildren. (See: sin, sinful, sinner, sinning)

Exodus 34:1

And Yahweh said to Moses (ULT)

Yahweh continues to speak to Moses, but there is a change of topic here so you may want to retain the speech introduction. However, if it would be misunderstood, you could simply continue the quotation from the previous verse. Alternate translation: “Yahweh continued” (See: Quotations and Quote Margins)

ULT

¹ And Yahweh said to Moses, “Carve for yourself two tablets of stone like the first. And I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets that you broke.

that you broke (ULT)

This clause reminds the reader of what tablets are being mentioned by reminding you of what had happened to the previous tablets. If it would be more helpful to attach it to the first mention of the tablets in this verse in your language you could rearrange it like the UST. (See: Information Structure)

tablets of stone (ULT)

“flat slabs of stone” See how you translated this in Exodus 31:18

Exodus 34:2

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

² And be ready by morning and in the morning come up to Mount Sinai, and present yourself there to me on the top of mountain.

Exodus 34:3and also let a man not be seen on all of the mountain (ULT)

Being seen doing something represents doing that. Alternate translation: "Do not let anyone else be anywhere on the mountain" (See: Metonymy) not...Also let...the flocks and the herds graze to the front of that mountain (ULT)

"Even flocks or herds are not allowed to come near the mountain to eat."

ULT

³ And a man shall not come up with you and also let a man not be seen on all of the mountain. Also let not the flocks and the herds graze to the front of that mountain."

Exodus 34:4

(There are no notes for this verse.)

ULT

⁴ And he carved two tablets of stone like the first, and Moses got up early in the morning and went up to Mount Sinai as Yahweh had commanded him. And he took the two tablets of stone in his hand.

Exodus 34:5

and stood with him there and he pronounced (ULT)

The pronouns are not clear here, but the referents are probably as in the following alternate translation: “and Yahweh stood with Moses there and Yahweh proclaimed” (See: Pronouns — When to Use Them)

ULT

⁵ And Yahweh came down in the cloud and stood with him there and he pronounced in the name of Yahweh.

and he pronounced in the name of Yahweh (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “he spoke the name ‘Yahweh.’” or (2) “he proclaimed who Yahweh is.” For the second meaning, name would represent who God is. (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 34:6

Yahweh, Yahweh, a God compassionate and gracious (ULT)

God is speaking about himself. Alternate translation: “I, Yahweh, am God, and I am merciful and gracious” (See: First, Second or Third Person) compassionate and gracious (ULT)

This is a doublet emphasizing that Yahweh cares for people and acts kindly towards them. If a doublet would not strengthen the statement here in your language consider another form that would. (See: Doublet)

long of nostril (ULT)

This is an idiom that means Yahweh does not get angry easily or quickly. Alternate translation: “slow to anger” (See: Idiom) and abounding in covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness (ULT)

The abstract nouns covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness can be stated as “covenantally faithful” and “trustworthy.” (For covenant faithfulness see Exodus 20:6). Alternate translation: “always being faithful to my covenant and always being trustworthy” (See: Abstract Nouns) covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness (ULT)

This is a doublet emphasizing that Yahweh always does what he promises towards the people he loves. If a doublet would not strengthen the statement here in your language consider another form that would. (See: Doublet)

ULT

⁶ And Yahweh passed over above his face and proclaimed, “Yahweh, Yahweh, a God compassionate and gracious, long of nostril, and abounding in covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness,

Exodus 34:7

keeping covenant faithfulness to thousands (ULT)

The abstract nouns covenant faithfulness can be stated as “faithfully loving” or “faithful love.” See how you translated this in the previous verse. Alternate translation: “faithfully loving thousands of generations” or “faithful to his covenant with thousands of generation” (See: Abstract Nouns)

ULT

⁷ keeping covenant faithfulness to thousands, forgiving iniquity, transgression, and sin. But acquitting he will not acquit, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the sons and on the sons of the sons, on the third and on the fourth.”

to thousands (ULT)

Here, thousands may refer to thousands of generations or thousands of people. The two notes following deal with either possibility. See Exodus 20:6. (See: Ellipsis)

to thousands (ULT)

Option 1: This large number is used to mean “forever” or “to all descendants forever.” Alternate translation: “for every generation” (See: Hyperbole)

to thousands (ULT)

Option 2: The word thousands is a metonym for a number too many to count. Alternate translation: “to innumerable people” (See: Metonymy) iniquity, transgression, and sin (ULT)

This list is meant to convey the idea of every kind of wrong. If a list like this would be misunderstood in your language you may need to use other terms or forms to make this point. Alternate translation: “every kind of sin” (See: Litany) iniquity, transgression, and sin...the iniquity of (ULT)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for these ideas, you could express the ideas behind the abstract nouns in another way as in the UST. (See: Abstract Nouns)

But acquitting he will not acquit (ULT)

Yahweh is speaking about himself. Alternate translation: “But I will certainly not acquit” (See: First, Second or Third Person)

But acquitting he will not acquit (ULT)

Whom Yahweh will not acquit is not stated. Many translations will require that information. Alternate translations: “he will certainly not clear the guilty” or “he will certainly not say that the guilty are innocent” or “he will certainly not free guilty people” (See: Ellipsis)

the iniquity of (ULT)

Here, iniquity refers to the consequences or the punishment for iniquity. Alternate translation: “the punishment for the iniquity of” (See: Metonymy) visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the sons and on the sons of the sons (ULT)

The iniquity of the fathers is spoken of as if it were something capable of visiting people. If this image would be misunderstood you may need to translate the meaning. Alternate translation: “punishing the sons and the sons of the sons for the iniquity of the fathers” (See: Metaphor) on the sons and on the sons of the sons (ULT)

The references to sons and sons of the sons represents descendants. Alternate translation: “on their descendants” (See: Metonymy)

on the third and on the fourth (ULT)

Here, “generation” is implied. Many translations will need to make this explicit as in the UST. (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information) on the third and on the fourth (ULT)

Here, third and fourth means “several.” If this would not be understood and your language has a way of referring to an unspecified (but approximately 3-4) number, you may have to use it here. Alternate translation: “on a few generations” (See: Metonymy)

Exodus 34:8

and prostrated himself (ULT)

Here, himself means that Moses did this action to his own body. Some languages may use a special form to indicate this. (See: [[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-rpronoun]])

ULT

⁸ And Moses hurried and bowed to the ground and prostrated himself.

and bowed to the ground and prostrated himself (ULT)

These two verbs have very similar meanings and are often used together to express people's physical and spiritual posture in worship. If such repetition would be misunderstood in your language you may need to express the physical action and spiritual action explicitly. Alternate translation: "bowed to the ground in worship" (See: Doublet)

Exodus 34:9

I have found favor in your eyes (ULT)

Here, found favor is an idiom that means that God is pleased with Moses. You may also need to make the phrase active in form and change the abstract noun favor into another form. Finally, eyes are a metonym for sight, and sight is a metaphor representing his evaluation. See how you dealt with the multiple issues in the phrase I have found favor in your eyes in Exodus 33:12. (See: Idiom)

ULT

⁹ And he said, "Please, if I have found favor in your eyes, my Lord, may my Lord please go among us, for this {is} a people hard of neck. And forgive our iniquity and our sin, and inherit us."

this {is} a people hard of neck (ULT)

Moses speaks of the people being rebellious as if they had hard necks. See how you translated this in Exodus 32:9. (See: Metaphor)

our iniquity and our sin (ULT)

The words iniquity and sin mean basically the same thing and are combined for emphasis. Alternate translation: "all our sins" (See: Doublet)

Exodus 34:10

your people

The covenant is largely repeated starting in this verse and consists of two parts 1) What Yahweh will do which is detailed in verses 10-11 (and briefly restated in verse 24) and 2) What is required of the Israelites which is detailed in verses 12-26. For further context see Exodus 19:5 and following, and 23:20-24:8. Verses 12-26 are another list of ten commandments.

am about to cut a covenant (ULT)

To cut a covenant means to make a covenant. The terminology refers to ancient rituals around making covenants which is illustrated in Genesis 15. Alternate translation: “am about to make a covenant” (See: Metaphor)

your people (ULT)

Here the people are referred to as belonging to Moses. This refers to his being their leader. Alternate translation: “the people you lead” (See: Possession)

all of the people that you are in the midst of (ULT)

This phrase is ambiguous and could refer to 1) the nations that surrounded Israel or 2) the Israelites (who surrounded Moses). Attempt to maintain the ambiguity if you can, otherwise you may choose one, perhaps following another locally known translation’s choice.

for it {is} fear-filling what I {am} doing with you (ULT)

This means that what Yahweh is doing causes people to be afraid. In this case, people will fear Yahweh when they see what he does. Alternate translation: “for what I am doing with you will cause fear”

with you (ULT)

Here you refers to Moses and the people of Israel. (See: Forms of You)

ULT

10 And he said, “Behold, I am about to cut a covenant before all of your people, I will do wonders that have not been created in all of the earth and in all of the nations. And all of the people that you are in the midst of will see the work of Yahweh, for it {is} fear-filling what I {am} doing with you.”

Exodus 34:11

am about to drive out from before your face (ULT)

Here, from before your faces means “ahead of you” or “on your behalf.” Yahweh is emphasizing who is doing the driving out. (See: Metonymy)

the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites (ULT)

See how you translated these in Exodus 33:2. (See: How to Translate Names)

ULT

¹¹ Keep for yourself what I am commanding today. Behold I am about to drive out from before your face the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

Exodus 34:12

General Information:

Verses 12-16 are the first of these ten commandments. The original language is structured such that every clause in these verses is subordinate to the initial, Guard yourself. That sort of structure may not be possible in your language (as it is not in English).

ULT

12 Guard yourself lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land where you are about to go into, lest he become as a trap in your midst.

yourself (ULT)

Here, yourself means that each Israelite should guard against committing these sins. (See: [\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-rpronoun\]\]](#))

lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land where you are about to go into, lest he become as a trap in your midst (ULT)

This sentence contains two hypotheticals as a warning. Each is introduced by lest. Use a marker in your language that introduces a hypothetical situation, but also see the next note. Alternate translation: “If you were to cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land where you are about to go into, probably he would become as a trap in your midst.” (See: Hypothetical Situations)

lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land where you are about to go into, lest he become as a trap in your midst (ULT)

The second of these hypothetical statements is logically dependent on and follows after the first as a result. As you mark these hypotheticals, use a form that communicates that the second is a result of the first. Alternate translation: “because if you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land where you are about to go into then he will become as a trap in your midst” (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions)

you cut a covenant (ULT)

To cut a covenant means to make a covenant. The terminology refers to ancient rituals around making covenants which is illustrated in Genesis 15. Alternate translation: “you make a covenant” (See: Metaphor) with the inhabitant of...he become (ULT)

The word inhabitant is a singular noun that refers to any individual inhabitant or group of inhabitants from the peoples mentioned in the previous verse. The pronoun he is agreeing with that singular noun. If your language does not use singular nouns in that way, you can use a different expression. Alternate translation: “with the inhabitants of ... they become” (See: Collective Nouns)

lest he become as a trap in your midst (ULT)

People who tempt others to sin are spoken of as if they were a trap. Alternate translation: “lest those remaining people tempt you to sin” (See: Simile)

Exodus 34:13

Instead (ULT)

This word marks a strong contrast with the previous verse. Use a natural way in your language for introducing a strong contrast. Alternate translation: “Do the opposite!” (See: Connect — Contrast Relationship)

ULT

13 Instead, their altars you shall break down, and their pillars you shall smash, and his Asherah poles you shall cut down.

their altars you shall break down, and their pillars you shall smash, and his Asherah poles you shall cut down (ULT)

This unusual word order reflects the original in bringing each item the Israelites must destroy into focus. You should use whatever form in your language would emphasize or focus on each item that they must destroy. Alternate translation: “as for their altars, break them down! As for their stone pillars, smash them to pieces! As for their trees where they worship the goddess Asherah, cut them all down!” (See: Information Structure)

you shall cut down (ULT)

For some reason only this pronoun is singular, referring back the singular “inhabitant” in the previous verse. Translate it based on your decision in the previous verse. (See: Collective Nouns)

Exodus 34:14

you shall not bow (ULT)

To bow to another god means to worship it. This imagery is throughout scripture and should be retained in translation. Alternate translation: “you shall not bow to worship” (See: Symbolic Action)

ULT

14 For you shall not bow to another god, for Yahweh, Jealous {is} his name, he {is} a jealous God.

for Yahweh, Jealous {is} his name, he {is} a jealous God (ULT)

The repeated word jealous means that God is concerned to keep his honor. If his people worship other gods, he loses honor, because when his people do not honor him, other people also will not honor him. This is pictured in a metaphor of a jealous spouse who is concerned that his spouse be faithful to him. This is an important Biblical metaphor that should be kept in translation if at all possible. The UST makes this image explicit as a simile, which can be done occasionally but would probably be too long for repeated use in a translation. Alternate translation: “Yahweh jealously guards his reputation. He is a God jealous of his honor.” (See: Metaphor) for Yahweh, Jealous {is} his name (ULT)

Here, the word name represents God’s character. Alternate translation: “Yahweh is always jealous” (See: Metonymy) with the inhabitant of...and he invite...from his sacrifice (ULT)

Exodus 34:15

The word inhabitant is a singular noun that refers to any individual inhabitant or group of inhabitants from the peoples mentioned in the previous verse. The pronouns he and his are agreeing with that singular noun. If your language does not use singular nouns in that way, you can use a different expression. See how you translated this in verse 12. ¹⁵ Lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land, and they prostitute after their gods and sacrifice to their gods, and he invite you, and you eat from his sacrifice

Lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land, and they prostitute after their gods and sacrifice to their gods, and he invite you (ULT)

Most of this verse is a sort of chain of logically consecutive hypothetical events that Yahweh is warning the Israelites against. Your language may have a specific way this sort of argument must be structured or phrased. One way to see this would be to repeat lest before every verb in verse 15-16. Alternate translation: “If you cut a covenant the inhabitant of the land, and if they then prostitute after their gods and sacrifice to their gods, and if he then invites you” (See: Hypothetical Situations)

Lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land (ULT)

This phrase is exactly the same as the second clause of verse 12. It serves as a reminder of the command Yahweh is giving as he begins to expand on the “trap” he mentioned in verse 12. Your language may need to mark this repetition in a particular way. Alternate translation: “Remember: keep yourself lest you cut a covenant with the inhabitant of the land”

you cut a covenant (ULT)

To cut a covenant means to make a covenant. The terminology refers to ancient rituals around making covenants which is illustrated in Genesis 15. See how you translated this in verse 12. Alternate translation: “you make a covenant” (See: Metaphor)

and they prostitute after their...gods (ULT)

In this metaphor, Yahweh speaks of people worshiping other gods as if they were prostitutes going to other men. This metaphor is most often used regarding the unfaithfulness of the Israelites. The metaphor is not quite as clear with the other nations because while Yahweh is the only true God, he is not in special covenant with the other nations as their god. However, since the worship is still impurely following false gods, the metaphor is used here. Alternate translation: “and they worship their gods” or “because they worship their gods like prostitutes who go to other men” (See: Metaphor)

and they prostitute after their...gods (ULT)

This phrase may also be seen as a metonymy because sexual sin was a regular part of worshipping false gods. Alternate translation: “and they worship by fornicating with their gods’ cult prostitutes” (See: Metonymy)

and he invite you (ULT)

Here, what the inhabitant will invite the Israelite to is not stated, but can be inferred from context. At the most basic level it is an invitation to eat food the Israelites were forbidden to eat. It is unclear how much more participation in worshipping false gods is implied. If your language requires that you specify what the Israelite is being invited into you may have to add some information. Alternate translation: “and he will invite you to eat from his sacrifice” or “and he will invite you to a feast to honor his gods” (See: Ellipsis)

and you eat from his sacrifice (ULT)

The first part of the sin Yahweh is warning against in this and the next verse is to eat from his sacrifice. This clause is the result of disobedience regarding the covenant and the logical conclusion of the series of hypothetical events Yahweh presents before this. Alternate translation: “as a result, you will eat from his sacrifice” or “then you will eat from his sacrifice” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

and you eat from his sacrifice (ULT)

Here, and you eat from his sacrifice may be a synecdoche for any and all parts of the worship of the other nations’ false gods. Alternate translation: “and you feast to honor his gods” (See: Synecdoche)

and you eat from his sacrifice (ULT)

The consequence of eating food that is sacrificed to another god can be stated clearly. Alternate translation: “and you will eat some of his sacrifice and become guilty of worshipping his gods” or “and you will prostitute yourself to his god by eating some of his sacrifice” (See: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information)

Exodus 34:16

you will eat some of his sacrifice

The string of hypothetical actions, each with its logical result continues throughout this verse. Continue translating the transitions between clauses as you decided in verse 15. (See: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions) and his daughters prostitute after their gods (ULT)

In this metaphor, Yahweh speaks of people worshiping other gods as if they were prostitutes going to other men. This metaphor is most often used regarding the unfaithfulness of the Israelites. The metaphor is not quite as clear with the other nations because while Yahweh is the only true God, he is not in special covenant with the other nations as their god. However, since the worship is still impurely following false gods, the metaphor is used here. See how you translated it in the previous verse. Alternate translation: “and his daughters worship their gods” or “and his daughters worship their gods like prostitutes who go to other men” (See: Metaphor)

and cause your sons to prostitute after their gods (ULT)

In this metaphor, Yahweh speaks of people worshiping other gods as if they were prostitutes going to other men. The metaphor is clear here since it is referring to Israelite men who should be Yahweh worshippers. Alternate translation: “and cause your sons to worship their gods” or “and cause your sons to worship their gods like prostitutes who go to other men” (See: Metaphor)

and cause your sons to prostitute after their gods (ULT)

This is the climatic consequence of living in peace the the nations God is driving out before them: complete apostacy from Yahweh and loss of the next generation to wickedness. Specifically it is the result of intermarriage with the pagans, which God has explicitly forbidden for this very reason. If your language marks the final consequence of a string of actions in a particular way it may be appropriate to use it here. Alternate translation: “and in the end, they will cause even your sons to prostitute after their gods” (See: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship)

Exodus 34:17

you will eat some of his sacrifice

The prohibition here is focused on making gods. In your translation make sure that the focus is not on the method, but the god-making.

buy back

Firstborn sons and firstborn donkeys belonged to Yahweh, but Yahweh did not want them sacrificed to Him. Instead, the Israelites were to sacrifice a lamb in their place. This allowed the Israelites to buy the donkeys and sons back from Yahweh.

And you shall not appear at my face empty-handed (ULT)

Here understatement is used to emphasize that the Israelites must bring a suitable offering to Yahweh. This portion of the verse is identical to the end of Exodus 23:15. This verse is similar to Exodus 23:16, however the first festival is named Festival of Weeks here and “Festival of the Harvest” in 23:16.

and the Festival of the Gathering (ULT)

This festival celebrated the final harvesting of all the crops for the year. This festival was also known as the Festival of Shelters or the Festival of Booths. The idea came from the practice of the farmers living in temporary booths, or huts, out in the fields to guard the crop as it ripened. See Deuteronomy 16:13. See how you translated this in Exodus 23:16. Alternate translation: “and the Festival of the Ingathering”

Exodus 35 General Notes

Translation issues in this chapter

- In the last chapter some repetition of Yahweh's instructions began, mostly around the covenant commands. Starting in this chapter and even more so in chapter 36, the commands regarding the construction of the tabernacle complex are repeated, often word for word, from chapters 25-31. In many verses the only difference will be a change of verb form from instruction to completion. As much as possible, these parallels will be pointed out for the translators with links to the previous verses. Translators should refer back to the previously translated verses for consistency and because notes in this section may not cover everything that was covered in the initial instruction section.
- Many items, materials, and processes for building the tabernacle may be unknown, but should have already been addressed in chapters 25-31.

Structure

- v. 1-3: reiteration of Sabbath command
- v. 4-9: list of materials for donation (see Exodus 25:1-7)
- v. 10-19: things they need to make for the tabernacle complex
- v. 20-29: the people bring all the things listed
- v. 30-36:1: appointing of lead craftsmen to build these things

Here, heart and spirit both refer to a persons' will, their desire to do something. If your language would not express a persons' will in this way you could translate the meaning. Alternate translation: "And every man whose will lifted him came and all who felt impelled brought" (See: Synecdoche)

Here, heart lifted is a metaphor for being willing or excited. Many languages will have similar expressions, perhaps using a different body part or a different action. every man whose heart lifted him...And all whose spirit impelled him (ULT)

all who had a willing heart

Alternate translation: "all who were impelled" brooches, and earrings, and rings, and ornaments, all of the things of gold (ULT)

These are different kinds of jewelry. The exact identity of each object is not known. The phrase all of the things of gold could either modify the whole list, meaning "all these items were made of gold," or could mean "many other gold things." If taken as a summary statement, in some languages it may be clearer to move it to the front of the list. Alternate translation: "all kinds of gold jewelry including necklaces, nose-rings, signet-rings, and gold ornaments" (See: Litany)

Exodus 35:23

Everyone who had...brought them

See how you translated many of these words in Exodus 25:4-5.

And every man with whom was found (ULT)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could say this with an active form. Also, the meaning of this form is simple possession.

Alternate translation: "And every man who owned" or "And every man that found with him" (See: Active or Passive)

ULT

²³ And every man with whom was found blue, and purple, and worm of scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair, and reddened ram skins, and hides of sea-cows brought {them}.

And every man (ULT)

Although the term men is used, the word here is used in a generic sense that includes both men and women.

Alternate translation: "And every person" (See: When Masculine Words Include Women)

And every man (ULT)

The phrase every man is used here without the restriction, "who was willing," from previous verses. The exaggeration is used to emphasize what a large portion of the Israelites gave willingly. If this would be misunderstood in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language that expresses a large number or a majority. Alternate translation: "And very many people" (See: Hyperbole)

Exodus 35:24

and all with whom...was found (ULT)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could say this with an active form. Also, the meaning of this form is simple possession. Alternate translation: "And everyone who owned" or "And everyone that found with him" (See: Active or Passive)

All of the presenters {of (ULT)

Here, all is limited by presenters, meaning only everyone who brought contributions. Avoid implying that every single Israelite did this (though very many did). Alternate translation: "All who decided to offer"

and all (ULT)

The phrase all is used here without the restriction, "who were willing," from previous verses. The exaggeration is used to emphasize what a large portion of the Israelites gave willingly. If this would be misunderstood in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language that expresses a large number or a majority. Alternate translation: "And very many people" (See: Hyperbole) for all the work of the service (ULT)

Here, service refers to worshiping Yahweh and the phrase work of the service refers to building the tabernacle as a place for worshiping Yahweh. Alternate translation: "for any of the building of a place for worship" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

²⁴ All of the presenters {of} a contribution of silver and of bronze brought the contribution of Yahweh, and all with whom wood of acacias was found for all the work of the service brought {it}.

Exodus 35:25

skilled of heart (ULT)

Here, heart is referring to innate possession by a person, that is, traits of a person. The phrase essentially means “a talented craftswoman.” If this is unclear to your readers you may consider making it more explicit. See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 28:3. Alternate translation: “And every man with a skill” (See: Metonymy)

ULT

25 And every woman skilled of heart spun with her hands and they brought the spun items, the blue, and the purple, the worm of scarlet, and the fine linen.

the blue, and the purple, the worm of scarlet (ULT)

Possible meanings are (1) “material that is dyed blue, purple, and scarlet,” probably wool yarn, or (2) “blue, purple and scarlet dye” to dye the linen. See how you translated a similar phrase in Exodus 25:4.

Exodus 35:26

whose hearts lifted them (ULT)

Here, heart refers to a persons' will, their desire to do something. It is spoken of as causing a person to use her skills for Yahweh. This is the same as the first phrase in verse 21. Alternate translation: "whose will impelled her" (See: Synecdoche)

ULT

²⁶ All the women with skill whose hearts lifted them spun goats' hair.

ULT

²⁸ and spice and the oil for light, and for the oil of anointing, and for the incense of fragrance.

Exodus 35:29

whose heart was willing

The order of clauses in the ULT is reversed from the original because of required English sentence structure. The sons of Israel brought a freewill offering to Yahweh is at the end of the verse. Other languages may be able to retain the original order. (See: Information Structure) whose heart impelled them (ULT)

Here, heart refers to a persons' will, their desire to do something. It is spoken of as causing a person to bring these gifts to Yahweh. See how you translated this in 25:2 and 35:22. Alternate translation: "whose will impelled them" (See: Synecdoche) which Yahweh had commanded {them} to do by the hand of Moses (ULT)

Here, by the hand of Moses refers to Moses as a messenger for Yahweh's commands, not to Moses being the one who would build all these things. If this imagery of carrying a message would be misunderstood in your language you may use another figure or translate the meaning. Alternate translation: "which Yahweh had told Moses to tell them to do" (See: Metonymy)

ULT

29 The sons of Israel brought a freewill offering to Yahweh, every man and woman whose heart impelled them to bring {something} for all of the work which Yahweh had commanded {them} to do by the hand of Moses.

ULT

Structure

Version 25

Abstract Nouns

Description

Abstract nouns are nouns that refer to attitudes, qualities, events, or situations. These are things that cannot be seen or touched in a physical sense, such as happiness, weight, unity, friendship, health, and reason. This is a translation issue because some languages may express a certain idea with an abstract noun, while others would need a different way to express it.

This page answers the question: What are abstract nouns and how do I deal with them in my translation?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech]]
[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences]]

Remember that nouns are words that refer to a person, place, thing, or idea. Abstract nouns are the nouns that refer to ideas. These can be attitudes, qualities, events, situations, or even relationships between those ideas. These are things that cannot be seen or touched in a physical sense, such as joy, peace, creation, goodness, contentment, justice, truth, freedom, vengeance, slowness, length, weight, and many, many more.

Some languages, such as Biblical Greek and English, use abstract nouns a lot. They provide a way of giving names to actions or qualities. With names, people who speak these languages can talk about the concepts as though they were things. For example, in languages that use abstract nouns, people can say, "I believe in the forgiveness of sin."

But some languages do not use abstract nouns very much. In these languages, speakers may not have the two abstract nouns "forgiveness" and "sin," but they would express the same meaning in other ways. For example, they would express, "I believe that God is willing to forgive people after they have sinned," by using verb phrases instead of nouns for those ideas.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

The Bible that you translate from may use abstract nouns to express certain ideas. Your language might not use abstract nouns for some of those ideas. Instead, it might use phrases to express those ideas. Those phrases will use other kinds of words such as adjectives, verbs, or adverbs to express the meaning of the abstract noun. For example, "What is its weight?" could be expressed as "How much does it weigh?" or "How heavy is it?"

Examples From the Bible

From childhood you have known the sacred writings ... (2 Timothy 3:15a ULT)

The abstract noun "childhood" refers to when someone was a child.

But godliness with contentment is great gain. (1 Timothy 6:6 ULT)

The abstract nouns "godliness" and "contentment" refer to being godly and content. The abstract noun "gain" refers to something that benefits or helps someone.

Today salvation has come to this house, because he too is a son of Abraham. (Luke 19:9 ULT)

The abstract noun "salvation" here refers to being saved.

The Lord does not move slowly concerning his promises, as some consider slowness to be (2 Peter 3:9a ULT)

The abstract noun "slowness" refers to the lack of speed with which something is done.

He will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness and reveal the purposes of the heart. (1 Corinthians 4:5b ULT)

The abstract noun “purposes” refers to the things that people want to do and the reasons they want to do them.

Translation Strategies

If an abstract noun would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here is another option:

(1) Reword the sentence with a phrase that expresses the meaning of the abstract noun. Instead of a noun, the new phrase will use a verb, an adverb, or an adjective to express the idea of the abstract noun.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Reword the sentence with a phrase that expresses the meaning of the abstract noun. Instead of a noun, the new phrase will use a verb, an adverb, or an adjective to express the idea of the abstract noun. Alternative translations are indented below the Scripture example.

... from childhood you have known the sacred writings ... (2 Timothy 3:15a ULT)

Ever since you were a child you have known the sacred writings.

But godliness with contentment is great gain. (1 Timothy 6:6 ULT)

But being godly and content is very beneficial. But we benefit greatly when we are godly and content. But we benefit greatly when we honor and obey God and when we are happy with what we have.

Today salvation has come to this house, because he too is a son of Abraham. (Luke 19:9 ULT)

Today the people in this house have been saved ... Today God has saved the people in this house ...

The Lord does not move slowly concerning his promises, as some consider slowness to be. (2 Peter 3:9a ULT)

The Lord does not move slowly concerning his promises, as some consider moving slowly to be.

He will bring to light the hidden things of darkness and reveal the purposes of the heart. (1 Corinthians 4:5b ULT)

He will bring to light the hidden things of darkness and reveal the things that people want to do and the reasons that they want to do them.

(Go back to: Exodus 1:12; 1:13; 1:14; 2:4; 3:9; 8:23; 12:12; 12:13; 14:13; 15:7; 20:4; 20:6; 23:1; 31:3; 32:30; 32:31; 33:12; 33:18; 33:19; 33:22; 34:6; 34:7; 35:21; 35:31; 36:1; 36:2)

Active or Passive

Some languages use both active and passive sentences. In active sentences, the subject does the action. In passive sentences, the subject is the one that receives the action. Here are some examples with their subjects bolded:

- Active: My father built the house in 2010.
- Passive: The house was built in 2010.

Translators whose languages do not use passive sentences will need to know how they can translate passive sentences that they find in the Bible. Other translators will need to decide when to use a passive sentence and when to use the active form.

This page answers the question: What do active and passive mean, and how do I translate passive sentences?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences\]\]](#)

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-verbs\]\]](#)

Description

Some languages have both active and passive forms of sentences.

- In the active form, the subject does the action and is always mentioned.
- In the passive form, the action is done to the subject, and the one who does the action is not always mentioned.

In the examples of active and passive sentences below, we have bolded the subject.

- active: My father built the house in 2010.
- passive: The house was built by my father in 2010.
- passive: The house was built in 2010. (This does not tell who did the action.)

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

All languages use active forms. Some languages use passive forms, and some do not. Some languages use passive forms only for certain purposes, and the passive form is not used for the same purposes in all of the languages that use it.

Purposes for the Passive

- The speaker is talking about the person or thing the action was done to, not about the person who did the action.
- The speaker does not want to tell who did the action.
- The speaker does not know who did the action.

Translation Principles Regarding the Passive

- Translators whose language does not use passive forms will need to find another way to express the idea.
- Translators whose language has passive forms will need to understand why the passive is used in a particular sentence in the Bible and decide whether or not to use a passive form for that purpose in his translation of the sentence.

Examples From the Bible

Then their shooters shot at your soldiers from off the wall, and some of the king's servants were killed, and your servant Uriah the Hittite was killed too. (2 Samuel 11:24 ULT)

This means that the enemy's shooters shot and killed some of the king's servants, including Uriah. The point is what happened to the king's servants and Uriah, not who shot them. The purpose of the passive form here is to keep the focus on the king's servants and Uriah.

When the men of the city arose early in the morning, and see, the altar of Baal was torn down. (Judges 6:28a ULT)

The men of the town saw what had happened to the altar of Baal, but they did not know who broke it down. The purpose of the passive form here is to communicate this event from the perspective of the men of the town.

It would be better for him if a millstone were put around his neck and he were thrown into the sea. (Luke 17:2a ULT)

This describes a situation in which a person ends up in the sea with a millstone around his neck. The purpose of the passive form here is to keep the focus on what happens to this person. Who does these things to the person is not important.

Translation Strategies

If your language would use a passive form for the same purpose as in the passage that you are translating, then use a passive form. If you decide that it is better to translate without a passive form, here are some strategies that you might consider.

- (1) Use the same verb in an active sentence and tell who or what did the action. If you do this, try to keep the focus on the person receiving the action.
- (2) Use the same verb in an active sentence, and do not tell who or what did the action. Instead, use a generic expression like "they" or "people" or "someone."
- (3) Use a different verb.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use the same verb in an active sentence and tell who did the action. If you do this, try to keep the focus on the person receiving the action.

A loaf of bread was given him every day from the street of the bakers. (Jeremiah 37:21b ULT)

The king's servants gave Jeremiah a loaf of bread every day from the street of the bakers.

- (2) Use the same verb in an active sentence, and do not tell who did the action. Instead, use a generic expression like "they" or "people" or "someone."

It would be better for him if a millstone were put around his neck and he were thrown into the sea. (Luke 17:2a ULT)

It would be better for him if they were to put a millstone around his neck and throw him into the sea.

It would be better for him if someone were to put a heavy stone around his neck and throw him into the sea.

- (3) Use a different verb in an active sentence.

A loaf of bread was given him every day from the street of the bakers. (Jeremiah 37:21 ULT)

Aside

Description

An aside is a figure of speech in which someone who is speaking to a person or group pauses to speak confidentially to himself or someone else about those to whom he had been speaking. The speaker does this to indicate in a strong way his thoughts or feelings about that person or group.

This page answers the question: What is the figure of speech called an "aside"?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Many languages do not use asides, and readers could be confused by them. They may wonder why the speaker suddenly starts talking to himself or someone else about the people he is speaking with.

Examples From the Bible

All the men of your covenant are sending you away as far as the border.
The men of your peace are deceiving you and are prevailing against you.
They of your bread will set a trap under you.
There is no understanding in him. (Obadiah 1:7 ULT)

In the first three lines, Yahweh is telling the people of Edom what will happen to them because they did not help the people of Judah. In the fourth line, Yahweh says something about Edom to himself.

And I purified them from everything foreign. And I caused the service watches to stand: for the priests and for the Levites, a man in his work; and for the offering of pieces of wood at the appointed times; and for the firstfruits. Remember me, my God, for good. (Nehemiah 13:30-31 ULT)

Nehemiah is speaking to the readers of his account and describing some of the many things he did to restore true worship in Judah after the people returned from exile. But he suddenly turns aside and addresses God, asking God to bless him for what he, Nehemiah, has done for those people.

Translation Strategies

(1) If an aside would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. But if this way of speaking would be confusing, let the speaker continue speaking to the people who are listening to him, but make clear that he is now expressing his thoughts and feelings about them.

(2) If a person speaks a prayer to God as an aside, you can put the prayer in quotation marks to indicate that.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1)

All the men of your covenant are sending you away as far as the border.
The men of your peace are deceiving you and are prevailing against you.
They of your bread will set a trap under you.

All the men of your covenant are sending you away as far as the border.
The men of your peace are deceiving you and are prevailing against you.
They of your bread will set a trap under you.
You do not understand any of this.

Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

Assumed knowledge is whatever a speaker assumes his audience knows before he speaks and gives them some kind of information. The speaker does not give the audience this information because he believes that they already know it.

This page answers the question: How can I be sure that my translation communicates the assumed knowledge and implicit information along with the explicit information of the original message?

When the speaker does give the audience information, he can do so in two ways. The speaker gives explicit information in what he states directly. Implicit Information is what the speaker does not state directly because he expects his audience to be able to learn it from other things he says.

Description

When someone speaks or writes, he has something specific that he wants people to know or do or think about. He normally states this directly. This is explicit information.

The speaker assumes that his audience already knows certain things that they will need to think about in order to understand this information. Normally he does not tell people these things, because they already know them. This is called assumed knowledge.

The speaker does not always directly state everything that he expects his audience to learn from what he says. Implicit information is information that he expects people to learn from what he says even though he does not state it directly.

Often, the audience understands this implicit information by combining what they already know (assumed knowledge) with the explicit information that the speaker tells them directly.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

All three kinds of information are part of the speaker's message. If one of these kinds of information is missing, then the audience will not understand the message. Because the target translation is in a language that is very different from the biblical languages and is made for an audience that lives in a very different time and place than the people in the Bible, many times the assumed knowledge or the implicit information is missing from the message. In other words, modern readers do not know everything that the original speakers and hearers in the Bible knew. When these things are important for understanding the message, it is helpful if you include this information in the text or in a footnote.

Examples From the Bible

Then a scribe came to him and said, "Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go." Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and the birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head." (Matthew 8:19-20 ULT)

Jesus did not say what foxes and birds use holes and nests for, because he assumed that the scribe would have known that foxes sleep in holes in the ground and birds sleep in their nests. This is assumed knowledge.

Jesus did not directly say here "I am the Son of Man" but, if the scribe did not already know it, then that fact would be implicit information that he could learn because Jesus referred to himself that way. Also, Jesus did not state explicitly that he travelled a lot and did not have a house that he slept in every night. That is implicit information that the scribe could learn when Jesus said that he had nowhere to lay his head.

Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! If the mighty deeds had been done in Tyre and Sidon which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. But

I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment than for you.
(Matthew 11:21-22 ULT)

Jesus assumed that the people he was speaking to knew that Tyre and Sidon were very wicked, and that the day of judgment is a time when God will judge every person. Jesus also knew that the people he was talking to believed that they were good and did not need to repent. Jesus did not need to tell them these things. This is all assumed knowledge.

An important piece of implicit information here is that the people he was speaking to would be judged more severely than the people of Tyre and Sidon would be judged because they did not repent.

Why do your disciples violate the traditions of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread. (Matthew 15:2 ULT)

One of the traditions of the elders was a ceremony in which people would wash their hands in order to be ritually clean before eating. People thought that in order to be righteous, they had to follow all the traditions of the elders. This was assumed knowledge that the Pharisees who were speaking to Jesus expected him to know. By saying this, they were accusing his disciples of not following the traditions, and thus not being righteous. This is implicit information that they wanted him to understand from what they said.

Translation Strategies

If readers have enough assumed knowledge to be able to understand the message, along with any important implicit information that goes with the explicit information, then it is good to leave that knowledge unstated and leave the implicit information implicit. If the readers do not understand the message because one of these is missing for them, then follow these strategies:

- (1) If readers cannot understand the message because they do not have certain assumed knowledge, then provide that knowledge as explicit information.
- (2) If readers cannot understand the message because they do not know certain implicit information, then state that information clearly, but try to do it in a way that does not imply that the information was new to the original audience.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If readers cannot understand the message because they do not have certain assumed knowledge, then provide that knowledge as explicit information.

Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and the birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head." (Matthew 8:20 ULT)

The assumed knowledge was that the foxes slept in their holes and birds slept in their nests.

Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes to live in, and the birds of the sky have nests to live in, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head and sleep."

It will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment than for you (Matthew 11:22 ULT)

The assumed knowledge was that the people of Tyre and Sidon were very, very wicked. This can be stated explicitly.

>

At the day of judgment, it will be more tolerable for those cities of Tyre and Sidon, whose people were very wicked, than it will be for you. or At the day of judgment, It will be more tolerable for those wicked cities, Tyre and Sidon, than for you.

Why do your disciples violate the traditions of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread. (Matthew 15:2 ULT)

The assumed knowledge was that one of the traditions of the elders was a ceremony in which people would wash their hands in order to be ritually clean before eating, which they must do to be righteous. It was not to remove germs from their hands to avoid sickness, as a modern reader might think.

Why do your disciples violate the traditions of the elders? For they do not go through the ceremonial handwashing ritual of righteousness when they eat bread.

(2) If readers cannot understand the message because they do not know certain implicit information, then state that information clearly, but try to do it in a way that does not imply that the information was new to the original audience.

Then a scribe came to him and said, "Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go." Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and the birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head." (Matthew 8:19-20 ULT)

The implicit information is that Jesus himself is the Son of Man. Other implicit information is that if the scribe wanted to follow Jesus, then, like Jesus, he would have to live without a house.

Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and the birds of the sky have nests, but I, the Son of Man, have no home to rest in. If you want to follow me, you will live as I live."

It will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment than for you (Matthew 11:22 ULT)

The implicit information is that God would not only judge the people; he would punish them. This can be made explicit.

At the day of judgment, God will punish Tyre and Sidon, cities whose people were very wicked, less severely than he will punish you.
or:

At the day of judgment, God will punish you more severely than Tyre and Sidon, cities whose people were very wicked.

Modern readers may not know some of the things that the people in the Bible and the people who first read it knew. This can make it hard for them to understand what a speaker or writer says, and to learn things that the speaker left implicit. Translators may need to state some things explicitly in the translation that the original speaker or writer left unstated or implicit.

Background Information

Description

When people tell a story, they normally tell the events in the order that they happened. This sequence of events makes up the storyline. The storyline is full of action verbs that move the story along in time. But sometimes a writer may take a break from the storyline and give some information to help his listeners understand the story better. This type of information is called background information. The background information might be about things that happened before the events he has already told about, or it might explain something in the story, or it might be about something that would happen much later in the story.

This page answers the question: What is background information, and how can I show that some information is background information?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-events\]\]](#)

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro\]\]](#)

Example — The bolded phrases in the story below are all background information.

Peter and John went on a hunting trip because their village was going to have a feast the next day. Peter was the best hunter in the village. He once killed three wild pigs in one day! They walked for hours through low bushes until they heard a wild pig. The pig ran, but they managed to shoot the pig and kill it. Then they tied up its legs with some rope they had brought with them and carried it home on a pole. When they brought it to the village, Peter's cousin saw the pig and realized that it was his own pig. Peter had mistakenly killed his cousin's pig.

Background information often tells about something that had happened earlier or something that would happen much later. Examples of these are: "their village was going to have a feast the next day," "He once killed three wild pigs in one day," and "that they had brought with them."

Often background information uses "be" verbs like "was" and "were," rather than action verbs. Examples of these are "their village was going to have a feast the next day," and "Peter was the best hunter in the village."

Background information can also be marked with words that tell the reader that this information is not part of the event line of the story. In this story, some of these words are "because," "once," and "had."

A writer may use background information:

- to help their listeners be interested in the story
- to help their listeners understand something in the story
- to help the listeners understand why something is important in the story
- to tell the setting of a story
 - > * Setting includes:
 - > * where the story takes place
 - > * when the story takes place
 - > * who is present when the story begins
 - > * what is happening when the story begins

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Languages have different ways of marking background information and storyline information.
- You (the translator) need to know the order of the events in the Bible, which information is background information, and which is storyline information.
- You will need to translate the story in a way that marks the background information in a way that your own readers will understand the order of events, which information is background information, and which is storyline information.

Examples From the Bible

Hagar gave birth to Abram's son, and Abram named his son, whom Hagar bore, Ishmael. Abram was 86 years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram. (Genesis 16:15-16 ULT)

The first sentence tells about two events. Hagar gave birth and Abraham named his son. The second sentence is background information about how old Abram was when those things happened.

And Jesus himself was beginning about 30 years old. He was the son (as it was assumed) of Joseph, of Heli, (Luke 3:23 ULT)

The verses before this tell about when Jesus was baptized. This sentence introduces background information about Jesus' age and ancestors. The story resumes in chapter 4 where it tells about Jesus going to the wilderness.

Then it happened on a Sabbath that he was going through the grain fields, and his disciples were picking and eating the heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands. But some of the Pharisees said ... (Luke 6:1-2a ULT)

These verses give the setting of the story. The events took place in a grain field on the Sabbath day. Jesus, his disciples, and some Pharisees were there, and Jesus' disciples were picking heads of grain and eating them. The main action in the story starts with the phrase, "But some of the Pharisees said"

Translation Strategies

To keep translations clear and natural you will need to study how people tell stories in your language. Observe how your language marks background information. You may need to write down some stories in order to study this. Observe what kinds of verbs your language uses for background information and what kinds of words or other markers signal that something is background information. Do these same things when you translate, so that your translation is clear and natural and people can understand it easily.

- (1) Use your language's way of showing that certain information is background information.
- (2) Reorder the information so that earlier events are mentioned first. (This is not always possible when the background information is very long.)

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use your language's way of showing that certain information is background information. The examples below explain how this was done in the ULT English translations.

And Jesus himself was beginning about 30 years old. He was the son (as it was assumed) of Joseph, of Heli. (Luke 3:23 ULT)

As here, English sometimes uses the word "and" to show that there is some kind of change in the story. The verb "was" shows that it is background information.

Therefore, also exhorting many other things, he preached the good news to the people. But Herod the tetrarch, having been rebuked by him concerning Herodias, the wife of his brother, and concerning all the evil things that Herod had done, added even this to them all: He locked John up in prison. (Luke 3:18-20 ULT)

The bolded phrase happened before John rebuked Herod. In English, the helping verb "had" in "had done" shows that Herod did those things before John rebuked him.

- (2) Reorder the information so that earlier events are mentioned first.

Hagar gave birth to Abram's son, and Abram named his son, whom Hagar bore, Ishmael.
Abram was 86 years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram. (Genesis 16:16 ULT)

"When Abram was 86 years old, Hagar gave birth to his son, and Abram named his son Ishmael."

Therefore, also exhorting many other things, he preached the good news to the people. But Herod the tetrarch, having been rebuked by him concerning Herodias, the wife of his brother, and concerning all the evil things that Herod had done, added even this to them all: He locked John up in prison. (Luke 3:18-20 ULT)

The translation below reorders John's rebuke and Herod's actions.

"Now Herod the tetrarch married his brother's wife, Herodias, and he did many other evil things, so John rebuked him. But then Herod did another very evil thing. He had John locked up in prison."

Biblical Distance

Description

The following terms are the most common measures for distance or length that were originally used in the Bible. Most of these are based on the sizes of the hand and forearm.

- The handbreadth was the width of the palm of a man’s hand.
- The span or handspan was the width of a man’s hand with the fingers spread out.
- The cubit was the length of a man’s forearm, from the elbow to the tip of the longest finger.
- The “long” cubit is used only in Ezekiel 40-48. It is the length of a normal cubit plus a span.
- The stadium (plural, stadia) referred to a certain footrace that was about 185 meters in length. Some older English versions translated this word as “furlong,” which referred to the average length of a plowed field.

The metric values in the table below are close but not exactly equal to the biblical measures. The biblical measures probably differed in exact length from time to time and place to place. The equivalents below are an attempt to give an average measurement.

Original Measure	Metric Measure
handbreadth	8 centimeters
span	23 centimeters
cubit	46 centimeters
“long” cubit	54 centimeters
stadia	185 meters

Translation Principles

The people in the Bible did not use modern measures such as meters, liters, and kilograms. Using the original measures can help readers know that the Bible really was written long ago in a time when people used those measures.

Using modern measures can help readers understand the text more easily.

Whatever measure you use, it would be good, if possible, to tell about the other kind of measure in the text or a footnote.

If you do not use the Biblical measures, try not to give the readers the idea that the measurements are exact. For example, if you translate one cubit as “.46 meters” or even as “46 centimeters,” readers might think that the measurement is exact. It would be better to say “half a meter,” “45 centimeters,” or “50 centimeters.”

Sometimes it can be helpful to use the word “about” to show that a measurement is not exact. For example, Luke 24:13 says that Emmaus was 60 stadia from Jerusalem. This can be translated as “about ten kilometers” from Jerusalem.

When God tells people how long something should be, and when people make things according to those lengths, do not use “about” in the translation. Otherwise it will give the impression that God did not care exactly how long something should be.

This page answers the question: How can I translate the lengths and distances that are in the Bible?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Translation Strategies

- (1) Use the measurements from the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)
- (2) Use the metric measurements given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.
- (3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement.
- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a note.
- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a note.

Translation Strategies Applied

The strategies are all applied to Exodus 25:10 below.

They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be two and a half cubits; its width will be one cubit and a half; and its height will be one cubit and a half. (Exodus 25:10 ULT)

- (1) Use the measurements given in the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)

"They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be two and a half kubits; its width will be one kubit and a half; and its height will be one kubit and a half."

- (2) Use the metric measurements given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.

"They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be one meter; its width will be two thirds of a meter; and its height will be two thirds of a meter."

- (3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement. For example, if you measure things using the standard meter length, you could translate it as below.

"They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be one meter; its width will be two thirds of a meter; and its height will be two thirds of a meter."

- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a note. The following shows both measurements in the text.

"They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be two and a half cubits (one meter); its width will be one cubit and a half (two thirds of a meter); and its height will be one cubit and a half (two thirds of a meter)."

- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a note. The following shows the ULT measurements in notes.

“They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be one meter; ¹ its width will be two thirds of a meter; ² and its height will be two thirds of a meter.”

The footnotes would look like:

“They are to make an ark of acacia wood. Its length must be one meter; ¹ its width will be two thirds of a meter; ² and its height will be two thirds of a meter.”

The footnotes would look like:

^[1] two and a half cubits
^[2] one cubit and a half

Description

This page answers the question: How can I translate the values of money in the Bible?

In early Old Testament times, people weighed their metals, such as silver and gold, and would pay a certain weight of that metal in order to buy things. Later, people started to make coins that each contained a standard amount of a certain metal. The daric is one such coin. In New Testament times, people used silver and copper coins.

The two tables below show some of the most well-known units of money found in the Old Testament (OT) and New Testament (NT). The table for Old Testament units shows what kind of metal was used and how much it weighed. The table for New Testament units shows what kind of metal was used and how much it was worth in terms of a day's wage.

Unit in OT	Metal	Weight
daric	gold coin	8.4 grams
shekel	various metals	11 grams
talent	various metals	33 kilograms

Unit in NT	Metal	Day's Wage
denarius/denarii	silver coin	1 day
drachma	silver coin	1 day
mite	copper coin	1/64 day
shekel	silver coin	4 days
talent	silver	6,000 days

Translation Principle

Do not use modern money values since these change from year to year. Using them will cause the Bible translation to become outdated and inaccurate.

Translation Strategies

The value of most money in the Old Testament was based on its weight. So when translating these weights in the Old Testament, see Biblical Weight. The strategies below are for translating the value of money in the New Testament.

- (1) Use the Bible term and spell it in a way that is similar to the way it sounds. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)
- (2) Describe the value of the money in terms of what kind of metal it was made of and how many coins were used.
- (3) Describe the value of the money in terms of what people in Bible times could earn in one day of work.
- (4) Use the biblical term and give the equivalent amount in the text or a footnote.

(5) Use the biblical term and explain it in a footnote.

Translation Strategies Applied

The translations strategies are all applied to Luke 7:41 below.

█ The one owed 500 denarii, and the other, 50. (Luke 7:41b ULT)

Use the Bible term and spell it in a way that is similar to the way it sounds. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)

█ "The one owed 500 denali, and the other, 50."

Describe the value of the money in terms of what kind of metal it was made of and how many pieces or coins were used.

█ "The one owed 500 silver coins, and the other, 50."

(3) Describe the value of the money in terms of what people in Bible times could earn in one day of work.

█ "The one owed 500 days' wages, and the other, 50."

(4) Use the Bible term and give the equivalent amount in the text or a footnote.

█ "The one owed 500 denarii 1, and the other owed 50 denarii. 2"

The footnotes would look like:

█ [1] 500 days' wages [2] 50 days' wages

(5) Use the Bible term and explain it in a footnote.

█ "The one owed 500 denarii,¹ and the other, 50." (Luke 7:41 ULT)

█ ^[1] A denarius was the amount of silver that people could earn in one day of work.

Biblical Volume

Description

The following terms are the most common units of volume used in the Bible to state how much a certain container could hold. The containers and measurements are given for both liquids (such as wine) and dry solids (such as grain). The metric values are not exactly equal to the biblical measures. The biblical measures probably differed in exact amount from time to time and place to place. The equivalents below are an attempt to give an average measurement.

This page answers the question: How can I translate the measures of volume that are in the Bible?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/translate-decimal\]\]](#)

Type	Original Measure	Liters
Dry	omer	2 liters
Dry	ephah	22 liters
Dry	homer	220 liters
Dry	cor	220 liters
Dry	seah	7.7 liters
Dry	letheke	114.8 liters
Liquid	metrete	40 liters
Liquid	bath	22 liters
Liquid	hin	3.7 liters
Liquid	kab	1.23 liters
Liquid	log	0.31 liters

Translation Principles

- The people in the Bible did not use modern measures such as meters, liters, and kilograms. Using the original measures can help readers know that the Bible really was written long ago in a time when people used those measures.
- Using modern measures can help readers understand the text more easily.
- Whatever measures you use, it would be good, if possible, to tell about the other kinds of measures in the text or a footnote.
- If you do not use the biblical measures, try not to give the readers the idea that the measurements are exact. For example, if you translate one hin as “3.7 liters,” readers might think that the measurement is exactly 3.7 liters, not 3.6 or 3.8. It would be better to use a more approximate measure such as “three and a half liters” or “four liters.”
- When God tells people how much of something to use, and when people use those amounts in obedience to him, do not say “about” in the translation. Otherwise it will give the impression that God did not care exactly how much they used.

When the unit of measure is stated

Translation Strategies

- (1) Use the measurements from the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)
- (2) Use the metric measurements given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.
- (3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement.
- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a note.
- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a note.

Translation Strategies Applied

The strategies are all applied to Isaiah 5:10 below.

For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only one bath, and one homer of seed will yield only an ephah. (Isaiah 5:10 ULT)

- (1) Use the measurements from the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only one bat, and one homer of seed will yield only an efa.”

- (2) Use the measurements given in the UST. Usually they are metric measurements. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only 22 liters and 220 liters of seed will yield only 22 liters.”

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only 22, and ten baskets of seed will yield only one basket.”

- (3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement.

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only six gallons, and six and a half bushels of seed will yield only 20 quarts.”

- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a note. The following shows both measurements in the text.

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only one bath (six gallons), and one homer (six and a half bushels) of seed will yield only an ephah (20 quarts).”

- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a note. The following shows the ULT measurements in footnotes.

“For a ten-yoke vineyard will yield only 22 liters¹, and 220 liters² of seed will yield only 22 liters³.”

The footnotes would look like:

- [1] one bath
- [2] one homer
- [3] one ephah

When the unit of measure is implied

Sometimes the Hebrew does not specify a particular unit of volume but only uses a number. In these cases, many English versions, including the ULT and UST, add the word “measure.”

When you came to a heap of 20 measures of grain, there were only ten, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out 50 measures of wine, there were only 20. (Haggai 2:16 ULT)

Translation Strategies

- (1) Translate literally by using the number without a unit.
- (2) Use a generic word like “measure” or “quantity” or “amount.”
- (3) Use the name of an appropriate container, such as “basket” for grain or “jar” for wine.
- (4) Use a unit of measure that you are already using in your translation.

Translation Strategies Applied

The strategies are all applied to Haggai 2:16 below.

When you came to a heap of 20 measures of grain, there were only ten, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out fifty measures of wine, there were only 20. (Haggai 2:16 ULT)

- (1) Translate literally by using the number without a unit.

When you came to a heap of 20 of grain, there were only ten, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out 50 of wine, there were only 20.

- (2) Use a generic word like “measure” or “quantity” or “amount.”

When you came to a heap of 20 amounts of grain, there were only ten, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out fifty amounts of wine, there were only 20.

- (3) Use the name of an appropriate container, such as “basket” for grain or “jar” for wine.

When you came to a heap of 20 baskets of grain, there were only ten, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out 50 jars of wine, there were only 20.

- (4) Use a unit of measure that you are already using in your translation.

When you came to a heap for 20 liters of grain, there were only ten liters, and when you came to the wine vat to draw out 50 liters of wine, there were only 20 liters.

Biblical Weight

Description

This page answers the question: How can I translate the values of weight in the Bible?

The following terms are the most common units of weight in the Bible. The term “shekel” means “weight,” and many other weights are described in terms of the shekel. Some of these weights were used for money. The metric values in the table below are not exactly equal to the biblical measures. The biblical measures differed in exact amount from time to time and place to place. The equivalents below are only an attempt to give an average measurement.

Original Measure	Shekels	Grams	Kilograms
shekel	1 shekel	11 grams	-
bekah	1/2 shekel	5.7 grams	-
pim	2/3 shekel	7.6 grams	-
gerah	1/20 shekel	0.57 grams	-
mina	50 shekels	550 grams	1/2 kilogram
talent	3,000 shekels	-	34 kilograms

Translation Principles

The people in the Bible did not use modern measures such as meters, liters, and kilograms. Using the original measures can help readers know that the Bible really was written long ago in a time when people used those measures.

Using modern measures can help readers understand the text more easily.

Whatever measure you use, it would be good, if possible, to tell about the other kind of measure in the text or a footnote.

If you do not use the biblical measures, try not to give the readers the idea that the measurements are exact. For example, if you translate one gerah as “.57 grams,” readers might think that the measurement is exact. It would be better to say “half a gram.”

Sometimes it can be helpful to use the word “about” to show that a measurement is not exact. For example, 2 Samuel 21:16 says that Goliath’s spear weighed 300 shekels. Instead of translating this as “3300 grams” or “3.3 kilograms,” it can be translated as “about three and one half kilograms.”

When God tells people how much something should weigh, and when people use those weights, do not say “about” in the translation. Otherwise, it will give the impression that God did not care exactly how much the thing should weigh.

Translation Strategies

(1) Use the measurements from the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)

(2) Use the metric measurements given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.

(3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this, you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement.

- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a note.
- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a note.

Translation Strategies Applied

The strategies are all applied to Exodus 38:29 below.

■ The bronze from the wave offering weighed 70 talents and 2,400 shekels. (Exodus 38:29 ULT)

- (1) Use the measurements from the ULT. These are the same kinds of measurements that the original writers used. Spell them in a way that is similar to the way they sound or are spelled in the ULT. (See Copy or Borrow Words.)

■ "The bronze from the wave offering weighed 70 talentes and 2,400 sekeles."

- (2) Use the metric measurements given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.

■ "The bronze from the wave offering weighed 2,400 kilograms."

- (3) Use measurements that are already used in your language. In order to do this you would need to know how your measurements relate to the metric system and figure out each measurement.

■ "The bronze from the wave offering weighed 5,300 pounds."

- (4) Use the measurements from the ULT and include measurements that your people know in the text or a footnote. The following shows both measurements in the text.

■ "The bronze from the wave offering weighed 70 talents (2,380 kilograms) and 2,400 shekels (26.4 kilograms)."

- (5) Use measurements that your people know, and include the measurements from the ULT in the text or in a footnote. The following shows the ULT measurements in notes.

■ "The bronze from the offering weighed 70 talents and 2,400 shekels. ¹"

The footnote would look like:

■ ^[1] This was a total of about 2,400 kilograms.

Collective Nouns

Description

A collective noun is a singular noun that refers to a group of something. Examples: a family, clan, or tribe is a group of people who are related to each other; a flock is a group of birds or sheep; a fleet is a group of ships; and an army is a group of soldiers.

Many collective nouns are used exclusively as a singular replacement for a group as in the examples above. Frequently in the Bible the name of an ancestor is used, through a process of metonymy, as a collective noun referencing the group of his descendants. In the Bible, sometimes the singular noun will take a singular verb form, other times it will take a plural verb form. This may depend on how the author is thinking about the group, or whether the action is being done as a group or as individuals.

Reason This is a Translation Issue

There are several issues that require care when translating collective nouns. Further care is needed because the language you are translating into may not use collective nouns in the same way as the language you are translating from. Issues include:

The source language may have a collective noun for a group that the target language does not and vice-versa. You may have to translate a collective noun with a plural noun in your language, or you may need to translate a plural noun with a collective noun in your language.

Subject-verb agreement. Different languages or dialects may have different rules about using singular or plural verbs with collective nouns.

Examples (from Wikipedia):

- a singular noun with a singular verb: The team is in the dressing room.
- a singular noun with a plural verb which is correct in British, but not American, English: The team are fighting among themselves. The team have finished the project.

Pronoun agreement. Similar to the previous, care needs to be taken to use the correct pronoun plurality and possibly gender or noun class to agree with the number/gender/class of the noun used. See the biblical examples below.

Clarity of referent. Especially if there is a mismatch in your translation between the verb and noun or pronoun concerning any of the factors above, readers may be confused about who or what is being referenced.

Examples from the Bible

And Joab and all the army which was with him arrived (2 Samuel 3:23a ULT)

The word in bold is written in singular form in both Hebrew and English, but it refers to a group of warriors that fight together.

and though the flock is cut off from the fold and there are no cattle in the stalls. (Habakkuk 3:17b ULT)

The word in bold is singular and refers to a group of sheep.

And he went out again beside the sea, and all the crowd was coming to him, and he was teaching them. (Mark 2:13 ULT)

Note in this example that the noun is singular but the pronoun is plural. This may or may not be allowed or natural in your language.

Do not let your heart be troubled. You believe in God; believe also in me. (John 14:1 ULT)

In this verse, the words translated “your” and “you” are plural, referring to many people. The word “heart” is singular in form, but it refers to all of their hearts as a group.

And he shall take the hair of the head of his separation. And he shall put it on the fire that is under the sacrifice of the peace offerings. (Num 6:18b ULT)

The word hair is singular, but it refers to many hairs, not just one.

And Pharaoh said, “Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I will not let Israel go.” (Exodus 5:2 ULT)

Here, “Israel” is singular, but means “the Israelites” by metonymy.

Translation Strategies

If your language has a collective (singular) noun that refers to the same group as referenced by the collective noun in the source text, then translate the word using that term. If not, here are some strategies to consider:

- (1) Translate the collective noun with a plural noun.
- (2) Add a plural word to the collective noun so that you can use a plural verb and pronouns.
- (3) Use a phrase to describe the group that the collective noun references. A useful strategy here can be to use a general collective noun that refers to a group of people or things.
- (4) If your language uses a collective noun for something that is a plural noun in the source language, you can translate the plural noun as a collective noun and, if necessary, change the form of the verb and any pronouns so that they agree with the singular noun.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Translate the collective noun with a plural noun.

And Pharaoh said, “Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I will not let Israel go.” (Exodus 5:2 ULT)

And Pharaoh said, “Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let the Israelites go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I will not let the Israelites go.”

And he shall take the hair of the head of his separation. And he shall put it on the fire that is under the sacrifice of the peace offerings. (Num 6:18b ULT)

And he shall take the hairs of the head of his separation. And he shall put them on the fire that is under the sacrifice of the peace offerings.

- (2) Add a plural word to the collective noun so that you can use a plural verb and pronouns.

And Joab and all the army which was with him arrived (2 Samuel 3:23a ULT)

And Joab and all the army men who were with him arrived

And he went out again beside the sea, and all the crowd was coming to him, and he was teaching them. (Mark 2:13 ULT)

And he went out again beside the sea, and all the people of the crowd were coming to him, and he was teaching them.

(3) Use a phrase to describe the group that the collective noun references. A useful strategy here can be to use a general collective noun that refers to a group of people or things.

and though the flock is cut off from the fold and there are no cattle in the stalls. (Habakkuk 3:17b ULT) and though the group of sheep is cut off from the fold and there are no cattle in the stalls.

And Pharaoh said, "Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I will not let Israel go." (Exodus 5:2 ULT)

And Pharaoh said, "Who is Yahweh that I should listen to his voice to let the people of Israel go? I do not know Yahweh; and moreover, I will not let the people of Israel go."

(4) If your language uses a collective noun for something that is a plural noun in the source language, you can translate the plural noun as a collective noun and, if necessary, change the form of the verb and any pronouns so that they agree with the singular noun.

Now this John had his clothing from the hairs of a camel and a leather belt around his waist (Matthew 3:4a ULT)

Now this John had his clothing from the hair of a camel and a leather belt around his waist

Connect — Background Information

Time Relationship

Some connectors establish time relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How can I translate clauses that give background information?

Background Clause

Description

A background clause is one that describes something that is ongoing. Then, in the same sentence, another clause indicates an event that begins to happen during that time. These events are also simultaneous events, but they have the further relationship of background event and main event because the event that is already happening serves as the background for the other event, the one that is in focus. The background event simply provides the time frame or other context for the main event or events.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Languages indicate a shift in time in different ways. You (the translator) need to understand how these shifts in time are indicated in the original languages in order to communicate them clearly in your own language. Background clauses often indicate a time that began long before the event that is in focus. Translators need to understand how both the source language and the target language communicate background events. Some English words that indicate background events are “now,” “when,” “while,” and “during.” Those words can also indicate simultaneous events. To tell the difference, ask yourself if all of the events seem to be equal in importance and started at about the same time. If so, they are probably simultaneous events. But if an event(s) is ongoing and another event(s) just started, then the ongoing event(s) is probably background to the other event(s). Some common phrases that indicate background events are “in those days” and “at that time.”

Examples From OBS and the Bible

When Solomon was old, he also worshiped their gods. (OBS Story 18 Frame 3)

Solomon began to worship foreign gods at a time when he was old. Being old is the background event. Worshiping other gods is the main event.

And his parents went every year to Jerusalem to the Feast of the Passover. And when he was 12 years old, they went up according to the custom of the feast. (Luke 2:41-42 ULT)

The first event—going to Jerusalem—is ongoing and started long ago. We know this because of the words “every year.” Going to Jerusalem is the background event. Then an event begins that started during the time “when he was twelve years old.” So the main event is the specific time Jesus and his family traveled to Jerusalem for the Passover festival when he was twelve years old.

And it came about that, while they were there, the days were fulfilled for her to give birth. (Luke 2:6 ULT)

Being in Bethlehem is the background event. The birth of the baby is the main event.

And in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar—while Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, and Herod was tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip was tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene, during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas—the word of God came to John, the son of Zechariah, in the wilderness.

(Luke 3:1-2 ULT)

This example begins with five background clauses (marked by commas), signalled as background by the words “while” and “during.” Then the main event happens: “the word of God came to John.”

Translation Strategies

If the way that the Background Clauses are marked is also clear in your language, then translate the Background Clauses as they are.

(1) If the connecting word does not make it clear that what follows is a Background Clause, use a connecting word that communicates this more clearly.

(2) If your language marks Background Clauses in a different way than using connecting words (such as by using different verb forms), then use that way.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

And in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar—while Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, and Herod was tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip was tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene, during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas—the word of God came to John, the son of Zechariah, in the wilderness.
(Luke 3:1-2 ULT)

(1) If the connecting word does not make it clear that what follows is a background clause, use a connecting word that communicates this more clearly.

It happened during the time that Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, and during the time that Herod was tetrarch of Galilee, and during the time that his brother Philip was tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and during the time that Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene, and also during the time that Annas and Caiaphas were high priests—that the word of God came to John son of Zechariah in the wilderness.

(2) If your language marks background clauses in a different way than using connecting words, such as with different verb forms, then use that way.

Pontius Pilate was governing Judea, and Herod was ruling over Galilee, and his brother Philip was ruling over the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias was ruling over Abilene, and Annas and Caiaphas were being high priests—the word of God came to John son of Zechariah in the wilderness.

Example of Differences in Time Relationship Connecting Words:

Category	Example
Background setting	Yahweh's word was rare in those days ;
Background repeated	there was no frequent prophetic vision.
Introduction of main event	At that time, when Eli
Background	whose eyesight had begun to grow dim so that he could not see well,
Simultaneous background	was lying down in his own bed.
Simultaneous background	The lamp of God had not yet gone out,
Simultaneous background	and Samuel was lying down to sleep in the temple of Yahweh,
Simultaneous background	where the ark of God was.
Main event	Yahweh called to Samuel,
Sequential event	who said, "Here I am." (1 Sam 3:1-4 ULT)

In the above example, the first two lines talk about a condition that was going on for a long time. This is the general, long-term background. We know this from the phrase "in those days." After the introduction of the main event ("At that time,"), there are several lines of simultaneous background. The first one is introduced by "when," and then three more follow, with the last connected by "and." The background clause introduced by "where" explains a little more about the background clause before it. Then the main event happens, followed by more events. Translators will need to think about the best way to show these relationships in their language.

Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions

Conditional Relationships

This page answers the question: How can I translate contrary-to-fact conditions?

Conditional connectors connect two clauses to indicate that one of them will happen when the other one happens. In English, the most common way to connect conditional clauses is with the words, “if ... then.” Often, however, the word “then” is not stated.

Contrary-to-Fact Conditions

Description

A Contrary-to-Fact Condition is a condition that sounds hypothetical, but the speaker is already certain that it is NOT true.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Usually there are no special words that indicate a Contrary-to-Fact Condition. The writer assumes that the reader knows that it is NOT a true condition. For this reason it often requires knowledge of implied information to know that it is not true. If this kind of condition is difficult for translators to communicate, they may want to consider using the same strategies that they used for Rhetorical Questions or Implied Information.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

But if Baal is God, worship him! (Story 19 Frame 6 OBS)

Elijah came near to all the people and said, “How long will you keep changing your mind? If Yahweh is God, follow him. But if Baal is God, then follow him.” Yet the people did not answer him a word. (1 Kings 18:21 ULT)

Baal is not God. Elijah is not suggesting that Baal might be God, and he does not want the people to follow Baal. But Elijah used a conditional statement to show them that what they were doing was wrong. In the example above, we see two conditions that have the same construction. The first one, “If Yahweh is God,” is a Factual Condition because Elijah is certain that it is true. The second one, “if Baal is God,” is a Contrary-to-Fact Condition because Elijah is certain that it is not true. You will need to consider if people would say both of these in the same way in your language or if they would say them in different ways.

But his wife replied to him, “If Yahweh had desired to kill us, he would not have taken from our hand the whole burnt offering and the offering. He would not have shown us all these things, and at this time would he have not allowed us to hear about this.” (Judges 13:23 ULT)

Manoah’s wife thinks that the second part of her conditional statement is not true, therefore the first part is also not true. God received their burnt offering; therefore, He does not want to kill them.

>

“If only we had died by Yahweh’s hand in the land of Egypt, sitting by a pot of meat and eating bread to the full.” (Exodus 16b:3 ULT)

Of course the people speaking here did not die in Egypt, and so this is a Contrary-to-Fact condition that is used to express a wish.

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! If the mighty deeds had been done in Tyre and Sidon which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.” (Matthew 11:21 ULT)

The English reader knows that these last two examples are Contrary-to-Fact conditions because of the past-tense verbs used in the first part (they are not things that might happen). The last example also has a second part that uses “would have.” These words also signal something that did not happen.

Translation Strategies

If Contrary-to-Fact conditions are clear in your language, then use them as they are.

- (1) If the condition leads the reader to think that the speaker believes something that is false, then restate the condition as something that others believe.
- (2) If the condition leads the reader to think that the speaker is suggesting that the first part is true, then restate it as a statement that it is not true.
- (3) If the condition is expressing something that did not happen but the speaker wanted it to happen, restate it as a wish.
- (4) If the condition is expressing something that did not happen, restate it as a negative statement.
- (5) Often Factual and Contrary-to-Fact conditions are used to make reasoned arguments for a change in behavior. If translators are struggling to know the best way to translate them, it could be helpful to discuss how this is done in their language community. If someone is trying to convince people to change their behavior, how do they do that? It may be possible to adapt similar strategies when translating these conditions.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If the condition leads the reader to think that the speaker believes something that is false, then restate the condition as something that others believe.

But if Baal is God, worship him! (Story 19 Frame 6 OBS)

If you believe that Baal is God, then worship him!

- (2) If the condition leads the reader to think that the speaker is suggesting that the first part is true, then restate it as a statement that it is not true.

If Baal is not God, then you should not worship him!

But his wife replied to him, “If Yahweh had desired to kill us, he would not have taken from our hand the whole burnt offering and the offering. He would not have shown us all these things, and at this time would he have not allowed us to hear about this.” (Judges 13:23 ULT)

“Yahweh does not want to kill us, or he would not have received the burnt offering and the offering we gave him.”

- (3) If the condition is expressing something that did not happen but the speaker wanted it to happen, restate it as a wish.

“If only we had died by Yahweh’s hand in the land of Egypt, sitting by a pot of meat and eating bread to the full.” (Exodus 16b:3 ULT)

“I wish we had died by Yahweh’s hand in the land of Egypt...”

(4) If the condition is expressing something that did not happen, restate it as a negative statement.

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! If the mighty deeds had been done in Tyre and Sidon which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.” (Matthew 11:21 ULT)

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! The mighty deeds which were done in you were not done in Tyre and Sidon. But if they had been done there, those people would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.”

(5) Often Factual and Contrary-to-Fact Conditions are used to make reasoned arguments for a change in behavior. If translators are struggling to know the best way to translate them, it could be helpful to discuss how this is done in their language community. If someone is trying to convince people to change their behavior, how do they do that? It may be possible to adapt similar strategies when translating these conditions.

But if Baal is God, worship him! (Story 19 Frame 6 OBS)

Is Baal the one who is truly God? Should you worship him?

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! If the mighty deeds had been done in Tyre and Sidon which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.” (Matthew 11:21 ULT)

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! You think that you are better than Tyre and Sidon, but you are not! They would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes at seeing the mighty deeds that you have seen! You should be like them!”

Connect — Contrast Relationship

Logical Relationships

Some connectors establish logical relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How can I translate a contrast relationship?

Contrast Relationship

Description

A contrast relationship is a logical relationship in which one event or item is in contrast or opposition to another.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

In Scripture, many events did not happen as the people involved intended or expected them to happen. Sometimes people acted in ways that were not expected, whether good or bad. Often it was God at work, changing the events. These events were often pivotal. It is important that translators understand and communicate these contrasts. In English, contrast relationships are often indicated by the words “but,” “although,” “even though,” “though,” “yet,” or “however.”

Examples From OBS and the Bible

You tried to do evil when you sold me as a slave, but God used the evil for good! (Story 8 Frame 12 OBS)

Joseph’s brothers’ evil plan to sell Joseph is contrasted with God’s good plan to save many people. The word “but” marks the contrast.

For who is greater, the one who reclines at the table or the one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at the table? Yet I am among you as one who serves. (Luke 22:27 ULT)

Jesus contrasts the proud way that human leaders behave with the humble way that he behaves. The contrast is marked by the word “yet.”

The hill country will also be yours. Though it is a forest, you will clear it and it will become yours to its farthest borders, for you will drive out the Canaanites, even though they have chariots of iron, and even though they are strong. (Joshua 17:18 ULT)

It was unexpected that the Israelites, who had been slaves in Egypt, would be able to conquer and lay claim to the promised land.

Translation Strategies

If your language uses contrast relationships in the same way as in the text, then use them as they are.

(1) If the contrast relationship between the clauses is not clear, then use a connecting word or phrase that is more specific or more clear.

(2) If it is more clear in your language to mark the other clause of the contrast relationship, then use a connecting word on the other clause.

(3) If your language shows a contrast relationship in a different way, then use that way.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If the contrast relationship between the clauses is not clear, then use a connecting word or phrase that is more specific or more clear.

For who is greater, the one who reclines at table or the one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at table? Yet I am among you as one who serves. (Luke 22:27 ULT)

For who is greater, the one who reclines at table or the one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at table? Unlike that person, I am among you as one who serves.

(2) If it is more clear in your language to mark the other clause of the contrast relationship, then use a connecting word on the other clause.

The hill country will also be yours. Though it is a forest, you will clear it and it will become yours to its farthest borders, for you will drive out the Canaanites, even though they have chariots of iron, and even though they are strong. (Joshua 17:18 ULT)

The hill country will also be yours. It is a forest, but you will clear it and it will become yours to its farthest borders. They have chariots of iron, and they are strong, but you will drive out the Canaanites.

(3) If your language shows a contrast relationship in a different way, then use that way.

[David] found favor in the sight of God, and he asked if he might find a dwelling place for the house of Jacob. However, Solomon built the house for him. But the Most High does not live in houses made with hands. (Acts 7:46-48a ULT)

[David] found favor in the sight of God, and he asked if he might find a dwelling place for the house of Jacob. But it was, Solomon, not David, who built the house for God. Even though Solomon built him a house, the Most High does not live in houses made with hands.

Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

Logical Relationships

Some connectors establish logical relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How can I translate a goal (purpose) relationship?

Goal (or Purpose) Relationship

Description

A Goal Relationship is a logical relationship in which the second event is the purpose or goal of the first event. In order for something to be a goal relationship, someone must do the first event with the intention that it will cause the second event.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

In Scripture, the goal or purpose may be stated either first or second. But in some languages, the goal or purpose must always occur in the same position (either first or second) in order for that logical relationship to be understood. You (the translator) need to understand the relationship between the two parts and communicate those accurately in your language. This may require changing the order of the two events. It may also require specific words to indicate that one is the goal or purpose of the other. Words commonly used to indicate a goal relationship in English are “in order to,” “in order that” or “so that.” It is important that the translator recognize the words that signal a goal relationship and translate that relationship in a natural way.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

She became angry and falsely accused Joseph so that he was arrested and sent to prison.
(Story 8 Frame 5 OBS)

The goal or purpose of the woman’s false accusation was to get Joseph arrested and sent to prison.

Meanwhile Gideon, his son, was threshing out wheat at the winepress in order to hide from the presence of Midian. (Judges 6:11b ULT)

Here the prepositional phrase begins with “in order to.”

Now if I have found favor in your eyes, show me your ways so that I may know you and continue to find favor in your eyes. Remember that this nation is your people. (Exodus 33:13 ULT)

Moses wants God to show him God’s ways for the goal or purpose of Moses knowing God and continuing to find favor with God.

Even be sure to pull some out from the bundles for her and leave it for her to glean, and do not rebuke her! (Ruth 2:16 ULT)

The goal or purpose of Boaz instructing the men to pull out the grain from their bundles and leave it was for Ruth to gather (glean) it.

The shepherds said to each other, “Let us indeed go over as far as Bethlehem, and let us see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.” (Luke 2:15 ULT)

The purpose of going to Bethlehem was to see the thing that had happened. Here the purpose is not marked and might be misunderstood.

“... if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments.” (Matthew 19:17b ULT)

The goal of keeping the commandments is to enter into life.

Do not turn from it to the right or to the left so that you may be wise in everything in which you walk. (Joshua 1:7c ULT)

The purpose of not turning away from the instructions that Moses gave to the Israelites was so that they would be wise.

But when the vine growers saw the son, they said among themselves, ‘This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and take over his inheritance.’ So they took him, threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. (Matt 21:38-39 ULT)

The purpose of the vine growers killing the heir was so they could take his inheritance. They state both events as a plan, joining them only with “and.” Then the word “so” marks the reporting of the first event, but the second event (the goal or purpose) is not stated.

Translation Strategies

If your language uses Goal or Purpose relationships in the same way as in the text, then use them as they are.

- (1) If the construction of the Goal statement is unclear, change it to one that is more clear.
- (2) If the order of the statements makes the Goal statement unclear or confusing for the reader, then change the order.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If the construction of the goal statement is unclear, change it to one that is more clear.

“Even be sure to pull some out from the bundles for her and leave it for her to glean, and do not rebuke her!” (Ruth 2:16 ULT)

“Even be sure to pull some out from the bundles for her and leave it so that she can glean it, and do not rebuke her!”

The shepherds said to each other, “Let us indeed go over as far as Bethlehem, and let us see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.” (Luke 2:15 ULT)

- (2) If the order of the statements makes the goal statement unclear or confusing for the reader, then change the order.

“... if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments.” (Matthew 19:17b ULT)

“... keep the commandments if you want to enter into life.” or: “... keep the commandments so that you can enter into life.”

But when the vine growers saw the son, they said among themselves, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and take over his inheritance.' So they took him, threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. (Matt 21:38-39 ULT)

(1) and (2)

But when the vine growers saw the son, they said among themselves, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and take over his inheritance.' So they took him, threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. (Matt 21:38-39 ULT)

Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

Conditional Relationships

This page answers the question: How can I translate hypothetical conditions?

Conditional connectors connect two clauses to indicate that one of them will happen when the other one happens. In English, the most common way to connect conditional clauses is with the words “if ... then.” Often, however, the word “then” is not stated.

Hypothetical Condition

Description

A Hypothetical Condition is a condition in which the second event (the “then” clause) will only take place if the first event (the “if” clause) takes place or is fulfilled in some way. Sometimes what takes place is dependent on the actions of other people.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

It is important that translators understand whether or not something is a Hypothetical Condition so that they translate it in the correct way. For example, some of God’s promises to Israel were conditional, based on whether or not Israel obeyed God. However, many of God’s promises to Israel were not conditional; God would keep these promises whether or not the Israelites obeyed. It is important that you (the translator) know the difference between these two types of promises and communicate each one accurately in your own language. Also, sometimes conditions are stated in an order different than the order in which they would happen. If the target language would state the clauses in a different order, then you will need to make that adjustment.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

God promised to bless the people and protect them, if they obeyed these laws. But he said he would punish them if they did not obey them (Story 13 Frame 7 OBS)

There are two hypothetical conditions in this frame. In both of these conditions, the first event (the “if clause”) is stated after the “then” clause. If this is unnatural or confusing, the clauses can be restated in the more natural order. The first hypothetical condition is: if the Israelites obeyed God, then God would bless and protect them. The second hypothetical condition is: if the Israelites did not obey God, then God would punish them.

If you do what is right, will you not be accepted? (Genesis 4:7a ULT)

If Cain does what is right, then he will be accepted. The only way for Cain to be accepted is by doing what is right.

... if this plan or this work is of men, it will be overthrown. But if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. (Acts 5:38b-39aULT)

There are two hypothetical conditions here: (1) If it is true that this plan is of men, then it will be overthrown; (2) If it is true that this plan is of God, then it cannot be overthrown.

Translation Strategies

- (1) If the order of clauses makes the hypothetical condition confusing, then change the order of the clauses.
- (2) If it is not clear where the second event is, mark that part with a word like “then.”

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If the order of clauses makes the hypothetical condition confusing, then change the order of the clauses.

God promised to bless the people and protect them if they obeyed these laws. But he said he would punish them if they did not obey them. (Story 13 Frame 7 OBS)

If the people obeyed these laws, God promised he would bless them and protect them. But if they did not obey these laws, God said that he would punish them.

(2) If it is not clear where the second event is, mark that part with a word like “then.”

God promised to bless the people and protect them, if they obeyed these laws. But he said he would punish them if they did not obey them. (Story 13 Frame 7 OBS)

Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

Logical Relationships

Some connectors establish logical relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How can I translate the reason-result relationship?

Reason-and-Result Relationships

Description

A reason-and-result relationship is a logical relationship in which one event is the reason or cause for another event. The second event, then, is the result of the first event.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

A reason-and-result relationship can look forward — “I did Y because I wanted X to happen.” But usually it is looking backward — “X happened, and so I did Y.” Also, it is possible to state the reason either before or after the result. Many languages have a preferred order for the reason and the result, and it will be confusing for the reader if they are in the opposite order. Common words used to indicate a reason-and-result relationship in English are “because,” “so,” “therefore,” and “for.” Some of these words can also be used to indicate a goal relationship, so translators need to be aware of the difference between a goal relationship and a reason-and-result relationship. It is necessary for translators to understand how the two events are connected, and then communicate them clearly in their language.

If the reason and result are stated in different verses, it is still possible to put them in a different order. If you change the order of the verses, then put the verse numbers together at the beginning of the group of verses that were rearranged like this: 1-2. This is called a Verse Bridge.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

The Jews were amazed, because Saul had tried to kill believers, and now he believed in Jesus!
(Story 46 Frame 6 OBS)

The reason is the change in Saul — that he had tried to kill people who believed in Jesus, and now he himself believed in Jesus. The result is that the Jews were amazed. “Because” connects the two ideas and indicates that what follows it is a reason.

Behold, a great storm arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves.
(Matthew 8:24a ULT)

The reason is the great storm, and the result is that the boat was covered with the waves. The two events are connected by “so that.” Notice that the term “so that” often indicates a goal relationship, but here the relationship is reason-and-result. This is because the sea cannot think and therefore does not have a goal.

God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it he rested from all his work which he had done in his creation. (Genesis 2:3 ULT)

The result is that God blessed and sanctified the seventh day. The reason is because he rested on the seventh day from his work.

“Blessed are the poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.” (Luke 6:20b ULT)

The result is that the poor are blessed. The reason is that the kingdom of God is theirs.

But he raised up in their place their sons that Joshua circumcised, being uncircumcised, because they had not been circumcised on the way. (Joshua 5:7 ULT)

The result is that Joshua circumcised the boys and men who had been born in the wilderness. The reason was that they had not been circumcised while they were journeying.

Translation Strategies

If your language uses reason-and-result relationships in the same way as in the text, then use them as they are.

- (1) If the order of the clauses is confusing for the reader, then change the order.
- (2) If the relationship between the clauses is not clear, then use a more clear connecting word.
- (3) If it is more clear to put a connecting word in the clause that does not have one, then do so.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it he rested from all his work which he had done in his creation. (Genesis 2:3 ULT)

(1) God rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had done in his creation. That is why he blessed the seventh day and sanctified it.

Blessed are the poor, for yours is the kingdom of God. (Luke 6:20 ULT)

- (1) The kingdom of God belongs to you who are poor. Therefore, the poor are blessed.
- (2) Blessed are the poor, because yours is the kingdom of God.
- (3) The reason that the poor are blessed is because yours is the kingdom of God.

Behold, a great storm arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. (Matthew 8:24a ULT)

- (1) Behold, the boat was covered with the waves because a great storm arose on the sea.
- (2) Behold, a great storm arose on the sea, with the result that the boat was covered with the waves.
- (3) Behold, because a great storm arose on the sea, the boat was covered with the waves.

Since he was not able to find out anything for certain because of the noise, he ordered that he be brought into the fortress. (Acts 21:34b ULT)

- (1) The captain ordered that Paul be brought into the fortress, because he could not tell anything because of all the noise.
- (2) Because the captain could not tell anything because of all the noise, he ordered that Paul be brought into the fortress.
- (3) The captain could not tell anything because of all the noise, so he ordered that Paul be brought into the fortress.

Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

Time Relationships

Some connectors establish time relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How do I translate clauses with a sequential time relationship?

Sequential Clause

Description

A sequential clause is a time relation that connects two events in which one happens and then the other happens.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Languages indicate sequences of events in different ways; some use ordering, some use connecting words, some even use relative tense (Relative tense is a tense that refers to a time in relation to a reference point in the context.) Connecting words that may indicate sequence are words such as “then,” “later,” “after,” “afterward,” “before,” “first,” and “when.” Translators need to be certain that they communicate the order of the events in a way that is natural in their language. This may require ordering clauses differently than in the original languages.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

When Joseph came to his brothers, they kidnapped him and sold him to some slave traders.
(OBS Story 8 Frame 2)

First Joseph came to his brothers, and then they kidnapped and sold him. We know this because of the connecting word “when.” The translator needs to decide the best way to communicate this sequence clearly and correctly.

It was as sweet as honey in my mouth, but after I ate it, my stomach became bitter.
(Revelation 10:10b ULT)

The event of the first clause occurs first, and the event of the last clause occurs later. We know this because of the connecting word “after.” The translator needs to decide the best way to communicate this sequence clearly and correctly.

For before the child knows to refuse the evil and choose the good, the land whose two kings you dread will be desolate (Isaiah 7:16 ULT)

The event of the first clause occurs after the event of the second clause. First the land they dread will be desolate, and then the child will know to refuse evil and choose good. We know this because of the connecting word “before.” However, stating the clauses in this order may communicate the wrong order of events in your language. The translator may have to change the order so that the clauses come in the order that they happen. Or it may be possible to keep the order of the original language text and mark the ordering of sequence so that it is clear to the readers. You (the translator) need to decide the best way to communicate this sequence clearly and correctly.

Then Mary arose in those days and quickly went into the hill country, to a city of Judah, and she entered into the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. (Luke 1:39-40 ULT)

Here the general connector “and” connects four events. These are sequential events—each happens after the one before it. We know this because that is the only way that these events would happen. So in English, the general connector “and” is enough to make the sequence clear for events such as these. You will need to decide if this also communicates this sequence clearly and correctly in your language.

Translation Strategies

If the sequence of events is clear in your language, then translate the sequence as it is.

- (1) If the connecting word is not clear, use a connecting word that communicates the sequence more clearly.
- (2) If the clauses are in an order that makes the sequence unclear, put the clauses in an order that is more clear.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If the connecting word is not clear, use a connecting word that communicates the sequence more clearly.

Then Mary arose in those days and quickly went into the hill country, to a city of Judah, and she entered into the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. (Luke 1:39-40 ULT)

Then Mary arose in those days. Then she quickly went into the hill country, to a city of Judah. Then she entered into the house of Zechariah, and then she greeted Elizabeth.

For before the child knows to refuse the evil and choose the good, the land whose two kings you dread will be desolate (Isaiah 7:16 ULT)

- (2) If the clauses are in an order that makes the sequence unclear, put the clauses in an order that is more clear.

Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship

Time Relationships

Some connectors establish time relationships between two phrases, clauses, sentences, or chunks of text.

This page answers the question: How can I translate clauses with a simultaneous time relationship?

Simultaneous Clause

Description

A simultaneous clause is a time relationship that connects two or more events that occur at the same time.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Languages indicate in many different ways that events occur simultaneously. These ways may vary based on whether or not something is causing the events to occur simultaneously. Connecting words that may indicate simultaneous events are words such as “while,” “as,” and “during.” Often the Bible does not state a relationship between the events but simply says they occurred at the same time. It is important that you (the translator) know when a time relationship is implied and when it is not implied so that you can communicate it clearly. A simultaneous clause communicates that events happened at the same time but it does not indicate that one event caused the other. That would be a reason-and-result relationship.

Examples From OBS and the Bible

Joseph served his master well, and God blessed Joseph. (OBS Story 8 Frame 4)

Two events happened while Joseph was a slave to a wealthy government official: Joseph served well, and God blessed Joseph. There is no indication of a reason-and-result (cause and effect) relationship between the two, or that the first event happened, and then the second event happened.

But in truth I say to you that there were many widows in Israel during the days of Elijah. (Luke 4:25b ULT)

The connecting word “during” tells us clearly that two things happened at the same time, but one event did not cause the other.

And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and they were wondering at his delaying in the temple. (Luke 1:21 ULT)

The people were both waiting and wondering at the same time. The general connector “and” indicates this.

While they were looking intensely into heaven as he was going up, suddenly, two men stood by them in white clothing. (Acts 1:10 ULT)

Three events happened at the same time — the disciples looking, Jesus going up, and two men standing. The connector words “while” and “as” tell us this.

Translation Strategies

If the way that the simultaneous clauses are marked also is clear in your language, then translate the simultaneous clauses as they are.

- (1) If the connecting word does not make it clear that the simultaneous clauses are happening at the same time, use a connecting word that communicates this more clearly.
- (2) If it is not clear which clause the simultaneous clause is connected to, and that they are happening at the same time, mark all of the clauses with a connecting word.
- (3) If your language marks events as simultaneous in a different way than using connecting words, then use that way.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

Below, each Bible verse will be restated in three different ways, according to the translation strategies in the list above. Each restatement will have the same number as the translation strategy that it is using.

And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and they were wondering at his delaying in the temple. (Luke 1:21 ULT)

- (1) Now while the people were waiting for Zechariah, they were wondering at his delaying in the temple.
- (2) Now while the people were waiting for Zechariah, they were also wondering at his delaying in the temple.
- (3) Now the people were waiting for Zechariah, wondering at his delaying in the temple.

While they were looking intently into heaven as he was going up, suddenly, two men stood by them in white clothing. (Acts 1:10 ULT)

- (1) And during the time they were looking intently into heaven while he was going up, suddenly, two men stood by them in white clothing.
- (2) And while they were looking intently into heaven as he was going up, suddenly, at that same time two men stood by them in white clothing.
- (3) They were looking intently into heaven; he was going up when they saw two men standing by them in white clothing.

Connecting Words and Phrases

Description

This page answers the question: How do connecting words work to join parts of the text in different ways?

As humans, we write our thoughts in phrases and sentences. We usually want to communicate a series of thoughts that are connected to each other in different ways. Connecting words and phrases show how these thoughts are related to each other. For example, we can show how the following thoughts are related by using the Connecting Words in bold type:

- It was raining, so I opened my umbrella.
- It was raining, but I did not have an umbrella. So I got very wet.

Connecting words or phrases can connect phrases or clauses within a sentence. They can connect sentences to each other. They can also connect entire chunks to one another in order to show how the chunk before relates to the chunk after the connecting word. Very often, the connecting words that connect entire chunks to one another are either conjunctions or adverbs.

It was raining, but I did not have an umbrella, so I got very wet.

Now I must change my clothes. Then I will drink a cup of hot tea and warm myself by the fire.

In the above example, the word now connects the two short chunks of text, showing the relationship between them. The speaker must change his clothes, drink hot tea, and warm himself because of something that happened earlier (that is, he got wet in the rain).

Sometimes people might not use a connecting word because they expect the context to help the readers understand the relationship between the thoughts. Some languages do not use connecting words as much as other languages do. They might say:

- It was raining. I did not have an umbrella. I got very wet.

You (the translator) will need to use the method that is most natural and clear in the target language. But in general, using connecting words whenever possible helps the reader to understand the ideas in the Bible most clearly.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- You need to understand the relationship between paragraphs, between sentences, and between parts of sentences in the Bible, and how connecting words and phrases can help you to understand the relationship between the thoughts that they are connecting.
- Each language has its own ways of showing how thoughts are related.
- You need to know how to help readers understand the relationship between the thoughts in a way that is natural in your language.

Translation Principles

- You need to translate in a way that readers can understand the same relationship between thoughts that the original readers would have understood.
- Whether or not a connecting word is used is not as important as readers being able to understand the relationship between the ideas.

The Different Types of Connections

Listed below are different types of connections between ideas or events. These different types of connections can be indicated by using different connecting words. When we write or translate something, it is important to use the right connecting word so that these connections are clear for the reader. If you would like additional information, simply click the colored, hyperlinked word to be directed to a page containing definitions and examples for each type of connection.

- Sequential Clause — a time relationship between two events in which one happens and then the other happens.
- Simultaneous Clause — a time relationship between two or more events that occur at the same time.
- Background Clause — a time relationship in which the first clause describes a long event that is happening at the time when the beginning of the second event happens, which is described in the second clause.
- Exceptional Relationship — one clause describes a group of people or items, and the other clause excludes one or more items or people from the group.
- Hypothetical Condition — the second event will only take place if the first one takes place. Sometimes what takes place is dependent on the actions of other people.
- Factual Condition — a connection that sounds hypothetical but is already certain or true, so that the condition is guaranteed to happen.
- Contrary-to-Fact Condition — a connection that sounds hypothetical but is already certain that it is not true. See also: Hypothetical Statements.
- Goal Relationship — a logical relationship in which the second event is the purpose or goal of the first.
- Reason and Result Relationship — a logical relationship in which one event is the reason for the other event, the result.
- Contrast Relationship — one item is being described as different or in opposition to another.

Examples from the Bible

I did not immediately consult with flesh and blood. I did not go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me. Instead, I went to Arabia and then returned to Damascus. Then after three years, I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas, and I stayed with him 15 days. (Galatians 1:16b-18 ULT)

The word “instead” introduces something that contrasts with what was said before. The contrast here is between what Paul did not do and what he did do. The word “then” introduces a sequence of events. It introduces something that Paul did after he returned to Damascus.

Therefore, whoever breaks the least one of these commandments and teaches others to do so will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. But whoever keeps them and teaches them, that one will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:19 ULT)

The word “therefore” links this section with the section before it, signaling that the section that came before gave the reason for this section. “Therefore” usually links sections larger than one sentence. The word “and” links only two actions within the same sentence, that of breaking commandments and teaching others. In this verse the word “but” contrasts what one group of people will be called in God’s kingdom with what another group of people will be called.

We place nothing as a stumbling block in front of anyone, so that our ministry might not be discredited. Instead, we commend ourselves in everything as God’s servants. (2 Corinthians 6:3-4 ULT)

Here the words “so that” connect what follows as the reason for what came before; the reason that Paul does not place stumbling blocks is that he does not want his ministry brought into disrepute. “Instead” contrasts what Paul does (prove by his actions that he is God’s servant) with what he said he does not do (place stumbling blocks).

General Translation Strategies

See each type of Connecting Word above for specific strategies

If the way the relationship between thoughts is shown in the ULT would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, then consider using it. If not, here are some other options.

- (1) Use a connecting word (even if the ULT does not use one).
- (2) Do not use a connecting word if it would be strange to use one and people would understand the right relationship between the thoughts without it.
- (3) Use a different connecting word.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use a connecting word (even if the ULT does not use one).

Jesus said to them, "Come follow me, and I will make you to become fishers of men." Then immediately they left the nets and followed him. (Mark 1:17-18 ULT)

They followed Jesus because he told them to. Some translators may want to mark this clause with the connecting word "so."

Jesus said to them, "Come follow me, and I will make you to become fishers of men." So, immediately they left the nets and followed him.

- (2) Do not use a connecting word if it would be odd to use one, and if people would understand the right relationship between the thoughts without it.

Therefore, whoever breaks the least one of these commandments and teaches others to do so will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. But whoever keeps them and teaches them, that one will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:19 ULT)

Some languages would prefer not to use connecting words here because the meaning is clear without them and using them would be unnatural. They might translate like this:

Therefore, whoever breaks the least one of these commandments, teaching others to do so as well, will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. Whoever keeps them and teaches them, that one will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

I did not immediately consult with flesh and blood. I did not go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me. Instead, I went to Arabia and then returned to Damascus. Then after three years, I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas, and I stayed with him 15 days. (Galatians 1:16b-18 ULT) (Galatians 1:16-18 ULT)

Some languages might not need the words "instead" or "then" here. They might translate like this:

I did not immediately consult with flesh and blood, nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who had become apostles before me. I went to Arabia and then returned to Damascus. After three years I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas, and I stayed with him 15 days.

- (3) Use a different connecting word.

Therefore, whoever breaks the least one of these commandments and teaches others to do so will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. But whoever keeps them and teaches them, that one will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:19 ULT)

Instead of a word like “therefore,” a language might need a phrase to indicate that there was a section before it that gave the reason for the section that follows. Also, the word “but” is used here because of the contrast between the two groups of people. But in some languages, the word “but” would show that what comes after it is surprising because of what came before it. So “and” might be clearer for those languages. They might translate like this:

Because of that, whoever breaks the least one of these commandments and teaches others to do so will be called least in the kingdom of heaven.
And whoever keeps them and teaches them, that one will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

Copy or Borrow Words

Description

Sometimes the Bible includes things that are not part of your culture and for which your language may not have a word. The Bible also includes people and places for which you may not have names.

When that happens you can “borrow” the word from the Bible in a familiar language and use it in your translation in your own language. This means that you basically copy it from the other language. This page tells how to “borrow” words. (There are also other ways to translate words for things that are not in your language. See Translate Unknowns.)

This page answers the question: What does it mean to borrow words from another language and how can I do it?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Translate Unknowns

Examples From the Bible

Seeing one fig tree along the roadside, he went to it. (Matthew 21:19a ULT)

If there are no fig trees where your language is spoken, there might not be a name for this kind of tree in your language.

Above him were the seraphim; each one had six wings; with two each covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. (Isaiah 6:2 ULT)

Your language might not have a name for this kind of creature.

The declaration of the word of Yahweh to Israel by the hand of Malachi. (Malachi 1:1 ULT)

Malachi might not be a name that people who speak your language use.

Translation Strategies

There are several things to be aware of when borrowing words from another language.

- Different languages use different scripts, such as the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Cyrillic, Devanagari, and Korean scripts. These scripts use different shapes to represent the letters in their alphabets.
- Languages that use the same script might pronounce the letters in that script differently. For example, when speaking German, people pronounce the letter “j” the same way that people pronounce the letter “y” when speaking English.
- Languages do not all have the same sounds or combinations of sounds. For example, many languages do not have the soft “th” sound in the English word “think,” and some languages cannot start a word with a combination of sounds like “st” as in “stop.”

There are several ways to borrow a word.

- (1) If your language uses a different script from the language you are translating from, you can simply substitute each letter shape with the corresponding letter shape of the script of your language.
- (2) You can spell the word as the Other Language spells it, and pronounce it the way your language normally pronounces those letters.
- (3) You can pronounce the word similarly to the way the Other Language does, and adjust the spelling to fit the rules of your language.

(3) You can pronounce the word similarly to the way the Other Language does, and adjust the spelling to fit the rules of your language.

Zephaniah — If your language does not have the "z," you could use "s." If your writing system does not use "ph" you could use "f." Depending on how you pronounce the "i" you could spell it with "i" or "ai" or "ay."

Direct and Indirect Quotations

Description

There are two kinds of quotations: direct quotations and indirect quotations.

A direct quotation occurs when someone reports what another person said from the viewpoint of that original speaker. People usually expect that this kind of quotation will represent the original speaker's exact words. In the example below, John would have said "I" when referring to himself, so the narrator, who is reporting John's words, uses the word "I" in the quotation to refer to John. To show that these are John's exact words, many languages put the words between quotation marks: "".

- John said, "I do not know at what time I will arrive."

An indirect quotation occurs when a speaker reports what someone else said, but in this case, the speaker is reporting it from his own point of view instead and not from the original person's point of view. This kind of quotation usually contains changes in pronouns, and it often includes changes in time, in word choices, and in length. In the example below, the narrator refers to John as "he" in the quotation and uses the word "would" to replace the future tense, indicated by "will."

- John said that he did not know at what time he would arrive.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

In some languages, reported speech can be expressed by either direct or indirect quotations. In other languages, it is more natural to use one than the other. There may be a certain meaning implied by using one rather than the other. So for each quotation, translators need to decide whether it is best to translate it as a direct quotation or as an indirect quotation.

Examples From the Bible

The verses in the examples below contain both direct and indirect quotations. In the explanation below the verse, we have marked in bold the words that are quoted.

And he commanded him to tell no one, but, "Go, show yourself to the priest and offer a sacrifice for your cleansing, according to what Moses commanded, for a testimony to them."
(Luke 5:14 ULT)

- Indirect quote: He commanded him to tell no one,
- Direct quote: but told him, "Go, show yourself to the priest ..."

And being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was coming, he answered them and said, "The kingdom of God is not coming with careful observation. Neither will they say, 'Look, here it is!' or 'There it is!' For indeed, the kingdom of God is among you." (Luke 17:20-21 ULT)

- Indirect quote: Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was coming,
- Direct quote: he answered them and said, "The kingdom of God is not coming with careful observation. Neither will they say, 'Look, here it is!' or 'There it is!' For indeed, the kingdom of God is among you."
- Direct quotes: Neither will they say, 'Look, here it is!' or, 'There it is!'

If the kind of quote used in the source text would work well in your language, consider using it. If the kind of quote used in that context is not natural for your language, follow these strategies.

- (1) If a direct quote would not work well in your language, change it to an indirect quote.
- (2) If an indirect quote would not work well in your language, change it to a direct quote.

Double Negatives

A double negative occurs when a clause has two words that each express the meaning of “not.” Double negatives mean very different things in different languages. To translate sentences that have double negatives accurately and clearly, you need to know what a double negative means in the Bible and how to express this idea in your language.

This page answers the question: What are double negatives?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech\]\]](#)

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences\]\]](#)

Description

Negative words are words that have in them the meaning “not.” Examples in English are “no,” “not,” “none,” “no one,” “nothing,” “nowhere,” “never,” “nor,” “neither,” and “without.” Also, some words have prefixes or suffixes that mean “not,” such as the bolded parts of these words: “unhappy,” “impossible,” and “useless.” Some other kinds of words also have a negative meaning, such as “lack” or “reject,” or even “fight” or “evil.”

A double negative occurs when a clause has two words that each have a negative meaning.

We did this not because we have no authority ... (2 Thessalonians 3:9a ULT)

And this was not done without an oath! (Hebrews 7:20a ULT)

Be sure of this—the wicked person will not go unpunished. (Proverbs 11:21a ULT)

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Double negatives mean very different things in different languages.

- In some languages, such as Spanish, a double negative emphasizes the negative. The Spanish sentence, “No vi a nadie,” literally says “I did not see no one.” It has both the word ‘no’ next to the verb and ‘nadie,’ which means “no one.” The two negatives are seen as in agreement with each other, and the sentence means, “I did not see anyone.”
- In some languages, a second negative cancels the first one, creating a positive sentence. So, “He is not unintelligent” means “He is intelligent.”
- In some languages the double negative creates a positive sentence, but it is a weak statement. So, “He is not unintelligent” means, “He is somewhat intelligent.”
- In some languages, such as the languages of the Bible, the double negative can create a positive sentence, and often strengthens the statement. So, “He is not unintelligent” can mean “He is intelligent” or “He is very intelligent.”

To translate sentences with double negatives accurately and clearly in your language, you need to know what a double negative means in the Bible and how to express the same idea in your language.

Examples From the Bible

... in order not to be unfruitful. (Titus 3:14b ULT)

This means “so that they will be fruitful.”

All things were made through him and without him there was not one thing made that has been made. (John 1:3 ULT)

By using a double negative, John emphasized that the Son of God created absolutely everything. The double negative makes a stronger statement than the simple positive.

Translation Strategies

If double negatives are natural and are used to express the positive in your language, consider using them. Otherwise, you could consider these strategies:

- (1) If the purpose of a double negative in the Bible is simply to make a positive statement, and if it would not do that in your language, remove the two negatives so that it is positive.
- (2) If the purpose of a double negative in the Bible is to make a strong positive statement, and if it would not do that in your language, remove the two negatives and put in a strengthening word or phrase such as “very” or “surely” or “absolutely.”

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If the purpose of a double negative in the Bible is simply to make a positive statement, and if it would not do that in your language, remove the two negatives so that it is positive.

For we do not have a high priest who cannot feel sympathy for our weaknesses. (Hebrews 4:15a ULT)

“For we have a high priest who can feel sympathy for our weaknesses.”

... in order not to be unfruitful. (Titus 3:14b ULT)

“... so that they may be fruitful.”

- (2) If the purpose of a double negative in the Bible is to make a strong positive statement, and if it would not do that in your language, remove the two negatives and put in a strengthening word or phrase such as “very” or “surely” or “absolutely.”

Be sure of this—the wicked person will not go unpunished. (Proverbs 11:21a ULT)

“Be sure of this—wicked people will certainly be punished.”

All things were made through him and without him there was not one thing made that has been made. (John 1:3 ULT)

“All things were made through him. He made absolutely everything that has been made.”

Doublet

Description

We are using the word “doublet” to refer to two words or phrases that are used together and either mean the same thing or mean very close to the same thing. Often they are joined with the word “and.” Unlike Hendiadys, in which one of the words modifies the other, in a doublet the two words or phrases are equal and are used to emphasize or intensify the one idea that is expressed by the two words or phrases.

This page answers the question: What are doublets and how can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro\]\]](#)

A very similar issue is the repetition of the same word or phrase for emphasis, usually with no other words between them. Because these figures of speech are so similar and have the same effect, we will treat them here together.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

In some languages people do not use doublets. Or they may use doublets, but only in certain situations, so a doublet might not make sense in their language in some verses. People might think that the verse is describing two ideas or actions, when it is only describing one. In this case, translators may need to find some other way to express the meaning expressed by the doublet.

Examples From the Bible

He has one people scattered and dispersed among the peoples (Esther 3:8 ULT)

The bolded words mean the same thing. Together they mean the people were spread out.

He attacked two men more righteous and better than himself. (1 Kings 2:32b ULT)

This means that they were “much more righteous” than he was.

You have decided to prepare false and deceptive words. (Daniel 2:9b ULT)

This means that they had decided to lie, which is another way of saying that they intended to deceive people.

... like of a lamb without blemish and without spot. (1 Peter 1:19b ULT)

This means that he was like a lamb that did not have any defect—not even one.

Then they approached {and} woke him up, saying, “Master! Master! We are perishing!” (Luke 8:24 ULT)

The repetition of “Master” means that the disciples called to Jesus urgently and continually.

Translation Strategies

If a doublet would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, consider these strategies.

(1) Translate only one of the words or phrases.

(2) If the doublet is used to intensify the meaning, translate one of the words or phrases and add a word that intensifies it such as “very” or “great” or “many.”

(3) If the doublet is used to intensify or emphasize the meaning, use one of your language's ways of doing that.

Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Translate only one of the words.

You have decided to prepare false and deceptive words. (Daniel 2:9b ULT)

"You have decided to prepare false things to say."

(2) If the doublet is used to intensify the meaning, translate one of the words and add a word that intensifies it such as "very" or "great" or "many."

He has one people scattered and dispersed among the peoples (Esther 3:8 ULT)

"He has one people very spread out."

(3) If the doublet is used to intensify or emphasize the meaning, use one of your language's ways of doing that.

... like a lamb without blemish and without spot. (1 Peter 1:19b ULT)

- English can emphasize this with "any" and "at all."

"... like a lamb without any blemish at all."

Then they approached {and} woke him up, saying, "Master! Master! We are perishing!" (Luke 8:24 ULT)

Then they approached {and} woke him up, urgently shouting, "Master!

Ellipsis

Description

An ellipsis¹ occurs when a speaker or writer leaves out one or more words that normally should be in the sentence. The speaker or writer does this because he knows that the hearer or reader will understand the meaning of the sentence and supply the words in his mind when he hears or reads the words that are there. For example:

So the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
(Psalm 1:5 ULT)

There is ellipsis in the second part because “nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous” is not a complete sentence. The speaker assumes that the hearer will understand what it is that sinners will not do in the assembly of the righteous by filling in the action from the previous clause. With the action filled in, the complete sentence would read:

So the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor will sinners stand in the assembly of the righteous.

[¹] English has a punctuation symbol which is also called an ellipsis. It is a series of three dots (...) used to indicate an intentional omission of a word, phrase, sentence or more from text without altering its original meaning. This translationAcademy article is not about the punctuation mark, but about the concept of omission of words that normally should be in the sentence.

Two Types of Ellipsis

A Relative Ellipsis happens when the reader has to supply the omitted word or words from the context. Usually the word is in the previous sentence, as in the example above.

An Absolute Ellipsis happens when the omitted word or words are not in the context, but the phrases are common enough in the language that the reader is expected to supply what is missing from this common usage or from the nature of the situation.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Readers who see incomplete sentences or phrases may not know that there is information missing that the writer expects them to fill in. Or readers may understand that there is information missing, but they may not know what information is missing because they do not know the original biblical language, culture, or situation as the original readers did. In this case, they may fill in the wrong information. Or readers may misunderstand the ellipsis if they do not use ellipsis in the same way in their language.

Examples From the Bible

Relative Ellipsis

He makes Lebanon skip like a calf and Sirion like a young ox. (Psalm 29:6 ULT)

The writer wants his words to be few and to make good poetry. The full sentence with the information filled in would be:

This page answers the question: What is ellipsis ? ([^1])

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

He makes Lebanon skip like a calf and he makes Sirion skip like a young ox.

Watch carefully, therefore, how you walk—not as unwise but as wise. (Ephesians 5:15b ULT)

The information that the reader must understand in the second parts of these sentences can be filled in from the first parts:

Watch carefully, therefore, how you walk—walk not as unwise but walk as wise,

Absolute Ellipsis

Then when he had come near, he asked him, “What do you want me to do for you?” And so he said, “Lord, that I might recover my sight.” (Luke 18:40b-41 ULT)

It seems that the man answered in an incomplete sentence because he wanted to be polite and not directly ask Jesus for healing. He knew that Jesus would understand that the only way he could receive his sight would be for Jesus to heal him. The complete sentence would be:

“Lord, I want you to heal me so that I might receive my sight.”

To Titus, a true son in our common faith. Grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior. (Titus 1:4 ULT)

The writer assumes that the reader will recognize this common form of a blessing or wish, so he does not need to include the full sentence, which would be:

To Titus, a true son in our common faith. May you receive grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior.

Translation Strategies

If ellipsis would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here is another option:

(1) Add the missing words to the incomplete phrase or sentence.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

So the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinner in the assembly of the righteous. (Psalm 1:5 ULT)

So the wicked will not stand in the judgment, and sinner will not stand in the assembly of the righteous.

Then when he had come near, he asked him, “What do you want me to do for you?” And so he said, “Lord, that I might recover my sight.” (Luke 18:40b-41 ULT)

Then when the man was near, Jesus asked him, “What do you want me to do for you?” He said, “Lord, I want you to heal me that I might receive my sight.”

End of Story

Description

There are different types of information that may be given at the end of a story. Often this is background information. This background information is different from the actions that make up the main part of the story. A book of the Bible is often made up of many smaller stories that are part of the larger story of the book itself. For example, the story of Jesus' birth is a smaller story in the larger story of the book of Luke. Each of these stories, whether large or small, can have background information at the end of it.

This page answers the question: What kinds of information are given at the end of a story?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro\]\]](#)

Background Information

The following are purposes for end of story information:

- to summarize the story
- to give a comment about what happened in the story
- to connect a smaller story to the larger story it is a part of
- to tell the reader what happens to a specific character after the main part of the story ends
- to tell on-going action that continues after the main part of the story ends
- to tell what happens after the story as a result of the events that happened in the story itself

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

Different languages have different ways of presenting these kinds of information. If you (the translator) do not use your language's ways of doing this, readers may not know:

- that this information is ending the story
- what the purpose of the information is
- how the information is related to the story

Translation Strategies

- Translate the particular kind of information at the end of a story the way your language expresses that kind of information.
- Translate it so that people will understand how it relates to the story it is part of.
- If possible, translate the end of the story in a way that people will know where that story ends and the next begins.

Examples From the Bible

- To summarize the story

Then the rest of the men should follow, some on planks, and some on other things from the ship. In this way it happened that all of us were brought safely to the land. (Acts 27:44 ULT)

- To give a comment about what happened in the story

Many of those who practiced magical arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of everyone. Then they counted the value of them, and found it was 50,000 pieces of silver. So the word of the Lord was spreading and prevailing with power. (Acts 19:19-20 ULT)

- To tell the reader what happens to a specific character after the main part of the story ends

And Mary said, "My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoiced in God my savior." And Mary stayed with her about three months and then returned to her house. (Luke 1:46-47, 56 ULT)

- To tell on-going action that continues after the main part of the story ends

All who those who heard it were amazed concerning the things that were spoken to them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all the things, pondering them in her heart. (Luke 2:18-19 ULT)

- To tell what happens after the story as a result of the events that happened in the story itself

"Woe to you, experts in the Jewish law, because you have taken away the key of knowledge; you do not enter in yourselves, and you hinder those who are entering." After he went from there, the scribes and the Pharisees began to fiercely oppose him and argued against him about many things, lying in wait to trap him in something from his mouth. (Luke 11:52-54 ULT)

Euphemism

Description

A euphemism is a mild or polite way of referring to something that is unpleasant, embarrassing, or socially unacceptable, such as death or activities usually done in private.

This page answers the question: What is a euphemism?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

... they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa.
(1 Chronicles 10:8b ULT)

This means that Saul and his sons “were dead.” It is a euphemism because the important thing was not that Saul and his sons had fallen but that they were dead. Sometimes people do not like to speak directly about death because it is unpleasant.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Different languages use different euphemisms. If the target language does not use the same euphemism as in the source language, readers may not understand what it means and they may think that the writer means only what the words literally say.

Examples From the Bible

... where there was a cave. Saul went inside to cover his feet. (1 Samuel 24:3b ULT)

The original hearers would have understood that Saul went into the cave to use it as a toilet, but the writer wanted to avoid offending or distracting them, so he did not say specifically what Saul did or what he left in the cave.

But Mary said to the angel, “How will this be, since I have not known a man?” (Luke 1:34 ULT)

In order to be polite, Mary uses a euphemism to say that she has never had sexual intercourse with a man.

Translation Strategies

If euphemism would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here are other options:

- (1) Use a euphemism from your own culture.
- (2) State the information plainly without a euphemism if it would not be offensive.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use a euphemism from your own culture.

... where there was a cave. Saul went inside to cover his feet. (1 Samuel 24:3b ULT) — Some languages might use euphemisms like these:

“... where there was a cave. Saul went into the cave to dig a hole”

“... where there was a cave. Saul went into the cave to have some time alone”

But Mary said to the angel, “How will this be, since I have not known a man?” (Luke 1:34 ULT)

Exclamations

Description

Exclamations are words or sentences that show strong feeling such as surprise, joy, fear, or anger. In the ULT and UST, they usually have an exclamation mark (!) at the end. The mark shows that it is an exclamation. The situation and the meaning of what the people said helps us understand what feelings they were expressing. In the example below from Matthew 8, the speakers were terribly afraid. In the example from Matthew 9, the speakers were amazed, because something happened that they had never seen before.

Save us, Lord; we are about to die! (Matthew 8:25b ULT)

When the demon had been driven out, the mute man spoke. The crowds were astonished and said, "This has never been seen before in Israel!" (Matthew 9:33 ULT)

This page answers the question: What are ways of translating exclamations?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentencetypes]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Languages have different ways of showing that a sentence communicates strong emotion.

Examples From the Bible

Some exclamations have a word that shows feeling. The sentences below have "Oh" and "Ah." The word "oh" here shows the speaker's amazement.

Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and the knowledge of God! (Romans 11:33 ULT)

The word "Alas" below shows that Gideon was very frightened.

When Gideon saw that he was the angel of Yahweh, Gideon lamented, "Alas, O my Lord Yahweh, for because of this I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!" (Judges 6:22 ULT)

Some exclamations start with a question word such as "how" or "why," even though they are not questions. The sentence below shows that the speaker is amazed at how unsearchable God's judgments are.

How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways beyond discovering! (Romans 11:33b ULT)

Some exclamations in the Bible do not have a main verb. The exclamation below shows that the speaker is disgusted with the person he is speaking to.

You worthless person! (Matthew 5:22b ULT)

Translation Strategies

- (1) If an exclamation in your language needs a verb, add one. Often a good verb is "is" or "are."
- (2) Use an exclamation word from your language that shows the strong feeling.
- (3) Translate the exclamation word with a sentence that shows the feeling.
- (4) Use a word that emphasizes the part of the sentence that brings about the strong feeling.

(5) If the strong feeling is not clear in the target language, then tell how the person felt.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If an exclamation in your language needs a verb, add one. Often a good verb is “is” or “are.”

You worthless person! (Matthew 5:22b ULT)

“You are such a worthless person!”

Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and the knowledge of God! (Romans 11:33b ULT)

“Oh, the riches of the wisdom and the knowledge of God are so deep!”

(2) Use an exclamation word from your language that shows the strong feeling. In the first suggested translation below, the word “wow” shows that they were astonished. In the second suggested translation, the expression “Oh no” shows that something terrible or frightening has happened.

They were extremely astonished, saying, “He has done everything well. He even makes the deaf hear and the mute speak.” (Mark 7:37 ULT)

“They were extremely astonished, saying, ‘Wow! He has done everything well. He even makes the deaf to hear and the mute to speak.’”

Alas, oh my Lord Yahweh! For because of this I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face! (Judges 6:22b ULT)

“Oh no, Lord Yahweh! I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!”

(3) Translate the exclamation word with a sentence that shows the feeling.

“Alas, O my Lord Yahweh, for because of this I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!” (Judges 6:22 ULT)

“Lord Yahweh, what will happen to me? For I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!”

“Help, Lord Yahweh! For I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!”

(4) Use a word that emphasizes the part of the sentence that brings about the strong feeling.

How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways beyond discovering! (Romans 11:33b ULT)

“His judgments are so unsearchable and his ways are far beyond discovering!”

(5) If the strong feeling is not clear in the target language, then tell how the person felt.

When Gideon saw that he was the angel of Yahweh, Gideon lamented, “Alas, O my Lord Yahweh, for because of this I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!” (Judges 6:22 ULT)

Gideon understood that this was the angel of Yahweh. He was terrified and said, “Alas, Lord Yahweh! I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face!”

Exclusive and Inclusive 'We'

Description

Some languages have more than one form of "we": an inclusive form that means "I and you" and an exclusive form that means "I and someone else but not you." The exclusive form excludes the person being spoken to. The inclusive form includes the person being spoken to and possibly others. This is also true for "us," "our," "ours," and "ourselves." Some languages have inclusive forms and exclusive forms for each of these. Translators whose language has separate exclusive and inclusive forms for these words will need to understand what the speaker meant so that they can decide which form to use.

This page answers the question: What are the exclusive and inclusive forms of "we"?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Pronouns

See the pictures. The people on the right are the people that the speaker is talking to. The yellow highlight shows who the inclusive "we" and the exclusive "we" refer to.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

The Bible was first written in the Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek languages. Like English, these languages do not have separate exclusive and inclusive forms for "we." If your language has separate exclusive and inclusive forms of "we," then you will need to understand what the speaker meant so that you can decide which form of "we" to use.

Examples From the Bible

Exclusive

They said, "There are not more than five loaves of bread and two fish with us—unless we go and buy food for all these people." (Luke 9:13 ULT)

In the second clause, the disciples are talking about some of them going to buy food. They were speaking to Jesus, but Jesus was not going to buy food. So languages that have inclusive and exclusive forms of "we" would use the exclusive form there.

We have seen it, and we bear witness to it. We are announcing to you the eternal life, which was with the Father, and which has been made known to us. (1 John 1:2 ULT)

John is telling people who have not seen Jesus what he and the other apostles have seen. So languages that have inclusive and exclusive forms of "we" and "us" would use the exclusive forms in this verse.

Inclusive

The shepherds said one to each other, "Let us now go to Bethlehem, and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us." (Luke 2:15b ULT)

The shepherds were speaking to one another. When they said "us," they were including the people they were speaking to, so languages that have inclusive and exclusive forms of "we" and "us" would use the inclusive form in this verse.

Now it happened that on one of those days, he indeed got into a boat with his disciples, and he said to them, "Let us go over to the other side of the lake." So they set sail. (Luke 8:22 ULT)

When Jesus said "us," he was referring to himself and to the disciples he was speaking to, so languages that have inclusive and exclusive forms of "we" and "us" would use the inclusive form in this verse.

First, Second or Third Person

Normally a speaker refers to himself as “I” and the person he is speaking to as “you.” Sometimes in the Bible a speaker refers to himself or to the person he is speaking to with terms other than “I” or “you.”

Description

- First person — This is how a speaker normally refers to himself. English uses the pronouns “I” and “we.” (Also: me, my, mine; us, our, ours)
- Second person — This is how a speaker normally refers to the person or people he is speaking to. English uses the pronoun “you.” (Also: your, yours)
- Third person — This is how a speaker refers to someone else. English uses the pronouns “he,” “she,” “it,” and “they.” (Also: him, his, her, hers, its; them, their, theirs) Noun phrases like “the man” or “the woman” are also third person.

This page answers the question: What are first, second, and third person, and how do I translate when a third person form does not refer to the third person?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-explicitinfo\]\]](#)

Pronouns

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Sometimes in the Bible a speaker uses the third person to refer to himself or to the people he is speaking to. Readers might think that the speaker was referring to someone else. They might not understand that he meant “I” or “you.”

Examples From the Bible

Sometimes people used the third person instead of “I” or “me” to refer to themselves.

But David said to Saul, “Your servant used to keep his father’s sheep.” (1 Samuel 17:34 ULT)

David referred to himself in the third person as “your servant” and used “his.” He was calling himself Saul’s servant in order to show his humility before Saul.

Then Yahweh answered Job out of a fierce storm and said,
“... Do you have an arm like God’s? Can you thunder with a voice like his?” (Job 40:6, 9 ULT)

God referred to himself in the third person with the words “God’s” and “his.” He did this to emphasize that he is God, and he is powerful.

Sometimes people use the third person instead of “you” or “your” to refer to the person or people they are speaking to.

Abraham answered and said, “Look, I have undertaken to speak to my Lord, even though I am only dust and ashes!” (Genesis 18:27 ULT)

Abraham was speaking to the Lord, and referred to the Lord as “My Lord” rather than as “you.” He did this to show his humility before God.

So also my heavenly Father will do to you, if each of you does not forgive his brother from your heart. (Matthew 18:35 ULT)

After saying “each of you,” Jesus used the third person “his” instead of “your.”

Translation Strategies

If using the third person to mean “I” or “you” would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here are some other options.

- (1) Use the third person phrase along with the pronoun “I” or “you.”
- (2) Simply use the first person (“I”) or second person (“you”) instead of the third person.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use the third person phrase along with the pronoun “I” or “you.”

Forms of You

Singular, Dual, and Plural

Some languages have more than one word for “you” based on how many people the word “you” refers to. The singular form refers to one person, and the plural form refers to more than one person. Forms of 'You' — Dual/Plural

Description

Some languages have a singular form of “you” for when the word “you” refers to just one person, and a plural form for when the word “you” refers to more than one person. Some languages also have a dual form of “you” for when the word “you” refers to only two people. Translators who speak one of these languages will always need to know what the speaker meant so they can choose the right word for “you” in their language. Other languages, such as English, have only one form, which people use regardless of how many people it refers to.

This page answers the question: How do I know if the word 'you' is dual or plural?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Forms of You

Pronouns

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech]]

The Bible was first written in the Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek languages. These languages all have a singular form of “you” and a plural form of “you.” When we read the Bible in those languages, the pronouns and verb forms show us whether the word “you” refers to one person or more than one person. However, they do not show us whether it refers to only two people or more than two people. When the pronouns do not show us how many people the word “you” refers to, we need to look at the context to see how many people the speaker was speaking to.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Translators who speak a language that has distinct singular, dual, and plural forms of “you” will always need to know what the speaker meant so they can choose the right word for “you” in their language.
- Many languages also have different forms of the verb depending on whether the subject is singular or plural. So even if there is no pronoun meaning “you,” translators of these languages will need to know if the speaker was referring to one person or more than one.

Often the context will make it clear whether the word “you” refers to one person or more than one. If you look at the other pronouns in the sentence, they will help you know how many people the speaker was addressing.

Examples From the Bible

Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came up to him, saying to him, “Teacher, we desire that you to do for us whatever we ask you.” 36 So he said to them, “What do you want me to do for you?” (Mark 10:35-36 ULT)

Jesus is asking the two, James and John, what they want him to do for them. If the target language has a dual form of “you,” use that. If the target language does not have a dual form, then the plural form would be appropriate.

Jesus sent out two of his disciples and said to them, “Go into the village opposite us. As soon as you enter it, you will find a colt tied there, on which no one has yet sat. Untie it and bring it to me.” (Mark 11:1b-2 ULT)

The context makes it clear that Jesus is addressing two people. If the target language has a dual form of “you,” use that. If the target language does not have a dual form, then the plural form would be appropriate.

James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes who are in the dispersion: Greetings. Consider it all joy, my brothers, when you experience various troubles. You know that the testing of your faith produces endurance. (James 1:1-3 ULT)

James wrote this letter to many people, so the word “you” refers to many people. If the target language has a plural form of “you,” it would be best to use it here.

Strategies for finding out how many people “you” refers to

- (1) Look at the translationNotes to see if they tell whether “you” refers to one person or more than one person.
- (2) Look at the UST to see if it says anything that would show you whether the word “you” refers to one person or more than one person.
- (3) If you have a Bible that is written in a language that distinguishes “you” singular from “you” plural, see which form of “you” that Bible has in that sentence.
- (4) Look at the context to see who the speaker was talking to and who responded.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- Translators who speak a language that has distinct singular and plural forms of “you” will always need to know what the speaker meant so they can choose the right word for “you” in their language.
- Many languages also have different forms of the verb depending on whether the subject is singular or plural. So even if there is no pronoun meaning “you,” translators of these languages will need to know if the speaker was referring to one person or more than one.

Often the context will make it clear whether the word “you” refers to one person or more than one. If you look at the other pronouns in the sentence, they will help you know the number of people the speaker was speaking to. Sometimes Greek and Hebrew speakers used the singular form of “you” even though they were speaking to a group of people. (See Forms of 'You' — Singular to a Crowd.)

Examples From the Bible

But he said, “All these things I have kept from my youth.” But when he heard this, Jesus said to him, “One thing is still lacking to you. All things, as much as you have, sell all and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven—and come, follow me.” (Luke 18:21-22 ULT)

The ruler was speaking about just himself when he said “I.” This shows us that when Jesus said “you” he was referring only to the ruler. So languages that have singular and plural forms of “you” need the singular form here.

The angel said to him, “Dress yourself and put on your sandals.” So he did that. He said to him, “Put on your outer garment and follow me.” (Acts 12:8 ULT)

The context makes it clear that the angel was speaking to one person and that only one person did what the the angel commanded. So languages that have singular and plural forms of “you” would need the singular form here for “yourself” and “your.” Also, if verbs have different forms for singular and plural subjects, then the verbs “dress” and “put on” need the form that indicates a singular subject.

To Titus, a true son in our common faith. For this purpose I left you in Crete, that you might set in order things not yet complete and ordain elders in every city as I directed you. But you, say what fits with sound teaching. (Titus 1:4a, 5; 2:1 ULT)

Paul wrote this letter to one person, Titus. Most of the time the word “you” in this letter refers only to Titus.

Strategies for finding out how many people “you” refers to

- (1) Look at the notes to see if they tell whether “you” refers to one person or more than one person.
- (2) Look at the UST to see if it says anything that would show you whether the word “you” refers to one person or more than one person.
- (3) If you have a Bible that is written in a language that distinguishes “you” singular from “you” plural, see which form of “you” that Bible has in that sentence.
- (4) Look at the context to see how many people the speaker was talking to and who responded.

Fractions

Description

A fraction is a number that represents part of a whole. When an item is divided into several equal parts, a fraction refers to one or more of those parts.

For the drink offering, you must offer a third of a hin of wine. (Numbers 15:7a ULT)

A hin is a container of a set size which is used for measuring wine and other liquids. The people were to think about dividing a hin container into three equal parts, filling up only one of those parts and offering that amount.

... a third of the ships were destroyed. (Revelation 8:9b ULT)

There were many ships. If all those ships were divided into three equal groups of ships, one group of ships was destroyed.

Most fractions in English simply have the letters “th” added to the end of the number, such as fourth, sixth, ninth, tenth.

| Number of parts the whole is divided into | Fraction | | ----- | ----- | | four | fourth | | ten | tenth | | one hundred | one hundredth | | one thousand | one thousandth |

Some fractions in English do not follow that pattern.

| Number of parts the whole is divided into | Fraction | | ----- | ----- | | two | half | | three | third | | five | fifth |

Reason This is a Translation Issue

Some languages do not use fractions. They may simply talk about parts or groups, but they do not use fractions to tell how big a part is or how many parts are included in a group.

Examples From the Bible

Now to the half-tribe of Manasseh, Moses had given a possession in Bashan, but to the other half, Joshua gave a possession among their brothers across the Jordan on the west. (Joshua 22:7 ULT)

The tribe of Manasseh divided into two groups. The phrase “the half-tribe of Manasseh” refers one of those groups. The phrase “the other half” refers to the other group.

So the four angels who had been prepared for that hour, that day, that month, and that year, were released so that they would kill a third of mankind. (Revelation 9:15 ULT)

If all the people in the world were to be divided into three equal groups, then the number of people in one group would be killed.

You must also prepare a fourth of a hin of wine as the drink offering. (Numbers 15:5 ULT)

They were to imagine dividing a hin of wine into four equal parts and prepare the amount equal to one of them.

Translation Strategies

If a fraction in your language would give the right meaning, consider using it. If not, you could consider these strategies.

- (1) Tell the number of parts or groups that the item would be divided into, and then tell the number of parts or groups that is being referred to.
- (2) For measurements such as for weight and length, use a unit that your people might know or the unit in the UST.
- (3) For measurements, use ones that are used in your language. In order to do that you would need to know how your measurements relates to the metric system and figure out each measurement.

Examples of These Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Tell the number of parts or groups that the item would be divided into, and then tell the number of parts or groups that is being referred to.

A third of the ocean became red like blood (Revelation 8:8 ULT)

It was like they divided the ocean into three parts, and one part of the ocean became blood.

Then you must offer with the bull a grain offering of three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil. (Numbers 15:9 ULT)

... then you must divide an ephah of fine flour into ten parts and divide a hin of oil into two parts. Then mix three of those parts of the flour with one of the parts of oil. Then you must offer that grain offering along with the bull.

- (2) For measurements, use the measurements that are given in the UST. The translators of the UST have already figured how to represent the amounts in the metric system.

... two-thirds of a shekel ... (1 Samuel 13:21b ULT)

... eight grams of silver ... (1 Samuel 13:21b UST)

... three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil. (Numbers 15:9b ULT)

... six and one-half liters of finely ground flour mixed with two liters of olive oil. (Numbers 15:9b UST)

- (3) For measurements, use ones that are used in your language. In order to do that you would need to know how your measurements relates to the metric system and figure out each measurement.

... three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil. (Numbers 15:9b ULT) six quarts of fine flour mixed with two quarts of oil.

Generic Noun Phrases

Description

Generic noun phrases refer to people or things in general rather than to specific individuals or things. This happens frequently in proverbs, because proverbs tell about things that are true about people in general.

This page answers the question: What are generic noun phrases and how can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech\]\]](#)

Can a man walk on hot coals without scorching his feet?
So is the man who goes in to his neighbor's wife;
the one who touches her will not go unpunished. (Proverbs 6:28-29 ULT)

The phrases in bold above do not refer to a specific man. They refer to any man who does these things.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Different languages have different ways of showing that noun phrases refer to something in general. You (the translator) should refer to these general ideas in ways that are natural in your language.

Examples From the Bible

The righteous person is kept away from trouble and it comes upon the wicked instead. (Proverbs 11:8 ULT)

The bold phrases above do not refer to a specific person but to anyone who does what is right or anyone who is wicked.

People curse the man who refuses to sell grain. (Proverbs 11:26 ULT)

This does not refer to a particular man, but to any person who refuses to sell grain.

Yahweh gives favor to a good man, but he condemns a man who makes evil plans. (Proverbs 12:2 ULT)

The phrase "a good man" does not refer to a particular man, but to any person who is good. The phrase "a man who makes evil plans" does not refer to a particular man, but to any person who makes evil plans.

Translation Strategies

If your language can use the same wording as in the ULT to refer to people or things in general rather than to specific individuals or things, consider using the same wording. If not, here are some strategies you might use.

- (1) Use the word "the" in the noun phrase.
- (2) Use the word "a" in the noun phrase.
- (3) Use the word "any," as in "any person" or "anyone."
- (4) Use the plural form, as in "people."

(5) Use any other way that is natural in your language.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Use the word “the” in the noun phrase.

Yahweh gives favor to a good man, but he condemns a man who makes evil plans. (Proverbs 12:2 ULT)

“Yahweh gives favor to the good man, but he condemns the man who makes evil plans.” (Proverbs 12:2)

(2) Use the word “a” in the noun phrase.

People curse the man who refuses to sell grain. (Proverbs 11:26 ULT)

“People curse a man who refuses to sell grain.”

(3) Use the word “any,” as in “any person” or “anyone.”

People curse the man who refuses to sell grain. (Proverbs 11:26 ULT)

“People curse any man who refuses to sell grain.”

(4) Use the plural form, as in “people” (or in this sentence, “men”).

People curse the man who refuses to sell grain. (Proverbs 11:26 ULT)

“People curse men who refuse to sell grain”

(5) Use any other way that is natural in your language.

People curse the man who refuses to sell grain. (Proverbs 11:26 ULT)

“People curse whoever refuses to sell grain.”

Go and Come

Description

This page answers the question: What do I do if the word "go" or "come" is confusing in a certain sentence?

Different languages have different ways of determining whether to use the words "go" or "come" and whether to use the words "take" or "bring" when talking about motion. For example, when saying that they are approaching a person who has called them, English speakers say "I'm coming," while Spanish speakers say "I'm going." You will need to study the context in order to understand what is meant by the words "go" and "come" (and also "take" and "bring"), and then translate those words in a way that your readers will understand which direction people are moving in.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Different languages have different ways of talking about motion. The biblical languages or your source language may use the words "go" and "come" or "take" and "bring" differently than your language uses them. If these words are not translated in the way that is natural in your language, your readers may be confused about which direction people are moving.

Examples From the Bible

Yahweh said to Noah, "Come, you and all your household, into the ark." (Genesis 7:1 ULT)

In some languages, this would lead people to think that Yahweh was in the ark.

But you will be free from my oath if you come to my relatives and they will not give her to you.
Then you will be free from my oath. (Genesis 24:41 ULT)

Abraham was speaking to his servant. Abraham's relatives lived far away from where he and his servant were standing and he wanted his servant to go to them, not come toward Abraham.

When you have come to the land that Yahweh your God gives you, and when you take possession of it and begin to live in it ... (Deuteronomy 17:14a ULT)

Moses is speaking to the people in the wilderness. They had not yet gone into the land that God was giving them. In some languages, it would make more sense to say, "When you have gone into the land ..."

They brought him up to the temple in Jerusalem to present him to the Lord. (Luke 2:22b ULT)

In some languages, it might make more sense to say that they took or carried Jesus to the temple.

Then see, there was a man whose name was Jairus, and he was a leader of the synagogue. And falling at the feet of Jesus, he begged him to come to his house. (Luke 8:41 ULT)

The man was not at his house when he spoke to Jesus. He wanted Jesus to go with him to his house.

What did you go out into the desert to see? A reed shaken by the wind? (Luke 7:24b ULT)

In some languages, it might make more sense to ask what did you come out to see.

Translation Strategies

If the word used in the ULT would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here are other strategies.

- (1) Use the word “go,” “come,” “take,” or “bring” that would be natural in your language.
- (2) Use another word that expresses the right meaning.

Hebrew Months

Description

This page answers the question: What are the Hebrew months?

The Hebrew calendar used in the Bible has twelve months. Unlike the western calendar, its first month begins in the spring of the northern hemisphere. Sometimes a month is called by its name (Aviv, Ziv, Sivan), and sometimes it is called by its order in the Hebrew calendar year (first month, second month, third month).

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Readers may be surprised to read of months that they have never heard of, and they may wonder how those months correspond to the months that they use.
- Readers may not realize that phrases such as “the first month” or “the second month” refer to the first or second month of the Hebrew calendar, not some other calendar.
- Readers may not know when the first month of the Hebrew calendar begins.
- The Bible may tell about something happening in a certain month, but readers will not be able to fully understand what is said about it if they do not know what season of the year that was.

List of Hebrew Months

This is a list of the Hebrew months with information about them that may be helpful in the translation.

Aviv — (This month was called Nisan after the Babylonian exile.) This is the first month of the Hebrew calendar. It marks when God brought the people of Israel out of Egypt. It is at the beginning of the spring season when the late rains come and people begin to harvest their crops. It is during the last part of March and the first part of April on western calendars. The Passover celebration started on Aviv 10; the Festival of Unleavened Bread was right after that, and the Festival of Harvest was a few weeks after that.

Ziv — This is the second month of the Hebrew calendar. This is during the harvest season. It is during the last part of April and the first part of May on Western calendars.

Sivan — This is the third month of the Hebrew calendar. It is at the end of the harvest season and the beginning of the dry season. It is during the last part of May and the first part of June on Western calendars. The Feast of Weeks is celebrated on Sivan 6.

Tammuz — This is the fourth month of the Hebrew calendar. It is during the dry season. It is during the last part of June and the first part of July on Western calendars.

Ab — This is the fifth month of the Hebrew calendar. It is during the dry season. It is during the last part of July and the first part of August on Western calendars.

Elul — This is the sixth month of the Hebrew calendar. It is at the end of the dry season and the beginning of the rainy season. It is during the last part of August and the first part of September on Western calendars.

Ethanim — This is the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar. This is during the early rain season which would soften the land for sowing. It is during the last part of September and the first part of October on Western calendars. The Feast of Ingathering and the Day of Atonement are celebrated in this month.

Bul — This is the eighth month of the Hebrew calendar. It is during the rainy season when people plough their fields and sow seed. It is during the last part of October and the first part of November on Western calendars.

Kislev — This is the ninth month of the Hebrew calendar. This is at the end of the sowing season and the beginning of the cold season. It is during the last part of November and the first part of December on Western calendars.

Tebeth — This is the tenth month of the Hebrew calendar. It is during the cold season when there may be rain and snow. It is during the last part of December and the first part of January on Western calendars.

Shebat — This is the eleventh month of the Hebrew calendar. This is the coldest month of the year, and it has heavy rainfall. It is during the last part of January and the first part of February on Western calendars.

Adar — This is the twelfth and last month of the Hebrew calendar. This is during the cold season. It is during the last part of February and the first part of March on western calendars. The feast called Purim is celebrated in Adar.

Examples From the Bible

Today you are going out, in the month of Aviv. (Exodus 13:4 ULT)

You must eat unleavened bread from evening of the fourteenth day in the first month of the year, until evening of the twenty-first day of the month. (Exodus 12:18 ULT)

Translation Strategies

You may need to make some information about the months explicit. (See Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information.)

(1) Tell the number of the Hebrew month.

(2) Use the names for months that people know.

(3) State clearly what season the month occurred in.

(4) Refer to the time in terms of the season rather than in terms of the Hebrew name of the month. (If possible, use a footnote to show the Hebrew month and day.)

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

The examples below use these two verses.

At that time, you will appear before me in the month of Aviv, which is fixed for this purpose. It was in this month that you came out from Egypt. (Exodus 23:15b ULT)

It will always be a statute for you that in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, you must humble yourselves and do no work. (Leviticus 16:29a ULT)

(1) Tell the number of the Hebrew month.

At that time, you will appear before me in the first month of the year, which is fixed for this purpose. It was in this month that you came out from Egypt.

(2) Use the months that people know.

At that time, you will appear before me in the month of March, which is fixed for this purpose. It was in this month that you came out from Egypt.

It will always be a statute for you that on the day I choose in late September you must humble yourselves and do no work.

(3) State clearly what season the month occurs in.

It will always be a statute for you that in the autumn, on the tenth day of the seventh month, you must humble yourselves and do no work.

(4) Refer to the time in terms of the season rather than in terms of the month.

It will always be a statute for you that in the day I choose in early autumn¹ you must humble yourselves and do no work.

The footnote would look like:

^[1] The Hebrew says, "the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month."

How to Translate Names

Description

The Bible contains the names of many people, groups of people, and places. Some of these names may sound strange and be hard to say. Sometimes readers may not know what a name refers to, and sometimes they may need to understand what a name means. This page will help you see how you can translate these names and how you can help people understand what they need to know about them.

This page answers the question: How can I translate names that are new to my culture?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Translate Unknowns

Meaning of names

Most names in the Bible have meaning. Most of the time, names in the Bible are used simply to identify the people and places they refer to, but sometimes the meaning of a name is especially important.

For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of God Most High, was the one who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him. (Hebrews 7:1 ULT)

Here the writer uses the name “Melchizedek” primarily to refer to a man who had that name, and the title “king of Salem” tells us that he ruled over a certain city.

His name first indeed means “king of righteousness,” and then also “king of Salem,” that is, “king of peace.” (Hebrews 7:2b ULT)

Here the writer explains the meanings of Melchizedek’s name and title because those things tell us more about the person. Other times, the writer does not explain the meaning of a name because he expects the reader to already know the meaning. If the meaning of the name is important to understand the passage, you can include the meaning in the text or in a footnote.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Readers may not know some of the names in the Bible. They may not know whether a name refers to a person or place or something else.
- Readers may need to understand the meaning of a name in order to understand the passage.
- Some names may have different sounds or combinations of sounds that are not used in your language or are unpleasant to say in your language. For strategies to address this problem, see Borrow Words.
- Some people and places in the Bible have two names. Readers may not realize that two names refer to the same person or place.

Examples From the Bible

Then you crossed over the Jordan and came to Jericho, and the men of Jericho, and the Amorites ... fought against you, but I gave them into your hand. (Joshua 24:11 ULT)

Readers might not know that “Jordan” is the name of a river, “Jericho” is the name of a city, and “Amorites” is the name of a group of people.

She said, “Do I really continue to see, even after he has seen me?” Therefore, the well was called Beer Lahai Roi. (Genesis 16:13b-14a ULT)

Readers may not understand the second sentence if they do not know that “Beer Lahai Roi” means “Well of the Living One who sees me.”

And she called his name Moses and she said, “For out of the water I drew him.” (Exodus 2:10b ULT)

Readers may not understand why she said this if they do not know that the name Moses sounds like the Hebrew words “pull out.”

Saul was in agreement with his execution. (Acts 8:1a ULT)

But when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of it, they tore their clothing. (Acts 14:14a ULT)

Readers may not know that the names Saul and Paul refer to the same person.

Translation Strategies

(1) If readers cannot easily understand from the context what kind of a thing a name refers to, you can add a word to clarify it.

(2) If readers need to understand the meaning of a name in order to understand what is said about it, copy the name and tell about its meaning either in the text or in a footnote.

(3) Or if readers need to understand the meaning of a name in order to understand what is said about it, and that name is used only once, translate the meaning of the name instead of copying the name.

(4) If a person or place has two different names, use one name most of the time and the other name only when the text tells about the person or place having more than one name or when it says something about why the person or place was given that name. Write a footnote when the source text uses the name that is used less frequently.

(5) Or if a person or place has two different names, then use whatever name is given in the source text, and add a footnote that gives the other name.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If readers cannot easily understand from the context what kind of a thing a name refers to, you can add a word to clarify it.

Then you crossed over the Jordan and came to Jericho, and the men of Jericho, and the Amorites ... fought against you, but I gave them into your hand. (Joshua 24:11 ULT)

You went over the Jordan River and came to the city of Jericho. The men of Jericho fought against you, along with the tribe of the Amorites.

At that hour, certain Pharisees approached, saying to him, “Leave and go away from here, because Herod wants to kill you.” (Luke 13:31 ULT)

At that hour, certain Pharisees approached, saying to him, “Go and leave here, because King Herod wants to kill you.”

(2) If readers need to understand the meaning of a name in order to understand what is said about it, copy the name and tell about its meaning either in the text or in a footnote.

And she called his name Moses and she said, "For out of the water I drew him." (Exodus 2:10b ULT)

She called his name Moses (which sounds like 'drawn out'), and she said, "For out of the water I drew him."

(3) Or if readers need to understand the meaning of a name in order to understand what is said about it, and that name is used only once, translate the meaning of the name instead of copying the name.

She said, "Do I really continue to see, even after he has seen me?" Therefore, the well was called Beer Lahai Roi. (Genesis 16:13b-14a ULT)

She said, "Do I really continue to see, even after he has seen me?"

(4) If a person or place has two different names, use one name most of the time and the other name only when the text tells about the person or place having more than one name or when it says something about why the person or place was given that name. Write a footnote when the source text uses the name that is used less frequently. For example, Paul is called "Saul" before Acts 13 and "Paul" after Acts 13. You could translate his name as "Paul" all of the time, except in Acts 13:9 where it talks about him having both names.

... a young man named Saul. (Acts 7:58b ULT)

... a young man named Paul ¹

The footnote would look like:

^[1] Most versions say "Saul" here, but most of the time in the Bible he is called "Paul."

Then later in the story, you could translate this way:

But Saul, who is also called Paul, was filled with the Holy Spirit; (Acts 13:9)

But Saul, who is also called Paul, was filled with the Holy Spirit;

(5) Or if a person or place has two names, use whatever name is given in the source text, and add a footnote that gives the other name. For example, you could write "Saul" where the source text has "Saul" and "Paul" where the source text has "Paul."

a young man named Saul (Acts 7:58 ULT)

a young man named Saul

The footnote would look like:

^[1] This is the same man who is called Paul beginning in Acts 13.

Then later in the story, you could translate this way:

But Saul, who is also called Paul, was filled with the Holy Spirit; (Acts 13:9)

But Saul, who is also called Paul, was filled with the Holy Spirit;

Then after the story has explained the name change, you could translate this way.

It came about in Iconium that Paul and Barnabas entered together into the synagogue (Acts 14:1 ULT)

It came about in Iconium that Paul¹ and Barnabas entered together into the synagogue

The footnote would look like:

^[1] This is the same man who was called Saul before Acts 13.

Hyperbole

Description

A speaker or writer can use exactly the same words to say something that he means as completely true, or as generally true, or as a hyperbole. This is why it can be hard to decide how to understand a statement. For example, the sentence below could mean three different things.

It rains here every night.

The speaker means this as literally true if he means that it really does rain here every night.

The speaker means this as a generalization if he means that it rains here most nights.

The speaker means this as a hyperbole if he wants to say that it rains more than it actually does, usually in order to express a strong attitude toward the amount or frequency of rain, such as being annoyed or being happy about it.

This page answers the question: What are hyperboles? What are generalizations? How can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

Hyperbole

In hyperbole, a figure of speech that uses exaggeration, a speaker deliberately describes something with an extreme or even unreal statement, usually to show his strong feeling or opinion about it. He expects people to understand that he is exaggerating.

They will not leave stone upon stone in you. (Luke 19:44b ULT)

This is an exaggeration. It means that the enemies will completely destroy Jerusalem.

Moses was educated in all the wisdom of the Egyptians. (Acts 7:22a ULT)

This hyperbole means that he had learned everything an Egyptian education could offer.

Generalization

This is a statement that is true most of the time or in most situations that it could apply to.

The one who ignores instruction will have poverty and shame, but honor will come to him who learns from correction. (Proverbs 13:18)

These generalizations tell about what normally happens to people who ignore instruction and what normally happens to people who learn from correction. There may be some exceptions to these statements, but they are generally true.

And when you pray, do not make useless repetitions as the Gentiles do, for they think that they will be heard because of their many words. (Matthew 6:7)

This generalization tells about what Gentiles were known for doing. Many Gentiles did this. It does not matter if a few did not. The point was that the hearers should not join in this well-known practice.

Even though a hyperbole or a generalization may have a strong-sounding word like “all,” “always,” “none,” or “never,” it does not necessarily mean exactly “all,” “always,” “none,” or “never.” It simply means “most,” “most of the time,” “hardly any,” or “rarely.”

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Readers need to be able to understand whether or not a statement is literally true.

If readers realize that a statement is not literally true, they need to be able to understand whether it is a hyperbole, a generalization, or a lie. (Though the Bible is completely true, it tells about people who did not always tell the truth.)

Examples From the Bible

Examples of Hyperbole

If your hand causes you to stumble, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life maimed ... (Mark 9:43a ULT)

When Jesus said to cut off your hand, he meant that we should do whatever extreme things we need to do in order not to sin. He used this hyperbole to show how extremely important it is to try to stop sinning.

The Philistines gathered together to fight against Israel with 3,000 chariots, 6,000 men to drive the chariots, and troops as numerous as the sand on the seashore. (1 Samuel 13:5a ULT)

The bolded phrase is an exaggeration for the purpose of expressing the emotion that the Philistine army was overwhelming in number. It means that there were many, many soldiers in the Philistine army.

But as his anointing teaches you everything and is true and is not a lie, and just as it has taught you, remain in him. (1 John 2:27b ULT)

This is a hyperbole. It expresses the assurance that God's Spirit teaches us about all things that we need to know. God's Spirit does not teach us about everything that it is possible to know.

When they found him, they also said to him, "Everyone is looking for you." (Mark 1:37 ULT)

The disciples probably did not mean that everyone in the city was looking for Jesus, but that many people were looking for him, or that all of Jesus' closest friends there were looking for him. This is an exaggeration for the purpose of expressing the emotion that they and many others were worried about him.

Examples of Generalization

Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? (John 1:46b ULT)

This rhetorical question is meant to express the generalization that there is nothing good in Nazareth. The people there had a reputation for being uneducated and not strictly religious. Of course, there were exceptions.

One of them, of their own prophets, has said, "Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, lazy bellies." (Titus 1:12 ULT)

This is a generalization that means that Cretans had a reputation to be like this because, in general, this is how Cretans behaved. It is possible that there were exceptions.

A lazy hand causes a person to be poor, but the hand of the diligent person gains riches. (Proverbs 10:4 ULT)

This is generally true, and it reflects the experience of most people. It is possible that there are exceptions in some circumstances.

Caution

- Do not assume that something is an exaggeration just because it seems to be impossible. God does miraculous things.

They saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the boat. (John 6:19b ULT)

This is not hyperbole. Jesus really walked on the water. It is a literal statement.

- Do not assume that the word “all” is always a generalization that means “most.”
 - > Yahweh is righteous in all his ways
 - > and gracious in all he does. (Psalms 145:17 ULT)

Yahweh is always righteous. This is a completely true statement.

Translation Strategies

If the hyperbole or generalization would be natural and people would understand it and not think that it is a lie, consider using it. If not, here are other options.

- (1) Express the meaning without the exaggeration.
- (2) For a generalization, show that it is a generalization by using a phrase like “in general” or “in most cases.”
- (3) For a hyperbole or a generalization, add a word like “many” or “almost” to show that the hyperbole or generalization is not meant to be exact.
- (4) For a hyperbole or a generalization that has a word like “all,” “always,” “none,” or “never,” consider deleting that word.

Many of the country of Judea and many of the people of Jerusalem went out to him.

Hypothetical Situations

Consider these phrases: “If the sun stopped shining ...” “What if the sun stopped shining ...” “Suppose the sun stopped shining ...” and “If only the sun had not stopped shining.” We use such expressions to set up hypothetical situations, imagining what might have happened or what could happen in the future but probably will not. We also use them to express regret or wishes. Hypothetical expressions occur often in the Bible. You (the translator) need to translate them in a way that people will know that the event did not actually happen and so that they will understand why the event was imagined.

This page answers the question: What is a hypothetical situation?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro\]\]](#)

Description

Hypothetical situations are situations that are not real. They can be in the past, present, or future. Hypothetical situations in the past and present have not happened, are not happening now, and ones in the future are not expected to happen.

People sometimes tell about conditions and what would happen if those conditions were met, but they know that these things have not happened or probably will not happen. (The conditions comprise a phrase that starts with “if.”)

- If he had lived to be 100 years old, he would have seen his grandson’s grandson. (But he did not.)
- If he lived to be 100 years old, he would still be alive today. (But he is not.)
- If he lives to be 100 years old, he will see his grandson’s grandson. (But he probably will not.)

People sometimes express wishes about things that have not happened or that are not expected to happen.

- I wish he had come.
- I wish he were here.
- I wish he would come.

People sometimes express regrets about things that have not happened or that are not expected to happen.

- If only he had come.
- If only he were here.
- If only he would come.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- Translators need to recognize the different kinds of hypothetical situations in the Bible and understand that they are unreal.
- Translators need to know their own language’s ways of talking about different kinds of hypothetical situations.

Examples From the Bible

Hypothetical Situations in the Past

“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! If the mighty deeds had been done in Tyre and Sidon which were done in you, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.” (Matthew 11:21 ULT)

Here in Matthew 11:21, Jesus said that if the people living in the ancient cities of Tyre and Sidon had been able to see the miracles that he performed, they would have repented long ago. The people of Tyre and Sidon did not actually see his miracles, and they did not repent. He said this to rebuke the people of Chorazin and Bethsaida who had seen his miracles and yet did not repent.

Martha then said to Jesus, “Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.” (John 11:21 ULT)

Martha said this to express her wish that Jesus would have come sooner so that her brother would not have died. But Jesus did not come sooner and her brother did die.

Hypothetical Situations in the Present

And no man puts new wine into old wineskins. But if he did do that, the new wine would burst the wineskins, and it would be spilled out, and the wineskins would be destroyed. (Luke 5:37 ULT)

Jesus told about what would happen if a person were to put new wine into old wineskins. But no one would do that. He used this imaginary situation as an example to show that there are times when it is unwise to mix new things with old things. He did this so that people could understand why his disciples were not fasting as people traditionally did.

Jesus said to them, “What man would there be among you, who, if he had just one sheep, and if this sheep fell into a deep hole on the Sabbath, would not grasp hold of it and lift it out?” (Matthew 12:11 ULT)

Jesus asked the religious leaders what they would do on the Sabbath if one of their sheep fell into a hole. He was not saying that their sheep would fall into a hole. He used this imaginary situation to show them that they were wrong to judge him for healing people on the Sabbath.

Hypothetical Situation in the Future

Unless those days are shortened, no flesh would be saved. But for the sake of the elect, those days will be shortened. (Matthew 24:22 ULT)

Jesus was talking about a future time when very bad things would happen. He told what would happen if those days of trouble were to last a long time. He did this to show how bad those days will be—so bad that if they lasted a long time, no one would be saved. But then he clarified that God will shorten those days of trouble so that the elect (those he has chosen) will be saved.

Expressing Emotion About a Hypothetical Situation

People sometimes talk about hypothetical situations in order to express regrets and wishes. Regrets are about the past and wishes are about the present and future.

The Israelites said to them, “If only we had died by Yahweh’s hand in the land of Egypt when we were sitting by the pots of meat and were eating bread to the full. For you have brought us out into this wilderness to kill our whole community with hunger.” (Exodus 16:3 ULT)

Here the Israelites were afraid that they would have to suffer and die of hunger in the wilderness, and so they wished that they had stayed in Egypt and died there with full stomachs. They were complaining, expressing regret that this had not happened.

I know what you have done, and that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish that you were either cold or hot! (Revelation 3:15 ULT)

Jesus wished that the people were either hot or cold, but they are neither. He was rebuking them, expressing anger at this.

Translation Strategies

Find out how people speaking your language show:

- that something could have happened, but did not.
- that something could be true now, but is not.
- that something could happen in the future, but will not unless something changes.
- that they wish for something, but it does not happen.
- that they regret that something did not happen.

Use your language's ways of showing these kinds of things.

Idiom

An idiom is a figure of speech made up of a group of words that, as a whole, has a meaning that is different from what one would understand from the meanings of the individual words. Someone from outside of the culture usually cannot understand an idiom without someone inside the culture explaining its true meaning. Every language uses idioms. Some English examples are:

- You are pulling my leg. (This means, “You are teasing me by telling me something that is not true.”)
- Do not push the envelope. (This means, “Do not take a matter to its extreme.”)
- This house is under water. (This means, “The debt owed for this house is greater than its actual value.”)
- We are painting the town red. (This means, “We are going around town tonight celebrating very intensely.”)

This page answers the question: What are idioms and how can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro\]\]](#)

Description

An idiom is a phrase that has a special meaning to the people of the language or culture who use it. Its meaning is different than what a person would understand from the meanings of the individual words that form the phrase.

He set his face to go to Jerusalem. (Luke 9:51b ULT)

The words “set his face” is an idiom that means “decided.”

Sometimes people may be able to understand an idiom from another culture, but it might sound like a strange way to express the meaning.

I am not worthy that you would come under my roof. (Luke 7:6b ULT)

The phrase “come under my roof” is an idiom that means “enter my house.”

Put these words into your ears. (Luke 9:44a ULT)

This idiom means “Listen carefully and remember what I say.”

Purpose: An idiom is probably created in a culture somewhat by accident when someone describes something in an unusual way. But, when that unusual way communicates the message powerfully and people understand it clearly, other people start to use it. After a while, it becomes a normal way of talking in that language.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- People can easily misunderstand idioms in the original languages of the Bible if they do not know the cultures that produced the Bible.
- People can easily misunderstand idioms that are in the source language Bibles if they do not know the cultures that made those translations.
- It is useless to translate idioms literally (according to the meaning of each word) when the target language audience will not understand what they mean.

Examples From the Bible

Then all Israel came to David at Hebron and said, “Look, we are your flesh and bone.” (1 Chronicles 11:1 ULT)

This means, “We and you belong to the same race, the same family.”

■ The children of Israel went out with a high hand. (Exodus 14:8b ASV)

This means, "The Israelites went out defiantly."

■ the one who lifts up my head (Psalm 3:3b ULT)

This means, "the one who helps me."

Translation Strategies

If the idiom would be clearly understood in your language, consider using it. If not, here are some other options.

- (1) Translate the meaning plainly without using an idiom.
- (2) Use a different idiom that people use in your own language that has the same meaning.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

Information Structure

Description

Different languages arrange the parts of the sentence in different ways. In English, a sentence normally has the subject first, then the verb, then the object, then other modifiers, like this: Peter painted his house yesterday.

Many other languages normally put these things in a different order such as: Painted yesterday Peter his house.

Although all languages have a normal order for parts of a sentence, this order can change depending on what information the speaker or writer considers to be the most important.

Suppose that someone is answering the question, “What did Peter paint yesterday?” The person asking the question already knows all of the information in our sentence above except for the object, “his house.” Therefore, that becomes the most important part of the information, and a person answering in English might say “His house is what Peter painted (yesterday).”

This puts the most important information first, which is normal for English. Many Other Languages would normally put the most important information last. In the flow of a text, the most important information is usually what the writer considers to be new information for the reader. In some languages the new information comes first, and in others it comes last.

This page answers the question: How do languages arrange the parts of a sentence?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences]]

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Different languages arrange the parts of a sentence in different ways. If you (the translator) copy the order of the parts of a sentence from the source, it may not make sense in your language.
- Different languages put important or new information in different places in the sentence. If you keep the important or new information in the same place that it had in the source language, it may be confusing or give the wrong message in your language.

Examples From the Bible

They all ate until they were satisfied. (Mark 6:42 ULT)

The parts of this sentence were in a different order in the original Greek source language. They were like this: And they ate all and they were satisfied.

In English, this means that the people ate everything. But the next verse says that they took up twelve baskets full of leftover pieces of food. In order for this to not be so confusing, the translators of the ULT put the parts of the sentence in the right order for English.

And the day began to end, and the twelve came to him and said, “Send the crowd away so that, going into the surrounding villages and countryside, they may find lodging and food, because we are here in an desolate place.” (Luke 9:12 ULT)

In this verse, what the disciples say to Jesus puts the important information first, that he should send the crowd away. In languages that put the important information last, people would understand that the reason that they gave, being in an isolated place, is the most important part of their message to Jesus. They might then think that the disciples are afraid of the spirits in that place, and that sending the people to buy food is a way to protect them from the spirits. That is the wrong message.

Woe to you when all men speak well of you, for their fathers treated the false prophets in the same way. (Luke 6:26 ULT)

In this verse, the most important part of the information is first, that “woe” is coming on the people for what they are doing. The reason that supports that warning comes last. This could be confusing for people who expect the important information to come last.

Translation Strategies

- (1) Study how your language arranges the parts of a sentence, and use that order in your translation.
- (2) Study where your language puts the new or important information, and rearrange the order of information so that it follows the way it is done in your language.

Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Study how your language arranges the parts of a sentence, and use that order in your translation.

This is the verse in the original Greek order:

And he went out from there and came to the hometown his, and they followed him the disciples his. (Mark 6:1)

The ULT has put this into the normal order for English:

Now Jesus went out from there and came to his hometown, and his disciples followed him. (Mark 6:1 ULT)

- (2) Study where your language puts the new or important information and rearrange the order of information so that it follows the way it is done in your language.

And the day began to end, and the twelve came and said to him, “Send the crowd away so that, going into the surrounding villages and countryside, they may find lodging and food, because we are here in a desolate place.” (Luke 9:12 ULT)

If your language puts the important information last, you can change the order of the verse.

Now the day was about to come to an end, and the twelve came to him and said, “Because we are here in an desolate place, send the crowd away that they may go into the surrounding villages and countryside to find lodging and food.”

Woe to you, when all men speak well of you, for that is how their ancestors treated the false prophets. (Luke 6:26 ULT)

If your language puts the important information last, you can change the order of the verse.

When all men speak well of you, which is just as people’s ancestors treated the false prophets, then woe to you!

Introduction of a New Event

Description

When people tell a story, they tell about an event or a series of events. Often they put certain information at the beginning of the story, such as who the story is about, when it happened, and where it happened. This information that the writer gives before the events of the story begin is called the setting of the story. Some new events in a story also have a setting because they might involve new people, new times, and new places. In some languages, people also tell if they saw the event or heard about it from someone else.

This page answers the question: How do we introduce a new event in a story?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro\]\]](#)

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-events\]\]](#)

When your people tell about events, what information do they give at the beginning? Is there a certain order that they put it in? In your translation, you will need to follow the way your language introduces new information at the beginning of a story or a new event rather than the way the source language did that. In this way your translation will sound natural and communicate clearly in your language.

Examples From the Bible

In the days of Herod, king of Judea, there was a certain priest named Zechariah, from the division of Abijah. And his wife was from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. (Luke 1:5 ULT)

The verses above introduce a story about Zechariah. The first bolded phrase tells when it happened, and the next two bolded phrases introduce the main people. The next two verses go on to explain that Zechariah and Elizabeth were old and did not have any children. All of this is the setting. Then the phrase “And it happened that” in Luke 1:8 helps to introduce the first event in this story:

And it happened that in his performing as priest before God, in the order of his division, according to the custom of the priesthood, he came up by lot to enter into the temple of the Lord to burn incense. (Luke 1:8-9 ULT)

The birth of Jesus Christ happened in the following way. His mother, Mary, was engaged to marry Joseph, but before they came together, she was found to be pregnant by the Holy Spirit. (Matthew 1:18 ULT)

The bolded sentence above makes it explicit that a story about Jesus is being introduced. The story will tell about how the birth of Jesus happened.

Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, learned men from the east arrived in Jerusalem. (Matthew 2:1 ULT)

The bolded phrase above shows that the events concerning the learned men happened after Jesus was born.

Now in those days John the Baptist came preaching in the wilderness of Judea. (Matthew 3:1-22 ULT)

The bolded phrase above shows that John the Baptist came preaching around the time of the previous events. It is probably very general and refers to when Jesus lived in Nazareth.

Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan River to John, to be baptized by him. (Matthew 3:13 ULT)

The word “then” shows that Jesus came to the Jordan River some time after the events in the previous verses.

Now there was a man from the Pharisees whose name was Nicodemus, a Jewish leader.
This man came to Jesus at night. (John 3:1-2a ULT)

The author first introduced the new person and then told about what he did and when he did it. In some languages, it might be more natural to tell about the time first.

6 Noah was 600 years old when the flood came upon the earth. 7 Noah, his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives went into the ark together because of the waters of the flood. (Genesis 7:6-7 ULT)

Verse 6 is a statement of the events that happen in the rest of chapter 7. Chapter 6 already told about how God told Noah that there would be a flood, and how Noah prepared for it. Chapter 7 verse 6 introduces the part of the story that tells about Noah and his family and the animals going into the ship, the rain starting, and the rain flooding the earth. Some languages might need to make it clear that this verse simply introduces the event, or move this verse after verse 7. Verse 6 is not one of the events of the story. The people went into the ship before the flood came.

Translation Strategies

If the information given at the beginning of a new event is clear and natural to your readers, consider translating it as it is in the ULT or UST. If not, consider one of these strategies:

- (1) Put the information that introduces the event in the order that your people put it.
- (2) If readers would expect certain information but it is not in the Bible, consider using an indefinite word or phrase to fill in that information, such as: "another time" or "someone."
- (3) If the introduction is a summary of the whole event, use your language's way of showing that it is a summary.
- (4) If it would be strange in the target language to give a summary of the event at the beginning, indicate that the event would actually happen later in the story.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Put the information that introduces the event in the order that your people put it.

Now there was a man from the Pharisees whose name was Nicodemus, a Jewish leader.
This man came to Jesus at night. (John 3:1-2a ULT)

There was a man whose name was Nicodemus. He was a Pharisee and a member of the Jewish Council. One night he came to Jesus.

One night a man named Nicodemus, who was a Pharisee and a member of the Jewish Council, came to Jesus.

As he passed by, he saw Levi the son of Alpheus, sitting at the tax collector's tent, and he said to him ... (Mark 2:14a ULT)

As he passed by, Levi the son of Alpheus was sitting at the tax collector's tent. Jesus saw him and said to him ...

As he passed by, there was a man sitting at the tax collector's tent. His name was Levi, and he was the son of Alpheus. Jesus saw him and said to him ...

As he passed by, there was a tax collector sitting at the tax collector's tent. His name was Levi, and he was the son of Alpheus. Jesus saw him and said to him ...

(2) If readers would expect certain information, but it is not in the Bible, consider using an indefinite word or phrase such as "another time," or "someone."

Noah was 600 years old when the flood came upon the earth. (Genesis 7:6 ULT) — If people expect to be told something about when the new event happened, the phrase "after that" can help them see that it happened after the events already mentioned.

After that, when Noah was 600 years old, the flood came upon the earth.

Again he began to teach beside the sea. (Mark 4:1a ULT) — In chapter 3 Jesus was teaching at someone's house. Readers may need to be told that this new event happened at another time, or that Jesus actually went to the sea.

Another time Jesus began to teach people again beside the sea.

Jesus went to the sea and began to teach people again there.

(3) If the introduction is a summary of the whole event, use your language's way of showing that it is a summary.

Noah was 600 years old when the flood came upon the earth. (Genesis 7:6 ULT)

Now this is what happened when Noah was 600 years old and the flood came upon the earth.

This part tells about what happened when the flood came upon the earth. It happened when Noah was 600 years old.

(4) If it would be strange in the target language to give a summary of the event at the beginning, show that the event will actually happen later in the story.

Noah was 600 years old when the flood came upon the earth. Noah, his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives went into the ark together because of the waters of the flood. (Genesis 7:6-7 ULT)

Now this is what happened when Noah was 600 years old. Noah, his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives went into the ark together because God had said that the waters of the flood would come.

Introduction of New and Old Participants

Description

The first time that people or things are mentioned in a story, they are new participants. After that, whenever they are mentioned, they are old participants.

Now there was a man from the Pharisees whose name was Nicodemus ... This man came to Jesus at night ... Jesus replied and said to him ... (John 3:1, 2a, 3a)

This page answers the question: Why cannot the readers of my translation understand who the author was writing about?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech]]
[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro]]

The first bolded phrase introduces Nicodemus as a new participant. After being introduced, he is then referred to as “This man” and “him” when he has become an old participant.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

In order to make your translation clear and natural, it is necessary to refer to the participants in such a way that people will know if they are new participants or participants that they have already read about. Different languages have different ways of doing this. You must follow the way that your language does this, not the way that the source language does this.

Examples From the Bible

New Participants

Often the most important new participant is introduced with a phrase that says that he existed, such as “There was a man,” as in the example below. The phrase “There was” tells us that this man existed. The word “a” in “a man” tells us that the author is speaking about him for the first time. The rest of the sentence tells where this man was from, who his family was, and what his name was.

Now there was a man from Zorah, of the families of the Danites, and his name was Manoah. (Judges 13:2a ULT)

A new participant who is not the most important participant is often introduced in relation to the more important person who was already introduced. In the example below, Manoah’s wife is simply referred to as “his wife.” This phrase shows her relationship to him.

Now there was one man from Zorah, of the families of the Danites, and his name was Manoah. His wife was barren and she had never given birth. (Judges 13:2 ULT)

Sometimes a new participant is introduced simply by name because the author assumes that the readers know who the person is. In the first verse of 1 Kings, the author assumes that his readers know who King David is, so there is no need to explain who he is.

Now King David was old, he had advanced in the days, and they covered him with the garments, but it was not warm enough for him. (1 Kings 1:1 ULT)

Old Participants

A person who has already been brought into the story can be referred to with a pronoun after that. In the example below, Manoah is referred to with the pronoun “his,” and his wife is referred to with the pronoun “she.”

His wife was barren and she had never given birth. (Judges 13:2 ULT)

Old participants can also be referred to in other ways, depending on what is happening in the story. In the example below, the story is about bearing a son, and Manoah’s wife is referred to by the noun phrase “the wife.”

The angel of Yahweh appeared to the wife and he said to her ... (Judges 13:3a ULT)

If the old participant has not been mentioned for a while, or if there could be confusion between participants, the author may use the participant’s name again. In the example below, Manoah is referred to by his name, which the author has not used since verse 2.

Then Manoah prayed to Yahweh. (Judges 13:8a ULT)

Some languages place an affix on the verb that tells something about the subject. In some of those languages, people do not always use noun phrases or pronouns for old participants when they are the subject of the sentence. The marker on the verb gives enough information for the listener to understand who the subject is. (See Verbs.)

Translation Strategies

- (1) If the participant is new, use one of your language’s ways of introducing new participants.
- (2) If it is not clear to whom a pronoun refers, use a noun phrase or name.
- (3) If an old participant is referred to by name or a noun phrase, and people wonder if this is another new participant, try using a pronoun instead. If a pronoun is not needed because people would understand it clearly from the context, then leave out the pronoun.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If the participant is new, use one of your language’s ways of introducing new participants.

Then Joseph, who was called Barnabas by the apostles (which is translated as Son of Encouragement), a Levite from Cyprus by birth ... (Acts 4:36-37 ULT) — Starting the sentence with Joseph’s name when he has not been introduced yet might be confusing in some languages.

There was a man from Cyprus who was a Levite. His name was Joseph, and he was given the name Barnabas by the apostles (that is, being interpreted, Son of Encouragement). There was a Levite from Cyprus whose name was Joseph. The apostles gave him the name Barnabas, which means Son of encouragement.

- (2) If it is not clear who a pronoun refers to, use a noun phrase or name.

And it happened that when he was praying in a certain place, when he stopped, one of his disciples said to him, “Lord, teach us to pray just as John also taught his disciples.” (Luke 11:1 ULT) — Since this is the first verse in a chapter, readers might wonder who “he” refers to.

It happened when Jesus finished praying in a certain place, that one of his disciples said, “Lord, teach us to pray just as John taught his disciples.”

(3) If an old participant is referred to by name or a noun phrase, and people wonder if this is another new participant, try using a pronoun instead. If a pronoun is not needed because people would understand it clearly from the context, then leave out the pronoun.

Joseph's master took Joseph and put him in prison, in the place where all the king's prisoners were put, and Joseph stayed there. (Genesis 39:20) — Since Joseph is the main person in the story, some languages might prefer the pronoun.

Joseph's master took him and put him in prison, in the place where all the king's prisoners were put, and he stayed there in the prison.

Irony

Description

Irony is a figure of speech in which the sense that the speaker intends to communicate is actually the opposite of the literal meaning of the words. Sometimes a person does this by using someone else's words, but in a way that communicates that he does not agree with them. People do this to emphasize how different something is from what it should be, or how someone else's belief about something is wrong or foolish. It is often humorous.

This page answers the question: What is irony and how can I translate it?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro\]\]](#)

Then Jesus answered and said to them, "People who are well do not have need of a physician, but those who have sickness. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."
(Luke 5:31-32 ULT)

When Jesus spoke of "righteous people," he was not referring to people who were truly righteous, but to people who wrongly believed that they were righteous. By using irony, Jesus communicated that they were wrong to think that they were better than others and did not need to repent.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

If someone does not realize that a speaker is using irony, he will think that the speaker actually believes what he is saying. He will understand the passage to mean the opposite of what it was intended to mean.

Examples From the Bible

How well you reject the commandment of God so that you may keep your tradition! (Mark 7:9b ULT)

Here Jesus praises the Pharisees for doing something that is obviously wrong. Through irony, he communicates the opposite of praise: He communicates that the Pharisees, who take great pride in keeping the commandments, are so far from God that they do not even recognize that their traditions are breaking God's commandments. The use of irony makes the Pharisee's sin more obvious and startling.

"Present your case," says Yahweh; "present your best arguments for your idols," says the King of Jacob. "Let them bring us their own arguments; have them come forward and declare to us what will happen, so we may know these things well. Have them tell us of earlier predictive declarations, so we can reflect on them and know how they were fulfilled." (Isaiah 41:21-22 ULT)

People worshiped idols as if their idols had knowledge or power, and Yahweh was angry at them for doing that. So he used irony and challenged their idols to tell what would happen in the future. He knew that the idols could not do this, but by speaking as if they could, he mocked the idols, making their inability more obvious, and rebuked the people for worshiping them.

Can you lead light and darkness to their places of work?
Can you find the way back to their houses for them?
Undoubtedly you know, for you were born then; "the number of your days is so large!" (Job 38:20-21 ULT)

Job thought that he was wise. Yahweh used irony to show Job that he was not so wise. The two phrases in bold above are irony. They emphasize the opposite of what they say, because they are so obviously false. They emphasize that Job could not possibly answer God's questions about the creation of light because Job was not born until many, many years later.

Already you are satisfied! Already you have become rich! You began to reign apart from us, and I wish you really did reign, so that we also might reign with you. (1 Corinthians 4:8 ULT)

The Corinthians considered themselves to be very wise, self-sufficient, and not in need of any instruction from the Apostle Paul. Paul used irony, speaking as if he agreed with them, to show how proudly they were acting and how far from being wise they really were.

Translation Strategies

If the irony would be understood correctly in your language, translate it as it is stated. If not, here are some other strategies.

- (1) Translate it in a way that shows that the speaker is saying what someone else believes.
- (2) The irony is not found in the literal words of the speaker, but instead the true meaning is found in the opposite of the literal meaning of the speaker's words.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Translate it in a way that shows that the speaker is saying what someone else believes.

How well you reject the commandment of God so that you may keep your tradition! (Mark 7:9a ULT)

You think that you are doing well when you reject God's commandment so you may keep your tradition!
You act like it is good to reject God's commandment so you may keep your tradition!

I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. (Luke 5:32 ULT)

I did not come to call people who think that they are righteous to repentance, but to call sinners to repentance.

- (2) Translate the actual, intended meaning of the statement of irony.

How well you reject the commandment of God so that you may keep your tradition! (Mark 7:9a ULT)

You are doing a terrible thing when you reject the commandment of God so you may keep your tradition!

"Present your case," says Yahweh; "present your best arguments for your idols," says the King of Jacob. "Let them bring us their own arguments; have them come forward and declare to us what will happen, so we may know these things well. Have them tell us of earlier predictive declarations, so we can reflect on them and know how they were fulfilled." (Isaiah 41:21-22 ULT)

'Present your case,' says Yahweh; 'present your best arguments for your idols,' says the King of Jacob. Your idols cannot bring us their own arguments or come forward to declare to us what will happen so we may know these things well. We cannot hear them because they cannot speak to tell us their earlier predictive declarations, so we cannot reflect on them and know how they were fulfilled.

Can you lead light and darkness to their places of work?

Can you find the way back to their houses for them?

Undoubtedly you know, for you were born then;
the number of your days is so large! (Job 38:20-21 ULT)

Can you lead light and darkness to their places of work? Can you find the way back to their houses for them? You act like you know how light and darkness were created, as if you were there; as if you are as old as creation, but you are not!

Kinship

Description

This page answers the question: What are kinship terms and how can I translate them?

Kinship terms refer to those words used to describe people related to one another in familial relationships. These terms vary widely in their specificity from language to language. They range from the (Western) nuclear or immediate family (father-son, husband-wife) out to broad clan relationships in other cultures.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Depending on the language translators may need to use specific terms to designate the accurate kinship relationship. In some languages a different term may be used based on siblings' birth order. In others, the side of the family (father's or mother's), age, marital status, etc. may determine the term used. Different terms may be used based on the gender of the speaker and/or addressee. Translators may need to make sure they know the exact relationship between two related people in the Bible to find the correct term. Sometimes these terms are difficult even for native speakers to remember and translators may need to seek community help in finding the correct term. Another complicating issue is that the Bible may not give enough information about the relationship for translators to determine the correct term in the language being translated into. In this case, translators will have to use a more general term or simply pick a satisfactory term based on the limited information available.

Sometimes terms that seem like kinship terms are used for people who are not necessarily related. For instance, an older person may refer to a younger man or woman as "my son" or "my daughter."

Examples from the Bible

Then Yahweh said to Cain, "Where is Abel your brother?" He said, "I do not know. Am I my brother's keeper?" (Genesis 4:9 ULT)

Abel was Cain's younger brother.

Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah to the field to his flock and said to them, "I see your father's attitude toward me has changed, but the God of my father has been with me." (Genesis 31:4-5 ULT)

Jacob is referring here to his father-in-law. In some languages there may be a specific term for a man's father-in-law, however, in this case it is better to retain the form your father as Jacob may be using it to distance himself from Laban.

And Moses was shepherding the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian. (Exodus3:1a ULT)

Unlike the previous instance, if your language has a term for a man's father-in-law this is a good place to use it.

And his sister stationed herself at a distance to know what would be done to him. (Exodus 2:4 ULT)

From context we know that this was Miriam, Moses's older sister. In some languages this may require a specific term. In others, the term for older sister may be only used when the younger sibling is addressing and/or referring to his or her sister.

Then she and her daughters-in-law arose to return from the fields of Moab (Ruth 1:6a ULT)

Ruth & Orpah are Naomi's daughters-in-law.

Then she said, “Look, your sister-in-law has turned back to her people and to her gods.” (Ruth 1:15 ULT)

Orpah had been the wife of Ruth’s husband’s brother. This may be a different term in your language than if she had been Ruth’s husband’s sister.

Then Boaz said to Ruth, “Will you not listen to me, my daughter?” (Ruth 2:8a ULT)

Boaz is not Ruth’s father; he is simply using the term to address a younger woman.

And behold, your relative Elizabeth—she also has conceived a son in her old age, and this is the sixth month for her who was called barren. (Luke 1:36 ULT)

While the KJV translated this as cousin, the term simply means a related woman.

Translation Strategies

- (1) Find out the exact relationship specified and translate using the term your language uses.
- (2) If the text does not specify the relationship as clearly as your language would, either:
 - (a) settle on a more general term.
 - (b) use a specific term if required by your language, choosing the one that is most likely to be correct.

Translation Strategies Applied

This is not an issue in English, so the following illustrations draw on other languages.

In Korean, there are several terms for brother and sister, the use of them depends on the speaker’s (or referent’s) sex and birth order. Examples are from the Korean Living Bible, found on biblegateway.com

Genesis 30:1 Rachel is jealous of her “eonni,” which is the term a woman uses for her older sister.

Genesis 34:31 Simeon and Levi refer to Dinah as “nui,” a general term for sister.

Genesis 37:16 Joseph refers to his brothers as “hyeong,” which is the term a man uses for his older brother(s).

Genesis 45:12 Joseph refers to Benjamin as “dongsaeng,” which roughly means sibling, usually younger.

In Russian, in-law terms are complex. For instance, “nevěstka” is the term for a brother’s (or brother-in-law’s) wife; a woman uses the same term for her daughter-in-law but her husband would call the same daughter-in-law “snoxá.”

Examples from the Russian Synodal Version.

Genesis 38:25 Tamar sends a message to her father-in-law, Judah. The term used is “svekor.” This is used for a woman’s husband’s father.

Exodus 3:1 Moses is watching his father-in-law’s herd. The term used is “test’.” This is used for a man’s wife’s father.

Litany

Description

A litany is a figure of speech in which the various components of a thing are listed in a series of very similar statements. The speaker does this to indicate that what he is saying should be understood as comprehensive and without exceptions.

This page answers the question: What is the figure of speech called litany?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Many languages do not use litanies, and readers could be confused by them. They may wonder why the speaker seems to be saying the same thing over and over again.

Examples From the Bible

Though they dig into Sheol, there my hand will take them. Though they climb up to heaven, there I will bring them down. Though they hide on the top of Carmel, there I will search and take them. Though they are hidden from my sight in the bottom of the sea, there will I give orders to the serpent, and it will bite them. Though they go into captivity, driven by their enemies before them, there will I give orders to the sword, and it will kill them. (Amos 9:2-4 ULT)

In this passage Yahweh is telling the people of Israel that when he punishes them, none of them will escape.

But you should not have looked on the day of your brother, on the day of his misfortune. And you should not have rejoiced over the sons of Judah in the day of their perishing. And you should not have made your mouth great in a day of distress. You should not have entered the gate of my people in the day of their calamity. Yes, you! You should not have looked on his evil in the day of his calamity. And you women should not have looted his wealth in the day of his calamity. And you should not have stood at the crossroads to cut down his fugitives. And you should not have delivered up his survivors in a day of distress. (Obadiah 1:12-14)

In this passage Yahweh is telling the people of Edom that they should have helped the people of Judah when they were conquered by the Babylonians.

Translation Strategies

If the litany is understood as it is in the ULT, then translate the litany as it is. If it is not understood, then try one or more of the following strategies.

- (1) Often in the Bible there will be a general statement at the beginning or end of a litany that sums up its overall meaning. You can format that statement in a way that will show that it is a summary statement that gives the meaning of the litany.
- (2) You can put each sentence of the litany on a separate line. Also, if each sentence in the litany has two parts, you can format the litany so that the equivalent parts of each sentence line up. Use this or any other type of formatting that will show that each sentence is reinforcing the same meaning.
- (3) You can eliminate words like “and,” “but,” and “or” at the beginning of sentences so that it will be clearer that the component parts of the litany are all being listed in a row.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) combined with (3):

Often in the Bible there will be a general statement at the beginning or end of a litany that sums up its overall meaning. You can format that statement in a way that will show that it is a summary statement that gives the meaning of the litany;

You can eliminate words like “and,” “but,” and “or” at the beginning of sentences so that it will be clearer that the component parts of the litany are all being listed in a row.

You did nothing to help the Israelites when strangers carried away their wealth. They conquered all the cities of Judah, and they even plundered Jerusalem. And you were just as bad as those foreigners, because you did nothing to help:

You should not have looked on the day of your brother, on the day of his misfortune. You should not have rejoiced over the sons of Judah in the day of their perishing. You should not have made your mouth great in a day of distress. You should not have entered the gate of my people in the day of their calamity. Yes, you! You should not have looked on his evil in the day of his calamity. You women should not have looted his wealth in the day of his calamity. You should not have stood at the crossroads to cut down his fugitives. You should not have delivered up his survivors in a day of distress. (Obadiah 1:11-14)

In the above example, verse 11 provides the summary and meaning for the litany that follows in verses 12-14.

(1) combined with (2):

Often in the Bible there will be a general statement at the beginning or end of a litany that sums up its overall meaning. You can format that statement in a way that will show that it is a summary statement that gives the meaning of the litany;

You can put each sentence of the litany on a separate line. Also, if each sentence in the litany has two parts, you can format the litany so that the equivalent parts of each sentence line up. Use this or any other type of formatting that will show that each sentence is reinforcing the same meaning.

Not one of them will get away, not one of them will escape:

Though they dig into Sheol, there my hand will take them.

Though they climb up to heaven, there I will bring them down.

Though they hide on the top of Carmel, there I will search and take them.

Though they are hidden from my sight in the bottom of the sea, there will I give orders to the serpent, and it will bite them.

Though they go into captivity, driven by their enemies before them, there will I give orders to the sword, and it will kill them. (Amos 9:1b-4 ULT)

In the above example, the sentence before the litany explains its overall meaning. That sentence can be placed as an introduction. The second half of each sentence can be formatted in a descending staircase pattern as above, or lined up evenly like the first half of each sentence, or in another way. Use whatever format best shows that these sentences are all communicating the same truth, that it is not possible to escape from God.

Litotes

Description

Litotes is a figure of speech in which the speaker expresses a strong positive meaning by using two negative words or a negative word with a word that means the opposite of the meaning he intends. A few examples of negative words are “no,” “not,” “none,” and “never.” The opposite of “good” is “bad.” Someone could say that something is “not bad” to mean that it is extremely good.

This page answers the question: What is litotes?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Some languages do not use litotes. People who speak those languages might not understand that a statement using litotes actually strengthens the positive meaning. Instead, they might think that it weakens or even cancels the positive meaning.

Examples From the Bible

For you yourselves know, brothers, that our coming to you was not useless, (1 Thessalonians 2:1 ULT)

By using litotes, Paul emphasized that his visit with them was very useful.

Now when it became day, there was no small disturbance among the soldiers over what therefore had happened to Peter. (Acts 12:18 ULT)

By using litotes, Luke emphasized that there was a lot of excitement or anxiety among the soldiers about what happened to Peter. (Peter had been in prison, and even though there were soldiers guarding him, he escaped when an angel let him out. So they were very agitated.)

But you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, are not the least among the leaders of Judah, for from you will come a ruler who will shepherd my people Israel. (Matthew 2:6 ULT)

By using litotes, the prophet emphasized that Bethlehem would be a very important city.

Translation Strategies

If the litotes would be understood correctly, consider using it.

(1) If the meaning with the negative would not be clear, give the positive meaning in a strong way.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

Merism

Definition

Merism is a figure of speech in which a person refers to something by speaking of two extreme parts of it. By referring to the extreme parts, the speaker intends to include also everything in between those parts.

"I am the alpha and the omega," says the Lord God,
"the one who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty." (Revelation 1:8 ULT)

I am the alpha and the omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

Alpha and omega are the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. This is a merism that includes everything from the beginning to the end. It means eternal.

... I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth ..., (Matthew 11:25b ULT)

Heaven and earth is a merism that includes everything that exists.

Reason This is a Translation Issue

Some languages do not use merism. The readers of those languages may think that the phrase only applies to the items mentioned. They may not realize that it refers to those two things and everything in between.

Examples From the Bible

From the rising of the sun to its setting, Yahweh's name should be praised. (Psalm 113:3 ULT)

This bolded phrase is a merism because it speaks of the east and the west and everywhere in between. It means "everywhere."

He will bless those who honor him, both young and old. (Psalm 115:13)

The bolded phrase is merism because it speaks of old people and young people and everyone in between. It means "everyone."

Translation Strategies

If the merism would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here are other options:

- (1) Identify what the merism refers to without mentioning the parts.
- (2) Identify what the merism refers to and include the parts.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Identify what the merism refers to without mentioning the parts.

I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth. (Matthew 11:25b ULT)

I praise you, Father, Lord of everything.

From the rising of the sun to its setting, Yahweh's name should be praised. (Psalm 113:3 ULT)

In all places, people should praise Yahweh's name.

(2) Identify what the merism refers to and include the parts.

I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth. (Matthew 11:25b ULT)

I praise you, Father, Lord of everything, including both what is in heaven and what is on earth.

Metaphor

Description

A metaphor is a figure of speech in which someone speaks of one thing as if it were a different thing because he wants people to think about how those two things are alike.

For example, someone might say, “The girl I love is a red rose.”

A girl and a rose are very different things, but the speaker considers that they are alike in some way. The hearer’s task is to understand in what way they are alike.

This page answers the question: What is a metaphor and how can I translate a Bible passage that has one?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro\]\]](#)

Simile

The Parts of a Metaphor

The example above shows us that a metaphor has three parts. In this metaphor, the speaker is talking about “the girl I love.” This is the Topic. The speaker wants the hearer to think about what is similar between her and “a red rose.” The red rose is the Image to which he compares the girl. Most probably, he wants the hearer to consider that they are both beautiful. This is the Idea that the girl and the rose both share, and so we may also call it the Point of Comparison.

Every metaphor has three parts:

- The Topic, the item being immediately discussed by the writer/speaker.
- The Image, the physical item (object, event, action, etc.) which the speaker uses to describe the topic.
- The Idea, the abstract concept or quality that the physical Image brings to the mind of the hearer when he thinks of how the Image and the Topic are similar. Often, the Idea of a metaphor is not explicitly stated in the Bible, but it is only implied from the context. The hearer or reader usually needs to think of the Idea himself.

Using these terms, we can say that a metaphor is a figure of speech that uses a physical Image to apply an abstract Idea to the speaker’s Topic.

Usually, a writer or speaker uses a metaphor in order to express something about a Topic, with at least one Point of Comparison (Idea) between the Topic and the Image. Often in metaphors, the Topic and the Image are explicitly stated, but the Idea is only implied. The writer/speaker often uses a metaphor in order to invite the readers/listeners to think about the similarity between the Topic and the Image and to figure out for themselves the Idea that is being communicated.

Speakers often use metaphors in order to strengthen their message, to make their language more vivid, to express their feelings better, to say something that is hard to say in any other way, or to help people remember their message.

Sometimes speakers use metaphors that are very common in their language. However, sometimes speakers use metaphors that are uncommon, and even some metaphors that are unique. When a metaphor has become very common in a language, often it becomes a “passive” metaphor, in contrast to uncommon metaphors, which we describe as being “active.” Passive metaphors and active metaphors each present a different kind of translation problem, which we will discuss below.

Passive Metaphors

A passive metaphor is a metaphor that has been used so much in the language that its speakers no longer regard it as one concept standing for another. Linguists often call these “dead metaphors.” Passive metaphors are extremely common. Examples in English include the terms “table leg,” “family tree,” “book leaf” (meaning a page in a book), or the word “crane” (meaning a large machine for lifting heavy loads). English speakers simply think of these words as having more than one meaning. Examples of passive metaphors in Biblical Hebrew include using the word “hand” to represent “power,” using the word “face” to represent “presence,” and speaking of emotions or moral qualities as if they were “clothing.”

Patterned Pairs of Concepts Acting as Metaphors

Many ways of metaphorical speaking depend on pairs of concepts, where one underlying concept frequently stands for a different underlying concept. For example, in English, the direction “up” (the Image) often represents the concepts of “more” or “better” (the Idea). Because of this pair of underlying concepts, we can make sentences such as “The price of gasoline is going up,” “A highly intelligent man,” and also the opposite kind of idea: “The temperature is going down,” and “I am feeling very low.”

Patterned pairs of concepts are constantly used for metaphorical purposes in the world’s languages because they serve as convenient ways to organize thought. In general, people like to speak of abstract qualities (such as power, presence, emotions, and moral qualities) as if they were body parts, or as if they were objects that could be seen or held, or as if they were events that could be watched as they happened.

When these metaphors are used in normal ways, it is rare that the speaker and audience regard them as figurative speech. Examples of metaphors in English that go unrecognized are:

- “Turn the heat up.” More is spoken of as up.
- “Let us go ahead with our debate.” Doing what was planned is spoken of as walking or advancing.
- “You defend your theory well.” Argument is spoken of as war.
- “A flow of words.” Words are spoken of as liquids.

English speakers do not view these as metaphorical expressions or figures of speech, so it would be wrong to translate them into other languages in a way that would lead people to pay special attention to them as figurative speech. For a description of important patterns of this kind of metaphor in biblical languages, please see Biblical Imagery — Common Patterns and the pages it will direct you to.

When translating something that is a passive metaphor into another language, do not treat it as a metaphor. Instead, just use the best expression for that thing or concept in the target language.

Active Metaphors

These are metaphors that people recognize as one concept standing for another concept, or one thing for another thing. Metaphors make people think about how the one thing is like the other thing, because in most ways the two things are very different. People also easily recognize these metaphors as giving strength and unusual qualities to the message. For this reason, people pay attention to these metaphors. For example,

But for you who fear my name, the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings.
(Malachi 4:2a ULT)

Here, God speaks about his salvation as if it were the sun rising in order to shine its rays on the people whom he loves. He also speaks of the sun’s rays as if they were wings. Also, he speaks of these wings as if they were bringing medicine that would heal his people. Here is another example:

And he said to them, “Go and tell that fox ...” (Luke 13:32a ULT)

Here, “that fox” refers to King Herod. The people listening to Jesus certainly understood that Jesus was intending for them to apply certain characteristics of a fox to Herod. They probably understood that Jesus intended to communicate that Herod was evil, either in a cunning way or as someone who was destructive, murderous, or who took things that did not belong to him, or all of these.

Active metaphors require the translator's special care to make a correct translation. To do so, you need to understand the parts of a metaphor and how they work together to produce meaning.

Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life; he who comes to me will not be hungry, and he who believes in me will never be thirsty." (John 6:35 ULT)

In this metaphor, Jesus called himself the bread of life. The Topic is "I" (meaning Jesus himself) and the Image is "bread." Bread was the primary food that people ate in that place and time. The similarity between bread and Jesus is that people need both to live. Just as people need to eat food in order to have physical life, people need to trust in Jesus in order to have eternal life. The Idea of the metaphor is "life." In this case, Jesus stated the central Idea of the metaphor, but often the Idea is only implied.

Purposes of Metaphor

- One purpose of metaphor is to teach people about something that they do not know (the Topic) by showing that it is like something that they already do know (the Image).
- Another purpose is to emphasize that something (the Topic) has a particular quality (the Idea) or to show that it has that quality in an extreme way.
- Another purpose is to lead people to feel the same way about the Topic as they would feel about the Image.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- People may not recognize that something is a metaphor. In other words, they may mistake a metaphor for a literal statement, and thus, misunderstand it.
- People may not be familiar with the thing that is used as an image, and so, not be able to understand the metaphor.
- If the topic is not stated, people may not know what the topic is.
- People may not know the points of comparison that the speaker wants them to understand. If they fail to think of these points of comparison, they will not understand the metaphor.
- People may think that they understand the metaphor, but they do not. This can happen when they apply points of comparison from their own culture, rather than from the biblical culture.

Translation Principles

- Make the meaning of a metaphor as clear to the target audience as it was to the original audience.
- Do not make the meaning of a metaphor more clear to the target audience than you think it was to the original audience.

Examples From the Bible

Listen to this word, you cows of Bashan, (Amos 4:1q ULT)

In this metaphor Amos speaks to the upper-class women of Samaria ("you," the Topic) as if they were cows (the Image). Amos does not say what similarity(s) he intends between these women and cows. He wants the reader to think of them, and he fully expects that readers from his culture will easily do so. From the context, we can see that he means that the women are like cows in that they are fat and interested only in feeding themselves. If we were to apply similarities from a different culture, such as that cows are sacred and should be worshiped, we would get the wrong meaning from this verse.

NOTE: Amos does not actually mean that the women are cows. He speaks to them as human beings.

Yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are the clay. You are our potter; and we all are the work of your hand. (Isaiah 64:8 ULT)

The example above has two related metaphors. The Topic(s) are “we” and “you,” and the Image(s) are “clay” and “potter.” The similarity between a potter and God is the fact that both make what they wish out of their material. The potter makes what he wishes out of the clay, and God makes what he wishes out of his people. The Idea being expressed by the comparison between the potter’s clay and “us” is that neither the clay nor God’s people have a right to complain about what they are becoming.

Jesus said to them, “Take heed and beware of the yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees.”
The disciples reasoned among themselves and said, “It is because we did not take bread.”
(Matthew 16:6-7 ULT)

Jesus used a metaphor here, but his disciples did not realize it. When he said “yeast,” they thought he was talking about bread, but “yeast” was the Image in his metaphor, and the Topic was the teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees. Since the disciples (the original audience) did not understand what Jesus meant, it would not be good to state clearly here what Jesus meant.

Translation Strategies

If people would understand the metaphor in the same way that the original readers would have understood it, go ahead and use it. Be sure to test the translation to make sure that people do understand it in the right way.

If people do not or would not understand it, here are some other strategies.

- (1) If the metaphor is a common expression in the source language or expresses a patterned pair of concepts in a biblical language (that is, it is a passive metaphor), then express the Idea in the simplest way preferred by your language.
- (2) If the metaphor seems to be an active metaphor, you can translate it literally if you think that the target language also uses this metaphor in the same way to mean the same thing as in the Bible. If you do this, be sure to test it to make sure that the language community understands it correctly.
- (3) If the target audience does not realize that it is a metaphor, then change the metaphor to a simile. Some languages do this by adding words such as “like” or “as.” See Simile.
- (4) If the target audience would not know the Image, see Translate Unknowns for ideas on how to translate that image.
- (5) If the target audience would not use that Image for that meaning, use an image from your own culture instead. Be sure that it is an image that could have been possible in Bible times.
- (6) If the target audience would not know what the Topic is, then state the topic clearly. (However, do not do this if the original audience did not know what the Topic was.)
- (7) If the target audience would not know the intended similarity (the Idea) between the topic and the image, then state it clearly.
- (8) If none of these strategies is satisfactory, then simply state the Idea plainly without using a metaphor.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If the metaphor is a common expression in the source language or expresses a patterned pair of concepts in a biblical language (that is, a passive metaphor), then express the Idea in the simplest way preferred by your language.

Then, see, one of the leaders of the synagogue, named Jairus, came, and when he saw him, fell at his feet. (Mark 5:22 ULT)

Then one of the leaders of the synagogue, named Jairus, came, and when he saw him, immediately bowed down in front of him.

(2) If the metaphor seems to be an active metaphor, you can translate it literally if you think that the target language also uses this metaphor in the same way to mean the same thing as in the Bible. If you do this, be sure to test it to make sure that the language community understands it correctly.

But Jesus said to them, "He wrote this commandment to you because of your hardness of heart." (Mark 10:5 ULT)

It was because of your hard hearts that he wrote you this law.

We made no change to this one, but it must be tested to make sure that the target audience correctly understands this metaphor.

(3) If the target audience does not realize that it is a metaphor, then change the metaphor to a simile. Some languages do this by adding words such as "like" or "as."

Yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are the clay. You are our potter; and we all are the work of your hand. (Isaiah 64:8 ULT)

And yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are like clay. You are like a potter; and we all are the work of your hand.

(4) If the target audience would not know the Image, see Translate Unknowns for ideas on how to translate that image.

Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? It is hard for you to kick against a goad. (Acts 26:14b ULT)

Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? It is hard for you to kick against a pointed stick.

(5) If the target audience would not use that Image for that meaning, use an image from your own culture instead. Be sure that it is an image that could have been possible in Bible times.

Yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are the clay. You are our potter; and we all are the work of your hand. (Isaiah 64:8 ULT)

"And yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are the wood. You are our carver; and we all are the work of your hand."

"And yet, Yahweh, you are our father; we are the string. You are the weaver; and we all are the work of your hand."

(6) If the target audience would not know what the Topic is, then state the topic clearly. (However, do not do this if the original audience did not know what the topic was.)

Yahweh lives; may my rock be praised. May the God of my salvation be exalted. (Psalm 18:46 ULT)

Yahweh lives; He is my rock. May he be praised. May the God of my salvation be exalted.

(7) If the target audience would not know the intended similarity between the Topic and the Image, then state it clearly.

Yahweh lives; may my rock be praised. May the God of my salvation be exalted. (Psalm 18:46 ULT)

Yahweh lives; may he be praised because he is the rock under which I can hide from my enemies. May the God of my salvation be exalted.

Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? It is hard for you to kick against a goad. (Acts 26:14 ULT)

Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? You fight against me and hurt yourself like an ox that kicks against its owner's pointed stick.

(8) If none of these strategies are satisfactory, then simply state the idea plainly without using a metaphor.

I will make you to become fishers of men. (Mark 1:17b ULT)

I will make you to become people who gather men.
Now you gather fish. I will make you gather people.

Metonymy

Description

Metonymy is a figure of speech in which an item (either physical or abstract) is called not by its own name, but by the name of something closely associated with it. A metonym is a word or phrase used as a substitute for something that it is associated with.

This page answers the question: What is a metonymy?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

... and the blood of Jesus his Son cleanses us from every sin. (1 John 1:7b ULT)

The blood represents Christ's death.

And he took the cup in the same way after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you." (Luke 22:20 ULT)

The cup represents the wine that is in the cup.

Metonymy can be used

- as a shorter way of referring to something
- to make an abstract idea more meaningful by referring to it with the name of a physical object associated with it

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

The Bible uses metonymy very often. Speakers of some languages are not familiar with metonymy and they may not recognize it when they read it in the Bible. If they do not recognize the metonymy, they will not understand the passage or, worse yet, they will get a wrong understanding of the passage. Whenever a metonym is used, people need to be able to understand what it represents.

Examples From the Bible

The Lord God will give to him the throne of his father David. (Luke 1:32b ULT)

A throne represents the authority of a king. "Throne" is a metonym for "kingly authority," "kingship," or "reign." This means that God would make him become a king who would follow King David.

Then immediately his mouth was opened (Luke 1:64a ULT)

The mouth here represents the power to speak. This means that he was able to talk again.

Who warned you to flee from the wrath that is coming? (Luke 3:7b ULT)

The word "wrath" or "anger" is a metonym for "punishment." God was extremely angry with the people and, as a result, he would punish them.

Translation Strategies

If people would easily understand the metonym, consider using it. Otherwise, here are some options.

- (1) Use the metonym along with the name of the thing it represents.
- (2) Use only the name of the thing the metonym represents.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use the metonym along with the name of the thing it represents.

And he took the cup in the same way after the supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you.” (Luke 22:20 ULT)

He took the cup in the same way after supper, saying, “The wine in this cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you.”

This verse also contains a second metonym: The cup, (representing the wine it contains) also represents the new covenant made with the blood Christ shed for us.

- (2) Use the name of the thing the metonym represents.

The Lord God will give him the throne of his father David. (Luke 1:32b ULT)

“The Lord God will give him the kingly authority of his father, David.”

or:

“The Lord God will make him king like his ancestor, King David.”

Who warned you to flee from the wrath that is coming? (Luke 3:7b ULT)

“Who warned you to flee from God’s coming punishment?”

Nominal Adjectives

Description

In some languages an adjective can be used to refer to a class of things that the adjective describes. When it does, it acts like a noun. For example, the word “rich” is an adjective. Here are two sentences that show that “rich” is an adjective.

The rich man had huge numbers of flocks and herds.
(2 Samuel 12:2 ULT)

The adjective “rich” comes before the word “man” and describes “man.”

He will not be rich; his wealth will not last. (Job 15:29a ULT)

The adjective “rich” comes after the verb “be” and describes “He.”

Here is a sentence that shows that “rich” can also function as a noun.

The rich must not give more than the half shekel, and the poor must not give less. (Exodus 30:15b ULT)

In Exodus 30:15, the word “rich” acts as a noun in the phrase “the rich,” and it refers to rich people. The word “poor” also acts as a noun and refers to poor people.

This page answers the question: How do I translate adjectives that act like nouns?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- Many times in the Bible adjectives are used as nouns to describe a group of people.
- Some languages do not use adjectives in this way.
- Readers of these languages may think that the text is talking about one particular person when it is really talking about the group of people whom the adjective describes.

Examples From the Bible

The scepter of wickedness must not rule in the land of the righteous. (Psalms 125:3a ULT)

“The righteous” here are people who are righteous, not one particular righteous person.

Blessed are the meek. (Matthew 5:5a ULT)

“The meek” here are all people who are meek, not one particular meek person.

Translation Strategies

If your language uses adjectives as nouns to refer to a class of people, consider using the adjectives in this way. If it would sound strange, or if the meaning would be unclear or wrong, here is another option:

- (1) Use the adjective with a plural form of the noun that the adjective describes.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use the adjective with a plural form of the noun that the adjective describes.

The scepter of wickedness must not rule in the land of the righteous. (Psalms 125:3a ULT)

The scepter of wickedness must not rule in the land of righteous people.

Blessed are the meek. (Matthew 5:5a ULT)

Blessed are people who are meek.

Numbers

Description

There are many numbers in the Bible. They can be written as words (“five”) or as numerals (“5”). Some numbers are very large, such as “two hundred” (200), “twenty-two thousand” (22,000), or “one hundred million” (100,000,000). Some languages do not have words for all of these numbers. Translators need to decide how to translate numbers and whether to write them as words or numerals.

This page answers the question: How do I translate numbers?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Translate Unknowns

Some numbers are exact and others are rounded.

Abram was 86 years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram. (Genesis 16:16 ULT)

Eighty-six (86) is an exact number.

That day about 3,000 of the people died. (Exodus 32:28b ULT)

Here the number three thousand (3,000) is a round number. It may have been a little more than that or a little less than that. The word “about” shows that it is not an exact number.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Some languages do not have words for some of these numbers.

Translation Principles

- Exact numbers should be translated as closely and specifically as they can be.
- Rounded numbers can be translated more generally.

Examples From the Bible

When Jared had lived 162 years, he became the father of Enoch. After he became the father of Enoch, Jared lived 800 years. He became the father of more sons and daughters. Jared lived 962 years, and then he died. (Genesis 5:18-20 ULT)

The numbers 162, 800, and 962 are exact numbers and should be translated with something as close to those numbers as possible.

Our sister, may you be the mother of thousands of ten thousands. (Genesis 24:60b ULT)

This is a rounded number. It does not say exactly how many descendants she should have, but it was a huge number of them.

Translation Strategies

- (1) Write numbers using numerals.
- (2) Write numbers using your language’s words or the Gateway Language words for those numbers.
- (3) Write numbers using words, and put the numerals in parentheses after them.

(4) Combine words for large numbers.

(5) Use a very general expression for very large rounded numbers and write the numeral in parentheses afterward.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

We will use the following verse in our examples:

Now, see, at great effort I have prepared for Yahweh's house 100,000 talents of gold, 1,000,000 talents of silver, and bronze and iron in large quantities. (1 Chronicles 22:14a ULT)

(1) Write numbers using numerals.

I have prepared for Yahweh's house 100,000 talents of gold, 1,000,000 talents of silver, and bronze and iron in large quantities.

(2) Write numbers using your language's words or the Gateway Language words for those numbers.

I have prepared for Yahweh's house one hundred thousand talents of gold, one million talents of silver, and bronze and iron in large quantities.

(3) Write numbers using words, and put the numerals in parenthesis after them.

I have prepared for Yahweh's house one hundred thousand (100,000) talents of gold, one million (1,000,000) talents of silver, and bronze and iron in large quantities.

(4) Combine words for large numbers.

I have prepared for Yahweh's house one hundred thousand talents of gold, a thousand thousand talents of silver, and bronze and iron in large quantities.

(5) Use a very general expression for very large rounded numbers and write the numeral in parentheses afterward.

I have prepared for Yahweh's house a great amount of gold (100,000 talents), ten times that amount of silver (1,000,000 talents), and bronze and iron in large quantities.

Consistency

Be consistent in your translations. Decide how the numbers will be translated, using numbers or numerals. There are different ways of being consistent.

- Use words to represent numbers all of the time. (You might have very long words.)
- Use numerals to represent numbers all of the time.
- Use words to represent the numbers that your language has words for and use numerals for the numbers that your language does not have words for.
- Use words for low numbers and numerals for high numbers.
- Use words for numbers that require few words and numerals for numbers that require more than a few words.
- Use words to represent numbers, and write the numerals in parentheses after them.

Consistency in the ULT and UST

The unfoldingWord® Literal Text (ULT) and the unfoldingWord® Simplified Text (UST) use words for the numbers one through ten and use numerals for all numbers above ten.

When Adam had lived 130 years, he became the father of a son in his own likeness, after his image, and he called his name Seth. After Adam became the father of Seth, he lived 800 years. He became the father of more sons and daughters. Adam lived 930 years, and then he died.

Ordinal Numbers

Description

Ordinal numbers are used in the Bible mainly to tell the position of something in a list.

And God has indeed appointed some in the church, first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles. (1 Corinthians 12:28a ULT)

This page answers the question: What are ordinal numbers and how can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Ordinal Numbers in English

Most ordinal numbers in English simply have “-th” added to the end.

Numeral	Number	Ordinal Number
4	four	fourth
10	ten	tenth
100	one hundred	one hundredth
1,000	one thousand	one thousandth

Some ordinal numbers in English do not follow that pattern.

Numeral	Number	Ordinal Number
1	one	first
2	two	second
3	three	third
5	five	fifth
12	twelve	twelfth

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Some languages do not have special numbers for showing the order of items in a list. There are different ways to deal with this.

Examples From the Bible

The first lot went to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim ... the twenty-third to Delaiah, and the twenty-fourth to Maaziah. (1 Chronicles 24:7-18 ULT)

The people cast lots and one went to each of these people in the order given.

You must place in it four rows of precious stones. The first row must have a ruby, a topaz, and a garnet. The second row must have an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond. The third row must have a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst. The fourth row must have a beryl, and an onyx, and a jasper. They must be mounted in gold settings. (Exodus 28:17-20 ULT)

This describes four rows of stones. The first row is probably the top row, and the fourth row is probably the bottom row.

Translation Strategies

If your language has ordinal numbers and using them would give the right meaning, consider using them. If not, here are some strategies to consider:

- (1) Use “one” with the first item and “another” or “the next” with the rest.
- (2) Tell the total number of items and then list them or the things associated with them.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

The name of the second river is Gihon. This one flows throughout the whole land of Cush. Parallelism

Description

Parallelism is a poetic device in which two phrases or clauses that are similar in structure or idea are used together. The following are some of the different kinds of parallelism.

- The second clause or phrase means the same as the first. This is called synonymous parallelism.
- The second clarifies or strengthens the meaning of the first.
- The second completes what is said in the first.
- The second says something that contrasts with the first, but adds to the same idea.

Parallelism is most commonly found in Old Testament poetry, such as in the books of Psalms and Proverbs. It also occurs in Greek in the New Testament, both in the four gospels and in the apostles' letters.

This article will only discuss synonymous parallelism, the kind in which the two parallel phrases mean the same thing, because that is the kind that presents a problem for translation. Note that we use the term "synonymous parallelism" for long phrases or clauses that have the same meaning. We use the term "doublet" for words or very short phrases that mean basically the same thing and are used together.

In the poetry of the original languages, synonymous parallelism has several effects:

- It shows that something is very important by saying it more than once and in more than one way.
- It helps the hearer to think more deeply about the idea by saying it in different ways.
- It makes the language more beautiful and raises it above the ordinary way of speaking.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

Some languages would not use synonymous parallelism. They would either think it odd that someone said the same thing twice, or, since it is in the Bible, they would think that the two phrases must have some difference in meaning. For them it would be confusing, rather than beautiful. They would not understand that the repetition of the idea in different words serves to emphasize the idea.

Examples From the Bible

Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path. (Psalm 119:105 ULT)

Both parts of the sentence are metaphors saying that God's word teaches people how to live. That is the single idea. The words "lamp" and "light" are similar in meaning because they refer to light. The words "my feet" and "my path" are related because they refer to a person walking. Walking is a metaphor for living.

You make him to rule over the works of your hands;
you have put all things under his feet (Psalm 8:6 ULT)

Both lines say that God made man the ruler of everything. "To rule over" is the same idea as putting things "under his feet," and "the works of your [God's] hands" is the same idea as "all things."

This page answers the question: What is parallelism?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

Yahweh sees everything a person does and watches all the paths he takes. (Proverbs 5:21 ULT)

The first phrase and the second phrase mean the same thing. There are three ideas that are the same between these two phrases. “Sees” corresponds to “watches,” “everything...does” corresponds to “all the paths...takes,” and “a person” corresponds to “he.”

Praise Yahweh, all you nations;
exalt him, all you peoples! (Psalm 117:1 ULT)

Both parts of this verse tell people everywhere to praise Yahweh. The words ‘Praise’ and ‘exalt’ mean the same thing. The words ‘Yahweh’ and ‘him’ refer to the same person. The terms ‘all you nations’ and ‘all you peoples’ refer to the same people.

For Yahweh has a lawsuit with his people, and he will fight in court against Israel. (Micah 6:2b ULT)

The two parts of this verse say that Yahweh has a serious disagreement with his people, Israel. These are not two different disagreements or two different groups of people.

Translation Strategies

For most kinds of parallelism, it is good to translate both of the clauses or phrases. For synonymous parallelism, it is good to translate both clauses if people in your language understand that the purpose of saying something twice is to strengthen a single idea. But if your language does not use parallelism in this way, then consider using one of the following translation strategies.

- (1) Combine the ideas of both clauses into one.
- (2) If it appears that the clauses are used together to show that what they say is really true, you could combine the ideas of both clauses into one and include words that emphasize the truth such as “truly” or “certainly.”
- (3) If it appears that the clauses are used together to intensify an idea in them, you could combine the ideas of both clauses into one and use words like “very,” “completely,” or “all.”

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Combine the ideas of both clauses into one.

Until now you have dealt deceitfully with me and you have spoken lies to me. (Judges 16:13, ULT)

Delilah expressed this idea twice to emphasize that she was very upset.

Until now you have deceived me with your lies.

Yahweh sees everything a person does and watches all the paths he takes. (Proverbs 5:21 ULT)

The phrase “all the paths he takes” is a metaphor for “all he does.”

Yahweh pays attention to everything a person does.

For Yahweh has a lawsuit with his people, and he will fight in court against Israel. (Micah 6:2 ULT)

This parallelism describes one serious disagreement that Yahweh had with one group of people. If this is unclear, the phrases can be combined:

For Yahweh has a lawsuit with his people, Israel.

(2) If it appears that the clauses are used together to show that what they say is really true, you could combine the ideas of both clauses into one and include words that emphasize the truth such as “truly” or “certainly.”

Yahweh sees everything a person does and watches all the paths he takes. (Proverbs 5:21 ULT)

Yahweh truly sees everything a person does.

You make him to rule over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet
(Psalm 8:6 ULT)

You have certainly made him to rule over everything that you have created.

(3) If it appears that the clauses are used together to intensify an idea in them, you could combine the ideas of both clauses into one and use words like “very,” “completely” or “all.”

Until now you have dealt deceitfully with me and you have spoken lies to me. (Judges 16:13, ULT)

All you have done is lie to me.

Yahweh sees everything a person does and watches all the paths he takes. (Proverbs 5:21 ULT)

Yahweh sees absolutely everything that a person does.

Personification

Description

Personification is a figure of speech in which someone speaks of something as if it could do things that animals or people can do. People often do this because it makes it easier to talk about things that we cannot see:

Such as wisdom:

Does not Wisdom call out? (Proverbs 8:1a ULT)

Or sin:

Sin crouches at the door. (Genesis 4:7b ULT)

People also use personification because it is sometimes easier to talk about people's relationships with non-human things such as wealth as if they were relationships between people.

You cannot serve God and wealth. (Matthew 6:24b ULT)

In each case, the purpose of the personification is to highlight a certain characteristic of the non-human thing. As in metaphor, the reader needs to think of the way that the thing is like a certain kind of person.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Some languages do not use personification.
- Some languages use personification only in certain situations.

Examples From the Bible

You cannot serve God and wealth. (Matthew 6:24b ULT)

Jesus speaks of wealth as if it were a master whom people might serve. Loving money and basing one's decisions on it is like serving it as a slave would serve his master.

Does not Wisdom call out? Does not Understanding raise her voice? (Proverbs 8:1 ULT)

The author speaks of wisdom and understanding as if they were woman who calls out to teach people. This means that they are not something hidden, but something obvious that people should pay attention to.

Translation Strategies

If the personification would be understood clearly, consider using it. If it would not be understood, here are some other ways for translating it.

- (1) Add words or phrases to make the human (or animal) characteristic clear.
- (2) In addition to Strategy (1), use words such as "like" or "as" to show that the sentence is not to be understood literally.
- (3) Find a way to translate it without the personification.

This page answers the question: What is personification?

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Add words or phrases to make the human (or animal) characteristic clear.

Sin crouches at the door. (Genesis 4:7b ULT) — God speaks of sin as if it were a wild animal that is waiting for the chance to attack. This shows how dangerous sin is. An additional phrase can be added to make this danger clear.

Sin is at your door, waiting to attack you.

(2) In addition to Strategy (1), use words such as “like” or “as” to show that the sentence is not to be understood literally.

Sin crouches at the door. (Genesis 4:7b ULT) — This can be translated with the word “as.”

Sin is crouching at the door, just as a wild animal does as it waits to attack a person..

(3) Find a way to translate it without the personification.

Even the winds and the sea obey him. (Matthew 8:27b ULT) — The men speak of the “wind and the sea” as if they are able to hear and obey Jesus, just as people can. This could also be translated without the idea of obedience by speaking of Jesus controlling them.

He even controls the winds and the sea.

NOTE: We have broadened our definition of “personification” to include “zoomorphism” (speaking of other things as if they had animal characteristics) and “anthropomorphism” (speaking of non-human things as if they had human characteristics) because the translation strategies for them are the same.

Poetry

Description

Poetry is one of the ways that people use the words and sounds of their language to make their speech and writing more beautiful and to express strong emotion. Through poetry, people can communicate deeper emotion than they can through simple non-poetic forms. Poetry gives more weight and elegance to statements of truth, such as proverbs, and is also easier to remember than ordinary speech.

This page answers the question: What is poetry and how do I translate it into my language?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro\]\]](#)

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/writing-intro\]\]](#)

In poetry we commonly find:

- many figures of speech such as Apostrophe
- arrangements of clauses into particular patterns such as:
 - parallel lines (See Parallelism)
 - acrostics (beginning lines with successive letters of the alphabet)
 - chiasms (in which the first line relates to the last line, the second to the next-to-last line, etc.):
 - > You should not give what is holy to the dogs,
 - >
 - >> and should not throw your pearls in front of the pigs.
 - >>
 - >> Otherwise they will trample them under their feet,
 - >
 - > and having turned, they might tear you to pieces. (Matt 7:6 ULT)

- repetition of some or all of a line:

Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his hosts. Praise him, sun and moon; praise him, all you shining stars. (Psalm 148:2-3 ULT)

- lines of similar length:

Listen to my call to you,
Yahweh; think about my groanings.
Listen to the sound of my call, my King and my God, for it is to you that I pray. (Psalm 5:1-2 ULT)

- the same sound used at the end or at the beginning of two or more lines:

“Twinkle, twinkle little star. How I wonder what you are.” (from an English rhyme)

- the same sound repeated many times:

“Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater” (from an English rhyme)

We also find:

- old words and expressions
- dramatic imagery
- different use of grammar — including:

- incomplete sentences
- lack of connective words

Some places to look for poetry in your language

Songs, particularly old songs or songs used in children's games
Religious ceremony or chants of priests or witch doctors
Prayers, blessings, and curses
Old legends

Elegant or fancy speech

Elegant or fancy speech is similar to poetry in that it uses beautiful language, but it does not use all of the language's features of poetry, and it does not use them as much as poetry does. Popular speakers in the language often use elegant speech, and this is probably the easiest source of text to study to find out what makes speech elegant in your language.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue:

- Different languages use poetry for different things. If a poetic form would not communicate the same meaning in your language, you may need to write it without the poetry.
- Different languages use different poetic devices. A poetic device that conveys elegance or emotion in a biblical language may be confusing or misunderstood in another language.
- In some languages, using poetry for a particular part of the Bible would make it much more powerful.

Examples From the Bible

The Bible uses poetry for songs, teaching, and prophecy. Almost all of the books of the Old Testament have poetry in them and many of the books are completely made up of poetry.

... for you saw my affliction; you knew the distress of my soul. (Psalm 31:7b ULT)

This example of Parallelism has two lines that mean the same thing.

Yahweh, judge the nations; vindicate me, Yahweh, because I am righteous and innocent, Most High. (Psalm 7:8 ULT)

This example of parallelism shows the contrast between what David wants God to do to him and what he wants God to do to the unrighteous nations. (See Parallelism.)

Keep your servant also from arrogant sins; let them not rule over me. (Psalm 19:13a ULT)

This example of personification speaks of sins as if they could rule over a person. (See Personification.)

Oh, give thanks to Yahweh; for he is good, for his covenant faithfulness endures forever.

Oh, give thanks to the God of gods,
for his covenant faithfulness endures forever.

Oh, give thanks to the Lord of lords,
for his covenant faithfulness endures forever.
(Psalm 136:1-3 ULT)

This example repeats the phrases “give thanks” and “his covenant faithfulness endures forever.”

Translation Strategies

If the style of poetry that is used in the source text would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here are some other ways of translating it.

- (1) Translate the poetry using one of your styles of poetry.
- (2) Translate the poetry using your style of elegant speech.
- (3) Translate the poetry using your style of ordinary speech.

If you use poetry it may be more beautiful.

If you use ordinary speech it may be more clear.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

Blessed is the man who does not walk in the advice of the wicked, or stand in the pathway with sinners, or sit in the assembly of mockers. But his delight is in the law of Yahweh, and on his law he meditates day and night. (Psalm 1:1-2 ULT)

The following are examples of how people might translate Psalm 1:1-2.

- (1) Translate the poetry using one of your styles of poetry. (The style in this example has words that sound similar at the end of each line.)

“Happy is the person not encouraged to sin, Disrespect for God he will not begin, To those who laugh at God he is no kin. God is his constant delight, He does what God says is right, He thinks of it all day and night.”

- (2) Translate the poetry using your style of elegant speech.

This is the kind of person who is truly blessed: the one who does not follow the advice of wicked people nor stop along the road to speak with sinners nor join the gathering of those who mock God. Rather, he takes great joy in Yahweh’s law, and he meditates on it day and night.

- (3) Translate the poetry using your style of ordinary speech.

The people who do not listen to the advice of bad people are really happy. They do not spend time with people who continually do evil things or join with those who do not respect God. Instead, they love to obey Yahweh’s law, and they think about it all the time.

Possession

Description

In English, the grammatical form that commonly indicates possession is also used to indicate a variety of relationships between people and objects or people and other people. In English, that grammatical relationship is shown by using the word “of,” by using an apostrophe and the letter “s”, or by using a possessive pronoun. The following examples are different ways to indicate that my grandfather owns a house.

- the house of my grandfather
- my grandfather’s house
- his house

Possession is used in Hebrew, Greek, and English for a variety of situations. Here are a few common situations that it is used for.

- Ownership — Someone owns something.
 - My clothes — The clothes that I own
- Social Relationship — Someone has some kind of social relationship with another.
 - my mother — the woman who gave birth to me, or the woman who cared for me
 - my teacher — the person who teaches me
- Association — A particular thing is associated with a particular person, place, or thing.
 - David’s sickness — the sickness that David is experiencing
 - the fear of the Lord — the fear that is appropriate for a human being to have when relating to the Lord
- Contents — Something has something in it.
 - a bag of clothes — a bag that has clothes in it, or a bag that is full of clothes
- Part and whole: One thing is part of another.
 - my head — the head that is part of my body
 - the roof of a house — the roof that is part of a house

In some languages there is a special form of possession, termed inalienable possession. This form of possession is used for things that cannot be removed from you, as opposed to things you could lose. In the examples above, my head and my mother are examples of inalienable possession (at least in some languages), while my clothes or my teacher would be alienably possessed. What may be considered alienable vs. inalienable may differ by language.

This page answers the question: What is possession and how can I translate phrases that show it?

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- You (the translator) need to understand the relationship between two ideas represented by the two nouns when one is in the grammatical relationship of possessing the other.
- Some languages do not use grammatical possession for all of the situations that your source text Bible might use it for.

Examples From the Bible

Ownership — In the example below, the son owned the money.

█ The younger son ... wasted his wealth by living recklessly. (Luke 15:13b)

Social Relationship — In the example below, the disciples were people who learned from John.

█ Then the disciples of John came to him. (Matthew 9:14a ULT)

Association — In the example below, the gospel is the message associated with Paul because he preaches it.

█ Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead, from the seed of David, according to my gospel, (2 Timothy 2:8 ULT)

Material — In the example below, the material used for making the crowns was gold.

█ On their heads were something like crowns of gold. (Revelation 9:7b)

Contents — In the example below, the cup has water in it.

█ For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink ... will not lose his reward. (Mark 9:41 ULT)

Part of a whole — In the example below, the door was a part of the palace.

█ But Uriah slept at the door of the king's palace. (2 Samuel 11:9a ULT)

Part of a group — In the example below, “us” refers to the whole group and “each one” refers to the individual members.

█ Now to each one of us grace has been given according to the measure of the gift of Christ. (Ephesians 4:7 ULT)

Events and Possession

Sometimes one or both of the nouns is an abstract noun that refers to an event or action. In the examples below, the abstract nouns are in bold print. These are just some of the relationships that are possible between two nouns when one of them refers to an event.

Subject — Sometimes the word after “of” tells who would do the action named by the first noun. In the example below, John baptized people.

█ The baptism of John, was it from heaven or from men? Answer me. (Mark 11:30)

In the example below, Christ loves us.

█ Who will separate us from the love of Christ? (Romans 8:35)

Object — Sometimes the word after “of” tells who or what something would happen to. In the example below, people love money.

For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil. (1 Timothy 6:10a ULT)

Instrument — Sometimes the word after “of” tells how something would happen. In the example below, God would punish people by sending enemies to attack them with swords.

Then be afraid of the sword, because wrath brings the punishment of the sword. (Job 19:29a ULT)

Representation — In the example below, John was baptizing people who were repenting of their sins. They were being baptized to show that they were repenting. Their baptism represented their repentance.

John came, baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. (Mark 1:4 ULT)

Strategies for learning what the relationship is between the two nouns

- (1) Read the surrounding verses to see if they help you to understand the relationship between the two nouns.
- (2) Read the verse in the UST. Sometimes it shows the relationship clearly.
- (3) See what the notes say about it.

Translation Strategies

If possession would be a natural way to show a particular relationship between two nouns, consider using it. If it would be strange or hard to understand, consider these.

- (1) Use an adjective to show that one noun describes the other.
- (2) Use a verb to show how the two are related.
- (3) If one of the nouns refers to an event, translate it as a verb.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use an adjective to show that one noun describes the other.

On their heads were something like crowns of gold. (Revelation 9:7b)

“On their heads were gold crowns”

- (2) Use a verb to show how the two are related.

Whoever gives you a cup of water to drink ... will not lose his reward. (Mark 9:41 ULT)

Whoever gives you a cup that has water in it to drink ... will not lose his reward.

Wealth is worthless on the day of wrath. (Proverbs 11:4a ULT)

Wealth is worthless on the day when God shows his wrath.

or:

Wealth is worthless on the day when God punishes people because of his wrath.

(3) If one of the nouns refers to an event, translate it as a verb. (In the example below, there are two possession relationships, “punishment of Yahweh” and “your God.”)

Notice that I am not speaking to your children, who have not known or seen the punishment of Yahweh your God. (Deuteronomy 11:2a ULT)

Notice that I am not speaking to your children who have not known or seen how Yahweh, the God whom you worship, punished the people of Egypt.

You will only observe and see the punishment of the wicked. (Psalms 91:8 ULT)

You will only observe and see how Yahweh punishes the wicked.

You will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 2:38b ULT)

You will receive the Holy Spirit, whom God will give to you.

Pronouns

Description

Pronouns are words that people might use instead of using a noun when referring to someone or something. Some examples are "I," "you," "he," "it," "this," "that," "himself," "someone," and others. The personal pronoun is the most common type of pronoun.

This page answers the question: What are pronouns, and what kinds of pronouns are in some languages?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-partsofspeech]]

Personal Pronouns

Personal pronouns refer to people or things and show whether the speaker is referring to himself, the person he is speaking to, or someone or something else. The following are kinds of information that personal pronouns may provide. Other types of pronouns may give some of this information, as well.

Person

- First Person — The speaker and possibly others (I, me, we, us)
 - Exclusive and Inclusive "We"
- Second Person — The person or people that the speaker is talking to and possibly others (you)
 - Forms of You
- Third Person — Someone or something other than the speaker and those he is talking to (he, she, it, they)

Number

- Singular — one (I, you, he, she, it)
- Plural — more than one (we, you, they)
 - Singular Pronouns that Refer to Groups
- Dual — two (Some languages have pronouns specifically for two people or two things.)

Gender

- Masculine — he
- Feminine — she
- Neuter — it

Relationship to other words in the sentence

- Subject of the verb: I, you, he, she, it, we, they
- Object of the verb or preposition: me, you, him, her, it, us, them
- Possessor with a noun: my, your, his, her, its, our, their
- Possessor without a noun: mine, yours, his, hers, its, ours, theirs

Other Types of pronouns

Reflexive Pronouns refer to another noun or pronoun in the same sentence: myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves.

- John saw himself in the mirror. The word “himself” refers to John.

Interrogative Pronouns are used to make a question that needs more than just a yes or no for an answer: what, which, who, whom, whose.

- Who built the house?

Relative Pronouns mark a relative clause. The relative pronouns, who, whom, whose, which and that give more information about a noun in the main part of the sentence. Sometimes, the relative adverbs when and where can also be used as relative pronouns.

- I saw the house that John built. The clause “that John built” tells which house I saw.
- I saw the man who built the house. The clause “who built the house” tells which man I saw.

Demonstrative Pronouns are used to draw attention to someone or something and to show distance from the speaker or something else. The demonstrative pronouns are: this, these, that, and those.

- Have you seen this here?
- Who is that over there?

Indefinite pronouns are used when no particular noun is being referred to. The indefinite pronouns are: any, anyone, someone, anything, something, and some. Sometimes a personal pronoun is used in a generic way to do this: you, they, he or it.

- He does not want to talk to anyone.
- Someone fixed it, but I do not know who.
- They say that you should not wake a sleeping dog.

In the last example, “they” and “you” just refer to people in general.

Pronouns — When to Use Them

Description

When we talk or write, we use pronouns to refer to people or things without always having to repeat the noun or name. Usually, the first time we refer to someone in a story, we use a descriptive phrase or a name. The next time we might refer to that person with a simple noun or by name. After that we might refer to him simply with a pronoun as long as we think that our listeners will be able to understand easily to whom the pronoun refers.

This page answers the question: How do I decide whether or not to use a pronoun?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Now there was a man from the Pharisees whose name was Nicodemus, a Jewish leader. This man came to Jesus at night. Jesus replied and said to him ... (John 3:1, 2a, 3a ULT)

In John 3, Nicodemus is first referred to with noun phrases and his name. Then he is referred to with the noun phrase “this man.” Then he is referred to with the pronoun “him.”

Each language has its rules and exceptions to this usual way of referring to people and things.

- In some languages, the first time something is referred to in a paragraph or chapter, it is referred to with a noun rather than a pronoun.
- The main character is the person whom a story is about. In some languages, after a main character is introduced in a story, he is usually referred to with a pronoun. Some languages have special pronouns that refer only to the main character.
- In some languages, marking on the verb helps people know who the subject is. (See Verbs.) In some of these languages, listeners rely on this marking to help them understand who the subject is. Speakers will use a pronoun, noun phrase, or proper name only when they want either to emphasize or to clarify who the subject is.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- If translators use a pronoun at the wrong time for their language, readers might not know about whom the writer is talking.
- If translators too frequently refer to a main character by name, listeners of some languages might not realize that the person is a main character, or they might think that there is a new character with the same name.
- If translators use pronouns, nouns, or names at the wrong time, people might think that there is some special emphasis on the person or thing to which it refers.

Examples From the Bible

The example below occurs at the beginning of a chapter. In some languages it might not be clear to whom the pronouns refer.

Then Jesus entered into the synagogue again, and there was a man who had a withered hand. Some people watched him closely to see if he would heal him on the Sabbath so that they might accuse him. (Mark 3:1-2 ULT)

In the example below, two men are named in the first sentence. It might not be clear whom “he” in the second sentence refers to.

Now after some days had passed, King Agrippa and Bernice came down to Caesarea to pay their respects to Festus. After he had been there for many days, Festus presented to the king the things concerning Paul. (Acts 25:13-14)

Jesus is the main character of the book of Matthew, but in the verses below he is referred to four times by name. This may lead speakers of some languages to think that Jesus is not the main character. Or it might lead them to think that there is more than one person named Jesus in this story. Or it might lead them to think that there is some kind of emphasis on him, even though there is no emphasis.

At that time Jesus went on the Sabbath day through the grainfields. His disciples were hungry and began to pluck heads of grain and eat them. But when the Pharisees saw that, they said to Jesus, "See, your disciples do what is unlawful to do on the Sabbath." But Jesus said to them, "Have you never read what David did, when he was hungry, and the men who were with him?" Then Jesus left from there and went into their synagogue. (Matthew 12:1-3,9 ULT)

Translation Strategies

- (1) If it would not be clear to your readers to whom or to what a pronoun refers, use a name or a noun.
- (2) If repeating a noun or name would lead people to think that a main character is not a main character, or that the writer is talking about more than one person with that name, or that there is some kind of emphasis on someone when there is no emphasis, use a pronoun instead.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If it would not be clear to your readers to whom or to what a pronoun refers, use a name or a noun.

Again he walked into the synagogue, and a man with a withered hand was there. Some Pharisees watched him to see if he would heal the man on the Sabbath. (Mark 3:1-2)

This may be translated as:

Quotations and Quote Margins

Description

This page answers the question: What are quote margins and where should I put them?

When saying that someone said something, we often tell who spoke, whom they spoke to, and what they said. The information about who spoke and whom they spoke to is called the quote margin. What the person said is the quotation. (This is also called a quote.) In some languages the quote margin may come first, last, or even in between two parts of the quotation.

The quote margins are bolded below.

- She said, "The food is ready. Come and eat."
- "The food is ready. Come and eat," she said.
- "The food is ready," she said. "Come and eat."

Also in some languages, the quote margin may have more than one verb meaning "said."

But his mother answered and said, "No. Rather, he will be called John." (Luke 1:60 ULT)

When writing that someone said something, some languages put the quote (what was said) in quotation marks called inverted commas (" "). Some languages use other symbols around the quotation, such as these angle quote marks (« »), or something else.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Translators need to put the quote margin where it is most clear and natural in their language.
- Translators need to decide whether they want the quote margin to have one or two verbs meaning "said."
- Translators need to decide which marks to use around the quotation.

Examples From the Bible

Quote margin before the quote

Then Zechariah said to the angel, "How will I know this? For I am an old man and my wife is advanced in her days." (Luke 1:18 ULT)

Then tax collectors also came to be baptized, and they said to him, "Teacher, what should we do?" (Luke 3:12 ULT)

So he said to them, "Collect nothing more than what you have been ordered." (Luke 3:13 ULT)

Quote margin after the quote

Yahweh relented concerning this. "It will not happen," he said. (Amos 7:3 ULT)

Quote margin between two parts of the quote

"I will hide my face from them," he said, "and I will see what their end will be; for they are a perverse generation, children who are unfaithful." (Deuteronomy 32:20 ULT)

For look, days are coming—this is Yahweh’s declaration—when I will restore the fortunes of my people, Israel and Judah. (Jeremiah 30:3a ULT)

Translation Strategies

- (1) Decide where to put the quote margin.
- (2) Decide whether to use one or two words meaning “said.”

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Decide where to put the quote margin.

He said, “Therefore, those among you who are leaders should go down with us. If there is something wrong with the man, let them accuse him.” (Acts 25:5 ULT)

“Therefore, those who can should go there with us,” he said. “If there is something wrong with the man, you should accuse him.”

“Therefore, those who can should go there with us. If there is something wrong with the man, you should accuse him,” he said.

“Therefore, those who can,” he said, “should go there with us. If there is something wrong with the man, you should accuse him.”

- (2) Decide whether to use one or two words meaning “said.”

But his mother answered and said, “No. Rather, he will be called John.” (Luke 1:60 ULT)

Quote Markings

Description

Some languages use quotation marks to mark off direct quotes from the rest of the text. English uses the mark " immediately before a quote and " immediately after it.

- John said, "I do not know when I will arrive."

Quotation marks are not used with indirect quotes.

- John said that he did not know when he would arrive.

When there are several layers of quotations inside of other quotations, it might be hard for readers to understand who is saying what. Alternating two kinds of quotation marks can help careful readers to keep track of them. In English, the outermost quotation has double quote marks, and the next quotation within it has single marks. If there is a third embedded quote, that quotation again has double quotation marks.

- Mary said, "John said, 'I do not know when I will arrive.' "
- Bob said, "Mary told me, 'John said, "I do not know when I will arrive." ' "

Some languages use other kinds of quotation marks: Here are some examples: , ' ' „ " " < > « » 7 — .

Examples From the Bible

The examples below show the kind of quotation markings used in the ULT.

A quotation with only one layer

A first layer direct quote has double quotation marks around it.

So the king replied, "That is Elijah the Tishbite." (2 Kings 1:8b ULT)

Quotations with two layers

A second layer direct quote has single quotation marks around it. We have printed it and the phrase in bold type for you to see them clearly.

They asked him, "Who is the man who said to you, 'Pick it up and walk'?" (John 5:12 ULT)

He sent two of the disciples, saying, "Go into the village ahead of you. As you enter, you will find a colt that has never been ridden. Untie it and bring it to me. If any one asks you, 'Why are you untying it?' you will say thus, 'The Lord has need of it.'" (Luke 19:29b-31 ULT)

A quotation with three layers

A third layer direct quote has double quotation marks around it. We have printed it in bold type for you to see them clearly.

Abraham said, "Because I thought, 'Surely there is no fear of God in this place, and they will kill me because of my wife.' Besides, she is indeed my sister, the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother; and she became my wife. When God caused me to leave my father's house and travel from place to place, I said to her, 'You must show me this faithfulness as my wife: At every place where we go, say about me, "He is my brother."' (Genesis 20:11-13 ULT)

A quotation with four layers

A fourth layer direct quote has single quotation marks around it. We have printed it in bold for you to see it clearly.

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.' " " " (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

Quote Marking Strategies

Here are some ways you may be able to help readers see where each quote starts and ends so they can more easily know who said what.

- (1) Alternate two kinds of quote marks to show layers of direct quotation. English alternates double quote marks and single quote marks.
- (2) Translate one or some of the quotes as indirect quotes in order to use fewer quote marks, since indirect quotes do not need them. (See Direct and Indirect Quotations.)
- (3) If a quotation is very long and has many layers of quotation in it, indent the main overall quote, and use quote marks only for the direct quotes inside of it.

Examples of Quote Marking Strategies Applied

- (1) Alternate two kinds of quotation marks to show layers of direct quotation as shown in the ULT text below.

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"'" (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

- (2) Translate one or more of the quotes as indirect quotes in order to use fewer quotation marks, since indirect quotes do not need them. In English, the word "that" can introduce an indirect quote. In the example below, everything after the word "that" is an indirect quote of what the messengers said to the king. Within that indirect quote, there are some direct quotes marked with double and single quotation marks.

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"'" (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

They told him that a man came to meet them who said to them, "Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, 'Yahweh says this: "Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"'"

- (3) If a quotation is very long and has many layers of quotation in it, indent the main overall quote, and use quote marks only for the direct quotes inside of it.

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"" (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

They said to him,

Quotes within Quotes

Description

A quotation may have a quote within it, and quotes that are inside of other quotes can also have quotes within them. When a quote has quotes within it, we say there are “layers” of quotation, and each of the quotes is a layer. When there are many layers of quotes inside of quotes, it can be hard for listeners and readers to know who is saying what. Some languages use a combination of direct quotes and indirect quotes to make it easier.

This page answers the question: What is a quote within a quote, and how can I help the readers understand who is saying what?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Direct and Indirect Quotations

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

When there is a quote within a quote, the listener needs to know who the pronouns refer to. For example: if a quote that is inside a quote has the word “I,” the listener needs to know whether “I” refers to the speaker of the inner quote or the outer quote.

Some languages make this clear by using different kinds of quotes when there are quotes within quotes.

They may use direct quotes for some and indirect quotes for others.

Some languages do not use indirect quotes.

Examples From the Bible

A quotation with only one layer

But Paul said, “I, however, was indeed born a citizen.” (Acts 22:28b ULT)

Quotations with two layers

Jesus answered and said to them, “Be careful that no one leads you astray. For many will come in my name. They will say, ‘I am the Christ,’ and will lead many astray.” (Matthew 24:4-5 ULT)

The outermost layer is what Jesus said to his disciples. The second layer is what other people will say.

Jesus answered, “You say that I am a king.” (John 18:37b ULT)

The outermost layer is what Jesus said to Pilate. The second layer is what Pilate said about Jesus.

A quotation with three layers

Abraham said, “... I said to her, ‘You must show me this faithfulness as my wife: At every place where we go, say about me, “He is my brother.”’” (Genesis 20:11a, 13 ULT)

The outermost layer is what Abraham responded to Abimelech. The second layer is what Abraham had told his wife. The third layer is what he wanted his wife to say. (We have bolded the third layer.)

A quotation with four layers

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal- Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"'" (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

The outermost layer is what the messengers said to the king. The second layer is what the man who had met the messengers told them. The third is what that man wanted the messengers to say to the king. The fourth is what Yahweh said. (We have bolded the fourth layer.)

Translation Strategies

Some languages use only direct quotes. Other languages use a combination of direct quotes and indirect quotes. In those languages it might sound strange and perhaps even be confusing if there are many layers of direct quotes.

(1) Translate all of the quotes as direct quotes.

(2) Translate one or some of the quotes as indirect quotes. (See Direct and Indirect Quotations.)

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Translate all of the quotes as direct quotes. In the example below we have bolded the indirect quotes in the ULT and the quotes that we have changed to direct quotes below it.

Festus presented to the king the things concerning Paul, saying, "There is a certain man was left here as a prisoner by Felix. So I am uncertain about the things concerning this matter. I asked if he was willing to go to Jerusalem and there to be judged concerning these things. But when Paul appealed to keep him in custody for the decision of the emperor, I ordered him to be held in custody until when I could send him to Caesar." (Acts 25:14b, 20-21 ULT)

Festus presented Paul's case to the king. He said, "A certain man was left behind here by Felix as a prisoner. I was uncertain about the things concerning this matter. I asked him, 'Will you go to Jerusalem to be judged there concerning these things?' But when Paul said, 'I want to be kept in custody for the emperor's decision,' I told the guard, 'Keep him in custody until when I can send him to Caesar.'"

(2) Translate one or some of the quotes as indirect quotes. In English the word "that" can come before indirect quotes. It is bolded in the examples below. The pronouns that changed because of the indirect quote are also bolded.

And Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, "I have heard the complaints of the sons of Israel. Speak to them and say, 'During the evenings you will eat meat, and in the morning you will be satisfied with bread. And you will know that I am Yahweh your God.'" (Exodus 16:11-12 ULT)

And Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, "I have heard the complaints of the sons of Israel. Tell them that during the evenings they will eat meat, and in the morning they will be satisfied with bread. And they will know that I am Yahweh their God."

They said to him, "A man came to meet us who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'""'" (2 Kings 1:6 ULT)

They told him that a man had come to meet them who said to them, "Go back to the king who sent you, and tell him that Yahweh says this: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you sent men to consult with Baal Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed to which you have gone up; instead, you will certainly die.'"

Reflexive Pronouns

Description

All languages have ways of showing that the same person fills two different roles in a sentence. English does this by using reflexive pronouns. These are pronouns that refer to someone or something that has already been mentioned in a sentence. In English the reflexive pronouns are: "myself," "yourself," "himself," "herself," "itself," "ourselves," "yourselves," and "themselves." Other languages may have other ways to show this.

This page answers the question: What are reflexive pronouns?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Pronouns

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences]]

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- Languages have different ways of showing that the same person fills two different roles in a sentence. For those languages, translators will need to know how to translate the English reflexive pronouns.
- The reflexive pronouns in English also have other functions.

Uses of Reflexive Pronouns

- To show that the same person or things fills two different roles in a sentence
- To emphasize a person or thing in the sentence
- To show that someone did something alone
- To show that someone or something was alone

Examples From the Bible

Reflexive pronouns are used to show the same person or thing fills two different roles in a sentence.

If I should testify about myself, my testimony would not be true. (John 5:31 ULT)

Now the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem from the country before the Passover in order to purify themselves. (John 11:55 ULT)

Reflexive pronouns are used to emphasize a person or thing in the sentence.

Jesus himself was not baptizing, but his disciples were. (John 4:2 ULT)

So they left the crowd, taking Jesus with them, just as he was, in the boat. There also were other boats with him. Then a violent windstorm arose and the waves were breaking into the boat so that the boat was already full of water. But Jesus himself was in the stern, asleep on the cushion. (Mark 4:36-38a ULT)

Reflexive pronouns are used to show that someone did something alone.

When Jesus realized that they were about to come and seize him by force to make him king, he withdrew again up the mountain by himself. (John 6:15 ULT)

Reflexive pronouns are used to show that someone or something was alone.

He saw the linen cloths lying there and the cloth that had been on his head. It was not lying with the linen cloths but was folded up in a place by itself. (John 20:6b-7 ULT)

Translation Strategies

If a reflexive pronoun would have the same function in your language, consider using it. If not, here are some other strategies.

- (1) In some languages people put something on the verb to show that the object of the verb is the same as the subject.
- (2) In some languages people emphasize a certain person or thing by referring to it in a special place in the sentence.
- (3) In some languages people emphasize a certain person or thing by adding something to that word or putting another word with it.
- (4) In some languages people show that someone did something alone by using a word like “alone.”
- (5) In some languages people show that something was alone by using a phrase that tells about where it was.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) In some languages people modify the verb to show that the object of the verb is the same as the subject.

If I should testify about myself alone, my testimony would not be true. (John 5:31)

“If I should self-testify alone, my testimony would not be true.”

Now the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem from the country before the Passover in order to purify themselves. (John 11:55)

“Now the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem out from country before the Passover in order to self-purify.”

- (2) In some languages people emphasize a certain person or thing by referring to it in a special place in the sentence.

He himself took our sickness and bore our diseases. (Matthew 8:17 ULT)

“It was he who took our sickness and bore our diseases.”

Jesus himself was not baptizing, but his disciples were. (John 4:2)

“It was not Jesus who was baptizing, but his disciples were.”

- (3) In some languages people emphasize a certain person or thing by adding something to that word or putting another word with it. English adds the reflexive pronoun.

But Jesus said this to test Philip, for he himself knew what he was going to do. (John 6:6)

- (4) In some languages people show that someone did something alone by using a word like “alone.”

When Jesus realized that they were about to come and seize him by force to make him king, he withdrew again up the mountain by himself. (John 6:15)

“When Jesus realized that they were about to come and seize him by force to make him king, he withdrew again alone up the mountain.”

- (5) In some languages people show that something was alone by using a phrase that tells about where it was.

He saw the linen cloths lying there and the cloth that had been on his head. It was not lying with the linen cloths but was folded up in a place by itself. (John 20:6b-7 ULT)

Rhetorical Question

A rhetorical question is a question that a speaker asks when he is more interested in expressing his attitude about something than in getting information about it. Speakers use rhetorical questions to express deep emotion or to encourage hearers to think deeply about something. The Bible contains many rhetorical questions, often to express surprise, to rebuke or scold the hearer, or to teach. Speakers of some languages use rhetorical questions for other purposes as well.

This page answers the question: What are rhetorical questions and how can I translate them?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentencetypes]]

Description

A rhetorical question is a question that strongly expresses the speaker's attitude toward something. Often the speaker is not looking for information at all. Or, if he is asking for information, it is not usually the information that the question appears to ask for. The speaker is more interested in expressing his attitude than in getting information.

But those who stood by said, “Are you insulting the high priest of God?” (Acts 23:4 ULT)

The people who asked Paul this question were not asking if he was insulting God's high priest. Rather, they used this question to accuse Paul of insulting the high priest.

The Bible contains many rhetorical questions. These rhetorical questions might be used for the purposes: of expressing attitudes or feelings, rebuking people, teaching something by reminding people of something they know and encouraging them to apply it to something new, or introducing something they want to talk about.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Some languages do not use rhetorical questions; for them a question is always a request for information.
- Some languages use rhetorical questions, but for purposes that are different or more limited than in the Bible.
- Because of these differences between languages, some readers might misunderstand the purpose of a rhetorical question in the Bible.

Examples From the Bible

Do you not still rule the kingdom of Israel? (1 Kings 21:7b ULT)

Jezebel used the question above to remind King Ahab of something he already knew: he still ruled the kingdom of Israel. The rhetorical question made her point more strongly than if she had merely stated it, because it forced Ahab to admit the point himself. She did this in order to rebuke him for being unwilling to take over a poor man's property. She was implying that, since he was the king of Israel, he had the power to take the man's property.

Will a virgin forget her jewelry, a bride her veils? Yet my people have forgotten me for days without number! (Jeremiah 2:32 ULT)

God used the question above to remind his people of something they already knew: a young woman would never forget her jewelry or a bride forget her veils. He then rebuked his people for forgetting him who is so much greater than those things.

Why did I not die when I came out from the womb? (Job 3:11a ULT)

Job used the question above to show deep emotion. This rhetorical question expresses how sad he was that he did not die as soon as he was born. He wished that he had not lived.

And how has this happened to me that the mother of my Lord would come to me? (Luke 1:43 ULT)

Elizabeth used the question above to show how surprised and happy she was that the mother of her Lord came to her.

Or what man is there among you, of whom his son will ask for a loaf of bread, but he will give him a stone? (Matthew 7:9 ULT)

Jesus used the question above to remind the people of something they already knew: a good father would never give his son something bad to eat. By introducing this point, Jesus could go on to teach them about God with his next rhetorical question:

Therefore, if you who are evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask him? (Matthew 7:11 ULT)

Jesus used this question to teach the people in an emphatic way that God gives good things to those who ask him.

What is the kingdom of God like, and what can I compare it to? It is like a mustard seed that a man took and threw into his garden ... (Luke 13:18b-19a ULT)

Jesus used the question above to introduce what he was going to talk about. He was about to compare the kingdom of God to something. In this case, he compared the kingdom of God to a mustard seed.

Translation Strategies

In order to translate a rhetorical question accurately, first be sure that the question you are translating truly is a rhetorical question and is not an information question. Ask yourself, "Does the person asking the question already know the answer to the question?" If so, it is a rhetorical question. Or, if no one answers the question, did the person who asked it expect to receive an answer? If not, it is a rhetorical question.

When you are sure that the question is rhetorical, then be sure that you understand the purpose for the rhetorical question. Is it to encourage or rebuke or shame the hearer? Is it to bring up a new topic? Is it to do something else?

When you know the purpose of the rhetorical question, then think of the most natural way to express that purpose in the target language. It might be as a question, or a statement, or an exclamation.

If using the rhetorical question would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider doing so. If not, here are other options:

- (1) Add the answer after the question.
- (2) Change the rhetorical question to a statement or exclamation.
- (3) Change the rhetorical question to a statement, and then follow it with a short question.
- (4) Change the form of the question so that it communicates in your language what the original speaker communicated in his.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Add the answer after the question.

Will a virgin forget her jewelry, a bride her veils? Yet my people have forgotten me for days without number! (Jeremiah 2:32 ULT)

Will a virgin forget her jewelry, a bride her veils? Of course not! Yet my people have forgotten me for days without number!

Or what man is there among you, of whom his son will ask for a loaf of bread, but he will give him a stone? (Matthew 7:9 ULT)

Or what man is there among you, of whom his son will ask for a loaf of bread, but he will give him a stone? None of you would do that!

(2) Change the rhetorical question to a statement or exclamation.

What is the kingdom of God like, and what can I compare it to? It is like a mustard seed. (Luke 13:18-19a ULT)

This is what the kingdom of God is like. It is like a mustard seed ...

Are you insulting the high priest of God? (Acts 23:4b ULT) (Acts 23:4 ULT)

You should not insult God's high priest!

Why did I not die when I came out from the womb? (Job 3:11a ULT)

I wish I had died when I came out from the womb!

And how has this happened to me that the mother of my Lord should come to me? (Luke 1:43 ULT)

How wonderful it is that the mother of my Lord has come to me!

(3) Change the rhetorical question to a statement, and then follow it with a short question.

Do you not still rule the kingdom of Israel? (1 Kings 21:7b ULT)

You still rule the kingdom of Israel, do you not?

(4) Change the form of the question so that it communicates in your language what the original speaker communicated in his.

Or what man is there among you, of whom his son will ask for a loaf of bread, but he will give him a stone? (Matthew 7:9 ULT)

If your son asks you for a loaf of bread, would you give him a stone?

Will a virgin forget her jewelry, a bride her veils? Yet my people have forgotten me for days without number! (Jeremiah 2:32 ULT)

Simile

Description

A simile is a comparison of two things that are not normally thought to be similar. The simile focuses on a particular trait the two items have in common, and it includes the words “like,” “as,” or “than.”

This page answers the question: What is a simile?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-intro]]

When he saw the crowds, he had compassion for them, because they were troubled and discouraged, like sheep not having a shepherd. (Matthew 9:36)

Jesus compared the crowds of people to sheep without a shepherd. Sheep grow frightened when they do not have a good shepherd to lead them in safe places. The crowds were like that because they did not have good religious leaders.

See, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves, so be as wise as the serpents and harmless as the doves. (Matthew 10:16 ULT)

Jesus compared his disciples to sheep and their enemies to wolves. Wolves attack sheep; Jesus' enemies would attack his disciples.

For the word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword. (Hebrews 4:12a ULT)

God's word is compared to a two-edged sword. A two-edged sword is a weapon that can easily cut through a person's flesh. God's word is very effective in showing what is in a person's heart and thoughts.

Purposes of Simile

- A simile can teach about something that is unknown by showing how it is similar to something that is known.
- A simile can emphasize a particular trait, sometimes in a way that gets people's attention.
- Similes help form a picture in the mind or help the reader experience what he is reading about more fully.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- People may not know how the two items are similar.
- People may not be familiar with both of the items being compared.

Examples From the Bible

Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. (2 Timothy 2:3 ULT)

In this simile, Paul compares suffering with what soldiers endure, and he encourages Timothy to follow their example.

Just as the lightning flashing from a place under the sky shines to another place under the sky, so will the Son of Man be. (Luke 17:24b ULT)

This verse does not tell how the Son of Man will be like the lightning. But in context we can understand from the verses before it that just as lighting flashes suddenly and everyone can see it, the Son of Man will come suddenly and everyone will be able to see him. No one will have to be told about it.

Translation Strategies

If people would understand the correct meaning of a simile, consider using it. If they would not, here are some strategies you can use:

- (1) If people do not know how the two items are alike, tell how they are alike. However, do not do this if the meaning was not clear to the original audience.
- (2) If people are not familiar with the item that something is compared to, use an item from your own culture. Be sure that it is one that could have been used in the cultures of the Bible. If you use this strategy, you may want to put the original item in a footnote.
- (3) Simply describe the item without comparing it to another.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) If people do not know how the two items are alike, tell how they are alike. However, do not do this if the meaning was not clear to the original audience.

See, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. (Matthew 10:16a ULT) — This compares the danger that Jesus' disciples would be in with the danger that sheep are in when they are surrounded by wolves.

See, I send you out among wicked people and you will be in danger from them as sheep are in danger when they are among wolves.

For the word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword. (Hebrews 4:12a ULT)

For the word of God is living and active and more powerful than a very sharp two-edged sword.

- (2) If people are not familiar with the item that something is compared to, use an item from your own culture. Be sure that it is one that could have been used in the cultures of the Bible. If you use this strategy, you may want to put the original item in a footnote.

See, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. (Matthew 10:16a ULT) — If people do not know what sheep and wolves are, or that wolves kill and eat sheep, you could use some other animal that kills another.

See, I send you out as chickens in the midst of wild dogs.

How often did I long to gather your children together, just as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, but you were not willing! (Matthew 23:37b ULT)

How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a mother closely watches over her infants, but you refused!

If you have faith as a grain of mustard ... (Matthew 17:20)

If you have faith even as small as a tiny seed,

- (3) Simply describe the item without comparing it to another.

See, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. (Matthew 10:16a ULT)

See, I send you out among people who will want to harm you.

How often did I long to gather your children together, just as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, but you were not willing! (Matthew 23:37b ULT)

Singular Pronouns that refer to Groups

Description

The Bible was written in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. These languages have a singular form of “you” for when the word “you” refers to just one person, and a plural form for when the word “you” refers to more than one person. However, sometimes speakers in the Bible used the singular form of “you” even though they were speaking to a group of people. This is not obvious when you read the Bible in English because English does not have different forms that indicate where “you” is singular and where “you” is plural. But you may see this if you read a Bible in a language that does have distinct forms.

This page answers the question: How do I translate singular pronouns that refer to groups of people?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Forms of You

Forms of ‘You’ — Singular

Pronouns

Also, speakers and writers of the Old Testament often referred to groups of people with the singular pronoun “he,” rather than with the plural pronoun “they.”

Finally, Old Testament speakers and writers also refer to actions that they performed as part of a group by saying ‘I’ did it when, really, the whole group was involved.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- For many languages, a translator who reads a Bible with a general form of “you” will need to know whether the speaker was speaking to one person or to more than one.
- In some languages, it might be confusing if a speaker uses a singular pronoun when speaking to or about more than one person.

Examples From the Bible

1 Now take heed that you do not do your acts of righteousness before people to be seen by them, otherwise you will not have a reward with your Father who is in heaven. 2 So when you give alms, do not sound a trumpet before yourself as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, so that they may have the praise of people. Truly I say to you, they have received their reward. (Matthew 6:1-2 ULT)

Jesus said this to a crowd. He used “you” plural in verse 1, and “you” singular in the first sentence of verse 2. Then, in the last sentence, he used the plural again.

God spoke all these words: “I am Yahweh, your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. You must have no other gods before me.” (Exodus 20:1-3 ULT)

God said this to all the people of Israel. He had taken them all out of Egypt and he wanted them all to obey him, but he used the singular form of you here when speaking to them.

This is what Yahweh says,
“For three sins of Edom,
even for four,
I will not turn away punishment,
because he pursued his brother with the sword
and cast off all pity.
His anger raged continually,
and his wrath lasted forever.” (Amos 1:11 ULT)

Yahweh said these things about the nation of Edom, not about only one person.

And I arose in the night, myself and a few men with me. And I was going up by the wadi at night, and I was looking intently at the wall. And I turned back, and I entered by the gate of the valley, and I returned. (Nehemiah 2:12a,15 ULT)

Nehemiah makes clear that he brought other people with him on his inspection tour of the wall of Jerusalem. But as he describes the tour, he just says “I” did this and that.

Translation Strategies

(1) If the singular form of the pronoun would be natural when referring to a group of people, consider using it.

- Whether you can use it may depend on who the speaker is and who the people are that he is talking about or talking to.
- It may also depend on what the speaker is saying.

Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If the singular form of the pronoun would not be natural when referring to a group of people, or if the readers would be confused by it, use the plural form of the pronoun.

This is what Yahweh says,
 “For three sins of Edom,
 even for four,
 I will not turn away punishment,
 because he pursued his brother with the sword
 and cast off all pity.
His anger raged continually,

This is what Yahweh says,

 even for four,
 I will not turn away punishment,
 because they pursued their brothers with the sword and cast off all pity.

Symbolic Action

Description

A symbolic action is something that someone does in order to express a certain idea. For example, in some cultures people nod their heads up and down to mean “yes” or turn their heads from side to side to mean “no.” Symbolic actions do not mean the same things in all cultures. In the Bible, sometimes people perform symbolic actions and sometimes they only refer to the symbolic action.

This page answers the question: What is a symbolic action and how do I translate it?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Translate Unknowns

Examples of symbolic actions

- In some cultures people shake hands when they meet to show that they are willing to be friendly.
- In some cultures people bow when they meet to show respect to each other.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

An action may have a meaning in one culture and a different meaning or no meaning at all in another culture. For example, in some cultures raising the eyebrows means “I am surprised” or “What did you say?” In other cultures it means “yes.”

In the Bible, people did things that had certain meanings in their culture. When we read the Bible, we might not understand what someone meant if we interpret the action based on what it means in our own culture today.

You (the translator) need to understand what people in the Bible meant when they used symbolic actions. If an action does not mean the same thing in your own culture, then you need to figure out how to translate what the action meant.

Examples From the Bible

And behold, a man came whose name was Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue. And falling at the feet of Jesus, he begged him to come to his house. (Luke 8:41 ULT)

Meaning of symbolic action: He did this to show great respect to Jesus.

Look, I am standing at the door and am knocking. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come into him and will eat with him, and he with me. (Revelation 3:20 ULT)

Meaning of symbolic action: When people wanted someone to welcome them into their home, they stood at the door and knocked on it.

Translation Strategies

If people would correctly understand what a symbolic action meant to the people in the Bible, consider using it. If not, here are some strategies for translating it.

- (1) Tell what the person did and why he did it.
- (2) Do not tell what the person did, but tell what he meant.

(3) Use an action from your own culture that has the same meaning. Do this only in poetry, parables, and sermons. Do not do this when there actually was a person who did a specific action.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) Tell what the person did and why he did it.

And falling at the feet of Jesus (Luke 8:41 ULT)

Jairus fell down at Jesus' feet in order to show that he greatly respected him.

Look, I am standing at the door and am knocking. (Revelation 3:20 ULT)

Look, I stand at the door and knock on it, asking you to let me in.

(2) Do not tell what the person did, but tell what he meant.

And falling at the feet of Jesus (Luke 8:41 ULT)

Jairus showed Jesus great respect.

Look, I am standing at the door and am knocking. (Revelation 3:20 ULT)

Look, I stand at the door and ask you to let me in.

(3) Use an action from your own culture that has the same meaning.

And falling at the feet of Jesus (Luke 8:41 ULT) — Since Jairus actually did this, you should not substitute an action from your own culture.

Look, I am standing at the door and am knocking. (Revelation 3:20 ULT) — Jesus was not standing at a real door. Rather he was speaking about wanting to have a relationship with people. So in cultures where it is polite to clear one's throat when wanting to be let into a house, you could use that.

Look, I stand at the door and clear my throat.

Synecdoche

Description

Synecdoche is a figure of speech in which a speaker uses a part of something to refer to the whole thing, or uses the whole to refer to a part.

■ My soul magnifies the Lord. (Luke 1:46b ULT)

Mary was very happy about what the Lord was doing, so she said “my soul,” which means the inner, emotional part of herself, to refer to her whole self.

■ So the Pharisees said to him, “Look, why are they doing that which is not lawful?” (Mark 2:24a ULT)

The Pharisees who were standing there did not all say the same words at the same time. Instead, it is more likely that one man representing the group said those words.

Reasons This Is a Translation Issue

- Some readers may not recognize the synecdoche and thus misunderstand the words as a literal statement.
- Some readers may realize that they are not to understand the words literally, but they may not know what the meaning is.

Example From the Bible

■ Then I looked on all the deeds that my hands had accomplished. (Ecclesiastes 2:11a ULT)

“My hands” is a synecdoche for the whole person because clearly the arms and the rest of the body and the mind were also involved in the person’s accomplishments. The hands are chosen to represent the person because they are the parts of the body most directly involved in the work.

Translation Strategies

If the synecdoche would be natural and give the right meaning in your language, consider using it. If not, here is another option:

(1) State specifically what the synecdoche refers to.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) State specifically what the synecdoche refers to.

■ “My soul magnifies the Lord.” (Luke 1:46b ULT)

■ “I magnify the Lord.”

So the Pharisees said to him ... (Mark 2:24a ULT)

■ A representative of the Pharisees said to him ...

Then I looked on all the deeds that my hands had accomplished. (Ecclesiastes 2:11a ULT)

Textual Variants

Description

Thousands of years ago, people wrote the books of the Bible. Other people then copied them by hand and translated them. They did this work very carefully, and over the years many people made thousands of copies. However, people who looked at them later saw that there were small differences between them. Some copiers accidentally left out some words, or some mistook one word for another that looked like it. Occasionally, they added words or even whole sentences, either by accident or because they wanted to explain something. Modern Bibles are translations of the old copies. Some modern Bibles include some of these sentences that were added. In the ULT, these added sentences are usually written in footnotes.

Bible scholars have read many old copies and compared them with each other. For each place in the Bible where there was a difference, they have figured out which wordings are most likely correct. The translators of the ULT based the ULT on wordings that scholars say are most likely correct. Because people who use the ULT may have access to Bibles that are based on other copies, the ULT translators have sometimes included information about some of the differences between them, either in the ULT footnotes or in the unfoldingWord® Translation Notes.

Translators are encouraged to translate the text in the ULT and to write about added sentences in footnotes, as is done in the ULT. However, if the local church really wants those sentences to be included in the main text, translators may put them in the text and include a footnote about them.

This page answers the question: Why does the ULT have missing or added verses, and should I translate them?

Examples From the Bible

Matthew 18:10-11 ULT has a footnote about verse 11.

¹⁰ See that you do not despise one of these little ones. For I say to you that in heaven their angels always look on the face of my Father who is in heaven. ¹¹ ^[1]

[1] Many authorities, some ancient, insert v. 11: For the Son of Man came to save that which was lost.

John 7:53-8:11 is not in the best earliest manuscripts. It has been included in the ULT, but it is marked off with square brackets ([]) at the beginning and end, and there is a footnote after verse 11.

53 [Then everyone went to his own house ... 11 She said, "No one, Lord." Jesus said, "Neither do I condemn you. Go and sin no more."] ^[2]

[2] Some ancient manuscripts include John 7:53-8:11

Translation Strategies

When there is a textual variant, you may choose to follow the ULT or another version that you have access to.

- (1) Translate the verses as they are in the ULT and include the footnote that the ULT provides.
- (2) Translate the verses as another version has them, and change the footnote so that it fits this situation.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

The translation strategies are applied to Mark 7:14-16 ULT, which has a footnote about verse 16.

¹⁴ He called the crowd again and said to them, "Listen to me, all of you, and understand. ¹⁵ There is nothing from outside the man that can defile him when it enters into him. But the things that come out of the man are the things that defile the man." ¹⁶ ^[1]

^[1] Some ancient manuscripts include verse 16: If any man has ears to hear, let him hear.

(1) Translate the verses as they are in the ULT and include the footnote that the ULT provides.

¹⁴ He called the crowd again and said to them, "Listen to me, all of you, and understand. ¹⁵ There is nothing from outside the man that can defile him when it enters into him. But the things that come out of the man are the things that defile the man." ¹⁶ ^[1]

Translate Unknowns

While working to translate the Bible, you (the translator) might find yourself asking: “How do I translate words like lion, fig tree, mountain, priest, or temple when people in my culture have never seen these things and we do not have a word for them?”

This page answers the question: How can I translate ideas that my readers are not familiar with?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/figs-sentences\]\]](#)

Description

Unknowns are things that occur in the source text that are not known to the people of your culture. The unfoldingWord® Translation Words pages and the unfoldingWord® Translation Notes will help you understand what they are. After you understand them, you will need to find ways to refer to those things so that people who read your translation will understand what they are.

They said to him, “We have nothing here except five loaves of bread and two fish.” (Matthew 14:17 ULT)

Bread is a particular food made by mixing finely crushed grains with oil, and then cooking the mixture so that it is dry. (Grains are the seeds of a kind of grass.) In some cultures people do not have bread and do not know what it is.

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- Readers may not know some of the things that are in the Bible because those things are not part of their own culture.
- Readers may have difficulty understanding a text if they do not know some of the things that are mentioned in it.

Translation Principles

- Use words that are already part of your language if possible.
- Keep expressions short if possible.
- Represent God’s commands and historical facts accurately.

Examples From the Bible

So I will turn Jerusalem into piles of ruins, a hideout for jackals. (Jeremiah 9:11a ULT)

Jackals are wild animals like dogs that live in only a few parts of the world. So they are not known in many places.

Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves. (Matthew 7:15 ULT)

If wolves do not live where the translation will be read, the readers may not understand that they are fierce, wild animals like dogs that attack and eat sheep.

They offered him wine mixed with myrrh, but he did not drink it. (Mark 15:23 ULT)

People may not know what myrrh is and that it was used as a medicine.

... to him who made great lights ... (Psalm 136:7a ULT)

Some languages have terms for things that give light, like the sun and fire, but they have no general term for lights.

■ Your sins ... will be white like snow. (Isaiah 1:18b ULT)

People in many parts of the world have not seen snow, but they may have seen it in pictures.

Translation Strategies

Here are ways you might translate a term that is not known in your language:

- (1) Use a phrase that describes what the unknown item is, or what is important about the unknown item for the verse being translated.
- (2) Substitute something similar from your language if doing so does not falsely represent a historical fact.
- (3) Copy the word from another language, and add a general word or descriptive phrase to help people understand it.
- (4) Use a word that is more general in meaning.
- (5) Use a word or phrase that is more specific in meaning.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use a phrase that describes what the unknown item is, or what is important about the unknown item for the verse being translated.

■ Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but are inwardly they are ravenous wolves. (Matthew 7:15 ULT)

■ Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are very hungry and dangerous animals.

"Ravenous wolves" is part of a metaphor here, so the reader needs to know that they are very dangerous to sheep in order to understand this metaphor. (If sheep are also unknown, then you will need to also use one of the translation strategies to translate sheep, or change the metaphor to something else, using a translation strategy for metaphors. See Translating Metaphors.)

■ "We have nothing here except five loaves of bread and two fish." (Matthew 14:17 ULT)

■ We have nothing here except five loaves of baked grain seeds and two fish.

- (2) Substitute something similar from your language if doing so does not falsely represent a historical fact.

■ Your sins ... will be white like snow. (Isaiah 1:18b ULT) This verse is not about snow. It uses snow in a figure of speech to help people understand how white something will be.

■ Your sins ... will be white like milk.

■ Your sins ... will be white like the moon.

- (3) Copy the word from another language, and add a general word or descriptive phrase to help people understand it.

Then they tried to give Jesus wine that was mixed with myrrh. But he refused to drink it. (Mark 15:23 ULT) — People may understand better what myrrh is if it is used with the general word “medicine.”

Then they tried to give Jesus wine that was mixed with a medicine called myrrh. But he refused to drink it.

“We have nothing here except five loaves of bread and two fish.” (Matthew 14:17 ULT) — People may understand better what bread is if it is used with a phrase that tells what it is made of (seeds) and how it is prepared (crushed and baked).

We have nothing here except five loaves of baked crushed seed bread and two fish.

(4) Use a word that is more general in meaning.

I will turn Jerusalem into piles of ruins, a hideout for jackals (Jeremiah 9:11a ULT)

I will turn Jerusalem into piles of ruins, a hideout for wild dogs

“We have nothing here except five loaves of bread and two fish.” (Matthew 14:17 ULT)

We have nothing here except five loaves of baked food and two fish.

(5) Use a word or phrase that is more specific in meaning.

to him who made the sun and the moon

Verse Bridges

Description

In some cases, you will see in the unfoldingWord® Simplified Text (UST) that two or more verse numbers are combined, such as 17-18. This is called a verse bridge. This means that the information in the verses was rearranged so that the story or message could be more easily understood.

This page answers the question: Why are some verse numbers combined in the UST, such as "3-5" or "17-18"?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

[\[\[rc://en/ta/man/translate/translate-bibleorg\]\]](https://en.ta/man/translate/translate-bibleorg)

29 These were the clans of the Horites: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, and Anah, 30 Dishon, Ezer, Dishan: these are clans of the Horites, according to their clan lists in the land of Seir. (Genesis 36:29-30 ULT)

29-30 The people groups who were descendants of Hor lived in Seir land. The names of the people groups are Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. (Genesis 36:29-30 UST)

In the ULT text, verses 29 and 30 are separate, and the information about the people living in Seir is at the end of verse 30. In the UST text, the verses are joined, and the information about them living in Seir is at the beginning. For many languages, this is a more logical order of information.

Examples From the Bible

Where the UST has a verse bridge, the ULT will have separate verses.

⁴⁻⁵ Yahweh our God will bless you in the land that he is giving to you. If you obey Yahweh our God and obey all the commandments that I am giving to you today, there will not be any poor people among you. (Deuteronomy 15:4-5 UST)

⁴ However, there should be no poor among you (for Yahweh will surely bless you in the land that he gives you as an inheritance to possess), ⁵ if only you diligently listen to the voice of Yahweh your God, to keep all these commandments that I am commanding you today. (Deuteronomy 15:4-5 ULT)

¹⁶⁻¹⁷ But Yahweh said to him, "I will not permit you to eat the fruit of the tree that will enable you to know what actions are good to do and what actions are evil to do. If you eat any fruit from that tree, on the day you eat it you will surely die. But I will permit you to eat the fruit of any of the other trees in the park." (Genesis 2:16-17 UST)

¹⁶ Yahweh God commanded the man, saying, "From every tree in the garden you may freely eat. ¹⁷ But from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you may not eat, for on the day that you eat from it, you will surely die." (Genesis 2:16-17 ULT)

Translation Strategies

Order the information in a way that will be clear to your readers. If the order of information is clear as it is in the ULT, then use that order. But if the order is confusing or gives the wrong meaning, then change the order so that it is more clear.

(1) If you put information from one verse before information from an earlier verse, then combine the verses and put a hyphen between the two verse numbers.

See how to mark verses in translationStudio.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

(1) If information from one verse is put before information from an earlier verse, then combine the verses and put the verse numbers before the first verse with a hyphen between them.

2 You must select three cities for yourself in the middle of your land that Yahweh your God is giving you to possess. 3 You must build a road and divide the borders of your land into three parts, the land that Yahweh your God is causing you to inherit, so that everyone who kills another person may flee there. (Deuteronomy 19:2-3 ULT)

2-3 You must divide into three parts the land that he is giving to you. Then select a city in each part. You must make good roads in order that people can get to those cities easily. Someone who kills another person can escape to one of those cities to be safe. (Deuteronomy 19:2-3 UST)

When Masculine Words Include Women

In the Bible, sometimes the words “men,” “brothers,” and “sons” refer only to men. At other times, those words include both men and women. In those places where the writer meant both men and women, you (the translator) need to translate it in a way that does not limit the meaning to men.

This page answers the question: How do I translate “brother” or “he” when it could refer to anyone, male or female?

In order to understand this topic, it would be good to read:

Pronouns

Generic Noun Phrases

Description

In some languages a word that normally refers to men can also be used in a more general way to refer to both men and women. For example, the Bible sometimes says “brothers” when it refers to both brothers and sisters.

Also in some languages, the masculine pronouns “he” and “him” can be used in a more general way for any person if it is not important whether the person is a man or a woman. In the example below, the pronoun is “his,” but it is not limited to males.

A wise son makes his father rejoice but a foolish son brings grief to his mother. (Proverbs 10:1 ULT)

Reason This Is a Translation Issue

- In some cultures words like “man,” “brother,” and “son” can only be used to refer to men. If those words are used in a translation in a more general way, people will think that what is being said does not apply to women.
- In some cultures, the masculine pronouns “he” and “him” can only refer to men. If a masculine pronoun is used, people will think that what is said does not apply to women.

Translation Principles

When a statement applies to both men and women, translate it in such a way that people will be able to understand that it applies to both.

Examples From the Bible

Now we want you to know, brothers, the grace of God that has been given to the churches of Macedonia. (2 Corinthians 8:1 ULT)

This verse is addressing the believers in Corinth, not only men, but men and women.

Then said Jesus to his disciples, “If anyone wants to follow me, he must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.” (Matthew 16:24 ULT)

Jesus was not speaking only of men, but of men and women.

Caution: Sometimes masculine words are used specifically to refer to men. Do not use words that would lead people to think that they include women. The words below are specifically about men.

Moses said, ‘If someone dies, not having children, his brother must marry his wife and have children for his brother.’ (Matthew 22:24 ULT)

Translation Strategies

If people would understand that that masculine words like “man,” “brother,” and “he” can include women, then consider using them. Otherwise, here are some ways for translating those words when they include women.

- (1) Use a noun that can be used for both men and women.
- (2) Use a word that refers to men and a word that refers to women.
- (3) Use pronouns that can be used for both men and women.

Examples of Translation Strategies Applied

- (1) Use nouns that can be used for both men and women.

The wise man dies just like the fool dies. (Ecclesiastes 2:16b ULT)

“The wise person dies just like the fool dies.”

“Wise people die just like fools die.”

- (2) Use a word that refers to men and a word that refers to women.

For we do not want you to be uninformed, brothers, about the troubles that happened to us in Asia. (2 Corinthians 1:8) — Paul was writing this letter to both men and women.

“For we do not want you to be uninformed, brothers and sisters, about the troubles that happened to us in Asia.”

- (3) Use pronouns that can be used for both men and women.

“If anyone wants to follow me, he must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.”
(Matthew 16:24 ULT)

English speakers can change the masculine singular pronouns, “he,” “himself,” and “his” to plural pronouns that do not mark gender, “they,” “themselves,” and “their” in order to show that it applies to all people, not just men.

“If people want to follow me, they must deny themselves, take up their cross, and follow me.”

Version 28

atonement, atone, atoned

Definition:

The terms “atone” and “atonement” refer to how God provided a sacrifice to pay for people’s sins and to appease his wrath for sin.

- In Old Testament times, God allowed temporary atonement to be made for the sins of the Israelites by the offering of a blood sacrifice, which involved killing an animal.
- As recorded in the New Testament, Christ’s death on the cross is the only true and permanent atonement for sin.
- When Jesus died, he took the punishment that people deserve because of their sin. He paid the atonement price with his sacrificial death.

Translation Suggestions:

- The term “atone” could be translated by a word or phrase that means “pay for” or “provide payment for” or “cause someone’s sins to be forgiven” or “make amends for a crime.”
- Ways to translate “atonement” could include “payment” or “sacrifice to pay for sin” or “providing the means of forgiveness.”
- Make sure the translation of this term does not refer to payment of money.

believe, believer, belief, unbeliever, unbelief

Definition:

The terms “believe” and “believe in” are closely related, but have slightly different meanings:

1. believe

- To believe something is to accept or trust that it is true.
- To believe someone is to acknowledge that what that person has said is true.

2. believe in

- To “believe in” someone means to “trust in” that person. It means to trust that the person is who he says he is, that he always speaks the truth, and that he will do what he has promised to do.
- When a person truly believes in something, he will act in such a way that shows that belief.
- The phrase “have faith in” usually has the same meaning as “believe in.”
- To “believe in Jesus” means to believe that he is the Son of God, that he is God himself who also became human and who died as a sacrifice to pay for our sins. It means to trust him as Savior and live in a way that honors him.

3. believer

In the Bible, the term “believer” refers to someone who believes in and relies on Jesus Christ as Savior.

- The term “believer” literally means “person who believes.”
- The term “Christian” eventually came to be the main title for believers because it indicates that they believe in Christ and obey his teachings.

4. unbelief

The term “unbelief” refers to not believing something or someone.

- In the Bible, “unbelief” refers to not believing in or not trusting in Jesus as one’s Savior.
- A person who does not believe in Jesus is called an “unbeliever.”

Translation Suggestions:

- To “believe” could be translated as to “know to be true” or “know to be right.”
- To “believe in” could be translated as “trust completely” or “trust and obey” or “completely rely on and follow.”
- Some translations may prefer to say “believer in Jesus” or “believer in Christ.”
- This term could also be translated by a word or phrase that means “person who trusts in Jesus” or “someone who knows Jesus and lives for him.”
- Other ways to translate “believer” could be “follower of Jesus” or “person who knows and obeys Jesus.”
- The term “believer” is a general term for any believer in Christ, while “disciple” and “apostle” were used more specifically for people who knew Jesus while he was alive. It is best to translate these terms in different ways, in order to keep them distinct.
- Other ways to translate “unbelief” could include “lack of faith” or “not believing.”

- The term “unbeliever” could be translated as “person who does not believe in Jesus” or “someone who does not trust in Jesus as Savior.”

bread

Definition:

Bread is a food made from flour mixed with water and oil to form a dough. The dough is then shaped into a loaf and baked.

- When the term “loaf” occurs by itself, it means “loaf of bread.”
- Bread dough is usually made with something that makes it rise, such as yeast. However, bread can also be made without yeast so that it does not rise. This is called “unleavened bread” in the Bible. The ancient Israelites ate “unleavened bread” during the passover meal.
- Since bread was the main food for many people in biblical times, this term is also used in the Bible to refer to food in general. (See: Synecdoche) Many times the term “bread” can be translated more generally as “food.”
- The phrase “bread of the presence” refers to twelve loaves of bread that were placed on a golden table in the tabernacle or temple building as a sacrifice to God. These loaves represented the twelve tribes of Israel and were only for the priests to eat. This could be translated as “bread showing that God lived among them.”
- The term “bread from heaven” refers to the special white food called “manna” that God provided for the Israelites when they were wandering through the desert. Jesus also called himself the “bread that came down from heaven” and the “bread of life.”

Definition:

The term “the elect” literally means “chosen ones” or “chosen people” and refers to those whom God has appointed or selected to be his people. “Chosen One” or “Chosen One of God” is a title that refers to Jesus, who is the chosen Messiah.

- The term “choose” means to select something or someone or to decide something. It is often used to refer to God appointing people to belong to him and to serve him.
- To be “chosen” means to be “selected” or “appointed” to be or do something.
- God chose people to be holy, to be set apart by him for the purpose of bearing good spiritual fruit. That is why they are called “the chosen (ones)” or “the elect.”
- The term “chosen one” is sometimes used in the Bible to refer to certain people such as Moses and King David whom God had appointed as leaders over his people. It is also used to refer to the nation of Israel as God’s chosen people.
- The phrase “the elect” is an older term that literally means “the chosen ones” or “the chosen people.” This phrase in the original language is plural when referring to believers in Christ.
- In older English Bible versions, the term “elect” is used in both the Old and New Testaments to translate the word for “chosen one(s).” More modern versions use “elect” only in the New Testament, to refer to people who have been saved by God through faith in Jesus. Elsewhere in the Bible text, they translate this word more literally as “chosen ones.”

Translation Suggestions:

- It is best to translate “elect” with a word or phrase that means “chosen ones” or “chosen people.” This could also be translated as “people whom God chose” or “the ones God appointed to be his people.”

- “I chose you” could be translated as “I appointed you” or “I selected you.”
- In reference to Jesus, “Chosen One” could also be translated as “God’s chosen One” or “God’s specially appointed Messiah” or “the One God appointed (to save people).”

circumcise, circumcised, circumcision, uncircumcised, uncircumcision

Definition:

The term “circumcise” means to cut off the foreskin of a man or male child. A circumcision ceremony may be performed in connection with this.

- God commanded Abraham to circumcise every male among his family and servants as a sign of God’s covenant with them.
- God also commanded Abraham’s descendants to continue to do this for every baby boy born into their households.
- The phrase, “circumcision of the heart” refers figuratively to the “cutting away” or removal of sin from a person.
- In a spiritual sense, “the circumcised” refers to people whom God has purified from sin through the blood of Jesus and who are his people.
- The term “uncircumcised” refers to those who have not been circumcised physically. It can also refer figuratively to those who have not been circumcised spiritually, who do not have a relationship with God.

The terms “uncircumcised” and “uncircumcision” refer to a male who has not been physically circumcised. These terms are also used figuratively.

- Egypt was a nation that also required circumcision. So when God talks about Egypt being defeated by the “uncircumcised,” he is referring to people whom the Egyptians despised for not being circumcised.
- The Bible refers to people who have an “uncircumcised heart” or who are “uncircumcised in heart.” This a figurative way of saying that these people are not God’s people, and are stubbornly disobedient to him.
- If a word for circumcision is used or known in the language, “uncircumcised” could be translated as “not circumcised.”
- The expression “the uncircumcision” could be translated as “people who are not circumcised” or “people who do not belong to God,” depending on the context.
- Other ways to translate figurative senses of this term could include “not God’s people” or “rebellious like those who don’t belong to God” or “people who have no sign of belonging to God.”
- The expression “uncircumcised in heart” could be translated as “stubbornly rebellious” or “refusing to believe.” However, if possible it is best to keep the expression or a similar one since spiritual circumcision is an important concept.

Translation Suggestions:

- If the culture of the target language performs circumcisions on males, the word used to refer to this should be used for this term.
- Other ways to translate this term would be, “cut around” or “cut in a circle” or “cut off the foreskin.”
- In cultures where circumcision is not known, it may be necessary to explain it in a footnote or glossary.
- Make sure the term used to translate this does not refer to females. It may be necessary to translate this with a word or phrase that includes the meaning of “male.”

covenant

Definition:

In the Bible, the term “covenant” refers to a formal, binding agreement between two parties that one or both parties must fulfill.

- This agreement can be between individuals, between groups of people, or between God and people.
- When people make a covenant with each other, they promise that they will do something, and they must do it.
- Examples of human covenants include marriage covenants, business agreements, and treaties between countries.
- Throughout the Bible, God made several different covenants with his people.
- In some of the covenants, God promised to fulfill his part without conditions. For example, when God established his covenant with mankind promising to never destroy the earth again with a worldwide flood, this promise had no conditions for people to fulfill.
- In other covenants, God promised to fulfill his part only if the people obeyed him and fulfilled their part of the covenant.

The term “new covenant” refers to the commitment or agreement God made with his people through the sacrifice of his Son, Jesus.

- God’s “new covenant” was explained in the part of the Bible called the “New Testament.”
- This new covenant is in contrast to the “old” or “former” covenant that God had made with the Israelites in Old Testament times.
- The new covenant is better than the old one because it is based on the sacrifice of Jesus, which completely atoned for people’s sins forever. The sacrifices made under the old covenant did not do this.
- God writes the new covenant on the hearts of those who become believers in Jesus. This causes them to want to obey God and to begin to live holy lives.
- The new covenant will be completely fulfilled in the end times when God establishes his reign on earth. Everything will once again be very good, as it was when God first created the world.

Translation Suggestions:

- Depending on the context, ways to translate this term could include, “binding agreement” or “formal commitment” or “pledge” or “contract.”
- Some languages may have different words for covenant depending on whether one party or both parties have made a promise they must keep. If the covenant is one-sided, it could be translated as “promise” or “pledge.”
- Make sure the translation of this term does not sound like people proposed the covenant. In all cases of covenants between God and people, it was God who initiated the covenant.
- The term “new covenant” could be translated as “new formal agreement” or “new pact” or “new contract.”
- The word “new” in these expressions has the meaning of “fresh” or “new kind of” or “another.”

Passover

Facts:

The “Passover” is the name of a religious festival that the Jews celebrate every year, to remember how God rescued their ancestors, the Israelites, from slavery in Egypt.

- The name of this festival comes from the fact that God “passed over” the houses of the Israelites and did not kill their sons when he killed the firstborn sons of the Egyptians.
- The Passover celebration includes a special meal of a perfect lamb that they have killed and roasted, as well as bread made without yeast. These foods remind them of the meal that the Israelites ate the night before they escaped from Egypt.
- God told the Israelites to eat this meal every year in order to remember and celebrate how God “passed over” their houses and how he set them free from slavery in Egypt.

Sabbath

Definition:

The term “Sabbath” refers to the seventh day of the week, which God commanded the Israelites to set apart as a day of rest and doing no work.

- After God finished creating the world in six days, he rested on the seventh day. In the same way, God commanded the Israelites to set aside the seventh day as a special day to rest and worship him.
- The command to “keep the Sabbath holy” is one of the ten commandments that God wrote on the stone tablets that he gave Moses for the Israelites.
- Following the Jewish system of counting days, the Sabbath begins on Friday at sundown and lasts until Saturday at sundown.
- Sometimes in the Bible the Sabbath is called “Sabbath day” rather than only the Sabbath.

Translation Suggestions:

- This could also be translated as “resting day” or “day for resting” or “day of not working” or “God’s day of rest.”
- Some translations capitalize this term to show that it is a special day, as in “Sabbath Day” or “Resting Day.”
- Consider how this term is translated in a local or national language.

- Sometimes the word “sinners” was used by religious people like the Pharisees to refer to people who didn’t keep the law as well as the Pharisees thought they should.
- The term “sinner” was also used for people who were considered to be worse sinners than other people. For example, this label was given to tax collectors and prostitutes.

Translation Suggestions:

- To “sin” could also be translated as to “disobey God” or to “do wrong.”
- Depending on the context “sinful” could be translated as “full of wrongdoing” or “wicked” or “immoral” or “evil” or “rebellious against God.”
- Depending on the context the term “sinner” could be translated with a word or phrase that means “person who sins” or “person who does wrong things” or “person who disobeys God” or “person who disobeys the law.”
- The term “sinners” could be translated by a word or phrase that means “very sinful people” or “people considered to be very sinful” or “immoral people.”
- Ways to translate “tax collectors and sinners” could include “people who collect money for the government, and other very sinful people” or “very sinful people, including (even) tax collectors.”
- Make sure the translation of this term can include sinful behavior and thoughts, even those that other people don’t see or know about.
- The term “sin” should be general, and different from the terms for “wickedness” and “evil.”

tabernacle

Definition:

The tabernacle was a special tent-like structure where the Israelites worshiped God during the 40 years they traveled around in the desert.

- God had given the Israelites detailed instructions for building this large tent, which had two rooms and was surrounded by an enclosed courtyard.
- Each time the Israelites moved to a different place in the desert to live, the priests would take the tabernacle apart and carry it to their next campsite. Then they would set it up again in the center of their new camp.
- The tabernacle was constructed of wood frames hung with curtains made of cloth, goat hair, and animal skins. The courtyard surrounding it was enclosed with more curtains.
- The two sections of the tabernacle were the Holy Place (where the altar for burning incense was located) and the Most Holy Place (where the ark of the covenant was kept).
- The courtyard of the tabernacle had an altar for burning animal sacrifices and a special washbasin for ritual cleansing.
- The Israelites stopped using the tabernacle when the temple was built in Jerusalem by Solomon.

Translation Suggestions:

- The word “tabernacle” means “dwelling place.” Other ways to translate it could include, “sacred tent” or “tent where God was” or “God’s tent.”
- Make sure that the translation of this term is different from the translation of “temple.”

trust, trusted, trustworthy, trustworthiness

Definition:

To “trust” something or someone is to believe that the thing or person is true or dependable. That belief is also called “trust.” A “trustworthy” person is one you can trust to do and say what is right and true, and therefore one who has the quality of “trustworthiness.”

- Trust is closely related to faith. If we trust someone, we have faith in that person to do what they promised to do.
- Having trust in someone also means depending on that person.
- To “trust in” Jesus means to believe that he is God, to believe that he died on the cross to pay for our sins, and to rely on him to save us.
- A “trustworthy saying” refers to something that is said that can be counted on to be true.

Translation Suggestions:

- Ways to translate “trust” could include “believe” or “have faith” or “have confidence” or “depend on.”
- The phrase “put your trust in” is very similar in meaning to “trust in.”
- The term “trustworthy” could be translated as “dependable” or “reliable” or “can always be trusted.”

unleavened bread

Definition:

The term “unleavened bread” refers to bread that is made without yeast or other leavening. This kind of bread is flat because it has no leaven to make it rise.

- When God freed the Israelites from slavery in Egypt, he told them to flee Egypt quickly without waiting for their bread to rise. So they ate unleavened bread with their meal. Since then unleavened bread is used in their yearly Passover celebrations to remind them of that time.
- Since leaven sometimes is used as a picture of sin, “unleavened bread” represents the removal of sin from a person’s life in order to live in a way that honors God.

Translation Suggestions:

- Other ways to translate this term could include “bread with no yeast” or “flat bread that did not rise.”
- Make sure the translation of this term is consistent with how you translate the term “yeast, leaven.”
- In some contexts, the term “unleavened bread” refers to the “Feast of Unleavened Bread” and can be translated that way.

Yahweh

Facts:

The term “Yahweh” is God’s personal name in the Old Testament. The specific origin of this name is unknown, but it is probably derived from the Hebrew verb meaning, “to be.”

- Following tradition, many Bible versions use the term “LORD” or “the LORD” to represent “Yahweh.” This tradition resulted from the fact that historically, the Jewish people became afraid of mispronouncing Yahweh’s name and started saying “Lord” every time the term “Yahweh” appeared in the text. Modern Bibles write “LORD” with all capital letters to show respect for God’s personal name and to distinguish it from “Lord” which is a different Hebrew word.
- The ULT and UST texts always translate this term as, “Yahweh,” in agreement with the Hebrew text of the Old Testament.
- The term “Yahweh” never occurs in the original text of the New Testament; only the Greek term for “Lord” is used, even when quoting the Old Testament.
- In the Old Testament, when God spoke about himself, he would often use his name instead of a pronoun.

Translation Suggestions:

- “Yahweh” could be translated by a word or phrase that means “I am” or “living one” or “the one who is” or “he who is alive.”
- This term could also be written in a way that is similar to how “Yahweh” is spelled.
- Some church denominations prefer not to use the term “Yahweh” and instead use the traditional rendering, “LORD.” An important consideration is that this may be confusing when read aloud because it will sound the same as the title “Lord.” Some languages may have an affix or other grammatical marker that could be added to distinguish “LORD” as a name (Yahweh) from “Lord” as a title.
- It is best if possible to keep the name Yahweh where it literally occurs in the text, but some translations may decide to use only a pronoun in some places, to make the text more natural and clear.
- Introduce the quote with something like, “This is what Yahweh says.”

- 16:1 The Israelites began to worship the Canaanite gods instead of Yahweh, the true God.
