Here, my lips opened represents the psalmist making vows by speaking them aloud. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [which I voiced]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my lips opened and my mouth spoke
UST I said
(פָּצוּ שְׂפָתָי וְדִבֶּר־פִּי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [I solemnly vowed]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT for} which my lips opened and my mouth spoke when trouble {was} to me
UST When I was experiencing great trouble, I said that I would bring these offerings to you {if you rescued me
(אֲשֶׁר־פָּצוּ שְׂפָתָי וְדִבֶּר־פִּי בַּצַּר־לִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the information about when the psalmist was in trouble before the information about what his lips and mouth did. Alternate translation: [{for} which, when trouble {was} to me, my lips opened and my mouth spoke]

Support Reference: Information Structure

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
when trouble	great trouble

Psalms 66:15

ULT	UST
I will offer up burnt offerings of fatlings to you with the smoke of rams; I will offer cattle with male goats. Selah	So I have brought fat sheep to burn on the altar, and I have also brought bulls and goats. When they are burning, you will enjoy the smell of the smoke. Selah

ULT I will offer up burnt offerings of fatlings & I will offer cattle with male goats
UST So I have brought fat sheep to burn on the altar, and I have also brought bulls and goats
(עֹלוֹת מֵחִים אַעֲלֶה & אֶעֱשֶׂה בָקָר עִם־עַתּוּדִים)

These two phrases I will offer up burnt offerings of fatlings and I will offer cattle with male goats mean basically the same thing. The first phrase states the general idea, and then the second phrase gives a specific example. Translate these phrases according to the decisions your team has made regarding translating parallelism in Hebrew poetry. Alternate translation: [I will offer up young animals fattened for burnt offerings ... including cattle with male goats]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT burnt offerings of fatlings
UST fat sheep to burn on the altar
(עֹלוֹת מֵחִים)

Fatlings are young animals that have been fattened for sacrifice. If your readers would not be familiar with what fatlings are, you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [burnt offerings of young, fattened animals]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

ULT with the smoke of rams
UST When they are burning, you will enjoy the smell of the smoke
(עִם־קְטֹרֶת אֵילִים)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know what he means. The smoke of rams is the fragrant smoke that rises when rams are burned as sacrifices on the altar. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [with the fragrant smoke from the burning of rams]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
burnt offerings of	sheep to burn on the altar
rams	they cattle	bulls
male goats	goats
Selah	Selah

Psalms 66:16

ULT	UST
Come, listen, and let me recount, all fearers of God, what he has done for my soul.	All you people who deeply respect God, come and listen as I tell you what he has done for me.

ULT Come, listen, and let me recount
UST come and listen as I tell you
(לְכוּ־שִׁמְעוּ וַאֲסַפְּרָה)

These are imperatives, but they communicate a polite request rather than a command. If the imperatives do not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please come, listen, and let me recount]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT what he has done for my soul
UST what he has done for me
(אֲשֶׁר עָשָׂה לְנַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [what he has done for me personally]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and let me recount	as I tell you
all fearers of	All you people who deeply respect
God	God
for my soul	for me

Psalms 66:17

ULT	UST
I called to him {with} my mouth, and he was exalted from my tongue.	I called out to him to help me, and I praised him as I was praying to him.

ULT and he was exalted from my tongue
UST and I praised him as I was praying to him
(וְרוֹמַם תַּחַת לְשׁוֹנִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if his praise were something physically lifted up from his tongue. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I praised his greatness with my words]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I called	called out
and he was exalted	and I praised him
my tongue	as I was praying to him

Psalms 66:18

ULT	UST
If I had regarded iniquity in my heart, the Lord would not have heard.	If I had secretly intended to commit sins, the Lord would not have done what I asked.

ULT If I had regarded iniquity in my heart
UST If I had secretly intended to commit sins
(אָוֶן אִם־רָאִיתִי בְלִבִּי)

The psalmist is making a conditional statement that sounds hypothetical, but he knows that the condition is not true. He is stating it as a condition to show that the Lord not hearing is also not true. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a condition that the speaker believes is not true. Alternate translation: [Suppose I had cherished iniquity in my heart]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions

ULT iniquity
UST to commit sins
(אָוֶן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of iniquity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what is wicked]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in my heart
UST secretly
(בְלִבִּי)

Here, my heart represents the psalmist's inner thoughts. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in my mind]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
iniquity	to commit sins
the Lord	the Lord

Psalms 66:19

ULT	UST
Surely God has heard; he has attended to the voice of my prayer.	{But I did not do that,} so God has done what I asked.

ULT Surely God has heard
UST But I did not do that,} so God has done
(אָכֵן שָׁמַע אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist uses the word Surely here to indicate a contrast between the hypothetical situation in which God would not have heard (verse 18) and the reality that God did hear. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [But indeed God has heard]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT to the voice of my prayer
UST has done what I asked
(בְּקוֹל תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to me as I prayed to him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the voice of my prayer
UST has done what I asked
(בְּקוֹל תְּפִלָּתִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if his prayer had a voice that could speak. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to my words as I prayed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
my prayer	what I asked

Psalms 66:20

ULT	UST
Blessed {be} God, who has not turned away my prayer or his covenant faithfulness from me.	I praise God because he did what I asked him to do. He has continued to be kind to me, as he promised.

ULT Blessed {be} God
UST I praise God
(בָּרוּךְ אֱלֹהִים)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise God. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Let me praise Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT who has not turned away my prayer
UST because he did what I asked him to do
(אֲשֶׁר לֹא־הֵסִיר תְּפִלָּתִי)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word for turned away. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [who has certainly accepted my prayer]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

ULT my prayer
UST what I asked him to do
(תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my crying to him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT or his covenant faithfulness from me
UST He has continued to be kind to me, as he promised (וְחַסְדּוֹ מֵאִתִּי)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [nor has he turned away his covenant faithfulness from me]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT or his covenant faithfulness
> UST He has continued to be kind & as he promised > (וְחַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [or his loyal love]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed	I praise
be} God	God
my prayer	what I asked him to do or his covenant faithfulness	He has continued to be kind & as he promised
has not turned away	he did

Psalms 67

Psalms 67 Introduction

Psalm 67 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 67 is a psalm of thanksgiving on the occasion of an abundant harvest. It includes requests at the beginning and end for God to bless the people, but given the occasion, these have the sense of “may God continue to bless us.” So while these requests have an element of supplication, the psalm as a whole is a psalm of praise. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Request for God to bless (1–2)
2. Refrain (3)
3. Call to worship (4a)
4. Reason to worship (4b)
5. Refrain (5)
6. Reason to worship (6a)
7. Request for God to bless (6a–7)

Allusion to Numbers

In verse 1, the psalmist says, “May God be gracious to us and bless us; may he make his face shine on us.” In Numbers 6:25, Yahweh told the priests to say this same thing in order to bless the Israelites. So that your readers will be able to recognize this allusion, we recommend that you translate this phrase in the same way here and in Numbers 6:25.

Psalms 67:1

ULT	UST
May God be gracious to us and bless us; may he make his face shine on us, Selah	May God always be kind to us and bless us. May he consider us favorably. Selah

> ULT may he make his face shine on us
> UST May he consider us favorably
> (יָאֵ֣ר פָּנָ֣יו אִתָּ֑נוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of God showing his favor as if God's face were a light that could shine on people. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [may he show us his favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
May & be gracious to us	May & always be kind to us
and bless us	and bless us
Selah	Selah

Psalms 67:2

ULT	UST
for the knowing of your way on the earth, your salvation among all of the nations.	God, please do that so that all of the people in the world will know how you want them to live and that you are the one who saves them.

ULT for the knowing of your way on the earth
UST God, please do that so that & in the world will know how you want them to live
(לְדַעַת בָּאָרֶץ דַּרְכֶּךָ)

Here the word for marks the knowing of your way as the goal or purpose of the psalmist's prayer for God's blessing in the previous verse. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that people may know your way]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT your way
UST how you want them to live
(דַּרְכֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of how God acts as if that were a way or path that God walks along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [how you act]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your salvation among all of the nations
UST all of the people & and that you are the one who saves them
(בְּכָל־גּוֹיִם יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and for the knowing of your salvation among all of the nations]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT your salvation
UST and that you are the one who saves them
(יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how you save people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT your way & your salvation among all of the nations
> UST all of the people & how you want them to live and that you are the one who saves them
> (דַּרְכֶּךָ בְּכָל־גּוֹיִם יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

The pronoun your refers to God in both instances. Alternate translation: [God's way … God's salvation among all the nations]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for the knowing of	God, please do that so that & will know
on the earth	in the world
your salvation	and that you are the one who saves them
the nations	people

Psalms 67:3

ULT	UST
May the peoples thank you, God; may the peoples thank you, all of them.	May all the people in the world praise you, God!

ULT May the peoples thank you, God; may the peoples thank you, all of them

UST May all the people in the world praise you, God

(יוֹדֻךָ עַמִּים ׀ אֱלֹהִים יוֹדוּךָ עַמִּים כֻּלָּם)

These two phrases May the peoples thank you, God and may the peoples thank you, all of them mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with some different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [May all the peoples thank you, God] or [May all the peoples thank you, God; indeed, may everyone in the world thank you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God

Psalms 67:4

ULT	UST
May the nations rejoice and shout joyfully, for you judge the peoples {with} uprightness, and the nations on the earth, you guide them. Selah	You judge those nations fairly and show them what they should do. So may they praise you loudly and joyfully! Selah

ULT May the nations rejoice and shout joyfully, for you judge the peoples {with} uprightness, and the nations on the earth, you guide them. Selah

UST You judge those nations fairly and show them what they should do. So may they praise you loudly and joyfully! Selah

(יִשְׂמְחוּ וִירַנְּנוּ לְאֻמִּים כִּי־תִשְׁפֹּט עַמִּים מִישֹׁר וּלְאֻמִּים | בָּאָרֶץ תַּנְחֵם סֶלָה)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because you judge the peoples {with} uprightness, and the nations on the earth, you guide them, may the nations rejoice and shout joyfully. Selah]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT you judge the peoples {with} uprightness, and the nations on the earth, you guide them

UST You judge those nations fairly and show them what they should do

(תִשְׁפֹּט עַמִּים מִישֹׁר וּלְאֻמִּים | בָּאָרֶץ תַּנְחֵם)

These two phrases you judge the peoples with uprightness and the nations on the earth, you guide them mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [you judge and guide all the peoples on the earth with uprightness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT with} uprightness

UST fairly

(מִישֹׁר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of uprightness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [justly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	they
May & rejoice	may & praise you & and joyfully
and shout joyfully	loudly
and shout joyfully	loudly
you judge	You judge
with} uprightness	fairly and the nations	and & them
on the earth	and & them
Selah	Selah

Psalms 67:5

ULT	UST
May the peoples thank you, God; may the peoples thank you, all of them.	May all the people in the world praise you, God!

ULT May the peoples thank you, God; may the peoples thank you, all of them

UST May all the people in the world praise you, God

(יוֹדֻוךָ עַמִּים | אֱלֹהִים יוֹדוּךָ עַמִּים כֻּלָּם)

This verse is a refrain that repeats the exact words of 67:3. If your language has a poetic way to indicate a refrain, you could use it here. Alternate translation: [May all the peoples thank you, God]

Support Reference: Poetry

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God

Psalms 67:6

ULT	UST
The earth has given its produce; may God, our God, bless us.	Good crops have grown on our land. May the God whom we Israelites worship continue to give us good harvests.

ULT The earth has given its produce
UST Good crops have grown on our land
(אֶרֶץ נָתְנָה יְבוּלָהּ)

The psalmist is speaking of the earth as if it were a living thing that could give produce. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [There has been a good harvest from the earth]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT our God
UST whom we Israelites worship
(אֱלֹהֵינוּ)

The psalmist is not using the possessive form our God to indicate that the people of Israel possess or control God. Rather the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the one whom they worship. Alternate translation: [the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The earth	on our land
its produce	Good crops
God	the God
our God	whom we Israelites worship
may & bless us	May & continue to give us good harvests

Psalms 67:7

ULT	UST
May God bless us, and may all of the ends of the earth fear him.	May God bless us, and may that cause people throughout the world to respect him greatly.

ULT all of the ends of the earth
UST people throughout the world
(כָּל־אַפְסֵי־אָרֶץ)

Here, all of the ends of the earth represents people everywhere on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [people everywhere on the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT him
UST him
(אֹתוֹ)

The pronoun him refers to God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
May & bless us	May & bless us
the earth	people throughout the world
and may & fear	and may that cause & to respect & greatly

Psalms 67:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	a psalm

Psalms 68

Psalms 68 Introduction

Psalm 68 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 68 is a divine enthronement psalm. (See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.) Many interpreters believe that David wrote this psalm for the occasion when a great crowd of Israelites brought the Box of the Covenant to a sanctuary that David had prepared for it on Mount Zion. (His son King Solomon later built a temple for Yahweh on that location.) The psalm depicts God leading the people of Israel in a procession starting at Mount Sinai, through the wilderness, into the land of Canaan to conquer it, and finally up Mount Zion to the sanctuary. The psalm then describes the actual procession of Israelites. Finally, it describes how the Israelites will be safe from their enemies now that God will be ruling as their divine king from his sanctuary.

1. The Box of the Covenant sets out (1–2)
2. A call to worship God for his power and goodness (3–6)
3. God leads the Israelites through the desert and provides water (7–10)
4. The conquest of Canaan, viewed through a victory celebration afterwards (11–14)
5. God chooses Mount Zion for his sanctuary (15–18)
6. God will defeat the enemies of the Israelites (19–23)
7. Description of the procession up Mount Zion (24–27)
8. Foreign kingdoms will worship the God of Israel and pay tribute to him (28–35)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Allusion to Numbers

David begins this psalm by saying, “Let God arise, let his enemies scatter, and let the ones hating him flee from his face.” According to Numbers 10:35, whenever the Israelites picked up the Box of the Covenant in order to move to another place in the wilderness, Moses would say, “Arise, Yahweh, and let your enemies scatter, and let the ones hating you flee from your face.” So that your readers will be able to recognize this allusion, we recommend that you translate this phrase with the same terms here and in Numbers 10:35.

Mountains

David speaks of mountains in significant ways in this psalm. His overall message is that the same God who first appeared to the Israelites at Mount Sinai is now ruling over them from his sanctuary in Mount Zion. As he says in a compact way in verse 17, “Sinai is in the holy place.” David also speaks of Mount Bashan, a high mountain to the northeast of Israel. In verses 15–16, he says poetically that this great mountain should not be jealous of Mount Zion. In verse 22, he uses it to represent a very high place to which enemies might try to flee, pairing it with the “depths of the sea,” a very low place. Because of the significance of these mountains in the psalm, we recommend that you use the names Sinai and Bashan at each place where they occur, spelling them the way they sound in your language. You may also want to identify Mount Zion as the mountain that David describes in verse 17, as the UST does.

Walking

The image of walking or marching in a great procession unites all the sections of this psalm. David also uses the image of walking to mean other things. For example, in verse 21, he speaks of “the one walking ahead in his trespasses.” This represents continuing to commit sins, as the UST indicates. It may be most natural to express the idea in that way in your translation. However, if your language can use the image of walking to represent living, we recommend that you do that so that your readers can appreciate how David is using this image.

Psalms 68:1

ULT	UST
Let God arise, let his enemies scatter, and let the ones hating him flee from his face.	God, take action and chase away your enemies! Make those who hate you run away from you.

ULT Let God arise, let his enemies scatter, and let the ones hating him flee
UST God, take action and chase away your enemies! Make those who hate you run away (יָקוּם אֱלֹהִים יָפוּצוּ אוֹיְבָיו וְיָנוּסוּ מְשַׂנְאָיו)

By using Let, the psalmist is expressing his wish or prayer. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I desire that God should arise and make his enemies scatter and the ones hating him flee]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT let his enemies scatter, and let the ones hating him flee from his face
UST and chase away your enemies! Make those who hate you run away from you (יָפוּצוּ אוֹיְבָיו וְיָנוּסוּ מְשַׂנְאָיו מִפָּנָיו)

These two phrases let his enemies scatter and let the ones hating him flee from his face mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [may all who oppose him scatter and flee]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT from his face
UST from you
(מִפָּנָיו)

Here, from his face represents being away from God’s presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from before him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
his enemies	your enemies
let & scatter	and chase away

Psalms 68:2

ULT	UST
As smoke is driven away, drive {them} away; as wax melts from the face of fire, let the wicked perish from the face of God.	Chase your enemies away just as wind blows smoke away. Make bad people go away, God, just as wax melts when it is near a fire.

ULT As smoke is driven away, drive {them} away
UST Chase your enemies away just as wind blows smoke away
(כְּהִנְדֹּף עָשָׁן תִּנְדֹּף)

The point of this comparison is that just as smoke is driven away easily and completely by wind, so should God's enemies be easily and completely driven away. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [Scatter them completely, just as smoke is scattered by the wind]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT As smoke is driven away
UST just as wind blows smoke away
(כְּהִנְדֹּף עָשָׁן)

The expression smoke is driven away is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the wind drives smoke away]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT as wax melts from the face of fire, let the wicked perish from the face of God
UST Make bad people go away, God, just as wax melts when it is near a fire
(כְּהִמַּס דּוֹנַג מִפְּנֵי־אֵשׁ יֹאבְדוּ רְשָׁעִים מִפְּנֵי אֱלֹהִים)

The point of this comparison is that just as wax melts from the face of fire, dissolving and disappearing before heat, so will the wicked perish before God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [just as wax dissolves when heat strikes it, let the wicked perish before God]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT from the face of fire
UST when it is near a fire
(מִפְּנֵי־אֵשׁ)

Here, from the face of fire represents being near the front surface of fire. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from the heat of fire]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT let the wicked perish
UST Make bad people go away
(יֹאבְדוּ רְשָׁעִים)

By using let, the psalmist is expressing what he desires or prays will happen. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [the wicked should be destroyed]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT the wicked
UST bad people
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the face of God
UST God
(מִפְּנֵי אֱלֹהִים)

Here, from the face of God represents being away from God’s presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from before God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked	bad people
let & perish	Make & go away
God	God

Psalms 68:3

ULT	UST
But let the righteous rejoice, let them exult to the face of God, and let them be glad with rejoicing.	But make good people happy. May they rejoice when they are in your presence; may they be very joyful.

ULT But let the righteous rejoice, let them exult to the face of God, and let them be glad with rejoicing
UST But make good people happy. May they rejoice when they are in your presence; may they be very joyful
(וְצַדִּיקִ֗ים יִשְׂמְח֥וּ יָעֲלְצ֥וּ לִפְנֵ֣י אֱלֹהִ֑ים וְיָשִׂ֖ישׂוּ בְּשִׂמְחָֽה)

See how your translation team has decided to represent sets of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [But let the righteous celebrate joyfully in God's presence]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT But let the righteous rejoice
UST But make good people happy
(וְצַדִּיקִ֗ים יִשְׂמְח֥וּ)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [But let righteous people rejoice]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT to the face of God
UST when they are in your presence
(לִפְנֵ֣י אֱלֹהִ֑ים)

Here, to the face of God represents being in God's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with rejoicing
UST very
(בְּשִׂמְחָֽה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of rejoicing, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as they rejoice greatly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But & the righteous	good people
let & rejoice	But make & happy
let them exult	May they rejoice
God	your
and let them be glad	may they be & joyful
with rejoicing	very

Psalms 68:4

ULT	UST
Sing to God, make music {to} his name, lift up to the one riding over the plains. In Yah {is} his name; yes, exult to his face.	Sing praise to God! Sing a song for him who even cares for desolate regions. His name is Yahweh; be glad when you are in his presence.

ULT Sing to God, make music {to} his name
UST Sing praise to God
(שִׁ֭ירוּ | לֵֽאלֹהִ֑ים זַמְּרוּ֙ שְׁמ֣וֹ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Sing praise to God, making music to him]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT to} his name
UST God
(שְׁמ֣וֹ)

The psalmist is using the term his name to represent who God is and to refer to God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [who he is]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT lift up to the one riding over the plains
UST Sing a song for him who even cares for desolate regions
(סֹ֤לּוּ לָרֹכֵ֖ב בָּעֲרָב֑וֹת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [lift up a song to the one riding over the plains]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT to the one riding over the plains
UST for him who even cares for desolate regions
(לָרֹכֵ֖ב בָּעֲרָב֑וֹת)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God as if he were the one riding over the plains, evoking the image of a powerful warrior or king who commands the open wilderness. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one who moves powerfully through the desert wastelands]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT yes, exult to his face
> UST be glad when you are in his presence
> (וְעִלְזוּ לְפָנָיו)

Here, exult to his face represents rejoicing in God's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [yes, exult before him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
In Yah	is Yahweh
yes, exult	be glad

Psalms 68:5

ULT	UST
A father of orphans and a judge of widows {is} God in the abode of his holiness.	God, who is present in his sanctuary, is like a father to those who are orphans, and he protects widows.

ULT A father of orphans
UST is like a father to those who are orphans
(אֲבִי יְתוֹמִים)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a father who is characterized by caring for orphans. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [A father to orphans]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT A father of orphans
UST is like a father to those who are orphans
(אֲבִי יְתוֹמִים)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God as if he were A father of orphans, meaning God cares for and protects those who have no earthly father. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [One who cares for orphans as a father would]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and a judge of widows
UST and he protects widows
(וְדַיַּן אַלְמָנוֹת)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a judge who is characterized by defending widows. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a defender of widows]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT his holiness
UST who is present in his sanctuary
(קְדָשׁוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of his holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his holy being]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and a judge of	and he protects
is} God	God
his holiness	who is present in his sanctuary

Psalms 68:6

ULT	UST
God is making the lonely dwell in a house; he is bringing out prisoners into prosperity. But the ones rebelling dwell in dryness.	He provides families for those who have no one to live with. He frees prisoners and enables them to be successful. But those who rebel against him will not be successful. It will be as if they live in a place where it is very hard to grow crops.

ULT the lonely
UST for those who have no one to live with (יְחִידִֽים)

The psalmist is using the adjective lonely as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are lonely]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT But the ones rebelling dwell in dryness
UST But those who rebel against him will not be successful. It will be as if they live in a place where it is very hard to grow crops
(אַ֭ךְ סוֹרְרִ֣ים שָׁכְנ֑וּ צְחִיחָֽה)

The psalmist uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between those whom God blesses and those who rebel against him. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [However, the ones rebelling dwell in dryness]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT dwell in dryness
UST will not be successful. It will be as if they live in a place where it is very hard to grow crops
(שָׁכְנ֑וּ צְחִיחָֽה)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if dryness were a place where rebels must live, representing the barrenness and hardship of life without God's blessing. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [dwell in a barren land]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	He
in a house	families
into prosperity	and enables them to be successful
the ones rebelling	those who rebel against him

Psalms 68:7

ULT	UST
God, when you went out to the face of your people, when you marched in the wilderness, Selah	God, you led your people out of Egypt, and then you marched with them through the desert. Selah

ULT when you went out to the face of your people, when you marched in the wilderness
UST you led your people out of Egypt, and then you marched with them through the desert
(בְּצֵאתְךָ לִפְנֵי עַמֶּךָ בְּצַעְדְּךָ בִּישִׁימוֹן)

The psalmist is using the clause when you went out to the face of your people, when you marched in the wilderness to describe something that was ongoing. This provides the background for the events he describes in verse 8. Connect this clause to the following verse in a way that makes it clear in your language that this clause is describing something that was ongoing in the background. Alternate translation: [as you went out before your people, as you marched through the wilderness]

Support Reference: Connect — Background Information

ULT when you went out to the face of your people, when you marched in the wilderness
UST you led your people out of Egypt, and then you marched with them through the desert
(בְּצֵאתְךָ לִפְנֵי עַמֶּךָ בְּצַעְדְּךָ בִּישִׁימוֹן)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [when you marched before your people through the wilderness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT to the face of your people
UST you led your people out of Egypt
(לִפְנֵי עַמֶּךָ)

Here, to the face of your people represents going out in front of and leading the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before your people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
in the wilderness	through the desert
Selah	Selah

Psalms 68:8

ULT	UST
the earth quaked; indeed, the heavens dripped from the face of God; this Sinai, from the face of God, the God of Israel.	After you did that, the earth shook at Mount Sinai when you appeared to your people. Rain poured down from the sky, and your people worshiped you.

ULT the earth quaked
UST After you did that, the earth shook
(אֶרֶץ רָעָשָׁה)

The psalmist is speaking of the earth quaked as if the earth were a living thing that could react with fear. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the earth trembled]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT the heavens dripped
UST Rain poured down from the sky
(שָׁמַיִם נָטְפוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of the heavens dripped as if the heavens were a living thing that could pour out rain. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [rain fell from the sky]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT from the face of God
UST when you appeared to your people
(מִפְּנֵי אֱלֹהִים)

Here, from the face of God represents being in front of God, that is, in his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from the presence of God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT this Sinai, from the face of God, the God of Israel
UST at Mount Sinai when you appeared to your people & and your people worshiped you (זֶה סִינַי מִפְּנֵי אֱלֹהִים אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The verb “quaked” from the previous clause is implied here. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [this Sinai also quaked, from the face of God, the God of Israel]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT from the face of God
UST when you appeared to your people
(מִפְּנֵי אֱלֹהִים)

Here, from the face of God represents being in front of God, that is, in his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from the presence of God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the God of Israel
UST and your people worshiped you
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form the God of Israel to indicate that the Israelites possess or control God. Rather the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the one whom Israel worships. Alternate translation: [who is the God whom Israel worships]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the earth	After you did that, the earth
quaked	shook
the heavens	from the sky
God	when you appeared to your people
Sinai	at Mount Sinai
the God of	worshiped you
Israel	and your people

Psalms 68:9

ULT	UST
A rain of generosities you shook out, God; your inheritance, when it was wearied, you, you established it.	You caused much rain to fall there in the wilderness, and so you enabled good crops to grow again on that land that you gave to us Israelites.

ULT A rain of generosities you shook out
UST caused much rain to fall
(גֶּשֶׁם נְדָבוֹת תָּנִיף)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a rain that is characterized by generosities. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [You poured out abundant rainfall]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT A rain of generosities
UST much rain
(גֶּשֶׁם נְדָבוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of generosities, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [A generous rainful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your inheritance
UST there in the wilderness & on that land that you gave to us Israelites (נַחֲלָתֶךָ)

David is speaking as if the land of Israel were actually Yahweh's inheritance, that is, as if it were something that belonged to him permanently because he inherited it from an ancestor. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the land that belongs to you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT when it was wearied
UST again
(וְנִלְאָתָה)

The expression when it was wearied is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [when it grew weary]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT you, you established it
> UST and so you enabled good crops to grow
> (אַתָּה כוֹנַנְתָּהּ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you established already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that God himself is the one who acted. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [indeed, you established it]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
generosities	much
God	You
your inheritance	there in the wilderness & on that land that you gave to us Israelites
you established it	and so & enabled good crops to grow

Psalms 68:10

ULT	UST
Your flock dwelt in it; in your goodness, you prepared for the poor, God.	Your people built homes there. You were kind to poor people and provided food for them.

ULT Your flock
UST Your people
(חַיָּתֶךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God's people were your flock, an animal herd cared for by a shepherd. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your nation]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in it
UST there
(בָּהּ)

The pronoun it refers to the land, that is, the inheritance mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the land]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in your goodness
UST were kind
(בְּטוּבָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of goodness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because you are good]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for the poor
UST to poor people
(לֶעָנִי)

The psalmist is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [for those who are needy]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your flock	Your people
in your goodness	were kind
you prepared	and provided food for them
God	You

Psalms 68:11

ULT	UST
The Lord utters the word; the {women} proclaiming good news {are} a great army.

ULT The Lord utters the word
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: אֲדֹנָי יִתֶּן־אֹמֶר
(אֲדֹנָי יִתֶּן־אֹמֶר)

The psalmist is using the term word to represent the message or command that the Lord spoke. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The Lord speaks his command]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the {women} proclaiming good news {are} a great army
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת צָבָ֗א רָ֫ב
(הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת צָבָ֗א רָ֫ב)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the women proclaiming good news were a great army, a large and powerful fighting force. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the women proclaiming good news are a vast company]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the {women} proclaiming good news
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת
(הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת)

The Hebrew word translated as the women proclaiming good news is feminine in form, indicating that those who announced the victory were specifically women. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [the female heralds]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The Lord	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: אֲדֹנָי
the {women} proclaiming good news	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת
the {women} proclaiming good news	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: הָמְבַשֵּׂ֥רוֹת

Psalms 68:12

ULT	UST
Kings of armies flee, they flee, and the habitation of the house, she divides the spoil.

ULT Kings of armies
UST Kings led their armies to fight against the Israelites (מַלְכֵי צְבָאוֹת)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to mean kings who command armies. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Kings who command armies]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT flee, they flee
UST but God defeated them and they ran away
(יִדֹּדֻן יִדֹּדוּן)

The words flee and they flee mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two words together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [they flee in great haste]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT they flee, and the habitation of the house, she divides
UST but God defeated them and they ran away & and brought them back to the women who were at home
(יִדֹּדוּן וּנְוַת בַּיִת תְּחַלֵּק)

The pronoun they refers to the kings, while the pronoun she refers to the woman who stays at home. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the kings flee, and the woman who stays at home divides]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Kings	Kings
the house	at home
the spoil	The men who fought against these enemies captured many valuable possessions

Psalms 68:13

ULT	UST
Though you lie down between the sheepfolds, the wings of a dove covered with silver and its feathers, with greenness of gold.	Some men had to take care of the sheep {instead of fighting}, but the soldiers captured enough valuable possessions to give them some as well. They received treasures such as a dove statue with silver wings and feathers shimmering with fine gold.

ULT Though you lie down
UST Some men had to take care of & instead of fighting
(אִם־תִּשְׁכְּבוּן)

The pronoun you does not refer to God, as in verses 7–10. It is plural, and it refers to Israelite men who stayed back to care for flocks instead of going into battle. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Even if you were among the Israelite men who lay down between the sheepfolds] or [Even if you were among the Israelite men who cared for flocks instead of going into battle]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the wings of a dove covered with silver
UST but the soldiers captured enough valuable possessions to give them some as well. They received treasures such as a dove statue with silver wings
(כַּנְפֵי יוֹנָה נֶחְפָּה בַכֶּסֶף)

The psalmist is using the wings of a dove covered with silver to represent a dove statue on which the wings are covered with silver. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [a dove statue whose wings are covered with silver]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT the wings of a dove covered with silver
UST but the soldiers captured enough valuable possessions to give them some as well. They received treasures such as a dove statue with silver wings
(כַּנְפֵי יוֹנָה נֶחְפָּה בַכֶּסֶף)

David assumes that his listeners will understand that he is describing the type of plunder that even men who stayed out of battle to care for flocks will receive. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [you will still receive plunder such as a dove statue whose wings are covered with silver]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT covered with silver
UST silver
(נֶחְפָּה בַכֶּסֶף)

The expression covered with silver is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [with a silver covering]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and its feathers, with greenness of gold
UST and feathers shimmering with fine gold
(וְאֶבְרוֹתֶיהָ בִּירַקְרַק חָרוּץ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The word “covered” from the previous clause is implied here. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and its feathers covered with greenness of gold]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the sheepfolds	the sheep
a dove	but the soldiers captured enough valuable possessions to give them some as well. They received treasures such as a dove statue with silver	silver
gold	fine gold

Psalms 68:14

ULT	UST
When Shaddai scattered kings in it, it snowed on Zalmon.	Shaddai defeated the enemy kings and their armies by making it snow on Mount Zalmon!

ULT When Shaddai scattered kings in it, it snowed on Zalmon
UST Shaddai defeated the enemy kings and their armies by making it snow on Mount Zalmon
(בְּפָרֵשׂ שַׁדַּי מְלָכִים בָּהּ תַּשְׁלֶג בְּצַלְמוֹן)

The word When indicates that the scattering of kings and the snowfall on Zalmon happened at the same time. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could describe the time relationship more explicitly. Alternate translation: [As Shaddai scattered kings in it, it snowed on Zalmon]

Support Reference: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship

ULT in it
UST defeated
(בָּהּ)

The pronoun it refers to the land, the region where the battle took place. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the place where the enemy army had assembled]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT it snowed on Zalmon
UST by making it snow on Mount Zalmon
(תַּשְׁלֶג בְּצַלְמוֹן)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the whitened, fleeing armies were it snowed on Zalmon, comparing their scattered flight to snowfall blanketing a dark mountain. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the battlefield was white, like snow on Zalmon]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Shaddai	Shaddai
When & scattered	defeated
kings	the enemy kings and their armies
it snowed	by making it snow

Psalms 68:15

ULT	UST
Mount Bashan {is} a mountain of God; Mount Bashan {is} a mountain of peaks.	Mount Bashan is a very high mountain. It has many peaks.

ULT is} a mountain of God
UST is a very high mountain
(הַר־אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is using a mountain of God as a common expression of the culture to mean “a very great mountain.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [a magnificent mountain]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT is} a mountain of peaks
UST has many peaks
(הַר גַּבְנֻנִּים)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a mountain that is characterized by having many peaks. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a many-peaked mountain]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bashan	Bashan
God	very high

Psalms 68:16

ULT	UST
Why do you look enviously, mountains, peaks, {at} the mountain God desired for his dwelling? Indeed, Yahweh will inhabit {it} forever.	Because it is such a great mountain, if it could think, it might think that God should have chosen it as the place for his sanctuary. But Yahweh chose Mount Zion instead, and he will always be present there.

ULT Why do you look enviously, mountains, peaks, {at} the mountain God desired for his dwelling

UST Because it is such a great mountain, if it could think, it might think that God should have chosen it as the place for his sanctuary. But Yahweh chose Mount Zion instead

(לָמָּה | תְּרַצְּדוּן הָרֵים גַּבְנֻנִּים הָהָר חָמַד אֱלֹהִים לְשִׁבְתּוֹ)

The psalmist is using the question form to assert that God has chosen Mount Zion as his dwelling place, not the impressive Mount Bashan. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You other mountains and peaks should not look enviously at the mountain God desired for his dwelling!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Why do you look enviously, mountains, peaks

UST Because it is such a great mountain, if it could think, it might think

(לָמָּה | תְּרַצְּדוּן הָרֵים גַּבְנֻנִּים)

The psalmist is speaking of mountains, peaks as if they were living things that could feel envy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Why do you look enviously, O rugged mountains]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT mountains, peaks

UST Because it is such a great mountain

(הָרֵים גַּבְנֻנִּים)

The psalmist is speaking to mountains, peaks that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God’s choice of Zion. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the mountains. Alternate translation: [many-peaked mountains] or [dwellers among the many-peaked mountains]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

> ULT for his dwelling
> UST as the place for his sanctuary
> (לְשִׁבְתּוֹ)

The pronoun his refers to God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [for God’s dwelling]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
Yahweh	he
forever	always

Psalms 68:17

ULT	UST
The chariotry of God {is} two myriads, thousands of repetition. The Lord {is} among them; Sinai {is} in the holy {place}.	God is so powerful that it is as if he has thousands and thousands of chariots. In fact, it is as if he has ten thousands and ten thousands of them! The same God who appeared to the Israelites on Mount Sinai is now present in his sanctuary on Mount Zion.

ULT The chariotry of God
UST God is so powerful that it is as if he has & chariots
(רֶכֶב אֱלֹהִים)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God's overwhelming power were the chariotry of God, a vast military force of chariots. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The armies of God]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is} two myriads, thousands of repetition
UST thousands and thousands of & In fact, it is as if he has ten thousands and ten thousands of them
(רִבֹּתַיִם אַלְפֵי שִׁנְאָן)

The psalmist says two myriads, thousands of repetition as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [tens of thousands upon thousands]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT is} among them
UST is now present
(בָּם)

The pronoun them refers to the chariots/myriads. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [is among the chariots]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The chariotry of	it is as if he has & chariots
God	God is so powerful that
The Lord	The same God
Sinai	who appeared to the Israelites on Mount Sinai is} in the holy {place	in his sanctuary on Mount Zion

Psalms 68:18

ULT	UST
You have ascended to the height, you have taken captivity captive, you have received gifts among men and even {among} the ones rebelling, that Yah God might dwell {there}.	{After he defeated his enemies,} he went up to the sacred mountain where his sanctuary is. He led many captured prisoners in a victory procession. He received gifts from the enemies whom he had defeated. He even received gifts from those who had rebelled against him. Now Yahweh, our God, will always be present in his sanctuary.

ULT You have ascended to the height
UST After he defeated his enemies,} he went up to the sacred mountain where his sanctuary is (עָלִ֣יתָ לַמָּר֑וֹם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God's victory as if it were ascended to the height. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You have risen to supremacy]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you have taken captivity captive
UST He led many captured prisoners in a victory procession
(שָׁבִ֣יתָ שֶּׁ֔בִי)

The psalmist is using you have taken captivity captive as a common expression of the culture to mean that he has taken a great multitude of prisoners. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you have led a host of captives]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT captivity
UST many captured prisoners
(שֶּׁ֔בִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of captivity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [captives]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT among men
> UST from the enemies whom he had defeated
> (בָּאָדָם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [among people]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT that Yah God might dwell {there
> UST Now Yahweh, our God, will always be present in his sanctuary
> (לִשְׁכֹּן | יָהּ אֱלֹהִים)

Here, that Yah God might dwell there marks the entire preceding action of ascending, taking captives, and receiving gifts as the goal or purpose of those acts—namely, that God would establish his dwelling. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that Yah God might dwell there]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
captivity	many captured prisoners
you have taken & captive	He led & in a victory procession
you have received	He received
among} the ones rebelling	those who had rebelled against him
Yah	Yahweh
God	our God

Psalms 68:19

ULT	UST
Blessed {be} the Lord! Day, day he bears for us, the God of our salvation. Selah	Praise the Lord, who helps us every day as if he were carrying a heavy load for us. He is the God who saves us. Selah

ULT Blessed {be} the Lord
UST Praise the Lord
(בָּרוּךְ אֲדֹנָי)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise the Lord. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [We bless the Lord] or [Let me praise the Lord]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Day, day
UST every day
(יוֹם | יוֹם)

The psalmist is repeating the word Day in order to intensify the meaning or the emotion that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [Day after day]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT he bears for us
UST who helps us & as if he were carrying a heavy load for us
(יַעֲמֹס־לָנוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the Lord's support as if he bears a load on behalf of his people. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he carries our burdens]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the God of our salvation
> UST He is the God who saves us
> (הָאֵל יְשׁוּעָתֵנוּ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the God who is characterized by saving. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the God who delivers us]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT the God of our salvation
> UST He is the God who saves us
> (הָאֵל יְשׁוּעָתֵנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the God who rescues us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed {be	Praise
the Lord	the Lord
he bears	who helps us & as if he were carrying a heavy load
the God of	He is the God
our salvation	who saves us
Selah	Selah

Psalms 68:20

ULT	UST
God {is} to us a God of salvations, and to Yahweh the Lord {are} exits from death.	Our God is the God who saves us; Yahweh our Lord is the one who rescues us from dying.

ULT God {is} to us a God of salvations, and to Yahweh the Lord {are} exits from death
UST Our God is the God who saves us; Yahweh our Lord is the one who rescues us from dying
(הָאֵל ׀ לָ֭נוּ אֵ֣ל לְמוֹשָׁעוֹת וְלַיהוִ֣ה אֲדֹנָ֑י לַמָּ֥וֶת תּוֹצָאֽוֹת)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [God is to us a God of salvations; indeed, Yahweh the Lord delivers us from death]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT a God of salvations
UST is the God who saves
(אֵל לְמוֹשָׁעוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvations, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a God who saves]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT are} exits from death
UST is the one who rescues us from dying
(לַמָּ֥וֶת תּוֹצָאֽוֹת)

Here the psalmist is speaking of escaping death as if it were exits from a place called death. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [ways of escaping from death]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	Our God
a God of	is the God
salvations	who saves
and to Yahweh	Yahweh
the Lord	our Lord

Psalms 68:21

ULT	UST
Surely God will crush the head of his enemies, the pate of hair of the one walking ahead in his trespasses.	But God will completely destroy his enemies. If anyone continues to behave sinfully, God will destroy that person.

ULT will crush the head of his enemies
UST will completely destroy his enemies
(יִמְחַץ רֹאשׁ אֹיְבָיו)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, the head, to mean all parts of his enemies in the act of being defeated. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [will crush his enemies]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT the pate of hair of the one walking ahead
UST If anyone continues & God will destroy that person (קָדְקֹד שֵׂעָר מִתְהַלֵּךְ)

The psalmist is leaving out the verb crush that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply this word from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [crushing the pate of hair of the one walking ahead in his trespasses]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the one walking ahead in his trespasses
UST If anyone continues to behave sinfully
(מִתְהַלֵּךְ בַּאֲשָׁמָיו)

Here the psalmist is speaking of persisting in sin as if it were walking ahead in a direction of one's own choosing. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one who continues in his trespasses]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in his trespasses
UST to behave sinfully
(בַּאֲשָׁמָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of trespasses, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [who continues trespassing against God]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his enemies & in his trespasses
UST his enemies & to behave sinfully
(אֹיְבָיו & בַּאֲשָׁמָיו)

The pronoun his in “his enemies” refers to God, while the pronoun his in “his trespasses” refers to the enemy. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God’s enemies … in the enemy’s trespasses]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
his enemies	his enemies
in his trespasses	to behave sinfully

Psalms 68:22

ULT	UST
The Lord said, “I will bring back from Bashan, I will bring back from the depths of the sea,	The Lord said, “Even if my enemies try to climb a high mountain to be safe, or even if they try to hide at the bottom of the ocean, I will bring them back

ULT from the depths of the sea
UST or even if they try to hide at the bottom of the ocean
(מְמְצֻלוֹת יָם)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the deepest part of the sea. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [from the deep sea]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT I will bring back from Bashan, I will bring back from the depths of the sea
UST Even if my enemies try to climb a high mountain to be safe, or even if they try to hide at the bottom of the ocean, I will bring them back
(מִבָּשָׁן אָשִׁיב אָשִׁיב מְמְצֻלוֹת יָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The object “them” (referring to the enemies) is implied. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [I will bring them back from Bashan, I will bring them back from the depths of the sea]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT from Bashan & from the depths of the sea
UST Even if my enemies try to climb a high mountain to be safe, or even if they try to hide at the bottom of the ocean
(מִבָּשָׁן & מְמְצֻלוֹת יָם)

The psalmist is referring to all places by naming two extremes, from Bashan (high ground) and from the depths of the sea (the lowest depths). If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from the heights … from the depths]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The Lord	The Lord
from Bashan	Even if my enemies try to climb a high mountain to be safe
I will bring back & I will bring back	I will bring them back

Psalms 68:23

ULT	UST
so that your foot may smash in blood, the tongue of your dogs, its portion from the enemies.”	so that you can trample on their heads. Your dogs will lick up the blood that comes out of their heads.”

ULT so that your foot may smash in blood
UST so that you can trample on their heads & the blood that comes out of & heads
(לְמַ֤עַן ׀ תִּמְחַ֣ץ רַגְלְךָ֣ בְּדָ֑ם)

Here, so that your foot may smash in blood marks the purpose of the Lord’s bringing the enemies back. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order that your foot may smash in blood]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT your foot may smash in blood
UST you can trample on their heads & the blood that comes out of & heads
(תִּמְחַ֣ץ רַגְלְךָ֣ בְּדָ֑ם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of total victory over enemies as if it were to smash in blood with one’s foot. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your foot may trample over the defeated enemies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the tongue of your dogs, its portion from the enemies
UST Your dogs will lick up the blood that comes out of their heads
(לְשׁ֣וֹן כְּלָבֶ֣יךָ מֵאֹיְבִ֣ים מִנֶּהוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. A verb such as “will lick” is implied. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [“the tongue of your dogs will taste its portion from the enemies”]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the tongue of your dogs
UST Your dogs will lick up
(לְשׁ֣וֹן כְּלָבֶ֣יךָ)

The psalmist is using one part of the dogs, their tongue, to mean the dogs in the act of licking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your dogs will lick]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT your foot & your dogs
UST you & Your dogs
(רַגְלְךָ & כְּלְבֶיךָ)

The pronoun your in both “your foot” and “your dogs” refers to God’s people, Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Israel’s foot … Israel’s dogs]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the tongue of	will lick up from the enemies	their

Psalms 68:24

ULT	UST
They see your processions, God, the processions of my God, my king, into the holy {place}.	And now you are parading triumphantly into your sanctuary, God. You are our king, and you are leading a great crowd the way a king does.

ULT They see your processions, God, the processions of my God, my king

UST And now you are parading triumphantly & God. You are our king, and you are leading a great crowd the way a king does

(רָאוּ הֲלִיכוֹתֶיךָ אֱלֹהִים הֲלִיכוֹת אֵלִי מַלְכִּי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [They see your processions, God—the triumphal march of my God and king]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT They see your processions

UST And now you are parading triumphantly

(רָאוּ הֲלִיכוֹתֶיךָ)

The pronoun They has an unclear referent here; it may refer to the worshipers in Israel generally. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The people see your processions]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
my God	You
my king	are our king
into the holy {place	into your sanctuary

Psalms 68:25

ULT	UST
The singers go ahead; the ones playing stringed instruments, behind, maidens playing timbrels, in the midst.	There are singers at the front of the parade. Musicians playing stringed instruments are at the back of the parade. In the middle there are girls playing tambourines.

ULT the ones playing stringed instruments, behind
UST Musicians playing stringed instruments are at the back of the parade
(אַחַר נֹגְנִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The verb “go” from the first clause is implied. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the ones playing stringed instruments go behind]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT maidens playing timbrels, in the midst
UST In the middle there are girls playing tambourines
(בְּתוֹךְ עֲלָמוֹת תֻּפֵּפוֹת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The verb “go” from the first clause is implied. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [maidens playing timbrels go in the midst]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

Psalms 68:26

ULT	UST
Bless God in the assemblies, Yahweh, from the fountain of Israel.	Praise God, you who have gathered together! Praise Yahweh, you descendants of Israel!

ULT Yahweh, from the fountain of Israel
UST Yahweh, you descendants of Israel
(יְהוָה מִמְּקוֹר יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The verb “Bless” from the first line is implied. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [bless Yahweh, you from the fountain of Israel]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT from the fountain of Israel
UST you descendants of Israel
(מִמְּקוֹר יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the origin of the people of Israel as if it were a fountain. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you who come from the stock of Israel]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from the fountain of Israel
UST you descendants of Israel
(מִמְּקוֹר יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a fountain that is characterized by being Israel’s source or origin. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Israel’s source]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	Praise & Praise
God	God
in the assemblies	you who have gathered together
Yahweh	Yahweh
from the fountain of	you descendants of
Israel	Israel

Psalms 68:27

ULT	UST
There {is} Benjamin, the littlest, ruling them; the princes of Judah, their throngs; the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali.	People from the tribe of Benjamin, the smallest tribe, are marching first. Leaders and many other people from the tribe of Judah come next. There are even leaders from the {far northern} tribes of Zebulun and Naphtali in the parade.

ULT the littlest
UST the smallest tribe
(צָעִיר)

The psalmist is using the adjective littlest as a noun to mean the smallest tribe. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the least significant]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT ruling them
UST Leaders
(רֹדָם)

The pronoun them refers to the tribes of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [ruling the tribes]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali
UST There are even leaders from the {far northern} tribes of Zebulun and Naphtali in the parade
(שָׂרֵי זְבֻלוֹן שָׂרֵי נַפְתָּלִי)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [there are the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT is} Benjamin & the princes of Judah & the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali
> UST People from the tribe of Benjamin & Leaders & from the tribe of Judah & There are even leaders from the {far northern} tribes of Zebulun and Naphtali in the parade
> (בִּנְיָמִן & שָׂרֵי יְהוּדָה & שָׂרֵי זְבֻלוּן שָׂרֵי נַפְתָּלִי)

Here, Benjamin, the princes of Judah, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali represent the leaders of those tribes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the leaders of Benjamin … the chiefs of Judah … the chiefs of Zebulun … the chiefs of Naphtali]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
is} Benjamin	People from the tribe of Benjamin ruling them	Leaders
the princes of	Leaders
Judah	from the tribe of Judah
their throngs	and many other people & come next
Zebulun	from the {far northern} tribes of Zebulun
the princes of	There are even leaders & in the parade
Naphtali	and Naphtali

Psalms 68:28

ULT	UST
Your God has commanded your strength. Be strong, God! You have done this for us.	Our God has made our Israelite tribes strong. God, continue to help us with your power as you helped us in the past.

ULT your strength
UST our Israelite tribes strong (עֻזֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how strong you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Be strong, God
UST God, continue to help us with your power
(עוּזָּה אֱלֹהִים)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please show your strength, God]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT You have done this for us
UST as you helped us in the past
(זּוּ פָּעַלְתָּ לָּנוּ)

The pronoun You refers to God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God, you have done this for us]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Your God has commanded your strength
UST Our God has made our Israelite tribes strong (צַוֵּה אֱלֹהֶיךָ עֻזֶּךָ)

In both uses, the pronoun Your refers to Israel being addressed. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Israel’s God has commanded Israel’s strength]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your God	Our God
your strength. Be strong	our Israelite tribes strong & continue to help us with your power
God	God

Psalms 68:29

ULT	UST
Because of your temple over Jerusalem, kings will bring a gift to you.	Since you have now established your sanctuary on a mountain above Jerusalem, kings will send tribute to you there.

ULT Because of your temple over Jerusalem, kings will bring a gift to you
UST Since you have now established your sanctuary on a mountain above Jerusalem, kings will send tribute to you there (מֵֽהֵיכָלְךָ֥ עַל־יְרוּשָׁלִַ֗ם לְךָ֣ יוֹבִ֑ילוּ מְלָכִ֥ים שָֽׁי׃)

The word translated as Because indicates that what follows is a reason for the result described. If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the first phrase gives the reason for the result that the second phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Kings will bring a gift to you, for your temple stands over Jerusalem]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Because of your temple
UST Since you have now established your sanctuary
(מֵֽהֵיכָלְךָ֥)

Here, your temple represents God's presence and dwelling place. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Because of your dwelling place]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Because of your temple	Since you have now established your sanctuary
Jerusalem	Jerusalem
kings	will send

Psalms 68:30

ULT	UST
Rebuke the beast of the reed, the assembly of the mighty with the calves of the peoples, humbling himself with pieces of silver. He scatters the peoples {who} delight in battles.	Show the king of Egypt that even though he has a powerful army, he cannot defeat you. Many kings who are strong like bulls may gather together. They may form armies from their subject nations, which are like bulls' calves, {but they will not be able to defeat you either}. Instead, they will come submissively and pay you tribute in silver. Some nations are eager to fight wars; make their armies run away!

ULT Rebuke the beast of the reed
UST Show the king of Egypt that even though he has a powerful army, he cannot defeat you (גְּעַר֥ חַיַּת קָנֶֽה)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as "please" to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please rebuke the beast of the reed]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the beast of the reed
UST the king of Egypt that even though he has a powerful army
(חַיַּת קָנֶֽה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Egypt as if Egypt were the beast of the reed. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the enemy from the reeds]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the assembly of the mighty with the calves of the peoples
UST Many kings who are strong like bulls may gather together. They may form armies from their subject nations, which are like bulls' calves, {but they will not be able to defeat you either
(עֲדַ֣ת אַבִּירִ֑ים | בְּעֶגְלֵ֖י עַמִּ֣ים)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if powerful rulers were the mighty and the peoples under them were the calves. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the assembly of the powerful leaders with the peoples under them]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the assembly of the mighty
UST Many kings who are strong like bulls may gather together & but they will not be able to defeat you either
(עֲדַ֣ת אַבִּירִ֑ים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the assembly that consists of mighty ones. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the assembly made up of mighty rulers]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the mighty
UST Many kings who are strong like bulls
(אַבִּירִ֑ים)

The psalmist is using the adjective mighty as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the mighty rulers]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT with the calves of the peoples
UST They may form armies from their subject nations, which are like bulls' calves
(בְּעֶגְלֵ֖י עַמִּ֣ים)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe calves that are characterized by belonging to the peoples—that is, the subject nations. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the peoples' young warriors]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT humbling himself with pieces of silver. He scatters the peoples {who} delight in battles
> UST Instead, they will come submissively and pay you tribute in silver. Some nations are eager to fight wars; make their armies run away
> (מִתְרַפֵּס בְּרַצֵּי־כָסֶף בִּזֹּר עַמִּים קְרָבוֹת יֶחְפָּצוּ)

The pronoun himself and He are ambiguous in this context; they may refer to God scattering the enemy, or to the beast humbling itself before God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the beast humbling itself with pieces of silver. God scatters the peoples who delight in battles]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Rebuke	Show & he cannot defeat you
the beast of	the king of Egypt that even though he has a powerful army
the reed	the king of Egypt that even though he has a powerful army
the assembly of	may gather together & but they will not be able to defeat you either
the mighty	Many kings who are strong like bulls
with the calves of	which are like bulls’ calves
humbling himself	Instead, they will come submissively
silver	and pay you tribute in silver
He scatters	make their armies run away
who} delight in	to fight wars

Psalms 68:31

ULT	UST
Nobles will come from Egypt; Cush will make its hands run to God.	Then envoys will come from Egypt {bringing gifts to you}. The ruler of Cush will hasten to send tribute to God.

ULT Cush will make its hands run to God
UST The ruler of Cush will hasten to send tribute to God
(כּוּשׁ תָּרִיץ יָדָיו לֵאלֹהִים)

The psalmist is speaking of Cush as if it were a person who could stretch out its hands toward God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people of Cush will eagerly bring offerings to God]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT will make its hands run to God
UST will hasten to send tribute to God
(תָּרִיץ יָדָיו לֵאלֹהִים)

The psalmist is using will make its hands run to God as a common expression of the culture to mean “will hasten to bring offerings to God.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [will quickly bring tribute to God]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT its hands
UST to send tribute
(יָדָיו)

The pronoun its refers to Cush the nation. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [its own hands]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT its hands
UST to send tribute
(יָדָיו)

Here, its hands represents the offerings and tribute that Cush’s people bring. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [its tribute]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Nobles	envoys
Egypt	Egypt
Cush	The ruler of Cush
to God	to God

Psalms 68:32

ULT	UST
Kingdoms of the earth, sing to God! Make music {to} the Lord, Selah	People of nations throughout the world, sing praise to God! He is the Lord Selah

ULT Kingdoms of the earth, sing to God
UST People of nations throughout the world, sing praise to God
(מַמְלְכוֹת הָאָרֶץ שִׁירוּ לֵאלֹהִים)

The psalmist is speaking to Kingdoms of the earth that he knows cannot literally hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about the worship of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the kingdoms of the earth. Alternate translation: [All the kingdoms of the world should sing to God]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT sing to God! Make music {to} the Lord
UST sing praise to God! He is the Lord
(שִׁירוּ לֵאלֹהִים זַמְּרוּ אֲדֹנָי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [sing praises to the Lord God]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Kingdoms of	People of nations throughout
to God	to God
to} the Lord	He is the Lord
Selah	Selah

Psalms 68:33

ULT	UST
to the rider on the heavens, of the heavens of antiquity. Behold, he utters with his voice, a voice of power.	who dwells above the sky that he created long ago. When you hear thunder, it is as if he is shouting with his very powerful voice.

ULT to the rider on the heavens, of the heavens of antiquity
UST who dwells above the sky that he created long ago
(לָרֹכֵב בִּשְׁמֵי שְׁמֵי־קֶדֶם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God as if he were the rider on the heavens, of the heavens of antiquity. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to him who rules over the ancient skies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the heavens of antiquity
UST above the sky that he created long ago
(שְׁמֵי־קֶדֶם)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the highest and most ancient heavens. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the highest ancient heavens]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT Behold, he utters with his voice, a voice of power
UST When you hear thunder, it is as if he is shouting with his very powerful voice
(הֵן יִתֵּן בְּקוֹלוֹ קוֹל עֹז)

The psalmist is using the term Behold to focus his listeners' attention on what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [Listen! he utters with his voice, a voice of power]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT a voice of power
UST with his very powerful voice
(קוֹל עֹז)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of power, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a powerful voice]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with his voice, a voice of power
UST it is as if he is shouting with his very powerful voice
(בְּקוֹלוֹ קוֹל עֹז)

The psalmist is repeating forms of the word voice in order to intensify his expression of the idea that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [with his great, powerful voice]

Support Reference: Reduplication

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
on the heavens, of	above the sky
the heavens of	above the sky

Psalms 68:34

ULT	UST
Ascribe strength to God; his majesty {is} over Israel, and his strength {is} in the clouds.	Proclaim how powerful God is! He is the king who reigns over Israel as he rules powerfully from the sky.

> ULT strength
> UST how powerful & is > (עֹז)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how strong he is]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT his majesty
> UST He is the king who reigns > (גְּאוֹתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of majesty, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his majestic nature]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and his strength
> UST as he rules powerfully
> (וְעֻזּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and his mighty rule]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT is} in the clouds
> UST from the sky
> (בַּשְּׁחָקִים)

Here, in the clouds represents the heavenly realm where God displays his power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the heavens above]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to God	God
his majesty	He is the king who reigns
Israel	Israel
and his strength	as he rules powerfully

Psalms 68:35

ULT	UST
God, {you are} fearsome from your sanctuary! The God of Israel, he is giving strength and forces to the people. Blessed {be} God!	God, you are in your sanctuary, and you are very powerful. This is the God whom we Israelite people worship. He makes us very strong. Praise God!

ULT God, {you are} fearsome from your sanctuary
UST God, you are in your sanctuary, and you are very powerful (נוֹרָא אֱלֹהִים מִמִּקְדָּשֶׁיךָ)

The psalmist switches to addressing Yahweh directly for this line for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the third person for consistency. Alternate translation: [God is fearsome from his sanctuary]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT from your sanctuary
UST you are in your sanctuary
(מִמִּקְדָּשֶׁיךָ)

Here, your sanctuary represents the place where God dwells and from which he makes his power known. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from your holy dwelling place]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT The God of Israel
UST This is the God whom we Israelite people worship
(אֵל יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form The God of Israel to indicate that the Israelites possess or control God. Rather the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the one whom Israel worships. Alternate translation: [You are the God whom Israel worships]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT strength and forces
UST very strong
(עֹז וְתַעֲצֻמוֹת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of strength and forces, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the power to be strong and courageous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT strength and forces
UST very strong
(עֹז וְתִפְאֶרֶת)

The terms strength and forces mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [great power and might]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT Blessed {be} God
UST Praise God
(בָּרוּךְ אֱלֹהִים)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise Yahweh. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I bless God] or [Let me praise God]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
you are} fearsome	and you are very powerful
from your sanctuary	you are in your sanctuary
The God of	This is the God
Israel	whom we Israelite people worship
strength	strong
Blessed {be	Praise

Psalms 68:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm of	this psalm. It is a song
David	David wrote

Psalms 69

Psalms 69 Introduction

Psalm 69 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 69 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It presents the basic elements of that type of psalm. (Some elements are repeated.) Near its end, it becomes a specific kind of psalm of supplication, an “imprecatory psalm” in which the psalmist describes the actions of wicked people and asks God to judge and punish them. Furthermore, the New Testament writers considered Psalm 69 to be a Messianic psalm that looked forward to the reign of Jesus Christ. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–3)
2. Description of troubles (4)
3. Confession of sin (5–6)
4. Claim of devotion to God (7–12)
5. Statement of trust (13)
6. Petition (14–18)
7. Description of troubles (19–21)
8. Imprecation (22–28)
9. Vow of praise (29–36)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

While New Testament writers quote this psalm in several places, we encourage translators to translate the words of the Hebrew text as they appear in the Old Testament and the words of the Greek text as they appear in the New Testament, even if, inevitably, there is some difference between the words as the ideas are expressed in different languages. We encourage translators not to try to use similar words in both places so that readers will recognize the quotations. Instead, translators can use footnotes in the New Testament to identify the source of these quotations.

Here is a list of the places where New Testament writers quote this psalm:

69:4, “The ones hating me gratuitously,” John 15:25

69:9, “zeal for your house has consumed me,” John 2:17

69:9, “the reproaches of the ones reproaching you have fallen on me,” Romans 15:3

69:21, “they made me drink vinegar for my thirst,” Mattew 27:34 and John 19:28

69:22–23, “Let their table become a snare to their faces and a trap for their welfare. Let their eyes darken from seeing, make their loins tremble continually,” Romans 11:9–10

69:25, “Let their encampment be deserted; let there not be a dweller in their tents,” Acts 1:20

Psalms 69:1

ULT	UST
Save me, God, for waters have come up to {my} life.	Please rescue me, God! I am in great danger, as if I were just about to drown in a flood.

ULT Save me
UST Please rescue me
(הוֹשִׁיעֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please save me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT waters have come up to {my} life
UST I were just about to drown in a flood (בָּאוּ מַ֥יִם עַד־נָפֶֽשׁ)

David is speaking of his danger as if it were waters that had come up and were threatening his life. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my troubles have threatened my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT my} life
UST to drown
(נָפֶֽשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of life, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my neck]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Save me	Please rescue me
God	God

Psalms 69:2

ULT	UST
I have sunk in mire of depth, and there is no standing. I have come into depths of waters, and a flood overflows me.	It is as if I am sinking in deep mud where there is no solid ground for me to stand on. It is as if I am in deep water and a flood is swirling around me.

ULT I have sunk in mire of depth
UST It is as if I am sinking in deep mud
(טָבַעְתִּי ׀ בִּיוֵן מָצוּלָה)

David is speaking of his distress as if he had sunk in mire of depth. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am overwhelmed by my troubles]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT depth
UST deep
(מָצוּלָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of depth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [deep places]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and there is no standing
UST where there is no solid ground for me to stand on (וְאֵין מָעֳמָד)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and there is no place for me to stand]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT I have come into depths of waters, and a flood overflows me
UST It is as if I am in deep water and a flood is swirling around me
(בָּאתִי בְמַעֲמַקֵּי־מַיִם וְשִׁבֹּלֶת שְׁטָפַתְנִי)

David is speaking of his danger as if he had come into depths of waters and a flood were overwhelming him. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am in overwhelming danger, and my troubles overwhelm me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and a flood	and a flood

Psalms 69:3

ULT	UST
I am weary in my calling out; my throat is parched. My eyes fail {as} I am waiting for my God.	I am tired and my throat is dry because I have been calling to you for help for so long. I have been looking for so long for you to come and help me that I have worn out my eyes.

ULT I am weary in my calling out
UST I am tired & because I have been calling to you for help for so long (יָגַעְתִּי בְקָרְאִי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [I am weary from my calling out]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT my throat is parched
UST and my throat is dry
(נִחַר גְּרוֹנִי)

Here, my throat is parched represents David being exhausted from calling out to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I am exhausted from calling out]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT My eyes fail
UST that I have worn out my eyes
(כָּלוּ עֵינָי)

David says My eyes fail to represent his losing strength and hope as he watches for God to act. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [My strength fails]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in my calling out	because I have been calling to you for help for so long for my God	for you to come and help me

Psalms 69:4

ULT	UST
The ones hating me gratuitously are more than the hairs of my head. The ones destroying me are mighty, my enemies of falsehood. What I did not steal, yet I must restore.	There are people who hate me for no reason. There are so many of these people, it is as if there are more of them than there are hairs on my head! The enemies who want to harm me are powerful, and they are telling lies about me. They are demanding that I pay back things that I did not steal!

ULT are more than the hairs of my head
UST There are so many of these people, it is as if there are more of them than there are hairs on my head
(רַבּוּ | מִשֵּׂעֲרוֹת רֹאשִׁי)

David says more than the hairs of my head as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [are too many to count]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT of falsehood
UST and they are telling lies about me
(שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of falsehood, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [who tell lies]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The ones destroying me	who want to harm me
are mighty	are powerful
my enemies	The enemies
yet & must restore	I pay back

Psalms 69:5

ULT	UST
God, you, you know my foolishness, and my sins are not hidden from you.	O God, you know that I have foolishly disobeyed your laws; you are aware of the sins that I have committed.

ULT my foolishness, and my sins
UST that I have foolishly disobeyed your laws & the sins that I have committed (לְאִוַּלְתִּ֣י וְאַשְׁמוֹתַ֑י)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of foolishness and sins, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [foolish deeds, and my sinful deeds]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and my sins are not hidden from you
UST you are aware of the sins that I have committed (וְאַשְׁמוֹתַ֥י מִמְּךָ֗ לֹא־נִכְחָדוּ)

The expression my sins are not hidden from you is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and you know all my sins]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	O God
you know	know
and my sins	the sins that I have committed

Psalms 69:6

ULT	UST
May the ones waiting for you not have shame because of me, Lord Yahweh of Armies. May the ones seeking you not be humiliated because of me, God of Israel.	But Yahweh my Lord, commander of the heavenly armies, may the wrong things I have done not disappoint the people who trust you. You are the God whom we Israelite people should worship. Please do not let me embarrass those who do worship you.

ULT May the ones waiting for you not have shame because of me
UST may the wrong things I have done not disappoint the people who trust you
(אַל־יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ בִ֨י | קֹוֶ֗יךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please do not let the ones waiting for you feel shame because of me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT May & have shame
UST may & disappoint
(יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of shame, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [May … feel ashamed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT May the ones seeking you not be humiliated
UST Please do not let & embarrass those who do worship you (אַל־יִכָּלְמ֣וּ & מְבַקְשֶׁ֑יךָ)

The expression not be humiliated is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [May no one humiliate the ones seeking you]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT God of Israel
UST You are the God whom we Israelite people should worship
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form God of Israel to indicate that the Israelites possess or control God. Rather the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the one whom Israel worships. Alternate translation: [oh, God whom Israel worships]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May & have shame	may & disappoint
Lord Yahweh	But Yahweh my Lord
May the ones seeking you	those who do worship you
be humiliated	Please do & let & embarrass
God	You are the God whom & should worship of Israel	we Israelite people

Psalms 69:7

ULT	UST
For because of you I have borne reproach; humiliation has covered my face.	People have insulted me because I am loyal to you. They have thoroughly humiliated me.

ULT For because of you I have borne reproach
UST People have insulted me because I am loyal to you (כִּי־עָלֶיךָ נָשָׂאתִי חֶרְפָּה)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because of you I have borne reproach]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT humiliation has covered my face
UST They have thoroughly humiliated me
(כִּסְּתָה כְלִמָּה פָנָי)

David speaks of humiliation as if it were a person who could cover his face. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am completely humiliated]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT my face
UST me
(פָּנָי)

Here, my face represents David himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [me completely]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT reproach
UST People have insulted me
(חֶרְפָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [being insulted]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have borne	People have insulted me
reproach	People have insulted me

Psalms 69:8

ULT	UST
I have become a stranger to my brothers and a foreigner to the sons of my mother.	Even my own family members act as if they do not know me.

ULT a stranger to my brothers and a foreigner to the sons of my mother

UST Even my own family members act as if they do not know me
(מְוּזָר & לְאֶחַי וְנָכְרִי לִבְנֵי אִמִּי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [completely rejected by my own family]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and a foreigner	act as if they do not know me

Psalms 69:9

ULT	UST
For zeal for your house has consumed me, and the reproaches of the ones reproaching you have fallen on me.	I care so much about your temple that people are causing trouble for me. People are speaking disrespectfully of you, and it is as if they are also insulting me.

ULT For zeal for your house has consumed me
UST I care so much about your temple that people are causing trouble for me
(כִּי־קִנְאַת בֵּיתְךָ אֲכָלָתְנִי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because zeal for your house has consumed me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT zeal for your house has consumed me
UST I care so much about your temple that people are causing trouble for me
(קִנְאַת בֵּיתְךָ אֲכָלָתְנִי)

David speaks of zeal for God's house as if it were a person who could consume him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I care so deeply about your house that it takes over all my thoughts]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT zeal for
UST I care so much (קִנְאַת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of zeal, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [caring deeply]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and the reproaches of the ones reproaching you have fallen on me

UST People are speaking disrespectfully of you, and it is as if they are also insulting me

(וְחֶרְפּוֹת חוֹרְפֶיךָ נָפְלוּ עָלָי)

David speaks of the reproaches of the ones reproaching God as if they were persons who could fall on someone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [when people insult you, they also insult me]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
zeal for	I care so much
your house	about your temple
has consumed me	that people are causing trouble for me and the reproaches of	are speaking disrespectfully
the ones reproaching you	People & of you

Psalms 69:10

ULT	UST
Though I wept {in} my soul with fasting, yet it became reproaches to me;	I wept and fasted very sincerely, but they mocked me for doing that.

ULT Though I wept {in} my soul with fasting, yet it became reproaches to me

UST I wept and fasted very sincerely, but they mocked me for doing that (וָאֶבְכֶּה בַצּוֹם נַפְשִׁי וַתְּהִי לְחֶרְפּוֹת לִי)

David uses the words Though and yet here to indicate a contrast between his sincere mourning and the reproach he received for it. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I wept in my soul with fasting, but it became reproaches to me]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT with fasting

UST and fasted

(בַּצּוֹם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of fasting, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with going without food]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in} my soul	very sincerely
with fasting	and fasted
reproaches	they mocked

Psalms 69:11

ULT	UST
though I made my clothing sackcloth, yet I became a proverb to them.	I wore rough clothing {to show that I was sad}, but they used me as an example of a foolish person.

ULT though I made my clothing sackcloth, yet I became a proverb to them
UST I wore rough clothing {to show that I was sad}, but they used me as an example of a foolish person
(וְאֶתְּנָה לְבוּשִׁי שָׂק וָאֱהִי לָהֶם לְמָשָׁל)

David uses the words though and yet here to indicate a contrast between his act of mourning and the ridicule he received. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [although I made my clothing sackcloth, still I became a proverb to them]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT though I made my clothing sackcloth
UST I wore rough clothing {to show that I was sad
(וְאֶתְּנָה לְבוּשִׁי שָׂק)

Wearing sackcloth was a symbolic action by which David showed his grief and repentance. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [though I wore rough clothing to show my sorrow]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my clothing	clothing
sackcloth	rough
a proverb	as an example of a foolish person

Psalms 69:12

ULT	UST
The sitters at the gate speak about me, and the songs of the drinkers of beer.	Even the elders of the city say bad things about me. The drunkards in the city sing insulting songs about me.

ULT The sitters at the gate
UST Even the elders of the city
(יֹשְׁבֵי שָׁעַר)

The phrase The sitters at the gate represents the leaders and judges of the city, since city leaders conducted public business at the gate of the city. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [The city leaders]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the gate	Even the elders of the city

Psalms 69:13

ULT	UST
But I, my prayer {is} to you, Yahweh. {At} a time of favor, God, in the greatness of your covenant faithfulness, answer me in the truth of your salvation.	But I will continue praying to you, Yahweh. You are always very kind to me, as you have promised. So at the time that you choose, please answer my prayer by rescuing me, since you love me faithfully.

ULT But I, my prayer {is} to you
UST But I will continue praying to you
(וַאֲנִי תְפִלָּתִי־לְךָ)

David uses the words But I here to indicate a contrast between the behavior of those who mock him and his own response of praying to God. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Yet I, my prayer is to you]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT my prayer {is} to you
UST will continue praying to you
(תְפִלָּתִי־לְךָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [my prayer is offered to you]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT my prayer
UST will continue praying
(תְפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [praying to God]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT favor
UST that & choose
(רְצוֹן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of favor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [being favorable]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT answer me
> UST please answer my prayer
> (עֲנֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please answer me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT your covenant faithfulness & in the truth of your salvation
> UST You are always & kind to me, as you have promised & by rescuing me, since you love me faithfully
> (חַסְדֶּךָ & בֶּאֱמֶת יִשְׁעֶךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness, truth, and salvation, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [faithfully keeping your covenant … true way that you are saving]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my prayer	will continue praying
Yahweh	Yahweh
At} a time of	So at the time
favor	that & choose
God	you
your covenant faithfulness	You are always & kind to me, as you have promised
your salvation	by rescuing me

Psalms 69:14

ULT	UST
Deliver me from the mire, and let me not sink. Let me be delivered from the ones hating me and from the depths of the waters.	Rescue me so that it will no longer be as if I were sinking in mud. Rescue me from my enemies so that it will no longer be as if I were drowning.

ULT Deliver me from the mire, and let me not sink. Let me be delivered from the ones hating me and from the depths of the waters
UST Rescue me so that it will no longer be as if I were sinking in mud. Rescue me from my enemies so that it will no longer be as if I were drowning
(הַצִּ֣ילֵנִ֣י מִטִּ֣יט וְאַל־אֶטְבָּ֑עָה אִנָּצְלָ֥ה מִשֹּׂנְאַ֑י וּמִמְּעַמַּקֵּי־מָֽיִם)

These are imperatives, but they communicate polite requests rather than commands. If the imperatives do not communicate polite requests for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates polite requests. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please deliver me from the mire, and please let me not sink. Please let me be delivered from the ones hating me and from the depths of the waters]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Deliver me from the mire
UST Rescue me & in mud
(הַצִּ֣ילֵנִ֣י מִטִּ֣יט)

David is speaking of his distress as if it were mire that he is stuck in. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Rescue me from my troubles]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Let me be delivered from the ones hating me
UST Rescue me from my enemies
(אִנָּצְלָ֥ה מִשֹּׂנְאַ֑י)

The expression Let me be delivered is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [Deliver me from the ones hating me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT and from the depths of the waters
> UST so that it will no longer be as if I were drowning
> (וּמִמְּעֲמַקֵּי־מָיִם)

David is speaking of his danger as if it were the depths of the waters that could drown him. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and from overwhelming danger]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Deliver me	Rescue me
Let me be delivered	Rescue me

Psalms 69:15

ULT	UST
Let the flood of waters not overflow me, and let the deep not swallow me, and let the pit not close its mouth over me.	Make it so that it will no longer be as if a flood were swirling around me and I was about to go down to the bottom of deep water. Rescue me so that I do not go to the place where dead people are.

ULT Let the flood of waters not overflow me, and let the deep not swallow me, and let the pit not close its mouth over me
UST Make it so that it will no longer be as if a flood were swirling around me and I was about to go down to the bottom of deep water. Rescue me so that I do not go to the place where dead people are
(אַל־תִּשְׁטְפֵנִי | שִׁבֹּלֶת מַיִם וְאַל־תִּבְלָעֵנִי מְצוּלָה וְאַל־תֶּאְטַר־עָלַי בְּאֵר פִּיהָ)

These are imperatives, but they communicate polite requests rather than commands. If the imperatives do not communicate polite requests for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates polite requests. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please do not let the flood of waters overflow me, and please do not let the deep swallow me, and please do not let the pit close its mouth over me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Let the flood of waters not overflow me
UST Make it so that it will no longer be as if a flood were swirling around me
(אַל־תִּשְׁטְפֵנִי | שִׁבֹּלֶת מַיִם)

David is speaking of his troubles as if they were a flood of waters that could overflow or overwhelm him. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Do not let my troubles overwhelm me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and let the deep not swallow me
UST and I was about to go down to the bottom of deep water
(וְאַל־תִּבְלָעֵנִי מְצוּלָה)

David speaks of the deep as if it were a person who could swallow him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and do not let me perish in the deep waters]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT and let the pit not close its mouth over me
UST Rescue me so that I do not go to the place where dead people are (וְאַל־תֶּאְטַר־עָלַי בְּאֵר פִּיהָ)

David speaks of the pit as if it were a person who could close its mouth over him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and do not let the grave hold me]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT the deep & the pit
UST to the bottom of deep water & to the place where dead people are (מְצוּלָה & בְּאֵר)

Here, the deep and the pit represent death and the grave. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use equivalent expressions or plain language. Alternate translation: [death ... the grave]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the flood of	a flood were
the pit	to the place where dead people are

Psalms 69:16

ULT	UST
Answer me, Yahweh, for your covenant faithfulness {is} good; according to the greatness of your compassion, turn to me.	Yahweh, it is so good that you faithfully love me, so please do what I ask. Because you are very merciful, please help me.

ULT your covenant faithfulness
UST that you faithfully love me
(חַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way you are faithfully committed to your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your compassion
UST merciful
(רַחֲמֶיךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the idea of compassion, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how compassionate you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT turn to me
UST please help me
(פְּנֵה אֵלָי)

The psalmist is speaking as if God were not looking at him and he asked him to turn to him and pay attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
your covenant faithfulness	that you faithfully love me is} good	it is so good
your compassion	merciful

Psalms 69:17

ULT	UST
And may you not hide your face from your servant, for trouble {is} to me; hurry, answer me.	I am experiencing much trouble, so please consider my situation and act quickly to help me.

ULT And may you not hide your face
UST please consider
(וְאַל־תַּסְתֵּר פָּנֶיךָ)

David is using hide your face as a common expression of the culture to mean “refuse to help” or “withdraw your presence.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And may you not turn away]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT your face
UST please consider
(פָּנֶיךָ)

Here, your face represents “your presence.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your attention]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT for trouble {is} to me
UST I am experiencing much trouble, so (כִּי־צַר־לִי)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because trouble is to me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

> ULT And may you not hide your face from your servant & hurry, answer me
>
> UST please consider my situation and act quickly to help me
>
> (וְאַל־תַּסְתֵּר פָּנֶיךָ מֵעַבְדֶּךָ & מַהֵר עֲנֵנִי)

These are imperatives, but they communicate polite requests rather than commands. If the imperatives do not communicate polite requests for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates polite requests. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [And please do not hide your face from your servant … please hurry, please answer me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from your servant	my situation
trouble	much trouble

Psalms 69:18

ULT	UST
Draw near to my soul, redeem it; because of my enemies, ransom me.	Come and save me; please rescue me from my enemies.

ULT my soul
UST me
(נַפְשִׁי)

David is using the term my soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my life]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT redeem it; because of my enemies, ransom me
UST and save & please rescue me from my enemies (גְּאָלֵהּ לְמַעַן אֹיְבַי פְּדֵנִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [ransom me, because of my enemies]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Draw near to my soul, redeem it & ransom me
UST Come and save me; please rescue me
(קָרְבָה אֶל־נַפְשִׁי גְאָלֵהּ & פְּדֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please draw near to my soul, redeem it … please ransom me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT redeem it & ransom me
UST and save & please rescue me
(גְּאָלֵהּ & פְּדֵנִי)

The terms redeem and ransom mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [deliver it … deliver me]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my soul	me
redeem & me	please rescue me
my enemies	my enemies
it & ransom	and save

Psalms 69:19

ULT	UST
You, you know my reproach and my shame and my humiliation. All of my adversaries {are} before you.	You know personally how people are insulting, shaming, and dishonoring me. You know who all my enemies are.

ULT my reproach and my shame and my humiliation
UST how people are insulting, shaming, and dishonoring me
(חֶרְפָּתִי וּבָשְׁתִּי וּכְלִמָּתִי)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of reproach, shame, and humiliation, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [being reproached … being shamed … being humiliated]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you know	You know
my reproach	how people are insulting and my shame	shaming
my adversaries	my enemies

Psalms 69:20

ULT	UST
Reproach has broken my heart, and I am sick. Though I waited for sympathy, yet there was none, and for comforters, yet I did not find.	Their insults have deeply offended me, and I feel very badly. I wanted someone to feel sorry for me and encourage me, but no one did.

ULT Reproach has broken my heart
UST Their insults have deeply offended me
(חֶרְפָּה ׀ שָׁבְרָה לִבִּי)

David speaks of Reproach as if it were a person who could break a person's heart. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am brokenhearted because of reproach]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT my heart
UST deeply & me
(לִבִּי)

Here, my heart represents "my emotions." If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my spirit]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Though I waited for sympathy, yet there was none
UST I wanted someone to feel sorry for me & but no one did (וָאֲקַוֶּה לָנוּד וְאָיִן)

David uses the word Though here to indicate a contrast between what he expected and what actually happened. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Even though I waited for sympathy, there was none]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT Though I waited for sympathy, yet there was none, and for comforters, yet I did not find

UST I wanted someone to feel sorry for me and encourage me, but no one did

(וָאֲקַוֶּה לָנוּד וָאַיִן וְלַמְנַחֲמִים וְלֹא מָצָאתִי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [I waited for someone to show compassion, yet no one came]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Reproach	Their insults

Psalms 69:21

ULT	UST
But they put gall in my food, and they made me drink vinegar for my thirst.	Instead, they put poison in my food, and when I was thirsty, they gave me sour wine to drink.

ULT But they put gall in my food, and & for my thirst
UST Instead, they put poison in my food, and when I was thirsty
(וַיִּתְּנוּ בְּבָרוּתִי רֹאשׁ וְלִצְמָאִי)

David uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the sympathy he hoped for and the cruelty he received. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Instead, they put gall in my food]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT But they put gall in my food, and & for my thirst
UST Instead, they put poison in my food, and when I was thirsty
(וַיִּתְּנוּ בְּבָרוּתִי רֹאשׁ וְלִצְמָאִי)

Here, they put gall in my food represents the idea that David's enemies gave him what was harmful instead of what was nourishing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [they gave me something bitter to eat]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 69:22

ULT	UST
Let their table become a snare to their faces and a trap for their welfare.	May their own food be like a trap that they walk into! May it harm their health.

ULT Let their table become a snare to their faces and a trap for their welfare
UST May their own food be like a trap that they walk into! May it harm their health
(יְהִי־שֻׁלְחָנָם לִפְנֵיהֶם לְפָח וְלִשְׁלוֹמִים לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [May their table become a snare to their faces and a trap for their welfare]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Let their table become a snare to their faces and a trap for their welfare
UST May their own food be like a trap that they walk into! May it harm their health
(יְהִי־שֻׁלְחָנָם לִפְנֵיהֶם לְפָח וְלִשְׁלוֹמִים לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

David is speaking of his enemies’ provision as if it were a snare and a trap that could catch and harm them. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let what they enjoy become something that harms them and ruins their welfare]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT their table
UST their own food
(שֻׁלְחָנָם)

Here, their table represents “their provision.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [their feasting]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to their faces
UST that they walk into
(לִפְנֵיהֶם)

David is using to their faces as a common expression of the culture to mean “right in front of them.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [right before them]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and a trap for their welfare
UST May it harm their health
(וְלִשְׁלוֹמִים לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

David is using this possessive form to mean a trap that catches them when they are at ease. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [a trap that ruins their welfare]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT a snare & a trap
UST like a trap & May it harm
(לְפַח & לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

The terms a snare and a trap mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [a deadly trap before them]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a snare	like a trap
a trap	May it harm

Psalms 69:23

ULT	UST
Let their eyes darken from seeing, and make their loins tremble continually.	May their eyes become dim so that they cannot see anything. May their bodies keep getting weaker.

ULT Let their eyes darken from seeing, and make their loins tremble continually
UST May their eyes become dim so that they cannot see anything. May their bodies keep getting weaker (תָּחְשַׁכְנָה עֵינֵיהֶם מֵרְאוֹת וּמָתְנֵיהֶם תָּמִיד הַמְעָד)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [May their eyes darken from seeing, and may their loins tremble continually]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT their eyes
UST their eyes
(עֵינֵיהֶם)

Here, their eyes represents “their sight.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [their vision]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and & their loins
UST their bodies
(וּמָתְנֵיהֶם)

Here, their loins represents “their strength.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [their legs]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and & their loins	their bodies
make & tremble	May & getting weaker

Psalms 69:24

ULT	UST
Pour your indignation on them, and let the burning of your nose overtake them.	Become angry with them and punish them! Angrily pursue them until you catch them.

ULT Pour your indignation on them, and let the burning of your nose overtake them
UST Become angry with them and punish them! Angrily pursue them until you catch them
(שְׁפֹךְ־עֲלֵיהֶם זַעְמֶךָ וַחֲרוֹן אַפְּךָ יִשֹּׂגֵם)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please pour your indignation on them, and let the burning of your nose overtake them]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Pour your indignation on them, and let the burning of your nose overtake them
UST Become angry with them and punish them! Angrily pursue them until you catch them
(שְׁפֹךְ־עֲלֵיהֶם זַעְמֶךָ וַחֲרוֹן אַפְּךָ יִשֹּׂגֵם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word other than and in order to show that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Pour your indignation on them; yes, let the burning of your nose overtake them]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Pour your indignation on them
UST Become angry with them and punish them
(שְׁפֹךְ־עֲלֵיהֶם זַעְמֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of indignation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Deal with them wrathfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and let the burning of your nose overtake them
> UST Angrily pursue them until you catch them
> (וְחָרוֹן אַפְּךָ יִגָּם)

Here, the burning of your nose represents “your fierce anger.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and let your burning anger overtake them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
let & overtake them	pursue them until you catch them

Psalms 69:25

ULT	UST
Let their encampment be deserted; let there not be a dweller in their tents.	Make them abandon their towns so that no one lives in them anymore.

ULT Let their encampment be deserted; let there not be a dweller in their tents
UST Make them abandon their towns so that no one lives in them anymore
(תְּהִי־טִירָתָם נְשַׁמָּה בְּאָהֳלֵיהֶם אַל־יְהִי יֹשֵׁב)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [May their encampment be deserted; may there not be a dweller in their tents]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Let their encampment be deserted; let there not be a dweller in their tents
UST Make them abandon their towns so that no one lives in them anymore
(תְּהִי־טִירָתָם נְשַׁמָּה בְּאָהֳלֵיהֶם אַל־יְהִי יֹשֵׁב)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Let their encampment be completely deserted, with no one living there]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Let their encampment be deserted
UST Make them abandon their towns
(תְּהִי־טִירָתָם נְשַׁמָּה)

The expression Let their encampment be deserted is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [Let God make their encampment deserted]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
deserted	Make them abandon in their tents	in them

Psalms 69:26

ULT	UST
For you, whom you have struck, they have persecuted, and they talk about the pain of your wounded.	Do this because they did things to harm people whom you were already disciplining. They said that people whom you were correcting were suffering {because they had done bad things}.

ULT For you, whom you have struck, they have persecuted
UST Do this because they did things to harm people whom you were already disciplining
(כִּי־אַתָּה אֲשֶׁר־הִכִּיתָ רָדָפוּ)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [This is because the ones whom you have struck, they have persecuted]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT the pain of your wounded
UST people whom you were correcting were suffering {because they had done bad things
(מַכְאֹוב חֲלָלֶיךָ)

David is using the possessive form to describe pain that is experienced by your wounded. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [pain that your wounded ones feel]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the pain of
UST were suffering {because they had done bad things
(מַכְאֹוב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of pain, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the painful experience of]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they have persecuted	they did things to harm

Psalms 69:27

ULT	UST
Add iniquity to their iniquity, and let them not come into your righteousness.	Punish them for every wrong thing they have done. Do not forgive them!

ULT Add iniquity to their iniquity, and let them not come into your righteousness
UST Punish them for every wrong thing they have done. Do not forgive them
(תְּנָה־עָוֹן עַל־עֲוֹנָם וְאַל־יָבֹאוּ בְּצִדְקָתֶךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please add iniquity to their iniquity, and do not let them come into your righteousness]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Add iniquity to their iniquity
UST Punish them for every wrong thing they have done
(תְּנָה־עָוֹן עַל־עֲוֹנָם)

The psalmist is using Add iniquity to their iniquity as a common expression of the culture to mean “Charge them with crime after crime.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Keep a record of their sins] or [Give punishment for their sins]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT into your righteousness
UST Do & forgive them
(בְּצִדְקָתֶךָ)

David is using the possessive form to describe righteousness that belongs to you. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the righteousness that you grant]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT iniquity & into your righteousness
> UST for every wrong thing they have done. Do & forgive them
> (עָוֹן & בְּצִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of iniquity and righteousness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [acting wrongfully … what you consider right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
iniquity	for every wrong thing they have done
their iniquity	for every wrong thing they have done
into your righteousness	Do & forgive them

Psalms 69:28

ULT	UST
Let them be wiped from the book of the living, and let them not be written with the righteous.	Remove their names from the book that records the names of people who have everlasting life; do not include them in your list of righteous people.

ULT Let them be wiped from the book of the living, and let them not be written with the righteous
UST Remove their names from the book that records the names of people who have everlasting life; do not include them in your list of righteous people
(יִמָּחוּ מִסֵּפֶר חַיִּים וְעִם צַדִּיקִים אַל־יִכָּתֵבוּ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please wipe them from the book of the living, and do not let them be written with the righteous]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Let them be wiped from the book of the living
UST Remove their names from the book that records the names of people who have everlasting life
(יִמָּחוּ מִסֵּפֶר חַיִּים)

The expression Let them be wiped from the book of the living is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [Let God wipe them from the book of the living]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT from the book of the living
UST from the book that records the names of people who have everlasting life
(מִסֵּפֶר חַיִּים)

David is speaking of the book of the living as if it were a record that God keeps listing the names of all people who have eternal life. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the record of those who life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and let them not be written with the righteous
> UST do not include them in your list of righteous people
> (וְעִם צַדִּיקִים אַל־יִכָּתָבוּ)

The expression let them not be written with the righteous is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [and do not write them with the righteous]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT the righteous
> UST righteous people
> (צַדִּיקִים)

David is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are righteous]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let them be wiped	Remove their names
the righteous	righteous people

Psalms 69:29

ULT	UST
But I {am} poor and feeling pain; may your salvation, God, set me on high.	As for me, I am in bad circumstances, and I am suffering. O God, please protect me and save me.

ULT But I {am} poor and feeling pain
UST As for me, I am in bad circumstances, and I am suffering
(וַאֲנִי עָנִי וְכוֹאֵב)

David uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between his enemies and himself. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Yet I, I am poor and feeling pain]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT may your salvation, God, set me on high
UST O God, please protect me and save me
(יְשׁוּעָתְךָ אֱלֹהִים תְּשַׂגְּבֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please let your salvation, God, set me on high]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT your salvation
UST and save me
(יְשׁוּעָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [ability to save]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your salvation	and save me
God	O God

Psalms 69:30

ULT	UST
I will praise the name of God with a song, and I will magnify him with thanksgiving.	When God does that, I will sing a song to praise God, and I will honor him by thanking him.

ULT the name of God
UST God
(שֵׁם־אֱלֹהִים)

Here, the name of God represents who God is and his reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [God himself]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with thanksgiving
UST by thanking him
(בְּתוֹדָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thanksgiving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [thankful words]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will praise	to praise
God	God

Psalms 69:31

ULT	UST
And this will be better to Yahweh than an ox, a bull having horns and having hooves.	When I do that, it will please Yahweh more than if I had sacrificed oxen, yes, he will like that better than if I had offered him full-grown bulls.

ULT than an ox, a bull
UST more than if I had sacrificed oxen, yes, he will like that better than if I had offered him & bulls
(מִשּׁוֹר פָּר)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the ox, a bull, is to be offered to God as a sacrifice. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [than receiving the sacrifice of an ox, a bull]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT a bull having horns and having hooves
UST yes, he will like that better than if I had offered him full-grown bulls (פָּר מַקְרִן מַפְרִיס)

This phrase distinguishes the full grown bulls from other younger ones. Alternate translation: [a bull that is full grown with horns and hooves]

Support Reference: Distinguishing Versus Informing or Reminding

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And this will be better	When I do that, it will please
to Yahweh	Yahweh
than an ox	more than if I had sacrificed oxen
a bull	yes, he will like that better than if I had offered him & bulls
having horns	full-grown

Psalms 69:32

ULT	UST
The poor will see, they will rejoice; seekers of God, let your heart live.	Humble people will be happy when they see {that God has rescued me}. This will encourage people who worship God sincerely.

ULT seekers of God
UST people who worship God sincerely
(דֹּרְשֵׁי אֱלֹהִים)

David is using the possessive form to describe seekers whose goal is God. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [You who seek God]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT let your heart live
UST This will encourage (וִיחִי לְבַבְכֶם)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [may your heart live]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT your heart
UST This will encourage (לְבַבְכֶם)

Here, your heart represents your inner being where your thoughts and feelings exist. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your spirit]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT The poor
UST Humble people
(עֲנָוִים)

David is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Poor people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they will rejoice	will be happy
seekers of	people who worship & sincerely
God	God

Psalms 69:33

ULT	UST
For Yahweh is hearing the needy, and he does not despise his prisoners.	When needy people pray to Yahweh, he does what they ask. He greatly respects people who suffer for him.

ULT For Yahweh is hearing the needy
UST When needy people pray to Yahweh, he does what they ask (כִּי־שֹׁמֵעַ אֶל־אֶבְיוֹנִים יְהוָה)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is indeed hearing the needy]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT the needy
UST When needy people
(אֶל־אֶבְיוֹנָיו)

David is using the adjective needy as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are in need]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT he does not despise
UST He greatly respects
(לֹא בָזָה)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word despise. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [he cares for]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

ULT his prisoners
UST people who suffer for him
(אֲסִירָיו)

David is not using this possessive form his prisoners to indicate that God took these people prisoner. Rather David is using these words to indicate that people who belong to God are being held captive. Alternate translation: [the prisoners who belong to him]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 69:34

ULT	UST
Let the heavens and the earth praise him, the seas and everything moving in them.	May the entire creation praise God: the birds in the sky, the animals on the land, and the creatures in the sea.

ULT Let the heavens and the earth praise him, the seas and everything moving in them
UST May the entire creation praise God: the birds in the sky, the animals on the land, and the creatures in the sea
(יְהַלְלוּהוּ שָׁמַיִם וְאֶרֶץ יַמִּים וְכָל־רֹמֵשׂ בָּם)

David speaks of the heavens and the earth and the seas and everything moving in them as if they were persons who could praise God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let everything in the heavens and the earth praise him, and everything in the seas and all that moves in them]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Let the heavens and the earth praise him, the seas and everything moving in them
UST May the entire creation praise God: the birds in the sky, the animals on the land, and the creatures in the sea
(יְהַלְלוּהוּ שָׁמַיִם וְאֶרֶץ יַמִּים וְכָל־רֹמֵשׂ בָּם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Let the heavens and the earth praise him; let the seas and everything moving in them praise him]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT Let the heavens and the earth praise him
UST May the entire creation praise God: the birds in the sky, the animals on the land
(יְהַלְלוּהוּ שָׁמַיִם וְאֶרֶץ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [May the heavens and the earth praise him]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	May the entire creation & the birds in the sky
and the earth	the animals on the land
Let & praise him	praise God

Psalms 69:35

ULT	UST
For God will save Zion, and he will build the cities of Judah, that they may dwell there and possess it.	May God protect the people who live in Jerusalem and in other places in Judah. May he strengthen their cities so that they keep living in them as their territory.

ULT For
UST May
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Tall should praise him because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT God will save Zion
UST God protect the people who live in Jerusalem
(אֱלֹהִים | יוֹשִׁיעַ צִיּוֹן)

Here “Zion” refers to the people in Zion. Alternate translation: [God will save the people of Zion]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and possess it
UST as their territory
(וִירֵשׁוּהָ)

The pronoun “it” refers to the land of Judah. Alternate translation: [and possess the land of Judah]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
will save	protect
Zion	the people who live in Jerusalem
Judah	Judah
and possess it	as their territory

Psalms 69:36

ULT	UST
And the seed of his servants will inherit it, and the ones loving his name will dwell in it.	May the descendants of the people who are loyal to him inherit that territory, and may those who love him live there safely.

ULT And the seed of his servants
UST May the descendants of the people who are loyal to him
(וְזֶרַע עֲבָדָיו)

David is speaking as if the people who will descend from God's servants were actually their seed. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And the descendants of his servants]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT his name
UST him
(שְׁמוֹ)

Here, his name represents who God is and his reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [who he is]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And the seed of	May the descendants of his servants	the people who are loyal to him will inherit it	inherit that territory
and the ones loving	and may those who love

Psalms 69:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of David	David wrote this song

Psalms 70

Psalms 70 Introduction

Psalm 70 Introduction

Psalm 70 is a psalm of supplication or lament. Formallly, it includes only two the basic elements of that type of psalm, a cry for help and a petition. But a description of troubles and a statement of trust are implicit in the background. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1)
2. Petition (2–4)
3. Repeated cry for help (5)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Similarity to Psalm 40

This words of this psalm are very similar to Psalm 40:13–17. If you have already translated Psalm 40, see what you did there. It may help you translate Psalm 70.

Psalms 70:1

ULT	UST
Hurry, God, to deliver me, Yahweh, to my help!	Yahweh my God, please act quickly to rescue me!

ULT Hurry, God, to deliver me, Yahweh, to my help
UST Yahweh my God, please act quickly to rescue me
(אֱלֹהִים לְהַצִּילֵנִי יְהוָה לְעֶזְרָתִי חוּשָׁה)

These two phrases Hurry, God, to deliver me and Yahweh, to my help mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Hurry, Yahweh God, to deliver me and help me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Hurry, God, to deliver me
UST my God, please act quickly to rescue me
(אֱלֹהִים לְהַצִּילֵנִי & חוּשָׁה)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please hurry, God, to deliver me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Yahweh, to my help
UST Yahweh & to rescue me
(יְהוָה לְעֶזְרָתִי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, hurry to my help]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT to my help
> UST to rescue me
> (לְעֶזְרָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to help me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	my God
to deliver me	to rescue me
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 70:2

ULT	UST
Let the ones seeking my life have shame and have confusion; let the ones delighting in my harm be turned back and disgraced.	Some people are trying to kill me. Embarrass them by making them fail to do that. Some people would be happy to harm me. Humiliate them by making them abandon that plan.

ULT Let the ones seeking my life have shame and have confusion; let the ones delighting in my harm be turned back and disgraced
UST Some people are trying to kill me. Embarrass them by making them fail to do that. Some people would be happy to harm me. Humiliate them by making them abandon that plan
(יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ וְיִחְפְּרוּ֙ מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י נַפְשִׁ֔י יִסֹּ֖גוּ אָח֑וֹר וְיִכָּלְמ֖וּ חֲפֵצֵ֣י רָעָתִֽי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Let all who want to harm me be completely defeated and put to shame]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Let the ones seeking my life have shame and have confusion
UST Some people are trying to kill me. Embarrass them by making them fail to do that (יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ וְיִחְפְּרוּ֙ מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י נַפְשִׁ֔י)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of shame and confusion, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [Let the ones trying to kill me be ashamed and be confused]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Let the ones seeking my life have shame
UST Some people are trying to kill me. Embarrass them by making them fail to do that (יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ & מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י נַפְשִׁ֔י)

By using Let in each of the phrases in this verse, the psalmist is expressing what he desires or prays will happen. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants to happen. Alternate translation: [I desire that the ones seeking my life have shame]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT the ones seeking my life
UST Some people are trying to kill me
(מְבַקְשֵׁי נַפְשִׁי)

David is using seeking my life as a common expression of the culture to mean “trying to kill me.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the ones trying to kill me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT let the ones delighting in my harm be turned back and disgraced
UST Some people would be happy to harm me. Humiliate them by making them abandon that plan
(יִסֹּגוּ אָחוֹר וְיִכָּלְמוּ חֲפֵצֵי רָעָתִי)

The expression be turned back and disgraced has passive verbal forms. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [and God, please drive back and disgrace the ones delighting in my harm]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT let the ones delighting in my harm be turned back and disgraced
UST Some people would be happy to harm me. Humiliate them by making them abandon that plan
(יִסֹּגוּ אָחוֹר וְיִכָּלְמוּ חֲפֵצֵי רָעָתִי)

Here David is speaking of thwarting the enemies’ plans as if they were walking on a path and then could be blocked or turned back. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [let the ones delighting in my harm by thwarted in their plan and disgraced]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in my harm
UST to harm me
(רָעָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of harm, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in harming me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the ones seeking	Some people are trying
Let & have shame	Embarrass them by making them fail to do that the ones delighting	Some people would be happy
in my harm	to harm me
and disgraced	Humiliate them

Psalms 70:3

ULT	UST
Let them turn back on account of their shame, the ones saying, “Aha! Aha!”	Some people are saying that I am suffering because I am a bad person. Make them ashamed of saying that so that they stop saying it.

ULT Let them turn back
UST they stop saying it
(יָשׁוּבוּ)

The pronoun them refers to the people described in the previous verse as “the ones seeking my life” and “the ones delighting in my harm.” It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Let those people turn back]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Let them turn back
UST they stop saying it
(יָשׁוּבוּ)

Here David is speaking of stopping the enemies as if they were walking on a path and then were blocked or turned back. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let them stop]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT their shame
UST Make them ashamed of saying that (בָּשְׁתָּם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of shame, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [their being ashamed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Aha! Aha
UST that I am suffering because I am a bad person
(הֶאָח | הֶאָח)

David is using Aha! Aha! as a phrase that expresses a strong feeling: gloating and malicious delight at the misfortune of another person. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. If not, you could say what those people were feeling. Alternate translation: [We are glad he is suffering]

Support Reference: Exclamations

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let them turn back	they stop saying it their shame	Make them ashamed of saying that

Psalms 70:4

ULT	UST
Let all of the seekers of you rejoice and be glad in you, and let the lovers of your salvation say continually, “God is great!”	{Rescue me so that} everyone who is loyal to you will greatly celebrate. Then the people who depend on you to rescue them will keep saying, “God certainly is great!”

ULT Let all of the seekers of you rejoice and be glad in you, and let the lovers of your salvation say continually, “God is great UST Rescue me so that} everyone who is loyal to you will greatly celebrate. Then the people who depend on you to rescue them will keep saying, “God certainly is great (יָשִׂישׂוּ וְיִשְׂמְחוּ ׀ בְּךָ כָּל־מְבַקְשֶׁיךָ וְיֹאמְרוּ תָמִיד יִגְדַּל אֱלֹהִים אֹהֲבֵי יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Let all who seek you celebrate and continually praise your greatness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Let all of the seekers of you rejoice and be glad in you
UST Rescue me so that} everyone who is loyal to you will greatly celebrate (יָשִׂישׂוּ וְיִשְׂמְחוּ ׀ בְּךָ כָּל־מְבַקְשֶׁיךָ)

The terms rejoice and be glad mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Let all who seek you rejoice greatly]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT your salvation
UST to rescue them
(יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way you save them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT the lovers of your salvation
> UST Then the people who depend on you to rescue them
> (אֹהֲבֵי יְשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

David is using this possessive form to mean those who are grateful that God saved them. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [those who are grateful for your salvation]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT God is great
> UST God certainly is great > (יִגְדַּל אֱלֹהִים)

David is using God is great! as a phrase that expresses a strong feeling, praise and worship toward God. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [We praise God, for he is great]

Support Reference: Exclamations

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let & rejoice	will greatly celebrate
and be glad	will greatly celebrate the lovers of	Then the people who depend on you your salvation	to rescue them
God	God
is great	certainly is great
the seekers of you & in you	Rescue me so that & who is loyal to you

Psalms 70:5

ULT	UST
But I {am} poor and needy; God, hurry to me! You {are} my help and my deliverer; Yahweh, do not delay!	But right now I am in very difficult circumstances, so please act quickly to help me, God! Yahweh, you are the one who helps me and saves me, so please help me right away!

ULT But I {am} poor and needy
UST But right now I am in very difficult circumstances
(וַאֲנִי עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן)

David uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the praise of God's people described in the previous verse and his own current desperate situation. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Yet I am poor and needy]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT am} poor and needy
UST am in very difficult circumstances
(עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן)

The terms poor and needy mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [am very needy]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT God, hurry to me
UST so please act quickly to help me, God
(אֱלֹהִים חוּשָׁה־לִּי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [God, please hurry to help me]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT my help and my deliverer
> UST the one who helps me and saves me
> (עֶזְרִי וּמְפַלְטִי)

The terms help and deliverer mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [my sure deliverer]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT my help
> UST the one who helps me
> (עֶזְרִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my helper]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT Yahweh, do not delay
> UST Yahweh & so please help me right away
> (יְהוָה אַל־תְּאַחַר)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, please do not delay!]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
and my deliverer	and saves me
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 70:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Of David	David wrote this psalm

Psalms 71

Psalms 71 Introduction

Psalm 71 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 71 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It presents all of the basic elements of that type of psalm. (Some elements are repeated.) See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–4)
2. Statement of trust (5–7)
3. Petition (8–9)
4. Description of troubles (10–11)
5. Petition (12–13)
6. Statement of trust (14–17)
7. Petition (18–21)
8. Vow of praise (22–24)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Lifelong Dependence on God

The psalmist traces reliance on God from the womb (verse 6) through youth (verse 17) to old age (verses 9, 18), asking not to be abandoned as his strength fails.

God as Refuge and Rock

The psalmist calls God his rock, fortress, and refuge (verses 1–3, 7), using images of physical shelter to express trust in divine protection.

Psalms 71:1

ULT	UST
In you, Yahweh, I take refuge; let me not ever have shame.	You, Yahweh, are the one who keeps me safe. May it always be clear that I was right to trust you.

ULT I take refuge
UST are the one who keeps me safe
(חָסִ֣יתִי)

David is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a safe place where David could take refuge. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [I find safety]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT let me not ever have shame
UST May it always be clear that I was right to trust you (אַל־אֵבוֹשָׁה לְעוֹלָם)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please never let me have shame]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
I take refuge	are the one who keeps me safe
let me & have shame	May it & be clear that I was right to trust you

Psalms 71:2

ULT	UST
In your righteousness, deliver me and rescue me; incline your ear to me and save me.	Because you always do what is right, take action to help me. Consider my situation and save me!

ULT In your righteousness
UST Because you always do what is right
(בְּצִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Because you act righteously]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT deliver me and rescue me
UST take action to help me
(תַּצִּילֵנִי וּתְפַלְּטֵנִי)

These are imperatives, but they communicate a polite request rather than a command. If the imperatives do not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please deliver me and rescue me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT deliver me and rescue me
UST take action to help me
(תַּצִּילֵנִי וּתְפַלְּטֵנִי)

The terms deliver and rescue mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [completely deliver me]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT incline your ear to me and save me
UST Consider my situation and save me
(הַטֵּה־אֵלַי אָזְנְךָ וְהוֹשִׁיעֵנִי)

These are imperatives, but they communicate a polite request rather than a command. If the imperatives do not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please incline your ear to me and save me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT incline your ear to me
> UST Consider my situation
> (הַטֵּה־אֵלַי אָזְנְךָ)

Here, incline your ear to me is a common expression that means “listen to me carefully.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [listen carefully to me]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
In your righteousness	Because you always do what is right deliver me	take action to help me
and rescue me	take action to help me
and save me	and save me

Psalms 71:3

ULT	UST
Be to me a rock of abode for coming continually; you command to save me, for you {are} my rock and my stronghold.	You declare that I will be safe, since you are the one who keeps me safe and protects me, so please be like a huge rock on top of which I can always go to be safe.

ULT Be to me a rock of abode for coming continually
UST so please be like a huge rock on top of which I can always go to be safe
(הֱיֵה לִי | לְצוּר מָעוֹן לָבוֹא תָּמִיד)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please be to me a rock of abode for coming continually]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Be to me a rock of abode
UST so please be like a huge rock on top of which I & to be safe
(הֱיֵה לִי | לְצוּר מָעוֹן)

David is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a rock where David could live in safety. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [Be to me like a rock where I can live safely]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT a rock of abode
UST like a huge rock on top of which & to be safe (לְצוּר מָעוֹן)

David is using this possessive form to mean “a rock upon which he could live.” It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [a safe place to dwell]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT for you {are} my rock and my stronghold
> UST since you are the one who keeps me safe and protects me
> (כִּי־סַלְעִי וּמְצוּדָתִי אָתָּה)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because you are my rock and my stronghold]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

> ULT my rock and my stronghold
> UST are the one who keeps me safe and protects me
> (סַלְעִי וּמְצוּדָתִי)

David is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a rock and stronghold that provided safety and protection. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [the one who protects me as would a rock and a stronghold]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to save me	that I will be safe
and my stronghold	and protects me

Psalms 71:4

ULT	UST
My God, rescue me from the hand of the wicked, from the palm of the one doing wrong and the one being cruel;	My God, please rescue me from what wicked people want to do to me. Rescue me from the power of violent, evil men.

ULT rescue me from the hand of the wicked
UST please rescue me from what wicked people want to do to me. Rescue me (פַּלְּטֵנִי מִיַּד רָשָׁע)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please rescue me from the hand of the wicked]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT from the hand of the wicked
UST from what wicked people want to do to me
(מִיַּד רָשָׁע)

Here hand represents power or control. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the power of the wicked]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from the hand of the wicked, from the palm of the one doing wrong and the one being cruel
UST from what wicked people want to do to me & from the power of violent, evil men
(מִיַּד רָשָׁע מִכַּף מְעַוֵּל וְחוֹמֵץ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [from the hand of the wicked, yes, from the palm of the one doing wrong and the one being cruel]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the wicked
UST wicked people
(רְשָׁעֵי)

David is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean wicked people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [people who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the palm of the one doing wrong
UST from the power of & evil
(מִכַּף מְעַוֵּל)

Here palm represents power or control. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the control of the one doing wrong]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My God	My God
rescue me	please rescue me & Rescue me
the wicked	wicked people
the one doing wrong	evil

Psalms 71:5

ULT	UST
for you {are} my hope, Lord Yahweh, my confidence from my youth.	Yahweh my Lord, you are the one whom I confidently expect to help me. I have trusted in you ever since I was young.

ULT for you {are} my hope
UST you are the one whom I confidently expect to help me
(כִּי־אַתָּה תִקְוָתִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [because you are my hope]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT are} my hope
UST are the one whom I confidently expect to help me
(תִקְוָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of hope, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are the one in whom I hope]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my confidence from my youth
UST I have trusted in you ever since I was young (מִבְטַחִי מִנְּעוּרָי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [you are my confidence from my youth]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT my confidence
UST I have trusted in you
(מִבְטַחִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of confidence, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one in whom I have been confident]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} my hope	are the one whom I confidently expect to help me
Lord Yahweh	Yahweh my Lord

Psalms 71:6

ULT	UST
I have supported myself on you from the womb; you were taking me from the belly of my mother. My praise {is} about you continually.	I have depended on you for my entire life; you even made sure that I was born safely, so I will always praise you.

ULT from the womb
UST for my entire life
(מִבֶּטֶן)

Here, from the womb is a common expression that means “from birth” or “since I was born.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from my birth]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT My praise {is} about you continually
UST so I will always praise you
(בְּךָ תְהִלָּתִי תָמִיד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praise, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I praise you continually]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the womb	for my entire life
My praise	so I will & praise

Psalms 71:7

ULT	UST
I have become like a wonder to many, but you {are} my refuge of strength.	It shocks many people to see me now, but you are my mighty protector.

ULT like a wonder
UST It shocks & to see me now
(כְּמוֹפֵת)

The point of this comparison is that just as a wonder causes amazement, so David causes amazement to many people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like something that amazes people] or [like something that is shocking]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT to many
UST many people
(לְרַבִּים)

David is using the adjective many as a noun to mean many people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [to a great number of people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT but you {are} my refuge of strength
UST but you are my mighty protector
(וְאַתָּה מַחֲסִי־עֹז)

David is using the possessive form to describe a refuge that is characterized by strength. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [but you are my strong refuge]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT are} my refuge of strength
UST are my mighty protector
(מַחֲסִי־עֹז)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are my strong refuge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} my refuge of	are my & protector
strength	mighty

Psalms 71:8

ULT	UST
Let my mouth be filled {with} your praise, all of the day {with} your splendor.	I praise you lavishly throughout the day for how glorious you are.

ULT Let my mouth be filled {with
UST I & lavishly
(יִמָּלֵא פִּי)

The expression Let my mouth be filled is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [May you fill my mouth with]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Let my mouth be filled {with
UST I & lavishly
(יִמָּלֵא פִּי)

Here, mouth represents speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Let what I say be filled with] or [Let my speech be filled with]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your praise
UST praise you
(תְּהִלָּתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praise, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [praising you] or [words that praise you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT all of the day {with} your splendor
UST throughout the day for how glorious you are (כָּל־הַיּוֹם תִּפְאַרְתֶּךָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You could supply these words from earlier in the sentence if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [let all of the day be filled with your splendor]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT with} your splendor
> UST for how glorious you are > (תִּפְאַרְתֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of splendor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with how splendid you are] or [with your splendid deeds]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your praise	praise you
with} your splendor	for how glorious you are

Psalms 71:9

ULT	UST
May you not cast me away in the time of old age; may you not forsake me when my strength fails.	Please keep helping me now that I have become an old man. Please help me even though I am not strong anymore.

ULT May you not cast me away in the time of old age; may you not forsake me when my strength fails
UST Please keep helping me now that I have become an old man. Please help me even though I am not strong anymore
(אַל־תַּשְׁלִיכֵנִי לְעֵת זִקְנָה כִּכְלוֹת כֹּחִי אַל־תַּעַזְבֵנִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [May you not cast me away and forsake me when I am old and my strength fails]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT May you not cast me away
UST Please keep helping me & Please help me
(אַל־תַּשְׁלִיכֵנִי)

David is speaking of God rejecting him as if God would cast him away like throwing away an unwanted object. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent metaphor from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May you not reject me] or [May you not abandon me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT may you not forsake me
UST Please help me
(אַל־תַּעַזְבֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please do not forsake me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT when my strength fails
> UST even though I am not strong anymore
> (כִּכְלוֹת כֹּחִי)

The word when introduces a clause that tells the time of the event in the previous clause. Use the form in your language for introducing a simultaneous time clause. Alternate translation: [at the time that my strength fails]

Support Reference: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship

> ULT when my strength fails
> UST even though I am not strong anymore
> (כִּכְלוֹת כֹּחִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when I am no longer strong] or [when I become weak]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the time of	now that old age	I have become an old man
may you & forsake me	Please help me

Psalms 71:10

ULT	UST
For my enemies have spoken against me, and the ones watching my life have consulted together,	My enemies are saying that they want to kill me, and they are planning together how to do that.

ULT For my enemies have spoken against me
UST My enemies are saying
(כִּי־אָמְרוּ אוֹיְבַי לִי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because my enemies have spoken against me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and the ones watching my life
UST that they want to kill me
(וְשֹׁמְרֵי נַפְשִׁי)

The phrase the ones watching my life refers to David's enemies. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and my enemies who are watching my life]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and the ones watching my life
UST that they want to kill me
(וְשֹׁמְרֵי נַפְשִׁי)

Here, the ones watching my life is a common expression that means "those who want to kill me." If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and those who want to kill me]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my enemies	enemies
and the ones watching	that they want have consulted	and they are planning & how to do that

Psalms 71:11

ULT	UST
saying, “God has forsaken him; pursue and seize him, for there is none delivering.”	They are saying, “No one will rescue him, since God is not helping him anymore, so we can pursue him and capture him.”

ULT saying, “God has forsaken him; pursue and seize him, for there is none delivering UST They are saying, “No one will rescue him, since God is not helping him anymore, so we can pursue him and capture him
(לֵאמֹר אֱלֹהִים עֲזָבוֹ רִדְפוּ וְתִפְשׂוּהוּ כִּי־אֵין מַצִּיל)

You can indicate this as an indirect quote if that is more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [saying that God has forsaken him and that they should pursue and seize him because there is none delivering]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT has forsaken him
UST is not helping him anymore
(עֲזָבוֹ)

Here, him refers to David, the psalmist of this psalm. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [David]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT for there is none delivering UST No one will rescue him, since (כִּי־אֵין מַצִּיל)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because there is none delivering]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
has forsaken him	is not helping him anymore
and seize him	and capture him
delivering	will rescue him

Psalms 71:12

ULT	UST
God, may you not be far from me; my God, hasten to my help.	My God, do not neglect me; hurry to help me!

ULT may you not be far from me; my God, hasten to my help
UST My God, do not neglect me; hurry to help me
(אַל־תִּרְחַק מִמֶּנִּי אֱלֹהַי לְעֶזְרָתִי חישה)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [may you not be far from me, but rather, my God, hasten to my help]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT may you not be far from me
UST do not neglect me & to
(אַל־תִּרְחַק מִמֶּנִּי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please do not be far from me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT may you not be far from me
UST do not neglect me & to
(אַל־תִּרְחַק מִמֶּנִּי)

David is speaking of God not helping him as if God were physically far from him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent metaphor from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [do not fail to help me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT hasten to my help
UST hurry & help me
(לְעֶזְרָתִי חישה)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please hasten to my help]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT to my help
> UST help me
> (לְעֶזְרָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to meet my need]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	My God
my God	My God

Psalms 71:13

ULT	UST
Let them shame and finish, the adversaries of my life; let them cover {with} reproach and disgrace, the ones seeking my harm.	Embarrass the people who want to kill me by making their plans fail. Yes, completely shame and disgrace those who want to harm me!

ULT Let them shame and finish, the adversaries of my life; let them cover {with} reproach and disgrace, the ones seeking my harm
UST Embarrass the people who want to kill me by making their plans fail. Yes, completely shame and disgrace those who want to harm me
(יֵבֹשׁוּ יִכְלוּ שֹׂטְנֵי נַפְשִׁי יֶעֱטוּ חֶרְפָּה וּכְלִמָּה מְבַקְשֵׁי רָעָתִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Let them shame and finish the adversaries of my life; indeed, let them cover with reproach and disgrace the ones seeking my harm]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Let them shame and finish, the adversaries of my life; let them cover {with} reproach
UST Embarrass the people who want to kill me by making their plans fail. Yes, completely shame
(יֵבֹשׁוּ יִכְלוּ שֹׂטְנֵי נַפְשִׁי יֶעֱטוּ חֶרְפָּה)

By using let in these phrases, the psalmist is expressing what he desires or prays will happen to his enemies. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I ask that they be put to shame and finished, the adversaries of my life; I ask that they be covered with reproach]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT Let them shame and finish
UST Embarrass & by making their plans fail
(יֵבֹשׁוּ יִכְלוּ)

The pronoun them refers to the adversaries themselves. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [May the adversaries themselves be put to shame and finish]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT let them cover {with} reproach and disgrace
UST Yes, completely shame and disgrace
(יַעֲטוּ חֶרְפָּה וּכְלִמָּה)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of reproach and disgrace, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [let them be reproached and disgraced]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with} reproach and disgrace
UST shame and disgrace
(חֶרְפָּה וּכְלִמָּה)

The terms reproach and disgrace mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [with shameful disgrace]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT the ones seeking my harm
UST those who want to harm me
(מְבַקְשֵׁי רָעָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of harm, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the ones seeking to harm me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let them shame	Embarrass
the adversaries of	the people who want with} reproach	shame
and disgrace	and disgrace
the ones seeking	those who want
my harm	to harm me

Psalms 71:14

ULT	UST
But I, I will hope continually, and I will add to all of your praise.	But as for me, I will always trust you, and I will praise you even more {now than I have in the past}.

ULT But I, I will hope
UST But as for me, I will & trust you
(וַאֲנִי & אְיַחֵל)

David is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I will hope already includes this meaning. He is doing that because he is contrasting his response with the fate of his enemies. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [But as for me, I will hope]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT your praise
UST I will praise you
(תְּהִלָּתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praise, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the ways I praise you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will hope	I will & trust you your praise	I will praise you

Psalms 71:15

ULT	UST
My mouth will recount your righteousness, all of the day, your salvation, for I do not know the numbers.	I will tell people how you have saved me because you are good. I will do that continually because there will always be more for me to say about this.

ULT My mouth
UST I (פִּי)

Here, My mouth represents David speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your righteousness
UST because you are good
(צִדְקָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how righteous you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT all of the day
UST I will do that continually
(כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

David is saying all of the day as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [continually]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT your salvation
UST how you have saved me
(תְּשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how you save]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your salvation
UST how you have saved me
(תְּשׁוּעָתֶֽךָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [I will recount your salvation]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT for I do not know the numbers
UST because there will always be more for me to say about this (כִּֽי לֹא יָדַ֥עְתִּי סְפֹרֽוֹת)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because I do not know the numbers]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will recount	will tell people
your righteousness	because you are good
your salvation	how you have saved me
I do & know	there will always be more for me to say about this

Psalms 71:16

ULT	UST
I will come in the forces of Lord Yahweh; I will remember your righteousness, yours alone.	Yahweh my Lord, you are the one who gives me great strength. I will recall {to others} how you do what is right in a way that no one else does.

ULT I will come in the forces of Lord Yahweh
UST Yahweh my Lord, you are the one who gives me great strength
(אָבוֹא בִּגְבֻרוֹת אֲדֹנָי יְהוִה)

David is using I will come in the forces of Lord Yahweh as a common expression of the culture to mean “I will act in the strength of Lord Yahweh.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will act in the strength of Lord Yahweh]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT your righteousness
UST how you do what is right
(צִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how righteous you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord Yahweh	Yahweh my Lord
your righteousness	how you do what is right

Psalms 71:17

ULT	UST
God, you have taught me from my youth, and to this I declare your wonderful doings.	God, you have taught me many things ever since I was young, and I still tell people today about the wonderful things you do.

ULT you have taught me
UST you have taught me many things
(לִמַּדְתַּנִי)

The implied information may be stated clearly. “taught me many things”

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
I declare	I & tell people

Psalms 71:18

ULT	UST
And also until old age and gray hair, God, do not forsake me, until I declare your arm to a generation, your might to everyone {who} will come.	God, please keep helping me now that I am old and my hair is gray. That way I will be able to tell my descendants how powerfully you have helped me.

ULT old age and gray hair
UST that I am old and my hair is gray
(זִקְנָה | וְשֵׂיבָה)

The phrase old age and gray hair expresses a single idea. The word gray hair tells more about old age. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [gray-haired old age]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

ULT God, do not forsake me
UST God, please keep helping me
(אֱלֹהִים אַל־תַּעַזְבֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please do not forsake me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT until I declare your arm to a generation
UST That way I will be able to tell my descendants how powerfully you have helped me (עַד־אַגִּיד זְרוֹעֲךָ לְדוֹר)

Here, until I declare your arm to a generation marks the purpose for David’s request. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that I may declare your arm to a generation]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT your arm to a generation, your might to everyone {who} will come
UST my descendants how powerfully you have helped me
(זְרוֹעֲךָ לְדוֹר לְכָל־יָבוֹא גְּבוּרָתֶךָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [your arm to a generation, that is, your might to everyone who will come]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT your arm
UST how powerfully you have helped me
(זְרוֹעֲךָ)

Here, arm represents power or strength. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your might to everyone {who} will come
UST my descendants how powerfully you have helped me
(לְכָל־יָבוֹא גְּבוּרָתֶךָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and I declare your might to everyone who will come]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT your might
UST how powerfully you have helped me
(גְּבוּרָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of might, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how mighty you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
old age	that I am old
God	God
do & forsake me	please keep helping me
I declare	I will be able to tell
to a generation	my descendants
your might	how powerfully you have helped me

Psalms 71:19

ULT	UST
For your righteousness, God, {is} to height, {you} who do great {things}; God, who {is} like you?	God, you do so many great things because you are good, it is as if they have piled up to the sky. There is no one else like you, God!

ULT For your righteousness, God, {is} to height
UST God & because you are good, it is as if they have piled up to the sky
(וְצִדְקָתְךָ֣ אֱלֹהִ֣ים עַד־מָר֑וֹם)

David is speaking of God's righteousness as if it were something that could reach up to a height. He means that God's righteousness is very great. Alternate translation: [Great is For your righteousness, God is very great]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT For your righteousness
UST because you are good
(וְצִדְקָתְךָ֣)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [How righteous you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT who {is} like you
UST There is no one else like you
(מִֽי כָמ֑וֹךָ)

David is using the question form to emphasize that no one is like God. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [there is no one like you.] or [no one is like you!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
For your righteousness	because you are good
God	God

Psalms 71:20

ULT	UST
{You} who have made me see many and evil troubles, may you return, may you revive me, and may you return, may you bring me up from the depths of the earth.	You have allowed me to experience many very difficult things, and it has seemed as if I was about to go to the place where dead people are, but now please give me a good life again.

ULT may you return, may you revive me, and may you return, may you bring me up from the depths of the earth
UST and it has seemed as if I was about to go to the place where dead people are, but now please give me a good life again
(תְּשׁוּב תחיינו וּמִתְּהֹמוֹת הָאָרֶץ תָּשׁוּב תַּעֲלֵנִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [please restore my life and bring me up from my troubles]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT may you return, may you revive me
UST but now please give me a good life again
(תְּשׁוּב תחיינו)

This is a request. Alternate translation: [please return and revive me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT may you return
UST again
(תְּשׁוּב)

David is using may you return as a common expression to mean “resume acting on my behalf.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [may you act on my behalf again]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT may you return, may you bring me up
UST but now please give me a good life again
(תְּשׁוּב תַּעֲלֵנִי)

This is a request. Alternate translation: [please return and bring me up] or [please return and restore me to life]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT and may you return, may you bring me up from the depths of the earth
> UST and it has seemed as if I was about to go to the place where dead people are, but now please give me a good life again
> (וּמִתְּהֹמוֹת הָאָרֶץ תָּשׁוּב תַּעֲלֵנִי)

David is speaking of extreme trouble or despair as if it were the depths of the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and may you return, may you restore me from the place of great trouble] or [and may you return, may you restore me from great despair]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and evil	very difficult things
troubles	very difficult things
may you revive me	but now please give me a good life

Psalms 71:21

ULT	UST
May you increase my greatness, and may you turn around, may you comfort me.	Please make me even greater than I was before, and comfort me rather than allow me to have difficult experiences.

ULT May you increase my greatness, and may you turn around, may you comfort me
UST Please make me even greater than I was before, and comfort me rather than allow me to have difficult experiences
(תָּרֵב | גְּדֻלָּתִי וְתִסֹּב תְּנַחֲמֵנִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Please increase my greatness and comfort me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT May you increase my greatness
UST Please make me even greater than I was before
(תָּרֵב | גְּדֻלָּתִי)

This is a request. Alternate translation: [Please increase my greatness]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT my greatness
UST greater
(גְּדֻלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of greatness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how great I am]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and may you turn around, may you comfort me
UST and comfort me rather than allow me to have difficult experiences (וְתִסֹּב תְּנַחֲמֵנִי)

This is a request. Alternate translation: [please turn around and comfort me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my greatness	greater

Psalms 71:22

ULT	UST
Also I, I will praise you with the instrument of the lute {for} your faithfulness, my God; Let me make music to you with the harp, Holy {One} of Israel.	When you do that, then I will play my lute and praise you, my God, for faithfully helping me. I will play my harp as I sing to praise you. You are the holy God whom we Israelites worship.

ULT Also I, I will praise you
UST When you do that, then I & and praise you
(גַּם־אֲנִי | אוֹדֶךָ)

The pronoun I appears twice for emphasis. David is emphasizing that he himself will praise God. Alternate translation: [I myself will praise you]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT for} your faithfulness
UST for faithfully helping me
(אֱמִתֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I will praise you with the instrument of the lute {for} your faithfulness, my God; Let me make music to you with the harp
UST will play my lute and praise you, my God, for faithfully helping me. I will play my harp as I sing to praise you (אוֹדְךָ֤ בִכְלֵי־נֵ֗בֶל אֱמִתְּךָ֣ אֱלֹהָ֑י אֲזַמְּרָ֥ה לְךָ֝ בְכִנּ֗וֹר)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [I will play music to praise you for your faithfulness, my God with stringed instruments]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Holy {One} of Israel
UST You are the holy God whom we Israelites worship
(קְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל)

David is using this possessive form to describe the holy God with whom the Israelites are in a covenant relationship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Holy God with whom we Israelites are in a covenant relationship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will praise you	and praise you
the lute	will play my lute
for} your faithfulness	for faithfully helping me
my God	my God
with the harp	my harp
Holy {One	You are the holy God whom & worship
of Israel	we Israelites

Psalms 71:23

ULT	UST
My lips will shout joyfully when I make music to you, and my soul, which you have redeemed.	I will shout joyfully while I sing. Because you will have rescued me, I will sing to you wholeheartedly.

ULT My lips
UST I
(שְׂפָתַי)

Here, lips represents speech or singing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and my soul, which you have redeemed
UST you will have rescued me & wholeheartedly
(וְנַפְשִׁי אֲשֶׁר פָּדִיתָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and my soul will shout joyfully, which you have redeemed]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and my soul
UST wholeheartedly
(וְנַפְשִׁי)

David is using soul to represent the whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [me]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and my soul	wholeheartedly
you have redeemed	you will have rescued me

Psalms 71:24

ULT	UST
Also my tongue will meditate {on} your righteousness all of the day, for they will shame, for they will confound the ones seeking my harm.	You will have defeated and disgraced the people who wanted to harm me, so throughout the day I will describe how you did what was right.

ULT my tongue
UST I
(לְשׁוֹנִי)

Here, tongue represents speech. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT on} your righteousness
UST how you did what was right
(צִדְקָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [on how righteous you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT all of the day
UST throughout the day
(כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

David is saying all of the day as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [continually] or [very often]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT for they will shame, for they will confound the ones seeking my harm
UST You will have defeated and disgraced the people who wanted to harm me, so (כִּי־בֹשׁוּ כִי־חָפְרוּ מְבַקְשֵׁי רָעָתִי)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because those who seek my harm will be shamed and confounded]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT they will shame, for they will confound the ones seeking my harm

UST You will have defeated and disgraced the people who wanted to harm me, so

(בֹּ֤שׁוּ כְ֖י־חָפְר֣וּ מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י רָעָ֑תִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [the ones seeking my harm will be thoroughly put to shame]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT they will shame, for they will confound

UST You will have defeated and disgraced & so

(בֹּ֤שׁוּ כְ֖י־חָפְר֣וּ)

The pronoun they refers to the people who seek to harm David (see verse 13). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [shame and disgrace will come upon]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my tongue	I
will meditate	will describe
on} your righteousness	how you did what was right
they will shame	and disgraced
the ones seeking	the people who wanted
my harm	to harm me

Psalms 72

Psalms 72 Introduction

Psalm 72 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 72 is a royal psalm that celebrates the occasion of a new king beginning his rule. It is a prayer for God to help the new Israelite king uphold justice and help needy people as his representative on earth. It also asks God to defeat the king's foreign enemies so that he can continue to rule. This type of royal psalm is a specific kind of psalm of supplication. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Prayer that the new king will uphold justice (1–7)
2. Prayer that the new king will rule a great area (8–11)
3. Prayer that the new king will help needy people (12–14)
4. Prayer that the new king will bring blessings and be blessed (14–17)

Verses 18–20 are not part of the original psalm. They are a doxology (an expression of praise to God) that the editors of the book of Psalms added to mark the end of Book Two of the psalms. See how you translated the similar doxology in 41:13.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

"Of Solomon"

The superscription of this psalm is "Of Solomon." This may mean that Solomon wrote this psalm. But it may also mean that someone else wrote this psalm in honor of Solomon. If so, one likely possibility is that David wrote it for the coronation of his son as the next king. We recommend that you translate the superscription in a way that allows for this possibility as well as for the possibility that Solomon was the author.

Psalms 72:1

ULT	UST
Of Solomon. God, give your judgments to the king and your righteousness to the son of the king.	A psalm of Solomon. O God, please enable the man who is now succeeding his father as king to judge cases rightly, as you would do.

ULT God, give your judgments to the king
UST O God, please enable the man & as king to judge cases rightly (אֱלֹהִים מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ לְמֶלֶךְ תֵּן)

The psalmist is using an imperative, but he is communicating a polite request to God rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [God, please give your judgments to the king]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT give your judgments to the king and your righteousness to the son of the king
UST please enable the man who is now succeeding his father as king to judge cases rightly, as you would do
(מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ לְמֶלֶךְ תֵּן וְצִדְקָתְךָ לְבֶן־מָלֶךְ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [give your just decisions to the king, yes, give your righteousness to the king’s son]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT your judgments
UST to judge cases rightly
(מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your ability to judge rightly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and your righteousness to the son of the king
UST who is now succeeding his father & as you would do (וְצִדְקָתְךָ לְבֶן־מָלֶךְ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and give your righteousness to the son of the king]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and your righteousness
UST as you would do
(וְצִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your righteous character]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the son of the king
UST who is now succeeding his father
(לְבֶן־מָלֶךְ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe a social relationship. The son of the king refers to the king's offspring. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the king's son]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Of Solomon	A psalm of Solomon
God	O God
your judgments	to judge cases rightly
to the king	the man & as king
and your righteousness	as you would do
the king	who is now succeeding his father

Psalms 72:2

ULT	UST
May he judge your people with righteousness and your poor with justice.	Enable him to judge the cases of Israelite people fairly, especially for people who are vulnerable.

ULT with righteousness
UST fairly
(בְּצֶדֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [righteously]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT May he judge your people with righteousness and your poor with justice
UST Enable him to judge the cases of Israelite people fairly, especially for people who are vulnerable
(יִדֹּ֣ין עַמְּךָ֣ בְצֶ֑דֶק וַעֲנִיֶּ֖יךָ בְּמִשְׁפָּֽט)

The psalmist is saying what he wants God to make happen. See the discussion in the introduction to Psalms about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I want the king to judge your people with righteousness and your poor with justice]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT and your poor
UST people who are vulnerable
(וַעֲנִיֶּ֖יךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [your poor people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT with justice
UST especially for (בְּמִשְׁפָּֽט)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of justice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [justly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May he judge	Enable him to judge
with righteousness	fairly
with justice	especially for

Psalms 72:3

ULT	UST
May the mountains bring peace to the people, and the hills, in righteousness.	May the people live rightly so that they will be prosperous as crops grow abundantly on the hillsides of the land.

ULT May the mountains bring peace to the people, and the hills, in righteousness
UST May the people live rightly so that they will be prosperous as crops grow abundantly on the hillsides of the land
(יִשְׂאוּ הָרִ֥ים שָׁלֹ֗ום לְעָ֫ם וּגְבָעֹ֥ות בִּצְדָקָֽה)

The psalmist is speaking of the mountains and the hills as if they were living things that could bring peace to the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May the land produce prosperity for the people, from the mountains to the hills, through righteousness]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT peace
UST so that they will be prosperous
(שָׁלֹ֗ום)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of peace, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [peaceful conditions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and the hills, in righteousness
UST May & live rightly & on the hillsides of the land
(וּגְבָעֹ֥ות בִּצְדָקָֽה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may the hills bring peace to the people, in righteousness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT in righteousness
UST May & live rightly
(בִּצְדָקָֽה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [righteously]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
peace	so that they will be prosperous
in righteousness	May & live rightly

Psalms 72:4

ULT	UST
May he judge the poor of the people; may he save the sons of the needy, and may he crush the oppressor.	Help the king to defend poor people and rescue needy people and defeat those who are oppressing them.

ULT the poor of the people
UST poor people
(עֲנִיֵּי־עָם)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the poor who are among the people. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [those among the people who are poor]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the poor of
UST poor
(עֲנִיֵּי)

The psalmist is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the poor people of]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the sons of the needy
UST needy people
(לִבְנֵי אֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using sons of as a common expression of the culture to indicate that a person has a certain characteristic. In this case, people have the characteristic of being needy. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [people who are in need]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT the needy
UST needy people
(אֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using the adjective needy as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [needy people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT the oppressor
> UST those who are oppressing them
> (עוֹשֵׁק)

The psalmist is using the adjective oppressor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the one who oppresses them]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May he judge	Help the king to defend may he save	and rescue

Psalms 72:5

ULT	UST
May they fear you with the sun and to the face of the moon, generation of generations.	May each successive generation of the people respect you. May they do that for as long as the sun and the moon are in the sky!

ULT May they fear you
UST respect you
(יִירָאוּךָ)

The pronoun they refers to the people. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [May the people fear you]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with the sun and to the face of the moon
UST May they do that for as long as the sun and the moon are in the sky
(עִם־שֶׁמֶשׁ וְלִפְנֵי יָרֵחַ)

The psalmist is using the two extremes of the sun and the moon together to mean all of time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as long as the sun and moon endure]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT and to the face of the moon
UST and the moon are in the sky
(וְלִפְנֵי יָרֵחַ)

Here, the face of the moon represents the presence and duration of the moon. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as long as the moon exists]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT generation of generations
UST May each successive generation of the people
(דֹּר דֹּרִים)

The expression generation of generations is an idiom that means “for all successive generations,” that is, “forever.” If your readers would not understand this, you could use an equivalent idiom or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [throughout all future generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May they fear you	respect you
generation	May each successive generation of the people of generations	May each successive generation of the people

Psalms 72:6

ULT	UST
May he come down like rain on mown grass, like showers, a drenching of the earth.	May this king make the nation prosperous, just as heavy rains soak the soil and enable more hay to grow after a first cutting.

ULT like rain on mown grass
UST just as heavy rains & and enable more hay to grow after a first cutting (כִּמְטַר עַל־גֵּז)

The point of this comparison is that just as rain nourishes mown grass and causes it to grow again, so the king's rule will nourish and refresh his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point of comparison explicit. Alternate translation: [like rain that falls on mown grass and refreshes it]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT like showers, a drenching of the earth
UST just as heavy rains soak the soil
(כִּרְבִיבִים זַרְזִיף אָרֶץ)

The point of this comparison is that just as showers drench and soak the earth, so the king's influence will thoroughly bless his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point of comparison explicit. Alternate translation: [like showers that drench the earth]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the earth	the soil

Psalms 72:7

ULT	UST
May the righteous flourish in his days, and abundance of peace until the moon {is} not.	May people who live rightly prosper during the time when he reigns, and may the nation be very prosperous for as long as the moon is in the sky.

ULT May the righteous flourish in his days
UST May people who live rightly prosper during the time when he reigns (יִפְרַח־בְּיָמָיו צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is speaking of the righteous as if they were plants that flourish and grow. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May the righteous prosper in his days]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the righteous
UST May people who live rightly
(צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the righteous person]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT in his days
UST during the time when he reigns
(בְּיָמָיו)

The pronoun his refers to the king. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [in the king's days]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in his days
UST during the time when he reigns
(בְּיָמָיו)

Here, his days represents the time period of the king's reign. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [during his reign]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT and abundance of peace
> UST and may the nation be very prosperous
> (וְרֹ֣ב שָׁלֽוֹם)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of abundance and peace, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [and experience very peaceful life]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the righteous	May people who live rightly in his days	during the time when he reigns of peace	and may the nation be & prosperous

Psalms 72:8

ULT	UST
May he rule from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth.	May he rule over all of the surrounding territory, right up to the shores of the seas. May his realm extend from the Euphrates River to the limits of the lands that people know.

ULT from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth
UST over all of the surrounding territory, right up to the shores of the seas. May his realm extend from the Euphrates River to the limits of the lands that people know
(מִיָּם עַד־יָם וּמִנָּהָר עַד־אַפְסֵי־אָרֶץ)

The psalmist is using two extremes of geography, from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth, together to mean everywhere. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [over the whole earth, from sea to sea and from the River to the farthest lands]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT May he rule from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth
UST May he rule over all of the surrounding territory, right up to the shores of the seas. May his realm extend from the Euphrates River to the limits of the lands that people know (וְיֵרְדְּ מִיָּם עַד־יָם וּמִנָּהָר עַד־אַפְסֵי־אָרֶץ)

The psalmist is saying how he wants the king to rule. See the discussion in the introduction to Psalms about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I want him to rule from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT the ends of the earth
UST the limits of the lands that people know
(אַפְסֵי־אָרֶץ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the farthest places on the earth. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the farthest places on earth]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May he rule	May he rule
and from the River	May his realm extend from the Euphrates River
the earth	the lands that people know

Psalms 72:9

ULT	UST
May desert-dwellers kneel to his face, and may his enemies lick the dust.	May the leaders of the desert tribes bow down in front of him {to acknowledge him as their ruler}, and may his enemies lie facedown on the ground {in submission to him}.

ULT May & kneel to his face
UST May & bow down in front of him {to acknowledge him as their ruler
(לְפָנָיו יִכְרְעוּ)

Here, his face represents his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [kneel before him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT lick the dust
UST may & lie facedown on the ground {in submission to him
(עָפָר יְלַחֵכוּ)

The expression lick the dust is an idiom that means to be completely defeated and humiliated. If your readers would not understand this, you could use an equivalent idiom or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [be completely defeated]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT May desert-dwellers kneel to his face, and may his enemies lick the dust
UST May the leaders of the desert tribes bow down in front of him {to acknowledge him as their ruler}, and may his enemies lie facedown on the ground {in submission to him
(לְפָנָיו יִכְרְעוּ צִיִּים וְאֹיְבָיו עָפָר יְלַחֵכוּ)

In both instances, the pronoun his refers to the king. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [May desert-dwellers kneel to the king's face, and may the king's enemies lick the dust]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
desert-dwellers	the leaders of the desert tribes
May & kneel	May & bow down & to acknowledge him as their ruler
and may his enemies	and & his enemies

Psalms 72:10

ULT	UST
May the kings of Tarshish and the coastlands return tribute; may the kings of Sheba and Seba bring near a gift.	May the kings who rule the land of Tarshish and other coastal areas pay tribute to him. May the king of Sheba and the king of Seba give him gifts.

ULT May the kings of Tarshish and the coastlands return tribute; may the kings of Sheba and Seba bring near a gift
UST May the kings who rule the land of Tarshish and other coastal areas pay tribute to him. May the king of Sheba and the king of Seba give him gifts
(מַלְכֵ֣י תַרְשִׁ֣ישׁ וְאִיִּ֗ים מִנְחָ֥ה יָשִׁ֑יבוּ מַלְכֵ֖י שְׁבָ֣א וּסְבָ֣א אֶשְׁכָּ֣ר יַקְרִֽיבוּ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [May kings from distant lands, from Tarshish to Sheba and Seba, bring tribute and gifts to him]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the kings of Tarshish
UST May the kings who rule the land of Tarshish
(מַלְכֵ֣י תַרְשִׁ֣ישׁ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the kings who rule in Tarshish. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the kings who rule in Tarshish]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the kings of Sheba and Seba
UST the king of Sheba and the king of Seba
(מַלְכֵ֖י שְׁבָ֣א וּסְבָ֣א)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the kings who rule in Sheba and Seba. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the kings who rule in Sheba and Seba]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and Seba
UST and the king of Seba
(וּסְבָ֣א)

The word Seba is the name of a region.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the kings of	May the kings who rule
Tarshish	the land of Tarshish
tribute	tribute
Sheba	Sheba

Psalms 72:11

ULT	UST
And may all kings bow down to him; may all nations serve him.	In fact, may all the kings in the world acknowledge him as their ruler, and may every nation obey him.

ULT And may all kings bow down to him; may all nations serve him
UST In fact, may all the kings in the world acknowledge him as their ruler, and may every nation obey him (וְיִשְׁתַּחֲווּ־לוֹ כָל־מְלָכִים כָּל־גּוֹיִם יַעַבְדוּהוּ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [And may all kings and nations submit to him and serve him]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT And may all kings bow down to him
UST In fact, may all the kings in the world acknowledge him as their ruler (וְיִשְׁתַּחֲווּ־לוֹ כָל־מְלָכִים)

The word And escalates the stated desire from the specific kings mentioned in the previous verse to all kings and all nations. Use a connector in your language that communicates this escalation. Alternate translation: [Indeed, may all kings bow down to him]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT all kings & all nations
UST all the kings in the world & and may every nation
(כָּל־מְלָכִים כָּל־גּוֹיִם)

The psalmist says all kings and all nations as a generalization to emphasize how widespread the king's dominion will be. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [kings everywhere … nations everywhere]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
kings	the kings
And may & bow down	In fact, may & acknowledge & as their ruler nations	nation
may & serve him	obey him

Psalms 72:12

ULT	UST
For may he deliver the needy crying out and the poor when no helper {is} to him.	May all these things happen because he rescues needy people when they cry out for help and he helps poor people who have no one else to help them.

ULT For may he deliver
UST May all these things happen because he rescues & he helps (כִּי־יַצִּיל)

The word For introduces the reason why the kings and nations of the preceding verses should honor the king. Use a connector in your language that communicates that what follows is a reason. Alternate translation: [May they do this because he delivers]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT the needy
UST needy people
(אֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using the adjective needy as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the needy person]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and the poor
UST and & poor people
(וְעָנִי)

The psalmist is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the poor person]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT when no helper {is} to him
UST who have no one else to help them
(וְאֵין־עֵזֶר לוֹ)

The pronoun him refers to the poor person. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [when no helper is available to that poor person]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
may he deliver	he rescues & he helps
crying out	when they cry out for help

Psalms 72:13

ULT	UST
May he have pity on the weak and the needy, and may he save the lives of the needy.	May he feel compassion for people who are weak and needy and save their lives.

ULT May he have pity on the weak and the needy, and may he save the lives of the needy
UST May he feel compassion for people who are weak and needy and save their lives
(יָחֹס עַל־דַּל וְאֶבְיוֹן וְנַפְשׁוֹת אֶבְיוֹנִים יוֹשִׁיעַ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [May he show compassion to weak and needy people by saving their lives]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the weak and the needy
UST people who are weak and needy
(דַּל וְאֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using the adjectives weak and needy as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [weak people and needy people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
may he save	and save

Psalms 72:14

ULT	UST
May he redeem their life from oppression and from violence, and may their blood be precious in his eyes.	May their lives be important to him so that he rescues them from people who are oppressing and harming them.

ULT May he redeem their life from oppression and from violence, and may their blood be precious in his eyes
UST May their lives be important to him so that he rescues them from people who are oppressing and harming them
(מִתָּוֶךְ וּמֵחָמָס יִגְאַל נַפְשָׁם וְיֵיקַר דָּמָם בְּעֵינָיו)

In this verse, the pronoun he refers to the kings, their refers twice to the needy, and the pronoun his refers to the king. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [May the king redeem the lives of the needy from oppression and from violence, and may the blood of the needy be precious in the king's eyes]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT their life
UST them
(נַפְשָׁם)

The psalmist is using the singular life to refer collectively to the lives of multiple people. If your language would not use a singular noun in this way, you could use the plural form. Alternate translation: [their lives]

Support Reference: Collective Nouns

ULT from oppression and from violence
UST from people who are oppressing and harming them
(מִתָּוֶךְ וּמֵחָמָס)

The words oppression and violence mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two words together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [from every kind of mistreatment]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT from oppression and from violence
UST from people who are oppressing and harming them
(מִתְּוֹךְ וּמֵחָמָס)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of oppression and violence, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [from those who oppress them and from those who harm them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT their blood
UST their lives
(דָּמָם)

Here, their blood represents their lives, especially the shedding of blood through violence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [their lives]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and may their blood be precious in his eyes
UST May their lives be important to him
(וְיִיקַר דָּמָם בְּעֵינָיו)

The expression precious in his eyes is an idiom that means he considers it to be very valuable. If your readers would not understand this, you could use an equivalent idiom or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and may their lives be valuable to him]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May he redeem	so that he rescues

Psalms 72:15

ULT	UST
May he live! And may one give to him from the gold of Sheba, and may one pray for him continually; may they bless him all of the day.	May this king live for a long time! May he receive much fine gold. May people always pray for him and ask God to bless him.

ULT from the gold of Sheba
UST much fine gold
(מִזְּהַ֥ב שְׁבָ֑א)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe gold that comes from Sheba. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from the gold that comes from Sheba]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT And may one give to him & and may one pray for him
UST May he receive & May people & pray for him
(וְיִתֶּן־לוֹ & וְיִתְפַּלֵּ֣ל בַּעֲדֹ֑ו)

The word one refers to people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [may people give to him … may people pray for him]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT may they bless him
UST and ask God to bless him
(יְבָרֲכֻ֣הוּ)

The pronoun they refers to people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [may people bless him]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and may one pray for him continually; may they bless him all of the day
UST May people always pray for him and ask God to bless him
(וְיִתְפַּלֵּ֣ל בַּעֲדֹ֑ו תָּמִ֥יד כָּל־הַ֝יֹּ֗ום יְבָרֲכֻ֣הוּ)

The psalmist says continually and all of the day as generalizations to emphasize how frequently people should pray for and bless the king. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [and may one pray for him continuously; may they bless him constantly]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the gold of	much & gold
Sheba	fine
and may one pray	May people & pray
may they bless him	and ask God to bless him

Psalms 72:16

ULT	UST
May there be an abundance of grain in the land; on the head of the mountains may its fruit sway like Lebanon, and may they flourish from the city like the grass of the earth.	May the fields produce such abundant crops that grain grows all the way up to the tops of the hills and sways in the wind like the branches of the trees in Lebanon. May the cities in Israel be as full of people as the fields are full of grass.

ULT an abundance of grain
UST such abundant crops
(פְּסַת־בַּר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of abundance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [abundant grain]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT on the head of the mountains
UST all the way up to the tops of the hills
(בְּרֹאשׁ הָרִים)

Here, the head of the mountains represents the tops or summits of the mountains. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [on the tops of the mountains]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT may its fruit sway like Lebanon
UST that grain grows & and sways in the wind like the branches of the trees in Lebanon
(יִרְעַשׁ כַּלְּבָנוֹן פִּרְיוֹ)

The point of this comparison is that the fruit of the grain will sway abundantly, just as the trees of Lebanon sway in the wind. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point of comparison explicit. Alternate translation: [may its fruit sway like the trees of Lebanon sway]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT its fruit
UST that grain grows
(פִּרְיֹו)

The pronoun its refers to the grain in the land. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [the grain's fruit]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and may they flourish from the city like the grass of the earth
UST May the cities in Israel be as full of people as the fields are full of grass
(וְיָצִיצוּ מֵעִיר כְּעֵשֶׂב הָאָרֶץ)

The point of this comparison is that just as grass grows abundantly on the earth, so the people will flourish and multiply in the cities. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point of comparison explicit. Alternate translation: [may the people of the city flourish as abundantly as does the grass of the earth]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and may they flourish from the city
UST May the cities in Israel be as full of people
(וְיָצִיצוּ מֵעִיר)

The pronoun they refers to the people. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [may the people flourish from the city]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
grain	crops
in the land	May the fields produce its fruit	that grain grows
like Lebanon	like the branches of the trees in Lebanon

Psalms 72:17

ULT	UST
May his name be forever; may his name continue to the face of the sun. And may they be blessed by him; may all of the nations acclaim him.	May people always remember what a good king this was, for as long as the sun is in the sky! May he do good things for many people, and may the people of other nations say that he has a good life.

ULT to the face of the sun
UST for as long as the sun is in the sky
(לִפְנֵי־שָׁמֶשׁ)

Here, the face of the sun represents the presence and duration of the sun. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as long as the sun shines]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT And may they be blessed by him
UST May he do good things for many people
(וְיִתְבָּרֲכוּ בוֹ)

The pronoun they refers to the nations, and the pronoun him refers to the king. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could state that explicitly. Alternate translation: [may the nations be blessed by the king]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT And may they be blessed by him
UST May he do good things for many people
(וְיִתְבָּרֲכוּ בוֹ)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [may he bless them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT And may they be blessed by him
UST May he do good things for many people
(וְיִתְבָּרֲכוּ בוֹ)

Here, blessed means to have good things done for someone. The psalmist is expressing a desire for the king to bring good things to all people. Alternate translation: [may he do good things for them]

Support Reference: Blessings

ULT all of the nations
UST and may the people of other nations
(כָּל־גּוֹיִם)

The psalmist says all of the nations as a generalization to emphasize how widespread the king's fame will be. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [nations everywhere]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT May his name be forever; may his name continue to the face of the sun
UST May people always remember what a good king this was, for as long as the sun is in the sky
(יְהִי שְׁמוֹ לְעוֹלָם לִפְנֵי־שֶׁמֶשׁ ינין שְׁמוֹ)

Here, his name represents the king's reputation and fame. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May his reputation last forever; may his fame continue to the face of the sun]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forever	always
And may they be blessed	May & do good things for many people
the nations	and may the people of & nations

Psalms 72:18

ULT	UST
Blessed {be} Yahweh God, the God of Israel, the one doing wonders, he alone.	Praise Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship; he does amazing things that no one else can do.

ULT Blessed {be} Yahweh God
UST Praise Yahweh, the God whom & worship
(בָּרוּךְ | יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise Yahweh. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I bless Yahweh] or [Let us all praise Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the God of Israel
UST the God whom we Israelites worship
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form to indicate that the Israelites possess or control God. Rather, he is using it to indicate that Yahweh is the God whom Israel worships. Alternate translation: [who is the God whom Israel worships]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT he alone
UST that no one else can do
(לְבַדּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he alone can do]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed	Praise
be} Yahweh God	Yahweh, the God whom & worship
God	the God whom & worship
the God of	the God whom & worship
Israel	we Israelites
wonders	amazing things

Psalms 72:19

ULT	UST
And blessed {be} the name of his glory forever, and let all of the earth be filled {with} his glory. Amen and amen.	Praise him forever for how glorious he is! May his glory fill the whole world! Amen! Yes, amen!

ULT And blessed {be} the name of his glory forever
UST Praise him forever for how glorious he is (וּבָרוּךְ ׀ שֵׁם כְּבוֹדוֹ לְעוֹלָם)

Here, blessed be expresses praise to God. This is a doxology in which the psalmist declares that God's glorious name is worthy of praise forever. If your readers would not understand this blessing formula, you could express this in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [may people praise his glorious name forever]

Support Reference: Blessings

ULT the name of his glory
UST him & for how glorious he is
(שֵׁם כְּבוֹדוֹ)

Here, the name represents God's reputation and character. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his glorious reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the name of his glory
UST him & for how glorious he is
(שֵׁם כְּבוֹדוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his glorious name]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and let all of the earth be filled {with} his glory
UST May his glory fill the whole world
(וְיִמָּלֵא כְבוֹדוֹ אֶת־כֹּל הָאָרֶץ)

The expression be filled is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and let his glory fill all of the earth]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT Amen and amen
> UST Amen! Yes, amen
> (אָמֵן ׀ וְאָמֵן)

The psalmist is repeating the word Amen for emphasis as a way of concluding Book 2 of Psalms (42–72). If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [May it certainly be so]

Support Reference: Poetry

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And blessed {be	Praise
his glory	glorious
forever	forever
Amen	Amen
and amen	Yes, amen

Psalms 72:20

ULT	UST
The prayers of David son of Jesse are finished.	This is the end of the prayers that David, the son of Jesse, wrote.

ULT son of Jesse
UST the son of Jesse
(בֶּן־יִשָׁי)

This possessive form describes a social relationship, for son of Jesse identifies David as the offspring of Jesse. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [, Jesse's son,]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT are finished
UST This is the end of (כָּלוּ)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [end here]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The prayers of	the prayers that & wrote
David	David
of Jesse	Jesse

Psalms 73

Psalms 73 Introduction

Psalm 73 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 73 is a wisdom psalm. It explains the problem of wicked people who seem to prosper. (See: wise, wisdom and evil, wicked, wickedness, unpleasant)

Structure and Formatting

1. Affirmation that God is good to the righteous (1)
2. The psalmist recounts his experience of envy and confusion as he observes the prosperity of the wicked (2–16)
3. The psalmist goes to the sanctuary of God and understands what will happen to wicked people in the future (17–24)
4. The psalmist renews his commitment to God and to righteous living (25–26)
5. The psalmist’s final thoughts (27–28)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Evil people

Sometimes it seems that wicked people have no problems and that they live an easy and problem free life. Despite this, wicked people will eventually perish (18–19 and 27). In contrast, righteous people have the benefit of always having God’s presence with them during their life on earth (23), God guiding them during their life on earth (24a), and being with God in “glory” after they die. (See: righteous, righteousness, unrighteous, unrighteousness, upright, uprightness)

Psalms by Asaph

There are twelve psalms attributed to Asaph; the first one is Psalm 50, which is in Book Two, and the other eleven (Psalms 73–83) are at the beginning of Book Three.

Psalms 73:1

ULT	UST
A psalm of Asaph Surely God is good to Israel, to those with a pure heart.	Asaph wrote this psalm. God truly is good to us Israelite people, to those who want to do what pleases God.

ULT Surely
UST truly
(אַךְ)

The psalmist uses the word Surely to emphasize the truth of what follows. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation or use a natural form in your language for expressing this emphasis. Alternate translation: [Certainly]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT to Israel
UST to us Israelite people
(לְיִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Israel represents the Israelite people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [to the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to those with a pure heart
UST to those who want to do what pleases God
(לְבָרֵי לֵבָב)

Here the psalmist speaks of the heart of righteous people as pure and not blemished by wrong and sinful thoughts in contrast to having a heart that is impure because of sinful thoughts and motives and therefore morally dirty. What the psalmist means by pure here is that the person's heart is "morally pure." If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly or use an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [to the ones who think about and want what is pleasing to God] or [to those with a morally pure heart]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT to those with a pure heart
> UST to those who want to do what pleases God
> (לִבְרֵי לֵבָב)

In Jewish culture people considered the heart to be the center of a persons thoughts and feelings and here, the heart represents the intentions, thoughts and desires of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to those who think about and want what is pure] or [to those with a pure mind] or [to those with pure thoughts]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	wrote this psalm
of Asaph	Asaph
God is	God
good	is good
to Israel	to us Israelite people
to those with a pure	to those who want to do what pleases God

Psalms 73:2

ULT	UST
But as for me, my feet almost slipped; my steps almost were caused to slide out {from under me}	As for me, I almost stopped trusting in God; I was almost guilty of committing a great sin against him

ULT my feet almost slipped; my steps almost were caused to slide out {from under me
UST I almost stopped trusting in God; I was almost guilty of committing a great sin against him
(כְּמְעַט נטוי רַגְלָי כְּאַיִן שפכה אֲשֻׁרָי)

Here, my feet and my steps represent the Psalmist himself and the phrases slipped and slide out refer to abandoning doing what pleases God and instead choosing to sin. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with an equivalent expression or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I was tempted to stop obeying God. It was as if my feet almost slipped and as if my steps were almost caused to slide out from under me] or [I almost stopped trusting in God; I was almost guilty of sinning against him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my feet almost slipped; my steps almost were caused to slide out {from under me
UST I almost stopped trusting in God; I was almost guilty of committing a great sin against him
(כְּמְעַט נטוי רַגְלָי כְּאַיִן שפכה אֲשֻׁרָי)

The phrases my feet almost slipped and my steps almost were caused to slide out from under me mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [my feet almost slipped] or [my feet almost slid out from under me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

> ULT my steps almost were caused to slide out {from under me
> UST I was almost guilty of committing a great sin against him
> (כְּאַיִן שפכה אֲשֻׁרָי)

The expression my steps almost were caused to slide out is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you must state who did the action, the following verse implies that the Psalmist caused his own steps to almost slide out from under him when he looked at the “prosperity of the wicked” and did not also immediately go into “God’s sanctuary” so that he could “understand” the final “fate” of the wicked (see Psalm 73:17). Alternate translation: [I almost caused my steps to slide out from under me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

Psalms 73:3

ULT	UST
because I was envious of the arrogant {when} I saw the prosperity of the wicked.	because I envied those who proudly acted as if they did not need God, when I realized that they prospered even though they were wicked.

ULT because
UST because
(כִּי)

Here the word because indicates that what follows it in this verse is the reason for what precedes it in 73:2. Use a natural form for indicating this relationship. Alternate translation: [for]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT I was envious of the arrogant {when} I saw the prosperity of the wicked
UST I envied those who proudly acted as if they did not need God, when I realized that they prospered even though they were wicked
(קִנֵּאתִי בְּהוֹלְלִים שְׁלוֹם רְשָׁעִים אֶרְאֶה)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [when I saw the prosperity of the wicked, I was envious of the arrogant]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT of the arrogant {when} I saw the prosperity of the wicked
UST those who proudly acted as if they did not need God, when I realized that they prospered even though they were wicked
(בְּהוֹלְלִים שְׁלוֹם רְשָׁעִים אֶרְאֶה)

The Psalmist is using the adjectives arrogant and wicked as nouns in order to describe certain people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate these words with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [of arrogant people when I saw the prosperity of wicked people] or [of the people who are arrogant when I saw the prosperity of the people who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT when} I saw the prosperity of the wicked
UST when I realized that they prospered even though they were wicked (שְׁלֹום רְשָׁעִים אֵרָאָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prosperity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when I saw how prosperous the wicked were]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the arrogant	those who proudly acted as if they did not need God
the prosperity	they prospered
of the wicked	even though they were wicked

Psalms 73:4

ULT	UST
For {they have} no ropes until their death, and their belly is fat.	Those people do not suffer; they always have plenty of food to eat.

ULT ropes
UST suffer
(חַרְצֻבּוֹת)

The word the ULT translates as ropes refers to ropes or bonds that constrain a person. Here the psalmist is speaking of struggles or pains as if they were ropes or “bonds.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with an equivalent expression, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [struggles] or [emotional pains] or [pains]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT until their death
UST suffer
(לְמוֹתָם)

The word the ULT translates as until their death could refer to: (1) the time before the death of wicked people in which case you can use the ULT as a model, or (2) the time at which wicked people die. Alternate translation: [in their death] or [at their death]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

Psalms 73:5

ULT	UST
They {are} free from the trouble of man, and with {the rest of} man they are not afflicted.	They do not experience the difficult things that other people do; they do not experience catastrophes and sicknesses like other people.

ULT They {are} free from the trouble of man
UST They do not experience the difficult things that other people do
(בַּעֲמַל אֱנוֹשׁ אֵינֶמּוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of trouble, you could express the same idea with a verb or in some other way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [They do not have to experience difficult things like the rest of man] or [They do not suffer the way other men do]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT man, and with {the rest of} man they are not afflicted
UST that other people do; they do not experience catastrophes and sicknesses like other people
(אֱנוֹשׁ & וְעִם־אָדָם לֹא יְנֻגָּעוּ)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people, and with people they are not afflicted] or [other people, and they are not afflicted like everyone else]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and with {the rest of} man they are not afflicted
UST they do not experience catastrophes and sicknesses like other people
(וְעִם־אָדָם לֹא יְנֻגָּעוּ)

The expression they are not afflicted is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you must state who did the action, the context implies that God did it. Alternate translation: [and God does not afflict them like he does the rest of man] or [and God does not afflict them like he does everyone else]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They {are} free from	They do not experience
the trouble of	the difficult things
they are & afflicted	they do & experience catastrophes and sicknesses

Psalms 73:6

ULT	UST
Therefore pride is a necklace for them; a garment of violence covers them.	So they are proud and violent. Their being prideful is like a necklace that they show off to others, and they openly display their violent actions like people openly display the clothes they wear.

ULT Therefore
UST So
(לָכֵן)

Here, the word Therefore introduces the result of 73:4–5. You can use a natural word or phrase in your language to express this relationship. Alternate translation: [As a result]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT pride is a necklace for them
UST they are proud & Their being prideful is like a necklace that they show off to others
(עֲנָקָתָמוֹ גַּאֲוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of pride as if it were a necklace that wicked people wear around their neck. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparison, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they wear pride like a necklace] or [pride is like a necklace which they flaunt]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT pride is a necklace for them
UST they are proud & Their being prideful is like a necklace that they show off to others
(עֲנָקָתָמוֹ גַּאֲוָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of pride, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they act pridefully for all to see, like someone who wears a necklace that they want everyone to see] or [they unashamedly act proud in front of everyone, like a person wearing a necklace that they want everyone to see]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT a necklace for them
> UST they are & is like a necklace that they show off to others
> (עֲנָקָתָמוֹ)

A necklace is a type of jewelry worn around the neck in order to adorn the body and make a person look more attractive. If your readers would not be familiar with necklaces, you could use the name of something similar that your readers would recognize, or you could use a more general term. Alternately, if you are using footnotes, you could make a footnote explaining what a necklace is. Alternate translation: [a neck ornament for them]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT a garment of violence covers them
> UST and violent & and they openly display their violent actions like people openly display the clothes they wear
> (יַעֲטָף־שִׁית חָמָס לָמוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of violence as it were a garment that people wear. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a comparable expression, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [violence covers them like a garment] or [violence covers them like clothing]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT a garment of violence covers them
> UST and violent & and they openly display their violent actions like people openly display the clothes they wear
> (יַעֲטָף־שִׁית חָמָס לָמוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of violence, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they are proud of their violent actions and display them openly, as a person who wears a garment for all to see]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
pride is	proud & Their being prideful

Psalms 73:7

ULT	UST
Their eyes bulge out from fatness; the imaginations of {their} heart overflow.	Their eyes protrude because their faces are fat, and they are always thinking about more evil things to do.

ULT the imaginations of {their} heart overflow
UST are & and they are always thinking about more evil things to do
(עָֽבְרוּ֙ מַשְׂכִּ֣ית לֵ֔בָב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of imaginations, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they are constantly imagining evil things in their hearts] or [they are constantly thinking about evil things in their hearts]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the imaginations of {their} heart overflow
UST are & and they are always thinking about more evil things to do
(עָֽבְרוּ֙ מַשְׂכִּ֣ית לֵ֔בָב)

Here the psalmist speaks of the heart of a wicked person as if it were a container that could overflow with evil imaginations (thoughts). If it would be helpful to your readers, you could express the meaning using an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [their heart is constantly thinking of evil things to do] or [their heart is constantly imagining evil thoughts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the imaginations of {their} heart overflow
UST are & and they are always thinking about more evil things to do
(עָֽבְרוּ֙ מַשְׂכִּ֣ית לֵ֔בָב)

The psalmist is describing the mind of wicked people by association with their heart, which is where a person's thoughts and intentions were viewed as coming from in Jewish culture. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [they constantly think of evil things to do] or [the imaginations of their inner being overflow]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 73:8

ULT	UST
They mock and speak with evil of oppression; they speak from an elevated place.	They scoff at other people, and wickedly talk about doing unjust things to them; they speak pridefully.

ULT and speak with evil of oppression
UST and wickedly talk about doing unjust things to them
(וִידַבְּרוּ בְרָע עֹשֶׁק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the ideas of evil and oppression, you could express the same ideas in some other way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and wickedly speak about oppressing people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they speak from an elevated place
UST they speak pridefully
(מִמָּרוֹם יְדַבֵּרוּ)

The phrase they speak from an elevated place means “they speak arrogantly.” If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly. Alternate translation: [they speak arrogantly]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They mock	They scoff at other people
with evil of	and wickedly

Psalms 73:9

ULT	UST
They set their mouth in the heavens, and their tongue goes through the earth.	They exalt themselves and talk as if they are God in heaven, and they go about the earth talking boastfully.

ULT They set their mouth in the heavens, and their tongue goes through the earth
UST They exalt themselves and talk as if they are God in heaven, and they go about the earth talking boastfully
(שַׁתּוּ בַשָּׁמַיִם פִּיהֶם וּלְשׁוֹנָם תִּהֲלַךְ בָּאָרֶץ)

Here, mouth and tongue represents "speech." If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [They talk as if they are God who is in the heavens, and their speech goes through the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT They set their mouth in the heavens
UST They exalt themselves and talk as if they are God in heaven
(שַׁתּוּ בַשָּׁמַיִם פִּיהֶם)

The word translated as in the heavens could be translated as: (1) in the heavens as modeled by the ULT in which case the psalmist is describing the role or authority of God by association with the heavens, Alternate translation: [They talk with their mouth as if they are God who is in heaven] or [They talk as if they are in the position of God] or (2) "against the heavens" in which case the psalmist is describing God by association with the heavens. Alternate translation: [They set their mouth against the heavens] or [They set their mouth against God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and their tongue goes through the earth
UST and they go about the earth talking boastfully
(וּלְשׁוֹנָם תִּהֲלַךְ בָּאָרֶץ)

The psalmist is speaking of the tongue (words or speech) of wicked people as if it could go through the earth. What he means is that these wicked people go about talking wickedly (and bragging) as they live their daily lives on earth and proudly act as if they are not accountable to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they constantly talk wickedly as if they rule the earth] or [and they walk about talking wickedly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the heavens	God in heaven
and their tongue	and & talking boastfully
through the earth	the earth

Psalms 73:10

ULT	UST
Therefore his people turn here, and waters of a full {cup} are drained by them.	The result is that people pay attention to them and listen to everything they say.

ULT Therefore
UST The result is that
(לָכֵן)

The term translated as Therefore indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [This is why]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT his people turn here
UST people pay attention to them and listen to (יָשִׁיב עַמּוֹ הֵלֵּם)

This could mean: (1) “God’s people love the wicked people” or (2) “the wicked people return to this place”

ULT and waters of a full {cup} are drained by them
UST and listen to everything they say
(וּמֵי מָלֵא יִמָּצוּ לָמוֹ)

The expression are drained is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you must state who did the action, the context implies that people did it. Alternate translation: [and they drain the waters of a full cup]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and waters of a full {cup} are drained by them
UST and listen to everything they say
(וּמֵי מָלֵא יִמָּצוּ לָמוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of listening to words as if they were drinking water out of a cup. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a simile or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and believe all that they say]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and waters of a full {cup} are drained by them
> UST and listen to everything they say
> (וּמֵי מָלֵא יִמָּצוּ לָמוֹ)

This could mean: (1) “God’s people listen gladly to the words of the wicked people” or (2) “the wicked people have plenty of food to eat and wine to drink”

Psalms 73:11

ULT	UST
And they say, “How does God know? And is there knowledge in the Most High?”	Wicked people say to themselves, “God certainly does not care what we do; the Most High certainly will not judge us for what we do!”

ULT How does God know? And is there knowledge in the Most High
UST God certainly does not care what we do; the Most High certainly will not judge us for what we do
(אֵיכָה יָדָע־אֵל וְיֵשׁ דֵּעָה בָּעֶלְיוֹן)

The phrases How does God know and is there knowledge in the Most High mean basically the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and it would be good to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation rather than combining them. However, if it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases into one. Alternate translation: [How could God know?] or [Does God have knowledge?]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT And they say
UST Wicked people say to themselves
(וְאָמְרוּ)

Here the word they could refer to: (1) wicked people. Alternate translation: [And those who are wicked say] or [And the wicked say] or (2) people who are righteous and obey God. Alternate translation: [And righteous people say] or [And godly people say]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT How does God know? And is there knowledge in the Most High
UST God certainly does not care what we do; the Most High certainly will not judge us for what we do
(אֵיכָה יָדָע־אֵל וְיֵשׁ דֵּעָה בָּעֶלְיוֹן)

Here wicked people are not asking for information but are using the question form to express that they do not think God knows or cares about the evil things they do. If you would not use the question form for this purpose in your language, you could translate these questions as statements or exclamations and communicate the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [Surely God does not know what we are doing! Surely the Most High has no knowledge of it!] or [Surely God does not care about we are doing! Surely what we are doing does not matter to the Most High!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT How does God know? And is there knowledge in the Most High
> UST God certainly does not care what we do; the Most High certainly will not judge us for what we do
> (אֵיכָה יֵדָע־אֵל וְיֵשׁ דֵּעָה בְּעֶלְיוֹן)

This portion of this verse is a quotation of what the wicked people said or thought to themselves. In your translation, use a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
does & know	does & care what we do knowledge	judge us for what we do in the Most High	the Most High

Psalms 73:12

ULT	UST
Behold, these wicked; they are always at ease, they increase in wealth.	Look at how these wicked people live; their lives are so easy that they never have to worry about anything, and they are always becoming richer.

ULT Behold
UST Look at how
(הִנֵּה)

The psalmist is using the term Behold to focus his listeners' attention on what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [See]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT wicked
UST wicked people live
(רְשָׁעִים)

The Psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun in order to describe a group of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. See how you translated the phrase the wicked in 73:3. Alternate translation: [wicked ones]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT they are always at ease
UST their lives are so easy that they never have to worry about anything
(וְשַׁלְוֵי עוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of ease, you could express the same idea in some other way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they are always comfortable] or [they are always carefree]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they increase in wealth
UST and they are always becoming richer
(הִשְׁגּוּ־חָיִל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wealth, you could express the same idea in some other way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they become increasingly wealthy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wicked	wicked people live
in wealth	richer

Psalms 73:13

ULT	UST
Surely in vain I have kept my heart clean and washed my hands in innocence.	{When I saw this I thought that} certainly it is useless that I have thought about things that are pleasing to you and have not sinned.

ULT Surely
UST certainly
(אַךְ)

Here the psalmist uses the word Surely to emphasize his strong thoughts and feelings about the certainty of what he states in this verse. Use a natural form in your language for expressing this emphasis. Alternate translation: [Certainly]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT I have kept my heart clean
UST I have thought about things that are pleasing to you (זִכִּיתִי לְבָבִי)

The psalmist is describing his thoughts and intentions by association with his heart, which Jews viewed as the center of a person's thoughts and intentions. The expression I have kept my heart clean means he has intentionally kept his thoughts and intentions morally pure (free from sin). You may have an equivalent expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have kept my thoughts pure]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and washed my hands in innocence
UST and have not sinned
(וְאֶרְחַץ בְּנִקָּיוֹן כַּפָּי)

The psalmist is describing his actions by association with his hands, which he would use to do the actions. The psalmist is using the symbolic action of hand washing to declare his innocence. In that culture hand washing was a common practice that people did to publicly assert that they were innocent. (See Deuteronomy 21:6 and Matthew 27:24.) Here the psalmist is saying that he has washed his hands in innocence as a way to declare that he is guiltless. See how you translated the similar phrase in Psalm 26:6. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and kept my actions pure to show that I am innocent] or [and kept my actions free from sin]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in vain	it is useless that
I have kept & clean	I have thought about things that are pleasing to you

Psalms 73:14

ULT	UST
For I have been stricken all of the day and punished every morning.	Every day I suffer, and every morning you punish me.

ULT For I have been stricken all of the day and punished every morning

UST Every day I suffer, and every morning you punish me

(וָאֱהִי נֻגּוּעַ כָּל־הַיּוֹם וְתוֹכַחְתִּי לַבְּקָרִים)

The expression I have been stricken ... and punished is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [For you have stricken me all of the day and punished me every morning] or [For you have afflicted me all of the day and punished me every morning]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT all of the day

UST Every day

(כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

The phrase all of the day is a common expression meaning “every day” or “constantly.” If this phrase does not have this meaning in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [constantly]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and punished	and & you punish me

Psalms 73:15

ULT	UST
If I had said, “I will recount such things,” behold, I would have betrayed the generation of your children.	If I had said these things out loud in front of others, surely I would have been sinning against your people.

ULT If I had said, “I will recount such things,” behold, I would have betrayed the generation of your children
UST If I had said these things out loud in front of others, surely I would have been sinning against your people
(אִם־אָמַרְתִּי אֲסַפְּרָה כְּמוֹ הִנֵּה דּוֹר בָּנֶיךָ בָּגָדְתִּי׃)

The psalmist is describing a hypothetical situation in order to tell his readers what would have happened if he had said the things he was thinking out loud. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a situation that could happen. Alternate translation: [If I had said, ‘I will recount such things,’ then I would have betrayed the generation of your children.]

Support Reference: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

ULT behold
UST surely
(הִנֵּה)

The psalmist is using the term behold to emphasize what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [certainly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your children
UST your people
(בָּנֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of God’s people, his spiritual children, as if they were his biological children. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your followers] or [the people who obey you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will recount	I had said & out loud in front of others
I would have betrayed	I would have been sinning against the generation of	your people

Psalms 73:16

ULT	UST
And {when} I thought {how} to understand this, it {was} troublesome in my eyes	When I tried to think about all this, it was very difficult for me to understand it.

ULT in my eyes
UST for me to understand it
(בְּעֵינָי)

Here the author's eyes represent his evaluation or estimation as he tried to understand why wicked people seemed to prosper and he suffered. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to me] or [to think about]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to understand	When I tried to think about troublesome	very difficult

Psalms 73:17

ULT	UST
until I went into the sanctuaries of God, {then} I discerned their end.	But when I went to the temple where people worship God, then I understood what will happen to wicked people in the future.

ULT the sanctuaries of God
UST the temple where people worship God
(מִקְדְּשֵׁי־אֵל)

Here the plural word sanctuaries could: (1) refer to the Jerusalem temple, in which case the plural is intensifying the meaning. Alternate translation: [the great sanctuary of God] or [the great temple of God] (2) refer to the precincts of the Jerusalem temple. Alternate translation: [the precincts of the temple of God] or [the precincts of God's temple]

Support Reference: Unusual Uses of the Plural

ULT then} I discerned their end
UST then I understood what will happen to wicked people in the future
(אָבִ֑ינָה לְאַחֲרִיתָֽם)

Alternate translation: [then I understood their fate] or [then I understood what will happen to those who are wicked]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the sanctuaries of	the temple where people worship
God	God
then} I discerned	then I understood

Psalms 73:18

ULT	UST
Surely you set them in slippery places; you make them fall to destruction.	I know that you make their future insecure; you will cause them to be ruined.

ULT Surely
UST I know that
(אַךְ)

See how you translated the word Surely in 73:1 where it is used with the same meaning.

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT you set them in slippery places
UST you make their future insecure
(בַּחֲלַקּוֹת תְּשִׁיתֵמוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of the fact that God does not allow wicked people to have a secure future as if God had set them in slippery places. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you do not give them a good future]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Surely you set them in slippery places
UST I know that you make their future insecure
(אַךְ בַּחֲלַקּוֹת תְּשִׁיתֵמוֹ)

Here the word you refers to God and the word them refers to wicked people. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly. Alternate translation: [Surely you, God, set wicked people in slippery places]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT you make them fall to destruction
UST you will cause them to be ruined
(הַפַּלְתָּם לְמַשּׁוּאוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of destruction, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you cause them to be destroyed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to destruction	you will cause them to be ruined

Psalms 73:19

ULT	UST
How they are {brought} to desolation as in a moment! They come to an end, they perish by terrors.	God will suddenly destroy these wicked people; they will die in terrible ways.

ULT How
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: אֵיךְ
(אֵיךְ)

The psalmist is using the term How to focus attention on what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you could use in your translation.

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT they are {brought
UST God will & these wicked people
(הָיוּ)

The expression they are brought is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you must state who did the action, the context implies that “God” does it. Alternate translation: [God brings them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they are {brought} to desolation as in a moment
UST God will suddenly destroy these wicked people
(הָיוּ לְשַׁמָּה כְּרֶגַע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of desolation, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [God will destroy them as in a moment] or [they will be suddenly destroyed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT as in a moment
UST suddenly
(כְּרֶגַע)

The phrase as in a moment means “suddenly” or “all at once.” If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly. Alternate translation: [all at once]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT They come to an end, they perish
> UST they will die
> (סָפְּוּ תָּמוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The psalmist is using the phrases They come to an end and they perish together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [They come to an end] or [They perish]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT They come to an end, they perish by terrors
> UST they will die in terrible ways
> (סָפְּוּ תַּמּוּ מִן־בַּלְהוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of terrors, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language.

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to desolation	destroy
as in a moment	suddenly
They come to an end	they will die
they perish	they will die
terrors	in terrible ways

Psalms 73:20

ULT	UST
Like a dream after {one} awakes, Lord, when you rouse {yourself}, you will despise their image.	Lord, when you act, you will cause the wicked to quickly vanish; they will vanish like a dream which disappears as soon as a person awakes from their sleep.

ULT Like a dream after {one} awakes, Lord, when you rouse {yourself}, you will despise their image

UST Lord, when you act, you will cause the wicked to quickly vanish; they will vanish like a dream which disappears as soon as a person awakes from their sleep

(כַּחֲלוֹם מֵהָקִיץ אֲדֹנָי בָּעִיר ׀ צַלְמָם תִּבְזֶה)

The psalmist is comparing the short and temporary duration of a dream, which is over after a person awakes, to the fact that God will despise wicked people when he rouses himself to action and judges them. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the basis of this comparison or express this meaning in plain language. Alternate translation: [They will disappear as quickly as a dream disappears when a person awakes in the morning; Lord, when you act, you will cause them to disappear]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT their image

UST the wicked

(צַלְמָם)

Alternate translation: [their form]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Like a dream	they will vanish like a dream which disappears
Lord	Lord

Psalms 73:21

ULT	UST
When my heart was embittered, and I was pierced in my kidneys,	When I was grieved in my inner being and felt emotionally hurt,

ULT When my heart was embittered, and I was pierced in my kidneys
UST When I was grieved in my inner being and felt emotionally hurt (כִּי יִתְחַמֵּץ לְבָבִי וְכִלְיוֹתַי אֶשְׁתּוֹנָן)

The phrases When my heart was embittered and I was pierced in my kidneys mean basically the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and it would be good to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation rather than combining them. However, if it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word other than and in order to show that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [When my heart was embittered, yes, when I was pierced in my kidneys]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT my heart was embittered
UST I was grieved in my inner being (יִתְחַמֵּץ לְבָבִי)

The psalmist is describing his inner being and thoughts by association with his heart. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I was embittered] or [I was embittered within]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and I was pierced in my kidneys
UST and felt emotionally hurt
(וְכִלְיוֹתַי אֶשְׁתּוֹנָן)

The psalmist is describing his feelings by association with his kidneys. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language as modeled by the UST.

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 73:22

ULT	UST
I {was} stupid and I was not knowing; I was an animal with you.	I was stupid and ignorant; I behaved like an animal toward you.

ULT and I was not knowing
UST and ignorant
(וְלֹ֣א אֵדָ֑ע)

The phrase I was not knowing means “I was without knowledge” or “I was ignorant.” If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly. Alternate translation: [and I was without knowledge] or [and I was ignorant]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT I was an animal with you
UST I behaved like an animal toward you
(בְּהֵמ֥וֹת הָיִ֗יתִי עִמָּֽךְ׃)

The psalmist is speaking of his prior stupid and ignorant thinking and action toward God as if he had been behaving like an animal. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a comparison, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I acted like an animal toward you] or [I acted and thought like an animal before you] or [I acted like a fool toward you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with you
UST toward you
(עִמָּֽךְ׃)

Here the word you refers to God. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly. Alternate translation: [with you, God]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I was & knowing	and ignorant
an animal	like an animal

Psalms 73:23

ULT	UST
Yet I {am} continuously with you; you hold {me} by my right hand.	Nevertheless I am always with you; you constantly stay close to me.

ULT you hold {me} by my right hand
UST you constantly stay close to me
(אָחַזְתָּ בְּיַד־יְמִינִי)

The psalmist is speaking of God's continual presence with him as if God were continually holding his right hand. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a comparison, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you are constantly with me] or [you are constantly with me. It is as if you are holding me by my right hand]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 73:24

ULT	UST
You guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will take me {to} glory.	You lead me by instructing me, and when I die, you will take me into your glorious presence.

ULT You guide me with your counsel
UST You lead me by instructing me
(בַּעֲצָתְךָ תַנְחֵנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of counsel, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [You guide me by teaching me instructive things] or [You guide me by teaching me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and afterward you will take me {to} glory
UST and when I die, you will take me into your glorious presence
(וְאַחַר כָּבוֹד תִּקָּחֵנִי)

Here the term glory could refer to: (1) God's presence in this life or after death. Alternate translation: [and afterward you will take me into your glorious presence] or [and after I die you will take me into your presence] (2) the glory or honor that God would give the psalmist in this life or after death because he had remained faithful and lived a righteous life. Alternate translation: [and afterward you will receive me with honor] or [and when I die you will receive me with honor] or [and at the end of my life you will receive me and honor me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and afterward you will take me {to} glory
UST and when I die, you will take me into your glorious presence
(וְאַחַר כָּבוֹד תִּקָּחֵנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and afterward you will take me into your glorious presence] or [and afterward you will honor me when you receive me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with your counsel	by instructing me
to} glory	into your glorious presence

Psalms 73:25

ULT	UST
Whom have I in heaven {but you}? And besides you {there is} nothing on the earth I desire.	You are the only one I have in heaven! There is nothing on this earth that I desire more than you.

ULT Whom have I in heaven {but you
UST You are the only one I have in heaven
(מִי־לִי בַשָּׁמָיִם)

Here psalmist is implying the words “but you?” If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly as modeled by the ULT. Alternate translation: [Whom have I in heaven but you?]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Whom have I in heaven {but you
UST You are the only one I have in heaven
(מִי־לִי בַשָּׁמָיִם)

The psalmist is not asking for information but is using the question form for emphasis. If you would not use a rhetorical question for this purpose in your language, you could translate these words as a statement or an exclamation and communicate the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [There is no one I have in heaven but you!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT And besides you {there is} nothing on the earth I desire
UST There is nothing on this earth that I desire more than you (וְעִמְּךָ֥ לֹא־חָפַ֖צְתִּי בָּאָֽרֶץ)

Alternate translation: [And with you I desire nothing on the earth]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in heaven	in heaven
on the earth	on this earth

Psalms 73:26

ULT	UST
My flesh and my heart fail, {but} God {is} the rock of my heart and my portion forever.	My body and my spirit may become very weak, but God enables me to feel encouraged; he has granted to me that I would belong to him forever.

ULT My flesh and my heart fail
UST My body and my spirit may become very weak
(כָּלָה שְׁאֵרִי וּלְבָבִי)

The psalmist is referring to his entire body as if it were his flesh, and he is referring to his mind and/or spirit as if they were his heart. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly or use an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [I may become physically and emotionally weak] or [My body and my mind may fail] or [My body and my spirit may fail]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT My flesh and my heart fail, {but} God {is} the rock of my heart and my portion forever
UST My body and my spirit may become very weak, but God enables me to feel encouraged; he has granted to me that I would belong to him forever
(כָּלָה שְׁאֵרִי וּלְבָבִי צוּר־לִבָּבִי וְחֶלְקִי אֱלֹהִים לְעוֹלָם)

Alternate translation: [My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is the strength of my heart forever]

ULT but} God {is} the rock of my heart and my portion forever
UST but God enables me to feel encouraged; he has granted to me that I would belong to him forever
(צוּר־לִבָּבִי וְחֶלְקִי אֱלֹהִים לְעוֹלָם)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were a rock. The term rock is associated with strength so by calling God the rock of my heart, he means that God is the strength of his heart. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a comparison, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but God, you are like a rock for my heart, and you are my portion forever] or [but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
but} God {is	but God
forever	forever

Psalms 73:27

ULT	UST
For behold, those who are far from you will perish; you destroy every one being unfaithful to you.	People who abandon you will perish; you will ruin every person who is not loyal to you.

ULT behold
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: הִנֵּה
(הִנֵּה)

The psalmist is using the term behold to bring attention to and emphasize the certainty of what he is about to say. Use a word or phrase that would communicate that meaning in your language. Alternate translation: [indeed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you destroy every one being unfaithful to you
UST you will ruin every person who is not loyal to you (הִצְמַתָּה כָּל־זֹנֶה מִמֶּךָּ)

Alternate translation: [you will destroy everyone who is unfaithful to you]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will perish	will perish
you destroy	you will ruin
one being unfaithful	person who is not loyal

Psalms 73:28

ULT	UST
But {for} me, the closeness of God for me {is} good. I have made the Lord, Yahweh, my refuge in order to recount all your works.	But for me, the only thing I need is to be close to God. I trust in the Lord Yahweh to keep me safe so that I may tell others everything you have done for me.

ULT But {for} me, the closeness of God for me {is} good
UST But for me, the only thing I need is to be close to God
(וַאֲנִי | קִרְבַת אֱלֹהִים לִי־טוֹב)

Alternate translation: [But for me, God's companionship is my greatest good] or [But for me, God's presence is my good]

ULT the closeness of God for me {is} good
UST the only thing I need is to be close to God
(קִרְבַת אֱלֹהִים לִי־טוֹב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of closeness, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [being close to God is good for me] or [being near to God is good for me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I have made the Lord, Yahweh, my refuge
UST I trust in the Lord Yahweh to keep me safe
(שַׂתִּי | בַּאדֹנָי יְהוִה מַחְסִי)

The psalmist speaks of Yahweh as if he were a physical place that a person could go to for refuge. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the meaning with a comparison, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Like a person runs to a shelter to keep them safe when they are in danger, so I have chosen to trust you to keep me safe]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT I have made the Lord, Yahweh, my refuge
UST I trust in the Lord Yahweh to keep me safe
(שַׂתִּי | בַּאדֹנָי יְהוִה מַחְסִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of refuge, you could express the same idea in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I trust the Lord, Yahweh, to protect me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT in order to recount all your works
> UST so that I may tell others everything you have done for me
> (לְסַפֵּר כָּל־מַלְאֲכוֹתָיִךְ)

The phrase in order to marks recount all your works as the goal or purpose for which the psalmist made the Lord, Yahweh his refuge. Use a natural way in your language for indicating that this is the goal or purpose.

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

> ULT in order to recount all your works
> UST so that I may tell others everything you have done for me
> (לְסַפֵּר כָּל־מַלְאֲכוֹתָיִךְ)

Alternate translation: [that I might make known to people all your works] or [that I may declare all your deeds]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
is} good	the only thing & need is
the Lord	the Lord
Yahweh	Yahweh to
my refuge	keep me safe
in order to recount	so that I may tell others

Psalms 74

Psalms 74 Introduction

Psalm 74 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 74 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It includes all the basic elements of that type of psalm except a vow of praise. (There is only the hint of a vow of praise in verse 21b.) See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–3)
2. Description of troubles (4–9)
3. Cry for help (10–11)
4. Statement of trust (12–17)
5. Petition (18–23)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a “maskil.” See the discussion of that term in the introduction to Psalms.

Translation Issues in this Psalm

Imperatives

Throughout this psalm, the psalmist is requesting things from Yahweh by using an imperative form which may sound like a command in your language. If this would be impolite in your language, then use a form that would be more appropriate for addressing Yahweh with a request.

Parallelisms

Parallelisms arise when two phrases occur together which mean the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea using different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one and not saying something additional. See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing.

Psalms 74:1

ULT	UST
A maskil. Of Asaph. Why, God, have you rejected {us} forever? {Why} does your nose smoke against the flock of your pasture?	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote this song. God, it feels as if you have permanently abandoned us! You care for us Israelites the way a shepherd cares for his flock. So please do not continue to be angry with us.

ULT A maskil
UST this song
(מַשְׂכִּיל)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a maskil. Since the meaning of this word is not certain, you may wish to represent it in its Hebrew form and spell it the way it sounds in your language.

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Why, God, have you rejected {us} forever? {Why} does your nose smoke against the flock of your pasture
UST God, it feels as if you have permanently abandoned us! You care for us Israelites the way a shepherd cares for his flock. So please do not continue to be angry with us
(לָמָּה אֱלֹהִים זָנַחְתָּ לָנֶצַח יֶעְשַׁן אַפְּךָ בְּצֹאן מַרְעִיתֶךָ)

Asaph is using the question form to express his anguish at God's anger toward his people. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [God, you have rejected us forever! Your nose should not smoke against the flock of your pasture.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Why} does your nose smoke
UST So please do not continue to be angry with us
(יֶעְשַׁן אַפְּךָ)

Asaph is using does your nose smoke as a common expression of the culture to mean that God is angry. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Why are you angry]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT against the flock of your pasture
> UST You care for us Israelites the way a shepherd cares for his flock
> (בְּצֹאן מַרְעִיתֶךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of God's people as if they were the flock of a shepherd, and of God as if he were a shepherd who cares for them in your pasture. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [against the people you care for]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT against the flock of your pasture
> UST You care for us Israelites the way a shepherd cares for his flock
> (בְּצֹאן מַרְעִיתֶךָ)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe a flock that is associated with a pasture. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express the idea in another way. Alternate translation: [against the flock that you pasture]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Of Asaph	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote
God	God
have you rejected {us	you have & abandoned us
forever	permanently
against the flock of	You care for us Israelites the way a shepherd cares for his flock

Psalms 74:2

ULT	UST
Remember your congregation {that} you acquired {in} antiquity, {which} you redeemed, the tribe of your inheritance, this Mount Zion on which you have dwelt.	Think about your people whom you chose long ago. You rescued us from slavery so that we would belong to you. Think about Mount Zion, where you have been present {in your temple}.

ULT Remember your congregation
UST Think about your people
(זְכֹר עֲדָתְךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. See the Introduction to this Psalm for more information on how to translate the imperative here and throughout this Psalm. Alternate translation: [Please remember your congregation]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the tribe of your inheritance
UST so that we would belong to you
(שֵׁבֶט נַחֲלָתֶךָ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean that the tribe itself is what God inherited. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the tribe that is your inheritance]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the tribe of your inheritance
UST so that we would belong to you
(שֵׁבֶט נַחֲלָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of inheritance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the tribe that you inherited] or [the people whom you have made your own]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT this Mount Zion on which you have dwelt
UST Think about Mount Zion, where you have been present {in your temple
(הַר־צִיּוֹן זֶה ׀ שָׁכַנְתָּ בּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that a sentence in many languages would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if this would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [remember this Mount Zion on which you have dwelt]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your congregation	your people
which} you redeemed	You rescued us from slavery
the tribe of	so that we
your inheritance	would belong to you
Mount Zion	Think about Mount Zion

Psalms 74:3

ULT	UST
Lift up your feet to the destructions of perpetuity, {to} all the enemy has damaged in the holy place.	Come and walk through the ruins of your temple. It seems that no one will ever rebuild it. Look at all the damage that the enemy soldiers did to your temple.

ULT Lift up your feet
UST Come and walk through (הָרִ֣ימָה פְּעָמֶ֔יךָ)

The psalmist speaks of God as if he were a person with feet which he could Lift up and come and see the ruined temple in Jerusalem. The phrase Lift up your feet is probably also indicating that the psalmist wants God to not only take notice but also to take notice quickly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Come and see the perpetual ruins] or [Please do not delay any longer. Please pay attention to these perpetual ruins]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT in the holy place
UST to your temple
(בַּקֹּ֗דֶשׁ)

Here and other places in this psalm, the holy place refers to the Temple in Jerusalem that had been destroyed. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate that explicitly as modeled by the UST.

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to the destructions of	the ruins of your temple
perpetuity	It seems that no one will ever rebuild it
the enemy	the enemy soldiers
has damaged	the damage that & did in the holy place	to your temple

Psalms 74:4

ULT	UST
Your adversaries roared in the midst of your meeting place; they set up their signs {as} signs.	Your enemies shouted in triumph right there in the place where you met with us Israelites. They set up their battle flags to show that they had conquered it.

ULT Your adversaries roared
UST Your enemies shouted in triumph
(שָׁאֲגוּ צֹרְרֶיךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of the adversaries as if they were wild animals that roared. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your adversaries shouted loudly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT they set up their signs {as} signs
UST They set up their battle flags to show that they had conquered it (שָׂמוּ אוֹתֹתָם אֹתוֹת)

Setting up signs was a symbolic action by which the conquerors signified their victory over those conquered. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. The phrase they have set up their signs as signs could mean: (1) that God's adversaries had set up their military banners as signs in the Temple. Alternate translation: [they have set up their banners as signs] or [they have set up their banners as a sign of their conquest] or (2) that God's adversaries had set up items of worship and symbols related to their false religion. Alternate translation: [they have set up symbols and items for their pagan worship] or [they have set up idolatrous symbols and items of false worship]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your adversaries	Your enemies
roared	shouted in triumph
your meeting place	the place where you met with us Israelites
as} signs	to show that they had conquered it

Psalms 74:5

ULT	UST
It was known like one bringing upward axes in a thicket of trees.	They acted like woodsmen who were swinging axes to cut down trees in a forest.

ULT It was known
UST They acted
(יְוֻדַּע)

The expression It was known is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [They appeared]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT like one bringing upward axes in a thicket of trees
UST like woodsmen who were swinging axes to cut down trees in a forest
(כְּמֵבִיא לְמַעְלָה בְּסָבָךְ־עֵץ קַרְדֻּמּוֹת)

The point of this comparison is that just as a woodsman swings axes to cut down trees in a thicket, so the enemies swung their weapons to destroy the carvings of the temple. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like a woodsman chopping down trees in a forest]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
It was known	They acted
axes	axes

Psalms 74:6

ULT	UST
And now with hatchet and hammers they have broken down its carvings altogether.	They smashed all the carved wooden panels with their axes and hammers.

ULT And now
UST They smashed
(וְעַתָּה)

Here the words And now mark a shift from describing what the enemies did in the past to what they are doing in the present. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Now]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT its carvings
UST the carved wooden panels
(פִּתּוּחֶיהָ)

The pronoun its refers to the holy place. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the carvings of the holy place]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

Psalms 74:7

ULT	UST
They sent your holy place into fire; they profaned the dwelling of your name to the ground.	Then they burned down your temple completely. They treated the temple where you were present as if it were not a sacred place.

ULT They sent your holy place into fire; they profaned the dwelling of your name to the ground
UST Then they burned down your temple completely. They treated the temple where you were present as if it were not a sacred place
(שִׁלְחוּ בָאֵשׁ מִקְדָּשֶׁךָ לָאָרֶץ חִלְּלוּ מִשְׁכַּן־שִׁמְךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. For more information on translating parallelisms, see the Introduction to this Psalm. Alternate translation: [They completely burned down and desecrated the place where you dwell]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT They sent
UST Then they burned down
(שִׁלְחוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the enemies. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The enemies sent]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the dwelling of your name
UST the temple where you were present
(מִשְׁכַּן־שִׁמְךָ)

Asaph is using the term name to represent God's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the place called by your name by bringing it] or [the dwelling where you are present by bringing it]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT the dwelling of your name
> UST the temple where you were present
> (מִשְׁכַּן־שְׁמֶךָ)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe a dwelling that is characterized by God's name, that is, by his presence. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express the idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the dwelling place dedicated to you by burning it]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your holy place	your temple
they profaned	They treated & as if it were not a sacred place
the dwelling of	the temple where & were present

Psalms 74:8

ULT	UST
They said in their heart, “Let us oppress them altogether.” They burned all of the meeting places of God in the land.	They said to themselves, “We will completely subdue the Israelites.” They burned down every place in the land where people gathered to worship God.

ULT They said in their heart
UST They said to themselves
(אָמְרוּ בְלִבָּם)

The phrase They said in their heart introduces a direct quotation. In your translation, use a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language. Alternate translation: [They thought to themselves]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT They said in their heart
UST They said to themselves
(אָמְרוּ בְלִבָּם)

Both occurrences of the pronoun They refer to the enemies. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The enemies said in their heart]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in their heart
UST to themselves
(בְלִבָּם)

Asaph is using in their heart as a common expression of the culture to mean that the enemies thought this to themselves. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [within themselves]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT the meeting places of God
UST place & where people gathered to worship God (מוֹעֲדֵי־אֵל)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the places that are dedicated to God for worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the places where people gather to worship God]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the meeting places of	place & where people gathered to worship
God	God
in the land	in the land

Psalms 74:9

ULT	UST
We do not see our signs; there is no longer a prophet and not one with us knowing until when.	You no longer give us any signs, and there are no prophets anymore. None of us knows how long this will last.

ULT We do not see our signs
UST You no longer give us any signs
(אוֹתֹתֵינוּ לֹא רָאִינוּ)

Here the phrase our signs could refer to: (1) signs that God's prophets gave. Alternate translation: [We do not see any prophetic signs for us] or [We do not see any signs given to us from a prophet] or (2) the military banners and symbols used by the Israelite army which represented their army. Alternate translation: [We no longer see any of our military banners] or (3) the Jewish festivals and religious observances which were the outward signs of their religion. Alternate translation: [We no longer see any signs of our religion] or [All our sacred observances are gone] or [All our sacred symbols are gone]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our signs	any signs
a prophet	and there are & prophets
one & knowing	knows

Psalms 74:10

ULT	UST
Until when, God, will the adversary reproach? Will the enemy despise your name forever?	God, do not allow your opponents to continue to insult you! Do not allow your enemies to keep treating you with disrespect anymore!

ULT Until when, God, will the adversary reproach? Will the enemy despise your name forever
UST God, do not allow your opponents to continue to insult you! Do not allow your enemies to keep treating you with disrespect anymore
(עַד־מָתַי אֱלֹהִים יְחָרֵף צָר יְנַאֵץ אוֹיֵב שִׁמְךָ לָנֶצַח)

Asaph is using the question form to express his impatient plea for God to intervene. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or exclamations. Alternate translation: [God, the adversary has reproached you long enough! The enemy should not despise your name forever.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT your name
UST you
(שִׁמְךָ)

Asaph is using the term name to represent God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
the adversary	your opponents
will & reproach	to insult you
the enemy	your enemies
forever	Do not allow & anymore

Psalms 74:11

ULT	UST
Why do you hold back your hand, even your right hand? From the midst of your bosom finish {them}!	You should not fail to use your great power. Use your power to destroy your enemies!

ULT Why do you hold back your hand, even your right hand
UST You should not fail to use your great power
(לָמָּה תְשִׁיב יָדְךָ וִימִינֶךָ)

Asaph is using the question form to protest God's inaction. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You should not hold back your hand, even your right hand!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT do you hold back your hand
UST fail to use your & power
(תְשִׁיב יָדְךָ)

Asaph is using hold back your hand as a common expression of the culture to mean that God is withholding his action and not intervening. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [do you refrain from acting with your great power]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT your hand, even your right hand
UST your great power
(יָדְךָ וִימִינֶךָ)

Here, your hand, even your right hand represents God's power to act. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your power, even your great strength]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your bosom
UST Use your power
(חוקך)

Here, your bosom represents concealment and inaction, as though God were keeping his hand tucked inside his robe instead of stretching it out to act. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your hiding place]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
finish {them	to destroy your enemies

Psalms 74:12

ULT	UST
But God {is} my king from antiquity, working salvations in the midst of the earth.	God, I acknowledge that you have ruled from ancient times. You have been saving people throughout the earth.

ULT But God {is} my king
UST God, I acknowledge that you have ruled (וֵאלֹהִים מַלְכִּי)

Asaph uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the despair he has expressed about the destruction of the temple and his confidence in God as king. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Yet God is my king]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT is} my king
UST I acknowledge that you have ruled (מַלְכִּי)

Asaph uses the pronoun my instead of “our” to express a personal declaration of trust. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [is my king whom I trust]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT salvations
UST You have been saving people
(יְשׁוּעֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvations, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [mighty things to save his people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But God	God
is} my king	I acknowledge that you have ruled salvations	You have been saving people

Psalms 74:13

ULT	UST
You, you divided the sea by your strength; you broke the heads of the sea monsters in the waters.	By your great power, you pushed back the sea so that the dry land would appear. You created order out of the watery chaos.

ULT You, you divided
UST you pushed back & so that the dry land would appear (אַתָּה פוֹרַרְתָּ)

Asaph is stating the pronoun You separately, even though the verb translated as you divided already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it was God himself who performed this mighty act. If it would be natural in your language to use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation, or you could express this emphasis in a different way. See how you as a team decide to translate this phrase and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [It was you who divided]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT by your strength
UST By your great power
(בְּעֻזֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because you are strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the heads of the sea monsters
UST You created order out of the & chaos
(רֹאשֵׁי תַּנִּינִים)

Here Asaph is speaking of the forces of chaos as if they were sea monsters whose heads God crushed. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the powers of the chaotic waters]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 74:14

ULT	UST
You, you crushed the heads of Leviathan; you gave him {as} food to a people, to the desert-dwellers.	It was as if you smashed the heads of a chaos monster that lived in the sea and left his body in the desert for scavengers to eat.

ULT the heads of Leviathan
UST the heads of a chaos monster that lived in the sea
(רָאשֵׁי לִוְיָתָן)

Here Asaph is speaking of the forces of chaos as if they were a great sea creature called Leviathan. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the great chaos creature]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you gave him {as} food to a people
UST and left his body in the desert for scavengers to eat
(תִּתְּנֶנּוּ מַאֲכָל לְעָם)

Here Asaph is speaking of God's defeat of Leviathan as if God had given him as food to people, meaning that God completely destroyed this power. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you left his remains for the people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Leviathan	a chaos monster that lived in the sea
to the desert-dwellers	in the desert & scavengers

Psalms 74:15

ULT	UST
You, you split open spring and wadi; you, you dry up perpetual rivers.	You are able to make springs and streams flow in dry areas, but you are also able to dry up rivers that usually flow all the time.

ULT you split open spring and wadi
UST are able to make springs and streams flow in dry areas
(בָּקַעְתָּ מַעְיָן וְנָחַל)

Here, split open spring and wadi refers to Yahweh breaking open the ground and causing springs and streams to flow. Alternate translation: [you caused springs and streams to flow out of the ground]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
spring	springs
and wadi	and streams
you dry up	are also able to dry up

Psalms 74:16

ULT	UST
The day {is} to you; the night {is} also to you. You, you established the light and the sun.	You determine when it becomes day and when it becomes night. You make it light during the day when the sun shines.

ULT The day {is} to you; the night & also UST You determine when it becomes day and & it becomes night
(לְךָ־יוֹם אַף & לְךָ לָיְלָה)

Asaph is referring to all of time by naming two extremes, the day and the night. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [All hours of the day and night are also]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT also UST and (אַף)

Here the word also connects two parallel statements, emphasizing that both the day and the night belong to God. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [even]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT the light and the sun
UST light during the day when the sun shines
(מָאוֹר וְשָׁמֶשׁ)

Asaph is referring to all celestial light by naming two components, the light and the sun. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [every source of light in the sky]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you established	make it

Psalms 74:17

ULT	UST
You, you set all of the boundaries of the earth; summer and winter, you, you formed them.	You are the one who set all the boundaries of the earth. You are the one who created the seasons of summer and winter.

ULT the boundaries of the earth
UST the boundaries of the earth
(גְּבוּלֹות אֶרֶץ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the boundaries that mark the extent of the earth. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the boundaries that define the earth]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT summer and winter
UST the seasons of summer and winter
(קַיִץ וְחֹרֶף)

Asaph is referring to all the seasons of the year by naming two extremes, summer and winter. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all the seasons of the year]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the earth	the earth

Psalms 74:18

ULT	UST
Remember this: the enemy has reproached Yahweh, and a foolish people has despised your name.	Yahweh, remember that your enemies have insulted you and that foolish people have mocked your reputation.

ULT Remember this
UST remember that (זְכָר־זֹאת)

Here the words Remember this mark a shift from praising God's mighty acts back to petitioning him for help. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Consider this]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT the enemy has reproached Yahweh
UST Yahweh & your enemies have insulted you
(אוֹיֵב חֵרֵף | יְהוָה)

Even though Asaph is addressing God directly, he is speaking of him in the third person as Yahweh to show respect. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the first person. Alternate translation: [the enemy has reproached you, Yahweh]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT has despised your name
UST have mocked your reputation
(נִאֲצוּ שִׁמְךָ)

Asaph is using the term name to represent God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [has despised your reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the enemy	your enemies
has reproached	have insulted you
Yahweh	Yahweh
foolish	foolish

Psalms 74:19

ULT	UST
May you not give the life of your dove to a beast; may you not forget the life of your poor forever.	Do not allow cruel enemies to destroy the people whom you cherish. Save the lives of your vulnerable people before it is too late.

ULT the life of your dove
UST to destroy the people whom you cherish
(נֶפֶשׁ תּוֹרֶךָ)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe the life that belongs to the people he calls a dove. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express the idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the lives of your people whom you cherish]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT your dove
UST the people whom you cherish
(תּוֹרֶךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of God's people as if they were a vulnerable dove. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your defenseless people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to a beast
UST cruel enemies
(לְחַיַּת)

Here Asaph is speaking of the enemy nation as if it were a wild beast that would devour its prey. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to the cruel enemy]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your poor
UST your vulnerable people
(עֲנִיֶּיךָ)

Asaph is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [your poor people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your dove	the people whom you cherish
to a beast	cruel enemies
forever	before it is too late

Psalms 74:20

ULT	UST
Regard the covenant, for pastures of violence fill the dark places of the land.	People are committing violent acts in places where they think others will not see them. So we need you to help us. Please do that because of the covenant that you made with us.

ULT for pastures of violence fill the dark places of the land
UST People are committing violent acts in places where they think others will not see them. So (כִּי מָלְאוּ מַחֲשַׁכֵּי־אֶרֶץ נְאוֹת חָמָס)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because violent places fill the dark places of the land]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT pastures of violence
UST People are committing violent acts
(נְאוֹת חָמָס)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe pastures that are characterized by violence. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this purpose, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [violent places]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT violence
UST People are committing violent acts
(חָמָס)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of violence, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [violent deeds]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the dark places of the land
UST in places where they think others will not see them
(מַחֲשַׁכֵּי־אֶרֶץ)

Here Asaph is speaking of places of oppression and danger as if they were dark places. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the dangerous places of the land]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the dark places of the land
> UST in places where they think others will not see them
> (מַחֲשַׁכֵּי־אֶרֶץ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the places in the land that are dark, that is, dangerous. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the dark places that are in the land]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the covenant	the covenant that you made with us
the land	in places where they think others will not see them

Psalms 74:21

ULT	UST
May the weak not return ashamed; may the poor and the needy praise your name.	We are asking you to help us; please do not disappoint us. Then we poor and needy people will praise you for what you have done.

ULT the weak
UST We are asking you to help us
(דַּ֭ל)

Asaph is using the adjective weak as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the weak person]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT ashamed
UST please do & disappoint us
(נִכְלָּ֑ם)

The expression ashamed is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [feeling shame]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the poor and the needy
UST Then we poor and needy people
(עָנִ֖י וְאֶבְיוֹן)

Asaph is using the adjectives poor and needy as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [those who are poor and needy]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
ashamed	please do & disappoint us
may & praise	will praise & for what you have done

Psalms 74:22

ULT	UST
Arise, God! Plead your case! Remember your reproach from the fool all of the day.	Take action to defend yourself, God! Do not allow foolish people to keep insulting you!

> ULT Arise, God
> UST Take action & God
> (קוּמָה אֱלֹהִים)

Here the words Arise, God mark a shift to a final urgent appeal for God to act. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Take action, God]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

> ULT Plead your case
> UST to defend yourself
> (רִיבָה רִיבֶךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of God as if he were a litigant who would plead a legal case in court. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Contend for yourself]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT your case
> UST yourself
> (רִיבֶךָ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the case that is brought against God, that is, the insults directed at him. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the case against you]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT your reproach
> UST insulting you
> (חֶרְפָּתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how the fool reproaches you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT your reproach from the fool
> UST foolish people & insulting you
> (חֶרְפָּתְךָ מִנִּי־נָבָל)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the reproach that comes from the fool. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the way the fool reproaches you]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
Plead	to defend
your reproach	insulting you
the fool	foolish people

Psalms 74:23

ULT	UST
Do not forget the voice of your adversaries, the uproar of the ones rising against you, going up continually.	Do not ignore what your enemies are saying. Your opponents keep shouting things against you.

ULT the voice of your adversaries
UST what your enemies are saying
(קוֹל צֹרְרֶיךָ)

Here, the voice of your adversaries represents what the adversaries are saying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the words of your adversaries]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the voice of your adversaries
UST what your enemies are saying
(קוֹל צֹרְרֶיךָ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the voice that comes from your adversaries. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [what your adversaries are saying]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the uproar of the ones rising against you
UST Your opponents & shouting things
(שְׁאוֹן קָמֶיךָ)

Asaph is using this possessive form to mean the uproar that comes from the ones rising against God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the noise that your opponents make]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your adversaries	your enemies
the uproar of	shouting things
the ones rising against you	Your opponents

Psalms 75

Psalms 75 Introduction

Psalm 75 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

1. Superscription
2. Community thanksgiving (1)
3. God’s promise of righteous judgment (2–5)
4. Declaration that God alone is judge (6–8)
5. Psalmist’s vow to praise (9)
6. God’s promise to judge (10)

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 75 is a psalm of Asaph that celebrates God as the righteous judge of all the earth.

1. Purpose: to declare that God will judge the earth with equity
2. Content: The psalm moves between different speakers—the community, God himself, and the psalmist—all affirming that God is the judge who humbles the wicked and exalts the righteous.
3. Message: God alone has the authority to judge, and he will do so at the appointed time.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

1. The psalm contains multiple speakers. Verse 1 is the community speaking. Verses 2–5 (and possibly continuing through verse 8) are God speaking. Verse 9 is the psalmist (Asaph) speaking. Verse 10 contains God’s words in quotation marks.
2. The image of the “horn” appears in verses 4, 5, and 10, representing power, pride, or strength.
3. The image of God’s judgment as a cup of wine appears in verse 8, a common biblical image.

See: Poetry

Psalms 75:1

ULT	UST
We give thanks to you, God; we give thanks, and your name is near; they recount your wonders.	We thank you, God! We thank you because you are close {to us}. We tell people about the wonderful things that you have done.

ULT We give thanks to you, God; we give thanks
UST We thank you, God! We thank you
(הֹודִינוּ לְךָ֤ | אֱלֹהִים֙ הֹודִינוּ)

The psalmist is repeating the phrase We give thanks in order to intensify the idea that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [We thank you so very much]

Support Reference: Reduplication

ULT and your name is near
UST because you are close {to us
(וְקָרֹ֣וב שְׁמֶ֑ךָ)

By your name is near, the psalmist means that God is present and accessible to his people. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [you are present with us] or [you are close to us]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT your name
UST you
(שְׁמֶ֑ךָ)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent God himself and his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT they recount
UST We tell people
(סִפְּרוּ)

The pronoun they refers to the people of Israel. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this explicitly. Alternate translation: [we your people recount]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
they recount	We tell people
your wonders	about the wonderful things that you have done

Psalms 75:2

ULT	UST
When I take the appointed time; I, I will judge {with} equity.	{You say,} “I have set a time {to judge people}. At that time, I will judge everyone fairly.

ULT When I take the appointed time; I, I will judge {with} equity
UST You say,} “I have set a time {to judge people}. At that time, I will judge everyone fairly (כִּי אֶקַּח מוֹעֵד אֲנִי מֵישָׁרִים אֶשְׁפֹּט)

This is the beginning of what God said. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark that this is a direct quote of God. Alternate translation: [God said, “When I take the appointed time, I will judge with equity]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT I, I will judge
UST At that time, I will judge everyone
(אֲנִי & אֶשְׁפֹּט)

God is stating the pronoun I twice, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he himself is the one speaking and acting. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [I myself will judge]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with} equity
UST fairly
(מֵישָׁרִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of equity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what is right] or [uprightly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the appointed time	a time {to judge people
the appointed time	a time {to judge people
I will judge	will judge everyone

Psalms 75:3

ULT	UST
The earth and all its inhabitants are melting; I, I established its pillars. Selah	The earth may shake, and everyone who lives on it may tremble. But I am the one who holds it steady.” Selah

ULT The earth and all its inhabitants are melting
UST The earth may shake, and everyone who lives on it may tremble
(נְמֹגִ֥ים אֶ֝רֶץ וְכָל־יֹשְׁבֶ֗יהָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the earth and its inhabitants as if they were melting. He means that they are overcome with fear and instability in the presence of God’s judgment. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The earth and all its inhabitants are trembling with fear]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT I, I established
UST But I am the one who holds it steady
(אָנֹכִ֥י תִכַּ֝נְתִּי)

God is stating the pronoun I explicitly, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he himself is the one who establishes the earth’s foundations. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [I myself established]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT I established its pillars
UST holds it steady
(תִכַּ֗נְתִּי עַמּוּדֶ֥יהָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the earth as if it were a building with pillars to support it. This image represents the stability that God provides and maintains for the earth. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [made it stable] or [keep it stable]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The earth	The earth
I established	holds it steady
its pillars	holds it steady
Selah	Selah

Psalms 75:4

ULT	UST
I said to the boasters, “Do not boast,” and to the wicked, “Do not lift up a horn.	I warn those who boast, “Stop boasting!” I tell wicked people, “Do not be proud!

ULT to the boasters
UST those who boast
(לְהוֹלְלִים)

David is using the adjective boasters as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [people who boast]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and to the wicked
UST I tell wicked people
(וְלָרְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT lift up a horn
UST Do & be proud
(תָּרִימוּ קָרֶן)

The psalmist is speaking of arrogant or defiant people as if they were to physically lift up a horn like an animal displaying strength. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [behave arrogantly] or [act defiantly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
boast	boasting
and to the wicked	I tell wicked people
a horn	Do & be proud

Psalms 75:5

ULT	UST
Do not lift up your horn to the height, or speak with an arrogant neck.”	Do not brag about your power! Do not speak arrogantly!”

ULT lift up your horn to the height
UST Do & brag about your power
(תָּרִ֤ימוּ לַמָּרוֹם֙ קַרְנְכֶ֔ם)

The psalmist is speaking of to the height as if it were a physical elevation to which one could lift up a horn. This intensifies the image of arrogance that the horn metaphor conveys. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [act with extreme arrogance]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT speak with an arrogant neck
UST Do not speak arrogantly
(תְּדַבְּר֖וּ בְּצַוָּ֣אר עָתָֽק)

Here, neck represents speaking with an arrogant attitude. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [speak arrogantly]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your horn	your power
arrogant	arrogantly

Psalms 75:6

ULT	UST
For not from the east or from the west, and not from the wilderness {comes} lifting up.	{The one who judges and} honors people does not come from the east, west, or south.

ULT from the east or from the west, and not from the wilderness {comes} lifting up
UST The one who judges and} honors people & from the east, west, or south
(מִמּוֹצָא וּמִמַּעֲרָב וְלֹא מִמִּדְבַּר הָרִים)

The psalmist is referring to all directions on earth by naming two (or three) cardinal points, the east, the west, and the wilderness (the south). The word translated comes lifting up could possibly mean “mountains” which would refer to the north. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from any direction comes lifting up]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT comes} lifting up
UST The one who judges and} honors people
(הָרִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of lifting up, you could express the same idea with a verb such as “lift” or “exalt.” Alternate translation: [to lift someone up]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the wilderness	south

Psalms 75:7

ULT	UST
For God {is} the judge; this one he brings low, and this one he lifts up.	God is the one who judges people; he shames and punishes some people, and he honors other people.

ULT this one he brings low, and this one he lifts up
UST he shames and punishes some people, and he honors other people
(זֶה יַשְׁפִּיל וְזֶה יָרִים)

The implication is that God brings low the proud and wicked, and lifts up the humble and righteous. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [he humbles this proud person, and he exalts this humble person] or [he brings down the arrogant, and he raises up the lowly]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God is the one
is} the judge	who judges people

Psalms 75:8

ULT	UST
For a cup {is} in the hand of Yahweh, and the wine foams, a full mixture, and he pours out from this; surely its dregs they will drain; all the wicked of the earth will drink.	It is as if Yahweh holds a cup {full of punishment} in his hand. It is full of {punishment that is like} foaming wine mixed with spices. He pours it out {to punish the wicked}, and all the wicked people on earth must drink it. {He punishes them fully like} they were drinking the cup to the last drop.

ULT a cup {is} in the hand of Yahweh
UST Yahweh holds a cup {full of punishment} in his hand
(כּוֹס בְּיַד־יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's judgment as if it were a cup that Yahweh held in his hand and forced people to drink. This is a common biblical image. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [Yahweh's judgment is like a cup in his hand]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the wine foams, a full mixture
UST It is full of {punishment that is like} foaming wine mixed with spices
(וְיַיִן חָמַר ׀ מָלֵא מָסֶךְ)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that wine that foams and is a full mixture refers to wine mixed with spices, making it very strong and intoxicating, representing the full strength of God's judgment. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the wine foams, full of spices]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT its dregs they will drain
UST He punishes them fully like} they were drinking the cup to the last drop (שְׁמָרֶיהָ יִמְצוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of punishment as if it were a cup of wine and God's enemies will drain even its dregs, the sediment at the bottom. He means that they will experience God's judgment completely, even to its most severe and bitter aspects. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they will experience the punishment fully, even its worst parts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the wicked
> UST the wicked people
> (רִשְׁעֵי)

See how you translated the similar expression in verse 4.

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
and the wine	wine
the wicked	the wicked people
of the earth	on earth

Psalms 75:9

ULT	UST
But I, I will declare to eternity; I will sing praise to the God of Jacob.	But as for me, I will never stop saying what the God whom Jacob worshiped has done; I will never stop singing to praise him.

ULT But I, I will declare to eternity; I will sing praise to the God of Jacob
UST But as for me, I will never stop saying what the God whom Jacob worshiped has done; I will never stop singing to praise him (וַאֲנִי אַגִּיד לְעֹלָם אֲזַמְּרָה לֵאלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

This is the beginning of what the psalmist said. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark that this is a direct quote of the psalmist. Alternate translation: [But as for me, I will declare to eternity; I will sing praise to the God of Jacob]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT But I, I will declare
UST But as for me & saying what (וַאֲנִי אַגִּיד)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I twice for emphasis. He is doing that to emphasize his personal commitment and determination, in contrast to the wicked. If a speaker of your language would repeat a pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [But as for me, I will declare]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT to the God of Jacob
UST the God whom Jacob worshiped has done
(לֵאלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

Here, Jacob represents the people of Israel, the descendants of Jacob. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to the God of the people of Israel] or [to the God of the Israelites]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will declare	saying what to eternity	I will never stop
I will sing praise	I will never stop singing to praise him to the God	the God whom of Jacob	Jacob worshiped has done

Psalms 75:10

ULT	UST
“And all the horns of the wicked I will cut off; the horns of the righteous will be lifted up.”	God promises this: “I will destroy the power of wicked people, but I will increase the power of righteous people.”

ULT And all the horns of the wicked I will cut off; the horns of the righteous will be lifted up
UST God promises this: “I will destroy the power of wicked people, but I will increase the power of righteous people (וְכָל־קַרְנֵי רְשָׁעִים אֲגַדֵּעַ תְּרוֹמַמְנָה קַרְנוֹת צַדִּיק)

This is the beginning of what God said. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark that this is a direct quote of God. Alternate translation: [God says, “And all the horns of the wicked I will cut off; the horns of the righteous will be lifted up.”]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT the horns of the wicked & the horns of the righteous
UST God promises this & the power of wicked people & righteous people (קַרְנֵי רְשָׁעִים & קַרְנוֹת צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is speaking of power and strength as if they were horns. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the power of the wicked … the power of the righteous]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT of the wicked
UST wicked people
(רְשָׁעִים)

See how you translated the similar expression in verse 4.

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the righteous
UST righteous people
(צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [righteous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT will be lifted up
> UST but I will increase the power of > (תְּרוֹמַמְנָה)

The expression will be lifted up is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [I will lift up] or [God will lift up]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the horns	God promises this & the power of
of the wicked	wicked people
the horns of	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: קַרְנוֹת
the righteous	righteous people

Psalms 75:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May You & Destroy	Do & Destroy
A psalm	this song
of Asaph	Asaph wrote

Psalms 76

Psalms 76 Introduction

Psalm 76 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

1. Superscription
2. God is known in Zion (1–3)
3. God’s judgment destroys the enemies (4–6)
4. God’s judgment causes fear (7–9)
5. Call to worship and vow to God (10–12)

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 76 is a psalm of Asaph that celebrates God’s victory over the enemies of his people and his dwelling in Zion.

1. Purpose: to praise God for his victory and to warn others to fear him
2. Content: The psalm describes God’s power in breaking the weapons of war and striking down the enemies who attacked Jerusalem. It affirms God’s sovereignty over all kings and leaders.
3. Message: God is the supreme judge and warrior who defends his people and dwells among them.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Images of War

The psalm uses several images related to war and judgment, such as “flames of the bow” (arrows), “mountains of prey” (victory), and “gird on wrath” (using wrath as a weapon).

God’s Names and Titles

The psalm uses “God of Jacob” (v6), “Fear” (or “Awesome One”, v11), and refers to his dwelling in “Salem” and “Zion” (v2).

Idioms

There are idioms like “stout of heart” (brave) and “found not their hands” (helpless).

See: Poetry

Psalms 76:1

ULT	UST
In Judah God is known; in Israel his name is great.	People in Judah know God. He is famous in Israel.

ULT In Judah God is known; in Israel his name is great UST People in Judah know God. He is famous in Israel
(נוֹדָע בִּיהוּדָה אֱלֹהִים בְּיִשְׂרָאֵל גָּדוֹל שְׁמוֹ)

These lines mean basically the same thing. Translate according to your team's decision on parallelism. See the Introduction to Psalms for more information.

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT God is known
UST know God
(נוֹדָע & אֱלֹהִים)

The expression is known is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people know God] or [God has revealed himself]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT his name
UST He is famous
(שְׁמוֹ)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who God is or to refer to God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his reputation] or [he himself]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
In Judah	People in Judah
God	God
is known	know
in Israel	in Israel

Psalms 76:2

ULT	UST
And his abode is in Salem, and his dwelling place is in Zion.	His home is in Jerusalem. He lives on Mount Zion.

ULT And his abode is in Salem, and his dwelling place is in Zion
UST His home is in Jerusalem. He lives on Mount Zion (וַיְהִי בְשָׁלֵם סֻכּוֹ וּמְעוֹנָתוֹ בְצִיּוֹן)

These lines mean basically the same thing. Translate according to your team's decision on parallelism. See the Introduction to Psalms for more information.

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT in Salem
UST in Jerusalem
(בְשָׁלֵם)

The word Salem is the name of a city. This is an ancient name for Jerusalem.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT And his abode is in Salem, and his dwelling place
UST His home is in Jerusalem. He lives
(וַיְהִי בְשָׁלֵם סֻכּוֹ וּמְעוֹנָתוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a person who had an abode and a dwelling place in Salem and Zion. This represents Yahweh's special presence among his people in those locations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And his home is in Salem, and where he lives] or [And he is present in Salem, and his presence]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is in Zion
UST on Mount Zion
(בְצִיּוֹן)

The word Zion is the name of a mountain in Jerusalem.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
is in Zion	on Mount Zion

Psalms 76:3

ULT	UST
There he broke the flames of the bow, the shield, and the sword, and the battle. Selah	There he shattered the flaming arrows. He destroyed the shields, the swords, and the weapons of war. Selah

ULT There he broke the flames of the bow, the shield, and the sword, and the battle
UST There he shattered the flaming arrows. He destroyed the shields, the swords, and the weapons of war
(שָׁמָּה שָׁבַר רִשְׁפֵי־קֶשֶׁת מָגֵן וְחֶרֶב וּמִלְחָמָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh providing peace for his people as if he were physically breaking weapons. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He provides peace by stopping all the enemies' attacks]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the flames of the bow
UST the flaming arrows
(רִשְׁפֵי־קֶשֶׁת)

The psalmist is speaking of arrows as if they were flames of the bow. This could be because arrows move swiftly like lightning or because they were tipped with fire. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the arrows of the bow]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the shield, and the sword, and the battle
UST He destroyed the shields, the swords, and the weapons of war
(מָגֵן וְחֶרֶב וּמִלְחָמָה)

The psalmist uses some weapons (the shield and the sword) to represent all weapons of war and then further uses the battle as a summary representing the weapons used in battle. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [shields and swords and all other weapons of war]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the bow	arrows
the shield	He destroyed the shields
and the sword	the swords
Selah	Selah

Psalms 76:4

ULT	UST
You are shining, majestic, from the mountains of prey.	You are glorious and excellent. You are more majestic than the mountains where you destroyed your enemies.

ULT are shining, majestic
UST are glorious and excellent
(נָאוֹר & אַדִּיר)

The terms shining and majestic mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [are brilliantly glorious] or [are radiant with glory]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT are shining
UST are glorious (נָאוֹר)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were shining with radiant light. If it would be helpful for your readers, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [are glorious] or [are radiant]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from the mountains of prey
UST You are more majestic than the mountains where you destroyed your enemies (מֵהַרְרֵי־טָרֶף)

The psalmist is speaking of the mountains as if they were places where God had hunted down his enemies like prey. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the mountains where you defeated your enemies] or [like the mountains of your victory]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
majestic	and excellent
prey	where you destroyed your enemies

Psalms 76:5

ULT	UST
The stout of heart were plundered; they slept their sleep, and all of the men of strength found not their hands.	Enemy soldiers plundered the brave soldiers. They have fallen into their final sleep. None of the warriors were able to lift their hands {to defend themselves}.

ULT The stout of heart
UST the brave soldiers
(אַבִּירֵי לֵב)

The psalmist is using stout of heart as a common expression of his culture to mean “brave” or “courageous.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The courageous] or [The brave warriors]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT were plundered
UST Enemy soldiers plundered
(אֻשְּׁתּוֹלָלוּ)

The expression were plundered is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [lost all their possessions] or [had their possessions taken away]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they slept their sleep
UST They have fallen into their final sleep
(נָמוֹ שְׁנָתָם)

The psalmist is referring to death in a polite way by using the phrase slept their sleep. Depending on what is helpful for your readers, you could use a polite way of referring to this in your language, or you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [they died] or [they passed away]

Support Reference: Euphemism

> ULT and & found not their hands
> UST None of the warriors were able to lift their hands {to defend themselves
> (וְלֹא־מָצְאוּ & יְדֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is using found not their hands as a common expression of his culture to mean “were unable to use their strength or weapons.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and … could not lift their hands to fight] or [and … were helpless]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
were plundered	Enemy soldiers plundered
strength	were able to lift their hands {to defend themselves

Psalms 76:6

ULT	UST
At your rebuke, O God of Jacob, both rider and horse fell deeply asleep.	When you, the God whom Jacob worshiped, shouted at them, their war horses and their riders fell down dead.

ULT At your rebuke
UST shouted at them
(מִגַּעֲרָתְךָ)

The expression At your rebuke is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [When you rebuked them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT O God of Jacob
UST When you, the God whom Jacob worshiped
(אֱלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form God of Jacob to indicate that Jacob possessed or controlled God. Rather, the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the God whom Jacob worshiped. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [God whom Jacob worshiped]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT both rider and horse
UST their war horses and their riders
(וְרֶכֶב וָסוּס)

The psalmist is using rider and horse to represent all the military forces of the enemy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [chariots and horses] or [riders and their horses]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT fell deeply asleep
UST fell down dead
(נִרְדָּמוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of fell deeply asleep as if dying were falling into a deep sleep. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [fell down dead] or [died]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
At your rebuke	shouted at them
O God of	When you, the God whom
Jacob	Jacob worshiped
and horse	their war horses

Psalms 76:7

ULT	UST
You, you are to be feared, and who can stand before your face from the time of your nose?	You are the one whom everyone must fear. No one can survive in your presence when you are angry.

ULT You, you are
UST You are the one whom (אַתָּה & אַתָּה)

The psalmist is repeating the pronoun You in order to intensify the emphasis on God himself. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [You yourself are] or [Truly you are]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you are to be feared
UST You are the one whom everyone must fear
(נוֹרָא אַתָּה)

The expression you are to be feared is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you are fearsome] or [people must fear you]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and who can stand before your face from the time of your nose
UST No one can survive in your presence when you are angry
(וּמִי־יַעֲמֹד לְפָנֶיךָ מֵאָז אַפֶּךָ)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [and no one can stand before your face from the time of your nose!] or [and no one is able to stand before your face when your nose begins to burn!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT can stand before your face
UST can survive in your presence
(יַעֲמֹד לְפָנֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using stand before your face as a common expression of the culture to mean “withstand your judgment” or “endure your presence.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [can survive in your presence] or [can endure your anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT from the time of your nose
UST when you are angry
(מֵאָז אַפֶּךָ)

The psalmist is using the phrase from the time of your nose as a common expression of the culture to mean “when you are angry.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [when you are angry] or [when your anger flares up]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to be feared	everyone must fear
from the time of	when

Psalms 76:8

ULT	UST
From heaven you caused judgment to be heard; the earth feared and was quiet	You gave your decision from heaven. The whole world was scared and silent.

ULT From heaven
UST from heaven
(מִשָּׁמַיִם)

Here, heaven represents the place where God dwells. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [From the sky] or [From your dwelling place]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT you caused judgment to be heard
UST You gave your decision
(הִשְׁמַעְתָּ דִּין)

The expression caused judgment to be heard is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you proclaimed judgment] or [you announced your judgment]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the earth feared and was quiet
UST The whole world was scared and silent
(אֶרֶץ יָרְאָה וְשָׁקָטָה)

Here, earth represents the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people of the earth were afraid and were quiet] or [everyone on earth feared and were quiet]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
From heaven	from heaven
judgment	your decision
the earth	The whole world
feared	was scared

Psalms 76:9

ULT	UST
when God arose to judgment, to save all the humble of the earth. Selah	This happened when you stood up to judge, O God, to rescue all the oppressed people of the world. Selah

ULT when & arose to judgment
UST This happened when you stood up to judge
(בְּקוּם־לַמִּשְׁפָּט)

The psalmist is using arose to judgment as a common expression of his culture to mean “began to judge” or “decided to act in judgment.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [when … began to judge] or [when …took action to judge]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	O God
to judgment	to judge
to save	to rescue
the humble	the oppressed people
of the earth	of the world
Selah	Selah

Psalms 76:10

ULT	UST
For the wrath of man will thank you; the remainder of wrath you will gird on.	Even human anger will bring you praise. You will use the rest of their anger as a weapon.

ULT the wrath of man will thank you
UST human anger will bring you praise
(חֲמַת אָדָם תּוֹדֶךָּ)

The psalmist is speaking of wrath as if it were a living thing that could praise God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [people's anger will result in praise to you] or [you will be praised because of how you respond to human anger]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT you will gird on
UST as a weapon
(תַּחְגֹּר)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he will gird on the remainder of wrath like a belt or weapon. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you will wear like a belt] or [you will use like a weapon]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wrath of	anger
the remainder of	You will use the rest of you will gird on	as a weapon

Psalms 76:11

ULT	UST
Vow and pay to Yahweh your God; let all who are around him bring a gift to the Fear.	Make promises to Yahweh your God and keep them. Let everyone around him bring gifts to the Awesome One.

ULT Vow and pay to Yahweh your God
UST Make promises to Yahweh your God and keep them
(נִדְּרוּ וְשַׁלְּמוּ֙ לַיהוָ֣ה אֱלֹהֵיכֶ֔ם)

The implication is that the people should fulfill the vows they make to God by doing what they promised. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Make vows to Yahweh your God and fulfill them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT all who are around him
UST everyone around him
(כָּל־סְבִיבָ֖יו)

The implication is that all who are around him refers to the people of the nations surrounding Israel. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [all the people of the surrounding nations]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT to the Fear
UST to the Awesome One
(לַמּוֹרָ֑א)

Here, the Fear represents God, the one who is to be feared. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [to the One who is to be feared] or [to the Awesome One]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Vow	Make promises
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
your God	your God
to the Fear	to the Awesome One

Psalms 76:12

ULT	UST
He cuts off the spirit of princes; he is to be feared by the kings of the earth.	He humbles the leaders, and terrifies all the kings.

ULT He cuts off
UST He humbles
(יְבַצֹּר)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God as if he were using a tool and cuts off the spirit of princes. He means that God humbles or destroys them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He humbles] or [He destroys]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the spirit of
UST He humbles
(רוּחַ)

Here, spirit represents the courage or pride of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the courage of] or [the pride of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT he is to be feared by the kings of the earth
UST and terrifies all the kings
(נוֹרָא לְמַלְכֵי־אָרֶץ)

The expression is to be feared by the kings of the earth is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the kings of the earth fear him] or [he causes the kings of the earth to fear him]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the spirit of	He humbles
princes	the leaders
he is to be feared	and terrifies
by the kings	the kings of the earth	all

Psalms 76:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm of	this psalm
Asaph	Asaph wrote

Psalms 77

Psalms 77 Introduction

Psalm 77 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

1. Superscription
2. Lament and sleepless searching (1–6)
3. Questions about God’s favor (7–10)
4. Remembering Yah’s deeds (11–15)
5. God’s power over the waters and leading his people (16–20)

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 77 is a psalm of Asaph in which the psalmist moves from intense distress and questioning to renewed confidence by remembering God’s past saving actions.

1. Purpose: to express a lament and then to renew trust in God by recalling his mighty deeds.
2. Content: The psalm begins with the psalmist crying out in trouble and asking a series of questions about whether God has rejected him. It then turns to remembrance of God’s works and ends with vivid storm-and-sea imagery that recalls God leading his people.
3. Message: When God seems absent, the psalmist responds by remembering who God is and what he has done for his people.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

1. Rhetorical questions: Verses 7–9 contain a series of questions that function primarily to express grief and uncertainty, not to request information.
2. Figurative language for inner life: The psalm uses terms like “soul,” “heart,” and “spirit” to describe a person’s internal experience.
3. Body-part imagery for God’s power: Expressions like “right hand” and “arm” refer to God’s power and ability to act.

4. Nature imagery: The psalm personifies waters, clouds, skies, and the earth, and uses war/storm imagery such as “arrows” for lightning.

5. Key names and titles: The psalm includes the divine name “Yah,” the title “the Most High,” and references to Jacob, Joseph, Moses, and Aaron.

6. Selah: The term “Selah” appears in verses 3, 9, and 15 as a likely musical direction.

See: Poetry

Psalms 77:1

ULT	UST
My voice {is} to God, and I cry out; my voice {is} to God, and he listens to me.	I cried out to God; I cried aloud to him, and he listened to me.

ULT My voice {is} to God, and I cry out; my voice {is} to God
UST I cried out to God; I cried aloud to him
(קוֹלִי אֶל־אֱלֹהִים וְאֶצְעָקָה קוֹלִי אֶל־אֱלֹהִים)

Asaph is repeating the expression my voice is to God in order to intensify his expression of crying out to God. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [I earnestly cry out to God] or [I cry out with my voice again and again to God]

Support Reference: Reduplication

ULT My voice
UST I cried out
(קוֹלִי)

Here, My voice represents Asaph's act of calling out to God in prayer. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [My prayer]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
and I cry out	I cried out

Psalms 77:2

ULT	UST
In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord; my hand was stretched out at night, and it did not slacken. My soul refused to be comforted.	When I was in trouble, I prayed to the Lord; all during the night I lifted up my hands {while I prayed}, and I did not stop {praying}. But nothing could comfort me.

ULT In the day of my trouble
UST When I was in trouble
(בְּיוֹם צָרָתִי)

Asaph is using the term day to refer to a specific time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [At the time of my trouble] or [When I was in trouble]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my hand was stretched out at night
UST all during the night I lifted up my hands {while I prayed (יָדִי ׀ לַיְלָה נִגְּרָה)

Here, my hand was stretched out was a symbolic action by which Asaph showed his persistent prayer and pleading to God. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [I lifted my hands to God in continual prayer]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT My soul refused to be comforted
UST But nothing could comfort me
(מֵאֲנָה הִנָּחֵם נַפְשִׁי)

Asaph is using one part of himself, his soul, to represent all of him in his refusal of comfort. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I refused to be comforted]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of my trouble	I was in trouble
I sought	I prayed
the Lord	to the Lord
My soul	me
to be comforted	comfort

Psalms 77:3

ULT	UST
I remembered God and I groaned; I meditated, and my spirit grew faint. Selah	When I thought about God, I despaired; as I thoughtfully considered {him}, I became weak and discouraged. Selah

ULT I remembered God and I groaned; I meditated, and my spirit grew faint
UST When I thought about God, I despaired; as I thoughtfully considered {him}, I became weak and discouraged
(אֶזְכְּרָה אֱלֹהִים וְאֶהֱמָיֶה אָשִׂיחָה | וְתִתְעַטֵּף רוּחִי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [I remembered God and groaned; yes, my spirit grew faint as I meditated]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and my spirit grew faint
UST I became weak and discouraged
(וְתִתְעַטֵּף רוּחִי)

Here, spirit represents Asaph's inner strength or vitality. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I felt weak] or [and I became exhausted]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
I meditated	as I thoughtfully considered {him
my spirit	I
Selah	Selah

Psalms 77:4

ULT	UST
You held the lids of my eyes; I was troubled and I did not speak.	All during the night he prevented me from sleeping; I was so worried that I did not know what to say.

ULT You held the lids of my eyes
UST All during the night he prevented me from sleeping; I was so (אָחַזְתָּ שְׁמֻרוֹת עֵינָי)

Asaph is speaking of God preventing him from sleeping as if God held the lids of my eyes open. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You prevented me from sleeping] or [You kept me awake]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I was troubled	worried that

Psalms 77:5

ULT	UST
I thought about days from antiquity, years of long ago.	I thought about days that had passed; I remembered what had happened in previous years.

ULT days from antiquity, years of long ago
UST about days that had passed; I remembered what had happened in previous years
(יְמֵים מִקֶּדֶם שְׁנוֹת עוֹלָמִים)

These two phrases days from antiquity and years of long ago mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [times long, long ago]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT days from antiquity
UST about days that had passed
(יְמֵים מִקֶּדֶם)

Here, days represents a particular period of time in the past. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the time long ago] or [the era of antiquity]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
years	years

Psalms 77:6

ULT	UST
I will remember my song in the night; with my heart I will meditate, and my spirit searches.	During the night, I remembered the songs that I used to sing; I thoughtfully considered, and I pondered these things:

ULT with my heart I will meditate
UST I thoughtfully considered
(עִם־לְבָבִי אָשִׂיחָה)

Asaph is speaking of my heart as if it were the place where thinking and reflection occur. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I meditate within myself] or [I reflect deeply]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and my spirit searches
UST and I pondered these things
(וְיִחַפֵּשׂ רוּחִי)

Asaph is using one part of a person, his spirit, to mean all of him in the act of searching for understanding. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I search diligently]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will meditate	I thoughtfully considered and my spirit	pondered these things searches	and I

Psalms 77:7

ULT	UST
Will the Lord reject {me} forever? And will he not again add to show favor?	{I feared that} the Lord would reject {me} forever and that he would never be kind {to me} again.

ULT Will the Lord reject {me} forever? And will he not again add to show favor
UST I feared that} the Lord would reject {me} forever and that he would never be kind {to me} again
(הֲלְעוֹלָמִים יִזְנַח | אֲדֹנָי וְלֹא־יֹסִיף לִרְצוֹת עוֹד)

Asaph is using the question form to express his distress and uncertainty. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or as exclamations. Alternate translation: [The Lord will surely not reject me forever! He will show me favor again!] or [I am afraid that the Lord will reject me forever and will never again show me favor.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT And will he not again add to show favor
UST and that he would never be kind {to me} again
(וְלֹא־יֹסִיף לִרְצוֹת עוֹד)

Asaph is using again add as a common expression to mean “continue.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And will he not continue to show favor] or [And will he not ever show favor]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT will he & add to show favor
UST that he would & be kind {to me
(יֹסִיף לִרְצוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of favor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [will he … treat me favorably] or [will he … be favorable toward me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the Lord	I feared that} the Lord
Will & reject {me	would reject {me
forever	forever
favor	that he would & be kind {to me

Psalms 77:8

ULT	UST
Has his covenant faithfulness ceased forever? Has a promise ended for generation and generation?	{I wondered whether} {the Lord} had completely stopped being faithful and had broken his promise to all future generations.

ULT his covenant faithfulness
UST the & being faithful
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his faithfulness to his covenant] or [his faithful commitment to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for generation and generation
UST to all future generations
(לְדֹר וְדֹר)

Asaph is using for generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean “throughout all generations” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [throughout all generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT Has his covenant faithfulness ceased forever? Has a promise ended for generation and generation
UST I wondered whether} {the Lord} had completely stopped being faithful and had broken his promise to all future generations (הֶאָפֵס לָנֶצַח חַסְדּוֹ גָּמַר אֹמֶר לְדֹר וְדֹר)

Asaph is using the question form to express his deep sorrow and fear that God has abandoned him. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or as exclamations. Alternate translation: [Your covenant faithfulness must be gone forever! Your promise must have failed forever!] or [Surely your covenant faithfulness is gone forever. Surely your promise has failed forever.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his covenant faithfulness	the & being faithful
forever	completely
a promise	his promise
for generation	to all future generations
and generation	to all future generations

Psalms 77:9

ULT	UST
Has God forgotten to be gracious? Or has he shut up his compassions in {his} nose? Selah	{I asked myself whether} God had forgotten to be gracious {and whether} his anger had caused him to stop being compassionate. Selah

ULT Has God forgotten to be gracious? Or has he shut up his compassions in {his} nose
UST I asked myself whether} God had forgotten to be gracious {and whether} his anger had caused him to stop being compassionate
(הֲשָׁכַח חַנּוֹת אֵל אִם־קָפַץ בְּאַף רַחֲמָיו)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Has God forgotten to be gracious and shut up his compassions in his nose]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT has he shut up his compassions in {his} nose
UST his anger had caused him to stop being compassionate
(קָפַץ בְּאַף רַחֲמָיו)

Asaph speaks of anger as if it were a person shutting a door to keep another person, compassion, from coming out. Alternate translation: [has God stopped showing us compassion because he is angry with us]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Has God forgotten to be gracious? Or has he shut up his compassions in {his} nose? Selah
UST I asked myself whether} God had forgotten to be gracious {and whether} his anger had caused him to stop being compassionate. Selah
(הֲשָׁכַח חַנּוֹת אֵל אִם־קָפַץ בְּאַף רַחֲמָיו סֶלָה)

Asaph is using the question form to express his anguish and doubt, not to seek information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or as exclamations. Alternate translation: [God has forgotten to be gracious. He has shut off his compassion in anger.] or [Surely God has not forgotten to be gracious! Surely his anger has not shut off his compassion!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT has he shut up his compassions in {his} nose
> UST his anger had caused him to stop being compassionate
> (קָפַץ בְּאַף רַחֲמָיו)

Asaph is speaking of God's compassions as if they were something physical that his anger could shut up, like closing a door or stopping a flow. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [has his anger caused him to withhold his compassion] or [has he withheld his compassion because of his anger]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT in {his} nose
> UST his anger
> (בְּאַף)

Here, nose represents anger. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in his anger]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
to be gracious	to be gracious
his compassions	compassionate
Selah	Selah

Psalms 77:10

ULT	UST
And I said, “This is my wounding: the changing of the right hand of the Most High.”	I said, “What causes me to be sad the most is that it seems that God, who is greater than any other spirit being, is no longer using his power for us.”

ULT And I said
UST I said
(וָאֹמַר)

This could mean: (1) Asaph was speaking to himself or (2) Asaph was speaking to Yahweh. Alternate translation: [And I said to myself] or [And I said to Yahweh]

ULT This is my wounding
UST What causes me to be sad the most is that it seems that (חַלּוֹתִי הִיא)

Asaph is speaking of his great distress as if it were a physical wounding. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [This is my great distress] or [This is what afflicts me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the right hand
UST using his power for us
(יְמִין)

Here, the right hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the power] or [the strength]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the Most High	God, who is greater than any other spirit being

Psalms 77:11

ULT	UST
I will remember the deeds of Yah; for I will remember your wonder from antiquity.	But then, Yahweh, I recall your great deeds; I remember the wonderful things that you did in the past.

> ULT your wonder from antiquity
> UST the wonderful things & did in the past
> (מִקֶּדֶם פִּלְאֶךָ)

Here, from antiquity represents the distant past when God did his remarkable deeds. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the wonders you did long ago] or [your wonderful deeds in ancient times]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT your wonder from antiquity
> UST the wonderful things & did in the past
> (מִקֶּדֶם פִּלְאֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonder, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the wonderful things that you did long ago]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Yah	But then, Yahweh
your wonder	the wonderful things

Psalms 77:12

ULT	UST
And I will ponder on all your deeds, and on your works I will meditate.	I contemplated all that you have done, and I thought carefully about your mighty acts.

ULT And I will ponder on all your deeds, and on your works I will meditate

UST I contemplated all that you have done, and I thought carefully about your mighty acts

(וְהָגִ֥יתִי בְכָל־פָּעֳלֶ֑ךָ וּבַעֲלִילוֹתֶ֖יךָ אָשִׂיחָֽה)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [And I will ponder and meditate on all your deeds]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And I will ponder	I contemplated
I will meditate	I thought carefully

Psalms 77:13

ULT	UST
Your way, God, is in holiness; what god is great like God?	God, everything that you do is amazing; there is certainly no god who is great like you are!

ULT Your way, God, is in holiness
UST God, everything that you do is amazing
(אֱלֹהִים בַּקֹּדֶשׁ דַּרְכֶּךָ)

Asaph is speaking of God's manner of acting as if it were a way or path that he travels. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [God, the manner in which you act is holy] or [God, everything you do is holy]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is in holiness
UST that you do is amazing
(בַּקֹּדֶשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is a holy way] or [is a way that is holy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT what god is great like God
UST there is certainly no god who is great like you are (מִי־אֵל גָּדוֹל כֵּאלֹהִים)

Asaph is using the question form to emphasize that no god compares to the true God. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [no god is great like God] or [there is no god as great as God!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
is in holiness	that you do is amazing
god	like you are like God	no god who is

Psalms 77:14

ULT	UST
You are the God who does wonders; you have revealed your strength among the peoples.	You are God, the one who performs miracles; you showed to the people of many people groups that you are powerful.

ULT your strength
UST you are powerful
(עֹז)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how strong you are] or [how powerfully you act]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the God who does	who performs wonders	miracles; you showed
your strength	you are powerful

Psalms 77:15

ULT	UST
You have redeemed your people with {your} arm, the sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah	By your power you rescued your people {from Egypt}; you saved those who were descendants of Jacob and his son Joseph. Selah

ULT with {your} arm
UST By your power
(בִּזְרֹועַ)

Here, arm represents God's power and ability to rescue. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [by your power] or [with your mighty strength]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the sons of Jacob and Joseph
UST you saved those who were descendants of Jacob and his son Joseph (בְּנֵי־יַעֲקֹב וְיוֹסֵף)

Asaph is speaking of the later Israelites as if they were actually the sons of Jacob and Joseph. He means that they are the descendants of these ancestors. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the descendants of Jacob and Joseph] or [the people descended from Jacob and Joseph]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You have redeemed	you rescued your people
of Jacob	Jacob
and Joseph	and his son Joseph
Selah	Selah

Psalms 77:16

ULT	UST
The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you, and they trembled; indeed the depths shook.	It was as though the waters saw you and became very afraid, and even the deepest part of the water shook.

ULT The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you
UST It was as though the waters saw you
(רָאֻוךָ מַיִם | אֱלֹהִים רָאֻוךָ מָיִם)

Asaph is repeating the phrase the waters saw you in order to intensify his expression of the idea it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [The waters surely saw you, God]

Support Reference: Reduplication

ULT The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you, and they trembled; indeed the depths shook
UST It was as though the waters saw you and became very afraid, and even the deepest part of the water shook
(רָאֻוךָ מַיִם | אֱלֹהִים רָאֻוךָ מַיִם יָחִילוּ אַף יִרְגְּזוּ תְהֹמוֹת)

Starting in this verse and extending through verse 19, Asaph is speaking of God's powerful actions during the exodus as if they were a storm, with thunder representing God's voice, arrows and lightning representing God's power striking out, and the waters and the earth reacting in fear by trembling. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express these images with a comparison or state the meaning plainly.

Support Reference: Biblical Imagery — Extended Metaphors

ULT The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you
UST It was as though the waters saw you
(רָאֻוךָ מַיִם | אֱלֹהִים רָאֻוךָ מָיִם)

Asaph is speaking of the waters as if they were living things that could see and respond with fear. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [When you, God, came to the waters, they moved back in fear] or [The waters moved away from you, God, as if they saw you]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT and they trembled; indeed the depths shook
> UST and became very afraid, and even the deepest part of the water shook > (יַחֲילוּ אַף יִרְגְּזוּ תְהֹמוֹת)

These two phrases, they trembled and the depths shook, mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [and they trembled, even the depths shook]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	you
and they trembled	and became very afraid
shook	shook

Psalms 77:17

ULT	UST
The clouds poured down water; the skies gave a sound; your arrows also flew about.	Rain poured down from the clouds; it thundered very loudly, and lightning flashed in all directions.

ULT the skies gave a sound
UST from the clouds; it thundered very loudly
(עָבֹות קֹול נָתְנוּ)

By gave a sound, Asaph means that the skies thundered. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the skies thundered]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT your arrows also flew about
UST and lightning flashed in all directions
(אַף־חֲצָצֶיךָ יִתְהַלָּכוּ)

Asaph is speaking of lightning bolts as if they were arrows that God shot. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your lightning bolts also flashed in all directions] or [you also shot lightning across the sky]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the skies	from the clouds

Psalms 77:18

ULT	UST
The sound of your thunder {was} in the whirlwind; the lightning lit up the world; the earth trembled and shook.	Thunder crashed in the whirlwind—your voice! Lightning lit up, and the earth shook violently.

ULT The sound of your thunder {was} in the whirlwind
UST Thunder crashed in the whirlwind—your voice
(קוֹל רַעַמְךָ֥ בַּגַּלְגַּ֗ל)

Asaph is speaking of the sound of God's thunder as if it were in the whirlwind and as if God's voice or presence were speaking from within the storm. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your voice thundered from the whirlwind] or [You spoke with thundering power in the storm]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT trembled and shook
UST shook violently
(רָגְזָ֥ה וַתִּרְעַ֑שׁ)

The terms trembled and shook mean similar things. Asaph is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [shook violently] or [quaked greatly]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the world	and the earth
trembled and	shook
shook	violently

Psalms 77:19

ULT	UST
Your way went through the sea and your path through many waters, but your footprints were not discerned.	Then you walked through the sea in a path that you made through the deep water, but your footprints could not be seen.

ULT Your way went through the sea and your path
UST Then you walked through the sea in a path that (בַּיָּ֣ם דַּרְכֶּ֣ךָ וּשְׁבִילְךָ֣)

Asaph is speaking of God's actions and guidance as if they were a way and path that he traveled. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your deeds were done in the sea and your works] or [You acted in the sea, and you worked]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Your way went through the sea and your path through many waters
UST Then you walked through the sea in a path that you made through the deep water
(בַּיָּ֣ם דַּרְכֶּ֣ךָ וּשְׁבִילְךָ֣ בְּמַ֣יִם רַבִּ֑ים)

These two phrases, Your way went through the sea and your path through many waters, mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Your way went through the sea, yes, your path went through many waters]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT but your footprints were not discerned
UST but your footprints could not be seen
(וְעִקְּבוֹתֶ֣יךָ לֹ֣א נֹדָֽעוּ)

Asaph is speaking of God as if he were a person who could leave footprints when walking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but no trace of your presence could be seen] or [but there was no sign of where you had been]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT but your footprints were not discerned
UST but your footprints could not be seen
(וְעִקְּבוֹתֶיךָ לֹא נִדְעוּ)

The expression your footprints were not discerned is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [but no one could discern your footprints] or [but your footprints could not be seen]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
were & discerned	but your

Psalms 77:20

ULT	UST
You led your people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.	You led your people as a shepherd leads his flock of sheep while Moses and Aaron were the leaders of your people.

ULT like a flock
UST sheep
(כַּצֹּאן)

The point of this comparison is that just as a shepherd leads and cares for a flock, so God led and cared for his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as a shepherd leads a flock] or [with the care and guidance of a shepherd]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT by the hand of Moses and Aaron
UST while Moses and Aaron were the leaders
(בְּיַד־מֹשֶׁה וְאַהֲרֹן)

Here, hand represents agency and leadership. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [through the leadership of Moses and Aaron] or [by means of Moses and Aaron]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like a flock	sheep
of Moses	while Moses
and Aaron	and Aaron were

Psalms 77:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

For the chief musician is an instruction about who should lead people in singing or playing music with this psalm. This could refer to the person in charge of music for temple worship. If your readers would not be familiar with this role, you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the worship leader]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT on
> UST Perform in the style of > (עַל־יְדִיתוּן)

See how you translated the expression “on Jeduthun” in the superscription to Psalm 39.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a psalm	this song
of Asaph	Asaph wrote

Psalms 78

Psalms 78 Introduction

Psalm 78 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 78 is a historical wisdom psalm—a maskil—of Asaph. It recounts Israel's history from the exodus to the reign of David, teaching each generation to trust God and to not repeat the failures of the past. (See: wise, wisdom)

1. Call to hear and teach the next generation (1–8)
2. Ephraim's failure and Israel's forgetfulness (9–11)
3. God's wonders in Egypt and the wilderness (12–16)
4. Rebellion in the wilderness and God's provision (17–31)
5. Continued sin and God's compassion (32–39)
6. Recounting the plagues and the exodus (40–55)
7. Rebellion in the land and God's judgment (56–64)
8. God's renewal: choosing Judah, Zion, and David (65–72)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a "maskil." See the discussion of that term in the introduction to Psalms.

About the Psalm

Psalm 78 is the second longest psalm in the Psalter (after Psalm 119). It belongs to the Asaph collection (Psalms 73–83) and follows a pattern of historical recitation similar to Psalm 15, Psalm 16, and Nehemiah 9. The psalm opens with a didactic framework (verses 1–8) in which Asaph calls his audience to hear a "parable" and "riddles from antiquity." He establishes the purpose of the recitation: each generation must pass on the knowledge of God's deeds to the next, so that future generations will trust God and keep his commandments other/commandments rather than repeating the pattern of rebellion.

The historical narrative unfolds in two main cycles. The first cycle (verses 9–39) moves from Ephraim's failure through the exodus, God's provision of water, manna and quail, the people's rebellious demands, God's judgment, and then his compassion. The second cycle (verses 40–64) returns to the plagues in Egypt, recounts the exodus and conquest, and then describes Israel's idolatry in the land, culminating in God's abandonment of Shiloh and the capture of the ark. The psalm concludes (verses 65–72) with God choosing Judah, Zion, and David as shepherd-king over his people.

The historical events alluded to include the exodus and sea crossing (Exodus 14), the wilderness provision of water, manna, and quail (Exodus 16–17, Numbers 11), the plagues of Egypt (Exodus 7–12), the conquest of Canaan (Joshua 13–21), the capture of the ark at Shiloh (1 Samuel 4), and God's choice of David (2 Samuel 5–7).

Translation Issues in This Psalm

God's "nose" as an idiom for anger

The Hebrew word for "nose" is used throughout the psalm to represent God's anger (verses 21, 31, 38, 49, 50). This is a common Hebrew idiom based on the physical signs of anger (flared nostrils, heavy breathing). Translators should be aware of this recurring pattern and handle it consistently. See the notes on individual verses for guidance.

Anthropomorphism in verse 65

Verse 65 describes Yahweh awakening "as one sleeping" and "as a mighty man shouting from wine." This portrays God as having been inactive during the period of judgment, then suddenly rousing himself to action. These comparisons convey sudden, vigorous action after a period of apparent inactivity, not that God was literally asleep or intoxicated.

Psalms 78:1

ULT	UST
A maskil of Asaph. Hear my teaching, my people; incline your ears to the words of my mouth.	A song of Asaph. My friends, listen to what I am going to teach you; pay careful attention to what I will say.

ULT A maskil
UST A song
(מַשְׂכִּיל)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a maskil. Since the meaning of this word is not certain, you may wish to represent it in its Hebrew form and spell it the way it sounds in your language. See the discussion of that term in the Introduction to Psalms.

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

ULT Hear my teaching, my people; incline your ears to the words of my mouth
UST My friends, listen to what I am going to teach you; pay careful attention to what I will say (הַאֲזִינָה עַמִּי תּוֹרָתִי הַטּוּ אׇזְנְכֶם לְאִמְרֵי־פִי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how your team has decided to translate parallel phrases in the Psalms and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Hear my teaching, my people; yes, listen to the words of my mouth]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Hear my teaching
UST listen to what I am going to teach you (הַאֲזִינָה & תּוֹרָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of teaching, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Listen to what I teach you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my people
UST My friends
(עַמִּי)

Asaph is using this possessive form my people to indicate that he is addressing the Israelites as a leader or teacher among them, not to indicate that they belong to him personally. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [fellow Israelites] or [people of Israel]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT incline your ears
UST pay careful attention
(הַטּוּ אָזְנְכֶם)

Asaph is speaking of paying careful attention to his teaching as if his audience could physically incline their ears toward him in order to listen better. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [pay close attention] or [listen carefully]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to the words of my mouth
UST to what I will say
(לְאִמְרֵי־פִי)

Here, the words of my mouth represents what a person says. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to what I say]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Asaph	of Asaph
my teaching	what I am going to teach you

Psalms 78:1-2

See how you translated a similar introduction in Psalms 49:1–4.

Psalms 78:2

ULT	UST
I will open my mouth in a parable; I will pour out riddles from antiquity.	I am going to give you some sayings that wise people have said. They will be sayings about things that happened long ago, things that were difficult to understand.

ULT I will open my mouth in a parable; I will pour out riddles from antiquity
UST I am going to give you some sayings that wise people have said. They will be sayings about things that happened long ago, things that were difficult to understand (אֶפְתְּחָה בְמָשָׁל פִּי אַבִּיעָה חִידוֹת מִנִּי־קֶדֶם)

See the note on 78:1 or in the Introduction to the Psalms for more information on translating parallelisms. Alternate translation: [I will open my mouth in parables, yes, I will sing about hidden things from the past]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT I will open my mouth
UST I am going to give you & said
(אֶפְתְּחָה & פִּי)

Asaph is using I will open my mouth as a common expression of the culture to mean “I will speak” or “I will begin to teach.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will speak] or [I will begin to teach]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT in a parable
UST some sayings that wise people have (בְמָשָׁל)

A parable is a type of teaching that uses comparisons, stories, or wise sayings to communicate deeper truths. If your readers would not be familiar with this concept, you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [in wise sayings] or [in instructive stories]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

ULT my mouth in a parable; I will pour out riddles from antiquity
UST some sayings that wise people have said. They will be sayings about things that happened long ago, things that were difficult to understand
(בְּמָשָׁל פִּי אַבִּיעָה חִידוֹת מִנִּי־קֶדֶם)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of parables and riddles, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [my mouth in symbolic sayings; I will pour out what is difficult to understand from antiquity] or [my mouth by speaking metaphorically; I will pour out enigmatic sayings from antiquity]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I will pour out riddles
UST They will be sayings & things that were difficult to understand (אַבִּיעָה חִידוֹת)

Asaph is speaking of sharing wisdom as if he were pouring out riddles like liquid from a container. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will utter riddles] or [I will proclaim mysteries]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in a parable	some sayings that wise people have

Psalms 78:3

ULT	UST
These are things that we have heard and learned, things that our fathers have told us.	These are things that we have heard and known previously, things that our parents and grandparents told us.

ULT These are things that we have heard and learned, things
UST These are things that we have heard and known previously (אֲשֶׁר שְׁמַעְנוּ וַנֵּדָעֵם)

The terms heard and learned mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [These are things that we know well, things]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT that our fathers
UST parents and grandparents
(וַאֲבוֹתֵינוּ)

Asaph is speaking of earlier generations of Israelites as if they were fathers. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that our forefathers] or [that those who came before us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 78:4

ULT	UST
We will not keep them from their descendants. We will tell the next generation about the praises of Yahweh, his strength, and his wonders that he has done.	We will tell these things to our children, but we will also tell our grandchildren to praise Yahweh for his power and the glorious things that he has done.

ULT We will not keep them from their descendants
UST We will tell these things to our children
(לֹ֣א נְכַחֵ֣ד | מִבְּנֵיהֶ֑ם)

Asaph is emphasizing a positive meaning by using a negative word, not, together with a mild expression that is the opposite of the intended meaning. If it would be helpful in your language, you could emphasize the positive meaning in a strong way. Alternate translation: [We will certainly tell these things to their descendants]

Support Reference: Litotes

ULT about the praises of Yahweh
UST to praise Yahweh
(תְּהִלּ֣וֹת יְהוָ֔ה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praises, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [about the praiseworthy deeds of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his strength, and his wonders
UST for his power and the glorious things
(וְעֻזּ֥וֹ וְנִפְלְאוֹתָ֗יו)

The phrase his strength, and his wonders expresses a single idea. The word strength tells more about wonders. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [his powerful wonders] or [the mighty miracles]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
keep & from their descendants	We will tell these things to
We will tell	we will also tell generation	but & our grandchildren
about the praises	to praise
of Yahweh	Yahweh
his strength	for his power
and his wonders	and the glorious things

Psalms 78:5

ULT	UST
And he established a testimony in Jacob and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers to teach them to their children,	He gave requirements and instructions to the Israelites, those who are descended from Jacob, and he told our ancestors to teach them to their children.

ULT a testimony & and & a law
UST requirements and instructions
(עֵדוּת & וְתוֹרָה)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of testimony and law, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [what he decreed and commanded] or [his requirements and commands]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in Jacob and & a law in Israel
UST and instructions to the Israelites, those who are descended from Jacob (בְּיַעֲקֹב וְתוֹרָה & בְּיִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Jacob and Israel represent all the descendants of the patriarch Jacob, the Israelite nation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [among the people of Jacob and … a law among the people of Israel] or [among the descendants of Jacob and … a law among the descendants of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And he established	He gave
a testimony	requirements
in Jacob	those who are descended from Jacob appointed	He gave
and & a law	and instructions
in Israel	to the Israelites

Psalms 78:6

ULT	UST
So that the later generation might know, the children yet to be born, and they will rise up and tell to their children.	He commanded this so that their children would also know them and so that they would teach them to their own children.

ULT So that the later generation
UST He commanded this so that their children would also & and so (לְמַ֭עַן & דּ֣וֹר אַחֲרוֹן)

So that marks the rest of verses 6–8 as the goal or purpose of verse five. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [He commanded this in order that the generation to come]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT So that the later generation might know, the children yet to be born
UST He commanded this so that their children would also know them and so that they & to their own
(לְמַ֭עַן יֵדְע֣וּ | דּ֣וֹר אַחֲרוֹן בָּנִ֣ים יִוָּלֵ֑דוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [so that the generation to come might know his decrees, and so that the children not yet born might also know them]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and they will rise up and tell
UST would teach them
(יָקֻ֥מוּ וְיסַפְּר֗וּ)

The psalmist is using rise up as a common expression of the culture to mean “take action” or “come along.” He does not mean that the children will literally stand up. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they in their turn will tell] or [and they will then tell]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the & generation	He commanded this might know	know them
and tell	teach them

Psalms 78:7

ULT	UST
And they would place their confidence in God and not forget the deeds of God but keep his commandments.	In that way, they also would trust in God and would not forget the things that he has done; instead, they would obey his commandments.

ULT And they would place their confidence in God
UST In that way, they also would trust in God & the things that he has done
(וְיָשִׂ֥ימוּ בֵאלֹהִ֗ים כִּסְלָֽם)

The psalmist is speaking of confidence as if it were something that could be physically placed in a secure location. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And they would trust in God] or [And they would rely on God]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT And they would place their confidence in God
UST In that way, they also would trust in God & the things that he has done
(וְיָשִׂ֥ימוּ בֵאלֹהִ֗ים כִּסְלָֽם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of confidence, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [And they would hope in God] or [And they would confidently trust in God]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their confidence	the things that he has done
in God	God
of God	his
but & his commandments	commandments

Psalms 78:8

ULT	UST
And they would not be like their fathers, a stubborn generation and a rebellious generation, {which} did not cause its heart to be steadfast, and its spirit was not faithful with God.	They would not be like their ancestors, who were very stubborn and kept rebelling against God; they did not continue firmly trusting in God, and they did not worship him alone.

ULT a stubborn generation and a rebellious generation
UST be like & and kept rebelling against God
(דּוֹר֣ סוֹרֵ֣ר וּמֹרֶ֑ה דּ֝וֹר)

The terms stubborn and rebellious mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [a very obstinate generation] or [an extremely defiant generation]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT which} did not cause its heart to be steadfast
UST stubborn & they did not continue firmly trusting in God
(לֹא־הֵכִ֣ין לִבּ֑וֹ)

Here, heart represents the inner disposition and loyalty of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [who were not inwardly loyal] or [whose inner disposition was not right]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and its spirit was not faithful with God
UST and they did not worship him alone
(וְלֹא־נֶאֱמְנָ֖ה אֶת־אֵ֣ל רוּחֽוֹ)

Here, spirit represents the inner person or will. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they were not committed and faithful to God]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and & rebellious	and kept its spirit	alone
was & faithful	they did
God	him
a & generation & a & generation	be like & against God

Psalms 78:9

ULT	UST
The sons of Ephraim being armed {with} shooters of bows, they turned back on the day of battle.	The soldiers of the tribe of Ephraim had bows and arrows, but they ran away from their enemies on the day that they fought with their enemies.

ULT they turned back on the day of battle
UST but they ran away & on the day that they fought with their enemies (הָֽפְכ֥וּ בְי֗וֹם קְרָֽב)

The psalmist is using turned back on the day of battle as a common expression of the culture to mean “retreated in battle” or “fled when they should have fought.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [fled when they should have fought] or [retreated instead of fighting]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT on the day of battle
UST on the day that they fought with their enemies (בְּי֗וֹם קְרָֽב)

The psalmist is using the term day to refer to a specific time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [when it was time to fight] or [at the time of battle]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Ephraim	tribe of Ephraim
of bows	had bows and arrows

Psalms 78:10

ULT	UST
They did not keep the covenant of God, and they refused to walk in his law.	They did not do what they had agreed with God that they would do; they refused to obey his laws.

ULT They did not keep the covenant of God, and they refused to walk in his law
UST They did not do what they had agreed with God that they would do; they refused to obey his laws (לֹא שָׁמְרוּ בְּרִית אֱלֹהִים וּבְתוֹרָתוֹ מֵאֲנוּ לָלֶכֶת)

See the note on 78:1 or the Introduction to the Psalms for more information on how to translate parallelisms. Alternate translation: [They did not keep the covenant with God; indeed, they refused to obey his law]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the covenant of God
UST what they had agreed with God
(בְּרִית אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form, the covenant of God, to mean the covenant that God had made with the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the covenant that God had made with them] or [God's covenant]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and they refused to walk in his law
UST that they would do; they refused to obey his laws
(וּבְתוֹרָתוֹ מֵאֲנוּ לָלֶכֶת)

The psalmist is speaking of obeying God's law as if it were a path one could walk on. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they refused to obey his law]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
keep	They did
the covenant	what they had agreed with
of God	God
and & in his law	his laws

Psalms 78:11

ULT	UST
And they forgot his deeds, and his wonders that he had shown them.	They forgot what he had done; they forgot about the miracles that they had seen him perform.

ULT and his wonders that he had shown them
UST they forgot about the miracles that they had seen him perform (וְנִפְלְאוֹתָ֗יו אֲשֶׁ֣ר הֶרְאָֽם)

The psalmist is not distinguishing the wonders that he had shown them from other wonderful things that God had not shown them. The psalmist is reminding the people about the character of God's deeds that they forgot. Be sure that this is clear in your translation. Alternate translation: [which were wonderful things that he had shown them]

Support Reference: Distinguishing Versus Informing or Reminding

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and his wonders	they forgot about the miracles

Psalms 78:12

ULT	UST
He did wonders before their fathers in the land of Egypt, in the territory of Zoan.	While our ancestors were watching, God performed miracles in the area around the city of Zoan in Egypt.

ULT in the territory of Zoan
UST in the area around the city of Zoan
(שְׂדֵה־צֹֽעַן)

The word Zoan is the name of a city.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT before their fathers
UST While our ancestors were watching
(נֶגֶד אֲבוֹתָֽם)

Here, their fathers represents their ancestors who were present to see the marvelous things. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [when their ancestors were present] or [while their ancestors were watching]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wonders	miracles
in the land	in Egypt
of Egypt	in Egypt

Psalms 78:13

ULT	UST
He divided the sea and led them across it, and he made the waters to stand like a heap.	Then he caused the Sea of Reeds to divide, causing the water on each side to pile up like a wall, with the result that our ancestors walked through it on dry ground.

ULT and he made the waters to stand like a heap
UST causing the water on each side to pile up like a wall & our ancestors walked through it on dry ground
(וְיַצֶּב־מַ֝יִם כְּמוֹ־נֵֽד)

The point of this comparison is that just as a heap is a vertical structure, so the waters stood upright. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and he made the waters stand upright like a solid wall]

Support Reference: Simile

Psalms 78:14

ULT	UST
And by day he led them with the cloud and all the night with the light of fire.	He led them by a bright cloud during the day and by a fiery light during the night.

ULT and all the night with the light of fire
UST and by a fiery light during the night
(וְכָל־הַלָּיְלָה בְּאוֹר אֵשׁ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and all the night he led them with the light of fire]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT with the cloud & with the light of fire
UST bright cloud & by a fiery light
(בֶּעָנָן & בְּאוֹר אֵשׁ)

By the cloud and the light of fire, the psalmist means the pillar of cloud and the pillar of fire that guided Israel in the wilderness (Exodus 13:21–22). You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [with the pillar of cloud … with the pillar of fire]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

Psalms 78:15

ULT	UST
He split open the rocks in the wilderness, and he gave drink abundantly as the deep.	He split rocks open in the wilderness and gave to our ancestors plenty of water from deep inside the earth.

ULT He split open
UST He split
(יְבַקַּע)

The pronoun He refers to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God split open]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and he gave drink abundantly as the deep
UST and gave to our ancestors plenty of water from deep inside the earth
(וַיַּשְׁקְ כִּתְהֹמוֹת רַבָּה)

The point of this comparison is that just as the deep has limitless water, so God provided limitless water for his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and he gave them water as limitless as the deep]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and he gave drink abundantly as the deep
UST and gave to our ancestors plenty of water from deep inside the earth
(וַיַּשְׁקְ כִּתְהֹמוֹת רַבָּה)

The psalmist says and he gave drink abundantly as the deep as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [and he gave them an enormous amount of water to drink]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the wilderness	in the wilderness

Psalms 78:16

ULT	UST
He made streams flow out of the rock and made the water flow like rivers.	He caused a stream of water to flow from the rock; the water flowed like a river.

ULT like rivers
UST a river
(כַּנְּהָרוֹת)

The point of this comparison is that just as rivers are abundant and continuous in their flow, so was the water that God brought from the rock. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [in great abundance] or [in a continuous stream]

Support Reference: Simile

Psalms 78:17

ULT	UST
And they added still to sin against him, to rebel against the Most High in the dry land.	But our ancestors continued to sin against God; in the desert they rebelled against the one who is greater than any other spirit being.

ULT And they added
UST But our ancestors continued
(וַיּוֹסִ֥יפוּ)

The pronoun they refers to the Israelites, the ancestors of those whom the psalmist is addressing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [And the Israelite people added] or [And those ancestors added]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT And they added still to sin against him
UST But our ancestors continued to sin against God
(וַיּוֹסִ֥יפוּ עֹ֑וד לַחֲטֹא־לֽוֹ)

The psalmist uses the word And here to indicate a contrast between God's gracious provision and the people's sinful response. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [But they added still to sin against him] or [Yet they added still to sin against him]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to sin	to sin
to rebel against	they rebelled against the Most High	the one who is greater than any other spirit being in the dry land	in the desert
in the dry land	in the desert

Psalms 78:18

ULT	UST
And they tested God in their hearts by asking {for} food for their appetite.	By demanding that God give them the food that they desired, they tried to find out if he would always do what they requested him to do.

ULT And they tested God in their hearts by asking {for} food for their appetite
UST By demanding that God give them the food that they desired, they tried to find out if he would always do what they requested him to do
(וַיְנַסּוּ־אֵל בִּלְבָבָם לִשְׁאַל־אֹכֶל לְנַפְשָׁם)

The psalmist is using the phrase by asking for food for their appetite to state the reason for the result that they tested God in their hearts. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [And they tested God in their hearts when they asked for food for their appetite]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT in their hearts
UST that they desired
(בִּלְבָבָם)

Here, hearts represents the inner thoughts and attitudes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in their minds] or [inwardly]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT for} food for their appetite
UST By demanding that God give them the food
(אֹכֶל לְנַפְשָׁם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of appetite, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for what they craved] or [for what they desired to eat]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they tested	they tried
God	to find out

Psalms 78:19

ULT	UST
And they spoke against God. They said, “Can God arrange a table in the wilderness?	They insulted God by saying, “God surely cannot supply food for us here in this desert.

ULT Can God arrange a table in the wilderness
UST God surely cannot supply food for us here in this desert
(הֲיוּכַל אֵל לַעֲרֹךְ שֻׁלְחָן בַּמִּדְבָּר)

The Israelites are using the question form to express doubt about God’s ability to provide for them. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [God cannot arrange a table in the wilderness!] or [Surely God is not able to arrange a table in the wilderness!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT arrange a table
UST supply food for us
(לַעֲרֹךְ שֻׁלְחָן)

The Israelites are speaking of God providing food as if he were arranging a table for a meal. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [provide food for us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
against God	God
God	God
in the wilderness	here in this desert

Psalms 78:20

ULT	UST
Behold, he struck the rock and waters gushed out and streams overflowed. Is he able to give bread also? Or can he provide meat for his people?”	It is surely true that Moses struck the rock, and God made a huge amount of water gush out, but we, his people, {doubt} that he can also provide bread and meat for us.”

ULT Is he able to give bread also? Or can he provide meat for his people

UST but we, his people, {doubt} that he can also provide bread and meat for us

(הֲגַם־לֶחֶם יוּכַל תֵּת אִם־יָכִין שְׁאֵר לְעַמּוֹ)

The Israelites are using the question form to express their doubt that God can provide different kinds of food. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or as exclamations. Alternate translation: [But surely he cannot give bread also! Surely he cannot provide meat for his people!] or [But he is not able to give bread also. He cannot provide meat for his people.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT for his people

UST we, his people & for us

(לְעַמּוֹ)

The people are speaking of themselves in the third person as his people to acknowledge their relationship with God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the first person. Alternate translation: [for us, his people]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
bread	bread

Psalms 78:21

ULT	UST
Therefore, Yahweh heard and was furious, and a fire was kindled against Jacob, and also {his} nose went up against Israel,	So when Yahweh heard that, he became very angry, and he sent a fire to burn up some of his Israelite people.

ULT and a fire was kindled against Jacob
UST he became very angry & he sent a fire
(וְאֵשׁ נִשַּׁק קָדָה בְיַעֲקֹב)

The expression a fire was kindled is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [and Yahweh kindled a fire against Jacob] or [and Yahweh's anger burned against Jacob]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and a fire was kindled against Jacob
UST he became very angry & he sent a fire
(וְאֵשׁ נִשַּׁק קָדָה בְיַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's anger as if it were a fire that could be kindled. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and Yahweh became furiously angry against Jacob] or [and Yahweh's anger burned against Jacob]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and also {his} nose went up against Israel
UST and & to burn up some of his Israelite people
(וְגַם־אַף עָלָה בְיִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, nose represents anger. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and also his anger burned against Israel] or [and also he became angry with Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT against Jacob & against Israel
> UST he sent & Israelite people
> (בְּיַעֲקֹב & בְּיִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Jacob and Israel represent the entire nation descended from this patriarch. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [against the people of Jacob … against the people of Israel] or [against the nation of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
against Jacob	he sent against Israel	Israelite people

Psalms 78:22

ULT	UST
because they did not believe in God and did not trust in his salvation.	He did that because they did not trust in him, and they did not believe that he would rescue them.

ULT because they did not believe in God and did not trust in his salvation
UST He did that because they did not trust in him, and they did not believe that he would rescue them
(כִּי לֹא הֶאֱמִינוּ בֵּאלֹהִים וְלֹא בָטְחוּ בִּישׁוּעָתוֹ)

The word translated as because indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [since they did not believe in God and did not trust in his salvation]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and did & trust in his salvation
UST they did & believe that he would rescue them
(בָטְחוּ בִּישׁוּעָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and that he would save them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they did & believe	they did & trust
in God	in him
and did & trust in	they did & believe his salvation	that he would rescue them

Psalms 78:23

ULT	UST
Yet he commanded the clouds from above and opened the doors of the sky.	But God spoke to the sky above them and commanded it to open like a door,

ULT Yet he commanded
UST and commanded it
(וְיִצָּו)

The psalmist uses the word Yet here to indicate a contrast between the Israelites' unbelief and God's gracious provision. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [But he commanded] or [Even so, he commanded]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT Yet he commanded the clouds from above and opened the doors of the sky
UST But God spoke to the sky above them and commanded it to open like a door
(וְיִצָּו שְׁחָקִים מִמָּעַל וְדַלְתֵי שָׁמַיִם פָּתָח)

The psalmist is speaking of the sky as if it were a building with doors that God opened. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yet he gave orders to the sky above and caused the heavens to open]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Yet he commanded the clouds
UST But God spoke to & and commanded it
(וְיִצָּו שְׁחָקִים)

The psalmist is speaking of the clouds as if they were living things that could hear and obey God's commands. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He controlled the clouds]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the sky	the sky

Psalms 78:24

ULT	UST
And he rained down manna to eat on them, and gave to them the grain of heaven.	and then food fell down like rain, food that they named “manna.” God gave them grain from heaven.

ULT And he rained down manna to eat on them
UST and then food fell down like rain & manna
(וַיַּמְטֵר עֲלֵיהֶם מָן לֶאֱכֹל)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a weather phenomenon, and he rained down manna from the sky. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He caused manna to fall down from the sky]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and & the grain of heaven
UST grain from heaven
(וּדְגַן־שָׁמַיִם)

The phrase the grain of heaven could mean: (1) the grain that angels eat or (2) the grain that came from heaven. The next verse supports the first meaning.

ULT and & the grain of heaven
UST grain from heaven
(וּדְגַן־שָׁמַיִם)

The psalmist is using grain to represent all of the manna that God provided. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and … the food from heaven] or [and … the provision from heaven]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
manna	manna
and & the grain of	grain
heaven	from heaven

Psalms 78:25

ULT	UST
Man ate the bread of the mighty. He sent to them provision to {their} satisfaction.	So the people ate the food that angels eat. God gave to them all the manna that they wanted.

> ULT Man ate
> UST So the people ate
> (אָכַל אִישׁ)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific Man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [People ate]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT the bread
> UST the food
> (לֶחֶם)

The psalmist is using one kind of food, bread, to mean food in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the food] or [the grain]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

> ULT of the mighty
> UST that angels eat
> (אַבִּירִים)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the mighty refers to angels. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [of angels]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT provision to {their} satisfaction
> UST all the manna that they wanted
> (צֵידָה & לְשֹׂבַע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of satisfaction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [enough food to satisfy them] or [abundant food]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the bread	the food
of the mighty	that angels eat

Psalms 78:27

ULT	UST
And he rained down meat on them like dust, and birds of wing as the sands of the sea.	The wind brought birds to eat which fell like rain. They were as uncountable as the grains of sand on the seashore.

ULT And he rained down meat on them like dust
UST The wind brought birds to eat which fell like rain & were as uncountable (וַיַּמְטֵר עֲלֵיהֶם כֶּעָפָר שְׁאֵר)

The psalmist is speaking of the meat as if it were rain that God rained down on the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He caused meat to fall on them in great abundance] or [He gave them a huge amount of meat]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and birds of wing as the sands of the sea
UST They & as the grains of sand on the seashore
(וְכַחוֹל יַמִּים עוֹף כָּנָף)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he rained down birds of wing as numerous as the sands of the sea]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT birds of wing
UST They
(עוֹף כָּנָף)

It might seem that the expression birds of wing contains extra information that would not be natural to express in your language. If so, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [birds]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

ULT birds of wing
UST They
(עֹוף כָּנָף)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe birds that are characterized by having wings. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [winged birds] or [flying birds]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT like dust, and & as the sands of the sea
UST were as uncountable as the grains of sand on the seashore
(כֶּעָפָר & וְכָחֹול יַמִּים)

The psalmist says like dust and as the sands of the sea as extreme statements for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [in great quantities and … beyond counting]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

Psalms 78:28

ULT	UST
And he caused them to fall in the middle of his camp, around his dwellings.	God caused those birds to fall in the middle of their camp. There were birds all around their tents.

ULT And he caused them to fall in the middle of his camp, around his dwellings
UST God caused those birds to fall in the middle of their camp. There were birds all around their tents
(וַיַּפֵּל בְּקֶרֶב מַחֲנֵהוּ סָבִיב לְמִשְׁכְּנֹתָיו)

The pronoun his refers to the people of Israel, not to God. The psalmist is describing the birds falling into the Israelites' camp and near their tents. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [They fell in the middle of the Israelites' camp, all around the Israelites' tents]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT of his camp, around his dwellings
UST in the middle of their camp & all around their tents
(מַחֲנֵהוּ סָבִיב לְמִשְׁכְּנֹתָיו)

Here, his refers to the Israelites. See the book introduction for more information.

Support Reference: Collective Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his dwellings	their tents

Psalms 78:29

ULT	UST
And they ate and were very satisfied. And he brought their craving to them.	So the people {cooked the birds and} ate the meat; their stomachs were full because God had given them what they wanted.

ULT And he brought their craving to them
UST because God had given them what they wanted
(וְתַאֲוָתָם יָבִא לָהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of craving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He gave them what they craved]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

Psalms 78:30

ULT	UST
They were not separated from their craving, their food was still in their mouth,	But they had not yet eaten all that they wanted,

ULT from their craving
UST they wanted
(מִתַּאֲוָתָם)

See how you translated the similar expression in 78:29.

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

Psalms 78:31

ULT	UST
and the nose of God went up in them and he killed some of their stoutest people, and he caused the young men of Israel to bow down.	when God angrily killed some of their strongest men. He even sent young Israelite men to their graves.

ULT and the nose of God went up in them
UST when God angrily
(וְאַף אֱלֹהִים ׀ עָלָה בָהֶם)

See how you translated the similar expression in 78:21.

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and he caused the young men of Israel to bow down
UST He even sent young Israelite men to their graves
(וּבַחוּרֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל הִכְרִיעַ)

The psalmist is speaking of the young men dying as if God were physically forcing them to bow down to the ground. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he struck down the young men of Israel] or [and he made the young men of Israel fall dead]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of God	God
and he killed	killed some of Israel	Israelite men
and he caused & to bow down	He even sent & to their graves

Psalms 78:32

ULT	UST
In all this they sinned again, and did not believe in his wonders.	In spite of all this, the people continued to sin; in spite of all the miracles that God had performed, they still did not trust that he would take care of them.

ULT in his wonders
UST in spite of all the miracles that God had performed
(בְּנִפְלְאוֹתָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonders, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in the wonderful things he did] or [that he could do wonderful things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they sinned	to sin
did & believe	trust that he would take care of them
in his wonders	in spite of all the miracles that God had performed

Psalms 78:33

ULT	UST
So he consumed their days in a vapor, and their years in terror.	So he shortened their lives so they seemed to only be a few days or like they were gone as quickly as a breath of air, and he terrified them during even those few years.

ULT So he consumed their days in a vapor, and their years in terror
UST So he shortened their lives so they seemed to only be a few days or like they were gone as quickly as a breath of air, and he terrified them during even those few years
(וַיְכַל־בַּהֶבֶל יְמֵיהֶם וּשְׁנוֹתָם בַּבֶּהָלָה)

This is poetic language. The psalmist moves from shorter units of time (days) to longer units (years) to emphasize the completeness of God's judgment. If your language has a way to indicate poetry, you could use it here. Alternate translation: [So he ended their lives quickly, like a breath, and their years were full of fear]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT So he consumed their days
UST So he shortened their lives & a few days
(וַיְכַל & יְמֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is referring to God ending the lives of the Israelites in a polite way by using the phrase he consumed their days. Depending on what is helpful for your readers, you could use a polite way of referring to this in your language, or you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [So he ended their days] or [So he caused their days to vanish]

Support Reference: Euphemism

ULT So he consumed their days in a vapor
UST So he shortened their lives so they seemed to only be a few days or like they were gone as quickly as a breath of air
(וַיְכַל־בַּהֶבֶל יְמֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is speaking of their days as if they were something that could be consumed (used up) in a vapor (as quickly as a puff of breath disappears). If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [So he caused their days to quickly vanish like vapor] or [So he caused their days to pass swiftly like a breath]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and their years in terror
> UST and he terrified them during even those few years
> (וּשְׁנוֹתָם בַּבֶּהָלָה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he consumed their years in terror]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT their days & and their years
> UST their lives & a few days & even those few years
> (יְמֵיהֶם וּשְׁנוֹתָם)

Here, their days and their years represent their lives. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [their lives … and their lives]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
So he consumed	So he shortened
and their years	even those few years
in terror	and he terrified them during

Psalms 78:34

ULT	UST
When he killed them, then they would seek him, and they would return and look earnestly for God.	Whenever God caused some of the Israelites to die, the others would repent; they would be sorry and seriously ask God to save them.

ULT When he killed them, then they would seek him
UST Whenever God caused some of the Israelites to die & they would be sorry and seriously ask God
(אִם־הֱרָגָם וּדְרָשֻׁוהוּ)

The psalmist is describing repeated events, not a single occurrence. The word When indicates that this pattern happened multiple times. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a word or phrase that shows this repetition. Alternate translation: [Each time God afflicted them, they would seek him]

Support Reference: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he killed them	to die
then they would seek him	they would be sorry and seriously ask God
God	to save them

Psalms 78:35

ULT	UST
And they would remember that God was their rock and {that} God Most High was their redeemer.	They would remember that God was like a huge rock on which they would be safe, and that he, who was greater than any other spirit being, was the one who would buy them back.

ULT And they would remember that God was their rock and {that} God Most High was their redeemer
UST They would remember that God was like a huge rock on which they would be safe, and that he, who was greater than any other spirit being, was the one who would buy them back (וַיִּזְכְּרוּ כִּי־אֱלֹהִים צוּרָם וְאֵל עֶלְיוֹן גֹּאֲלָם)

See the note on 78:1 or the Introduction to the Psalms for more information on how to translate parallelisms. Alternate translation: [They would remember that God Most High was their rock and redeemer]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT God was their rock
UST God was like a huge rock on which they would be safe
(אֱלֹהִים צוּרָם)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were a rock that provided protection and stability. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture, or you could express the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [God was their refuge] or [God was their protector]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and {that} God Most High was their redeemer
UST and that he, who was greater than any other spirit being, was the one who would buy them back
(וְאֵל עֶלְיוֹן גֹּאֲלָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and they would remember that God Most High was their rescuer]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
and {that} God	and that he
Most High	who was greater than any other spirit being was their redeemer	was the one who would buy them back

Psalms 78:36

ULT	UST
And they would deceive him with their mouth and lie to him with their tongues.	But they tried to trick God by lying to him.

ULT with their mouth and & with their tongues
UST But they tried to trick God by lying (בְּפִיהֶם וּבִלְשׁוֹנָם)

Here, with their mouth and with their tongues represent what the people said by using their mouth and words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [by what they said to him and … in what they told him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they would deceive him	But they tried to trick God lie	by lying
and & with their tongues	by lying

Psalms 78:37

ULT	UST
And their hearts were not steadfast with him, and they were not faithful in his covenant.	They were not loyal to him; they did not keep the promises between God and them.

ULT And their hearts were not steadfast with him
UST They were not loyal to him
(וְלִבָּם לֹא־נָכוֹן עִמּוֹ)

Here, hearts represents the people's inner desires and commitment. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And they were not truly committed to him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT And their hearts were not steadfast with him
UST They were not loyal to him
(וְלִבָּם לֹא־נָכוֹן עִמּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of steadfast, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [And they were not loyal to him in their hearts] or [And they did not remain faithful toward him in their hearts]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and they were & faithful	they did & keep in his covenant	the promises between God and them

Psalms 78:38

ULT	UST
Yet he, {being} merciful, atoned for their iniquity and did not destroy them. And many times he held back his nose and did not stir up all his wrath.	But God acted mercifully toward his people. He forgave them for having sinned and did not get rid of them. Many times he decided not to become angry with them and did not furiously punish them.

ULT And many times he held back his nose and did not stir up all his wrath

UST Many times he decided not to become angry with them and did not furiously punish them

(וְהִרְבָּה לְהָשִׁיב אַפּוֹ וְלֹא־יָעִיר כָּל־חֲמָתוֹ)

The psalmist is emphasizing a positive meaning by using a negative word, not, together with an expression that is the opposite of the intended meaning. If it would be helpful in your language, you could emphasize the positive meaning in a strong way. Alternate translation: [Many times he chose to be patient with his people]

Support Reference: Litotes

ULT he held back his nose

UST decided not to become angry with them

(לְהָשִׁיב אַפּוֹ)

Here, nose represents anger. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he held back his anger] or [he restrained his anger]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT he held back his nose

UST decided not to become angry with them

(לְהָשִׁיב אַפּוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of God’s anger as if it were something physical that God held back to keep it from going out toward the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he restrained his anger] or [he controlled his anger]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and did not stir up all his wrath
UST he & and did not furiously punish them
(וְלֹא־עִ֝יר כָּל־חֲמָתֽוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of God’s wrath as if it were something dormant that he could stir up or arouse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and did not cause his full wrath to awaken] or [and did not unleash the full extent of his anger]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
being} merciful	acted mercifully toward his people
atoned for	He forgave them
their iniquity	for having sinned
did & destroy them	did & get rid of them
And many times	Many times
did & stir up	he & did & furiously punish them
his wrath	he & did & furiously punish them

Psalms 78:39

ULT	UST
And he remembered that they were flesh, a wind going and it does not return.	He remembered that they were only humans who die, humans who disappear as quickly as a wind that blows by and then is gone.

ULT they were flesh
UST they were only humans who die, humans who (בָּשָׂר הֵמָּה)

Here, flesh represents the weakness and frailty of human nature. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they were weak and frail] or [they were mortal]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT a wind going and it does not return
UST disappear as quickly as a wind that blows by and then is gone
(רוּחַ הוֹלֵךְ וְלֹא יָשׁוּב)

The psalmist is speaking of human beings as if they were a wind going and it does not return. He means that human life is brief and fragile, like a wind that blows by once and then is gone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [mortal beings whose lives quickly end]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 78:41

ULT	UST
And they returned and they tested God and grieved the Holy {One} of Israel.	Many times they did evil things to find out if they could do those things without God punishing them. They frequently caused the holy God whom the Israelites worship to become sad.

ULT And they returned and they tested God
UST Many times they did evil things to find out if they could do those things without God punishing them
(וַיָּשׁוּבוּ וַיְנַסּוּ אֵל)

The psalmist is using the expression they returned and they tested as a common expression of the culture to mean “they repeatedly tested.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They tested God again and again] or [They continually tested God]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and grieved the Holy {One} of Israel
UST They frequently caused the holy God whom the Israelites worship to become sad (וּקְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל הִתְווּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the holy God with whom the Israelites are in a covenant relationship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and grieved the holy God with whom the Israelites are in a covenant relationship]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and & the Holy {One} of Israel
UST They frequently caused the holy God whom the Israelites worship (וּקְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The expression the Holy One of Israel is a title for God.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and they tested	they did evil things
God	to find out if they could do those things without God punishing them
grieved	to become sad
and & the Holy {One	They frequently caused the holy God
of Israel	whom the Israelites worship

Psalms 78:42

ULT	UST
They did not remember his hand, the day when he redeemed them from the adversary,	They did not remember how powerfully he had acted, and they {forgot} about the time when he rescued them from their enemies.

ULT They did not remember his hand
UST They did not remember how powerfully he had acted (לֹא־זָכְרוּ אֶת־יָדֹו)

Here, hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his power] or [his strength]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the day
UST and they {forgot} about the time
(יֹום)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific day. He means the time in general when God redeemed the Israelites from Egypt. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the time]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT he redeemed them from the adversary
UST he rescued them from their enemies
(פָּדָם מִנִּי־צָר)

Here, the adversary represents Egypt and Pharaoh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [he redeemed them from Egypt] or [he redeemed them from Pharaoh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he redeemed them	he rescued them
the adversary	their enemies

Psalms 78:43

ULT	UST
when he set his signs in Egypt and his wonders in the field of Zoan.	They forgot about all the wonderfully powerful things he did near Zoan in Egypt.

ULT of Zoan
UST Zoan
(צֹ֣עַן)

See how you translated this in 78:12. Zoan was a city in Egypt.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his signs	all the wonderfully powerful things he did
in Egypt	in Egypt
and his wonders	all the wonderfully powerful things he did

Psalms 78:45

ULT	UST
He sent a swarm among them, and it devoured them, and the frog and it destroyed them.	He sent swarms of flies among the people of Egypt that bit them, and he sent frogs that destroyed everything.

ULT and the frog
UST and he sent frogs
(וַֽיְצַפְרְדֵ֥עַ)

Here, the frog represents frogs in general, not one particular frog. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and the frogs]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and the frog
UST and he sent frogs
(וַֽיְצַפְרְדֵ֥עַ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he sent the frog]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and it devoured them	that bit them
and it destroyed them	that destroyed everything

Psalms 78:46

ULT	UST
And he gave their produce to the locust and their labor to the swarming locust.	He gave their crops to the locusts. He let swarming locusts eat everything they had worked for.

ULT to the locust and their labor
UST to the locusts. He let & eat everything they had worked for (לֶחָסִיל & וְיִגִיעָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of labor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and what they had labored to produce]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and their labor
UST He let & eat everything they had worked for (וְיִגִיעָם)

Here, labor represents the produce or results of their labor. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and what their labor produced] or [and the fruit of their labor]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their produce	their crops
their produce	their crops
to the locust	to the locusts
and their labor	He let & eat everything they had worked for to the swarming locust	swarming locusts

Psalms 78:48

ULT	UST
And he gave over their cattle to the hail and their livestock to the bolts of lightning.	He sent a terrible thunderstorm with hail to kill all their domestic animals.

ULT And he gave over their cattle to the hail and their livestock
UST He sent & with hail to kill all their domestic animals
(וַיַּסְגֵּר לַבָּרָד בְּעִירָם וּמִקְנֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were a commander who gave over the Egyptians' cattle to the hail as if the hail were an enemy army that would attack them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And he caused the hail to kill their cattle and gave their livestock] or [And he allowed the hail to strike down their cattle and gave their livestock]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their cattle	all their domestic animals
to the hail	with hail
and their livestock	all their domestic animals

Psalms 78:49

ULT	UST
He sent among them the burning of his nose, fury and indignation and distress, a group of messengers of calamity.	Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed. The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything.

ULT among them the burning of his nose, fury and indignation
UST Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed
(בָּ֫ם | חֲרוֹן אַפּוֹ עֶבְרָה וְזַעַם)

The psalmist is using the phrase the burning of his nose as a common expression of the culture to mean that God is angry. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [among them his fierce anger] or [among them his burning anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT fury and indignation and distress
UST he caused them to be very distressed (עֶבְרָה וְזַעַם וְצָרָה)

The terms fury, indignation, and distress mean similar things. The psalmist is using the three terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [great wrath]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT He sent among them the burning of his nose, fury and indignation and distress, a group of messengers of calamity
UST Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed. The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything
(יְשַׁלַּח־בָּם | חֲרוֹן אַפּוֹ עֶבְרָה וְזַעַם וְצָרָה מִשְׁלַחַת מַלְאֲכֵי רָעִים)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of fury, indignation, distress, and calamity, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [He furiously and indignantly distressed them with disastrous messengers]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT He sent among them the burning of his nose, fury and indignation and distress, a group of messengers of calamity
> UST Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed. The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything
> (יְשַׁלַּח־בָּם ׀ חֲרוֹן אַפּוֹ עֶבְרָה וְזַעַם וְצָרָה מִשְׁלַחַת מַלְאֲכֵי רָעִים)

The psalmist is speaking of fury and indignation and distress as if they were living things that could be sent as messengers to carry out God's judgment. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He vented on them his great anger and fury, causing them trouble and disaster]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT He sent among them the burning of his nose, fury and indignation
> UST Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed
> (יְשַׁלַּח־בָּם ׀ חֲרוֹן אַפּוֹ עֶבְרָה וְזַעַם)

The psalmist is speaking of God's anger as if it were a weapon or force that He sent out to strike the Egyptians. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His fierce anger struck them with fury and indignation] or [He attacked them with his fierce anger]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
fury	he caused them to be very distressed and distress	he caused them to be very distressed messengers of	The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything
calamity	The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything

Psalms 78:50

ULT	UST
He made level a path for his anger; he did not spare their soul from death, and their life he gave over to the plague.	He let himself be angry with them, and he did not prevent them from dying; he sent a serious illness that killed many of them.

ULT He made level a path for his anger
UST He let himself be angry with them
(יְפַלֵּס נָתִיב לְאַפּוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of his anger as if it were something that could travel along a path. He means that God fully released his anger against the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He gave full vent to his anger] or [He released his anger without restraint]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and their life he gave over to the plague
UST he sent a serious illness that killed many of them
(וְחַיָּתָם לַדֶּבֶר הִסְגִּיר)

The psalmist is speaking of the lives of the Egyptians as if they were something God could physically give over to the plague. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but allowed them to die from the plague] or [but caused the plague to kill them]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he did & spare	he did & prevent their soul	them
to the plague	a serious illness

Psalms 78:51

ULT	UST
And he struck every firstborn in Egypt, the beginning of strength in the tents of Ham.	In that plague he caused all the firstborn sons of the people of Egypt to die.

ULT the beginning of strength
UST the firstborn sons
(רֵאשִׁית אוֹנִים)

The psalmist is using the beginning of strength as a common expression of the culture to mean the firstborn sons. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the firstborn sons] or [the oldest sons]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT in the tents of Ham
UST of the people of Egypt
(בְּאָהֳלֵי־חָם)

Here, tents represents the families who lived in them, and Ham represents the people of Egypt, who were descended from him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the households of Egypt] or [among the people of Egypt]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
firstborn	the firstborn sons
in Egypt	of the people of Egypt
the beginning of	the firstborn sons
in the tents of	of the people of Egypt
Ham	of the people of Egypt

Psalms 78:52

ULT	UST
And he made his people journey like sheep, and he led them like a flock in the wilderness.	Then he led his people out of Egypt like a shepherd leads his sheep, and he guided them like a flock in the desert.

ULT And he made his people journey like sheep, and he led them like a flock in the wilderness
UST Then he led his people out of Egypt like a shepherd leads his sheep, and he guided them like a flock in the desert
(וַיִּסַּע כַּצֹּאן עַמּוֹ וַיְנַהֲגֵם כַּעֵדֶר בַּמִּדְבָּר)

The point of this comparison is that just as sheep need a shepherd to guide and care for them, so did God's people need God to guide and care for them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [And he made his people journey, guiding and caring for them like a shepherd does for sheep, and he led them, protecting them like a shepherd protects a flock in the wilderness]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like sheep	out of Egypt like a shepherd leads his sheep
like a flock	like a flock
in the wilderness	in the desert

Psalms 78:53

ULT	UST
And he guided them in security, and they did not fear, and the sea covered their enemies.	He led them safely, and they were not afraid, but their enemies drowned in the sea.

ULT in security
UST safely
(לָבֶטַח)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of security, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [securely] or [safely]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they did & fear	they were & afraid
their enemies	their enemies

Psalms 78:54

ULT	UST
And he brought them to the border of his holiness, this mountain that his right hand acquired.	Later God used his power to bring the Israelite people to the land he had set apart, to this hill country that he had taken for himself.

ULT And he brought them
UST Later God used his power to bring the Israelite people
(וַיְבִיאֵם)

The pronoun he refers to God, while the pronoun them refers to the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [And God brought the Israelites]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the border of his holiness
UST to the land he had set apart
(גְּבוּל קָדְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the border that is characterized by his holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the border of the land he had set apart] or [the border of his holy land]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT of his holiness
UST to the land he had set apart
(קָדְשׁוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [of what is holy to him] or [of what he had set apart]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT that his right hand acquired
UST that he had taken for himself
(קָנְתָה יְמִינוֹ)

Here, his right hand represents the power of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that he acquired by his power] or [that his power acquired]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of his holiness	to the land he had set apart

Psalms 78:55

ULT	UST
And he drove out nations from before them and caused them to fall in a portion of inheritance, and he caused the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tents.	He drove out the people groups as the Israelites advanced; he distributed the land for each tribe to possess as their own, and he settled the tribes of Israel in the homes of those peoples.

ULT And he drove out nations from before them
UST He drove out the people groups as the Israelites advanced
(וַיְגָרֶשׁ מִפְּנֵיהֶם | גּוֹיִם)

The pronoun he refers to God, while the pronoun them refers to the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God drove out nations from before the Israelites]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and caused them to fall in a portion of inheritance
UST he distributed the land for each tribe to possess as their own
(וַיַּפִּילֵם בְּחֶבֶל נַחֲלָה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the Canaanites whom God caused them to fall in a portion of inheritance. Your language may have a comparable expression that you could use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and caused them to be defeated in each portion that Israel inherited] or [and defeated them in each portion that Israel inherited as they came to it]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in a portion of inheritance
UST the land for each tribe to possess as their own
(בְּחֶבֶל נַחֲלָה)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean a portion for inheriting. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in each portion inherited by Israel] or [in each portion that Israel inherited]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT in a portion of inheritance
> UST the land for each tribe to possess as their own
> (בְּחֶבֶל נַחֲלָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of inheritance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and gave each tribe a portion to inherit] or [and gave each tribe of Israel a portion as their own]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
nations	the people groups
of inheritance	the land for each tribe to possess as their own
the tribes	the tribes of Israel
of Israel	the tribes of Israel
in their tents	in the homes of those peoples

Psalms 78:56

ULT	UST
But they tested and rebelled against God Most High, and they did not keep his testimonies.	But the Israelites defied the God who is greater than all other spirit beings and disobeyed him to see what he would do. They did not obey what he had required them to do.

ULT But they tested and rebelled
UST But the Israelites defied & and disobeyed him to see what he would do
(וַיְנַסּוּ וַיַּמְרוּ)

The psalmist uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between God's provision and the people's rebellion. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Despite all this, they tested and rebelled] or [Even so, they tested and rebelled]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT But they tested and rebelled
UST But the Israelites defied & and disobeyed him to see what he would do
(וַיְנַסּוּ וַיַּמְרוּ)

The terms tested and rebelled mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [But they continually pushed back] or [But they stubbornly rebelled]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But they tested	But the Israelites defied and rebelled	and disobeyed him to see what he would do against God	the God who is greater than all other spirit beings
Most High	the God who is greater than all other spirit beings
keep	They did not obey
and they & his testimonies	what he had required them to do

Psalms 78:57

ULT	UST
And they turned back and acted treacherously like their fathers; they turned themselves like a bow of deceit.	They turned away and were unfaithful, just as their ancestors had been; they were as unreliable as a bow that does not shoot straight.

ULT And they turned back and acted treacherously like their fathers; they turned themselves like a bow of deceit
UST They turned away and were unfaithful, just as their ancestors had been; they were as unreliable as a bow that does not shoot straight (וַיִּסֹּ֗גוּ וַֽיִּבְגְּדוּ֮ כַּאֲבוֹתָ֪ם נֶ֫הְפְּכ֥וּ כְּקֶ֣שֶׁת רְמִיָּֽה)

For more information on translating parallelism, see the note at 78:1. Alternate translation: [They turned back and acted treacherously like their fathers, being as unreliable as a bow of deceit]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT like their fathers
UST just as their ancestors had been (כַּאֲבוֹתָ֪ם)

The point of this comparison is that just as their fathers were unfaithful to God, so were the Israelites. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [in the same unfaithful way as their fathers]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT like a bow of deceit
UST a bow that does not shoot straight
(כְּקֶ֣שֶׁת רְמִיָּֽה)

The point of this comparison is that just as a bow of deceit is unreliable and does not shoot straight, so were the Israelites unreliable. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as unreliable as a faulty bow]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT like a bow of deceit
UST a bow that does not shoot straight
(כְּקֶ֣שֶׁת רְמִיָּֽה)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a bow that is characterized by deceit. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [into a deceitful bow] or [as a faulty bow]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT like a bow of deceit
> UST a bow that does not shoot straight
> (כְּקֶשֶׁת רְמִיָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of deceit, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [into a deceitful bow] or [as a faulty bow]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like a bow	a bow that does not shoot
of deceit	straight

Psalms 78:58

ULT	UST
And they provoked him to anger with their high places, and with their carved images they moved him to jealousy.	They made God angry by worshiping at shrines on the hilltops, and they made him jealous by worshiping carved idols.

ULT they moved him to jealousy
UST and they made him jealous
(יַקְנִיאוּהוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of jealousy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [they caused him to be jealous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they provoked him to anger	They made God angry
and with their carved images	by worshiping carved idols
they moved him to jealousy	and they made him jealous

Psalms 78:59

ULT	UST
God heard and was furious, and he rejected Israel greatly.	When God saw what they were doing, he became very angry and completely rejected the Israelite people.

ULT God heard and was furious
UST When God saw what they were doing, he became very angry
(שָׁמַע אֱלֹהִים וַיִּתְעַבָּר)

The term translated as and indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [God heard, and as a result, he was furious] or [When God heard, he was furious]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	When God saw what they were doing and he rejected	and completely rejected
Israel	the Israelite people

Psalms 78:60

ULT	UST
And he abandoned the dwelling of Shiloh, the tent {in which} he had dwelt among mankind.	He stopped living at Shiloh, the place where he had set up his tent and lived among people.

ULT And he abandoned the dwelling of Shiloh
UST He stopped living at Shiloh, the place where he had set up (וַיִּטֹּשׁ מִשְׁכַּן שִׁלֹה)

The term translated as And indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [Therefore, he abandoned the dwelling of Shiloh] or [So he abandoned the dwelling of Shiloh]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the dwelling	the place where he had set up
of Shiloh	Shiloh
the tent	his tent

Psalms 78:61

ULT	UST
And he gave his strength to captivity and his splendor into the hand of the enemy.	He let enemies capture the sacred chest which showed how strong and glorious he was.

ULT And he gave his strength to captivity
UST He let enemies capture the sacred chest which showed how strong (וַיִּתֵּן לַשִּׁבְיָ עֻזּוֹ)

Here, his strength represents the box of the covenant, which showed God's power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [And he allowed the box to be captured] or [And he let the box that showed his power be captured]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his strength
UST the sacred chest which showed how strong (עֻזּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what showed he was strong] or [the box that showed his power]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to captivity
UST enemies capture
(לַשִּׁבְיָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of captivity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to be captured] or [to those who would capture it]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and his splendor
UST and glorious he was
(וְתִפְאַרְתּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he gave his splendor]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and his splendor into the hand of the enemy
> UST enemies capture & and glorious he was > (וְתִפְאַרְתּוֹ בְּיַד־צָר)

Here, his splendor represents the box of the covenant, and the hand of the enemy represents their power or control. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use equivalent expressions or plain language. Alternate translation: [and his glorious box into the power of the enemy] or [and the box that showed his splendor to be controlled by the enemy]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT and his splendor
> UST and glorious he was
> (וְתִפְאַרְתּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of splendor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and what was splendid to him] or [and the ark that showed he was glorious]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his strength	the sacred chest which showed how strong to captivity	enemies capture and his splendor	and glorious he was of the enemy	enemies capture

Psalms 78:62

ULT	UST
And he delivered his people over to the sword, and he was furious with his inheritance.	He let enemies kill his people in battle, because he was very angry with the people who belonged to him.

ULT And he delivered his people over to the sword
UST He let enemies kill his people in battle
(וַיַּסְגֵּר לַחֶרֶב עַמּוֹ)

Here, the sword represents warfare or violent death in battle. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And he allowed his people to be killed in battle] or [And he delivered his people over to violent death]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and & with his inheritance
UST the people who belonged to him
(וּבְנַחֲלָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of inheritance, you could express the same idea in another way. See how you translated this in 78:55. Alternate translation: [and … with the people he had chosen]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And he delivered & over	He let enemies kill to the sword	in battle
and & with his inheritance	the people who belonged to him

Psalms 78:63

ULT	UST
Fire consumed his young men, and his virgins were not praised {in} wedding songs.	Fire destroyed the young men, and no one sang wedding songs for the young women.

ULT Fire consumed his young men, and his virgins were not praised {in} wedding songs
UST Fire destroyed the young men, and no one sang wedding songs for the young women
(בַּחוּרָיו אָכְלָה־אֵשׁ וּבְתוּלֹתָיו לֹא הוּלָלוּ)

The phrases Fire consumed his young men and his virgins were not praised mean opposite things but work together to show the devastating completeness of the judgment. For emphasis, the psalmist is describing both the death of young men and the corresponding lack of marriage celebrations. If a speaker of your language would not use this kind of contrast, in your translation you can convey the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [Fire consumed his young men so that his virgins had no weddings]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT Fire consumed his young men
UST Fire destroyed the young men
(בַּחוּרָיו אָכְלָה־אֵשׁ)

The psalmist speaks of Fire as if it were a person that could actively consume people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His young men died in fires] or [His young men were burned to death]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT and his virgins were not praised {in} wedding songs
UST and no one sang wedding songs for the young women
(וּבְתוּלֹתָיו לֹא הוּלָלוּ)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and no one praised his virgins in wedding songs] or [and no one sang wedding songs for his virgins]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
consumed	Fire destroyed
and his virgins	the young women
praised {in} wedding songs	and no one sang wedding songs for
praised {in} wedding songs	and no one sang wedding songs for

Psalms 78:64

ULT	UST
His priests fell by the sword, and his widows did not weep.	Enemies killed the priests in battle, and the wives they left behind were not able to mourn for them.

ULT fell by the sword
UST Enemies killed & in battle
(בַּחֶרֶב נָפָלוּ)

Here, the sword represents violent death in battle. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [died in battle] or [were killed in war]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
His priests	the priests
by the sword	Enemies killed & in battle
weep	were not able to mourn for them

Psalms 78:65

ULT	UST
Then the Lord awoke as one sleeping, as a mighty man shouting from wine.	Then the Lord acted as though he had been sleeping and had woken up, like a warrior who becomes alert after drinking wine.

ULT Then the Lord awoke
UST Then the Lord & and had woken up
(וַיִּקַץ & אֲדֹנָי)

The psalmist uses the word Then to indicate a contrast between God's judgment and his intervention. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [But then the Lord awoke] or [After this, the Lord awoke]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT Then the Lord awoke as one sleeping
UST Then the Lord acted as though he had been sleeping and had woken up (וַיִּקַץ כְּיָשֵׁן ׀ אֲדֹנָי)

The psalmist speaks of the Lord as if he were a person who could sleep and wake up. He means that God had seemed inactive during the time of judgment but then became active again to help his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Then the Lord acted as if he had awakened from sleep] or [Then the Lord began to act again after seeming to be inactive]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT as one sleeping
UST acted as though he had been sleeping
(כְּיָשֵׁן)

The point of this comparison is that just as one sleeping must wake up before acting, so the Lord resumed acting after a period of seeming inactivity. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like someone who had been asleep]

Support Reference: Simile

> ULT as a mighty man shouting from wine
> UST like a warrior who becomes alert after drinking wine
> (כְּגִבּוֹר מִתְרוֹנֵן מִיָּיִן)

The point of this comparison is that just as a mighty man who has been drinking wine might shout loudly and powerfully, so the Lord acted with great power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like a powerful warrior shouting with great strength]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the Lord	Then the Lord
as a mighty man	like a warrior
from wine	after drinking wine

Psalms 78:66

ULT	UST
And he struck his adversaries backward; he gave to them a reproach of perpetuity.	He drove his enemies back and disgraced them forever.

ULT a reproach of perpetuity
UST and disgraced them forever
(חֶרְפַּ֣ת עוֹלָ֑ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of perpetuity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a shame that lasts forever] or [permanent disgrace]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his adversaries	his enemies
a reproach	and disgraced them

Psalms 78:68

ULT	UST
But he chose the tribe of Judah, Mount Zion, which he loved.	Instead he chose the tribe of Judah whose capital is on Mount Zion, which he loves.

ULT But he chose the tribe of Judah
UST Instead he chose the tribe of Judah
(וַיִּבְחַר אֶת־שֵׁבֶט יְהוּדָה)

The psalmist uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between rejecting Joseph and Ephraim and choosing Judah. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Instead, he chose the tribe of Judah]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT Mount Zion, which UST whose capital is on Mount Zion, which (אֶת־הַר צִיּוֹן אֲשֶׁר)

Here, Mount Zion represents the tribe of Judah. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Judah's descendants, who]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the tribe	the tribe of Judah
of Judah	the tribe of Judah
Mount Zion	whose capital is on Mount Zion
he loved	he loves

Psalms 78:69

ULT	UST
And he built his sanctuary like the heights, like the earth he founded it forever.	He had them build his temple there, high up like the heavens, and he established it to last as long as the earth.

ULT And he built his sanctuary like the heights, like the earth he founded it forever
UST He had them build his temple there, high up like the heavens, and he established it to last as long as the earth
(וַיִּבֶן כִּמוֹ־רָמִים מִקְדָּשׁוֹ כָּאָרֶץ יְסָדָהּ לְעוֹלָם)

The phrase he built his sanctuary like the heights is parallel to the statement like the earth he founded it forever and clarifies the relationship between the sanctuary's grandeur and its permanence. Alternate translation: [And he built his sanctuary to be as exalted as the heavens and as permanent as the earth]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT like the heights
UST high up like the heavens
(כִּמוֹ־רָמִים)

The point of this comparison is that just as the heights are exalted and majestic, so is God's sanctuary. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as exalted as the heavens]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT like the earth he founded it forever
UST and he established it to last as long as the earth
(כָּאָרֶץ יְסָדָהּ לְעוֹלָם)

The point of this comparison is that just as the earth is permanent and enduring, so God founded his sanctuary to last forever. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as enduring as the earth, he founded it to last forever]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his sanctuary	his temple
like the earth	the earth
he founded it	and he established it forever	to last as long as

Psalms 78:71

ULT	UST
From behind the nursing ewes he brought him, to shepherd Jacob his people and Israel his inheritance.	He took David from caring for the mother sheep and their lambs and appointed him to lead the people of Israel, the people who belonged to God.

ULT to shepherd Jacob his people
UST and appointed him to lead the people of Israel
(לְרְעוֹת בְּיַעֲקֹב עַמּוֹ)

The term translated as to indicates that what follows is a purpose or goal of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order to shepherd Jacob his people] or [so that he would shepherd Jacob his people]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT to shepherd Jacob his people
UST and appointed him to lead the people of Israel
(לְרְעוֹת בְּיַעֲקֹב עַמּוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of Jacob his people as if they were sheep that needed someone to shepherd them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to lead and care for Jacob his people] or [to rule over Jacob his people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT his inheritance
UST the people who belonged to God
(נַחֲלָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of inheritance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the people who belonged to him] or [the people he had chosen as his own]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nursing ewes	from caring for the mother sheep and their lambs
to shepherd	and appointed him to lead
Jacob	the people of Israel
and Israel	the people who belonged to God
his inheritance	the people who belonged to God

Psalms 78:72

ULT	UST
And he shepherded them according to the integrity of his heart, and with the skillfulness of his hands he guided them.	David led them with a sincere and devoted heart, and he guided them with great skill.

ULT according to the integrity of his heart
UST with a sincere and devoted heart
(כְּתֹם לְבָבוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of integrity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with an honest heart] or [with a pure heart]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT according to the integrity of his heart
UST with a sincere and devoted heart
(כְּתֹם לְבָבוֹ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe his heart that is characterized by integrity. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to his honest heart]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and with the skillfulness of his hands he guided them
UST and he guided them with great skill
(וּבִתְבוּנוֹת כַּפָּיו יְנָחָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of skillfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and with his skillful hands he guided them] or [and he guided them skillfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and with the skillfulness of his hands he guided them
UST and he guided them with great skill
(וּבִתְבוּנוֹת כַּפָּיו יְנָחָם)

Here, his hands represents the actions and capabilities of David. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and with his skill he guided them] or [and he guided them with his abilities]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And he shepherded them	David led them
according to the integrity	with a sincere and devoted heart

Psalms 79

Psalms 79 Introduction

Psalm 79 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 79 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It includes all the basic elements of that type of psalm except a statement of trust. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Description of troubles (1–4)
2. Cry for help (5–7)
3. Petition: request for forgiveness (8–9)
4. Petition: request for retribution (10–12)
5. Vow of praise (13)

Translation Issues in this Psalm

Imperatives

Throughout this psalm, the psalmist is requesting things from Yahweh by using an imperative form which may sound like a command in your language. If this would be impolite in your language, then use a form that would be more appropriate for addressing Yahweh with a request.

Parallelisms

Parallelisms arise when two phrases occur together which mean the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea using different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one and not saying something additional. See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing.

Psalms 79:1

ULT	UST
A psalm. Of Asaph. God, nations have come into your inheritance; they have defiled the temple of your holiness; they have made Jerusalem into heaps.	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote this song. God, foreign nations have invaded the land that belongs to you. They have made your holy temple unfit for worship, and they have made Jerusalem a pile of ruins.

ULT God, nations have come into your inheritance
UST God, foreign nations have invaded the land that belongs to you
(אֱלֹהִ֗ים בָּ֤אוּ גוֹיִ֨ם | בְּנַחֲלָתֶ֑ךָ)

Asaph is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of anguish over the invasion of Israel. If your language has a comparable way to express this feeling, you could use it in your translation. Alternate translation: [O God, nations have invaded your inheritance]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT nations
UST foreign nations
(גוֹיִ֨ם)

Here Asaph is introducing the nations as new participants in the psalm. He does not specify which nations, but refers to foreign peoples in general. Your language may have its own way of introducing new participants that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [foreign nations]

Support Reference: Introduction of New and Old Participants

ULT into your inheritance
UST the land that belongs to you
(בְּנַחֲלָתֶ֑ךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of the land of Israel being different than other parts of the earth by calling it God's inheritance. This means the land that God specially reserved for him and his people. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [into your special possession]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT into your inheritance
UST the land that belongs to you
(בְּנַחֲלָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of inheritance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [into what you have inherited]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your holiness
UST holy (קָדְשֶׁךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you who are holy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT nations have come into your inheritance; they have defiled the temple of your holiness; they have made Jerusalem into heaps UST foreign nations have invaded the land that belongs to you. They have made your holy temple unfit for worship, and they have made Jerusalem a pile of ruins
(בָּאוּ גוֹיִם | בְּנַחֲלָתֶךָ טִמְּאוּ אֶת־הֵיכַל קָדְשֶׁךָ שָׂמוּ אֶת־יְרוּשָׁלַם לְעִיִּים)

These three phrases all describe the enemy's attack on what belongs to God. Each phrase intensifies the devastation, moving from invasion to defilement to destruction. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. For more information on how to translate parallel phrases see the Psalm 79 Introduction. Alternate translation: [nations have invaded your land, made your holy temple unclean, and turned Jerusalem into piles of rubble]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	this song
Of Asaph	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote
God	God
nations	foreign nations
into your inheritance	the land that belongs to you they have defiled	They have made & unfit for worship
the temple of	your & temple
your holiness	holy
Jerusalem	Jerusalem

Psalms 79:2

ULT	UST
They have given the corpse of your servants {as} food to the bird of the heavens, the flesh of your faithful to the beast of the earth.	They left the dead bodies of the people who were faithful to you for birds and wild animals to eat.

ULT to the bird of the heavens
UST birds
(לְעֹוף הַשָּׁמָיִם)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe a bird that lives in the heavens, that is, the sky. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to the birds that fly in the sky]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the flesh of your faithful to the beast of the earth
UST the dead bodies of the people who were faithful to you & and wild animals
(בְּשַׂר חֲסִידֶיךָ לְחַיְתוֹ־אָרֶץ)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and they have given the flesh of your faithful as food to the beast of the earth]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT your faithful
UST the people who were faithful to you
(חֲסִידֶיךָ)

Asaph is using the adjective faithful as a noun to mean people who are faithful to God. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [your faithful ones]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT to the beast of the earth
> UST and wild animals
> (לְחַיְתוֹ־אָרֶץ)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe a beast that lives on the earth. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to the animals that live on the land]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT to the bird of the heavens & to the beast of the earth
> UST birds and wild animals
> (לְעוֹף הַשָּׁמָיִם & לְחַיְתוֹ־אָרֶץ)

The terms the bird and the beast are singular collective nouns that refer to all birds and all beasts as a group. If your language does not use singular nouns in that way, you can use plural forms in your translation.

Support Reference: Collective Nouns

> ULT to the bird of the heavens & to the beast of the earth
> UST birds and wild animals
> (לְעוֹף הַשָּׁמָיִם & לְחַיְתוֹ־אָרֶץ)

Asaph is referring to all wild creatures by naming two major components, bird of the heavens and beast of the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [to every kind of bird … to every kind of wild creature]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servants	the people who were faithful to you
the heavens	birds
your faithful	the people who were faithful to you to the beast of	and & animals
the earth	wild

Psalms 79:3

ULT	UST
They have poured out their blood like water around Jerusalem, and there is no burying.	They killed so many of your people that blood flowed like water all around Jerusalem. There were not enough people still alive to bury them.

ULT their blood
UST blood
(דָּמָם)

Here, their blood represents their violent death. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the blood of those they killed]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT like water
UST like water
(כַּמַּ֥יִם)

The point of this comparison is that just as water flows freely and abundantly, so the blood of the slain was shed in great quantity. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as freely as water is poured out]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and there is no burying
UST There were not enough people still alive to bury them
(וְאֵ֣ין קוֹבֵֽר)

Asaph is providing background information to help readers understand the situation. In your translation, introduce this information in a way that would be natural in your own language and culture.

Support Reference: Background Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Jerusalem	Jerusalem
no burying	to bury them

Psalms 79:4

ULT	UST
We have become a reproach to our neighbors, scorn and derision to the ones around us.	The people of the nations around us insult us and laugh at us.

ULT We have become
UST insult us
(הָיִֽינוּ)

Here Asaph is using the word We to introduce the community of Israel as speakers for the first time in the psalm. Your language may have its own way of introducing new participants that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [We, your people, have become]

Support Reference: Introduction of New and Old Participants

ULT a reproach to our neighbors, scorn and derision to the ones around us
UST The people of the nations around us insult us and laugh at us
(חֶרְפָּה לִשְׁכֵנֵינוּ לַעַג וָקֶלֶס לִסְבִיבוֹתֵינוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. The poetry of the original language was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [those whom our neighbors insult and mock]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT a reproach
UST insult us
(חֶרְפָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [people whom others reproach]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT scorn and derision to the ones around us
> UST The people of the nations around us & and laugh at us
> (לְעֵג וְקֶלֶס לִסְבִיבוֹתֵינוּ)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and we have become scorn and derision to the ones around us]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT scorn and derision
> UST and laugh at us
> (לְעֵג וְקֶלֶס)

The terms scorn and derision mean similar things. Asaph is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [utter mockery]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT scorn and derision to the ones around us
> UST The people of the nations around us & and laugh at us
> (לְעֵג וְקֶלֶס לִסְבִיבוֹתֵינוּ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of scorn and derision, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [people whom others scorn and deride]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a reproach	insult us
to our neighbors	The people of the nations around us

Psalms 79:5

ULT	UST
Until when, Yahweh? Will you be angry forever? Will your jealousy burn like fire?	Yahweh, please do not stay so very angry with us, even though we sinned against you by worshiping other gods.

ULT Until when, Yahweh? Will you be angry forever? Will your jealousy burn like fire
UST Yahweh, please do not stay so very angry with us, even though we sinned against you by worshiping other gods
(עַד־מָ֣ה יְ֭הוָה תֶּאֱנַ֣ף לָנֶ֑צַח תִּבְעַ֖ר כְּמוֹ־אֵ֣שׁ קִנְאָתֶֽךָ)

These two phrases Will you be angry forever and Will your jealousy burn like fire mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. The poetry of the original language was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [How long, Yahweh, will you remain fiercely angry with us]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Until when, Yahweh
UST Yahweh, please do not stay
(עַד־מָ֣ה יְ֭הוָה)

Asaph is using the question form to express lament and anguish rather than to seek information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, it has been so long!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Will you be angry forever
UST please do not stay & angry with us
(תֶּאֱנַ֣ף לָנֶ֑צַח)

Asaph is using the question form to express anguish at the duration of God's anger rather than to ask for information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Please do not stay angry forever!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT forever
> UST please do not stay
> (לָנֶ֑צַח)

Asaph says forever as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [without end]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

> ULT Will your jealousy burn like fire
> UST so very & even though we sinned against you by worshiping other gods
> (תִּבְעַר כְּמוֹ־אֵ֥שׁ קִנְאָתֶֽךָ)

Asaph is using the question form to express distress rather than to ask for information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Do not let your jealousy keep burning like fire!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT your jealousy
> UST even though we sinned against you by worshiping other gods
> (קִנְאָתֶֽךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of jealousy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how jealous you are cause us to]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT like fire
> UST so very > (כְּמוֹ־אֵ֥שׁ)

The point of this comparison is that just as fire is intense and consuming, so is God's jealousy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as intensely as a fire burns]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
forever	please do not stay
your jealousy	even though we sinned against you by worshiping other gods

Psalms 79:6

ULT	UST
Pour out your wrath on the nations that have not known you and on the kingdoms that have not called on your name.	The people of other nations do not honor you as God. You should be angry with them and punish them,

ULT Pour out your wrath on the nations that have not known you and on the kingdoms that have not called on your name
UST The people of other nations do not honor you as God. You should be angry with them and punish them
(שְׁפֹךְ חֲמָתְךָ֤אֶל־הַגּוֹיִם֮ אֲשֶׁ֪ר לֹא־יְדָ֫עוּךָ וְעַ֥ל מַמְלָכ֑וֹת אֲשֶׁ֖ר בְּשִׁמְךָ֣לֹ֣א קָרָ֔אוּ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request to God rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please.” For more information on imperatives, see the Psalm 79 Introduction. See how you as a team have decided to translate imperatives and follow that approach here and throughout this Psalm. Alternate translation: [Please pour out your wrath on the nations that have not known you and on the kingdoms that have not called on your name]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Pour out your wrath
UST You should be angry & and punish them
(שְׁפֹךְ חֲמָתְךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking as if God’s wrath were a liquid that he could pour out. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Unleash your wrath]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Pour out your wrath on the nations that have not known you and on the kingdoms
UST The people of other nations do not honor you as God. You should be angry with them and punish them
(שְׁפֹךְ חֲמָתְךָ֤אֶל־הַגּוֹיִם֮ אֲשֶׁ֪ר לֹא־יְדָ֫עוּךָ וְעַ֥ל מַמְלָכ֑וֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wrath, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Show the peoples that do not worship you how angry you are and also the kingdoms]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and on the kingdoms that have not called on your name
UST The people of other nations do not honor you as God & with them
(וְעַל מַמְלָכוֹת אֲשֶׁר בְּשִׁמְךָ לֹא קָרָאוּ)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and pour out your wrath on the kingdoms that have not called on your name]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT on your name
UST do & honor you as God
(בְּשִׁמְךָ)

Here, name represents who God is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your wrath	You should be angry & and punish them
the nations	The people of other nations
have & known you	do & honor you as God
the kingdoms	The people of other nations

Psalms 79:7

ULT	UST
For one has devoured Jacob, and they have desolated his habitation.	because they are the ones who have killed so many Israelites and destroyed the land in which they lived.

ULT For
UST because
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT one has devoured Jacob
UST they are the ones who have killed so many Israelites (אָכַל אֶת־יַעֲקֹב)

Here Asaph is speaking as if the enemy were a wild animal that devoured its prey. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [one has destroyed the people of Jacob]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT one has devoured
UST they are the ones who have killed
(אָכַל)

The pronoun one is indefinite and refers to the enemy nations mentioned in verse 6. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the enemy has devoured]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Jacob
UST so many Israelites
(אֶת־יַעֲקֹב)

Asaph is using the name Jacob to represent the nation of Israel, which descended from the patriarch Jacob. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT they have desolated
> UST the land in which they lived > (הֵשְׁמּוּ)

The pronoun they shifts from the singular “one” and refers to the enemy nations. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the nations have desolated]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT his habitation
> UST destroyed
> (נָוֵהוּ)

The pronoun his refers to Jacob, that is, the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Jacob’s habitation]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
one has devoured	they are the ones who have killed
Jacob	so many Israelites
they have desolated	the land in which they lived

Psalms 79:8

ULT	UST
Do not remember former iniquities against us; hasten, let your compassions meet us, for we have become very weak.	Please forgive the wicked things we did in the past. Quickly be merciful to us, because we are desperate.

ULT former iniquities against us
UST the wicked things we did in the past
(לְנוֹ֣ עֲוֹנֹ֣ת רִאשֹׁנִ֑ים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of iniquities, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the wicked things we did in the past]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT let your compassions meet us
UST be merciful to us
(יְקַדְּמ֖וּנוּ רַחֲמֶ֣יךָ)

Asaph is speaking of your compassions as if they were a living thing that could meet the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [show us compassion]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT let your compassions meet us
UST be merciful to us
(יְקַדְּמ֖וּנוּ רַחֲמֶ֣יךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of compassions, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [come to us with your tender care]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for we have become very weak
UST because we are desperate
(כִּ֥י דַלֹּ֗ונוּ מְאֹֽד)

Asaph is giving the reason for his urgent request. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this gives the reason for the preceding request. Alternate translation: [because we have become very weak]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
iniquities	the wicked things & did your compassions	merciful

Psalms 79:9

ULT	UST
Help us, God of our salvation, on account of the glory of your name, and deliver us and cover over our sins for the sake of your name.	God, you are the one who saves us, so please help us! Do that for the sake of your glorious reputation. Forgive us for our sins so that people will honor you.

ULT God of our salvation
UST God, you are the one who saves us
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [God, the one who saves us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT on account of the glory of your name
UST Do that for the sake of your glorious reputation
(עַל־דְּבַר כְּבוֹד־שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, on account of the glory of your name marks the purpose for the preceding request. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that your name will be glorified]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT the glory of your name
UST your glorious reputation
(כְּבוֹד־שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, name represents God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your glorious reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the glory of your name
UST your glorious reputation
(כְּבוֹד־שְׁמֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your glorious name]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT our sins
> UST us for our sins
> (חַטֹּאתֵינוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of sins, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the wrong things we have done]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT for the sake of your name
> UST so that people will honor you
> (לְמַעַן שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, for the sake of your name marks the purpose for covering over their sins. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that people will honor your name]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

> ULT for the sake of your name
> UST so that people will honor you
> (לְמַעַן שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, name represents God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [for the sake of your reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God of	God
our salvation	you are the one who saves us
the glory of	glorious
and deliver us	so please help us
our sins	us for our sins

Psalms 79:10

ULT	UST
Why should the nations say, “Where {is} their God?” Let the vengeance of the poured-out blood of your servants be known among the nations to our eyes.	Do not let the other nations say, “Their God was not able to help them!” We want to see you punish those nations for killing the people who serve you.

ULT Why should the nations say, “Where {is} their God
UST Do not let the other nations say, “Their God was not able to help them
(לָמָּה | יֹאמְרוּ הַגּוֹיִם אַיֵּה אֱלֹהֵיהֶם)

Asaph is using the question form to argue that God should act so that the nations will not mock him. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Do not let the nations say that their God cannot help them!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Where {is} their God
UST Their God was not able to help them
(אַיֵּה אֱלֹהֵיהֶם)

The nations would be using the question form to mock Israel rather than to ask for information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Their God cannot help them!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Why should the nations say, “Where {is} their God
UST Do not let the other nations say, “Their God was not able to help them
(לָמָּה | יֹאמְרוּ הַגּוֹיִם אַיֵּה אֱלֹהֵיהֶם)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [Why should the nations ask where their God is]

Support Reference: Direct and Indirect Quotations

ULT is} their God
UST Their God
(אֱלֹהֵיהֶם)

The pronoun their refers to the people of Israel, spoken from the perspective of the nations. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [is the God of Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Let the vengeance of the poured-out blood of your servants be known among the nations to our eyes
UST We want to see you punish those nations for killing the people who serve you (יִוָּדַע בגיים לְעֵינֵינוּ נְקֻמַּת דַּם־עֲבָדֶיךָ הַשָּׁפוּךְ)

The expression be known among the nations is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Let the nations see you carry out vengeance for killing your servants]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the vengeance of
UST punish (נְקֻמַּת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of vengeance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how you avenge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the poured-out blood of your servants
UST for killing the people who serve you
(דַּם־עֲבָדֶיךָ הַשָּׁפוּךְ)

The psalmist is speaking as if someone had actually poured out the blood of Yahweh's servants from a vessel. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the shedding of the blood of your servants]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the poured-out blood of your servants
UST for killing the people who serve you
(דַּם־עֲבָדֶיךָ הַשָּׁפוּךְ)

Here, the poured-out blood represents the violent killing of God's servants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the killing of your servants]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT the poured-out blood of your servants
> UST for killing the people who serve you
> (דְּם־עֲבָדֶיךָ הַשָּׁפוּךְ)

The expression the poured-out blood is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the blood that the nations have shed]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT to our eyes
> UST We want to see you
> (לְעֵינֵינוּ)

Here, eyes represents sight and perception. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [so that we can see it]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	the other nations
is} their God	Their God
the vengeance of	punish your servants	the people who serve you
Let & be known	We want to see you among the nations	those nations

Psalms 79:11

ULT	UST
Let the groaning of the prisoner come to your face; according to the greatness of your arm, preserve the sons of death.	Listen to the moans of your people who are now captives, and use your great power to save those who are about to die.

ULT the groaning of the prisoner
UST the moans of your people who are now captives
(אֲנְקַת אָסִיר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of groaning, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how the prisoners groan]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to your face
UST Listen to (לְפָנֶיךָ)

Here, face represents God's presence and attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [into your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT according to the greatness of your arm
UST and use your great power
(כְּגֹדֶל זְרוֹעֲךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of greatness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your great arm]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your arm
UST and use your & power
(זְרוֹעֲךָ)

Here, arm represents God's power and strength. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT the sons of death
> UST those who are about to die
> (בְּנֵי תְמוּתָה)

Asaph is using sons of death as a common expression to mean “those who are destined to die.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those who are condemned to die]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 79:12

ULT	UST
And return to our neighbors sevenfold, into their bosom, their reproach {with} which they have reproached you, Lord.	Lord, pay back our neighbors directly, seven times over, for the insults they have spoken against you!

ULT sevenfold
UST seven times over
(שִׁבְעָתַיִם)

Asaph says sevenfold as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [many times over]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT into their bosom
UST directly
(אֶל־חֵיקָם)

Asaph is using into their bosom as a common expression to mean "directly and personally to them." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [directly upon them]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT their reproach {with} which they have reproached you
UST for the insults they have spoken against you (חֶרְפָּתָם אֲשֶׁר חֵרְפוּךָ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could put the object their reproach with which they have reproached you before the other information in the sentence, so that the reader understands right away what is to be returned. Alternate translation: [And return their reproach with which they have reproached you, Lord, to our neighbors sevenfold, into their bosom]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT their reproach
UST for the insults
(חֶרְפָּתָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the insults they have spoken]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to our neighbors	our neighbors
their reproach	for the insults
they have reproached you	they have spoken against you
Lord	Lord
their reproach & they have reproached you	for the insults they have spoken against you

Psalms 79:13

ULT	UST
And we, your people and the flock of your pasture, will give thanks to you forever; to generation and generation we will recount your praise.	Then we will always thank you. You care for us, your people, the way a shepherd cares for his sheep. Each generation of Israelites will tell their children how wonderful you are.

ULT And we
UST us
(וְאֲנַחְנוּ)

Asaph places And we at the beginning of this verse to mark a shift from petition to a vow of praise. If it would be more natural in your language, you could indicate this transition in another way. Alternate translation: [Then we]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT and the flock of your pasture
UST the way a shepherd cares for his sheep
(וְצֹאן מַרְעִיתֶךָ)

Here Asaph is speaking of God's people as if they were a flock of sheep that God tends in his pasture. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the ones you tend and care for]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the flock of your pasture
UST the way a shepherd cares for his sheep
(וְצֹאן מַרְעִיתֶךָ)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe a flock that is located in God's pasture. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the flock that feeds in your pasture]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT will give thanks to you forever
UST Then we will always thank you
(נוֹדֶה לְךָ לְעוֹלָם)

This concluding vow of praise signals the end of the psalm. Use the natural form in your language for signaling that a song or poem is ending. Alternate translation: [will always give thanks to you]

Support Reference: End of Story

ULT forever
UST always
(לְעוֹלָם)

Asaph says forever as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [always]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT to generation and generation
UST Each generation of Israelites & their children
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

Asaph says to generation and generation as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [in every generation that follows]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT to generation and generation
UST Each generation of Israelites & their children
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

Asaph is using a poetic device found in the original language by repeating the word generation to express the idea of an unending succession. This is poetic language. If your language has a way to indicate this kind of poetic repetition, you could use it here. Alternate translation: [from one generation to the next]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT your praise
UST how wonderful you are
(תְּהִלָּתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praise, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how praiseworthy you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and the flock	his sheep
forever	always
to generation	Each generation of Israelites and generation	their children
we will recount	will tell your praise	how wonderful you are

Psalms 80

Psalms 80 Introduction

Psalm 80 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 80 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It includes all the basic elements of that type of psalm except a statement of trust. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the Introduction to the Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–2)
2. Refrain (3)
3. Description of troubles (4–6)
4. Refrain (7)
5. Description of troubles (8–13)
6. Petition (14–18)
7. Refrain (19)

Translation Issues in this Psalm

Imperatives

Throughout this psalm, the psalmist is requesting things from Yahweh by using an imperative form which may sound like a command in your language. If this would be impolite in your language, then use a form that would be more appropriate for addressing Yahweh with a request.

Psalms 80:1

ULT	UST
Shepherd of Israel, give ear, the one leading Joseph like a flock. Sitter {on} the cherubim, shine forth.	God, you are like a shepherd to the people of Israel, so please listen to me. You lead the descendants of Joseph the way a shepherd leads his flock. You were present with us in your temple above the statues of the cherubim; reveal your glory to us again!

ULT Shepherd of Israel
UST God, you are like a shepherd to the people of Israel
(רֹ֣עֵה יִשְׂרָאֵ֑ל)

Asaph is speaking as if God were a Shepherd of Israel. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Caretaker of Israel]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT give ear
UST so please listen to me
(הַאֲזִינָה)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. See how you as a team have decided to translate imperatives in the Psalms and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. For more information on how to translate imperatives see the Psalm 80 Introduction. Alternate translation: [please pay attention]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT give ear
UST so please listen to me
(הַאֲזִינָה)

Asaph is using the phrase give ear to mean “listen to me.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly as in the UST.

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the one leading Joseph like a flock
UST You lead the descendants of Joseph the way a shepherd leads his flock
(נֹהֵג כַּצֹּאן יוֹסֵף)

The point of this comparison is that just as a shepherd leads and cares for a flock, so God leads and cares for the descendants of Joseph. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [the one caring for the descendants of Joseph as a shepherd cares for a flock]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT Joseph
UST the descendants of Joseph
(יוֹסֵף)

Here, Joseph represents all the people of Israel, particularly the northern tribes descended from Joseph. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the descendants of Joseph]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Sitter {on} the cherubim
UST You were present with us in your temple above the statues of the cherubim
(יֹשֵׁב הַכְּרוּבִים)

Asaph is speaking as if God were one who sits on the cherubim. This refers to God being enthroned above the ark of the covenant. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You who are enthroned above the cherubim]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Shepherd of	God, you are like a shepherd
Israel	to the people of Israel
Joseph	the descendants of Joseph
like a flock	the way a shepherd leads his flock
the cherubim	the statues of the cherubim

Psalms 80:2

ULT	UST
To the face of Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh, awaken your might and come to us for salvation.	Just as you moved powerfully through the wilderness right ahead of the tribes of Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh, come powerfully once again and save us.

ULT To the face of Ephraim
UST Just as you moved powerfully through the wilderness right ahead of the tribes of Ephraim (לִפְנֵי אֶפְרַ֥יִם)

Here, To the face of represents being in front of or in the presence of these tribes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [In the presence of Ephraim]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT awaken
UST once again
(עוֹרְרָ֣ה)

Here Asaph is speaking of God displaying his might as if it were something that was sleeping and needed to be told to awaken. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [display] or [take action by using]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your might
UST powerfully
(אֶת־גְּבוּרָתֶ֑ךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of might, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and display your power]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for salvation
UST and save
(לִישֵׁעָתָ֥ה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to save us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Ephraim	Ephraim
and Benjamin	Benjamin
and Manasseh	and Manasseh
your might	powerfully
for salvation	and save

Psalms 80:3

ULT	UST
God, restore us, and make your face shine and let us be saved.	God, make us strong again. Regard us favorably and save us.

ULT and make your face shine and let us be saved
UST Regard us favorably and save us
(וְהָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

This phrase indicates that what follows, let us be saved, is the purpose or goal of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [and make your face shine so that we will be saved]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT and make your face shine
UST Regard us favorably
(וְהָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ)

Asaph is speaking as if God's face were a light that could shine. This represents God showing favor and blessing to his people. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and show us your favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and let us be saved
UST and save us
(וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

The expression let us be saved is a passive verbal form. If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and rescue us]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
restore us	make us strong again
and let us be saved	and save us

Psalms 80:4

ULT	UST
Yahweh, God of armies, until when will you smolder against the prayer of your people?	Yahweh, you are the God who commands the heavenly armies. You have been angry with us, and so you have not been doing what we ask when we pray to you. But please now answer our prayers.

ULT God of armies
UST you are the God who commands the heavenly armies
(אֱלֹהִים צְבָאוֹת)

Here Asaph is using the possessive form God of armies to mean "God, the one who commands the armies of heaven." It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God who commands armies]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT until when will you smolder against the prayer of your people
UST You have been angry with us, and so you have not been doing what we ask when we pray to you. But please now answer our prayers
(עַד־מָתַי עָשַׁנְתָּ בִּתְפִלַּת עַמֶּךָ)

Asaph is using the question form to express strong emotion. If you would not use a rhetorical question for this purpose in your language, you could translate his words as a statement or an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You have smoldered against the prayer of your people for far too long!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT will you smolder against the prayer of UST You have been angry & and so you have not been doing what we ask when we pray to you & answer our prayers
(עָשַׁנְתָּ בִּתְפִלַּת)

Asaph is speaking as if God's anger were fire that continues to smolder. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [will you remain angry at]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT against the prayer of your people
> UST with us, and so you have not been doing what we ask when we pray to you & answer our prayers
> (בִּתְפִלָּת עַמֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when your people pray to you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
God of	you are the God
God of armies	you are the God who commands the heavenly armies
against the prayer of	and so you have not been doing what we ask when we pray to you & answer our prayers

Psalms 80:5

ULT	UST
You have made them eat bread of tears, and you have made them drink tears {in} triple measure.	You have caused us to experience constant sorrow. It feels as if you are punishing us three times as much as we deserve.

ULT You have made them eat bread of tears, and you have made them drink tears {in} triple measure
UST You have caused us to experience constant sorrow. It feels as if you are punishing us three times as much as we deserve
(הֶאֱכַלְתָּם לֶחֶם דִּמְעָה וַתַּשְׁקֵמוֹ בִּדְמָעוֹת שָׁלִישׁ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [You have made them eat and drink tears abundantly]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT You have made them eat
UST You have caused us to experience
(הֶאֱכַלְתָּם)

The pronoun them refers to the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [You have made the people of Israel eat]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT bread of tears
UST constant sorrow
(לֶחֶם דִּמְעָה)

Asaph is speaking as if tears were bread that people could eat. This means that sorrow has become their constant experience. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [food of sorrow]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and you have made them drink tears {in} triple measure
> UST You have caused us to experience constant sorrow. It feels as if you are punishing us three times as much as we deserve
> (וַתַּשְׁקֵמוֹ בִּדְמָעוֹת שְׁלִישׁ)

Asaph is speaking as if tears were a liquid that people could drink in great quantity. This means that God has caused the people to experience overwhelming sorrow. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and you have caused them to weep an overwhelming amount]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT in} triple measure
> UST It feels as if you are punishing us three times as much as we deserve
> (שְׁלִישׁ)

Asaph uses the phrase in triple measure as an exaggeration for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use another way to express this emphasis. Alternate translation: [much more than we deserve]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
bread of	constant sorrow

Psalms 80:6

ULT	UST
You have made us strife to our neighbors, and our enemies mock among themselves.	The nations around us have become hostile to us, and our enemies make fun of us.

ULT You have made us strife to our neighbors
UST The nations around us have become hostile to us
(תְּשִׂימֵ֣נוּ מָד֣וֹן לִשְׁכֵנֵ֑ינוּ)

The first-person pronoun us here indicates a shift from the third person them in the previous verse. Asaph is now including himself among the suffering people. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use the same person as in the previous verse. Alternate translation: [You have made them strife to their neighbors]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT strife to our neighbors
UST The nations around us & hostile
(מָד֣וֹן לִשְׁכֵנֵ֑ינוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strife, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a cause of quarreling with our neighbors]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and our enemies mock among themselves
UST and our enemies make fun of us
(וְאֹיְבֵ֥ינוּ יִלְעֲג֗וּ־לָמוֹ)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and our enemies mock us among themselves]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
strife	hostile
to our neighbors	The nations around us
and our enemies	and our enemies
mock	make fun

Psalms 80:7

ULT	UST
God of armies, restore us, and make your face shine and let us be saved.	God, you who command the heavenly armies, make us strong again! Regard us favorably and save us.

ULT God of armies
UST God, you who command the heavenly armies
(אֱלֹהִים צְבָאוֹת)

Here Asaph is using the possessive form God of armies to mean "God, the one who commands the armies of heaven." It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. See how you translated this in verse 4. Alternate translation: [God who commands armies]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and make your face shine and let us be saved
UST Regard us favorably and save us
(וְהָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

The word and indicates that what follows, let us be saved, is the purpose or goal of what came before. See how you translated this in 80:3. Alternate translation: [and make your face shine so that we will be saved]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT and make your face shine
UST Regard us favorably
(וְהָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ)

Asaph is speaking as if God's face were a light that could shine. See how you translated this in 80:3. Alternate translation: [and show us your favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and let us be saved
UST and save us
(וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and rescue us]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God of armies	God, you who command the heavenly armies
restore us	make us strong again
and let us be saved	and save us

Psalms 80:8

ULT	UST
You pulled up a vine from Egypt; you drove out nations and planted it.	You brought your people out of Egypt as if you were transplanting a vine from there. You forced other nations to leave this land and you allowed your people to settle in it, as if you were planting that vine here.

ULT You pulled up a vine from Egypt; you drove out nations and planted it
UST You brought your people out of Egypt as if you were transplanting a vine from there. You forced other nations to leave this land and you allowed your people to settle in it, as if you were planting that vine here
(גֶּפֶן מִמִּצְרַיִם תַּסִּיעַ תְּגָרֵשׁ גּוֹיִם וַתִּטָּעֶהָ)

The structure here indicates events in sequence. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could show this relationship by using a fuller phrase. Alternate translation: [You pulled up a vine from Egypt, and then you drove out nations and planted it]

Support Reference: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

ULT You pulled up a vine from Egypt
UST You brought your people out of Egypt as if you were transplanting a vine from there (גֶּפֶן מִמִּצְרַיִם תַּסִּיעַ)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [You pulled up a nation like a vine from Egypt]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a vine	a vine
from Egypt	out of Egypt
nations	other nations
and planted it	and you allowed your people to settle in it, as if you were planting that vine here

Psalms 80:9

ULT	UST
You cleared to the face of it, and it rooted its roots and filled the land.	You removed the foreign nations, just as a farmer clears the ground for a new plant. This enabled your people to become a strong nation that occupied the entire country.

ULT You cleared to the face of it, and it rooted its roots and filled the land
UST You removed the foreign nations, just as a farmer clears the ground for a new plant. This enabled your people to become a strong nation that occupied the entire country (פִּנִּיתָ לְפָנֶיהָ וַתַּשְׁרֵשׁ שָׁרָשֶׁיהָ וַתְּמַלֵּא־אָרֶץ)

The structure here indicates events in sequence. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could show this relationship by using a fuller phrase. Alternate translation: [Then you cleared the ground for it, and it took root and filled the land]

Support Reference: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

ULT to the face of it
UST for a new plant
(לְפָנֶיהָ)

The pronoun it refers to the vine (representing Israel). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [to the face of the vine]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and it rooted its roots and filled the land
UST This enabled your people to become a strong nation that occupied the entire country
(וַתַּשְׁרֵשׁ שָׁרָשֶׁיהָ וַתְּמַלֵּא־אָרֶץ)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine that became established and spread. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [and the people became established and filled the land]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and it rooted its roots
> UST This enabled your people to become a strong nation
> (וְתַשְׁרֵשׁ שָׁרְשֶׁיהָ)

The phrase rooted its roots is an idiom using a verb and noun from the same root. If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use an expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and it became deeply rooted]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the land	country

Psalms 80:10

ULT	UST
The mountains were covered {with} its shadow, and its branches {were} cedars of God.	It was as if that vine became so large that its shadow darkened the mountains and its branches were like great cedar trees.

ULT The mountains were covered {with} its shadow
UST It was as if that vine became so large that its shadow darkened the mountains
(כָּסּוּ הָרִים צִלָּהּ)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine whose shadow covered the mountains. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [The people spread even over the mountains]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT The mountains were covered {with} its shadow
UST It was as if that vine became so large that its shadow darkened the mountains
(כָּסּוּ הָרִים צִלָּהּ)

The expression were covered is a passive verbal form. If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Its shadow covered the mountains]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and its branches {were} cedars of God
UST and its branches were like great cedar trees
(וַעֲנָפֶיהָ אַרְזֵי־אֵל)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine whose branches were like the mighty cedars. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [and the people became as strong as the mighty cedars]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT were} cedars of God
UST were like great cedar trees
(אַרְזֵי־אֵל)

Asaph is using the possessive form to describe the cedars as being characterized by extraordinary greatness, as if they belong to God. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [were very great cedars]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
were} cedars	were like & cedar trees
of God	great

Psalms 80:11

ULT	UST
It sent out its branches to the sea, and its shoots to the River.	They controlled the territory from the Great Sea in the west to the Euphrates River in the east.

ULT It sent out its branches to the sea
UST They controlled the territory from the Great Sea in the west
(תְּשַׁלַּח קְצִירֶהָ עַד־יָם)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine that sent out its branches. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this in another way. Alternate translation: [The people extended their territory]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the sea, and its shoots to the River
UST They controlled the territory & the Great Sea in the west to the Euphrates River in the east
(יָם וְאֶל־נָהָר יְוֹנְקוֹתֶיהָ)

Asaph is referring to the entire promised land by naming its two extreme boundaries, the sea (the Mediterranean Sea in the west) and the River (the Euphrates River in the east). If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the Mediterranean Sea, and its shoots to the Euphrates River]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT and its shoots to the River
UST They controlled the territory & to the Euphrates River in the east (וְאֶל־נָהָר יְוֹנְקוֹתֶיהָ)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if it would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and it sent out its shoots to the River]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the sea	the Great Sea in the west
the River	the Euphrates River in the east

Psalms 80:12

ULT	UST
Why have you broken down its walls, so that all the ones passing {on} the way pluck it?	But now you have allowed enemies to invade and conquer us, as if you had torn down a fence that protected that vine, so that everyone who walked past it could take whatever fruit they wanted from it.

ULT Why have you broken down its walls, so that all the ones passing {on} the way pluck it
UST But now you have allowed enemies to invade and conquer us, as if you had torn down a fence that protected that vine, so that everyone who walked past it could take whatever fruit they wanted from it
(לָמָה פָּרַצְתָּ גְדֵרֶיהָ וְאָרוּהָ כָּל־עֹבְרֵי דָרֶךְ)

In this context, the second phrase states the result of what the first phrase describes. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result of what came before. Alternate translation: [You have broken down its walls with the result that all the ones passing on the way pluck it]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Why have you broken down its walls
UST But now you have allowed enemies to invade and conquer us, as if you had torn down a fence that protected that vine
(לָמָה פָּרַצְתָּ גְדֵרֶיהָ)

Asaph is using the question form to express strong emotion. If you would not use a rhetorical question for this purpose in your language, you could translate his words as a statement or an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You should not have broken down its walls]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT have you broken down its walls
UST you have allowed enemies to invade and conquer us, as if you had torn down a fence that protected that vine
(פָּרַצְתָּ גְדֵרֶיהָ)

Asaph is speaking as if Israel were a vineyard with walls that God has broken down. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [have you removed its protection]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT its walls
UST a fence that protected that vine
(גְּדֵרֶיהָ)

The pronoun its refers to the vine (representing Israel). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the walls of the vine] or [our walls]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT so that all the ones passing {on} the way pluck it
UST so that everyone who walked past it could take whatever fruit they wanted from it
(וְאָרוֹהָ כָּל־עֹבְרֵי דָּרֶךְ)

The phrase all the ones passing on the way is a generalization to emphasize how vulnerable the vine has become. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [so that many people passing by pluck it]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

Psalms 80:13

ULT	UST
The boar from the forest ravages it, and the creature of the field grazes on it.	Those enemies have destroyed the country, as if a wild boar had chewed up that vine and wild animals ate what remained.

ULT The boar from the forest ravages it, and the creature of the field grazes on it
UST Those enemies have destroyed the country, as if a wild boar had chewed up that vine and wild animals ate what remained
(יְכַרְסְמֶנָּה חֲזִיר מִיָּעַר וְזִיז שָׂדַי יִרְעֶנָּה)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Wild animals from the forest and the field ravage and consume it]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT The boar from the forest ravages it, and the creature of the field grazes on it
UST Those enemies have destroyed the country, as if a wild boar had chewed up that vine and wild animals ate what remained
(יְכַרְסְמֶנָּה חֲזִיר מִיָּעַר וְזִיז שָׂדַי יִרְעֶנָּה)

Asaph continues to draw an extended comparison between the nation of Israel, and a vineyard planted by a gardener. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the comparison. [Their enemies have destroyed your people like wild animals that root and destroy a vineyard]

Support Reference: Biblical Imagery — Extended Metaphors

ULT ravages it & grazes on it
UST Those enemies have destroyed the country, as if & had chewed up that vine & ate what remained (יְכַרְסְמֶנָּה & יִרְעֶנָּה)

The pronoun it refers to the vine, which represents Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [ravages the vine … grazes on it]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and the creature of	and & animals

Psalms 80:14

ULT	UST
God of armies, return, please. Look down from heaven and see, and visit this vine,	God, commander of the heavenly armies, please help us again! Look down from heaven and see what is happening to us! Come and care for your people, who are like a vine that you planted

ULT God of armies
UST God, commander of the heavenly armies
(אֱלֹהִים צְבָאוֹת)

Here, God of armies describes God as the one who commands the armies of heaven. See how you translated this in 80:4. Alternate translation: [God who commands armies]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and visit this vine
UST Come and care for your people, who are like a vine that you planted (וּפְקֹד גֶּפֶן זֹאת)

Asaph is speaking of Israel as if it were a vine. Your language may have a comparable expression you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and care for this people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God of armies	God, commander of the heavenly armies return	help us again
please	please
from heaven	from heaven
vine	your people, who are like a vine

Psalms 80:15

ULT	UST
even the stock that your right hand planted, and on the son you strengthened for yourself.	and worked hard to make sure that it would grow well. Your people are also like your own son whom you helped grow up to be strong.

ULT even the stock that your right hand planted
UST and worked hard to make sure that it would grow well (וְכַנָּה אֲשֶׁר־נָטְעָה יְמִינֶךָ)

In the phrase even the stock that your right hand has planted, Asaph continues to extend the comparison between Israel and a vine. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the comparison. Alternate translation: [even the nation that you have established]

Support Reference: Biblical Imagery — Extended Metaphors

ULT your right hand planted
UST and worked hard to make sure that & would grow well
(נָטְעָה יְמִינֶךָ)

Here, your right hand represents God's power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you powerfully planted]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the son
UST your own son
(בֵּן)

Here, the son could refer to: (1) the vine, representing the people of Israel. Alternate translation: [the people] or [the nation] or (2) a particular leader of the people of Israel. Alternate translation: [the leader]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
planted	to make sure that & would grow well

Psalms 80:16

ULT	UST
It is burned with fire, it is cut down; from the rebuke of your face they perish.	But now, because you do not regard them favorably, their enemies are destroying them as if someone had cut down that vine and burned it.

ULT It is burned with fire, it is cut down
UST as if someone had cut down that vine and burned it
(שְׂרֻפָה בָאֵשׁ כְּסוּחָה)

Asaph is speaking of Israel's destruction as if the vine had been burned with fire and cut down. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [It is destroyed, it is cut off]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT It is burned with fire, it is cut down
UST as if someone had cut down that vine and burned it
(שְׂרֻפָה בָאֵשׁ כְּסוּחָה)

The expressions It is burned with fire and it is cut down are passive verbal expressions. If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Enemies have burned it with fire and cut it down]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT from the rebuke of your face
UST But now, because you do not regard them favorably
(מִגַּעֲרַת פָּנֶיךָ)

Here, your face represents God's presence and judgment. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [because you rebuke them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from the rebuke of
UST But now, because you do not regard them favorably
(מִגַּעֲרַת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of rebuke, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because you are angry with them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT they perish
> UST their enemies are destroying them
> (יֹאבֵדוּ)

The pronoun shifts from the singular it (the vine) to the plural they (the people of Israel). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the people of Israel perish]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the rebuke of	But now, because you do not regard them favorably
they perish	their enemies are destroying them

Psalms 80:17

ULT	UST
Let your hand be on the man of your right hand, on the son of man you strengthened for yourself.	Even though we are human, we are like your own son whom you helped grow up to be strong, so please help us with your power. Restore us to a position of honor.

ULT Let your hand be on
UST so please help us with your power
(תְּהִי־יָדְךָ עַל)

Here, hand represents power and protection. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Let your protection be on]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the man of your right hand & the son of man you strengthened for yourself
UST Even though we are human, we are like your own son whom you helped grow up to be strong & with & Restore us to a position of honor
(אִישׁ יְמִינֶךָ & בֶּן־אָדָם אִמַּצְתָּ לְךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [the one whom you have chosen and strengthened]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the man of your right hand, on the son of man you strengthened for yourself
UST Even though we are human, we are like your own son whom you helped grow up to be strong & with & Restore us to a position of honor
(אִישׁ יְמִינֶךָ עַל־בֶּן־אָדָם אִמַּצְתָּ לְךָ)

The expressions on the man of your right hand and on the son of man you strengthened for yourself both describe the same figure. This could refer to: (1) the nation of Israel as a whole, Alternate translation: [on the people at your right hand, on the ones you strengthened for yourself] or (2) to a particular leader or king. Alternate translation: [on the man of your right hand, on the one you strengthened for yourself]

ULT the man of your right hand
UST with & Restore us to a position of honor
(אִישׁ יְמִינֶךָ)

Here, right hand represents a position of strength and honor. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [on the man you have placed in a position of honor]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the son of man
UST Even though we are human, we are like your own son (בֶּן־אָדָם)

Here Asaph is using the phrase son of man as a common expression of the culture to indicate a person that has the characteristic of being human. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the human being]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the son of man	Even though we are human, we are like your own son

Psalms 80:18

ULT	UST
And we will not turn back from you; revive us, and we will call on your name.	Then we will not worship other gods again. Give us new life, and we will worship only you.

ULT And we will not turn back from you
UST Then we will not worship other gods again
(וְלֹא־נָסֹוג מִמֶּךָּ)

Here, And introduces a vow or promise that Asaph makes as a consequence of God's intervention. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Then we will not turn back from you]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT And we will not turn back
UST Then we will not worship & gods again
(וְלֹא־נָסֹוג)

Asaph is emphasizing a positive meaning by using a negative word, not, together with the phrase turn back from you. He means that if God acts on their behalf, they will continue to live the way God wants his people to live. If it would be helpful in your language, you could emphasize the positive meaning in a strong way. Alternate translation: [And we will continue to live the way you want your people to live]

Support Reference: Litotes

ULT and we will call on your name
UST and we will worship only you
(וּבְשִׁמְךָ נִקְרָא)

Here, your name represents God himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and we will worship you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 80:19

ULT	UST
Yahweh, God of armies, restore us. Make your face shine, and let us be saved.	Yahweh, the God who commands the heavenly armies, make us strong again! Regard us favorably and save us.

ULT God of armies
UST the God who commands the heavenly armies
(אֱלֹהִים צְבָאוֹת)

Here, God of armies describes God as the one who commands the armies of heaven. See how you translated this in 80:4. Alternate translation: [God who commands armies]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT Make your face shine, and let us be saved
UST Regard us favorably and save us
(הָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

Here, and marks let us be saved as the goal or purpose of Make your face shine. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. See how you translated this in 80:3. Alternate translation: [Make your face shine so that we will be saved]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT Make your face shine
UST Regard us favorably
(הָאֵר פָּנֶיךָ)

Asaph is speaking as if God's face were a light that could shine. See how you translated this in 80:3. Alternate translation: [Show us your favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and let us be saved
UST and save us
(וְנִוָּשֵׁעָה)

The phrase let us be saved is a passive verbal form. If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and rescue us]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
God of armies	the God who commands the heavenly armies
restore us	make us strong again
and let us be saved	and save us

Psalms 80:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. See how this is translated in Psalm 4:1. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT A testimony
> UST as an appeal to Yahweh for help
> (עֵדוּת)

See how you translated the term testimony in the superscription to Psalm 8.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A testimony	as an appeal to Yahweh for help
Of Asaph	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote
a psalm	this song

Psalms 81

Psalms 81 Introduction

Psalm 81 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 81 begins like a psalm of praise. However, it then presents a direct address from Yahweh. He recalls that he delivered the Israelites from slavery in Egypt, but they nevertheless disobeyed him. He then describes how he would bless the Israelites if they did obey him. Many interpreters believe that this psalm was written for the occasion of one of the annual festivals, when many Israelites would be at the temple in Jerusalem and hear its message of warning and promise. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the Introduction to Psalms.

1. Call to worship (1–3)
2. Reason to worship (4–5)
3. Yahweh testifies against the Israelites (6–12)
4. Yahweh says how he would bless the Israelites (13–16)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Parallelisms

Parallelisms arise when two phrases occur together which mean about the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea using different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one and not saying something additional. See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. For more information, see the Introduction to the Psalms.

Imperatives

The ULT uses the imperative to show that a speaker is expressing a desire that something happen or that someone do something. When Asaph says in verse 1, “Shout joyfully to God”, he means that it is his desire that the people should do this. Translate this form in the most natural way in your language to indicate that the speaker is expressing what he wants someone to do or what he wishes someone would do.

Psalms 81:1

ULT	UST
Shout joyfully to God, our strength; shout out to the God of Jacob.	Sing joyfully to God, who makes us strong! Shout with joy to the God whom we Israelites worship!

ULT Shout joyfully to God, our strength; shout out to the God of Jacob
UST Sing joyfully to God, who makes us strong! Shout with joy to the God whom we Israelites worship (הָרְנִינוּ לֵאלֹהִים עוּזֵּנוּ הָרִיעוּ לֵאלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

These two phrases Shout joyfully to God, our strength and shout out to the God of Jacob mean basically the same thing. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. For more information on translating parallel phrases, see the Introduction to this psalm. Alternate translation: [Shout with great joy to God who is the strength of Jacob's descendants]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Shout joyfully to God, our strength; shout out
UST Sing joyfully to God, who makes us strong! Shout with joy
(הָרְנִינוּ לֵאלֹהִים עוּזֵּנוּ הָרִיעוּ)

Asaph is saying what he wants the people of Israel to do. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about this form of speech and follow the decision of your team, here and throughout this psalm, of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I desire that all shout joyfully to God, our strength; you should all shout out]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT our strength
UST who makes us strong (עוּזֵּנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one who strengthens us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to God	to God
to the God	to the God whom & worship
of Jacob	we Israelites

Psalms 81:3

ULT	UST
Blow a shofar at the new moon, at the full moon for the day of our festival.	Blow a ram’s horn for the new-moon festival {each month} and on the day of the full moon when the Festival of Shelters begins.

ULT at the full moon
UST the full moon when & begins
(בַּכֵּסֶה)

Asaph is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [also blow a shofar at the full moon]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a shofar	a ram’s horn
at the new moon	for the new-moon festival {each month
our festival	the Festival of Shelters

Psalms 81:4

ULT	UST
For {it is} a statute for Israel, a judgment of the God of Jacob.	Do this because the God whom we Israelite people worship has commanded us to do it.

ULT For {it is} a statute for Israel
UST Do this because & we Israelite people & has commanded us to do it (כִּי חֹק לְיִשְׂרָאֵל הוּא)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because it is a statute for Israel]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT it is} a statute for Israel, a judgment of the God of Jacob
UST the God whom we Israelite people worship has commanded us to do it (חֹק לְיִשְׂרָאֵל הוּא מִשְׁפָּט לֵאלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the ideas of statute and judgment, you could express the same ideas in another way. Alternate translation: [it is something that God decreed, what the God of Jacob decided]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a statute	has commanded us to do for Israel	we Israelite people
a judgment of	has commanded us to do
the God of	the God whom & worship
Jacob	we Israelite people

Psalms 81:5

ULT	UST
He set it as a testimony in Joseph when he went out over the land of Egypt, {where} I heard a lip I did not know.	God told our ancestors to observe these festivals when he delivered them from slavery to the Egyptians, a people whose language they did not understand.

ULT He set it as a testimony in Joseph when he went out
UST God told our ancestors to observe these festivals when he delivered them from slavery
(עֵדוּת | בְּיהוֹסֵף שָׂמוֹ בְּצֵאתוֹ)

The pronoun He refers to God, and the pronoun he in when he went out refers to Joseph (representing Israel). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God set it as a testimony in Joseph when Israel went out]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT as a testimony
UST to observe these festivals
(עֵדוּת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of testimony, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as something to be observed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in Joseph
UST our ancestors
(בְּיהוֹסֵף)

The name Joseph represents the people of Israel, particularly the tribes descended from Joseph. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [among the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT a lip
UST a people whose language
(שְׂפַת)

Here, lip represents language or speech. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [a tongue]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
as a testimony	to observe these festivals
in Joseph	our ancestors
the land of	the Egyptians
Egypt	the Egyptians
I did & know	they did & understand

Psalms 81:6

ULT	UST
“I removed his shoulder from the burden; his palms passed from the basket.	{Yahweh says,} “They had to hold on to heavy baskets full of bricks as they carried them on their shoulders, but I freed them from doing that.

ULT I removed his shoulder from the burden
UST Yahweh says & as they carried them on their shoulders, but I freed them from doing that (הֲסִירֹתִי מִסֶּבֶל שִׁכְמֹו)

This is the beginning of what Yahweh said. His speech continues through verse 16. You may wish to mark the words of this speech with a first-level quotation mark at the beginning and end of them or with some other punctuation or convention that your language uses to indicate a first-level quotation.

Support Reference: Quote Markings

ULT I removed his shoulder from the burden
UST Yahweh says & as they carried them on their shoulders, but I freed them from doing that (הֲסִירֹתִי מִסֶּבֶל שִׁכְמֹו)

The phrase I removed his shoulder from the burden represents Yahweh completely liberating Israel from slavery in Egypt. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I freed him from his slavery]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his shoulder from the burden; his palms passed from the basket
UST Yahweh says,} “They had to hold on to heavy baskets full of bricks as they carried them on their shoulders, but I freed them from doing that (מִסֶּבֶל שִׁכְמֹו כַּפָּיו מִדּוּד תַּעֲבֹרְנָה)

The pronouns his refer to the people of Israel collectively. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the shoulder of my people from the burden; their palms passed from the basket]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

Psalms 81:7

ULT	UST
In distress you called, and I delivered you; I answered you from the secret place of thunder. I tested you at the waters of Meribah. Selah	When they were suffering, they cried to me for help, and I rescued them. {At Mount Sinai,} I spoke to them from dark clouds {and gave them laws}. Then I saw whether they trusted me when they complained at Meribah that they had no water. Selah

ULT In distress
UST When they were suffering
(בַּצָּרָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distress, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [When you were suffering]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from the secret place of thunder
UST At Mount Sinai & from dark clouds
(בְּסֵתֶר רַעַם)

Yahweh is speaking as if he were concealed within the secret place of thunder. This represents God's awesome and hidden presence in the storm. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the thunderstorm where I was hidden]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from the secret place of thunder
UST At Mount Sinai & from dark clouds
(בְּסֵתֶר רַעַם)

Yahweh is using this possessive form to describe a hidden place that is associated with thunder. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [from the place hidden by thunder]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT Meribah
UST Meribah
(מְרִיבָה)

The word Meribah is the name of a desert place.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
In distress	When they were suffering
you called	they cried to me for help and I delivered you	and I rescued them
I tested you	Then I saw whether they trusted me
Selah	Selah

Psalms 81:8

ULT	UST
Hear, my people, and let me testify against you. Israel, if you would listen to me!	Listen to me, my people, while I warn you! I wish that you Israelites would pay attention to me!

ULT Israel, if you would listen to me
UST I wish that you Israelites would pay attention to me
(יִשְׂרָאֵל אִם־תִּשְׁמַע־לִי)

Here, if you would listen to me introduces the first part of a possible condition. Yahweh will only do the things described in verses 13–16 if this condition happens. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a condition that could happen.

Support Reference: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

ULT Israel, if you would listen to me
UST I wish that you Israelites would pay attention to me
(יִשְׂרָאֵל אִם־תִּשְׁמַע־לִי)

Yahweh is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling, a deep longing for Israel to obey. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. If not, you could say what Yahweh was feeling. Alternate translation: [Israel, I so deeply wish you would listen to me]

Support Reference: Exclamations

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and let me testify	while I warn
Israel	you Israelites

Psalms 81:9

ULT	UST
There shall not be a strange god among you, and you shall not bow down to a god of foreignness.	You must not make any idols that represent any of the gods that other nations worship. You must never bow down to worship any of those gods.

ULT to a god of foreignness
UST to worship any of those gods
(לְאֵ֣ל נֵכָ֑ר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of foreignness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to a foreign god]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a & god	any of the gods that & worship
you & shall & bow down	You must & bow down to a god of	to worship & gods
foreignness	any of those

Psalms 81:10

ULT	UST
I {am} Yahweh your God, the one having brought you up from the land of Egypt. Open wide your mouth, and I will fill it.	I am Yahweh your God. I am the one who rescued you from slavery in Egypt. If you depend on me, I will provide everything that you need.

ULT Open wide your mouth, and I will fill it
UST If you depend on me, I will provide everything that you need
(הַרְחֶב־פִּיךָ וַאֲמַלְאֵהוּ)

Yahweh is speaking as if Israel's dependence on him were opening a mouth wide to be fed. This represents trusting God to provide abundantly. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Depend on me completely, and I will provide for you abundantly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Open wide your mouth, and I will fill it
UST If you depend on me, I will provide everything that you need
(הַרְחֶב־פִּיךָ וַאֲמַלְאֵהוּ)

The word translated as Open wide is an imperative, but it communicates a condition rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a condition for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a condition. Alternate translation: [If you open wide your mouth, then I will fill it]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I {am} Yahweh	I am Yahweh
your God	your God
from the land of	from slavery in
Egypt	Egypt

Psalms 81:11

ULT	UST
But my people did not listen to my voice, and Israel did not submit to me.	However, my people would not listen to what I said; the Israelites refused to obey me.

ULT But my people did not listen
UST However, my people would not listen
(וְלֹא־שָׁמַע עַמִּי)

Yahweh uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the commands he gave in verses 8–10 and the response of the people. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [However, my people did not listen]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT to my voice
UST to what I said
(לְקוֹלִי)

Here, voice represents Yahweh's commands and instructions. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [to my commands]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and Israel	the Israelites
did & submit	to obey

Psalms 81:12

ULT	UST
So I sent them away in the stubbornness of their heart; they walked in their counsels.	So I let them do whatever they stubbornly wanted to do; they did whatever they had decided to do.

ULT So I sent them away
UST So I let them do
(וָאֲשַׁלְּחֵהוּ)

The term translated as So indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [Therefore I sent them away]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT in the stubbornness of their heart
UST whatever they stubbornly wanted to do
(בִּשְׁרִירוּת לִבָּם)

Here, heart represents the will and inner attitude of the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the stubbornness of their wills]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT in the stubbornness of their heart
UST whatever they stubbornly wanted to do
(בִּשְׁרִירוּת לִבָּם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of stubbornness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with their stubborn hearts]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they walked in their counsels
UST they did whatever they had decided to do
(יֵלְכוּ בְּמוֹעֲצוֹתֵיהֶם)

Yahweh is speaking of how the people lived as if that were a path that they were walking along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they lived according to their own plans]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT in their counsels
> UST whatever they had decided to do
> (בְּמוֹעֲצוֹתֵיהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of counsels, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way they themselves chose]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in their counsels	whatever they had decided to do

Psalms 81:13

ULT	UST
If only my people were listening to me, {if} Israel would walk in my ways!	I wish that my people would obey me! Yes, I wish that the Israelites would live the way I want them to!

ULT If only my people were listening to me, {if} Israel would walk in my ways

UST I wish that my people would obey me! Yes, I wish that the Israelites would live the way I want them to (לוּ עַמִּי שֹׁמֵעַ לִי יִשְׂרָאֵל בִּדְרָכַי יְהַלָּכוּ)

Yahweh is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling, a deep longing for Israel to obey. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. If not, you could say what Yahweh was feeling. Alternate translation: [How I long for my people to listen to me and for Israel to follow my ways]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT if} Israel would walk in my ways

UST Yes, I wish that the Israelites would live the way I want them to (יִשְׂרָאֵל בִּדְרָכַי יְהַלָּכוּ)

Yahweh is speaking of how a person lives as if that were a way or path that the person was walking along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Israel would live according to my commands]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
if} Israel	Yes, I wish that the Israelites

Psalms 81:14

ULT	UST
As a little {thing} I would subdue their enemies, and I would turn my hand against their adversaries.	Then I would use my power against those who are opposing them, and I would easily defeat their enemies.

ULT I would turn my hand
UST I would use my power
(אַשִּׁיב יָדִי)

Here, hand represents Yahweh's power and ability to act. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I would use my power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their enemies	their enemies
their adversaries	those who are opposing them

Psalms 81:15

ULT	UST
The haters of Yahweh would cringe before him, and their time would be forever.	Then those who had rebelled against Yahweh would bow down fearfully in front of him {to submit to his authority}. But the Israelites would always prosper.

ULT would cringe before him
UST would bow down fearfully in front of him {to submit to his authority
(יְכַחֲשׁוּ־לוֹ)

The pronoun him refers to Yahweh. Even though Yahweh is speaking in the first person, he refers to himself in the third person here. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [would cringe before Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and their time would be forever
UST But the Israelites would always prosper
(וְיהִי עִתָּם לְעוֹלָם)

Here, time represents the duration of their fate or condition. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and their punishment would last forever]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
their time	the Israelites would & prosper
forever	always

Psalms 81:16

ULT	UST
And he would feed him with the fat of the wheat, and I would satisfy you with honey from the rock.”	I would make their fields produce abundant crops, and they would even find all the honey they wanted in wild bee hives in rocky places.”

ULT And he would feed him
UST I would make their fields produce
(וַיַּאֲכִילֵהוּ)

The pronouns he and him refer to Yahweh and Israel respectively. Even though Yahweh is speaking in the first person, he uses the third person here. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [I would feed Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with the fat of the wheat
UST abundant crops
(מֵחֵלֶב חִטָּה)

Here, fat represents the best and richest portion of something. Yahweh is speaking as if the finest wheat had a rich fat. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with the finest wheat]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with the fat of the wheat
UST abundant crops
(מֵחֵלֶב חִטָּה)

Yahweh is using this possessive form to describe the richest part of the wheat. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the richest part of the wheat]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and I would satisfy you with honey from the rock
UST and they would even find all the honey they wanted in wild bee hives in rocky places
(וּמִצּוּר דְּבַשׁ אַשְׂבִּיעֶךָּ)

The pronoun you marks an abrupt shift from the third person him earlier in the verse to the second person. Both refer to the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [I would satisfy them with honey from the rock]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wheat	crops
with honey	honey

Psalms 81:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT Gittith
> UST a stringed instrument
> (הַגִּתִּית)

See how you translated the term Gittith in the superscription to Psalm 8.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Asaph	the song & A Levite from & clan of Asaph wrote this

Psalms 82

Psalms 82 Introduction

Psalm 82 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 82, like Psalm 81, seems to have been written for the occasion of one of the annual festivals, when many Israelites would have been at the temple in Jerusalem and heard its message of challenge and warning. It depicts God convening an assembly of rulers and passing judgment against them for failing to ensure justice.

1. God takes his place of authority in this assembly (1)
2. God demands that these rulers judge justly (2–4)
3. God passes judgment against these rulers (5–7)
4. The psalmist asks God to judge the earth (8)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Translation of the term “gods”

The psalmist describes these rulers as “gods” in verse 1, and God says to them “You are gods” in verse 6. That has led many interpreters to conclude that this is a depiction of a divine assembly in heaven. However, that same Hebrew term can also mean “judges,” as in Exodus 21:6 and 22:8, so other interpreters understand this as a depiction of God summoning human judges and indicting them for not upholding justice. If possible, translate this psalm in a way that allows for either interpretation. The UST models one way to do that.

Parallelisms

Parallelisms arise when two clauses occur together which mean the same thing. The second clause emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea using different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine the phrases and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the clauses with a word that shows that the second clause is repeating the first one and not saying something additional. See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of clauses in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing.

Psalms 82:1

ULT	UST
A psalm. Of Asaph. God is standing in the congregation of God; in the midst of gods he judges:	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote this song. God has taken his place in the assembly that he governs; he pronounces judgment on the rulers there.

ULT is standing
UST has taken his place
(נִצָּב)

The expression is standing was a common expression meaning to take one's position of authority in order to act. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [takes his position of authority]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT in the midst of gods
UST on the rulers there
(בְּקֶרֶב אֱלֹהִים)

The term "god," when applied to a being other than Yahweh, can refer to an idol, but, as here, it can also refer to any lesser spirit being. Alternate translation: [in the midst of the spirit beings]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	this song
Of Asaph	A Levite from the clan of Asaph wrote
God	God
in the congregation of	in the assembly
God	that he governs
of gods	rulers
he judges	he pronounces judgment

Psalms 82:2

ULT	UST
“Until when will you judge {with} injustice and lift up the faces of the wicked? Selah	He says, “You must stop making unjust decisions and favoring wicked people! Selah

ULT Until when will you judge {with} injustice and lift up the faces of the wicked
UST He says, “You must stop making unjust decisions and favoring wicked people (עַד־מָתַי תִּשְׁפְּטוּ־עָוֶל וּפְנֵי רְשָׁעִים תִּשְׂאוּ)

Asaph is using the question form to rebuke these judges for their corrupt rulings. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for this purpose, you could translate these questions as statements or exclamations. Alternate translation: [You must stop judging with injustice and stop making rulings that favor the wicked!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT with} injustice
UST unjust
(עָוֶל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of injustice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [unjustly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and lift up the faces of the wicked
UST and favoring wicked people
(וּפְנֵי רְשָׁעִים תִּשְׂאוּ)

The expression lift up the faces of the wicked was a common expression meaning “to show partiality or favoritism.” If it would be helpful for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and show partiality to wicked people]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT wicked
UST wicked people
(רְשָׁעִים)

Asaph is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [people who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will you judge	making & decisions
with} injustice	unjust
wicked	wicked people
Selah	Selah

Psalms 82:3

ULT	UST
Judge the poor and the orphan; vindicate the poor and the destitute.	Defend poor people and orphans, and decide cases fairly for people who have no one else to help them.

ULT the poor and the orphan; vindicate the poor and the destitute
UST poor people and orphans, and decide cases fairly for people who have no one else to help them
(דַּל וְיָתוֹם עָנִי וְרָשׁ הַצְדִּיקוּ)

Asaph is using the adjectives poor, orphan, and destitute as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [the poor people and the fatherless children; vindicate the poor people and the destitute people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Judge	Defend

Psalms 82:4

ULT	UST
Rescue the poor and the needy; deliver {them} from the hand of the wicked.	Save defenseless people from what wicked people want to do to them!

ULT the poor and the needy; deliver {them} from the hand of the wicked
UST Save defenseless people from what wicked people want to do to them
(דַּל וְאֶבְיוֹן מִיַּד רְשָׁעִים הַצִּילוּ)

Asaph is using the adjectives poor, needy, and wicked as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [the poor people and the needy people; deliver them from the hand of the wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the hand of the wicked
UST from what wicked people want to do to them
(מִיַּד רְשָׁעִים)

Here, hand represents the power or control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the control of the wicked people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Rescue	Save
deliver {them	Save
the wicked	wicked people

Psalms 82:5

ULT	UST
They do not know and they do not understand; they walk about in darkness. All of the foundations of the earth are shaken.	You are foolish and ignorant! You do not recognize the right things to do. People are no longer living by the basic principles that make a society fair.

ULT They do not know and they do not understand
UST You are foolish and ignorant
(לֹא יָדְעוּ | וְלֹא יָבִינוּ)

The terms do not know and do not understand mean similar things. Asaph is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [They are completely ignorant]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT they walk about in darkness
UST You do not recognize the right things to do
(בַּחֲשֵׁכָה יִתְהַלָּכוּ)

Asaph is speaking of these judges as if they were walking around in a dark place. He means that they are morally ignorant and do not act according to what is right. Your language may have a comparable expression that you could use in your translation, or you could express the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they go about in moral ignorance]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT All of the foundations of the earth are shaken
UST People are no longer living by the basic principles that make a society fair (יִמּוֹטוּ כָּל־מוֹסְדֵי אָרֶץ)

Asaph is speaking of the moral and social order of the world as if it had foundations like those under a building. He means that because of these unjust judges, the stability of the world is being destroyed. You may have a comparable expression in your language that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [All the stability and order of the world is being undermined]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT are shaken
> UST People are no longer living by > (יִמּוֹטוּ)

The phrase are shaken is a passive verbal form. If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you could state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [shake] or [are trembling]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They do & know	You are foolish
they do & understand	and ignorant
the foundations of	the basic principles that make & fair
the earth	a society
are shaken	People are no longer living by

Psalms 82:6

ULT	UST
I, I said, ‘You {are} gods and sons of the Most High, all of you.	I said, ‘You are spiritual beings; you are all rulers over creation like the Most High.

ULT I, I said, ‘You {are} gods
UST I said, ‘You are spiritual beings
(אֲנִי־אָמַרְתִּי אֱלֹהִים אַתֶּם)

If it would be clearer in your language, you could translate this so that there is not a quotation within a quotation. In that case, you could express what God said as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [I said that you are gods]

Support Reference: Quotes within Quotes

ULT I, I said
UST I said
(אֲנִי־אָמַרְתִּי)

Asaph is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I said already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one speaking. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [I myself said]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT gods
UST spiritual beings
(אֱלֹהִים)

See the discussion of the term “gods” in the introduction to this psalm.

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and sons of the Most High
UST you are all rulers over creation
(וּבְנֵי עֶלְיוֹן)

Asaph is speaking of these judges as if they were sons of the Most High, that is, as if they belonged to God’s family. He means that God had given them a share in his authority. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and those who share the authority of the Most High]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the Most High	you are all rulers over creation

Psalms 82:7

ULT	UST
But you will die like man, and like one of the princes, you will fall.’”	But you will die as humans do; you will lose your power just as rulers do.’”

ULT But
UST But
(אָכֵן)

Asaph uses the word But here to introduce a contrast between the divine status declared in the previous verse and the mortality declared here. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [However,]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT you will die like man
UST you will die as humans do
(כְּאָדָם תְּמוּתוּן)

The point of this comparison is that despite being called gods, these judges will die just as any ordinary human person does. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point clear. Alternate translation: [like any mortal person, you will die]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and like one of the princes, you will fall
UST you will lose your power just as rulers do
(וּכְאַחַד הַשָּׂרִים תִּפֹּלוּ)

The point of this comparison is that these judges will lose their position and power just as earthly rulers do when they are defeated. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like any other ruler, you will fall from power]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the princes	just as rulers do

Psalms 82:8

ULT	UST
Arise, God, judge the earth, for you, you will inherit among all of the nations.	God, you rule all the nations, so take action and judge the people who live on the earth!

ULT Arise, God, judge the earth
UST God & take action and judge the people who live on the earth
(קוּמָה אֱלֹהִים שָׁפְטָה הָאָרֶץ)

Asaph is using the imperative forms Arise and judge to make a request of God. If your language does not use the imperative to make requests, you could express this as a request or wish. Alternate translation: [Please arise, God, and judge the earth]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT you, you will inherit
UST you rule
(אַתָּה תִּנְחַל)

The word translated as you before you will inherit represents an independent pronoun used for emphasis in the original language, in addition to the pronoun expressed within the verb. If it would be helpful in your language, you could indicate the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [you yourself will inherit]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you, you will inherit among all of the nations
UST you rule all the nations
(אַתָּה תִּנְחַל בְּכָל־הַגּוֹיִם)

Asaph is speaking of God's sovereign ownership and authority over the nations as if God would inherit them as property. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you possess authority over all the nations]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT for you, you will inherit among all of the nations
> UST you rule all the nations, so > (כִּי־אַתָּה תִּנְחַל בְּכָל־הַגּוֹיִם)

Asaph is giving a reason for what he said in the previous phrase. He asked God to judge the earth and he now gives the reason: God possesses authority over all the nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this connection more explicit. Alternate translation: [because you have authority over all the nations]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
judge	and judge
you will inherit	rule
the nations	the nations

Psalms 83

Psalms 83 Introduction

Psalm 83 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 83 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It is such a desperate, urgent plea for help that it presents only three of the basic elements of that type of psalm. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1)
2. Description of troubles (2–8)
3. Petition (9–18)

Many interpreters believe that this psalm was written during the reign of Jehoshaphat when a large army composed of Moabites, Ammonites, and Meunites, supported by other nations, invaded and attacked Judah, as described in 2 Chronicles 20:1–30. Yahweh inspired a Levite from the clan of Asaph to reassure the king and nation that he would defeat these invaders. The outcome was exactly what this psalm envisions and pleads for: “the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard how Yahweh had fought with the enemies of Israel.” It may be helpful to read this passage before translating this psalm.

Psalms 83:1

ULT	UST
God, {may} silence not {be} to you; do not be still, and do not be quiet, God!	God, please take action to help us! Please do that right away!

ULT may} silence not {be} to you
UST please take action to help us
(אַל־דֳּמִי־לָךְ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of silence, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [may you not be silent]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT do not be still, and do not be quiet
UST Please do that right away
(אַל־תֶּחֱרַשׁ וְאַל־תִּשְׁקֹט)

The expressions do not be still and do not be quiet mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [do not remain inactive]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT do not be still, and do not be quiet
UST Please do that right away
(אַל־תֶּחֱרַשׁ וְאַל־תִּשְׁקֹט)

The psalmist is using the imperative forms do not be still and do not be quiet to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [please do not be still, and please do not be quiet]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT may} silence not {be} to you; do not be still, and do not be quiet
> UST please take action to help us! Please do that right away
> (אַל־דֳּמִי־לָךְ אַל־תֶּחֱרַשׁ וְאַל־תִּשְׁקֹט)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [do not remain silent and inactive]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
God	God

Psalms 83:2

ULT	UST
For behold, your enemies roar, and the ones hating you lift up {the} head.	I ask this because the enemies who hate you are defiantly approaching us with a large army.

ULT For behold
UST I ask this because (כִּי־הִנֵּה)

The psalmist uses For behold to introduce the reason for his plea in verse 1. He is saying that God should take action because the enemies are rising up. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make the connection clearer.

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT behold
UST I ask this because
(הִנֵּה)

The word behold is used here to draw attention to what follows. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this with a word or phrase that serves this purpose, or you could leave it untranslated. Alternate translation: [look]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the ones hating you
UST who hate you
(וּמְשַׂנְאֶיךָ)

The phrase the ones hating you refers to the same people as your enemies earlier in the verse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [those same enemies of yours]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT your enemies roar, and the ones hating you lift up {the} head
UST the enemies who hate you are defiantly approaching us with a large army
(אוֹיְבֶיךָ יֶהֱמָיוּן וּמְשַׂנְאֶיךָ נָשְׂאוּ רֹאשׁ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [your enemies are boldly rising up against you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

> ULT lift up {the} head
> UST defiantly
> (נְשָׂאוּ רֹאשׁ)

The expression lift up the head is an idiom that means to act boldly or defiantly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [act defiantly]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your enemies	the enemies

Psalms 83:3

ULT	UST
They are cunning {with} counsel against your people, and they conspire against your treasured ones.	They have plotted deviously together to fight against us Israelites whom you cherish.

ULT They are cunning {with} counsel against your people, and they conspire against your treasured ones
UST They have plotted deviously together to fight against us Israelites whom you cherish (עָל־עַמְּךָ יַעֲרִימוּ סוֹד וְיִתְיָעֲצוּ עַל־צְפוּנֶיךָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [they are craftily plotting against your cherished people]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT They are cunning
UST deviously
(יַעֲרִימוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the enemies mentioned in verse 2. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [Your enemies are cunning]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with} counsel
UST They have plotted
(סוֹד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of counsel, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in counseling together]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your treasured ones
UST us Israelites whom you cherish
(צְפוּנֶיךָ)

The phrase your treasured ones refers to the people of Israel, whom God values. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [the Israelites, your treasured people]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They are cunning	deviously
with} counsel	They have plotted

Psalms 83:4

ULT	UST
They have said, “Come, and let us destroy them from {being} a nation, that the name of Israel may not be remembered anymore.”	They have said to each other, “Come on, let us destroy them so completely that no one will ever remember that Israel existed!”

ULT They have said
UST They have said to each other
(אָמְרוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the enemies mentioned in verses 2–3. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [These enemies have said]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the name of Israel
UST that Israel existed
(שֵׁם־יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, the name of Israel represents the nation of Israel itself and its existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the nation of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT that the name of Israel may not be remembered
UST that no one will & remember that Israel existed
(וְלֹא־יִזָּכֵר שֵׁם־יִשְׂרָאֵל)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [that no one may remember the name of Israel]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and let us destroy them	let us destroy them
from {being} a nation	so completely
Israel	Israel

Psalms 83:5

ULT	UST
For they have conspired against you, heart together; they have cut a covenant:	They have all agreed to do this, and they have made an alliance against you.

ULT For
UST They have & agreed to do this
(כִּֽי)

The word For introduces the reason why the psalmist said what he said in verses 3–4. The enemies are conspiring because they want to destroy Israel. Use a connector in your language that introduces a reason. Alternate translation: [This is because]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT they have conspired
UST They have & agreed to do this (נוֹעֲצוּ)

The pronoun they refers to the nations listed in verses 6–8. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [these nations have conspired]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT heart together
UST all
(לֵב יַחְדָּו)

Here, heart represents the will or intention. The psalmist is saying that these enemies have conspired with unified purpose. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with one purpose]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT they have cut a covenant
UST and they have made an alliance
(בְּרִית יְכָרֹתוּ)

The expression they have cut a covenant is an idiom that means they have made a formal agreement or alliance. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they have allied themselves]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a covenant	and they have made

Psalms 83:6

ULT	UST
the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Hagrites,	This army includes soldiers who are Edomites, Ishmaelites, Moabites, Hagrites,

ULT the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites
UST This army includes soldiers who are Edomites, Ishmaelites
(אָהֳלֵי אֱדוֹם וְיִשְׁמְעֵאלִים)

The psalmist is leaving out the verb that would be expected in this phrase. The verb can be supplied from the context in verse 5. If it would be helpful in your language, you could supply this verb. Alternate translation: [the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites have cut a covenant against you]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the tents of Edom
UST This army includes soldiers who are Edomites
(אָהֳלֵי אֱדוֹם)

Here, the tents of Edom represents the people of Edom who live in those tents. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people of Edom]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the tents of	This army includes soldiers who are
Edom	Edomites
and the Ishmaelites	Ishmaelites
Moab	Moabites

Psalms 83:7

ULT	UST
Gebal and Ammon and Amalek, Philistia with the dwellers of Tyre.	Gebalites, Ammonites, Amalekites, Philistines, and Tyrians.

ULT Gebal and Ammon and Amalek
UST Gebalites, Ammonites, Amalekites
(גְּבָל וְעַמּוֹן וַעֲמָלֵק)

The psalmist is leaving out the verb that would be expected in this phrase. The verb can be supplied from the context in verse 5. If it would be helpful in your language, you could supply this verb. Alternate translation: [Gebal and Ammon and Amalek have cut a covenant against you]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and Ammon	Ammonites
and Amalek	Amalekites
Philistia	Philistines
Tyre	Tyrians

Psalms 83:8

ULT	UST
Also Assyria has joined with them; they {are} an arm to the sons of Lot. Selah	The Assyrians are helping them. They have given military support to the Moabites and Ammonites {who are leading this army}. Selah

ULT they
UST They have given military support
(הָיְוּ)

The pronoun they refers to Assyria, mentioned earlier in the verse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [the Assyrians]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Also Assyria has joined with them; they {are} an arm to the sons of Lot
UST The Assyrians are helping them. They have given military support to the Moabites and Ammonites {who are leading this army (גַּם־אַשּׁוּר נִלְוָה עִמָּם הָיְוּ זְרוֹעַ לִבְנֵי־לוֹט)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Also Assyria has joined with them; indeed, they {are} an arm to the sons of Lot]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT they {are} an arm to the sons of Lot
UST They have given military support to the Moabites and Ammonites {who are leading this army
(הָיְוּ זְרוֹעַ לִבְנֵי־לוֹט)

Here, an arm represents military strength or support. The psalmist is saying that Assyria has provided military power to help the descendants of Lot. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they have given military support to the sons of Lot]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT to the sons of Lot
> UST to the Moabites and Ammonites {who are leading this army
> (לִבְנֵי־לֹוט)

The psalmist is speaking of the sons of Lot to mean the descendants of Lot, that is, the Moabites and Ammonites. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [the descendants of Lot]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Assyria	The Assyrians
Lot	to the Moabites and Ammonites {who are leading this army
Selah	Selah

Psalms 83:9

ULT	UST
Do to them as {to} Midian, as {to} Sisera, as {to} Jabin at the river of Kishon.	Defeat them just as you helped Gideon defeat the Midianites, and just as you helped Barak defeat Sisera{, the commander of the Canaanite king} Jabin at the Kishon River!

ULT Do to them as {to} Midian

UST Defeat them just as you helped Gideon defeat the Midianites

(עֲשֵׂה־לָהֶם כְּמִדְיָן)

The psalmist is using the imperative form Do to them as to Midian to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [Please do to them as to Midian]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
as {to} Midian	just as you helped Gideon defeat the Midianites

Psalms 83:10

ULT	UST
They were destroyed at En Dor; they became dung for the ground.	You destroyed those Canaanites at En Dor, and their dead bodies rotted on the ground.

ULT They were destroyed
UST You destroyed those Canaanites
(נִשְׁמְדוּ)

The pronoun They refers to Midian, Sisera, and Jabin mentioned in verse 9. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [Those enemies were destroyed]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They were destroyed
UST You destroyed those Canaanites
(נִשְׁמְדוּ)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [God destroyed them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they became dung for the ground
UST and their dead bodies rotted on the ground
(הָיוּ דֹּמֶן לָאֲדָמָה)

The psalmist is speaking of the dead enemies as if they became dung for the ground. He means that their corpses were left unburied and decayed on the ground like refuse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [their dead bodies lay rotting on the ground]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They were destroyed	You destroyed those Canaanites
dung	rotted

Psalms 83:11

ULT	UST
Make them, their nobles, like Oreb and like Zeeb and like Zebah and like Zalmunna, all of their princes,	Kill the leaders of this invading army just as Gideon killed Oreb and Zeeb, the Midianite commanders. Defeat all their rulers just as Gideon defeated Zebah and Zalmunna{, the Midianite rulers}.

ULT Make them, their nobles, like Oreb and like Zeeb
UST Kill the leaders of this invading army just as Gideon killed Oreb and Zeeb, the Midianite commanders
(שִׁיתֵ֤מוֹ נְדִיבֵ֨מוֹ כְעֹרֵ֪ב וְכִזְאֵ֡ב)

The psalmist uses the word like to compare the fate he requests for the current enemies to the fate of Oreb and Zeeb, who were Midianite commanders killed by Gideon. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [Defeat them and their nobles as Gideon defeated Oreb and Zeeb]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT Make them, their nobles
UST Kill the leaders of this invading army
(שִׁיתֵ֤מוֹ נְדִיבֵ֨מוֹ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form Make them, their nobles to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [Please make them, their nobles]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT their nobles
UST the leaders of this invading army
(נְדִיבֵ֨מוֹ)

The psalmist is using the adjective nobles as a noun to refer to people who are noble. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate it with an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [their noble leaders]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and like Zebah and like Zalmunna, all of their princes
UST Defeat all their rulers just as Gideon defeated Zebah and Zalmunna{, the Midianite rulers
(וְכִזֶּבַח וּכְצַלְמֻנָּע כָּל־נְסִיכָמוֹ)

The psalmist uses the word like to compare the fate he requests for the princes of the current enemies to the fate of Zebah and Zalmunna, who were Midianite kings defeated by Gideon. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [and defeat all of their princes as Gideon defeated Zebah and Zalmunna]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT their princes
UST Defeat & their rulers
(נְסִיכָמוֹ)

The psalmist is using the adjective princes as a noun to refer to people who are princely rulers. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate it with an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [their ruling princes]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their nobles	the leaders of this invading army
their princes	Defeat & their rulers

Psalms 83:12

ULT	UST
who said, “Let us possess for ourselves the pastures of God.”	They too had said, “Let us take for ourselves the land where God’s people dwell.”

ULT who
UST They too
(אֲשֶׁר)

The pronoun who refers to the nobles and princes mentioned in verse 11. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [Those nobles and princes]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the pastures of God
UST the land where God’s people dwell
(אֵת נְאוֹת אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is speaking of the land of Israel as the pastures of God. He means the land that God has given to his people as their dwelling place. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the land that God gave to his people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the pastures of God
UST the land where God’s people dwell
(אֵת נְאוֹת אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is using the possessive form the pastures of God to describe pastures that belong to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this relationship in another way. Alternate translation: [the pastures that belong to God]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let us possess	Let us take
God	God’s

Psalms 83:13

ULT	UST
My God, make them like tumbleweed, like chaff to the face of the wind.	My God, please defeat them so that they run away just as tumbleweed rolls away and just as chaff flies away in the wind!

ULT make them like tumbleweed
UST please defeat them so that they run away just as tumbleweed rolls away
(שִׁיתֵ֣מוֹ כַגַּלְגַּ֑ל)

The psalmist uses the word like to compare the enemies to tumbleweed, which is blown away by the wind. He means that God should scatter them completely. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [scatter them as the wind scatters tumbleweed]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT make them like tumbleweed
UST please defeat them so that they run away just as tumbleweed rolls away
(שִׁיתֵ֣מוֹ כַגַּלְגַּ֑ל)

The psalmist is using the imperative form make them like tumbleweed to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [please make them like tumbleweed]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT like chaff to the face of the wind
UST and just as chaff flies away in the wind
(כְּקַ֣שׁ לִפְנֵי־רֽוּחַ)

The psalmist uses the word like to compare the enemies to chaff that is blown away by the wind. He means that God should scatter them as easily as the wind scatters chaff. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [like chaff blown away by the wind]

Support Reference: Simile

> ULT to the face of the wind
> UST in the wind
> (לִפְנֵי־רוּחַ)

Here, the face of the wind represents the front of the wind, that is, the direction the wind blows. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [before the wind]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My God	My God
like chaff	and just as chaff flies away

Psalms 83:14

ULT	UST
As fire burns a forest, and as flame kindles mountains,	Just as a forest fire burns down trees and flames burn up the dry vegetation on hillsides,

ULT As fire burns a forest, and as flame kindles mountains
UST Just as a forest fire burns down trees and flames burn up the dry vegetation on hillsides
(כְּאֵשׁ תִּבְעַר־יָעַר וּכְלֶהָבָה תְּלַהֶט הָרִים)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [As fire burns a forest; indeed, as a flame kindles mountains]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT As fire burns a forest, and as flame kindles mountains
UST Just as a forest fire burns down trees and flames burn up the dry vegetation on hillsides
(כְּאֵשׁ תִּבְעַר־יָעַר וּכְלֶהָבָה תְּלַהֶט הָרִים)

The psalmist uses the word as to compare his request for God's action against the enemies to how fire burns a forest and how flame kindles mountains. He means that God should consume the enemies completely. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [As fire consumes a forest and as flames consume the mountainside]

Support Reference: Simile

Psalms 83:15

ULT	UST
thus pursue them with your tempest, and terrify them with your whirlwind.	make them run away afraid as if a great storm were driving them off.

ULT thus
UST make them run away
(כֵּן)

The word thus connects the similes in verses 13–14 to the request in verse 15. The psalmist is saying that just as fire consumes a forest and flame kindles mountains, so God should pursue the enemies. Use a connector in your language that draws a comparison. Alternate translation: [in that way,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT pursue them with your tempest
UST make them run away & as if a great storm were driving them off
(תִּרְדְּפֵם בְּסַעֲרֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form pursue them with your tempest to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [please pursue them with your tempest]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT pursue them with your tempest, and terrify them with your whirlwind
UST make them run away afraid as if a great storm were driving them off (תִּרְדְּפֵם בְּסַעֲרֶךָ וּבְסוּפָתְךָ תְבַהֲלֵם)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [pursue and terrify them with your swirling tempest]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
terrify them	afraid

Psalms 83:16

ULT	UST
Fill their faces {with} shame, that they may seek your name, Yahweh.	Completely disgrace them so that they will acknowledge who you are, Yahweh.

ULT Fill their faces {with} shame
UST Completely disgrace them
(מַלֵּא פְנֵיהֶם קָלוֹן)

The psalmist is using the imperative form Fill their faces with shame to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a natural form for making a request. Alternate translation: [Please fill their faces with shame]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Fill their faces {with} shame
UST Completely disgrace them
(מַלֵּא פְנֵיהֶם קָלוֹן)

Here, their faces represents their public identity or reputation. The psalmist is asking God to bring shame upon these enemies publicly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Bring shame upon them publicly]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Fill their faces {with} shame
UST Completely disgrace them
(מַלֵּא פְנֵיהֶם קָלוֹן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of shame, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Make them thoroughly ashamed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT that they may seek your name
UST so that they will acknowledge who you are
(וְיבַקְשׁוּ שִׁמְךָ)

The phrase that they may seek your name states the goal or purpose of the request in the first part of the verse. The psalmist is asking God to shame the enemies so that they will turn to God. Use a connector in your language that introduces a goal or purpose. Alternate translation: [to the end that they may seek your name]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

> ULT that they may seek your name
> UST so that they will acknowledge who you are
> (וְיבַקְשׁוּ שִׁמְךָ)

Here, your name represents God himself and his authority. The psalmist is asking that the enemies would turn to seek God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that they may seek you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with} shame	disgrace
that they may seek	so that they will acknowledge
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 83:17

ULT	UST
May they have shame and be terrified, eternities of eternity, and may they have disgrace and may they perish.	Embarrass them and make them always afraid. Humiliate them until they die.

ULT May they have shame and be terrified, eternities of eternity, and may they have disgrace and may they perish
UST Embarrass them and make them always afraid. Humiliate them until they die (יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ וְיִבָּהֲלוּ֙ עֲדֵי־עַ֣ד וְיַחְפְּר֖וּ וְיֹאבֵֽדוּ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [May they be utterly shamed and destroyed forever]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT May they have shame
UST Embarrass them
(יֵבֹ֤שׁוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of shame, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [May they be ashamed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and be terrified
UST and make them & afraid
(וְיִבָּהֲלוּ)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and may God terrify them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and may they have disgrace
UST Humiliate them
(וְיַחְפְּר֖וּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of disgrace, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and may they be disgraced]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May they have shame	Embarrass them
eternities of	always eternity	always
and may they have disgrace	Humiliate them
and may they perish	until they die

Psalms 83:18

ULT	UST
And may they know that you, your name {is} Yahweh, you alone {are} the Most High over all of the earth.	Then they will know that you alone, Yahweh, are the Most High God who rules over everyone in the world.

ULT And may they know
UST Then they will know
(וְיֵדְעוּ)

The phrase may they know refers to the enemies described in verses 2–8. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this explicit. Alternate translation: [And may those enemies know]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT your name {is} Yahweh
UST Yahweh
(שִׁמְךָ יְהוָה)

Asaph is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is or to refer to his reputation. Alternate translation: [you are Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And may they know	Then they will know
is} Yahweh	Yahweh
are} the Most High	are the Most High God

Psalms 84

Psalms 84 Introduction

Psalm 84 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

While Psalm 84 is not identified explicitly in its superscription as a “song of ascents” like Psalms 120–134, it nevertheless seems to be that same type of psalm. It encourages and praises going to the temple in Jerusalem. Apparently writing from the perspective of his arrival at the temple, the psalmist describes how he longed to be there and the journey he made to get there. The superscription indicates that a Korahite Levite wrote this psalm, but it was evidently one who lived and worked at some distance from Jerusalem.

1. Celebration of the temple (1–4)
2. The journey to the temple (5–7)
3. Prayer for Yahweh to preserve the king (8–9)
4. Celebration of Yahweh, the God of this temple, for his goodness (10–12)

Psalms 84:1

ULT	UST
How amiable {are} your dwellings, Yahweh of Armies!	Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies, what a wonderful place your temple is!

ULT How amiable {are} your dwellings
UST what a wonderful place your temple is (מַה־יְּדִידוֹת מִשְׁכְּנוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of amazement at the beauty of God's dwelling place. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Your dwellings are so lovely]

Support Reference: Exclamations

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} your dwellings	your temple is
Yahweh of Armies	Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies

Psalms 84:2

ULT	UST
My soul longs and even faints for the courts of Yahweh; my heart and my flesh cry out to the living God.	I long greatly, deep inside, to be in the courtyards of Yahweh's temple. With my whole being I call out to the only true God.

ULT My soul longs and even faints
UST I long greatly, deep inside
(נִכְסְפָה וְגַם־כָּלְתָה | נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to mean all of himself in the act of longing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I long and even faint]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT longs and even faints
UST I long greatly
(נִכְסְפָה וְגַם־כָּלְתָה)

The terms longs and faints mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [desperately yearns]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT my heart and my flesh cry out
UST With my whole being I call out
(לִבִּי וּבְשָׂרִי יְרַנְּנוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of my heart and my flesh as if they were living things that could cry out. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my heart and my flesh groan loudly]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT my heart and my flesh
UST With my whole being
(לִבִּי וּבְשָׂרִי)

The psalmist is referring to all of himself by naming two major components, my heart and my flesh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [with my whole being I]

Support Reference: Merism

> ULT my heart
> UST With my whole being
> (לִבִּ֑י)

Here, my heart represents the psalmist's desires and feelings. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my inner self]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	deep inside
for the courts of	to be in the courtyards of & temple
Yahweh	Yahweh's
cry out	I call out
God	God

Psalms 84:3

ULT	UST
Even the sparrow has found a house, and the swallow, a nest for herself, where she may lay her young— your altars, Yahweh of Armies, my king and my God.	Even little birds have built their nests near your temple, and that is where they are taking care of their babies. Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies, you are my king and my God.

ULT and the swallow, a nest for herself
UST little birds & their nests
(וּדְרוֹר | קֵן לָהּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and the swallow has found a nest for herself]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a house	nests
your altars	near your temple
Yahweh of Armies	Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies
my king	you are my king
and my God	and my God

Psalms 84:4

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the dwellers of your house! They praise you continually. Selah	What a good life people have who live by your temple! They worship you continually there. Selah

ULT The happinesses of
UST What a good life & have
(אַשְׁרֵי)

The psalmist is using a phrase The happinesses of that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Oh, how happy are]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT your house
UST by your temple
(בֵּיתֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the temple of Yahweh as if it were a house in which he lived. Alternate translation: [your temple]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your house	by your temple
They praise you	They & you continually there
Selah	Selah

Psalms 84:5

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the man, strength to him {is} in you! Highways {are} in their heart.	What a good life people have whom you make strong so that they can travel to your temple as they greatly desire!

ULT The happinesses of
UST What a good life & have
(אַשְׁרֵי)

See how you translated the phrase “The happinesses of” in the previous verse.

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT the man
UST people
(אָדָם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT strength to him {is} in you
UST whom you make strong (עֻזּוֹ־לְךָ בָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you make him strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Highways {are} in their heart
UST so that they can travel to your temple as they greatly desire (מְסִלּוֹת בִּלְבָבָם)

The psalmist is speaking of the desire for pilgrimage as if there were highways in the hearts of the people. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They desire to make the journey to your temple] or [Pilgrimage journeys are in their thoughts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT are} in their heart
> UST as they greatly desire
> (בִּלְבָבָם)

The pronoun their refers to the kind of person described as the man in the first part of the verse. The psalmist shifts from singular to plural because he is speaking of everyone who fits this description. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [are in his heart]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT are} in their heart
> UST as they greatly desire
> (בִּלְבָבָם)

Here, their heart represents the desires and intentions of the people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [are in their thoughts]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 84:6

ULT	UST
Passing through in the Valley of Baca, they make it a spring; the early rain also covers {it} {with} blessings.	As they pass through the {arid} Valley of Baca, they dig wells to look for water, and God sends autumn rains that fill those wells with life-giving water.

ULT they make it a spring
UST they dig wells to look for water
(מַעְיָן יְשִׁיתֻהוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of the pilgrims as if they transformed the Valley of Baca into a spring of water. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they find water there] or [they make it a place of refreshment]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with} blessings
UST with life-giving water
(בְּרָכוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of blessings, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with good things from God]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a spring	wells to look for water
with} blessings	with life-giving water

Psalms 84:7

ULT	UST
They go from strength to strength; {each} one appears before God in Zion.	They become stronger as they go, and each of them arrives at the temple in Zion where God is present.

ULT They go
UST as they go
(יֵלְכוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the pilgrims described in verses 5 and 6 who are traveling to God's temple. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The pilgrims go]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT from strength to strength
UST They become stronger
(מֵחַ֣יִל אֶל־חָ֑יִל)

The psalmist is using from strength to strength as a common expression meaning that the pilgrims grow increasingly strong as they travel. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with ever-increasing strength]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
strength	They become stronger
God	where God is present
in Zion	the temple in Zion

Psalms 84:8

ULT	UST
Yahweh, God of armies, hear my prayer; listen, God of Jacob. Selah	Yahweh, you are the God who commands the heavenly armies. Please answer my prayer. You are the God whom we Israelite people worship. Please do what I ask. Selah

ULT my prayer
UST my prayer
(תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what I pray]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
God	you are the God
God of armies	you are the God who commands the heavenly armies
my prayer	my prayer
God	You are the God whom & worship
of Jacob	we Israelite people
Selah	Selah

Psalms 84:9

ULT	UST
See our shield, God, and regard the face of your anointed.	God, please treat favorably the king you have appointed to protect us.

ULT our shield
UST to protect us
(מָגִנֵּנוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were a shield that protects in battle. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [our protector] or [the one who shields us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the face of your anointed
UST please treat favorably the king you have appointed (פְּנֵי מְשִׁיחֶךָ)

Here, the face represents the person of the anointed king. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your anointed one]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your anointed
UST the king you have appointed
(מְשִׁיחֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective anointed as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [your anointed one]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our shield	to protect us
God	God
your anointed	the king you have appointed

Psalms 84:10

ULT	UST
For a day in your courts {is} better than a thousand. I choose to stand at the threshold in the house of my God {rather} than dwell in the tents of wickedness.	It is better be in your temple courtyards for a single day than to be anywhere else for a thousand days. I would rather stand at the entrance to the courtyard of my God's temple than stay in any of the {comfortable} homes where wicked people live.

ULT For
UST It is better
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for the request made in verses 8 and 9. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT than a thousand
UST than to be anywhere else for a thousand days
(מֵאֶלֶף)

The psalmist says than a thousand as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [than any number of days elsewhere]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT in the tents of wickedness
UST in any of the {comfortable} homes where wicked people live
(בְּאָהֳלֵי־רֶשַׁע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wickedness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the tents of wicked people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT in the tents of wickedness
> UST in any of the {comfortable} homes where wicked people live
> (בְּאָהֳלֵי־רֶשַׁע)

Here, the tents represents the homes and dwellings of wicked people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the homes of wickedness]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in your courts	be in your temple courtyards
is} better	It is better
I choose	I would rather
to stand at the threshold	stand at the entrance
in the house of	to the courtyard of & temple
my God	my God’s
in the tents of	in any of the {comfortable} homes where & live wickedness	wicked people

Psalms 84:11

ULT	UST
For Yahweh God {is} a sun and a shield; Yahweh gives favor and glory. He does not withhold good from the ones walking in blamelessness.	Yahweh our God makes us prosper, just as the sun makes crops grow, and he protects us, just as a shield protects a warrior. He is kind to us and honors us. Yahweh gives people who live rightly every good thing that they need.

ULT For
UST Yahweh
(כִּ֤י)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a further reason for the psalmist's desire to be in God's courts. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT is} a sun and a shield
UST makes us prosper, just as the sun makes crops grow, and he protects us, just as a shield protects a warrior
(שֶׁ֣מֶשׁ ו וּמָגֵ֑ן)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh God as if he were a sun that gives life and light and a shield that protects from harm. If these images communicate well in your language, please use them. If not, you could express them as comparisons. Alternate translation: [the one who gives us life like the sun and protects us like a shield]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT gives favor and glory
UST He is kind to us and honors us
(חֵ֣ן וְכָב֣וֹד יִתֵּ֑ן)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of favor and glory, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [treats people favorably and honors them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT good
UST good thing that they need
(טֽוֹב)

The psalmist is using the adjective good as a noun to mean a certain kind of thing. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [good things]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the ones walking in blamelessness
UST people who live rightly
(לָהֹלְכִ֖ים בְּתָמִֽים)

The psalmist is speaking of how a person lives as if that were a path that the person was walking along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the ones living in blamelessness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in blamelessness
UST rightly
(בְּתָמִֽים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of blamelessness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [blamelessly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh God	Yahweh our God
and a shield	and he protects us, just as a shield protects a warrior favor	He is kind to us
and glory	and honors us
good	good thing that they need
in blamelessness	rightly

Psalms 84:12

ULT	UST
Yahweh of Armies, the happinesses of the man trusting in you!	Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies, what a good life people have who trust you!

ULT the happinesses of
UST what a good life & have
(אַשְׁרֵי)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [oh, how happy is]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT the man
UST people
(אָדָם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh of Armies	Yahweh, commander of the heavenly armies
trusting	who trust

Psalms 84:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT Gittith
> UST a stringed instrument
> (הַגִּתִּית)

See how you translated the term Gittith in the superscription to Psalm 8.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Korah	One of the Korahites wrote
A psalm	this psalm

Psalms 85

Psalms 85 Introduction

Psalm 85 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 85 is a psalm of supplication or lament. In its core, it presents three of the basic elements of that type of psalm. (See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.) It was most likely written shortly after the first group of Judeans returned from exile in Babylon. Its first part is a recollection of how Yahweh has begun to restore the people, and its concluding part is a vision of how he will do that comprehensively. The supplication in the middle is the psalmist’s plea to him to move the people from their difficult present into their hopeful future in light of what he has already done for them in the past.

1. Recollection of Yahweh’s restoration of the people (1–3)
2. Cry for help (4–7)
3. Petition (7)
4. Statement of trust (8)
5. Prediction of Yahweh’s future mercies (9–13)

Psalms 85:1

ULT	UST
You favored your land, Yahweh; you restored the captivity of Jacob.	Yahweh, you have brought back the Israelites who were exiles so that this land can be prosperous again.

ULT You favored your land, Yahweh; you restored the captivity of Jacob
UST Yahweh, you have brought back the Israelites who were exiles so that this land can be prosperous again
(רָצִיתָ יְהוָה אַרְצֶךָ שַׁבְתָּ שבות יַעֲקֹב)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [You showed favor to your land, Yahweh, by restoring the captivity of your people] or [You favored your land, Yahweh; indeed, you restored the captivity of Jacob]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Jacob
UST the Israelites
(יַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist is using the name of a man, Jacob, to refer to his descendants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use the name of the people instead. Alternate translation: [the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You favored	can be prosperous again
your land	so that this land
Yahweh	Yahweh
you restored	you have brought back
the captivity of	who were exiles
Jacob	the Israelites

Psalms 85:2

ULT	UST
You bore the iniquity of your people; you covered all of their sin. Selah	You forgave all the sins that your people committed. Selah

ULT You bore the iniquity of your people; you covered all of their sin
UST You forgave all the sins that your people committed (נָשָׂאתָ עֲוֹן עַמֶּךָ כִּסִּיתָ כָּל־חַטָּאתָם)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You completely forgave all the sins of your people]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT You bore the iniquity of your people
UST You forgave & the sins that your people committed (נָשָׂאתָ עֲוֹן עַמֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of forgiving sin as if that were to physically carry the burden of the ones who sinned. If your language does not have a comparable expression, or if this image does not communicate well, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You forgave the iniquity of your people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the iniquity of your people
UST the sins that your people committed (עֲוֹן עַמֶּךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to mean that your people committed the iniquity. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the idea behind the possessive form with a verb or in some other way. Alternate translation: [the wickedness that your people did]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the iniquity of
UST the sins that & committed
(עֲוֹן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of the iniquity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what your people did wrong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT you covered all of their sin
> UST You forgave all the sins that & committed > (כִּסִּיתָ כָּל־חַטָּאתָֽם)

The psalmist is speaking of forgiving sin as if it were covering something so that it could no longer be seen. If your language does not have a comparable expression, or if this image does not communicate well, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you forgave all of their sin]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT their sin
> UST the sins that & committed
> (חַטָּאתָֽם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of their sin, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what they did sinfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You bore	You forgave
the iniquity of	the sins that & committed their sin	the sins that & committed
Selah	Selah

Psalms 85:3

ULT	UST
You gathered up all of your wrath; you turned back from the burning of your nose.	You completely ceased being angry with us and stopped punishing us severely.

ULT You gathered up all of your wrath; you turned back from the burning of your nose
UST You completely ceased being angry with us and stopped punishing us severely (אָסַפְתָּ כָל־עֶבְרָתֶךָ הֱשִׁיבוֹתָ מֵחֲרוֹן אַפֶּךָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You completely stopped being angry with us]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT your wrath
UST being angry with us
(עֶבְרָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of your wrath, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how wrathful you were]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the burning of your nose
UST punishing us severely
(מֵחֲרוֹן אַפֶּךָ)

Meaning fierce anger, the burning of your nose was a common expression. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your fierce anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You gathered up	You & ceased
your wrath	being angry with us

Psalms 85:4

ULT	UST
Restore us, God of our salvation, and break up your vexation with us.	God, you are the one who saves us. Please stop being upset with us, and make us strong again.

ULT Restore us, God of our salvation
UST God, you are the one who saves us & and make us strong again
(שׁוּבֵנוּ אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a form that is more natural for a request. Alternate translation: [Please restore us, God of our salvation]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT God of our salvation
UST God, you are the one who saves us
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe God as characterized by salvation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the idea behind the possessive form in another way. Alternate translation: [God who saves us]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT our salvation
UST you are the one who saves us
(יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [saving us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and break up your vexation with us
UST Please stop being upset with us
(וְהָפֵר כַּעַסְךָ עִמָּנוּ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a form that is more natural for a request. Alternate translation: [and please break up your vexation with us]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT your vexation
> UST being upset
> (כַּעַסְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of your vexation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how vexed you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Restore us	and make us strong again
God of	God
our salvation	you are the one who saves us

Psalms 85:5

ULT	UST
Will you be angry with us forever? Will you prolong your nose to generation and generation?	Please do not be continually angry with us and with our children and grandchildren.

ULT Will you be angry with us forever
UST Please do not be continually angry with us
(הַלְעוֹלָם תָּאֱנַף־בָּנוּ)

The psalmist is using the question form to express a plea. If you would not use the question form for this function in your language, you could translate this as a statement or an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Please do not be angry with us forever.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Will you prolong your nose to generation and generation
UST Please do not be & angry & and with our children and grandchildren
(תִּמְשֹׁךְ אַפְּךָ לְדֹר וָדֹר)

The psalmist is using the question form to express a plea. If you would not use the question form for this function in your language, you could translate this as a statement or an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Please do not prolong your anger to every generation.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT your nose
UST Please do not be & angry
(אַפְּךָ)

The psalmist is using the word nose to represent anger, since a person's nose may flare or become hot when angry. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use the name of the emotion instead. Alternate translation: [your anger]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to generation and generation
UST and with our children and grandchildren
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

The expression to generation and generation was a common expression meaning "for a long time into the future." If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for all future generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forever	continually
to generation	and with our children
and generation	and grandchildren

Psalms 85:6

ULT	UST
You, will you not return? May you revive us, that your people may rejoice in you.	Please help us so that we will thrive again. Then we, your people, will be happy because of you.

ULT You, will you not return
UST Please help us
(הֲלֹא־אַתָּה תָּשׁוּב)

The psalmist is using the question form to express a plea. If you would not use the question form for this function in your language, you could translate this as a statement or an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Please return to us.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT You, will you not return
UST Please help us
(הֲלֹא־אַתָּה תָּשׁוּב)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb form translated as will you not return already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he is posing the question to Yahweh. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, will you not return]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT May you revive us
UST so that we will thrive again
(תְּחַיֵּנוּ)

The psalmist is using a jussive form to express a wish directed to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a form that is more natural for a request. Alternate translation: [Please revive us]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT that your people
> UST we, your people
> (וְעַמְּךָ)

The psalmist has been speaking to God using the pronoun us, referring to himself and the people together, but now he switches to the third person, saying your people. The psalmist is referring to the same group. If it would be helpful in your language, you could maintain the same person throughout. Alternate translation: [we, your people]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May you revive us	so that we will thrive again
may rejoice	Then & will be happy

Psalms 85:7

ULT	UST
Make us see your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh, and give your salvation to us.	Yahweh, please treat us kindly as you promised and rescue us from our troubles.

ULT Make us see your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh
UST Yahweh, please treat us kindly as you promised
(הַרְאֵנוּ יְהוָה חַסְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a form that is more natural for a request. Alternate translation: [Please make us see your covenant faithfulness]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Make us see your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh
UST Yahweh, please treat us kindly as you promised
(הַרְאֵנוּ יְהוָה חַסְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of experiencing God's covenant faithfulness as if it were something that could be physically seen. If your language does not have a comparable expression, or if this image does not communicate well, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Make us experience your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your covenant faithfulness
UST kindly as you promised
(חַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of your covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithful you are to your covenant with us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and give your salvation to us
UST and rescue us from our troubles
(וְיִשְׁעֲךָ תִּתֶּן־לָנוּ)

The psalmist is using the imperative form to make a request to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a form that is more natural for a request. Alternate translation: [and please give your salvation to us]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT and give your salvation to us
> UST and rescue us from our troubles
> (וְיֶשְׁעֲךָ֥ תִּתֶּן־לָנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of your salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and give your saving help to us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh, and give your salvation to us
> UST Yahweh & kindly as you promised and rescue us from our troubles
> (יְהוָ֤ה חַסְדֶּךָ֙ וְיֶשְׁעֲךָ֥ תִּתֶּן־לָנוּ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to mean that both covenant faithfulness and salvation come from God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the idea behind the possessive form in another way. Alternate translation: [the covenant faithfulness that you show, Yahweh, and the salvation that you give us]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your covenant faithfulness	kindly as you promised
Yahweh	Yahweh
and & your salvation	and rescue & from our troubles

Psalms 85:8

ULT	UST
Let me hear what God Yahweh will speak, for he will speak peace to his people and to his faithful ones, but let them not return to folly.	I am going to listen to what Yahweh, my God, says to me. I believe he will say that he will make his people thrive if they are loyal to him. However, they must not do foolish things anymore.

ULT Let me hear
UST I am going to listen
(אֶשְׁמְעָה)

Up to this point, the psalmist has been speaking on behalf of the community, using us and we. Now the psalmist shifts to speaking individually, saying me. If it would be helpful in your language, you could clarify this. Alternate translation: [Let me, the psalmist, hear]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT for he will speak peace
UST I believe he will say that he will make & thrive
(כִּי ׀ יְדַבֵּר שָׁלוֹם)

In this verse, the result is stated before the reason. The psalmist wants to hear what God will speak, and the reason is that God will speak peace to his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could reverse the order and put the reason before the result. Alternate translation: [because he will speak peace]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT peace
UST that he will make & thrive
(שָׁלוֹם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of peace, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [peaceful things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT but let them not return to folly
UST However, they must not do foolish things anymore
(וְאַל־יָשֻׁובוּ לְכִסְלָה)

The psalmist is saying what he wants his people to do. See the discussion in the introduction to Psalms about this form of speech and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [but they should not return to folly]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT but let them not return
UST However, they must not do & anymore
(וְאַל־יָשֻׁובוּ)

The pronoun them refers to the people and faithful ones mentioned earlier in the verse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the referent more explicitly. Alternate translation: [but let his people not return]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT but let them not return to folly
UST However, they must not do foolish things anymore
(וְאַל־יָשֻׁובוּ לְכִסְלָה)

The psalmist is speaking of resuming a sinful way of life as if it were physically turning around and going back to a place. If your language does not have a comparable expression, or if this image does not communicate well, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but let them not begin acting foolishly again]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to folly
UST foolish things
(לְכִסְלָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of folly, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to foolish behavior]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	my God
Yahweh	Yahweh
peace	that he will make & thrive
his faithful ones	they are loyal to him
to folly	foolish things

Psalms 85:9

ULT	UST
Surely his salvation {is} near to his reverent {ones}, for glory to dwell in our land.	He is surely ready to help people who deeply respect him. Then he will be gloriously present with us in our land.

ULT his salvation
UST to help
(יִשְׁעֽוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of his salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his saving help]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to his reverent {ones
UST people who deeply respect him
(לִירֵאָ֑יו)

The psalmist is using the adjective reverent as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [to the people who revere him]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT for glory to dwell in our land
UST Then he will be gloriously present with us in our land
(לִשְׁכֹּ֣ן כָּב֣וֹד בְּאַרְצֵֽנוּ)

The psalmist is using the word for to introduce the purpose for which God's salvation is near. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make the purpose relationship more explicit. Alternate translation: [so that glory may dwell in our land]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT for glory to dwell in our land
UST Then he will be gloriously present with us in our land
(לִשְׁכֹּ֣ן כָּב֣וֹד בְּאַרְצֵֽנוּ)

The psalmist is using the word glory to represent God's manifest presence among his people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state this meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for God's glorious presence to dwell in our land]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT glory
UST gloriously
(כָּבוֹד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [glorious presence]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Surely his salvation {is} near to his reverent {ones}, for glory to dwell in our land
UST He is surely ready to help people who deeply respect him. Then he will be gloriously present with us in our land
(אַךְ | קָרוֹב לִירֵאָיו יְשׁוּעָתוֹ לִשְׁכֹּן כָּבוֹד בְּאַרְצֵנוּ)

In this verse, both uses of the pronoun his refer to Yahweh, and the pronoun our refers to the psalmist and the people of Israel. If it would be helpful in your language, you could clarify the referents. Alternate translation: [Surely Yahweh's salvation is near to the people who revere Yahweh, for glory to dwell in the land of the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his salvation	to help
to his reverent {ones	people who deeply respect him
glory	gloriously
in our land	in our land

Psalms 85:10

ULT	UST
Covenant faithfulness and truth will meet together; righteousness and peace will kiss.	He will be faithfully kind and true to us. He will do what is right and make us peaceful.

ULT Covenant faithfulness and truth will meet together; righteousness and peace will kiss
UST He will be faithfully kind and true to us. He will do what is right and make us peaceful (חֶסֶד־וֶאֱמֶת נִפְגָּשׁוּ צֶדֶק וְשָׁלוֹם נָשָׁקוּ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [God will be completely faithful, true, righteous, and peaceful toward his people]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Covenant faithfulness and truth will meet together
UST He will be faithfully kind and true to us
(חֶסֶד־וֶאֱמֶת נִפְגָּשׁוּ)

The psalmist speaks of Covenant faithfulness and truth as if they were people who could meet together. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [God will be both faithful to his covenant and true to his word at the same time]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Covenant faithfulness and truth
UST faithfully kind and true
(חֶסֶד־וֶאֱמֶת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of Covenant faithfulness and truth, you could express the same ideas in another way. Alternate translation: [Being faithful to his covenant and being true to his word]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT righteousness and peace will kiss
UST He will do what is right and make us peaceful (צֶדֶק וְשָׁלוֹם נָשָׁקוּ)

The psalmist speaks of righteousness and peace as if they were people who could kiss in greeting. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [doing what is right and having peace will go together]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT righteousness and peace
> UST what is right and make us peaceful > (צֶדֶק וְשָׁלוֹם)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of righteousness and peace, you could express the same ideas in another way. Alternate translation: [acting rightly and being at peace]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Covenant faithfulness	faithfully kind
righteousness	what is right
and peace	and make us peaceful will kiss	He will do

Psalms 85:11

ULT	UST
Truth will sprout from the earth, and righteousness will look down from the heavens.	People on earth will be faithful to God, and God will act justly toward us from heaven.

ULT Truth will sprout from the earth
UST People on earth will be faithful to God
(אֱמֶת מֵאֶרֶץ תִּצְמָח)

The psalmist speaks of Truth as if it were a plant that could sprout from the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Faithfulness will flourish among people on earth]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Truth
UST will be faithful to God
(אֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Truthful communication]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and righteousness will look down from the heavens
UST and God will act justly toward us from heaven
(וְצֶדֶק מִשָּׁמַיִם נִשְׁקָף)

The psalmist speaks of righteousness as if it were a person who could look down from the heavens. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the right actions of God will descend from the heavens]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT and righteousness
UST will act justly toward us
(וְצֶדֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and just actions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the earth	People on earth
and righteousness	will act justly toward us from the heavens	and God & from heaven

Psalms 85:12

ULT	UST
Also, Yahweh will give the good, and our land will give its produce.	Yes, Yahweh will give us good things, and our land will produce abundant harvests.

ULT and our land will give its produce
UST and our land will produce abundant harvests
(וְאַרְצֵנוּ תִּתֵּן יְבוּלָהּ)

The psalmist speaks of our land as if it were a person who could give something. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and our land will yield its produce]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the good	good things
and our land	and our land
its produce	abundant harvests

Psalms 85:13

ULT	UST
Righteousness walks before him, and it puts his steps in the way.	As he considers what to do, he will recognize what the right thing is to do, and he will do that.

ULT Righteousness walks before him
UST As he considers what to do, he will recognize what the right thing is to do (צֶדֶק לְפָנָיו יְהַלֵּךְ)

The psalmist speaks of Righteousness as if it were a person who could walk ahead of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will act rightly in all he does] or [Righteousness accompanies all that Yahweh does]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Righteousness
UST he will recognize what the right thing is (צֶדֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [What is right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Righteousness walks before him, and it puts his steps in the way
UST As he considers what to do, he will recognize what the right thing is to do, and he will do that (צֶדֶק לְפָנָיו יְהַלֵּךְ וְיָשֵׂם לְדֶרֶךְ פְּעָמָיו)

The pronouns him and his refer to Yahweh. The pronoun it refers to righteousness. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the referent more explicitly. Alternate translation: [Righteousness walks before Yahweh, and righteousness puts Yahweh's steps in the way]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Righteousness	he will recognize what the right thing is

Psalms 85:front

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Korah	One of the Korahites wrote
A psalm	this psalm

Psalms 86

Psalms 86 Introduction

Psalm 86 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 86 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It presents all of the basic elements of that type of psalm. (Some elements are repeated.) See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–4)
2. Statement of trust (5)
3. Cry for help (6)
4. Statement of trust (7–10)
5. Petition (11)
6. Vow of praise (12–13)
7. Description of troubles (14)
8. Petition (15–17)

Psalms 86:1

ULT	UST
A prayer. Of David. Incline your ear, Yahweh; answer me, for I {am} poor and needy.	A prayer of David. Yahweh, I am poor and helpless, so please do what I ask.

ULT Incline your ear, Yahweh
UST Yahweh & please do what I ask
(הַטֵּה־יְהוָה אָזְנְךָ)

David is using the term ear to mean hearing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Incline your ear, Yahweh
UST Yahweh & please do what I ask
(הַטֵּה־יְהוָה אָזְנְךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please listen to me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT answer me
UST please do what I ask
(עֲנֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please answer me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT for I {am} poor and needy
UST I am poor and helpless, so (כִּי־עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן אָנִי)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because I am poor and needy]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

> ULT am} poor and needy
> UST am poor and helpless
> (עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן)

The terms poor and needy mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [very poor]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A prayer	A prayer
Of David	of David
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 86:2

ULT	UST
Guard my soul, for I {am} faithful. You, my God, save your servant, the one trusting in you.	I am loyal to you, so please protect me. I worship you as my God and I trust you, so please save me.

ULT Guard my soul
UST please protect me
(שָׁמְרָה נַפְשִׁי)

David is using soul to represent his whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Guard me]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT Guard my soul
UST please protect me
(שָׁמְרָה נַפְשִׁי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please guard my soul]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT for I {am} faithful
UST I am loyal to you, so (כִּי־חָסִיד אָנִי)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because I am a godly one]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT save your servant
UST I worship you & so please save me
(הוֹשַׁע עַבְדְּךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please save your servant]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT the one trusting in you
> UST and I trust you
> (הַבּוֹטֵחַ אֵלֶיךָ)

The phrase the one trusting in you refers to David himself. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [because I trust in you]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Guard	please protect
my soul	me
am} faithful	am loyal to you my God	as my God
save	so please save me
your servant	I worship you
the one trusting	and I trust

Psalms 86:3

ULT	UST
Favor me, Lord, for to you I call all of the day.	I have been crying out to you continually, Lord, so please be kind to me.

ULT Favor me
UST please be kind to me
(חָנֵּנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please be gracious to me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT for to you I call all of the day
UST I have been crying out to you continually & so (כִּי אֵלֶיךָ אֶקְרָא כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because to you I call all the day]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT all of the day
UST continually
(כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

David is saying all the day as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [all day long]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Favor me	please be kind to me
Lord	Lord
I call	I have been crying out

Psalms 86:4

ULT	UST
Gladden the soul of your servant, for to you, Lord, I lift up my soul.	I am asking you to help me, Lord, as someone who worships you, so please make me happy by doing that.

ULT Gladden the soul of your servant
UST as someone who worships you & please make me happy by doing that (שַׂמַּח נֶפֶשׁ עַבְדֶּךָ)

David is using soul to represent his whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Make glad your servant]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT Gladden the soul of your servant
UST as someone who worships you & please make me happy by doing that (שַׂמַּח נֶפֶשׁ עַבְדֶּךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please make glad the soul of your servant]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT for to you, Lord, I lift up my soul
UST I am asking you to help me, Lord & so (כִּי אֵלֶיךָ אֲדֹנָי נַפְשִׁי אֶשָּׂא)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because to you, Lord, I lift up my soul]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT I lift up my soul
UST I am asking & to help me
(נַפְשִׁי אֶשָּׂא)

Here David is speaking of directing his devotion to God as if he were physically lifting up his soul to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I pray to you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Gladden	please make & happy by doing that the soul of	me
your servant	as someone who worships you
Lord	Lord
my soul	I am asking & to help me

Psalms 86:5

ULT	UST
For you, Lord, {are} good and forgiving and plentiful of covenant faithfulness to all of the ones calling on you.	Do this, Lord, because you are good and you forgive people's sins. You very faithfully love everyone who prays to you.

ULT For you, Lord, {are} good and forgiving
UST Do this, Lord, because you are good and you forgive people's sins
(כִּי־אַתָּה אֲדֹנָי טוֹב וְסַלָּח)

The word For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because you, Lord, are good and forgiving]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT covenant faithfulness
UST You & faithfully love
(חֶסֶד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [faithfully keeping your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord	Lord
are} good	are good
and forgiving	and you forgive people's sins
covenant faithfulness	You & faithfully love
the ones calling on you	who prays to you

Psalms 86:6

ULT	UST
Listen {to} my prayer, Yahweh, and attend to the voice of my pleas.	Yahweh, I am pleading with you in prayer to help me; please do what I ask.

ULT Listen {to} my prayer, Yahweh, and attend to the voice of my pleas
UST Yahweh, I am pleading with you in prayer to help me; please do what I ask (הַאֲזִינָה יְהוָה תְּפִלָּתִי וְהַקְשִׁיבָה בְּקוֹל תַּחֲנוּנוֹתָי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, listen carefully to my earnest prayer]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Listen {to} my prayer, Yahweh
UST Yahweh & in prayer & please do what I ask (הַאֲזִינָה יְהוָה תְּפִלָּתִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please listen to my prayer, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT to} my prayer
UST in prayer
(תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to what I pray]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and attend to the voice of my pleas
UST I am pleading with you & to help me; please do what I ask (וְהַקְשִׁיבָה בְּקוֹל תַּחֲנוּנוֹתָי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [and please attend to the voice of my pleas]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT to the voice of my pleas
UST I am pleading with you & to help me
(בְּקוֹל תַּחֲנוּנוֹתָי)

Here, voice represents the content of what David is saying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my pleas]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my pleas
UST I am pleading with you & to help me
(תַּחֲנוּנוֹתָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of pleas, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what I plead]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to} my prayer	in prayer
Yahweh	Yahweh
my pleas	I am pleading with you & to help me

Psalms 86:7

ULT	UST
In the day of my trouble I call on you, for you will answer me.	Whenever I am in trouble, I call out to you, because I know that you will help me.

> ULT In the day of my trouble
> UST Whenever I am in trouble
> (בְּיוֹם צָרָתִי)

David is using In the day of my trouble as a common expression to mean "at the time of my trouble." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [When trouble comes to me]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT for you will answer me
> UST because I know that you will help me
> (כִּי תַעֲנֵנִי)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because you answer me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my trouble	I am in trouble
I call on you	I call out to you

Psalms 86:8

ULT	UST
There is none like you among the gods, Lord, and there is nothing like your works.	Lord, among all the gods that the nations worship, there is none like you; none of them has done the great things that you have done.

ULT There is none like you among the gods, Lord, and there is nothing like your works

UST Lord, among all the gods that the nations worship, there is none like you; none of them has done the great things that you have done
(אֵין־כָּמוֹךָ בָאֱלֹהִים | אֲדֹנָי וְאֵין כְּמַעֲשֶׂיךָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You are greater than all other gods, Lord, and your works surpass all others]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
among the gods	among all the gods that the nations worship
Lord	Lord

Psalms 86:9

ULT	UST
All of the nations that you have made will come and bow down to your face, Lord, and they will glorify your name.	Lord, the nations that you have made will all come and bow down before you, and they will praise you.

ULT All of the nations
UST the nations & all
(כָּל־גּוֹיִם)

David is saying All of the nations as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [Many nations]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT and bow down to your face
UST and bow down before you
(וְיִשְׁתַּחֲווּ לְפָנֶיךָ)

Here, your face represents your presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [bow down before you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and they will glorify your name
UST and they will praise you
(וִיכַבְּדוּ לִשְׁמֶךָ)

David is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is and to refer to his reputation. Alternate translation: [and they will glorify you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and they will glorify your name
UST and they will praise you
(וִיכַבְּדוּ לִשְׁמֶךָ)

The pronoun they refers to the nations that Yahweh has made. The pronoun your refers to the Lord. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the nations will glorify your name, Lord]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	the nations
and bow down	and bow down
Lord	Lord
and they will glorify	and they will praise

Psalms 86:10

ULT	UST
For you {are} great and are doing wonderful things; you {are} God, you alone.	They will do this because you are great and you do amazing things; you are the only true God.

ULT For you {are} great
UST They will do this because you are great (כִּי־גָדוֹל אַתָּה)

The word For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because you are great]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wonderful things	amazing things
are} God	are the & God

Psalms 86:11

ULT	UST
Teach me your way, Yahweh. that I may walk in your truth. Unite my heart to fear your name.	Yahweh, please teach me how you want me to live so that I will act properly, as you wish. Give me a sincere desire to honor you.

ULT Teach me your way, Yahweh
UST Yahweh, please teach me how you want me to live
(הֹורֵ֣נִי יְהוָ֣ה | דַּרְכֶּ֑ךָ)

Here David is speaking of how a person lives as if that were a way or path that the person was walking along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Teach me how you want me to live]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Teach me your way, Yahweh
UST Yahweh, please teach me how you want me to live
(הֹורֵ֣נִי יְהוָ֣ה | דַּרְכֶּ֑ךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please teach me your way]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT that I may walk in your truth
UST so that I will act properly, as you wish
(אֲהַלֵּ֖ךְ בַּאֲמִתֶּ֑ךָ)

Here David is speaking of living according to God’s truth as if he were walking along a path. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will live according to your truth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT that I may walk in your truth
UST so that I will act properly, as you wish
(אֲהַלֵּ֖ךְ בַּאֲמִתֶּ֑ךָ)

Here, I will walk in your truth marks David’s faithful living as the goal or purpose of the teaching he requests. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that I may walk in your truth]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

> ULT in your truth
> UST properly, as you wish
> (בַּאֲמִתֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of trustworthiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what you show to be true]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT Unite my heart
> UST Give me a sincere desire
> (יַחֵד לְבָבִי)

Here, heart represents David's will and desires. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Unite my will]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT Unite my heart
> UST Give me a sincere desire
> (יַחֵד לְבָבִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as "please" to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please unite my heart]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT to fear your name
> UST to honor you
> (לְיִרְאָה שְׁמֶךָ)

David is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is and to refer to his reputation. Alternate translation: [to fear you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
to fear	to honor

Psalms 86:12

ULT	UST
I will thank you, Lord my God, with all of my heart, and I will glorify your name forever.	Lord my God, I will thank you wholeheartedly, and I will praise you forever.

ULT with all of my heart
UST wholeheartedly
(בְּכָל־לְבָבִי)

Here the heart represents where David's thoughts and feelings exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with all of my being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and I will glorify your name
UST and I will praise you
(וַאֲכַבְּדָה שִׁמְךָ)

David is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is and to refer to his reputation. Alternate translation: [I will glorify you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord	Lord
my God	my God
and I will glorify	and I will praise
forever	forever

Psalms 86:13

ULT	UST
For your covenant faithfulness {is} great toward me, and you have delivered my soul from lowest Sheol.	I will do that because you have been so faithfully kind to me; you have kept me from going way down into the place where dead people are.

ULT For your covenant faithfulness {is} great toward me
UST I will do that because you have been so faithfully kind to me
(כִּי־חַסְדְּךָ גָדוֹל עָלָי)

The word For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because your covenant faithfulness is great toward me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT your covenant faithfulness
UST you have been & kind
(חַסְדְּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithfully you keep your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and you have delivered my soul
UST you have kept me
(וְהִצַּלְתָּ נַפְשִׁי)

David is using soul to represent his whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and you have delivered me]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your covenant faithfulness	you have been & kind and you have delivered	you have kept
my soul	me
from & Sheol	from going & into the place where dead people are

Psalms 86:14

ULT	UST
God, the arrogant arise against me, and the congregation of the violent seek my life, and they do not set you before them.	God, proud people are attacking me. Yes, a group of cruel people is trying to kill me; those people do not respect you.

ULT the arrogant
UST proud people
(זֵדִים)

David is using the adjective arrogant as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [arrogant people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the violent
UST cruel people
(עָרִיצִים)

David is using the adjective violent as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [violent people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT seek my life
UST is trying to kill me
(בִּקְשׁוּ נַפְשִׁי)

David is using seek my life as a common expression to mean “try to kill me.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [try to kill me]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT and they do not set you before them
> UST those people do not respect you
> (וְלֹא שָׂמוּךָ לְנֶגְדָּם)

David is using they have not set you before them as a common expression to mean “they do not pay attention to you” or “they do not regard you.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they do not consider you]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT and they do not set you before them
> UST those people do not respect you
> (וְלֹא שָׂמוּךָ לְנֶגְדָּם)

The pronoun they refers to the arrogant and the violent ones described earlier in the verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and these enemies do not set you before them]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
the arrogant	proud people
and the congregation of	Yes, a group of seek	is trying

Psalms 86:15

ULT	UST
But you, Lord, {are} a merciful and gracious God, long of nostrils and plentiful of covenant faithfulness and truth.	But you, Lord, are a God who is merciful and kind. You do not quickly become angry, and you are so faithfully kind and true to us.

ULT But you, Lord
UST But you, Lord
(וְאַתָּה אֲדֹנָי)

David uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the enemies described in the previous verse and Yahweh's character. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [However, you, Lord]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT are} a merciful and gracious God
UST are a God who is merciful and kind
(אֵל־רַחוּם וְחַנּוּן)

The terms merciful and gracious mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [very compassionate]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT long of nostrils
UST You do not quickly become angry
(אֶרֶךְ אַפַּיִם)

David is using long of nostrils as a common expression to mean "slow to become angry." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [slow to anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and plentiful of covenant faithfulness and truth
UST and you are so faithfully kind and true to us
(וְרַב־חֶסֶד וֶאֱמֶת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and truth, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [and being so very faithful to your covenant and being truthful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord	Lord
merciful	who is merciful
and gracious	and kind
are} a & God	are a God
covenant faithfulness	and you are & faithfully kind

Psalms 86:16

ULT	UST
Turn to me and favor me; give your strength to your servant, and save the son of your female servant.	Consider my situation and be kind to me; make me, your servant, strong. Help me as if I had been born in your household.

ULT Turn to me and favor me
UST Consider my situation and be kind to me
(פְּנֵה אֵלַי וְחָנֵּנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please turn to me and favor me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Turn to me
UST Consider my situation
(פְּנֵה אֵלַי)

The psalmist is speaking as if God were not looking at him and he is asking him to turn to him and pay attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Please pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT give your strength to your servant
UST make me, your servant, strong
(תְּנָה־עֻזְּךָ לְעַבְדֶּךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please give your strength to your servant]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT give your strength to your servant
UST make me, your servant, strong
(תְּנָה־עֻזְּךָ לְעַבְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [make your servant strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and save the son of your female servant
UST Help me as if I had been born in your household
(וְהוֹשִׁיעָה לְבֶן־אֲמָתֶךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [and please save the son of your female servant]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the son of your female servant
UST as if I had been born in your household
(לְבֶן־אֲמָתֶךָ)

David is using the son of your female servant as a common expression to indicate that he was born into Yahweh’s service. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your servant from birth]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and favor me	and be kind to me
your strength	strong
to your servant	me, your servant
and save	Help me
your female servant	as if I had been born in your household

Psalms 86:17

ULT	UST
Work for me a sign for good, that the ones hating me may see and have shame, for you, Yahweh, you help me and comfort me.	Do something to show that you are helping me so that my enemies will see it, and it will embarrass them. I believe that you, Yahweh, will help me and comfort me.

ULT Work for me a sign for good
UST Do something to show that you are helping me
(עֲשֵׂה־עִמִּי אוֹת לְטוֹבָה)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please work for me a sign for good]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT that the ones hating me may see and have shame
UST so that my enemies will see it, and it will embarrass them
(וְיִרְאוּ שֹׂנְאַי וְיֵבֹשׁוּ)

Here, that the ones hating me may see and have shame marks the enemies’ shame as the goal or purpose of the sign David requests. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that the ones hating me will see and have shame]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT for you, Yahweh, you help me and comfort me
UST I believe that you, Yahweh, will help me and comfort me
(כִּי־אַתָּה יְהוָה עֲזַרְתַּנִי וְנִחַמְתָּנִי)

The word for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because you, Yahweh, have help me and comfort me]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

> ULT for you, Yahweh, you help me and
> UST I believe that you, Yahweh, will help me
> (כִּי־אַתָּה יְהוָה עֲזַרְתָּנִי)

David is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as have helped already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh personally is the one who helps him. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you yourself, Yahweh, have helped me]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a sign	something for good	to show that you are helping and have shame	and it will embarrass them
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 87

Psalms 87 Introduction

Psalm 87 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 87 is a psalm of praise. It is a specific type of praise psalm, a “song of Zion.” See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Celebration of how Yahweh chose Zion as the place for his temple (1–3)
2. Celebration of how people from all nations will worship Yahweh (4–6)
3. Celebration of how Yahweh’s presence in Zion blesses people (7)

Psalms 87:1

ULT	UST
Of the sons of Korah. A psalm. A song. His foundation {is} on the mountains of holiness.	One of the Korahites wrote this song. Yahweh established his city on mountains that he made holy.

ULT Of the sons of Korah
UST One of the Korahites wrote
(לִבְנֵי־קֹרַח)

The word sons refers to the descendants of Korah. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Of those who are descended from Korah]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT His foundation
UST Yahweh established his city
(יְסוּדָתוֹ)

The pronoun His refers to Yahweh, who is named in the next verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh's foundation]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT His foundation {is} on the mountains of holiness UST Yahweh established his city on mountains that he made holy (יְסוּדָתוֹ בְּהַרְרֵי־קֹדֶשׁ)

Without naming it, the psalmist is speaking of the city of Zion as if it were a building that has a foundation. This represents the idea that God has firmly established the city. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The city he has established is on the mountains of holiness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is} on the mountains of holiness
UST on mountains that he made holy
(בְּהַרְרֵי־קֹדֶשׁ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe mountains that are characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [mountains that are holy]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT is} on the mountains of holiness
> UST on mountains that he made holy
> (בְּהַרְרֵי־קֹדֶשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is on the mountains that are holy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Korah	One of the Korahites wrote
A psalm	this song
His foundation	Yahweh established his city
holiness	that he made holy

Psalms 87:2

ULT	UST
Yahweh is loving the gates of Zion more than all of the dwellings of Jacob.	He loves the city of Zion more than any other place where Israelites live.

ULT the gates of Zion
UST the city of Zion
(שַׁעֲרֵי צִיּוֹן)

The psalmist is using the gates of Zion to represent the entire city of Zion. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Zion itself]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT the dwellings of Jacob
UST other place where Israelites live
(מִשְׁכְּנוֹת יַעֲקֹב)

Here, the dwellings of Jacob represents the places where the descendants of Jacob live. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the places where the descendants of Jacob live]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	He
is loving	loves
the gates of	the city of
Zion	Zion
the dwellings of	other place where & live
Jacob	Israelites

Psalms 87:3

ULT	UST
Glorious things are spoken of you, city of God. Selah	People say wonderful things about this city that belongs to God. Selah

ULT Glorious things are spoken of you
UST People say wonderful things about (נְכְבָּדוֹת מְדֻבָּר בָּךְ)

The expression Glorious things are spoken of you uses a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [God declares glorious things about you]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT are spoken of you, city of God
UST People say & about this city that belongs to God
(מְדֻבָּר בָּךְ עִיר הָאֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is speaking to the city of Zion as if it could hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about how honored Zion is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if the psalmist were speaking to people about Zion. Alternate translation: [spoken about Zion, the city of God]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT city of God
UST this city that belongs to God
(עִיר הָאֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean that Zion is the city where God dwells. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [city where God dwells]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Glorious things	wonderful things
of God	to God
Selah	Selah

Psalms 87:4

ULT	UST
I will mention Rahab and Babylon to the ones knowing me; behold, Philistia and Tyre with Cush— “This one was born there.”	{Yahweh says,} “When I talk about people who know me, this will include Egyptians and Babylonians. Indeed, I will also say about Philistines and Tyrians and Cushites, ‘This person is a native of Zion.’”

ULT I will mention
UST Yahweh says,} “When I talk about (אַזְכִּיר)

The pronoun I refers to Yahweh, who is the speaker from this point in the psalm. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [I, Yahweh, will mention]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Rahab
UST Egyptians
(רָהַב)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Egypt as if it were the sea monster Rahab. The psalmist may be comparing Egypt to Rahab because of the way God rescued Israel from Israel at the Sea of Reeds. It is not referring to the person named Rahab mentioned elsewhere in the Bible. You could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Egypt]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to the ones knowing me
UST people who know me, this will include (לְיֹדְעָי)

In the phrase the ones knowing me, the pronoun me refers to Yahweh, who is the speaker. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the ones knowing me, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT behold
UST Indeed, I will also say about
(הִנֵּה)

Yahweh is using the term behold to focus his listeners’ attention on what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [take note]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Philistia and Tyre with Cush
UST Philistines and Tyrians and Cushites
(פְּלֶשֶׁת וְצֹר עִם־כּוּשׁ)

Yahweh is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [I will also mention Philistia and Tyre with Cush]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT This one was born there
UST This person is a native of Zion
(זֶה יֻלַּד־שָׁם)

This is a quotation that Yahweh says about each person from the nations he has listed. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate this with a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT was born
UST is a native
(יֻלַּד)

The expression was born is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [began life]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Rahab	Egyptians
and Babylon	and Babylonians
to the ones knowing me	people who know me, this will include
Philistia	Philistines
and Tyre	and Tyrians
Cush	Cushites

Psalms 87:5

ULT	UST
And of Zion it will be said, “Man and man was born in her, and he, he will establish her, the Most High.”	People will say about Zion, “Every one of those people is a native of that city,” and God Most High will personally keep Zion strong.

ULT it will be said
UST People will say
(יֵאָמַר)

The expression it will be said is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [everyone will declare]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Man and man was born in her
UST Every one of those people is a native of that city
(אִישׁ וְאִישׁ יֻלַּד־בָּהּ)

The psalmist is using Man and man as a common expression of the culture to mean “each and every person.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Each person was born in her] or [Person after person was born in her]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT Man and man was born in her
UST Every one of those people is a native of that city
(אִישׁ וְאִישׁ יֻלַּד־בָּהּ)

This is a direct quotation of what people will say about Zion. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate this with a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT was born
UST is a native
(יֻלַּד)

The expression was born is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [began life]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT and he, he will establish her, the Most High
> UST and God Most High will personally keep Zion strong > (וְהוּא יְכוֹנְנֶהָ עֶלְיוֹן)

The pronoun he refers to God Most High. The psalmist repeats the pronoun he for emphasis before naming the Most High directly. He is emphasizing that it is only God who can do this. IIf a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [God Most High himself will establish her]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And of Zion	about Zion
the Most High	God Most High

Psalms 87:6

ULT	UST
Yahweh will recount in the writing of the peoples, “This {one} was born there.” Selah	When Yahweh registers each of those people, he will record, “This person is a native of Zion.” Selah

ULT in the writing of the peoples
UST When & registers each of those people
(בִּכְתוֹב עַמִּים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean a record that documents the peoples. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the record that lists the peoples]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT in the writing of
UST When & registers
(בִּכְתוֹב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of writing, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what is written about]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT This {one} was born there
UST This person is a native of Zion
(זֶה יֻלַּד־שָׁם)

This is a quotation that Yahweh will record about each person from the nations. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate this with a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT was born
UST is a native
(יֻלַּד)

The expression was born is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [began life]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
will recount	he will record
Selah	Selah

Psalms 87:7

ULT	UST
And the singers, like the pipers, “All of my springs {are} in you.”	Singers and musicians {will celebrate and say}, “Zion, everything that makes me flourish comes from you!”

ULT And the singers, like the pipers
UST Singers and musicians {will celebrate and say (וְשָׁרִים כְּחֹלְלִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [And the singers, like the pipers, will declare]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT like the pipers
UST musicians {will celebrate and say
(כְּחֹלְלִים)

The point of this comparison is that just as the pipers play music, so the singers also make music. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [together with the pipers]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT All of my springs {are} in you
UST Zion, everything that makes me flourish comes from you
(כָּל־מַעְיָנַי בָּךְ)

The singers are speaking of Zion as if it were a place from which springs of water flow. This represents the idea that Zion is the source of all life and blessing. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [All that sustains our lives comes from you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT All of my springs {are} in you
UST Zion, everything that makes me flourish comes from you
(כָּל־מַעְיָנַי בָּךְ)

This is a direct quotation of what the singers and pipers will say. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate this with a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my springs	that makes me flourish

Psalms 88

Psalms 88 Introduction

Psalm 88 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 88 is a psalm of supplication or lament. Because the psalmist is feeling such despair, he does not make a statement of trust or a vow of praise, and he does not even make a petition. (The psalmist observes instead in verses 10–12 that if Yahweh does not heal him, he will not be able to praise him.) So only two of the basic elements of a psalm of supplication are present. See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Cry for help (1–2)
2. Description of troubles (3–8)
3. Cry for help (9–14)
4. Description of troubles (15–18)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Who wrote this psalm?

The superscription to Psalm 88 says that it is both a “psalm of the sons of Korah” and a “maskil of Heman the Ezrahite.” The explanation for this is probably that the first part of the superscription belongs at the end of Psalm 87 (whose superscription attributes it to “the sons of Korah”). See the discussion of this in the introduction to the book of Psalms. As that discussion indicates, there is significant movement among biblical scholars toward seeing the musical instructions at the start of many psalm inscriptions as subscriptions to the previous psalms. However, published versions of the Bible do not yet tend to present them that way. Unless there is a Bible translation in your region that does, we recommend that you follow the current approach and retain both attributions in this superscription. The UST models one way to do that.

Psalms 88:1

ULT	UST
Yahweh, God of my salvation, {by} day, in the night, I cry out before you.	Yahweh, you are the God who saves me. I continually ask you to help me.

ULT my salvation
UST who saves me
(יְשׁוּעָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [saving me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT by} day, in the night, I cry out
UST I continually ask & to help me
(יוֹם־צָעַקְתִּי בַלָּיְלָה)

The psalmist is referring to all times by naming two extremes, day and night. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all the time I cry out]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
God of	you are the God
my salvation	who saves me
I cry out	I & ask & to help me

Psalms 88:2

ULT	UST
Let my prayer come to your face; incline your ear to my cry.	Please pay attention to what I am saying as I pray to you.

ULT Let my prayer come to your face; incline your ear to my cry
UST Please pay attention to what I am saying as I pray to you
(תְּבוֹא לְפָנֶיךָ תְּפִלָּתִי הַטֵּה־אָזְנְךָ לְרִנָּתִי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Let my prayer come to your face, indeed, please listen to what I cry out to you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT my prayer
UST as I pray to you
(תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what I pray]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to your face
UST Please pay attention to
(לְפָנֶיךָ)

Here, to your face represents being in front of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [into your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT incline your ear to my cry
UST Please pay attention to what I am saying (הַטֵּה־אָזְנְךָ֥לְרִנָּתִֽי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as ‘please’ to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please pay attention to my cry]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT incline your ear
UST Please pay attention to
(הַטֵּה־אָזְנְךָ֥)

The psalmist is using the term ear to mean hearing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [listen]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to my cry
UST what I am saying
(לְרִנָּתִֽי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of cry, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to what I cry out]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my prayer	as I pray to you to my cry	what I am saying

Psalms 88:3

ULT	UST
For my soul is full of troubles, and my life has come near to Sheol.	I ask this because I have experienced so many bad things that I cannot endure any more; I am about to die and go to the place where dead people are.

ULT For my soul is full of troubles
UST I ask this because I have experienced so many bad things that I cannot endure any more (כִּי־שָׂבְעָה בָרָעוֹת נַפְשִׁי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because my soul is full of troubles]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT my soul
UST I
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my whole being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT of troubles
UST bad things
(בָרָעוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of troubles, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [troubling things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and my life has come near to Sheol
UST I am about to die and go to the place where dead people are (וְחַיַּי לִשְׁאוֹל הִגִּיעוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if his life were a journey that had nearly arrived at Sheol, which is the name of the realm of the dead. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am about to die]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my soul	I
of troubles	bad things
to Sheol	die and go to the place where dead people are

Psalms 88:4

ULT	UST
I am reckoned with the ones going down {into} the pit; I have become like a man without strength,	People expect me to die soon because I have so little strength left.

ULT I am reckoned
UST People expect me
(נֶחְשַׁבְתִּי)

The expression I am reckoned is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [People reckon me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the ones going down {into} the pit
UST to die soon
(יוֹרְדֵי בוֹר)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the dead were literally going down into the pit which associated with Sheol, the realm of the dead. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the ones who are dying]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT like a man without strength
UST I & so little strength
(כְּגֶבֶר אֵין־אֵיָל)

The point of this comparison is that just as a man without strength is helpless, so is the psalmist. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as a helpless man]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT strength
UST strength
(אֵיָל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [anyone to make him strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
into} the pit	to die soon
strength	strength

Psalms 88:5

ULT	UST
free among the ones having died, like the slain lying in the grave, whom you do not remember them anymore, and they, they are cut off from your hand.	It is as if I belong among dead people who are lying in their graves. It seems that you are no longer aware of such people and you stop taking care of them.

ULT free among the ones having died
UST It is as if I belong among dead people
(בַּמֵּתִ֥ים חָפְשִׁ֑י)

The psalmist actually means to communicate the opposite of the literal meaning of what he is saying here. If a speaker of your language would not do that, you could translate the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [abandoned among the dead]

Support Reference: Irony

ULT like the slain lying in the grave
UST It is as if I belong among dead people who are lying in their graves
(כְּמוֹ֥ חֲלָלִ֗ים | שֹׁכְבֵ֣י קֶ֑בֶר)

The point of this comparison is that just as the slain lying in the grave are forgotten and helpless, so is the psalmist. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as forgotten as corpses lying in the grave]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT whom you do not remember them anymore, and they, they are cut off from your hand
UST It seems that you are no longer aware of such people and you stop taking care of them
(אֲשֶׁ֣ר לֹ֣א זְכַרְתָּ֣ם עֹ֑וד וְהֵ֖מָּה מִיָּדְךָ֣ נִגְזָ֣רוּ)

In the second half of the verse, the psalmist shifts from using whom to repeating they, they. Both refer to the dead. The doubled pronoun they, they reflects an emphasis in the original language on the finality of their separation from God.

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT whom you do not remember them
UST It seems that you are no & aware of such people
(אֲשֶׁר לֹא זְכַרְתָּם)

It might seem that the expression whom you do not remember them contains extra information that would not be natural to express in your language. If so, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [whom you do not remember] or [You do not remember them]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

ULT and they, they are cut off from your hand
UST and you stop taking care of them
(וְהֵמָּה מִיָּדְךָ נִגְזָרוּ)

The expression they are cut off is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [and they, you have cut them off from your hand]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they are cut off
UST and you stop
(נִגְזָרוּ)

The psalmist is using cut off as a common expression of the culture to mean “removed.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they are removed]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT from your hand
UST taking care of (מִיָּדְךָ)

Here, hand represents the power and care of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from your care]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
free	It is as if I belong
the slain	among dead people
in the grave	in their graves

Psalms 88:6

ULT	UST
You have set me in the pit of the depths, in dark places, in deep places.	It is as though you have thrown me down to the bottom of a deep, dark pit.

ULT in the pit of the depths
UST down to the bottom of a & pit
(בְּבוֹר תַּחְתִּיּוֹת)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the pit of the depths were literally a deep hole into which God had placed him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in the lowest depths of suffering]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in dark places, in deep places
UST deep, dark
(בְּמַחֲשַׁכִּים בִּמְצֹלוֹת)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if dark places and deep places were the realm of death and separation from God. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in places of gloom and despair]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the pit of	a & pit

Psalms 88:7

ULT	UST
Your wrath rests heavily on me, and you overwhelm {me} {with} all of your waves. Selah	I feel as if you are angry with me, and that is like an oppressive burden to me. It is as if I am drowning in your anger. Selah

ULT Your wrath rests heavily on me, and you overwhelm {me} {with} all of your waves
UST I feel as if you are angry with me, and that is like an oppressive burden to me. It is as if I am drowning in your anger
(עָלַי סָמְכָה חֲמָתֶךָ וְכָל־מִשְׁבָּרֶיךָ עִנִּיתָ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You overwhelm me greatly with your wrath and your waves]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Your wrath rests heavily
UST I feel as if you are angry with me, and that is like an oppressive burden
(סָמְכָה חֲמָתֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of wrath as if it were a heavy weight that could press down on someone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You are very angry with me]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Your wrath
UST I feel as if you are angry with me
(חֲמָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wrath, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Your being so angry]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your waves
UST It is as if I am drowning
(מִשְׁבָּרֶיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God's judgment were waves of water crashing over him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all of your punishments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your wrath	I feel as if you are angry with me
Selah	Selah

Psalms 88:8

ULT	UST
You have distanced my acquaintances from me; you have made me abominations to them. {I am} shut in, and I do not go out.	Because my illness is so unpleasant and you have not healed me, my friends stay away from me, and I am not able to leave my home {to visit anyone}.

ULT You have distanced my acquaintances from me; you have made me abominations to them
UST Because my illness is so unpleasant and you have not healed me, my friends stay away from me (הִרְחַקְתָּ מְיֻדָּעַי מִמֶּנִּי שַׂתַּנִי תוֹעֵבוֹת לָמוֹ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You have distanced my acquaintances from me by making me so disgusting to them]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT you have made me abominations to them
UST Because my illness is so unpleasant and you have not healed me
(שַׂתַּנִי תוֹעֵבוֹת לָמוֹ)

The pronoun them refers to the psalmist's acquaintances mentioned in the previous phrase.

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT I am} shut in, and I do not go out
UST and I am not able to leave my home {to visit anyone (כָּלֹא וְלֹא אֵצֵא)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [I am shut in so that I do not go out]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT I am} shut in
UST and I am & able to leave my home
(כָּלֹא)

The expression shut in is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [You have confined me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I am} shut in
UST and I am & able to leave my home
(כְּלֻא)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if he were literally shut in like a prisoner. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am trapped]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my acquaintances	my friends
abominations	Because my illness is so unpleasant

Psalms 88:9

ULT	UST
My eye mourns from affliction. I call out to you, Yahweh, in all of the day; I spread out my palms to you.	My eyes are swollen because I cry so much. Yahweh, throughout the day I call out to you for help as I spread out my hands toward you {in prayer}.

ULT My eye mourns
UST My eyes are swollen
(עֵינִי דָאֲבָה)

Here, My eye mourns represents the psalmist himself weeping. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I weep]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT affliction
UST I cry so much
(עֹנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of affliction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [being afflicted]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I call out to you, Yahweh, in all of the day; I spread out my palms to you
UST Yahweh, throughout the day I call out to you for help as I spread out my hands toward you {in prayer (קְרָאתִיךָ יְהוָה בְּכָל־יוֹם שִׁטַּחְתִּי אֵלֶיךָ כַּפָּי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [I call out to you, Yahweh, all day, spreading out my palms to you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT my palms
UST my hands
(כַּפָּי)

Here, palms represents the act of praying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my hands in prayer]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
mourns	are swollen
affliction	I cry so much
I call out to you	I call out to you for help
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 88:10

ULT	UST
Will you do a wonder for the ones having died? Or will the Raphaites arise? Will they thank you? Selah	If I were to die, it would be too late for you to do a miracle to help me. Dead people do not come back to life and praise you! Selah

ULT Will you do a wonder for the ones having died
UST If I were to die, it would be too late for you to do a miracle to help me
(הֲלַמֵּתִים תַּעֲשֶׂה־פֶּלֶא)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his belief that God does not do wonders for the dead. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You do not do a wonder for the ones having died.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT a wonder
UST a miracle to help me
(פֶּלֶא)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonder, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a wonderful thing]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Or will the Raphaites arise
UST Dead people do not come back to life
(אִם־רְפָאִים יָקוּמוּ)

If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [And will the Raphaites arise?]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT Or will the Raphaites arise
UST Dead people do not come back to life
(אִם־רְפָאִים יָקוּמוּ)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his belief that the Raphaites do not arise. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [The Raphaites will certainly not arise!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT will the Raphaites
> UST Dead people
> (רְפָאִ֥ים)

The word Raphaites is the name of a people group. Here it refers to the spirits of the dead in Sheol.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

> ULT Will they thank you
> UST and praise you
> (יוֹדוּךָ)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his belief that the dead do not thank God. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [They will certainly not thank you!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a wonder	a miracle to help me
will the Raphaites	Dead people
Selah	Selah

Psalms 88:11

ULT	UST
Will your covenant faithfulness be recounted in the grave, your faithfulness in Abaddon?	Dead bodies in graves do not talk about how you faithfully love us. In the place where dead people go, no one talks about how faithful you are.

ULT Will your covenant faithfulness be recounted in the grave, your faithfulness in Abaddon
UST Dead bodies in graves do not talk about how you faithfully love us. In the place where dead people go, no one talks about how faithful you are
(הַיְסֻפַּר בַּקֶּבֶר חַסְדֶּךָ אֱמוּנָתְךָ בָּאֲבַדּוֹן)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his belief that no one recounts God's covenant faithfulness in the grave. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Your covenant faithfulness will not be recounted in the grave, nor your faithfulness in Abaddon.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Will your covenant faithfulness be recounted in the grave, your faithfulness in Abaddon
UST Dead bodies in graves do not talk about how you faithfully love us. In the place where dead people go, no one talks about how faithful you are
(הַיְסֻפַּר בַּקֶּבֶר חַסְדֶּךָ אֱמוּנָתְךָ בָּאֲבַדּוֹן)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Will your covenant faithfulness be recounted in the grave and in the realm of the dead]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Will your covenant faithfulness be recounted in the grave
UST Dead bodies in graves do not talk about how you faithfully love us
(הַיְסֻפַּר בַּקֶּבֶר חַסְדֶּךָ)

The expression be recounted is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Will anyone recount your covenant faithfulness in the grave]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT your covenant faithfulness
> UST how you faithfully love us
> (חַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your being faithfully committed to your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT your faithfulness in Abaddon
> UST In the place where dead people go, no one talks about how faithful you are > (אֱמוּנָתְךָ בָּאֲבַדּוֹן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and will your faithfulness be recounted in Abaddon]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT your faithfulness
> UST no one talks about how faithful you are > (אֱמוּנָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your being faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your covenant faithfulness	how you faithfully love us
your covenant faithfulness	how you faithfully love us
in the grave	Dead bodies in graves

Psalms 88:12

ULT	UST
Will your wonder be known in the darkness, or your righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness?	No one in that dark place sees the amazing things you do; no one in the place where no one remembers anything knows how good you are.

ULT Will your wonder be known in the darkness, or your righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness
UST No one in that dark place sees the amazing things you do; no one in the place where no one remembers anything knows how good you are
(הֲיִוּדַע בַּחֹשֶׁךְ פִּלְאֶךָ וְצִדְקָתְךָ בְּאֶרֶץ נְשִׁיָּה)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his belief that God's wonder and righteousness are not known in the darkness or the land of forgetfulness. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Your wonder will not be known in the darkness nor your righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Will your wonder be known in the darkness, or your righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness
UST No one in that dark place sees the amazing things you do; no one in the place where no one remembers anything knows how good you are
(הֲיִוּדַע בַּחֹשֶׁךְ פִּלְאֶךָ וְצִדְקָתְךָ בְּאֶרֶץ נְשִׁיָּה)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Will your wonder and your righteousness be known in the darkness of the land of forgetfulness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT your wonder
UST the amazing things you do
(פִּלְאֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonder, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [wonderful deeds]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Will your wonder be known in the darkness
UST No one in that dark place sees the amazing things you do (הֲיִוּדַע בַּחֹשֶׁךְ פִּלְאֶֽךָ)

The expression be known is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Will anyone know your wonder in the darkness]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT or your righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness
UST no one in the place where no one remembers anything knows how good you are (וְצִדְקָתְךָ֥ בְּאֶ֗רֶץ נְשִׁיָּֽה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [or will your righteousness be known in the land of forgetfulness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT or your righteousness
UST no one & knows how good you are
(וְצִדְקָתְךָ֥)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [or your righteous acts]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the land of forgetfulness
UST in the place where no one remembers anything
(בְּאֶ֗רֶץ נְשִׁיָּֽה)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the place of the dead were literally the land of forgetfulness. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the place where everything is forgotten]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT forgetfulness
UST no one remembers anything
(נְשִׁיָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of forgetfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [forgetting everything]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your wonder	the amazing things you do
Will & be known	No one & sees or your righteousness	no one & knows how good you are

Psalms 88:13

ULT	UST
But I, I cry out to you, Yahweh, and in the morning my prayer precedes you.	But I {am still alive,} Yahweh, and I am calling out to you to help me. It is as if my prayer is already there waiting for you when you get up in the morning.

ULT But I, I cry out to you, Yahweh, and in the morning my prayer precedes you
UST But I {am still alive,} Yahweh, and I am calling out to you to help me. It is as if my prayer is already there waiting for you when you get up in the morning
(וַאֲנִי | אֵלֶיךָ יְהוָה שִׁוַּעְתִּי וּבַבֹּקֶר תְּפִלָּתִי תְקַדְּמֶךָּ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [But I cry out to you every morning, Yahweh, and my prayer comes before you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT But I, I cry out to you, Yahweh
UST But I {am still alive,} Yahweh, and I am calling out to you to help me
(וַאֲנִי | אֵלֶיךָ יְהוָה שִׁוַּעְתִּי)

The psalmist uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between his crying out to Yahweh and the silence of the dead in verses 10–12. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [However, I cry out to you, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT But I
UST But I {am still alive
(וַאֲנִי)

The psalmist uses an independent pronoun, I, before the verb to emphasize that he, in contrast to the dead who cannot praise God, still cries out to Yahweh. Your language may use a similar construction to indicate emphasis.

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT my prayer precedes you
> UST It is as if my prayer is already there waiting for you
> (תְּפִלָּתִי תְקַדְּמָךְ)

The psalmist is speaking of my prayer as if it were a living thing that could go ahead of someone to meet God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I come before you with what I pray]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT my prayer
> UST my prayer
> (תְּפִלָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of prayer, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what I pray]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I cry out	and I am calling out & to help me
Yahweh	Yahweh
my prayer	my prayer

Psalms 88:14

ULT	UST
Why, Yahweh, do you reject my soul? {Why} do you hide your face from me?	Yahweh, please do not reject me! Please do not ignore me!

ULT Why, Yahweh, do you reject my soul? {Why} do you hide your face from me
UST Yahweh, please do not reject me! Please do not ignore me (לָמָה יְהוָה תִּזְנַח נַפְשִׁי תַּסְתִּיר פָּנֶיךָ מִמֶּנִּי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Why, Yahweh, do you reject me and refuse to pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Why, Yahweh, do you reject my soul
UST Yahweh, please do not reject me
(לָמָה יְהוָה תִּזְנַח נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the question form to express deep anguish and frustration at feeling rejected by God. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, you should not reject my soul!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT my soul
UST me
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT Why} do you hide your face from me
> UST Please do not ignore me
> (תַּסְתִּיר פָּנֶיךָ מִמֶּנִּי)

The psalmist is using the question form to express deep anguish at feeling that God is ignoring him. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You should not hide your face from me!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT your face
> UST Please do not ignore
> (פָּנֶיךָ)

Here, face represents God's presence and attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [yourself]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
do you reject	please do & reject
my soul	me

Psalms 88:15

ULT	UST
I {have been} weak and expiring since youth; I have borne your terrors; I must despair.	Since I was young, I have been so ill that I have nearly died. I have been sick for so long with this terrible illness that you permit that I have no more hope.

ULT and expiring since youth
UST Since & was young & that I have nearly died
(וְגֹוֵ֣עַ מִנֹּ֑עַר)

The psalmist is saying expiring since youth as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [and near death for as long as I can remember]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT since youth
UST Since & was young
(מִנֹּ֑עַר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of youth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [since I was young]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your terrors
UST with this terrible illness that you permit
(אֵמֶ֗יךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of terrors, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [things that terrify me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have borne	I have been sick for so long
your terrors	with this terrible illness that you permit

Psalms 88:16

ULT	UST
Your indignations pass over me; your terrors destroy me.	I feel as if you are very angry with me. This terrible illness that you permit has destroyed the good life I could have had.

ULT Your indignations pass over me; your terrors destroy me
UST I feel as if you are very angry with me. This terrible illness that you permit has destroyed the good life I could have had (עֲלַי עָבְרוּ חֲרוֹנֶיךָ בִּעוּתֶיךָ צִמְּתוּתָנִי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [Your indignations and terrors pass over me and destroy me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Your indignations pass
UST you are very angry
(עָבְרוּ חֲרוֹנֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of indignations as if they were living things that could pass over a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You sweep over me with your indignations]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Your indignations
UST you are very angry
(חֲרוֹנֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of indignations, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Your expressions of how indignant you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your terrors destroy me
UST This terrible illness that you permit has destroyed the good life I could have had (בִּעוּתֶיךָ צִמְּתוּתָנִי)

The psalmist is speaking of terrors as if they were a living thing that could destroy someone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you destroy me with things that terrify me]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your terrors
UST This terrible illness that you permit
(בִּֽעוּתֶֽיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of terrors, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the things you do that terrify me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your terrors	This terrible illness that you permit destroy me	has destroyed the good life I could have had

Psalms 88:17

ULT	UST
They surround me like water all of the day; they close in upon me together.	The bad things that are happening to me are like floodwaters that continually surround me and are about to drown me.

ULT They surround me like water all of the day; they close in upon me together
UST The bad things that are happening to me are like floodwaters that continually surround me and are about to drown me
(סַבּוּנִי כַמַּיִם כָּל־הַיּוֹם הִקִּיפוּ עָלַי יָחַד)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [They surround me like water all of the day; indeed, they close in upon me together]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT They surround me
UST that & surround me
(סַבּוּנִי)

The pronoun They refers to the indignations and terrors mentioned in verse 16.

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT like water
UST The bad things that are happening to me are like floodwaters
(כַמַּיִם)

The point of this comparison is that just as water surrounds and engulfs a person on all sides, so do the psalmist's sufferings. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like a flood]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT all of the day
UST continually
(כָּל־הַיּוֹם)

The psalmist is saying all of the day as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [constantly]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

Psalms 88:18

ULT	UST
You have distanced friend and acquaintance from me; the ones known to me {are} darkness.	Because you have allowed this illness, my friends and family members stay away from me. I can no longer see where they are.

ULT You have distanced friend and acquaintance from me; the ones known to me {are} darkness
UST Because you have allowed this illness, my friends and family members stay away from me. I can no longer see where they are (הִרְחַקְתָּ מֻמָּנִי אֹהֵב וְרֵעַ מְיֻדָּעַי מַחְשָׁךְ)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You have removed everyone I know from me, and I do not see them anymore]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the ones known to me {are} darkness
UST I can no longer see where they are (מְיֻדָּעַי מַחְשָׁךְ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if darkness were literally his companion. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the only thing I know is loneliness and gloom]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
friend	my friends and family members
the ones known to me	they

Psalms 88:front

> ULT A maskil of
> UST this song
> (מַשְׂכִּיל)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a maskil. Since the meaning of this word is not certain, you may wish to represent it in its Hebrew form and spell it the way it sounds in your language. See the discussion of that term in the Introduction to Psalms.

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

> ULT For the chief musician
> UST This is a note for the worship leader
> (לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

> ULT On “Weakness of Afflicting
> UST The tune is “Weakness of Afflicting
> (עַל־מָחֲלַת לְעַנּוֹת)

The phrase that the ULT translates as Weakness of Afflicting could be the name of the tune of this psalm. It might also be a musical instruction See how you translated the term Weakness in the superscription to Psalm 53. (The addition of the term Afflicting here seems to refer to what the psalmist says in verse 9, “My eye mourns from affliction.”) Alternate translation: [perform this psalm about affliction in a minor key] or [perform this psalm about affliction in a somber tone]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	this song
Korah	One of the Korahites wrote
of Afflicting	of Afflicting

Psalms 89

Psalms 89 Introduction

Psalm 89 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 89 is a psalm of supplication or lament. It appears to have been written shortly after the destruction of Jerusalem to protest that while Yahweh had promised that David's descendants would always rule as kings, and Yahweh had the power to make sure that happened, he allowed enemies to destroy Jerusalem and depose the king. The psalmist uses three of the basic elements of a psalm of supplication. (See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.) However, before he does that, the psalmist praises Yahweh for his power, and he cites his covenant with David as grounds for praying for restoration. These two first parts of the psalm correspond roughly to the other two basic elements of a psalm of supplication, a vow of praise and a statement of trust.

1. Praise of Yahweh's power and greatness (1–18)
2. Yahweh's covenant with David (19–37)
3. Description of troubles (38–45)
4. Cry for help (46–49)
5. Petition (50–51)

Verse 52 is not part of the original psalm. It is a doxology (an expression of praise to God) that the editors of the book of Psalms added to mark the end of Book Three of the psalms. See how you translated the similar doxologies in 41:13 and 72:18–20.

Psalms 89:1

ULT	UST
I will sing the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh forever; to generation and generation I will make known your faithfulness with my mouth.	Yahweh, I will always sing about how faithfully you love your people. I will tell my children and grandchildren that you always do what you promise.

ULT I will sing the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh forever; to generation and generation I will make known your faithfulness with my mouth

UST Yahweh, I will always sing about how faithfully you love your people. I will tell my children and grandchildren that you always do what you promise

(חֲסְדֵ֣י יְהוָ֣ה עוֹלָ֣ם אָשִׁ֑ירָה לְדֹ֥ר וָדֹ֛ר | אוֹדִ֥יעַ אֱמוּנָתְךָ֖ בְּפִֽי)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [I will always sing about the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh; indeed, I will tell every generation how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the covenant faithfulness of

UST about how faithfully you love your people

(חֲסְדֵ֣י)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how Yahweh faithfully keeps his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your faithfulness

UST that you always do what you promise

(אֱמוּנָתְךָ֖)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT with my mouth
> UST I
> (בְּפִי)

Here, with my mouth represents speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [by my words]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the covenant faithfulness of	about how faithfully you love your people
the covenant faithfulness of	about how faithfully you love your people
Yahweh	Yahweh
forever	always
to generation	my children
and generation	and grandchildren
I will make known	will tell your faithfulness	that you always do what you promise

Psalms 89:2

ULT	UST
For I said, “Covenant faithfulness will be built up forever; the heavens, you establish your faithfulness in them.”	I know that you will always love us faithfully. Just as the sky is permanent, so you will always be faithful to us.

ULT For I said
UST I know that
(כִּי־אָמַ֫רְתִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because I said]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Covenant faithfulness will be built up
UST you will & love us faithfully
(חֶ֭סֶד יִבָּנֶ֣ה)

Here Ethan is speaking as if covenant faithfulness were a structure that could be built up. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Covenant faithfulness will be established] or [You will show covenant faithfulness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Covenant faithfulness
UST you will & love us faithfully
(חֶ֭סֶד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [The way you faithfully love]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT will be built up
UST you will & love us faithfully
(יִבָּנֶ֣ה)

The expression will be built up is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [you will build up]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT your faithfulness
UST so & will always be faithful to us
(אֱמוּנָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT you establish your faithfulness in them
UST is permanent, so you will always be faithful to us
(תָּכִן אֱמוּנָתְךָ בָּהֶם)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the information about the heavens after the information about establishing faithfulness. Alternate translation: [you establish your faithfulness in the heavens]

Support Reference: Information Structure

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Covenant faithfulness	you will & love us faithfully
Covenant faithfulness	you will & love us faithfully
forever	always
the heavens	Just as the sky
your faithfulness	so & will always be faithful to us

Psalms 89:3

ULT	UST
“I have cut a covenant with my chosen; I have sworn to David my servant:	Yahweh has said, “I made a covenant with the man I chose {to be the king of Israel}. That was David, who loyally obeyed me. I made a solemn promise to him.

ULT I have cut a covenant with my chosen; I have sworn to David my servant
UST Yahweh has said, “I made a covenant with the man I chose {to be the king of Israel}. That was David, who loyally obeyed me. I made a solemn promise to him
(כָּרַתִּי בְרִית לִבְחִירִי נִשְׁבַּעְתִּי לְדָוִד עַבְדִּי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [God said that he has cut a covenant with his chosen; he has sworn to David his servant]

Support Reference: Direct and Indirect Quotations

ULT I have cut a covenant with my chosen; I have sworn to David my servant
UST Yahweh has said, “I made a covenant with the man I chose {to be the king of Israel}. That was David, who loyally obeyed me. I made a solemn promise to him
(כָּרַתִּי בְרִית לִבְחִירִי נִשְׁבַּעְתִּי לְדָוִד עַבְדִּי)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [I swore an oath to David, my chosen servant]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a covenant	a covenant
with my chosen	with the man I chose {to be the king of Israel
I have sworn	I made a solemn promise to him
to David	That was David
my servant	who loyally obeyed me

Psalms 89:4

ULT	UST
‘Until forever I will establish your seed, and I will build up your throne to generation and generation.’” Selah	I said, ‘I will make sure that your descendants always rule as kings; yes, I will make sure that your dynasty never ends.’” Selah

ULT Until forever I will establish your seed, and I will build up your throne to generation and generation.’” Selah
UST I said, ‘I will make sure that your descendants always rule as kings; yes, I will make sure that your dynasty never ends.’” Selah (עַד־עוֹלָם אָכִין זַרְעֶךָ וּבָנִיתִי לְדֹר־וָדֹור כִּסְאֶךָ סֶלָה)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [I swore that I will establish his seed until forever, and I will build up his throne to generation and generation]

Support Reference: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship

ULT I will establish your seed
UST I said, ‘I will make sure that your descendants & rule as kings
(אָכִין זַרְעֶךָ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if descendants were seed that is planted. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will establish your descendants] or [I will establish your offspring]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and I will build up your throne to generation and generation
UST yes, I will make sure that your dynasty never ends
(וּבָנִיתִי לְדֹר־וָדֹור כִּסְאֶךָ)

Ethan is using build up your throne as a common expression of the culture to mean “firmly establish your rule.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will firmly establish your rule] or [I will make your kingdom strong]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT your throne
> UST your dynasty
> (כִּסְאֶךָ)

Here, your throne represents royal authority and rule. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your royal authority]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forever	always
I will establish	I said, 'I will make sure that & rule as kings
your seed	your descendants
your throne	your dynasty
to generation	never ends
and generation	never ends
Selah	Selah

Psalms 89:5

ULT	UST
And the heavens praise your wonder, Yahweh; your faithfulness also, in the assembly of the holy ones.	Yahweh, the angels in heaven praise you for the wonderful things you do, When those holy beings gather, they celebrate how you always do what you promise.

ULT And the heavens praise your wonder
UST the angels in heaven praise you for the wonderful things you do (וְיוֹדוּ שָׁמַיִם פִּלְאֶךָ)

Ethan is speaking of the heavens as if they were a living thing that could praise God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And the beings in heaven praise your wonder]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your faithfulness
UST they celebrate how you always do what you promise
(אֱמוּנָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the assembly of the holy ones
UST When those holy beings gather
(בִּקְהַל קְדֹשִׁים)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe an assembly that is made up of the holy ones. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the assembly where the holy ones gather]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	the angels in heaven
And & praise	praise you
your wonder	for the wonderful things you do
Yahweh	Yahweh
your faithfulness	they celebrate how you always do what you promise
in the assembly of	When & gather
the holy ones	those holy beings

Psalms 89:6

ULT	UST
For who in the sky arrays with Yahweh, compares to Yahweh among the sons of God?	No one in the sky is equal to Yahweh! None of the heavenly beings is like Yahweh!

ULT For who in the sky arrays with Yahweh, compares to Yahweh among the sons of God
UST No one in the sky is equal to Yahweh! None of the heavenly beings is like Yahweh (כִּ֤י מִ֣י בַשַּׁ֣חַק יַעֲרֹךְ֮ לַיהוָה֒ יִדְמֶ֤ה לַֽיהוָ֨ה בִּבְנֵ֥י אֵלִֽים)

Ethan is using the question form to emphasize that no one is comparable to Yahweh. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [For no one in the sky arrays with Yahweh; no one compares to Yahweh among the sons of God.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT among the sons of God
UST the heavenly beings
(בִּבְנֵ֥י אֵלִֽים)

Here Ethan is speaking as if the heavenly beings were literal sons of God who were born from him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [among the heavenly beings] or [among the divine beings]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the sky	in the sky
with Yahweh	to Yahweh
among the sons of God	the heavenly beings

Psalms 89:7

ULT	UST
God is greatly dreaded in the council of the holy ones and feared above all of the ones around him.	When the holy beings gather together, they all respect God greatly. Everyone around his throne honors him.

ULT is greatly dreaded in the council of the holy ones
UST When the holy beings gather together, they all respect & greatly (נַעֲרָץ בְּסוֹד־קְדֹשִׁים רַבָּה)

The expression greatly dreaded is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is the holy ones. Alternate translation: [the holy ones greatly dread God]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT in the council of the holy ones
UST When the holy beings gather together
(בְּסוֹד־קְדֹשִׁים)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe a council that is made up of the holy ones. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [council where the holy ones gather]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
is & dreaded	they all respect
in the council of	When & gather together
the holy ones	the holy beings
and feared	honors him

Psalms 89:8

ULT	UST
Yahweh, God of Armies, who {is} like you, mighty Yah? And your faithfulness {is} your surroundings.	Yahweh, you are the God who commands the heavenly armies. No one is as mighty as you are! You are always faithful in every way.

ULT who {is} like you, mighty Yah
UST No one is as mighty as you are
(מִי־כָמֹוךָ חֲסִין | יָהּ)

Ethan is using the question form to emphasize that no one is like Yahweh. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [no one is like you, mighty Yah!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT And your faithfulness {is} your surroundings
UST You are always faithful in every way
(וֶאֱמוּנָתְךָ סְבִיבוֹתָיִךְ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [And you are characterized by how faithful you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Yah
UST you are
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
God of Armies	you are the God who commands the heavenly armies
mighty	mighty as
Yah	you are
And your faithfulness	You are always faithful

Psalms 89:9

ULT	UST
You are ruling over the surging of the sea; when its waves rise, you, you still them.	You control the sea so that it does not become too violent; when its waves become too large, you make them smaller.

ULT You are ruling over the surging of the sea
UST You control the sea so that it does not become too violent (אַתָּה מֹושֵׁל בִּגְאוּת הַיָּם)

Here Ethan is speaking as if the surging of the sea represented chaotic forces that oppose God. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You are ruling over the raging of the sea] or [You control the powerful forces of the sea]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you, you still them
UST you make them smaller
(אַתָּה תְשַׁבְּחֵם)

Ethan is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it is Yahweh alone who has the power to calm the waves. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you alone still them]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are ruling	control

Psalms 89:10

ULT	UST
You, you shattered Rahab like a slain one; with the arm of your strength you scattered your enemies.	It was you who {put the world in order as you created it, as if you had} completely destroyed the sea monster Rahab; You used your great power to defeat your enemies.

ULT You, you shattered Rahab like a slain one
UST It was you who {put the world in order as you created it, as if you had} completely destroyed the sea monster Rahab
(אַתָּה דִכֵּאתָ כֶחָלָל רָהַב)

The point of this comparison is that just as a slain one is completely defeated and left powerless, so is Rahab, the sea monster, after God shattered it. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [You completely defeated Rahab, shattering it as one would kill an enemy]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT You, you shattered
UST It was you who {put the world in order as you created it, as if you had} completely destroyed
(אַתָּה דִכֵּאתָ)

Ethan is stating the pronoun You separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it was Yahweh himself who accomplished this mighty act. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [You yourself shattered]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with the arm of your strength
UST You used your great power
(בִּזְרוֹעַ עֻזֶּךָ)

Here, the arm of your strength represents God's great power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your mighty power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT with the arm of your strength
> UST You used your great power
> (בִּזְרוֹעַ עֻזֶּךָ)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe an arm that is characterized by strength. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [your strong arm]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT with the arm of your strength
> UST You used your great power
> (בִּזְרוֹעַ עֻזֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with your strong arm]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Rahab	the sea monster Rahab
like a slain one	had} completely destroyed
your strength	your great
you scattered	to defeat
your enemies	your enemies

Psalms 89:11

ULT	UST
To you {are} the heavens, also to you, the earth; the world and its fullness, you, you founded them.	Because you created the world and everything in it, the sky belongs to you, and the earth also belongs to you.

ULT also to you, the earth
UST and the earth also belongs to you
(אַף־לְךָ֥ אֶ֝רֶץ)

Ethan is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [also to you belongs the earth]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and its fullness
UST and everything in it
(וּמְלֹאָ֑הּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of fullness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [everything that fills it]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT you, you founded them
UST Because you created
(אַתָּ֖ה יְסַדְתָּֽם)

Ethan is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that God himself is the one who established the world. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you yourself founded them]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT To you {are} the heavens, also to you, the earth; the world and its fullness, you, you founded them

UST Because you created the world and everything in it, the sky belongs to you, and the earth also belongs to you

(לְךָ֣ שָׁמַ֣יִם אַף־לְךָ֣ אֶ֑רֶץ תֵּבֵ֥ל וּמְלֹאָ֗הּ אַתָּ֥ה יְסַדְתָּֽם)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [You created and you own the entire world and everything in it]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} the heavens	the sky
the earth	the earth
the world	the world
you founded them	Because & created

Psalms 89:12

ULT	UST
The north and the south, you, you created them; Tabor and Hermon shout joyfully in your name.	You created the full extent of the world around us. You made everything to the north and to the south. You made everything to the west, where Mount Tabor is, and you made everything to the east, where Mount Hermon is. People throughout the world joyfully praise you because of who you are.

ULT The north and the south
UST the full extent of the world around us & everything to the north and to the south
(צָפוֹן וְיָמִין)

Ethan is referring to all of creation by naming two extremes, the north and the south. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Everything in every direction]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT you, you created them
UST You created & You made
(אַתָּה בְרָאתָם)

Ethan is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that God alone is the creator. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you yourself created them]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Tabor and Hermon shout joyfully in your name
UST You made everything to the west, where Mount Tabor is, and you made everything to the east, where Mount Hermon is. People throughout the world joyfully praise you because of who you are (תָּבוֹר וְחֶרְמוֹן בְּשִׁמְךָ יְרַנֵּנוּ)

Ethan is speaking of Tabor and Hermon as if they were living things that could shout joyfully. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people at Tabor and Hermon shout joyfully because of you]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT in your name
> UST because of who you are
> (בְּשִׁמְךָ)

Ethan is using the term name to represent who the person is or to refer to the person's reputation. Alternate translation: [because of who you are]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you created them	created & made

Psalms 89:13

ULT	UST
To you {is} an arm with might; your hand is strong; your right hand is high.	You are very powerful; yes, you are very strong, and you use your power to do great things.

ULT might
UST very (גְּבוּרָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of might, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [an arm that is mighty]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your hand is strong; your right hand is high
UST yes, you are very strong, and you use your power to do great things (תָּעֹז יָדְךָ תָּרוּם יְמִינֶךָ)

Here, hand represents the power or control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your power is strong; your authority is supreme]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your right hand is high
UST and you use your power to do great things
(תָּרוּם יְמִינֶךָ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God's power were high or physically elevated. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your right hand is exalted] or [your power is supreme]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT To you {is} an arm with might
UST You are very powerful
(לְךָ זְרוֹעַ עִם־גְּבוּרָה)

Here, arm represents the power or control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You have great power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
might	very

Psalms 89:14

ULT	UST
Righteousness and justice {are} the foundation of your throne; covenant faithfulness and truth precede your face.	As you rule, you always do what is right and just, and you are always faithful and true in everything you do.

ULT Righteousness and justice
UST what is right and just
(צֶדֶק וּמִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of righteousness and justice, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [Acting rightly and judging fairly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT are} the foundation of your throne
UST As you rule, you always do
(מְכוֹן כִּסְאֶךָ)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe the base on which God's rule rests. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the foundation on which your throne rests]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT your throne
UST As you rule
(כִּסְאֶךָ)

Here, throne represents God's royal authority and rule. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your rule]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT covenant faithfulness and truth precede your face
UST and you are always faithful and true in everything you do
(חֶסֶד וֶאֱמֶת יְקַדְּמוּ פָנֶיךָ)

Ethan is speaking of covenant faithfulness and truth as if they were living things that could walk before God as attendants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you always show covenant faithfulness and truth in everything you do]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT covenant faithfulness and truth
> UST and you are always faithful and true
> (חֶסֶד וֶאֱמֶת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and truth, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [being faithfully loving and being true to your promises]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT precede your face
> UST in everything you do
> (יְקַדְּמוּ פָנֶיךָ)

Here, face represents God's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [go before you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT Righteousness and justice {are} the foundation of your throne
> UST As you rule, you always do what is right and just > (צֶדֶק וּמִשְׁפָּט מְכוֹן כִּסְאֶךָ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God's rule were a building and righteousness and justice were its foundation. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your rule is based on righteousness and justice] or [You always rule righteously and justly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Righteousness	what is right
and justice	and just
are} the foundation of	you always do your throne	As you rule
covenant faithfulness	and you are always faithful

Psalms 89:15

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the people knowing the joyful shout! Yahweh, they walk in the light of your face.	Yahweh, the people who worship you with joyful shouts have truly good lives; they enjoy your favor as they live.

ULT The happinesses of
UST have truly good lives
(אַשְׁרֵי)

Ethan is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Oh, how happy is] or [Truly blessed is]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT they walk in the light of your face
UST they enjoy your favor as they live
(בְּאוֹר־פָּנֶיךָ יְהַלֵּכוּן)

Here Ethan is speaking as if people who live in God's favor walk in the light of Yahweh's face. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they live enjoying your favor] or [they live in the brightness of your presence]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT they walk
UST as they live
(יְהַלֵּכוּן)

Here Ethan is speaking as if living one's life were walking along a path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they live] or [they conduct their lives]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in the light of your face
UST they enjoy your favor
(בְּאוֹר־פָּנֶיךָ)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe light that comes from God's presence. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the light that shines from your face]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT your face
> UST they enjoy your favor
> (פָּנֶיךָ)

Here, face represents God's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The happinesses of	have truly good lives
knowing	who worship you
the joyful shout	with joyful shouts
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 89:16

ULT	UST
In your name they rejoice all of the day, and in your righteousness they rise high;	They rejoice continually because of who you are, and they celebrate how you always do what is right.

ULT In your name
UST because of who you are
(בְּשִׁמְךָ)

Ethan is using the term name to represent who the person is or to refer to the person's reputation. Alternate translation: [Because of who you are]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and in your righteousness they rise high
UST and they celebrate how you always do what is right
(וּבְצִדְקָתְךָ יָרוּמוּ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if being honored were to be physically rising high. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and in your righteousness they are honored] or [and because you are righteous, you give them a high position]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and in your righteousness
UST how you always do what is right
(וּבְצִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because you are righteous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they rejoice	They rejoice
and in your righteousness	how you always do what is right

Psalms 89:17

ULT	UST
for you {are} the splendor of their strength, and by your favor you raise up our horn.	You make your people strong and glorious, and because you were pleased with us, you gave us a good king.

ULT the splendor of their strength
UST make your people strong and glorious (תִּפְאֶרֶת עֻזָּמוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of splendor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one who makes their strength splendid]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT their strength
UST make your people strong
(עֻזָּמוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how strong they are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and by your favor
UST and because you were pleased with us
(וּבְרְצֹנְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of favor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and because you desired the best for us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT you raise up our horn
UST you gave us a good king
(תָּרִים קַרְנֵנוּ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if power were a horn that could be raised up. In this case, it is likely that he means that Yahweh has allowed them to have a powerful king. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you have allowed us to have a powerful king] or [you make us a strong nation]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the splendor of	and glorious
and by your favor	and because you were pleased with us
our horn	a good king

Psalms 89:18

ULT	UST
For our shield {is} to Yahweh, and our king, to the Holy {One} of Israel.	The one who protects us belongs to you, Yahweh; yes, our king belongs to you, the holy God whom we Israelites worship.

ULT our shield {is} to Yahweh
UST The one who protects us belongs to you, Yahweh
(לַיהוָה מָגִנֵּנוּ)

Here Ethan is speaking of the king who protects them as if he were a battle shield. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [our protector belongs to Yahweh] or [Yahweh is the one who gave us our protector]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and our king, to the Holy {One} of Israel
UST yes, our king belongs to you, the holy God whom we Israelites worship
(וְלִקְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל מַלְכֵּנוּ)

Ethan is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and our king belongs to the Holy One of Israel]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and our king, to the Holy {One} of Israel
UST yes, our king belongs to you, the holy God whom we Israelites worship
(וְלִקְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל מַלְכֵּנוּ)

Ethan is using this possessive form to describe the holy God with whom the Israelites are in a covenant relationship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and our king belongs to the holy God with whom we Israelites are in a covenant relationship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our shield	The one who protects us is} to Yahweh	belongs to you, Yahweh
our king	our king
and & to the Holy {One} of	yes & belongs to you, the holy God whom & worship
Israel	we Israelites

Psalms 89:19

ULT	UST
Then you spoke in a vision to your faithful ones and said, “I have placed help on a warrior; I have raised up a chosen one from the people.	Long ago you spoke in a vision to the Israelites who were loyal to you. You said, “I have given strength to a mighty warrior; I have chosen a young man from among the people {to be the king}.

ULT Then you spoke
UST Long ago you spoke
(אָז דִּבַּרְתָּ)

Ethan is using the word translated as Then to introduce a new event in the story. Use a word, phrase, or other method in your language that is natural for introducing a new event.

Support Reference: Introduction of a New Event

ULT and said, “I have placed help on a warrior; I have raised up a chosen one from the people
UST You said, “I have given strength to a mighty warrior; I have chosen a young man from among the people {to be the king
(וַתֹּאמֶר שִׁוִּיתִי עֵזֶר עַל־גִּבּוֹר הֲרִימוֹתִי בָחוּר מֵעָם)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [telling them that you have placed help on a warrior; you have raised up a chosen one from the people]

Support Reference: Direct and Indirect Quotations

ULT help
UST strength
(עֵזֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my helping hand]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in a vision	in a vision
to your faithful ones	to the Israelites who were loyal to you
a warrior	a mighty warrior
a chosen one	I have chosen a young man

Psalms 89:20

ULT	UST
I have found David my servant; I have anointed him with the oil of my holiness,	I have found David, who loyally obeys me, and I have had people anoint him with my holy oil {to appoint him as king}.

> ULT with the oil of my holiness
> UST with my holy oil
> (בְּשֶׁמֶן קָדְשִׁי)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe oil that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my holy oil]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT with the oil of my holiness
> UST with my holy oil
> (בְּשֶׁמֶן קָדְשִׁי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with my holy oil]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
David	David
my servant	who loyally obeys me
I have anointed him	and I have had people anoint him & to appoint him as king with the oil of	with my & oil
my holiness	holy

Psalms 89:21

ULT	UST
with whom my hand will be established; my arm will also strengthen him.	I will always support him with my power; indeed, I will make him strong.

ULT my hand will be established
UST I will always support & with my power
(יָדִי תִּכּוֹן)

The expression my hand will be established is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [I will establish my hand]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT my hand will be established
UST I will always support & with my power
(יָדִי תִּכּוֹן)

Here, hand represents the power or dominion of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my power will be established]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my arm will also strengthen him
UST indeed, I will make him strong
(אַף־זְרוֹעִי תְאַמְּצֶנּוּ)

Here, arm represents power or strength. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my power will also strengthen him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will be established	I will always support will & strengthen him	will make him strong

Psalms 89:22

ULT	UST
The enemy will not exact from him, and a son of wickedness will not oppress him.	He will never have to pay tribute to a foreign ruler, and no wicked enemy will defeat him.

ULT and a son of wickedness
UST and & wicked enemy
(וּבֶן־עַוְלָה)

God is using son of as a common expression of the culture to indicate that a person has a certain characteristic. In this case, the person has the characteristic of being wicked. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and a wicked person]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT wickedness
UST and & wicked enemy
(עַוְלָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wickedness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [people acting wickedly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The enemy	to a foreign ruler
wickedness	and & wicked enemy

Psalms 89:23

ULT	UST
And I will crush his adversaries from his face, and I will strike down the ones hating him.	I will defeat his opponents when they fight against him; yes, I will destroy his enemies.

ULT And I will crush his adversaries from his face, and I will strike down the ones hating him
UST I will defeat his opponents when they fight against him; yes, I will destroy his enemies (וְכַתּוֹתִי מִפָּנָיו צָרָיו וּמְשַׂנְאָיו אֶגּוֹף)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [I will completely destroy all of his enemies]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT from his face
UST when they fight against him
(מִפָּנָיו)

Here, face represents a person's presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from before him] or [from his presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his adversaries	his opponents

Psalms 89:24

ULT	UST
And my faithfulness and my covenant faithfulness {will be} with him, and in my name his horn will be high.	I will always be faithful to him and treat him kindly, and I will make him a great ruler by my own authority.

ULT And my faithfulness and my covenant faithfulness {will be} with him
UST I will always be faithful to him and treat him kindly (וֶאֱמוּנָתִי וְחַסְדִּי עִמּוֹ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of faithfulness and covenant faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [I will be faithful to him and loyally love him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and in my name his horn will be high
UST and I will make him a great ruler by my own authority
(וּבִשְׁמִי תָּרוּם קַרְנוֹ)

Here God is speaking as if David's strength and honor were a horn lifted high. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and by my authority he will be exalted] or [and in my name he will be powerful]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and in my name
UST by my own authority
(וּבִשְׁמִי)

God is using the term name to represent who the person is or to refer to the person's reputation. Alternate translation: [by my authority]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And my faithfulness	I will always be faithful and my covenant faithfulness	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: וְחַסְדִּי
his horn will	a & ruler

Psalms 89:25

ULT	UST
And I will set his hand on the sea and his right hand on the rivers.	I will make his realm extend from the Great Sea to the Euphrates River.

ULT And I will set his hand on the sea and his right hand on the rivers
UST I will make his realm extend from the Great Sea to the Euphrates River
(וְשַׂמְתִּי בַיָּם יָדוֹ וּבַנְּהָרוֹת יְמִינוֹ)

Here, hand and right hand represent the power or dominion of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And I will give him dominion over the sea and authority over the rivers]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT And I will set his hand on the sea and his right hand on the rivers
UST I will make his realm extend from the Great Sea to the Euphrates River
(וְשַׂמְתִּי בַיָּם יָדוֹ וּבַנְּהָרוֹת יְמִינוֹ)

Here God is speaking as if David would physically place his hands on the sea and rivers to claim them. God means that David's rule will extend across a vast territory. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And his rule will extend from the sea to the rivers] or [And he will rule over the land from the Mediterranean Sea to the Euphrates River]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And I will set	I will make & extend on the sea	from the Great Sea

Psalms 89:26

ULT	UST
He, he will call to me, ‘You {are} my Father, my God and the rock of my salvation.’	He will call out to me, ‘You are my Father; you are my God, the one who protects me and saves me!’

ULT He, he will call to me, ‘You {are} my Father, my God and the rock of my salvation
UST He will call out to me, ‘You are my Father; you are my God, the one who protects me and saves me (הוּא יִקְרָאֵנִי אָבִי אָתָּה אֵלִי וְצוּר יְשׁוּעָתִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this as an indirect quotation. Alternate translation: [He will call to me that I am his Father, his God, and the rock of his salvation]

Support Reference: Direct and Indirect Quotations

ULT He, he will call to me
UST He will call out to me
(הוּא יִקְרָאֵנִי)

God is stating the pronoun He separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that his chosen one is the one who will name God as his father. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [My chosen one will call to me]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT and the rock of my salvation
UST the one who protects me and saves me
(וְצוּר יְשׁוּעָתִי)

Here God is speaking as if he were a rock that provides stability and protection. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the one who saves and protects me] or [my strong savior]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and the rock of my salvation
> UST the one who protects me and saves me
> (וְצוּר יְשׁוּעָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and the rock who saves me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he will call to me	will call out to me
my Father	are my Father
my God	are my God
my salvation	and saves me

Psalms 89:27

ULT	UST
And I, I will make him the firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth.	For my part, I will treat him as if he were my firstborn son, and I will make him the greatest of all the kings on the earth.

ULT And I, I will make him the firstborn
UST For my part, I will treat him as if he were my firstborn son, and I will make him
(אַף־אֲנִי בְּכוֹר אֶתְּנֵהוּ)

God is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he is the one who will personally exalt David in response to David's faithfulness. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [Indeed, I will make him]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT I will make him the firstborn
UST will treat him as if he were my firstborn son, and I will make him
(בְּכוֹר אֶתְּנֵהוּ)

Here God is speaking of David's privileged status as if he were a firstborn son, who holds the most honored position in the family. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will give him the highest honor] or [I will give him the privileges of a firstborn son]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the firstborn	as if he were my firstborn son
the kings of	all the kings on
the earth	the earth

Psalms 89:28

ULT	UST
I will keep my covenant faithfulness for him forever, and my covenant will be confirmed to him.	I will always love him faithfully, and I will always honor my covenant with him.

ULT I will keep my covenant faithfulness for him forever
UST I will always love him faithfully
(לְעוֹלָם אשמור־לוֹ חַסְדִּי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I will always be loyally faithful to him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will keep	I will & love
my covenant faithfulness	faithfully
my covenant faithfulness	faithfully
forever	always
and my covenant	and & my covenant
will be confirmed	I will always honor

Psalms 89:29

ULT	UST
And I will set up his seed forever and his throne like the days of the heavens.	I will make sure that his descendants always rule as kings, so that his dynasty lasts as long as the sky exists.

ULT And I will set up his seed forever
UST I will make sure that his descendants always rule as kings
(וְשַׂמְתִּי לָעַד זַרְעוֹ)

Here God is speaking of David's descendants as if they were seed. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will establish his descendants forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and his throne like the days of the heavens
UST so that his dynasty lasts as long as the sky exists
(וְכִסְאוֹ כִּימֵי שָׁמָיִם)

The point of this comparison is that just as the days of the heavens endure without end, so will his throne endure. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and his throne will last as long as the heavens endure]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and his throne
UST so that his dynasty
(וְכִסְאוֹ)

Here, throne represents royal authority and the right to rule. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and his royal authority]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And I will set up	I will make sure that & rule as kings
his seed	his descendants
forever	always
and his throne	so that his dynasty
the heavens	the sky

Psalms 89:30

ULT	UST
If his sons forsake my law and they do not walk in my judgments,	However, if his descendants disobey my instructions and do not live according to what I have decreed,

ULT If his sons forsake my law
UST However, if his descendants disobey my instructions
(אִם־יַֽעַזְבוּ֥ בָנָ֗יו תּוֹרָתִ֫י)

Here, If his sons forsake my law introduces a possible condition. God will only do the things in the following verse if this condition happens. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a condition that could happen.

Support Reference: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

ULT and they do not walk in my judgments
UST and do not live according to what I have decreed (וּבְמִשְׁפָּטַ֥י לֹ֗א יֵלֵכֽוּן)

Here God is speaking as if people who obey his commands were walking along a path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [do not live according to my decrees] or [do not obey my rules]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT If his sons forsake my law and they do not walk in my judgments
UST However, if his descendants disobey my instructions and do not live according to what I have decreed
(אִם־יַֽעַזְבוּ֥ בָנָ֗יו תּוֹרָתִ֫י וּבְמִשְׁפָּטַ֥י לֹ֗א יֵלֵכֽוּן)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [If his sons completely reject and disobey my commandments]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT If his sons forsake my law and they do not walk in my judgments
UST However, if his descendants disobey my instructions and do not live according to what I have decreed
(אִם־יַֽעַזְבוּ֥ בָנָ֗יו תּוֹרָתִ֫י וּבְמִשְׁפָּטַ֥י לֹ֗א יֵלֵכֽוּן)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of law and judgments, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [If his sons forsake what I have taught them and do not walk in the way that I have told them to live]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forsake	disobey
my law	my instructions
and & in my judgments	and & according to what I have decreed

Psalms 89:31

ULT	UST
if they profane my statutes and they do not keep my commandments,	if they treat my decrees as something they can ignore, and if they do not obey my commands,

ULT if they profane my statutes and they do not keep my commandments
UST if they treat my decrees as something they can ignore, and if they do not obey my commands
(אִם־חֻקֹּתַי יְחַלֵּלוּ וּמִצְוֹתַי לֹא יִשְׁמֹרוּ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of statutes and commandments, you could express the same ideas in other ways.
Alternate translation: [if they profane the rules I have established and they do not do the things I have commanded them to do]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they profane	they treat & as something they can ignore
my statutes	my decrees

Psalms 89:32

ULT	UST
then I will punish their transgression with a rod and their iniquity with blows.	then I will punish them to correct them because of the wrong things they have done as if I were hitting them with a rod.

ULT then I will punish
UST then I will punish them to correct them
(וּפָקַדְתִּי)

This verse introduces the consequence of the condition proposed in the previous verse. Use a natural form in your language for introducing the consequence of this possible condition. Alternate translation: [then I will visit]

Support Reference: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

ULT then I will punish their transgression with a rod
UST then I will punish them to correct them because of the wrong things they have done as if I were hitting them with a rod
(וּפָקַדְתִּי בְשֵׁבֶט פִּשְׁעָם)

Here, rod represents guiding, protecting, and directing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will discipline them for their transgression]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT then I will punish their transgression with a rod and their iniquity with blows
UST then I will punish them to correct them because of the wrong things they have done as if I were hitting them with a rod
(וּפָקַדְתִּי בְשֵׁבֶט פִּשְׁעָם וּבִנְגָעִים עֲוֹנָם)

God is using this possessive forms, their transgression and their iniquity, to assign to them the ownership of their behaviors. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [then I will punish the transgression they commit with a rod and the iniquity they commit with blows]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT then I will punish their transgression with a rod and their iniquity with blows

UST then I will punish them to correct them because of the wrong things they have done as if I were hitting them with a rod

(וּפָקַדְתִּי בְשֵׁבֶט פִּשְׁעָם וּבִנְגָעִים עֲוֹנָם)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of transgression and iniquity, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [then I will punish the ways they have rebelled with a rod and the wrong they have done with blows]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
then I will punish	then I will punish them to correct them
their transgression	because of the wrong things they have done with a rod	as if I were hitting them with a rod their iniquity	because of the wrong things they have done

Psalms 89:33

ULT	UST
But my covenant faithfulness I will not break off from him, and I will not deal falsely in my faithfulness.	But I will not stop faithfully loving David; I will not fail to do what I promised {for his descendants}.

ULT But my covenant faithfulness
UST faithfully loving (וַחַסְדִּ֑י)

God uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between the punishment he will bring in the previous verse and the loyal love he will not withdraw. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Nonetheless, my covenant faithfulness]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT But my covenant faithfulness I will not break off from him, and I will not deal falsely in my faithfulness
UST But I will not stop faithfully loving David; I will not fail to do what I promised {for his descendants
(וַחַסְדִּ֥י לֹֽא־אָפִ֗יר מֵֽעִמּ֑וֹ וְלֹֽא־אֲשַׁקֶּ֖ר בֶּאֱמוּנָתִֽי)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [But I will not stop being loyally faithful to him, and I will not be unfaithful to what I promised]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But my covenant faithfulness	faithfully loving
But my covenant faithfulness	faithfully loving
in my faithfulness	what I promised {for his descendants

Psalms 89:34

ULT	UST
I will not profane my covenant, and I will not change the utterance of my lips	I will not break my covenant; no, I will not take back what I said.

ULT and I will not change the utterance of my lips
UST no, I will not take back what I said
(וּמוֹצָא שְׂפָתַי לֹא אֲשַׁנֶּה)

Here, the utterance of my lips represents what God has spoken. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and I will not change what I have spoken]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and I will not change the utterance of my lips
UST no, I will not take back what I said
(וּמוֹצָא שְׂפָתַי לֹא אֲשַׁנֶּה)

God is using the possessive form to describe what his lips have produced as speech. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and I will not change my words]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will & profane	I will & break
my covenant	my covenant

Psalms 89:35

ULT	UST
Once I have sworn by my holiness, ‘If I should lie to David!	I guaranteed my promise to David by my own holy character. I said that I was not lying to him, and I meant it.

ULT by my holiness
UST by my own holy character
(בְּקָדְשִׁי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [by my holy character]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT If I should lie to David
UST to David & I said that I was not lying to him
(אִם־לְדָוִד אֲכַזֵּב)

Following the custom of the culture, God is swearing an oath by stating the first part of a condition (‘if’) but not the second part (‘then’). If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explicitly state the second part of this condition. Alternate translation: [I will certainly not lie to David!]

Support Reference: Connect — Hypothetical Conditions

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have sworn	I guaranteed my promise
by my holiness	by my own holy character
I should lie	I said that I was & lying to him
to David	to David

Psalms 89:36

ULT	UST
His seed will be forever, and his throne, like the sun before me.	I promised solemnly that his descendants would rule as kings forever. Yes, I said that I would preserve his dynasty just as I have made the sun to shine in the sky always.

ULT His seed will be forever
UST I promised solemnly that his descendants would rule as kings forever
(זַרְעוֹ לְעוֹלָם יִהְיֶה)

Here God is speaking of descendants as if they were seed. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His descendants will be forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and his throne, like the sun before me
UST Yes, I said that I would preserve his dynasty just as I have made the sun to shine in the sky always (וְכִסְאוֹ כַּשֶּׁמֶשׁ נֶגְדִּי)

The point of this comparison is that just as the sun is enduring and permanent, so is his throne. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [his throne will endure permanently like the sun before me]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT His seed will be forever, and his throne, like the sun before me
UST I promised solemnly that his descendants would rule as kings forever. Yes, I said that I would preserve his dynasty just as I have made the sun to shine in the sky always (זַרְעוֹ לְעוֹלָם יִהְיֶה וְכִסְאוֹ כַּשֶּׁמֶשׁ נֶגְדִּי)

God is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [His seed will be forever, and his throne will be forever, like the sun before me]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
His seed	I promised solemnly that his descendants
forever	forever
and his throne	Yes, I said that I would preserve his dynasty

Psalms 89:37

ULT	UST
It will be established forever like the moon, yes, the attested witness in the sky.’” Selah	The moon appears in the sky dependably each month, and in the same way, David’s dynasty will always endure.” Selah

ULT It will be established forever like the moon
UST The moon & and in the same way, David’s dynasty will always endure
(כְּיָרֵחַ יִכּוֹן עוֹלָם)

The point of this comparison is that just as the moon is permanent and enduring, so is the dynasty of David. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [I will establish it forever, as permanent as the moon]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT It will be established
UST David’s dynasty will & endure
(יִכּוֹן)

The expression It will be established is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [I will establish it]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT yes, the attested witness in the sky
UST appears in the sky dependably each month
(וְעֵד בַּשַּׁחַק נֶאֱמָן)

Here God is speaking of the moon as if it were the attested witness in the sky, as though it testifies to the permanence of his covenant. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [which is a faithful sign in the sky]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
It will be established	David’s dynasty will & endure
forever	always
attested	dependably each month
yes, the & witness	appears
in the sky	in the sky
Selah	Selah

Psalms 89:38

ULT	UST
But you, you have rejected and spurned; you have passed yourself over from your anointed one.	Yet now it appears that you have completely rejected David's descendant who was our king. It appears that you have abandoned him.

ULT But you, you have rejected
UST Yet now it appears that you have completely rejected
(וְאַתָּה זָנַחְתָּ)

Ethan is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize the sharp contrast between God's promises and his present actions. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [But you yourself have rejected]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT But you, you have rejected
UST Yet now it appears that you have completely rejected
(וְאַתָּה זָנַחְתָּ)

Ethan uses the word But here to indicate a contrast between God's covenant promises in the previous verses and his present treatment of the anointed king. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language.

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT you have rejected and spurned
UST have completely rejected
(זָנַחְתָּ וַתִּמְאָס)

The terms rejected and spurned mean similar things. Ethan is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [you have completely rejected]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you have rejected	have completely rejected
your anointed one	David's descendant who was our king & him

Psalms 89:39

ULT	UST
You have voided the covenant of your servant; you have profaned his crown to the ground.	It seems as though you are disregarding the covenant you made with David. You have allowed his dynasty to end, as if you had not promised to preserve it.

ULT the covenant of your servant
UST the covenant you made with David (בְּרִית עַבְדֶּךָ)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe the covenant that God made with his servant. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [covenant you made with your servant]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT you have profaned his crown to the ground
UST You have allowed his dynasty to end, as if you had not promised to preserve it
(חִלַּלְתָּ לָאָרֶץ נִזְרוֹ)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God had thrown the king's crown to the ground, treating his royal dignity as something that could be physically cast down. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you have completely dishonored his royal dignity]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the covenant of	the covenant you made with your servant	David
you have profaned	You have allowed & to end, as if you had not promised to preserve it
his crown	his dynasty

Psalms 89:40

ULT	UST
You have broken down all of his walls; you have made his fortifications a ruin.	You have allowed enemies to break down all the walls that protected his city {of Jerusalem}. It had strong defenses, but you have allowed those enemies to reduce them to ruins.

ULT You have broken down all of his walls; you have made his fortifications a ruin

UST You have allowed enemies to break down all the walls that protected his city {of Jerusalem}. It had strong defenses, but you have allowed those enemies to reduce them to ruins

(פָּרַצְתָּ כָל־גְּדֵרֹתָיו שַׂמְתָּ מִבְצָרָיו מְחִתָּה)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God had literally destroyed walls and fortifications, though he may be referring to the king's defenses and protections more broadly. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You have removed all of his protections; you have let his defenses fall apart]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his fortifications	It had strong defenses
a ruin	to ruins

Psalms 89:41

ULT	UST
All of the passers of the way plunder him; he has become a reproach to his neighbors.	Now people can come along and steal the things that remain in the city. People in the surrounding countries are ridiculing us Israelites.

ULT All of the passers of the way plunder him; he has become a reproach to his neighbors

UST Now people can come along and steal the things that remain in the city. People in the surrounding countries are ridiculing us Israelites
(שַׁסֻּהוּ כָּל־עֹבְרֵי דָּרֶךְ הָיָה חֶרְפָּה לִשְׁכֵנָיו)

Here, plunder him represents plundering the people who live in the city of Jerusalem. Here, the current anointed king is most likely representing the people of Israel over whom he rules. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language.

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT he has become a reproach to his neighbors

UST People in the surrounding countries are ridiculing us Israelites (הָיָה חֶרְפָּה לִשְׁכֵנָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he has become someone whom his neighbors ridicule]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
plunder him	and steal the things that remain in the city
a reproach	are ridiculing us Israelites to his neighbors	People in the surrounding countries

Psalms 89:42

ULT	UST
You have raised up the right hand of his adversaries; you have made all of his enemies rejoice.	You have allowed our enemies to become strong, and they are celebrating how they have defeated us.

ULT the right hand of his adversaries
UST You have allowed our enemies to become strong (יְמִין צָרָיו)

Here, the right hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the power of his adversaries]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his adversaries	our enemies
his enemies	they
you have made & rejoice	and & are celebrating how they have defeated us

Psalms 89:43

ULT	UST
You have also turned back the edge of his sword, and you have not made him stand in battle.	Our armies have had to retreat from battles because you have not helped us when we fight.

> ULT the edge of his sword
> UST Our armies & from battles
> (צוּר חַרְבּוֹ)

Here, the edge of his sword represents his military capability. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the effectiveness of his sword]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT the edge of his sword
> UST Our armies & from battles
> (צוּר חַרְבּוֹ)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe the edge that is part of the sword. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his sharp sword]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his sword	Our armies & from battles

Psalms 89:44

ULT	UST
You have made his splendor cease, and you have cast his throne to the ground.	Our kingdom is no longer glorious, and we no longer have a king.

ULT You have made his splendor cease
UST Our kingdom is no longer glorious (הִשְׁבַּתָּ מִטְּהָרֹו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of splendor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [You have made him no longer splendid]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and you have cast his throne to the ground
UST and we no longer have a king
(וְכִסְאֹו לָאָרֶץ מִגַּרְתָּה)

Here, throne represents the king's royal authority. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and you have taken away his royal authority]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his splendor	Our kingdom & glorious and & his throne	a king

Psalms 89:45

ULT	UST
You have shortened the days of his youth; you have covered him over with shame. Selah	We are no longer strong, as young men are. This has disgraced us completely. Selah

ULT You have shortened the days of his youth
UST We are no longer strong, as young men are (הִקְצַרְתָּ יְמֵי עֲלוּמָיו)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God had physically shortened a period of time. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You have cut short his time of youthful vigor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the days of his youth
UST as young men are
(יְמֵי עֲלוּמָיו)

Here, the days represent the time period of his youth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the time of his youth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the days of his youth
UST as young men are
(יְמֵי עֲלוּמָיו)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe the days during which he was young. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the days when he was young]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the days of his youth
UST as young men are
(יְמֵי עֲלוּמָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of youth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the time when he was young]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT you have covered him over with shame
> UST This has disgraced us completely
> (הָעֵטִ֣יתָ עָלֵ֣יו בוּשָׁ֑ה)

Here Ethan is speaking as if shame were a garment with which God had covered the king. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you have caused him to be thoroughly ashamed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT with shame
> UST This has disgraced
> (בוּשָׁ֑ה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of shame, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with what is shameful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with shame	This has disgraced
Selah	Selah

Psalms 89:46

ULT	UST
Until when, Yahweh? Will you hide yourself forever? Will your wrath burn like fire?	Yahweh, please help us, and do not delay! Do not keep neglecting us! Do not keep being so angry with us!

ULT Until when, Yahweh? Will you hide yourself forever
UST Yahweh, please help us, and do not delay! Do not keep neglecting us (עַד־מָ֣ה יְ֭הוָה תִּסָּתֵ֣ר לָנֶ֑צַח)

Ethan is using the question form to express his grief and impatience at God's prolonged withdrawal. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, this has gone on too long! You must not hide yourself forever.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Will you hide yourself
UST Do not & neglecting us
(תִּסָּתֵ֣ר)

Here Ethan is speaking as if God would physically hide himself, though he means that God has withdrawn his favor and presence. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Will you withhold your favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Will your wrath burn like fire
UST Do not keep being so angry with us
(תִּבְעַ֖ר כְּמוֹ־אֵ֣שׁ חֲמָתֶֽךָ)

The point of this comparison is that just as fire consumes intensely, so does God's wrath consume. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [Will your wrath consume us intensely like fire]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT Will your wrath burn like fire
UST Do not keep being so angry with us
(תִּבְעַ֖ר כְּמוֹ־אֵ֣שׁ חֲמָתֶֽךָ)

Ethan is using the question form to express his distress at God's ongoing anger. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Your wrath burns like fire!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT your wrath
> UST Do not keep being & angry with us
> (חֲמָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wrath, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how angry you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
forever	keep
your wrath	Do not keep being & angry with us

Psalms 89:47

ULT	UST
Remember me, what life {is}, for what emptiness you created all of the sons of man.	Please remember how short human lives are! Please remember that you created us human beings as mere mortals!

ULT Remember me, what life {is
UST Please remember how short human lives are! Please remember that (זְכָר־אֲנִי מֶה־חָלֶד)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as ‘please’ to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please remember me, what life is]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Remember me, what life {is}, for what emptiness you created all of the sons of man
UST Please remember how short human lives are! Please remember that you created us human beings as mere mortals
(זְכָר־אֲנִי מֶה־חָלֶד עַל־מַה־שֹּׁוְא בָּרָאתָ כָל־בְּנֵי־אָדָם)

Ethan is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling, grief at the brevity and futility of human life. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Please remember that we human beings are mere mortals!]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT for what emptiness
UST as mere mortals
(עַל־מַה־שֹּׁוְא)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of emptiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with what mortality]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT all of the sons of man
> UST us human beings
> (כָּל־בְּנֵי־אָדָם)

The psalmist is using sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “human beings.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all of humanity]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you created	you created

Psalms 89:48

ULT	UST
What man will live and not see death, will deliver his soul from the hand of Sheol? Selah	No one can live forever and never die; everyone must go to the place where dead people are. Selah

ULT will live and not see death, will deliver his soul from the hand of Sheol
UST can live & and never die; everyone must go to the place where dead people are (יֶחְיֶה וְלֹא יִרְאֶה־מָּוֶת יְמַלֵּט נַפְשׁוֹ מִיַּד־שְׁאוֹל)

See how your translation team has decided to represent pairs of phrases in Hebrew poetry that mean basically the same thing. Alternate translation: [will live forever, escaping death and Sheol]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT What man will live and not see death, will deliver his soul from the hand of Sheol
UST No one can live forever and never die; everyone must go to the place where dead people are (מִי גֶבֶר יֶחְיֶה וְלֹא יִרְאֶה־מָּוֶת יְמַלֵּט נַפְשׁוֹ מִיַּד־שְׁאוֹל)

Ethan is using the question form to assert that no one can avoid death. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [No man will live and not see death or deliver his soul from the hand of Sheol.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT What man
UST No one & forever
(מִי גֶבֶר)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [What person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT and not see death
> UST and never die
> (וְלֹא יִרְאֶה־שָּׁחַת)

Here Ethan is speaking of dying as if it were to see death. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and not experience dying]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and not see death
> UST and never die
> (וְלֹא יִרְאֶה־שָּׁחַת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of death, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and not see himself dying]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT from the hand of Sheol
> UST must go to the place where dead people are > (מִיַּד־שְׁאוֹל)

Here, hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the power of Sheol]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will deliver	must go
his soul	everyone
Sheol	to the place where dead people are
Selah	Selah

Psalms 89:49

ULT	UST
Where {are} your former covenant faithfulnesses, Lord, {which} you swore to David in your faithfulness?	Lord, you promised David that you would faithfully love us Israelites, and you did. You always keep your promises{, so please help us}!

ULT Where {are} your former covenant faithfulnesses, Lord, {which} you swore to David in your faithfulness
UST Lord, you promised David that you would faithfully love us Israelites, and you did. You always keep your promises{, so please help us
(אֵיֵּה ׀ חֲסָדֶיךָ הָרִאשֹׁנִים ׀ אֲדֹנָי נִשְׁבַּעְתָּ לְדָוִד בֶּאֱמוּנָתֶךָ)

Ethan is using the question form to express his grief and to accuse God of failing to act on his promises. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Lord, your former covenant faithfulnesses are nowhere to be seen, the ones which you swore to David in your faithfulness!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Where {are} your former covenant faithfulnesses, Lord, {which} you swore to David in your faithfulness
UST Lord, you promised David that you would faithfully love us Israelites, and you did. You always keep your promises{, so please help us
(אֵיֵּה ׀ חֲסָדֶיךָ הָרִאשֹׁנִים ׀ אֲדֹנָי נִשְׁבַּעְתָּ לְדָוִד בֶּאֱמוּנָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulnesses and faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [Where are the ways you were formerly faithful to your covenant, Lord, that you faithfully swore to David]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} your & covenant faithfulnesses	that you would faithfully love us Israelites
are} your & covenant faithfulnesses	that you would faithfully love us Israelites
Lord	Lord
which} you swore to	you promised
David	David
in your faithfulness	You always keep your promises

Psalms 89:50

ULT	UST
Remember, Lord, the reproach of your servants; my carrying in my bosom all of many peoples	Lord, consider the insulting things that many people are saying about us who loyally obey you! I deeply feel the pain of all those insults.

ULT Remember, Lord, the reproach of your servants
UST Lord, consider the insulting things that & are saying about us who loyally obey you & those insults
(זְכֹר אֲדֹנָי חֶרְפַּת עֲבָדֶיךָ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as 'please' to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please remember, Lord, the reproach of your servants]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the reproach of your servants
UST the insulting things that & are saying about us who loyally obey you & those insults
(חֶרְפַּת עֲבָדֶיךָ)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe the reproach that is directed against God's servants. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how people reproach your servants]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the reproach of
UST the insulting things that & are saying about & those insults
(חֶרְפַּת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how people reproach]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my carrying in my bosom
UST I deeply feel the pain of (שְׂאֵתִי בְחֵיקִי)

Ethan shifts from the plural your servants to the singular my because he is now speaking of his own personal experience of bearing the insults. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could make this shift explicit. Alternate translation: [how I carry in my heart]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in my bosom
UST I deeply feel the pain of (בְחֵיקִי)

Here, in my bosom represents bearing a heavy burden personally and intimately. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [within myself]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord	Lord
the reproach of	the insulting things that & are saying about & those insults
your servants	us who loyally obey you my carrying	I deeply feel the pain of

Psalms 89:51

ULT	UST
with which your enemies have taunted, Yahweh, with which they have taunted the footsteps of your anointed.	Yahweh, do something to stop your enemies from mocking the actions of the king you appointed.

ULT the footsteps of your anointed
UST the actions of the king you appointed
(עִקְּבוֹת מְשִׁיחֶךָ)

Here, the footsteps represent everywhere the anointed king goes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your anointed wherever he goes]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the footsteps of your anointed
UST the actions of the king you appointed
(עִקְּבוֹת מְשִׁיחֶךָ)

Ethan is using the possessive form to describe the footsteps that belong to God's anointed king. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [wherever your anointed goes]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your enemies	do something to stop your enemies
Yahweh	Yahweh
your anointed	the king you appointed

Psalms 89:52

ULT	UST
Blessed {be} Yahweh forever! Amen and amen.	May people always bless Yahweh! Amen! Yes, amen!

ULT Blessed {be} Yahweh
UST May people & bless Yahweh
(בָּרוּךְ יְהוָה)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise Yahweh. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [We bless Yahweh] or [Let us praise Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Amen and amen
UST Amen! Yes, amen
(אָמֵן ׀ וְאָמֵן)

Ethan is repeating the word Amen for emphasis as a way of concluding Book 3 of Psalms (73–89). If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [May it certainly be so!]

Support Reference: Poetry

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed	May people & bless
be} Yahweh	Yahweh
forever	always
Amen	Amen
and amen	Yes, amen

Psalms 89:front

> ULT A maskil
> UST this song
> (מַשְׂכִּיל)

The superscription to this psalm identifies it as a maskil. Since the meaning of this word is not certain, you may wish to represent it in its Hebrew form and spell it the way it sounds in your language. See the discussion of that term in the Introduction to Psalms.

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

Psalms 90

Psalms 90 Introduction

Psalm 90 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 90 is a “wisdom psalm.” It instructs people how to be wise by honoring Yahweh and obeying him. (See the discussion of the types of psalms in the Introduction to Psalms.)

This psalm is a poem, the words to a song, and so the ULT sets its lines farther to the right on the page than ordinary text in order to show that they are poetry.

1. God’s eternity and human mortality (1–6)
2. People perish when God punishes them for sin (7–12)
3. A prayer for God’s mercy and favor (13–17)

The first part of verse 1, “A prayer of Moses, the man of God,” is the superscription to this psalm. Format it in the way that you have decided to format the other superscriptions in the book of Psalms.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Singular “you” and “your”

The pronouns “you” and “your” are singular throughout this psalm because Moses is addressing Yahweh directly. So use the singular forms of those pronouns in your translation if your language marks a distinction between singular and plural “you.”

Exclusive “we,” “us,” and “our”

The pronouns “we,” “us,” and “our” are exclusive throughout this psalm because Moses is speaking to Yahweh on behalf of the Israelites. So use the exclusive forms of those pronouns in your translation if your language marks that distinction.

Psalms 90:1

ULT	UST
Lord, you have been a habitation to us in generation and generation.	Lord, you have been like a home for us throughout our generations.

ULT you have been a habitation to us
UST you have been like a home for us
(מָעוֹן אַתָּה הָיִיתָ לָּנוּ)

Moses is speaking as if God were actually a habitation or place for the Israelites to live. He means that God has protected the Israelites, just as the walls of a home provide shelter. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you have protected us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you
UST you
(אַתָּה)

As the introduction to this psalm discusses, the pronoun you is singular here and throughout the psalm because Moses is addressing Yahweh directly. So use the singular form in your translation if your language marks that distinction.

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

ULT in generation and generation
UST throughout our generations
(בְּדֹר וָדֹר)

Moses is using in generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean "in every generation." If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in every generation] or [throughout all generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lord	Lord
in generation	throughout our generations
and generation	throughout our generations

Psalms 90:2

ULT	UST
Before the mountains were born or you brought forth the earth and the world, even from forever to forever, you {are} God.	Before you created the mountains, before you formed the earth and everything that is in it, you were eternally God, and you will be God forever.

ULT Before the mountains were born or you brought forth the earth and the world
UST Before you created the mountains, before you formed the earth and everything that is in it
(בְּטֶרֶם | הָרִים יֻלָּדוּ וַתְּחוֹלֵל אֶרֶץ וְתֵבֵל)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Consider how you have decided as a translation team to represent Hebrew poetry in your translation, here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [Before you created anything at all on the earth]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Before the mountains were born or you brought forth the earth and the world
UST Before you created the mountains, before you formed the earth and everything that is in it
(בְּטֶרֶם | הָרִים יֻלָּדוּ וַתְּחוֹלֵל אֶרֶץ וְתֵבֵל)

Moses is speaking as if the mountains on earth had actually been born and as if God had actually brought forth, that is, given birth to, the earth and the world. He means that God created these things. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Before you created the mountains or formed the earth and the world]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the earth and the world
UST the earth and everything that is in it
(אֶרֶץ וְתֵבֵל)

The terms earth and world mean similar things. Moses is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [the entire earth]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT even from forever to forever
> UST you were eternally God, and & forever
> (וּמֵעוֹלָם עַד־עוֹלָם)

Moses is referring to all of time by naming two extremes, eternity past and eternity future. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [throughout all of time]

Support Reference: Merism

> ULT you {are} God
> UST you will be God
> (אַתָּה אֵל)

As the ULT indicates by using brackets, the verb here is understood, so translators must decide what tense best fits the context. It would be conventional in many languages to use the past tense when describing something that was true a long time ago, so many languages might ordinarily say “you were God.” But Moses means that Yahweh was God long ago, that he is God now, and that he will continue to be God forever into the future. To convey this, the ULT uses the present tense, saying you are God. Decide what tense would best convey the meaning in your own language.

Support Reference: Irregular Use of Tenses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the earth	the earth
and the world	and everything that is in it even from forever	you were eternally God, and & forever
forever	you were eternally God, and & forever
are} God	will be God

Psalms 90:3

ULT	UST
You cause man to return to dust, and you say, “Return, sons of man.”	{When people die,} you cause their corpses to become soil again; you change their corpses to become dirt like that from which {the first} man was created.

ULT You cause man to return to dust, and you say, “Return, sons of man
UST When people die,} you cause their corpses to become soil again; you change their corpses to become dirt like that from which {the first} man was created
(תָּשֵׁב אֱנוֹשׁ עַד־דַּכָּא וַתֹּאמֶר שׁוּבוּ בְנֵי־אָדָם)

Moses is describing one event, man returning to dust, before describing another event that preceded it, God telling him to do that. If it would be helpful your language, you may wish to relate these events in the order in which they happened. Alternate translation: [You say, “Return, sons of man,” and you cause man to return to dust]

Support Reference: Order of Events

ULT man
UST their corpses
(אֱנוֹשׁ)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT You cause man to return to dust & Return
UST When people die,} you cause their corpses to become soil again; you change their corpses to become (תָּשֵׁב אֱנוֹשׁ עַד־דַּכָּא & שׁוּבוּ)

Moses is using the expression return to dust to mean “die.” It is an allusion to the way that God formed the first man from the dust of the ground, as described in Genesis 2:7. This is one of several mild or poetic ways in which Moses refers to death in this psalm. Your language may have a similar expression that you can use here in your translation. You could also use plain language. Alternate translation: [You cause people to pass away… Pass away] or [You cause people to die … It is time for you to die]

Support Reference: Euphemism

> ULT sons of man
> UST dirt like that from which {the first} man was created > (בְּנֵי־אָדָם)

The psalmist is using sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “human beings.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [human beings]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 90:4

ULT	UST
For a thousand years in your eyes {are} like the day before when it has passed, and a watch in the night.	When you consider time, a thousand years are {as short as} one day that passes; you consider that they are {as short as} a few hours in the night.

ULT For
UST When
(כִּ֤י)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an affirmation. Alternate translation: [Indeed]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT in your eyes
UST you consider time
(בְּעֵינֶ֗יךָ)

Moses is using the common expression of his culture in your eyes to mean “in your perspective.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in your perspective]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT are} like the day before when it has passed, and a watch in the night
UST are {as short as} one day that passes; you consider that they are {as short as} a few hours in the night
(כְּי֣וֹם אֶתְמ֣וֹל כִּ֣י יַעֲבֹ֑ר וְאַשְׁמוּרָ֥ה בַלָּֽיְלָה)

The point of these comparisons is that both of the times that Moses mentions seem very short to people: the day before, once it is over, and a watch in the night that lasts only a few hours. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [seem very short, like yesterday, when it is over, or like a three-hour watch in the night]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
years	years
and a watch	you consider that they are {as short as} a few hours

Psalms 90:5

ULT	UST
You flood them away—they are sleep; in the morning, like grass, it passes along.	You cause people to die suddenly; they live {only a short time} as a dream lasts {only a short time}. They are like grass in the morning that comes and goes.

ULT You flood them away
UST You cause people to die suddenly
(זֶרֶמְתָּם)

The pronoun them refers to people, that is, to the “sons of man” whom Moses mentions in verse 3, not to the “thousand years” that he mentions in verse 4. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [You flood people away]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT You flood them away
UST You cause people to die suddenly
(זֶרֶמְתָּם)

Moses is speaking as if God actually used a flood of water to sweep people away from the earth. He is using the image to convey the idea that God may cause people to die suddenly, unexpectedly, and with no recourse. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You bring people’s lives to a swift end]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT they are sleep
UST they live {only a short time} as a dream lasts {only a short time
(שֵׁנָה יִהְיוּ)

Moses is speaking as if people were actually sleep. This could mean: (1) that Moses is using the term sleep as a mild way of referring to death. Alternate translation: [then they are dead] or (2) that Moses is illustrating the brevity of human life by comparing it to sleep that lasts only a few hours and then is over. Alternate translation: [their lives are short, like a few hours of sleep that soon end]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT like grass, it passes along
> UST They are like grass & that comes and goes
> (כָּחָצִיר יַחֲלֹף)

The pronoun it refers to the life of a human being as compared to grass. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [like grass, a person's life passes along]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT like grass, it passes along
> UST They are like grass & that comes and goes
> (כָּחָצִיר יַחֲלֹף)

The point of this comparison is that just as grass passes along through its brief cycle of life, so human life lasts for only a short time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [A person's life is short, like grass that quickly passes along]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You flood them away	You cause people to die suddenly

Psalms 90:6

ULT	UST
In the morning it sprouts and passes along; in the evening it withers and dries up.	In the morning the grass sprouts and develops, then in the evening it dries up and completely withers.

ULT In the morning it sprouts and passes along; in the evening it withers and dries up

UST In the morning the grass sprouts and develops, then in the evening it dries up and completely withers

(בַּבֹּקֶר יָצִיץ וְחָלָף לָעֶרֶב יְמוֹלָל וְיָבֵשׁ)

Moses says that grass lives for only a single day, lasting only from morning to evening, as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [Grass blossoms and grows for only a short time; very soon it withers and dries up]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT it withers and dries up

UST it dries up and completely withers

(יְמוֹלָל וְיָבֵשׁ)

The terms withers and dries up mean similar things. Moses is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [it dries up completely]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and dries up	and completely withers

Psalms 90:7

ULT	UST
For by your nose, we perish, and by your wrath we are terrified.	Similarly, {because of the sins that we commit,} you become angry with us; you terrify us and then you destroy us.

ULT For by your nose, we perish, and by your wrath we are terrified
UST Similarly, {because of the sins that we commit,} you become angry with us; you terrify us and then you destroy us
(כִּי־כָלִינוּ בְאַפֶּךָ וּבַחֲמָתְךָ נִבְהָלְנוּ)

Moses is referring to God's nose as a common expression of his culture to mean God's anger. Your language and culture may also associate anger with a particular part of the body. If so, in your translation you could use an expression involving that part of the body. You could also use plain language. Alternate translation: [by your anger we perish, and by your wrath we are terrified]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT For by your nose, we perish, and by your wrath we are terrified
UST Similarly, {because of the sins that we commit,} you become angry with us; you terrify us and then you destroy us
(כִּי־כָלִינוּ בְאַפֶּךָ וּבַחֲמָתְךָ נִבְהָלְנוּ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to reverse the order of the phrases, since people would first be terrified by God's wrath and then they would perish when he destroyed them in his anger. Alternate translation: [by your wrath we are terrified, and by your anger we perish]

Support Reference: Order of Events

ULT and by your wrath we are terrified
UST because of the sins that we commit,} you become angry with us; you terrify us
(וּבַחֲמָתְךָ נִבְהָלְנוּ)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and your wrath terrifies us]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
we perish	and then you destroy us
and by your wrath	because of the sins that we commit,} you become angry with us
we are terrified	you terrify us

Psalms 90:8

ULT	UST
You have set our iniquities before you, our hidden {sin} in the light of your face.	It is as though you place our sins in front of you; spreading out even our secret sins where you can see them.

ULT You have set our iniquities before you, our hidden {sin} in the light of your face

UST It is as though you place our sins in front of you; spreading out even our secret sins where you can see them

(שת עֲוֹנֹתֵינוּ לְנֶגְדֶּךָ עֲלֻמֵּנוּ לִמְאוֹר פָּנֶיךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word to show that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [You have studied our iniquities, yes, you have carefully examined our hidden sin]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT You have set our iniquities before you

UST It is as though you place our sins in front of you

(שת עֲוֹנֹתֵינוּ לְנֶגְדֶּךָ)

Moses is speaking as if God had actually set the iniquities of the Israelites in front of him where he could see them. The idea is that God is paying attention to the wrong things that the Israelites have done, and God is punishing them for doing those things, as the previous verse indicates. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You examine our iniquities]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT our hidden {sin} in the light of your face

UST spreading out even our secret sins where you can see them

(עֲלֻמֵּנוּ לִמְאוֹר פָּנֶיךָ)

Moses is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [yes, you have set our hidden sin in the light of your face]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT our hidden {sin
> UST spreading out even our secret sins
> (עֲלֻמֵנוּ)

The term hidden is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that would be natural in your language. Alternate translation: [our sin that we have hidden]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT in the light of your face
> UST where you can see them
> (לִמְאוֹר פָּנֶיךָ)

Moses is speaking as if there were actually light shining from God's face that allowed him to see clearly what was in front of him. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [where you can clearly see it]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our iniquities	our sins
our hidden {sin	spreading out even our secret sins

Psalms 90:9

ULT	UST
For all of our days turn in your wrath; we end our years like a sigh.	Because you are angry with us, you cause our lives to end; the years that we live pass as quickly as a sigh passes.

ULT all of our days turn
UST you cause our lives to end
(כָּל־יָמֵינוּ פָּנָוּ)

Moses is using our days turn as a common expression of his culture to describe days turning into nights, that is, to describe the light of day fading as evening approaches. If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all of our days fade away] or [all of our days end]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT all of our days turn
UST you cause our lives to end
(כָּל־יָמֵינוּ פָּנָוּ)

Moses is using the parts of a lifetime, the days of which it consists, to mean an entire lifetime. So in this image, he is speaking of a lifetime that consists of many days as if it were a single day. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [our lifetimes fade away] or [our lifetimes end]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT we end our years
UST the years that we live pass as quickly
(כִּלְּינוּ שָׁנֵינוּ)

In this phrase as well, Moses is using the parts of a lifetime, the years of which it consists, to mean an entire lifetime. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [our lives end]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

> ULT like a sigh
> UST as a sigh passes
> (כְּמוֹ־הֶגֶה)

The point of this comparison could be: (1) that just as a sigh is a brief utterance, so people come to the end of their years after only a brief time, Alternate translation: [after only a brief time] or (2) that just as someone might sigh when they are sad, so we end our lives in despair. Alternate translation: [in sadness]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in your wrath	you are angry with us
our years	the years that we live

Psalms 90:10

ULT	UST
The days of our years, in them {are} 70 years, or, if by strength, 80 years but their expanse is trouble and sorrow, for it passes quickly, and we fly away.	People live for {only} seventy years; if they are strong, {some of them live} for eighty years. But throughout our time we have much pain and troubles; our lives soon end, and we die.

ULT The days of our years, in them {are} 70 years
UST People live for {only} seventy years
(יְמֵי־שְׁנוֹתֵ֗ינוּ בָּהֶם֮ שִׁבְעִ֪ים שָׁנָ֫ה)

Moses is using The days of our years as a common expression of his culture to mean “our lifetimes.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [All our born days are 70 years] or [We humans tend to live for 70 years]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT or, if by strength
UST if they are strong
(וְאִם֮ בִּגְבוּרֹ֪ת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [or, if we are strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT it passes quickly
UST our lives soon end
(גָּ֣ז חִ֭ישׁ)

The pronoun it refers to the human lifetime. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [our lifetime passes quickly]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and we fly away
UST and we die
(וְנָעֻ֣פָה)

Moses is referring to death in a poetic way by using the phrase fly away. Depending on what is helpful in your language, you could use a polite or poetic way of referring to this in your language, or you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [and we depart] or [and then we die]

Support Reference: Euphemism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our years	People live for {only
years	years
by strength	they are strong
is trouble	we have much pain

Psalms 90:11

ULT	UST
Who knows the power of your nose, or your wrath according to your fear?	No one has fully experienced the powerful things that you can do to people when you are angry with them, No, people are not adequately afraid of how you can punish them because you are angry with them.

ULT Who knows the power of your nose, or your wrath according to your fear
UST No one has fully experienced the powerful things that you can do to people when you are angry with them, No, people are not adequately afraid of how you can punish them because you are angry with them
(מִ֭י יוֹדֵ֣עַ עֹ֣ז אַפֶּ֑ךָ וּכְיִרְאָתְךָ֥ עֶבְרָתֶֽךָ)

Moses is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Since Moses says “we” and “us” throughout the rest of the psalm, you could say “we” here in your translation. Alternate translation: [We ought to know the power of your anger, and we ought to know your wrath according to your fear!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT your nose
UST when you are angry with them
(אַפֶּ֑ךָ)

See how you translated the term nose in verse 7. Alternate translation: [your anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT or your wrath according to your fear
UST No, people are not adequately afraid of how you can punish them because you are angry with them
(וּכְיִרְאָתְךָ֥ עֶבְרָתֶֽךָ)

Moses is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [or who knows your wrath according to your fear]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT or your wrath according to your fear
> UST No, people are not adequately afraid of how you can punish them because you are angry with them
> (וּכְיִרְאָתְךָ֖ עֶבְרָתֶֽךָ)

Moses is using the possessive form your fear to describe not fear that God has, but fear or reverent respect that people have for God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [or who fears you in a way that accords with your wrath] or [and we ought to fear you in a way that accords with your wrath against sin]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
knows	has fully experienced the power of	the powerful things that you can do to people
your wrath	how you can punish them because you are angry with them or & according to your fear	No, people are not adequately afraid of

Psalms 90:12

ULT	UST
So teach {us} to number our days that we might bring in a heart of wisdom.	So teach us to realize that we live for only a short time in order that we may think wisely {about how we use our time}.

ULT So teach {us} to number our days
UST So teach us to realize that we live for only a short time
(לִמְנוֹת יָמֵינוּ כֵּן הוֹדַע)

Moses is speaking as if he actually wanted God to help the Israelites number or count how many days they would be alive. The implication is that if they did this, they would realize how few days they actually have to live. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [So help us to recognize how short our lives actually are]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT that we might bring in a heart of wisdom
UST in order that we may think wisely {about how we use our time
(וְנָבִא לְבַב חָכְמָה)

Moses may be using the expression bring in to speak of the results of learning to number one's days as if they were actually a harvest of crops that one had cultivated. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that we might acquire a heart of wisdom]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT that we might bring in a heart of wisdom
UST in order that we may think wisely {about how we use our time
(וְנָבִא לְבַב חָכְמָה)

Here the heart represents the thoughts. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that we might acquire a mind of wisdom]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT that we might bring in a heart of wisdom
> UST in order that we may think wisely {about how we use our time
> (וְנָבִא לְבַב חָכְמָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wisdom, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that we might acquire a wise mind] or [that we might understand how to live wisely]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
teach {us	teach us
wisdom	wisely

Psalms 90:13

ULT	UST
Return, Yahweh! Until when? Have compassion on your servants.	Yahweh, how long will you be angry with us? Pity us who serve you.

ULT Return, Yahweh
UST Yahweh & you be angry with us
(שׁוּבָה יְהוָה)

Moses is using an emphatic imperative form here. It may be appropriate in your culture for someone to address God using an emphatic imperative, and your language may have such a form that you can use in your translation. But if people in your culture would not consider it appropriate for someone to address God in this way, you could translate this as a request rather than as a command. Alternate translation: [Please return, Yahweh.]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Return, Yahweh
UST Yahweh & you be angry with us
(שׁוּבָה יְהוָה)

This could mean: (1) that Moses wants Yahweh to stop being angry and stop punishing the Israelites. He would be speaking as if Yahweh's anger were literally a place from which he could Return. Alternate translation: [Stop being angry, Yahweh!] (2) that Moses wants Yahweh to abide peacefully among his people, protecting them and blessing them. This would be an allusion to the prayer that Moses always prayed in the wilderness when the cloud of Yahweh stopped moving and the Israelites made camp, as recorded in Numbers 10:36, "Return, Yahweh, to the multitudes of the thousands of Israel." Alternate translation: [Dwell peacefully among us, Yahweh.]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Until when
UST how long will
(עַד־מָתָי)

Moses is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be helpful in your language. Alternate translation: [Until when will you continue to be angry with us] or [For how long will you continue to be angry with us]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT Until when
UST how long will
(עַד־מָתָי)

Moses is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [I hope that your anger will not last long.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Have compassion on your servants
UST Pity us who serve you
(וְהִנָּחֵם עַל־עֲבָדֶיךָ)

Moses is speaking of himself and his fellow Israelites in the third person as your servants to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [us, your servants]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
Have compassion	Pity
your servants	who serve you

Psalms 90:14

ULT	UST
Satisfy us in the morning {with} your covenant faithfulness and we will rejoice and be glad in all of our days.	Each morning, show us that it is enough for us if you love us faithfully as you have promised that you would do. {Show us this} so that we may shout joyfully and be happy all during the years that we live.

ULT in the morning
UST Each morning, show us
(בַּבֹּ֫קֶר)

Moses is speaking as if he actually wanted God to Satisfy the Israelites in the morning, that is, at the beginning of an actual day. He could mean: (1) that he wants God to be eager to treat the Israelites mercifully. He would be using the expression in the morning by allusion to the way that people get up early in the morning to do something they are eager to do. Alternate translation: [eagerly] or [soon]; (2) that he wants God to treat the Israelites mercifully after a time of trouble. He would be speaking of that time of trouble as if it had actually been a night and of the time after it as if it were actually a morning. Alternate translation: [after this time of trouble]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with} your covenant faithfulness
UST if you love us faithfully as you have promised that you would do
(חַסְדֶּ֑ךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with all the ways you are faithful to your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and we will rejoice and be glad
UST Show us this} so that we may shout joyfully and be happy
(וְנִרְנְנָ֖ה וְנִשְׂמְחָ֣ה)

The terms rejoice and be glad mean similar things. Moses is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be helpful for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [and we will rejoice greatly] or [and we will be very glad]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT in all of our days
> UST all during the years that we live
> (בְּכָל־יָמֵינוּ)

Moses is using the term days to refer to a specific time, the human lifetime, since time is made up of days. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for all of the rest of our lives]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT in all of our days
> UST all during the years that we live
> (בְּכָל־יָמֵינוּ)

Moses is saying that the Israelites will rejoice for all of the rest of their lives as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [throughout our lives]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with} your covenant faithfulness	if you love us faithfully as you have promised that you would do and we will rejoice	Show us this} so that we may shout joyfully
and be glad	and be happy

Psalms 90:15

ULT	UST
Make us glad according to the days you afflicted us the years we have seen trouble.	Cause us now to be happy for as many years as you afflicted us and we experienced bad things.

ULT according to the days you afflicted us the years we have seen trouble
UST for as many years as you afflicted us and we experienced bad things
(כִּימוֹת עִנִּיתָנוּ שְׁנוֹת רָאִינוּ רָעָה)

Moses is using the terms days and years to refer to specific times, since time is made up of days and years. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. However, since the Israelites were afflicted and did experience trouble for a specific number of days and years, you may decide to retain those terms in your translation. Alternate translation: [for the same amount of time that you have afflicted us, yes, for the same amount of time that we have experienced trouble] or [for as many days as you have afflicted us, yes, for as many years as we have experienced trouble]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the years we have seen trouble
UST and we experienced bad things
(שְׁנוֹת רָאִינוּ רָעָה)

Moses is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be helpful in your language. Alternate translation: [yes, make us glad for as many years as we have seen trouble]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Make us glad	Cause us now to be happy
according to the days	for as many years as you afflicted us	you afflicted us
the years	and we experienced trouble	bad things

Psalms 90:16

ULT	UST
May your work be seen by your servants, and your majesty by their sons.	Enable us who serve you to see the {great} things that you do, and enable our descendants to see your glorious power {also}.

ULT May your work be seen by your servants, and your majesty by their sons
UST Enable us who serve you to see the {great} things that you do, and enable our descendants to see your glorious power {also (יֵרָאֶה אֶל־עֲבָדֶיךָ פָּעֳלֶךָ וַהֲדָרְךָ֥ עַל־בְּנֵיהֶֽם)

Moses is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be helpful in your language. Alternate translation: [May your work be seen by your servants, and may your majesty be seen by their sons]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT May your work be seen by your servants, and your majesty by their sons
UST Enable us who serve you to see the {great} things that you do, and enable our descendants to see your glorious power {also (יֵרָאֶה אֶל־עֲבָדֶיךָ פָּעֳלֶךָ וַהֲדָרְךָ֥ עַל־בְּנֵיהֶֽם)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [May your servants see your work, and may their sons see your majesty]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT May your work be seen by your servants
UST Enable us who serve you to see the {great} things that you do (יֵרָאֶה אֶל־עֲבָדֶיךָ פָּעֳלֶךָ)

Moses is speaking about himself and his fellow Israelites in the third person as your servants to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [May your work be seen by us, your servants] or [May we, your servants, see your work]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT and your majesty by their sons
> UST and enable our descendants to see your glorious power {also > (וְהַדְרְךָ֖ עַל־בְּנֵיהֶֽם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of majesty, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and may their sons recognize how majestic you are]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT by their sons
> UST enable our descendants to see & also > (עַל־בְּנֵיהֶֽם)

Moses is using the term sons to mean "descendants." Alternate translation: [to their descendants]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servants	us who serve you and your majesty	and & your glorious power

Psalms 90:17

ULT	UST
May the favor of the Lord our God be upon us. And the work of our hands, establish for us; indeed, the work of our hands, establish it.	Lord, our God, give us your blessings and enable us to be successful; yes, cause us to be successful in everything that we do!

ULT May the favor of the Lord our God be upon us
UST Lord, our God, give us your blessings
(וִיהִי | נֹעַם אֲדֹנָי אֱלֹהֵינוּ עָלֵינוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of favor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [May the Lord our God favor us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT And the work of our hands & indeed, the work of our hands
UST and & us & us & in everything that we do
(וּמַעֲשֵׂה יָדֵינוּ & וְמַעֲשֵׂה יָדֵינוּ)

Here, hands represent the capacity to do something. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And the work that we do ... indeed, the work that we do]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the favor of	your blessings
the Lord	Lord
our God	our God
And the work of	and & us
establish	enable & to be successful
establish it	yes, cause & to be successful

Psalms 90:front

> ULT of Moses, the man of God
> UST by the prophet Moses
> (לְמֹשֶׁה אִישׁ־הָאֱלֹהִים)

Here the superscription is providing some background information to remind readers who Moses was. The expression man of God is used to indicate that Moses was associated with God in a special way. Alternate translation: [of Moses, who represented God in his covenant with the Israelites]

Support Reference: Background Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A prayer	A prayer
of Moses	by & Moses
the man of God	the prophet

Psalms 91

Psalms 91 Introduction

Psalm 91 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 91 is a “psalm of trust.” (See the discussion of the types of psalms in the General Introduction to Psalms.)

This psalm is a poem, the words to a song, and so the ULT sets its lines farther to the right on the page than ordinary text in order to show that they are poetry.

1. The psalmist describes how Yahweh protects those who trust him (1–13)

2. Yahweh describes how he protects those who trust him (14–16)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Singular “you” and “your”

The pronouns “you” and “your” are singular in verses 1–13 because the psalmist is speaking individually to people whom he wants to encourage to trust Yahweh. So use the singular forms of those pronouns in your translation if your language marks a distinction between singular and plural “you.”

Psalms 91:1

ULT	UST
The one dwelling in the shelter of the Most High will remain in the shadow of Shaddai.	Those people whom God Most High protects will be able to rest safely because Shaddai cares for them.

> ULT The one dwelling in the shelter of the Most High
> UST Those people whom God Most High protects > (יֹשֵׁב בְּסֵתֶר עֶלְיוֹן)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Most High, that is, God, were actually a shelter in which a person could live. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The one who depends on the Most High for protection]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the Most High
> UST God Most High
> (עֶלְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using this expression as a title for God. Your language may have a comparable title that you can use in your translation. You could also use plain language. If you have already translated Psalm 18, see how you translated this title in Psalms 18:13. Alternate translation: [God Most High] or [the Supreme God]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

> ULT will remain in the shadow of Shaddai
> UST will be able to rest safely because Shaddai cares for them
> (בְּצֵל שַׁדַּי יִתְלוֹנָן)

The psalmist is speaking as if God actually had a shadow. He is using the image to represent care, the way a shadow provides a cool place to rest in hot climates. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [will continually experience Shaddai's care]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT Shaddai
> UST Shaddai
> (שַׁדַּי)

The word Shaddai is a name for God. If you have already translated Psalm 68, see how you translated this name in Psalms 68:14. Alternate translation: [the Almighty]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the shelter of	protects
the Most High	God Most High
Shaddai	Shaddai

Psalms 91:2

ULT	UST
I will say to Yahweh, “My refuge and my fortress, my God, I trust in him.”	I will declare to Yahweh, “You protect me; you are like a stronghold in which I am safe. You are my God, the one in whom I trust.”

ULT I will say to Yahweh, “My refuge and my fortress, my God, I trust in him
UST I will declare to Yahweh, “You protect me; you are like a stronghold in which I am safe. You are my God, the one in whom I trust
(אֹמַר לַיהוָה מַחְסִי וּמְצוּדָתִי אֱלֹהַי אֶבְטַח־בּוֹ)

The word translated to could indicate: (1) that the psalmist is saying this to Yahweh. You may wish to use second-person pronouns to indicate this. Alternate translation: [I will say to Yahweh, “You are my refuge and my fortress; you are my God, I trust in you”]; (2) that the psalmist is saying this about Yahweh. You may wish to use third-person pronouns to indicate this. Alternate translation: [I will say regarding Yahweh, “He is my refuge and my fortress; he is my God, I trust in him”]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT My refuge and my fortress
UST You protect me; you are like a stronghold in which I am safe
(מַחְסִי וּמְצוּדָתִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were actually a refuge and a fortress. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The source of my safety and my protection]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT My refuge and my fortress
UST You protect me; you are like a stronghold in which I am safe
(מַחְסִי וּמְצוּדָתִי)

The terms refuge and fortress mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be helpful for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [The one who keeps me completely safe]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
My refuge	You protect me and my fortress	you are like a stronghold in which I am safe
my God	You are my God
I trust	the one in whom I trust

Psalms 91:3

ULT	UST
For he will rescue you from the snare of the trapper, from the plague of calamities.	He will rescue you from all hidden traps and save you from deadly diseases.

ULT will rescue you
UST rescue & and save
(יַצִּ֥ילְךָ)

As the Introduction to this psalm discusses, the pronoun you is singular here and throughout the psalm because the psalmist is speaking individually to people whom he wants to encourage to trust Yahweh. So use the singular form in your translation if your language marks that distinction.

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

ULT from the snare of the trapper, from the plague of calamities
UST from all hidden traps & you from deadly diseases
(מִפַּ֣ח יָקוּשׁ מִדֶּ֖בֶר הַוּֽוֹת)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific plague. He means plagues in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [from traps that people set for you and from deadly plagues]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT from the snare of the trapper
UST from all hidden traps
(מִפַּ֣ח יָקוּשׁ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the individual whom he is addressing were a bird or small animal that a trapper was trying to catch in a snare. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from anyone who would deceptively try to harm you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from the plague of calamities
UST you from deadly diseases
(מִדֶּ֖בֶר הַוּֽוֹת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be helpful in your language. Alternate translation: [and he will also rescue you from the plague of calamities]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT from the plague of calamities
> UST you from deadly diseases
> (מִדֶּבֶר הַוּוֹת)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe a plague that would cause calamities, meaning, specifically, many deaths. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from every deadly plague]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
will rescue you	rescue & and save from the snare of	from all hidden traps
from the plague of	diseases
calamities	you from deadly

Psalms 91:4

ULT	UST
He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will shelter. His faithfulness {is} a shield and rampart.	He will protect you as a bird does who covers her young under her wings. You will be safe in his care. As he faithfully does what he has promised, that is like a shield or strong wall that will protect you.

ULT He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will shelter
UST He will protect you as a bird does who covers her young under her wings. You will be safe in his care
(בְּאֶבְרָתוֹ | יָסֵךְ לָךְ וְתָחַת־כְּנָפָיו תֶּחְסֶה)

These two phrases mean similar things. Translate them according to the decisions your team has made regarding translating parallelism in Hebrew poetry. Alternate translation: [He will cover you with his feathers, so you will be able to shelter under his wings] or [You will shelter under the cover of his wings]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will shelter
UST He will protect you as a bird does who covers her young under her wings. You will be safe in his care
(בְּאֶבְרָתוֹ | יָסֵךְ לָךְ וְתָחַת־כְּנָפָיו תֶּחְסֶה)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were a bird and as if the individual he is addressing were one of its chicks. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He will protect you the way a bird protects its chicks by covering them with its wings]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT His faithfulness {is} a shield and rampart
UST As he faithfully does what he has promised, that is like a shield or strong wall that will protect you
(צִנָּה וְסֹחֵרָה אֱמֻתּוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh's faithfulness were actually a shield and buckler. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His faithfulness is dependable protection]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT His faithfulness {is} a shield and rampart
> UST As he faithfully does what he has promised, that is like a shield or strong wall that will protect you
> (צִנָּה וְסֹחֵרָה אֱמִתּוֹ)

The word translated as rampart could refer to: (1) a wall around a city that would protect it from enemy attack. In that case, the psalmist would be using a shield that protected an individual soldier and a wall that protected an entire city to mean protection in general. Alternate translation: [His faithfulness is like military protection] or (2) a small shield. In that case, the psalmist would be using a large shield and a small shield together to mean all of the armor that a soldier would wear into battle. Alternate translation: [His faithfulness is like protective armor]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

> ULT His faithfulness {is} a shield and rampart
> UST As he faithfully does what he has promised, that is like a shield or strong wall that will protect you
> (צִנָּה וְסֹחֵרָה אֱמִתּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He will faithfully protect you like a shield and buckler]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you will shelter	You will be safe
His faithfulness	As he faithfully does what he has promised is} a shield	that is like a shield

Psalms 91:5

ULT	UST
You will not be afraid of the terror of the night, of the arrow {that} flies by day,	You will not be afraid of things that happen during the night that could terrorize you or of arrows {that your enemies will shoot at you} during the day.

ULT the terror of the night, of the arrow {that} flies by day
UST that happen during the night that could terrorize you or of arrows {that your enemies will shoot at you} during the day
(מִפַּחַד לָיְלָה מֵחֵץ יָעוּף יוֹמָם)

The psalmist is using things that might happen at night and during the day to mean things that might happen at any time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [of any dangers that might harm you at any time]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT the terror of the night
UST that happen during the night that could terrorize you (מִפַּחַד לָיְלָה)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe something that might happen during the night that would cause a person to feel terror. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [of terrifying things that might happen during the night]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT of the arrow {that} flies by day
UST or of arrows {that your enemies will shoot at you} during the day
(מֵחֵץ יָעוּף יוֹמָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be helpful in your language. Alternate translation: [and you will not be afraid of the arrow that flies by day]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT of the arrow {that} flies by day
> UST or of arrows {that your enemies will shoot at you} during the day
> (מֵחֵץ יָעוּף יוֹמָם)

The psalmist is speaking of how an arrow ... flies without indicating that this is the result of someone shooting it from a bow. This may create the impression that an arrow is a living thing that can fly on its own. If it would be helpful in your language, you could indicate the agent who is responsible for the arrow flying. Alternate translation: [of an arrow that someone might shoot at you]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT of the arrow {that} flies by day
> UST or of arrows {that your enemies will shoot at you} during the day
> (מֵחֵץ יָעוּף יוֹמָם)

The psalmist is using one type of weapon, an arrow, to mean weapons in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [of any weapon that someone might use to try to harm you]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You will & be afraid of	be afraid of things
the terror of	that happen & that could terrorize you

Psalms 91:6

ULT	UST
of the plague {that} walks in darkness, of the destruction that wastes {at} midday.	You will not be afraid of plagues that infect people in the night or of other evil forces that kill people in the light of day.

ULT of the plague {that} walks in darkness, of the destruction that wastes {at} midday
UST You will not be afraid of plagues that infect people in the night or of other evil forces that kill people in the light of day
(מֵדֶבֶר בָּאֹפֶל יְהַלֵּךְ מִקֶּטֶב יְשׁוּד צָהֳרָיִם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and you will not be afraid of the plague that walks in darkness, and you will not be afraid of the destruction that wastes at midday]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT of the plague {that} walks in darkness, of the destruction that wastes {at} midday
UST You will not be afraid of plagues that infect people in the night or of other evil forces that kill people in the light of day
(מֵדֶבֶר בָּאֹפֶל יְהַלֵּךְ מִקֶּטֶב יְשׁוּד צָהֳרָיִם)

The psalmist is using things that might happen secretly and things that might happen openly to mean things that might happen in any way. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. It may be helpful to begin a new sentence here. Alternate translation: [You will not have to be concerned about dangers that you cannot see coming or those that you can see coming]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT that} walks
UST that infect people
(יְהַלֵּךְ)

The psalmist is speaking of a plague as if it were a living thing that walks around. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that spreads]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT in darkness
UST in the night
(בָּאֹפֶל)

The psalmist is speaking as if this plague were actually spreading from person to person in the darkness, meaning at night. He means that the plague spreads without people realizing it, in the same way that people do not realize what is happening in the darkness of night because they cannot see it. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [invisibly]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT of the destruction that wastes
UST or of other evil forces that kill people
(מִקֶּטֶב יָשׁוּד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of destruction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [of destructive things that cause great damage]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT at} midday
UST in the light of day
(צָהֳרָיִם)

Here, midday, the time when the sun is brightest in the sky, represents "openly and obviously." If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in broad daylight]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the plague	You will not be afraid of plagues
of the destruction	or of other evil forces
that wastes	that kill people

Psalms 91:7

ULT	UST
A thousand may fall at your side, and a myriad at your right hand; it will not approach toward you.	Even if a thousand people fall dead alongside you, even if ten thousand people are dying around you, the deadly thing will not harm you.

ULT A thousand may fall at your side, and a myriad at your right hand; it will not approach toward you
UST Even if a thousand people fall dead alongside you, even if ten thousand people are dying around you, the deadly thing will not harm you
(יִפֹּל מִצִּדְּךָ֨ | אֶ֪לֶף וּרְבָבָ֡ה מִימִינֶ֗ךָ אֵלֶ֥יךָ לֹ֣א יִגָּֽשׁ)

The psalmist is using a hypothetical situation to help his listeners appreciate how confidently they can trust God to protect them. Use the natural form in your language for expressing a hypothetical situation. Alternate translation: [Suppose a thousand fell at your side. Suppose a myriad fell at your right hand. Even then, it would not approach toward you]

Support Reference: Hypothetical Situations

ULT A thousand may fall at your side, and a myriad at your right hand
UST Even if a thousand people fall dead alongside you, even if ten thousand people are dying around you
(יִפֹּל מִצִּדְּךָ֨ | אֶ֪לֶף וּרְבָבָ֡ה מִימִינֶ֗ךָ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [A thousand may fall at your side, and a myriad may fall at your right hand]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT A thousand may fall at your side, and a myriad at your right hand
UST Even if a thousand people fall dead alongside you, even if ten thousand people are dying around you
(יִפֹּל מִצִּדְּךָ֨ | אֶ֪לֶף וּרְבָבָ֡ה מִימִינֶ֗ךָ)

The psalmist is using the term fall to mean “die,” since people typically fall down when they die. Be sure that it is clear in your translation that he is not referring to people falling down accidentally. Alternate translation: [A thousand may die at your side, and a myriad may die at your right hand]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT it will not approach toward you
> UST the deadly thing will not harm you
> (אֵלֶיךָ לֹא יִגַּשׁ)

The pronoun it refers to any deadly danger such as the psalmist has described in verses 5 and 6. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [no deadly dangerous thing will approach toward you]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT it will not approach toward you
> UST the deadly thing will not harm you
> (אֵלֶיךָ לֹא יִגַּשׁ)

Since the psalmist says that people may die right next to and all around the individual whom he is addressing, he does not mean that danger will actually not even approach that individual. Rather, he is using this expression as an overstatement to mean that dangerous things will not kill him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [no deadly dangerous thing will kill you]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

Psalms 91:8

ULT	UST
You will only observe with your eyes and see the recompense of the wicked.	All you need to do is watch and you will see that God is punishing evil people!

ULT observe with your eyes
UST is watch
(בְּעֵינֶיךָ תַבִּיט)

It might seem that the expression observe with your eyes contains extra information that would be unnatural to express in your language. If so, you can shorten it. Alternate translation: [observe]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

ULT and see the recompense of the wicked
UST and you will see that God is punishing evil people
(וְשִׁלֻּמַת רְשָׁעִים תִּרְאֶה)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe the wicked receiving a recompense, not the wicked giving a recompense to someone. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and see the wicked receiving their recompense]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and see the recompense of the wicked
UST and you will see that God is punishing evil people
(וְשִׁלֻּמַת רְשָׁעִים תִּרְאֶה)

The psalmist is speaking as if God were actually repaying the wicked an amount that was due to them. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. You could also state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and see God paying the wicked back for what they have done] or [and see God punishing the wicked]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the wicked
UST evil people
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked	evil people

Psalms 91:9

ULT	UST
Because you have made Yahweh, my refuge, the Most High, your dwelling,	This is because you trust Yahweh, God Most High, who protects me, to also protect you.

ULT you have made Yahweh, my refuge, the Most High, your dwelling
UST you trust Yahweh, God Most High, who protects me, to also protect you (אַתָּה יְהוָה מַחְסִי עֶלְיוֹן שַׂמְתָּ מְעוֹנֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were actually a refuge in which a person could take shelter and a dwelling in which a person could live. See how you translated the expression “dwelling in the shelter” in 91:1 and the expression “My refuge” in 91:2. Alternate translation: [you are depending on Yahweh, the source of my safety, the Most High, for your protection]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
my refuge	who protects me
the Most High	God Most High

Psalms 91:10

ULT	UST
evil will not happen to you, and a plague will not approach your tent.	Therefore, nothing evil will happen to you; no plague will affect your family

ULT evil will not happen to you, and a plague will not approach your tent
UST Therefore, nothing evil will happen to you; no plague will affect your family
(לֹא־תְאֻנֶּה אֵלֶיךָ רָעָה וְנֶגַע לֹא־יִקְרַב בְּאָהֳלֶךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The first phrase states the general idea, and then the second phrase gives a specific example. Translate these phrases according to the decisions your team has made regarding translating parallelism in Hebrew poetry. Alternate translation: [evil will not happen to you; no, a plague will not come near to your tent] or [bad things will not happen to you where you live]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT evil will not happen to you, and a plague will not approach your tent
UST Therefore, nothing evil will happen to you; no plague will affect your family
(לֹא־תְאֻנֶּה אֵלֶיךָ רָעָה וְנֶגַע לֹא־יִקְרַב בְּאָהֳלֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of how evil will not happen and a plague will not come near without indicating that these are the results of Yahweh's actions on behalf of those who trust in him. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could indicate Yahweh's agency explicitly here. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will prevent evil from happening to you; yes, he will keep plagues from coming near to your tent]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT your tent
UST your family
(בְּאָהֳלֶךָ)

The psalmist is using one kind of home, a tent, to mean all kinds of homes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your home]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
evil	evil
and a plague	plague
your tent	your family

Psalms 91:11

ULT	UST
For he will command his angels concerning you, to guard you in all of your ways.	because Yahweh will command his angels to protect you in whatever you are doing.

ULT he will command
UST Yahweh will command
(יְצַוֶּה)

The pronoun he refers to God. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [God will command]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in all of your ways
UST to protect & in whatever
(בְּכָל־דְּרָכֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the activities of the individual he is addressing as if they were ways or paths that the individual was walking along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in all of your activities]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his angels	his angels
to guard you	you are doing

Psalms 91:12

ULT	UST
They will lift you up in their hands, lest you hit your foot against a stone.	They will even hold you up with their hands so that you will not hurt your foot on a big stone.

ULT lest you hit your foot against a stone
UST so that you will not hurt your foot on a big stone
(פֶּן־תִּגֹּף בָּאֶבֶן רַגְלֶךָ)

The psalmist is using one harmful thing that might happen to a person, hitting his foot against a stone, to mean every kind of harmful thing that might happen to a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [so that harmful things do not happen to you]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT lest you hit your foot against a stone
UST so that you will not hurt your foot on a big stone
(פֶּן־תִּגֹּף בָּאֶבֶן רַגְלֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the word translated as lest to introduce an outcome that he does not want to happen. Because of this, he first reassures the person he is addressing that God's angels will protect him so that this will not happen. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that avoiding this outcome is the purpose of the instruction. Alternate translation: [Otherwise, you might hit your foot against a stone] or [Otherwise, harmful things might happen to you]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
against a stone	on a big stone

Psalms 91:13

ULT	UST
You will tread on the lion and the adder; you will trample the young lion and the serpent.	Yahweh will not allow your enemies to harm you; even if strong lions and poisonous snakes attack you, you will defeat them!

ULT You will tread on the lion and the adder; you will trample the young lion and the serpent
UST Yahweh will not allow your enemies to harm you; even if strong lions and poisonous snakes attack you, you will defeat them
(עַל־שַׁ֥חַל וָפֶ֑תֶן תִּדְרֹ֥ךְ תִּרְמֹ֖ס כְּפִ֣יר וְתַנִּֽין)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific lion, adder, young lion, or serpent. He means such animals in general. It may be more natural in your language to express this meaning by using plural forms. Alternate translation: [You will tread on lions and adders; you will trample young lions and serpents]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT You will tread on the lion and the adder; you will trample the young lion and the serpent
UST Yahweh will not allow your enemies to harm you; even if strong lions and poisonous snakes attack you, you will defeat them
(עַל־שַׁ֥חַל וָפֶ֑תֶן תִּדְרֹ֥ךְ תִּרְמֹ֖ס כְּפִ֣יר וְתַנִּֽין)

The psalmist may be using the terms tread and trample to mean “defeat.” People in this culture would force defeated enemies to lie down and then place a foot on top of them to show how completely they had defeated them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You will defeat any lion or adder that attacks you; yes, you will defeat any young lion or serpent that attacks you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT You will tread on the lion and the adder; you will trample the young lion and the serpent

UST Yahweh will not allow your enemies to harm you; even if strong lions and poisonous snakes attack you, you will defeat them

(עַל־שַׁחַל וָפֶתֶן תִּדְרֹךְ תִּרְמֹס כְּפִיר וְתַנִּין)

The psalmist is using a hypothetical situation to help the individual he is addressing appreciate how Yahweh will protect him. Use a natural form in your language for expressing a hypothetical situation. To do that, it may be helpful to combine the two parallel phrases in this verse. Alternate translation: [Suppose a lion or a snake attacks you. Yahweh will enable you to defeat it, and it will not harm you] or [If a lion or a snake attacks you, you will defeat it and it will not harm you]

Support Reference: Hypothetical Situations

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the lion	your enemies
you will trample	Yahweh will not allow & to harm you & you will defeat them
the young lion	even if strong lions and the serpent	and poisonous snakes attack you

Psalms 91:14

ULT	UST
“Because he clings to me, indeed I will deliver him. I will protect him because he knows my name.	Yahweh says, “I will rescue those who love me; I will protect them because they know me.

ULT Because he clings to me
UST Yahweh says & those who love me
(כִּי בִי חָשַׁק)

This is the beginning of a direct quotation from Yahweh. You may wish to indicate that in your translation, using a natural way of introducing direct quotations in your language. Alternate translation: [Yahweh says, “Because he clings to me”]

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT he clings to me
UST those who love me
(בִי חָשַׁק)

The psalmist assumes that his listeners will know that by cling, he means to cling to someone out of love and devotion. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [he is devoted to me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT he knows my name
UST they know me
(יְדַע שְׁמִי)

The word name could refer to: (1) Yahweh as a person, since each person has a name. Alternate translation: [he knows me personally]; (2) Yahweh’s reputation, which reflects his character. Alternate translation: [he knows my character and so trusts me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
indeed I will deliver him	I will rescue
I will protect him	I will protect them
he knows	they know

Psalms 91:15

ULT	UST
He will call me and I will answer him. I {will be} with him in trouble; I will rescue him and I will honor him.	When they call out to me, I will answer them. I will help them when they are experiencing trouble; I will rescue them and honor them.

ULT and I will answer him
UST I will answer them
(וְאֶעֱנֵֽהוּ)

The psalmist assumes that his listeners will know that by answer, he means that Yahweh will help this individual. Yahweh will not simply speak back to the person in response to his call for help. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and I will help him]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He will call me	When they call out
in trouble	when they are experiencing trouble
I will rescue him	will help them and I will honor him	I will rescue them and honor them

Psalms 91:16

ULT	UST
I will satisfy him {with} length of days, and I will show him my salvation.”	I will reward them by enabling them to live a long time, and I will save them.”

ULT with} length of days
UST by enabling them to live a long time
(אֹ֣רֶךְ יָמִ֑ים)

The psalmist is using the term days to refer to a specific time, the human lifetime. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with a long life]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and I will show him my salvation
UST and I will save them
(וְאַרְאֵ֖הוּ בִּישׁוּעָתִֽי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and I will cause him to experience me saving him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my salvation	and I will save them

Psalms 92

Psalms 92 Introduction

Psalm 92 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 92 is a psalm of praise for God’s kindness and faithfulness. (See: faithful, faithfulness, trustworthy)

1. It is good to praise the Lord (1–4)
2. God’s works are great and his ways are deep (5–9)
3. God strengthens and honors the righteous (10–11)
4. The righteous will flourish (12–15)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Justice

God causes evil people to be destroyed and good people to be happy and useful, even after they grow old. (See: just, justice, unjust, injustice, justify, justification and evil, wicked, wickedness, unpleasant)

Psalms 92:1

ULT	UST
It is good to give thanks to Yahweh and to sing praises to your name, Most High,	Yahweh, it is good for people to thank you and to sing as they praise you, the Most High God.

ULT and to sing praises to your name
UST and to sing as they praise you (וּלְזַמֵּר לְשִׁמְךָ)

Here name represents God himself. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express this explicitly. Alternate translation: [and to sing praises to you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
It is good	it is good
Yahweh	Yahweh
and to sing praises	and to sing
Most High	the Most High God

Psalms 92:2

ULT	UST
to proclaim your covenant faithfulness in the morning and your truthfulness in the nights,	It is good to proclaim every morning that you faithfully love us and to declare each night that everything that you say is true,

ULT to proclaim your covenant faithfulness in the morning
UST It is good to proclaim every morning that you faithfully love us
(לְהַגִּיד בַּבֹּקֶר חַסְדֶּךָ)

The abstract noun covenant faithfulness refers to God's faithful love for the people with whom he made a covenant. If your language does not use abstract nouns, you can translate this using another form. Alternate translation: [to proclaim in the morning that you are faithful to your covenant people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and your truthfulness in the nights
UST and to declare each night that everything that you say is true
(וֶאֱמוּנָתְךָ בַּלֵּילוֹת)

The writer is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and to proclaim your truthfulness every night]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and your truthfulness
UST and to declare & that everything that you say is true
(וֶאֱמוּנָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truthfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and that you are truthful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to proclaim	It is good to proclaim your covenant faithfulness	that you faithfully love us

Psalms 92:3

ULT	UST
with a ten {string} and with a lyre; with a melody on a harp.	{singing} {to the music} of {instruments that have} ten {strings} and of lyres {and} with {musicians playing} melodies on a harp.

ULT a ten {string
UST instruments that have} ten {strings
(עָשׂוֹר)

A ten string is a kind of musical instrument with multiple strings. If your readers would not be familiar with what a ten string is, you could use the name of a similar instrument that your readers would recognize, or you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [an instrument with ten strings]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a lyre	lyres
on a harp	on a harp

Psalms 92:4

ULT	UST
For you, Yahweh, have made me glad through your deeds. I will sing for joy because of the deeds of your hands.	I do this, Yahweh, because what you have done makes me happy; I sing joyfully because of the things that you do.

ULT because of the deeds of your hands
UST because of the things that you do
(בְּמַעֲשֵׂי יָדֶיךָ)

Here, your hands represents the capability of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of the things that you have accomplished]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you, Yahweh	Yahweh
have made me glad	makes me happy
I will sing for joy	I sing joyfully

Psalms 92:5

ULT	UST
How great are your deeds, Yahweh! Your thoughts are very deep.	Yahweh, the things that you do are great! We cannot understand all that you think.

ULT Your thoughts are very deep
UST We cannot understand all that you think (מְאֹד עָמְקוּ מַחְשְׁבֹתֶיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God's thoughts as if they were a deep pool of water because we cannot see or reach them. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [Your thoughts are like a deep pool to us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Your thoughts
UST that you think
(מַחְשְׁבֹתֶיךָ)

The word thoughts is an abstract noun that refers to what someone thinks. Some languages may not use abstract nouns. If this is true in your language, you could translate this with a verb, such as "what you think." Alternate translation: [The things you think] or [Your plans]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 92:6

ULT	UST
A brutish person does not know, nor does a stupid {one} understand this:	These are things that foolish people do not know about, things that dolts cannot understand:

ULT A brutish person does not know, nor does a stupid {one} understand this
UST These are things that foolish people do not know about, things that dolts cannot understand (אִישׁ־בַּעַר לֹא יֵדָע וּכְסִיל לֹא־יָבִין אֶת־זֹאת)

These two phrases A brutish person does not know and a stupid one does not understand this mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [A foolish person neither knows nor understands this] or [The foolish person completely fails to understand this]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT a stupid {one
UST that & dolts
(וּכְסִיל)

The psalmist is using the adjective stupid as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [any stupid person]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT this
UST These are things & things
(אֶת־זֹאת)

The pronoun this refers to what the psalmist goes on to explain in verse 7 about wicked people. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the following truth]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
does & know	do & know about does & understand	understand

Psalms 92:7

ULT	UST
When the wicked sprout like grass, and all evildoers thrive, they will be destroyed for eternity.	{They do not understand that} when the number of wicked people increases as blades of grass increase, and {when it seems that} all those who do what is evil prosper, Yahweh will destroy them forever.

ULT When the wicked sprout like grass
UST They do not understand that} when the number of wicked people increases as blades of grass increase (בִּפְרֹחַ רְשָׁעִים ׀ כְּמוֹ עֵשֶׂב)

This is a simile that speaks of wicked people appearing and growing like grass. Grass springs up and spreads quickly but does not last long. This emphasizes that wicked people may seem to prosper for a while, but their success will be brief. Alternate translation: [When the wicked appear quickly and seem to be everywhere as grass does]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT they will be destroyed for eternity
UST Yahweh will destroy them forever
(לְהִשָּׁמְדָם עֲדֵי־עַד)

The words they will be destroyed express in passive form what Yahweh will do to the wicked. If your language does not use passive forms or if the passive form would be confusing here, you can translate this with an active form. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will destroy them completely]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they will be destroyed
UST Yahweh will destroy them
(לְהִשָּׁמְדָם)

The pronoun they refers to the wicked and evildoers. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the wicked and evildoers will be destroyed]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT the wicked
> UST wicked people
> (רְשָׁעִֽים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked	wicked people
all evildoers	all those who do what is evil
they will be destroyed	Yahweh will destroy them
eternity	forever

Psalms 92:8

ULT	UST
But you, Yahweh, {are} exalted forever.	But Yahweh, you will rule forever.

ULT are} exalted
UST will rule
(מְרוֹם)

The expression are exalted is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [will live on high]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
are} exalted	will rule
forever	forever

Psalms 92:9

ULT	UST
For behold your enemies, Yahweh! For behold your enemies—they will perish! All those who do evil will be scattered.	Just look at your enemies, Yahweh! Your enemies will certainly die. You will destroy everyone who does wicked things.

ULT All those who do evil will be scattered
UST You will destroy everyone who does wicked things
(יְתֻפְּרְדוּ כָּל־פֹּעֲלֵי אָוֶן)

This text uses the passive verb will be scattered without identifying who will do the action. The psalmist of the psalm may have written it this way to focus on what will happen to the evildoers rather than on who will scatter them. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state this in active form with God as the subject, as in the alternate translation. Alternate translation: [you will scatter all those who do evil]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your enemies	your enemies
Yahweh	Yahweh
they will perish	will & die
evil	wicked things
will be scattered	You will destroy

Psalms 92:10

ULT	UST
But you have lifted up my horn like a wild ox; I am saturated with fresh oil.	But you have caused me to be as strong as a wild ox; you have caused me to be very joyful.

ULT But you have lifted up my horn like a wild ox
UST But you have caused me to be as strong & wild ox
(וַתָּרֶם כִּרְאֵים קַרְנִי)

Here, horn represents strength or power. The psalmist is describing how God has given him strength like that of a wild ox. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state plainly what the horn represents. Alternate translation: [But you have made me as strong as a wild ox]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT I am saturated with fresh oil
UST as a & you have caused me to be very joyful
(בַּלֹּתִי בְּשֶׁמֶן רַעֲנָן)

Here the psalmist is speaking of himself as if he were an offering that is saturated with fresh oil. The abundance of oil represents God's abundant blessing and the joy that he feels as God has made him able to defeat his enemies. Alternate translation: [you have richly blessed me] or [I am filled with joy]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But you have lifted up	But you have caused me to be my horn	as strong
like a wild ox	wild ox
with & oil	you have caused me

Psalms 92:11

ULT	UST
My eye has looked on my foes, those rising up against me; those doing evil my ears have heard.	I have observed my enemies as they oppose me, and I have heard those evil men.

ULT My eye has looked on my foes & my ears have heard
UST I have observed my enemies & and I have heard (וַתַּבֵּט עֵינִי בְּשׁוּרָי & תִּשְׁמַעְנָה אָזְנָי)

Here eye and ears represent the whole person who sees and hears. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have seen my foes ... I have heard]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT My eye has looked on my foes, those rising up against me; those doing evil my ears have heard
UST I have observed my enemies as they oppose me, and I have heard those evil men (וַתַּבֵּט עֵינִי בְּשׁוּרָי בַּקָּמִים עָלַי מְרֵעִים תִּשְׁמַעְנָה אָזְנָי)

Some scholars believe that these phrases imply what it is that the writer saw and heard. You could include this information if a translation of the Bible exists in your region that includes it. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to use the reading of the ULT. Alternate translation: [My eye has looked on my foes, those rising up against me, as you defeat them; those doing evil my ears have heard as you punish them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
on my foes	my enemies
those doing evil	those evil men

Psalms 92:12

ULT	UST
The righteous {one} will flourish like the palm tree; he will grow like a cedar in Lebanon.	But righteous {people} will prosper like {flourishing} palm trees, they will grow like the {tall} cedar trees in Lebanon.

ULT The righteous {one} will flourish like the palm tree
UST But righteous {people} will prosper like {flourishing} palm trees
(צַדִּיק כַּתָּמָר יִפְרָח)

The point of this comparison is that just as the palm tree is resilient and long-lived, so is The righteous one. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [The righteous one will be resilient and long-lived like a palm tree]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT he will grow like a cedar in Lebanon
UST they will grow like the {tall} cedar trees in Lebanon
(כְּאֶרֶז בַּלְּבָנוֹן יִשְׂגֶּה)

The point of this comparison is that just as a cedar is strong and admired for being tall and stately, so is The righteous one. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [he will be strong and admired like a cedar tree in Lebanon]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT The righteous {one
UST But righteous {people
(צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Any righteous person] or [All righteous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT he will grow
UST they will grow
(יִשְׂגֶּה)

The pronoun he refers to any righteous person. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [they will grow]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The righteous {one	But righteous {people
like the palm tree	like {flourishing} palm trees
like a cedar	like the {tall} cedar trees
in Lebanon	in Lebanon

Psalms 92:13

ULT	UST
They are planted in the house of Yahweh; they flourish in the courts of our God.	They belong to Yahweh as securely as if they were trees with roots deep in his temple grounds. They are as prosperous and healthy as if they were trees growing in our God's courtyard.

ULT They are planted
UST They belong to & as securely as if they were trees with roots deep
(שְׁתוּלִים)

The psalmist uses the passive verb are planted and does not tell who has done the planting. You may need to state clearly who did the planting if your language does not use passive verbs in this way. Alternate translation: [Yahweh has planted them] or [Yahweh takes care of them as if they were trees that he had planted]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT They are planted
UST They belong to & as securely as if they were trees with roots deep
(שְׁתוּלִים)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if righteous people were actually planted trees growing in Yahweh's house. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [they flourish like trees] or [they live securely]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT They are planted
UST They belong to & as securely as if they were trees with roots deep
(שְׁתוּלִים)

The pronoun They refers to righteous people, who are those who are planted in Yahweh's house. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Righteous people are planted]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT they flourish
> UST They are as prosperous and healthy as if they were trees growing > (יַפְרִיחוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of righteous people as if they were plants that flourish, which means that they are strong and healthy. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this image differently or state this plainly without the image. Alternate translation: [they grow well] or [they prosper]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They are planted	They belong to & as securely as if they were trees with roots deep in the house of Yahweh	Yahweh & in his temple grounds in the courts	in & courtyard
of our God	our God’s

Psalms 92:14

ULT	UST
They bear fruit even when they are old; they are juicy and green,	They are like trees that continue to bear fruit even when they are old. They remain strong and full of energy, like trees that are full of sap and have abundant leaves.

ULT They bear fruit
UST They are like trees that continue to bear fruit
(יְנוּבוּן)

The psalmist is speaking of people who are faithful to God as if they were fruit-bearing trees. This image emphasizes how they continue to be productive and do good things. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They continue doing good things]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT They bear fruit
UST They are like trees that continue to bear fruit
(יְנוּבוּן)

The pronoun They continues to refer to righteous people. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Righteous people, like trees, bear fruit]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT they are juicy and green
UST They remain strong and full of energy, like trees that are full of sap and have abundant leaves
(דְּשֵׁנִים וְרַעֲנַנִּים יִהְיוּ)

Here the psalmist speaks of juicy and green as if the righteous people were plants that are healthy and full of life. This metaphor compares their spiritual and physical well-being to the freshness of a flourishing plant. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state plainly what this means. Alternate translation: [they remain strong and healthy] or [they always do what pleases God]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They bear fruit	They are like trees that continue to bear fruit
They bear fruit	They are like trees that continue to bear fruit
when they are old	when they are old

Psalms 92:15

ULT	UST
to proclaim that Yahweh is just, my rock, and {there is} no unrighteousness in him.	That shows that Yahweh is just; he is like a huge rock behind which I am safe, and he never does anything that is unjust.

ULT to proclaim that
UST That shows that (לְהַגִּיד כִּי)

If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [showing that] or [which shows that]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT my rock
UST he is like a huge rock behind which I am safe
(צוּרִי)

Here the psalmist speaks of Yahweh as if he were a rock, because a large rock can provide protection and safety. You could keep this image in your translation if it is clear, or you could state the meaning plainly. See how you translated this in Psalm 18:2. Alternate translation: [the one who protects me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and {there is} no unrighteousness in him
UST and he never does anything that is unjust
(וְלֹא־עַלְתָה בּוֹ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of unrighteousness as if it were a substance or object that could be present in or absent from someone. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he is always righteousness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and {there is} no unrighteousness in him
> UST and he never does anything that is unjust
> (וְלֹא־עַלְתָה בּוֹ)

The phrase no unrighteousness uses two negative words to express a positive meaning. The psalmist is saying that God is completely righteous. If your language does not use double negatives, you could express this with a positive statement. Alternate translation: [and he is always righteousness]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to proclaim	That shows
Yahweh is	Yahweh
just	is just
and {there is & unrighteousness	does anything that is unjust

Psalms 93

Psalms 93 Introduction

Psalm 93 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 93 is a “worship psalm” about the power of Yahweh.

1. Yahweh reigns in glory and strength (1–2)
2. Yahweh is stronger than chaos and opposition (3–4)
3. Yahweh is trustworthy and holy (5)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s power

Yahweh is all powerful; He even controls the ocean.

Psalms 93:1

ULT	UST
Yahweh reigns; he wears majesty; Yahweh wears, he girds himself with, strength. Indeed, the world is firmly established; it cannot be moved.	Yahweh, you are the King! It is as though you are wearing royal robes that are majestic and powerful. You are the one who put the world firmly in place, and no one can move it {out of its place}.

ULT Yahweh reigns
UST Yahweh, you are the King
(יְהוָה מָלָךְ׃)

Verses 1 and 4 of this psalm refer to Yahweh as “he” and verses 2,3, and 5 refer to him as “you.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use “you” throughout the psalm, as in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT he wears majesty
UST It is as though & are wearing royal robes that are majestic
(גֵּאוּת לָבֵשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of majesty, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he is majestic]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT he wears majesty; Yahweh wears, he girds himself with, strength
UST It is as though you are wearing royal robes that are majestic and powerful (גֵּאוּת לָבֵשׁ לָבֵשׁ יְהוָה עֹז הִתְאַזָּר)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if majesty and strength were actually garments that Yahweh wears. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he displays his majesty; Yahweh’s strength is obvious for all to see]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT Yahweh wears, he girds himself with, strength
> UST It is as though you are wearing royal robes & and powerful
> (לָבֵשׁ יְהוָה עֹז הִתְאַזָּר)

The terms wears and girds himself with mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Yahweh wraps strength all around himself]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT Yahweh wears, he girds himself with, strength
> UST It is as though you are wearing royal robes & and powerful
> (לָבֵשׁ יְהוָה עֹז הִתְאַזָּר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is obviously powerful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT the world is firmly established
> UST put the world firmly in place
> (תִּכּוֹן תֵּבֵל)

The expression is firmly established contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you have firmly established the world]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT it cannot be moved
> UST and no one can move it {out of its place
> (בַּל־תִּמּוֹט)

The expression be moved is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [no one can ever move it]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh, you
reigns	are the King
majesty	that are majestic
he girds himself with	It is as though & are wearing royal robes strength	and powerful
the world	the world
is firmly established	put & firmly in place

Psalms 93:2

ULT	UST
Your throne is established from before; you are from everlasting.	You have been king since long ago; you have always existed.

ULT Your throne is established from before
UST You have been king since long ago
(נָכוֹן כִּסְאֲךָ מֵאָז)

The expression is established is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [You established your throne in ancient times]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Your throne
UST You & king
(כִּסְאֲךָ)

Here, throne represents royal authority and rule. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Your kingship]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your throne	You & king
is established	have been
from everlasting	have always existed

Psalms 93:3

ULT	UST
The seas rise, Yahweh; the seas have lifted up their voice; the seas lift up their pounding {waves}.	Yahweh, the oceans rise up; their waves {loudly} pound {against the shore}; {it is as though} they roar with a powerful voice.

ULT The seas
UST the oceans
(נְהָרוֹת)

The word translated as seas here refers to any kind of moving water; in other contexts it is translated as “rivers” or “floods” (See: “the River” in Psalms 72:8), but “seas” has been chosen here because seas, not rivers, have pounding waves.

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the seas have lifted up their voice
UST it is as though} they roar with a powerful voice
(נָשְׂאוּ נְהָרוֹת קוֹלָם)

The psalmist is speaking of the seas as if they were living things that could lift their voices. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the seas make a roaring noise]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 93:4

ULT	UST
More than the sounds of many waters, than the mighty breakers of the sea, Yahweh on high is mighty.	But you are more powerful than the roar of those oceans; you are more powerful than the huge ocean waves! You are Yahweh, the one who is great and powerful!

ULT More than the sounds of many waters, than the mighty breakers of the sea, Yahweh on high is mighty
UST But you are more powerful than the roar of those oceans; you are more powerful than the huge ocean waves! You are Yahweh, the one who is great and powerful (מִקֹּלוֹת ׀ מַ֭יִם רַבִּ֣ים אַדִּירִ֣ים מִשְׁבְּרֵי־יָ֑ם אַדִּ֖יר בַּמָּר֣וֹם יְהוָֽה)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the information about Yahweh on high is mighty before the comparisons than the sounds of many waters and than the mighty breakers of the sea. Alternate translation: [Yahweh on high is mightier than the sounds of many waters, than the mighty breakers of the sea]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT than the mighty breakers of the sea
UST you are more powerful than the huge ocean waves
(אַדִּירִ֣ים מִשְׁבְּרֵי־יָ֑ם)

By breakers of the sea, the psalmist means the waves of the sea that crash onto the shore. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [than the mighty waves of the sea crashing on land]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT on high
UST is great
(בַּמָּר֣וֹם)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God were actually in a place on high. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [who is greater than everything else]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
mighty	huge
Yahweh	You are Yahweh, the one who is mighty	and powerful

Psalms 93:5

ULT	UST
Your decrees are very trustworthy; holiness adorns your house, Yahweh, for length of days.	Yahweh, your laws are completely reliable; your temple is a beautifully holy place. {That will be true} forever.

ULT holiness adorns your house
UST your temple is a beautifully holy place
(לְבֵיתְךָ נַאֲוָה־קֹדֶשׁ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if holiness were actually a decoration that adorns or beautifies the temple. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your house is beautiful because you are holy] or [your holiness is what attracts people to your house]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT holiness adorns your house
UST your temple is a beautifully holy place
(לְבֵיתְךָ נַאֲוָה־קֹדֶשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your house is beautiful because you are holy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for length of days
UST That will be true} forever
(לְאֹרֶךְ יָמִים)

The psalmist is using length of days as a common expression of his culture to mean “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for always]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your decrees	your laws
are & trustworthy	are & reliable
holiness	holy
your house	your temple
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 94

Psalms 94 Introduction

Psalm 94 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 94 is a prayer requesting that evil people be punished. (See: evil, wicked, wickedness, unpleasant)

1. A cry for Yahweh’s justice (1–7)
2. Yahweh sees and will judge (8–11)
3. Yahweh disciplines and helps his people (12–15)
4. Yahweh is the refuge of the oppressed (16–23)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Justice

Evil people expect God to ignore their injustices. But God knows what they are doing and will punish them for their evil deeds. (See: just, justice, unjust, injustice, justify, justification)

Psalms 94:1

ULT	UST
God of vengeance, Yahweh, God of vengeance, shine forth!	Yahweh, you are a God who punishes {your enemies}. So reveal {to them} who you are!

ULT God of vengeance, Yahweh, God of vengeance
UST Yahweh, you are a God who punishes {your enemies (אֵל־נְקָמוֹת יְהוָה אֵל נְקָמוֹת)

Here, God of vengeance, Yahweh, God of vengeance the psalmist is using repetition for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, the God who avenges]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT God of vengeance & God of vengeance
UST you are a God who punishes {your enemies (אֵל־נְקָמוֹת & אֵל נְקָמוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of vengeance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [God who avenges ... God who avenges]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT shine forth
UST So reveal {to them} who you are (הוֹפִיעַ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God were actually a light that could shine forth. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [Reveal yourself] or [Let them see how majestic you are]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God of	you are a God
vengeance	who punishes {your enemies
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 94:2

ULT	UST
Rise up, judge of the earth, return recompense upon the proud.	You are the one who judges all people on the earth; so take action and give the arrogant people what they deserve.

ULT Rise up
UST so take action
(הִנָּשֵׂא)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God were actually someone who was sitting or lying down and needed to rise up. The psalmist means that God should take action to judge the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Take action] or [Act now]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT of the earth
UST the earth
(הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents all the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [of all people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT return recompense upon
UST and give the arrogant people what they deserve
(הָשֵׁב גְּמוּל עַל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of recompense, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [pay back] or [punish]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the proud
UST the arrogant people
(גֵּאִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective proud as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [proud people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
judge	You are the one who judges all people on the proud	the arrogant people

Psalms 94:3

ULT	UST
Until when will the wicked, Yahweh, until when will the wicked rejoice?	Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right!

ULT Until when will the wicked, Yahweh, until when will the wicked rejoice

UST Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right

(עַד־מָתַי֮ רְשָׁעִים | יְהוָ֪ה עַד־מָתַ֫י רְשָׁעִ֥ים יַעֲלֹֽזוּ)

The psalmist is using the question form Until when will the wicked, Yahweh, until when will the wicked rejoice to express his frustration and to make an urgent appeal to God for action. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, the wicked have been rejoicing much too long.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Until when will the wicked, Yahweh, until when will the wicked

UST Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right

(עַד־מָתַי֮ רְשָׁעִים | יְהוָ֪ה עַד־מָתַ֫י רְשָׁעִ֥ים)

These two phrases Until when will the wicked, Yahweh and until when will the wicked are basically the same. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating it again. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. Or if it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, just how long will you allow the wicked to rejoice?]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the wicked

UST Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right

(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked	Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right
Yahweh	Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right
the wicked	Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right
rejoice	Yahweh, wicked people just continue to be glad, and that is not right

Psalms 94:4

ULT	UST
They pour out, they speak, arrogance; all doers of evil praise themselves.	They abundantly speak arrogant things; all people who do evil things say that they are great people.

ULT They pour out, they speak
UST They abundantly speak
(יַבִּ֥יעוּ יְדַבְּר֑וּ)

The phrases pour out and speak express a single idea. The word pour out tells more about speak. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [In large amounts, they speak]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

ULT arrogance
UST arrogant things
(עָתָ֗ק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of arrogance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [arrogant words]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT evil
UST evil things
(אָ֭וֶן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of evil, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [evil actions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
arrogance	arrogant things
evil	evil things
praise themselves	say that they are great people

Psalms 94:5

ULT	UST
They crush your people, Yahweh; they afflict your inheritance.	Yahweh, it is as though those wicked people were crushing us, your people; they distress the people who belong to you alone.

ULT They crush
UST it is as though those wicked people were crushing
(יְדַכְּאוּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the wicked people were literally crushing God's people with physical force. He means that they are oppressing them severely. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They oppress]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your inheritance
UST the people who belong to you alone
(וְנַחֲלָתְךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of God's people as if they were actually your inheritance. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your own people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
they afflict	they distress
your inheritance	the people who belong to you alone

Psalms 94:6

ULT	UST
They kill the widow and the sojourner, and they murder the fatherless.	They murder widows, people from other countries, and also young people who have no fathers.

ULT the widow and the sojourner, and they murder the fatherless
UST widows, people from other countries, and also young people who have no fathers
(אַלְמָנָה וְגֵר & וְיִתוֹמִים יְרַצָּחוּ)

Here, the widow and the sojourner and the fatherless represent vulnerable people in general, not specific individuals. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use expressions that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [widows and sojourners & they murder those without fathers]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT They kill the widow and the sojourner, and they murder the fatherless
UST They murder widows, people from other countries, and also young people who have no fathers
(אַלְמָנָה וְגֵר יַהֲרֹגוּ וְיִתוֹמִים יְרַצָּחוּ)

The terms kill and murder mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [They kill the widow, the sojourner, and the fatherless]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They kill	They murder
they murder	also

Psalms 94:7

ULT	UST
They say, “Yah does not see, the God of Jacob does not perceive.”	Those wicked people think to themselves, “Yahweh does not see {any of this}; the God whom the Israelites worship does not notice {the evil things that we do}.”

ULT They say
UST Those wicked people think to themselves
(וַיֹּאמְרוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the wicked people mentioned in the previous verses. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The wicked people say]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They say
UST Those wicked people think to themselves
(וַיֹּאמְרוּ)

The implication is that the wicked people are thinking these thoughts silently to themselves rather than speaking them aloud to others. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [They say to themselves]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT does not see & does not perceive
UST does not see {any of this & does not notice {the evil things that we do (לֹא יִרְאֶה & וְלֹא־יָבִין)

The implication is that God does not see or perceive what the wicked people are doing. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [does not see what we do … does not perceive what we do]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT Yah does not see, the God of Jacob does not perceive
> UST Yahweh does not see {any of this}; the God whom the Israelites worship does not notice {the evil things that we do
> (לֹא יִרְאֶה־יָּהּ וְלֹא־יָבִין אֱלֹהֵי יַעֲקֹב)

These two phrases Yah does not see and the God of Jacob does not perceive mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Yahweh does not see, no, the God of Jacob does not perceive]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
the God	the God whom
of Jacob	the Israelites worship
does & perceive	does & notice {the evil things that we do

Psalms 94:8

ULT	UST
Understand, stupid ones among the people! O fools, when will you have insight?	You wicked people in Israel need to understand {what is right}; you have been stupid and foolish far too long!

ULT O fools, when will you have insight
UST need to understand {what is right & and foolish far too long (וּכְסִילִ֥ים מָתַ֗י תַּשְׂכִּֽילוּ)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You fools need to gain insight!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT will you have insight
UST need to understand {what is right
(תַּשְׂכִּֽילוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of insight, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [will you behave insightfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Understand, stupid ones among the people! O fools, when will you have insight
UST You wicked people in Israel need to understand {what is right}; you have been stupid and foolish far too long (בִּ֭ינוּ בֹּעֲרִ֣ים בָּ֑עָם וּכְסִילִ֥ים מָתַ֗י תַּשְׂכִּֽילוּ)

These two phrases Understand, stupid ones among the people and O fools, when will you have insight mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea in a different form. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [Get insight and understanding, you stupid, foolish people!]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Understand	need to understand {what is right
O fools	and foolish
will you have insight	need to understand {what is right

Psalms 94:9

ULT	UST
The one planting the ear, does he not hear? Or the one forming the eye, does he not observe?	Since Yahweh is the one who made ears, of course he can hear {what you say}! Not only that, he created eyes; so of course he can see {the evil things that you do}!

ULT The one planting the ear
UST Since Yahweh is the one who made ears
(הֵנֹטַע אֹזֶן)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God were actually planting the ear. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The one creating the ear]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT does he not hear
UST of course he can hear {what you say
(הֲלֹא יִשְׁמָע)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [he certainly does hear!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT does he not observe
UST so of course he can see {the evil things that you do (הֲלֹא יַבִּיט)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [he certainly does observe!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The one planting	Since Yahweh is the one who made

Psalms 94:10

ULT	UST
The one instructing nations, does he not rebuke? Does the one teaching mankind lack knowledge?	He corrects {the leaders of} other nations, so he will punish {you}, as well. He has taught people everything that they know, so of course he knows everything {that you do}.

ULT does he not rebuke
UST so he will punish {you}, as well
(הֲלֹא יוֹכִיחַ)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [he will certainly rebuke you!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Does the one teaching mankind lack knowledge
UST He has taught people everything that they know, so of course he knows everything {that you do
(הָמְלַמֵּד אָדָם דָּעַת)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [The one teaching mankind certainly does not lack knowledge.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT nations
UST the leaders of} other nations
(גּוֹיִם)

Here, nations represents the people of all nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [people of all nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT Does the one teaching mankind lack knowledge
> UST He has taught people everything that they know, so of course he knows everything {that you do
> (הֲמְלַמֵּד אָדָם דָּעַת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of knowledge, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Is there anything that the one teaching mankind does not know]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The one instructing	He corrects
nations	the leaders of} other nations
he & rebuke	so he will punish {you}, as well
Does the one teaching	He has taught people everything that they know, so of course he knows everything {that you do lack knowledge	He has taught people everything that they know, so of course he knows everything {that you do

Psalms 94:11

ULT	UST
Yahweh knows the thoughts of mankind, that they are vapor.	Yahweh knows everything that people are thinking; he knows that what they think is evil and useless.

ULT the thoughts of mankind
UST that people are thinking
(מַחְשְׁבוֹת אָדָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thoughts, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the things that people are thinking]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they are vapor
UST what they think is evil and useless
(הֶבֶל הֵמָּה)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if people's thoughts were actually vapor. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [they are unimportant and useless]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
knows	knows everything

Psalms 94:12

ULT	UST
The joys of the man whom you instruct, Yah, and from your law you teach him,	Yahweh, how fortunate are those who allow you to discipline them, {how fortunate are} those whom you teach from your laws!

ULT The joys of
UST how fortunate
(אַשְׁרֵי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of joys, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [How joyful is]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the man
UST are those (הַגֶּבֶר)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [the person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The joys of	how fortunate
you instruct	allow you to discipline them
Yah	Yahweh
and from your law	from your laws

Psalms 94:13

ULT	UST
to give rest to him from days of evil until a pit is dug for the wicked.	You relieve those people from bad things when they happen, and someday you will punish the wicked people and stop them from doing wicked things.

ULT to give rest to him
UST You relieve those people
(לְהַשְׁקִיט לוֹ)

Here, to give rest to him marks this clause as the goal or purpose of God instructing and teaching the blessed person. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [which will allow him to have rest]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT from days of evil
UST from bad things when they happen
(מִימֵי רָע)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe days that are characterized by evil. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [during evil days]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT a pit is dug
UST you will punish & and stop them from doing wicked things
(יִכָּרֶה & שָׁחַת)

The expression a pit is dug is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [Yahweh digs a pit]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT a pit is dug for the wicked
> UST you will punish the wicked people and stop them from doing wicked things
> (יִכְרֶה לְרִשְׁעָ֥ שְׁחַֽת)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if God's punishment of the wicked were actually a pit being dug. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh punishes the wicked]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from days of	when they happen
evil	from bad things
a pit	and stop them from doing wicked things
for the wicked	the wicked people

Psalms 94:14

ULT	UST
For Yahweh will not forsake his people and he will not abandon his inheritance.	This will happen because Yahweh will not reject his people; he will not desert those who belong to him.

ULT Yahweh will not forsake his people and he will not abandon his inheritance
UST Yahweh will not reject his people; he will not desert those who belong to him
(לֹא־יִטֹּשׁ יְהוָה עַמּוֹ וְנַחֲלָתוֹ לֹא יַעֲזֹב)

These two phrases will not forsake his people and he will not abandon his inheritance mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will not forsake his people, no, he will not abandon his inheritance]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and he will not abandon his inheritance
UST he will not desert those who belong to him
(וְנַחֲלָתוֹ לֹא יַעֲזֹב)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the people of Israel were actually his inheritance. He means that they are the people who belong to God in a special way, like a treasured possession that is passed down in a family. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he will not abandon Yahweh's own people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT For
UST This will happen because
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [This is because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
will & forsake	will & reject
he will & abandon	he will & desert
and & his inheritance	those who belong to him

Psalms 94:15

ULT	UST
For judgment will return to the right; and all the upright in heart {are} after it.	Yes, someday judges will again decide matters fairly for people, and all honest people will be pleased about that.

ULT For
UST Yes
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [It will happen that]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT judgment will return to the right
UST someday judges will again decide matters fairly for people
(עַד־צֶ֣דֶק יָשׁ֣וּב מִשְׁפָּ֑ט)

Here, judgment represents “judges” or “the judicial system.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [judges will return to making right judgments]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the right
UST decide matters fairly for people
(צֶ֣דֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of the right, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [being right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and all the upright in heart {are} after it
UST and all honest people will be pleased about that (וְאַחֲרָ֖יו כָּל־יִשְׁרֵי־לֵֽב)

The implication is that all the upright in heart will support and follow righteous judgment when it is restored. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and all the upright in heart are in favor of that]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
judgment	judges
will return	someday & will again
the right	decide matters fairly for people
the upright	honest people

Psalms 94:16

ULT	UST
Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? Who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness?	{But when evil people oppressed me,} I could find no one to defend me against the wicked things that evil people did to me.

ULT Who will rise up for me against the evildoers
UST But when evil people oppressed me,} I could find no one to defend me against & that evil people
(מִי־יָקוּם לִי עִם־מְרֵעִים)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [I cannot find anyone who will rise up for me against the evildoers.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness
UST But when evil people oppressed me,} I could find no one to defend & against the wicked things & did to me
(מִי־יִתְיַצַּב לִי עִם־פֹּעֲלֵי אָוֶן)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [I cannot find anyone who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? Who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness
UST But when evil people oppressed me,} I could find no one to defend me against the wicked things that evil people did to me
(מִי־יָקוּם לִי עִם־מְרֵעִים מִי־יִתְיַצַּב לִי עִם־פֹּעֲלֵי אָוֶן)

These two phrases Who will rise up for me against the evildoers and Who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? I say again, who will stand up for me against the workers of wickedness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

> ULT the workers of wickedness
> UST the wicked things & did
> (פֹּעֲלֵי אָוֶן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wickedness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the people doing wicked things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wickedness	the wicked things

Psalms 94:17

ULT	UST
Unless Yahweh {had been} a help to me, shortly my soul would have dwelt in silence.	If Yahweh had not helped me {at that time}, I would have gone quickly to the place where dead people say nothing.

ULT Unless Yahweh {had been} a help to me, shortly my soul would have dwelt in silence
UST If Yahweh had not helped me {at that time}, I would have gone quickly to the place where dead people say nothing
(לוּלֵי יְהוָה עֶזְרָתָה לִּי כִּמְעַט | שָׁכְנָה דוּמָה נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist says Unless Yahweh had been a help to me to introduce an imaginary situation to help explain what would have happened without God's help. Use a natural method in your language for introducing an imaginary situation. Alternate translation: [Only because Yahweh was a help to me, my soul did not shortly dwell in silence]

Support Reference: Hypothetical Situations

ULT had been} a help to me
UST had & helped me {at that time}, I would have (עֶזְרָתָה לִּי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [had helped me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my soul
UST people
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, his soul, to mean all of him in the act of dying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

> ULT would have dwelt in silence
> UST gone & to the place where dead & say nothing
> (שְׁכֻנָּה דוּמָֽה)

The psalmist is referring to death in a polite way by using the phrase would have dwelt in silence. Depending on what is helpful in your language, you could use a polite way of referring to this in your language, or you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [would have been killed]

Support Reference: Euphemism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	people

Psalms 94:18

ULT	UST
When I said, “My foot is slipping,” Your covenant faithfulness, Yahweh, supported me.	Just when I thought, “I am about to die,” then, Yahweh, you saved me by being faithful and loving to me.

ULT When I said
UST Just when I thought
(אִם־אָמַ֥רְתִּי)

By When I said, the psalmist means “When I said to myself” or “When I thought to myself.” You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When I said to myself]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT My foot is slipping
UST I am about to die
(מָ֭טָה רַגְלִ֑י)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if his life were actually a foot that was slipping. He means that he was in great trouble or danger. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am in big trouble] or [I need help]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Your covenant faithfulness
UST by being faithful and loving to me
(חַסְדְּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Because you are faithful to your covenant, you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your covenant faithfulness	by being faithful and loving to me
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 94:19

ULT	UST
When my cares within me {are} many, your consolations gladden my soul.	Whenever I am very worried, you comfort me and cause me to be happy.

ULT When my cares within me {are} many
UST Whenever I am very worried
(בְּרֹ֤ב שַׂרְעַפַּ֨י בְּקִרְבִּ֗י)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of cares, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [When I am worried about many things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your consolations gladden my soul
UST you comfort me and cause me to be happy
(תַּנְחוּמֶ֗יךָ יְשַׁעַשְׁע֥וּ נַפְשִֽׁי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of consolations, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your console me, which makes my soul glad]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my soul
UST me & me
(נַפְשִׁ֑י)

The psalmist is using my soul to represent all of himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [me]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my soul	me & me

Psalms 94:20

ULT	UST
Can a throne of destruction be your ally, one creating injustice by statute?	Corrupt rulers, those who establish laws that allow people to do what is not right, cannot be your friends.

ULT Can a throne of destruction be your ally, one creating injustice by statute
UST Corrupt rulers, those who establish laws that allow people to do what is not right, cannot be your friends
(הֲיִחְבְּרְךָ כִּסֵּא הַוּוֹת יֹצֵר עָמָל עֲלֵי־חֹק)

The psalmist is using the question form to express that God cannot be allied with corrupt rulers. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [You can have nothing to do with a throne of destruction, one who creates injustice by statute.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT a throne of destruction
UST Corrupt rulers
(כִּסֵּא הַוּוֹת)

Here, throne represents a ruler who has authority. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [a ruler who destroys people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT a throne of destruction
UST Corrupt rulers
(כִּסֵּא הַוּוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of destruction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a throne that destroys]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT one creating injustice by statute
UST those who establish laws that allow people to do what is not right (יֹצֵר עָמָל עֲלֵי־חֹק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of injustice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [one who creates unjust statutes]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a throne	rulers
of destruction	Corrupt
one creating	those who establish injustice	that allow people to do what is not right
statute	laws

Psalms 94:21

ULT	UST
They conspire together against the life of the righteous and they condemn innocent blood.	They plot together how to destroy righteous people, and they declare that innocent people must die.

ULT They conspire together
UST They plot together
(יָגֹודּוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the corrupt rulers from the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Such thrones of destruction conspire together] or [Wicked rulers like that conspire together]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT against the life of the righteous
UST how to destroy righteous people
(עַל־נֶפֶשׁ צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is using against the life of as a common expression of his culture to mean “to kill” or “to destroy.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to kill the righteous]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and they condemn innocent blood
UST and they declare that innocent people must die
(וְדַם נָקִי יַרְשִׁיעוּ)

The psalmist is using innocent blood as a common expression of his culture to mean “innocent people” or “people who do not deserve to die.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they condemn innocent people to death]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT the righteous
> UST righteous
> (צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific righteous person. He means righteous people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [all righteous people]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the righteous	righteous
they condemn	they declare that innocent	innocent people

Psalms 94:22

ULT	UST
But Yahweh has been to me a high tower, and my God, the rock of my refuge.	But Yahweh has become like a fortress for me; my God is like a huge rock that protects me.

ULT a high tower
UST like a fortress
(לְמִשְׂגָּב)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a high tower because that is a place of protection. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [my protector]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and my God, the rock
UST my God is like a huge rock
(וֵאלֹהַי לְצוּר)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and my God has been the rock]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and my God, the rock
UST my God is like a huge rock
(וֵאלֹהַי לְצוּר)

The psalmist speaks of having God protect him as if God were a place where the psalmist could go to be safe. See how “rock” and “refuge” are translated in Psalms 62:7. Alternate translation: [and my God has kept me safe by his power]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and my God
UST my God is (וֵאלֹהַי)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom he worships. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and the God whom I worship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
a high tower	like a fortress and my God	my God is
of my refuge	that protects me

Psalms 94:23

ULT	UST
He will return on them their iniquity and he will destroy them in their wickedness. Yahweh our God will destroy them.	He will do to those wicked leaders the terrible things that they have done to others; he will get rid of them because they do wicked things. Yes, Yahweh our God will get rid of them.

ULT He will return on them their iniquity
UST He will do to those wicked leaders the terrible things that they have done to others
(וַיָּ֣שֶׁב עֲלֵיהֶ֣ם | אֶת־אוֹנָ֑ם)

This could mean: (1) that Yahweh will do the same things to them that they did. Alternate translation: [He will do to them the evil things that they have done to others] or (2) that Yahweh will punish them for their evil. Alternate translation: [He will punish them for the evil things that they have done to others]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT on them
UST to those wicked leaders
(עֲלֵיהֶ֣ם)

The pronoun them refers to the corrupt rulers mentioned in verses 20–21. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [on those wicked rulers]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT their iniquity
UST the terrible things that they have done to others
(אֶת־אוֹנָ֑ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of iniquity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the sinful things that they have done]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and he will destroy them in their wickedness
UST he will get rid of them because they do wicked things
(וּבְרָעָתָ֥ם יַצְמִיתֵ֑ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wickedness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he will destroy them their wicked activities]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and he will destroy them in their wickedness
> UST he will get rid of them because they do wicked things
> (וּבְרֵעָתָ֥ם יַצְמִיתֵֽם)

This could mean: (1) that Yahweh will destroy them because of their wickedness. Alternate translation: [because they have done wicked things] or (2) that Yahweh will destroy them while they are doing wicked things. Alternate translation: [while they are doing wicked things]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT and he will destroy them in their wickedness. Yahweh our God will destroy them
> UST he will get rid of them because they do wicked things. Yes, Yahweh our God will get rid of them
> (וּבְרֵעָתָ֥ם יַצְמִיתֵ֑ם יְהוָ֥ה אֱלֹהֵ֗ינוּ)

These two phrases he will destroy them in their wickedness and Yahweh our God will destroy them mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [and he will destroy them in their wickedness. It is Yahweh our God who will destroy them]

Support Reference: Parallelism

> ULT our God
> UST our God
> (אֱלֹהֵ֗ינוּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom they worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their iniquity	the terrible things that they have done to others
he will destroy them	he will get rid of them
and & in their wickedness	because they do wicked things
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	our God

Psalms 95

Psalms 95 Introduction

Psalm 95 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 95 is the first in a series of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Call to worship (1–5)
2. Call to bow in worship (6–7a)
3. Warning to listen and obey (7b–11)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

God’s care

God made everything and takes good care of people. People should not be stubborn, as the Israelites were in the days of Moses. The Israelites with Moses wandered in the desert for 40 years.

Psalms 95:1

ULT	UST
Come, let us sing to Yahweh; let us shout to the rock of our salvation!	{Everyone,} come and let us sing to Yahweh; let us shout joyfully to the one who protects us and saves us!

> ULT to the rock of our salvation
> UST to the one who protects us and saves us
> (לְצוּר יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

Here the writer is speaking as if Yahweh were a rock. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. See how “rock” and “of my salvation” are translated in Psalms 18:46. Alternate translation: [to our protector and savior]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT to the rock of our salvation
> UST to the one who protects us and saves us
> (לְצוּר יִשְׁעֵנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to our steadfast savior]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
let us shout	let us shout joyfully
of our salvation	and saves us

Psalms 95:2

ULT	UST
Let us meet his face with thanksgiving; with psalms, let us sing joyfully to him.	Let us thank him as we come before him and sing joyful psalms as we praise him.

ULT Let us meet his face
UST as we come before him
(נְקַדְּמָה פָנָיו)

Here, his face represents being in the presence of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Let us go into his presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with thanksgiving
UST Let us thank him
(בְּתוֹדָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thanksgiving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as we thank him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with psalms	psalms
let us sing joyfully	and sing joyful

Psalms 95:3

ULT	UST
For Yahweh {is} a great God and a great king above all gods,	Because Yahweh is a great God. He is a great king who rules over all other spirit beings.

ULT above all gods
UST who rules over all other spirit beings
(עַל־כָּל־אֱלֹהִֽים)

The term “god,” when applied to a being other than Yahweh, can refer to an idol, but, as here, it can also refer to any lesser spirit being. Alternate translation: [above any other spiritual being]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT above all gods
UST who rules over all other spirit beings
(עַל־כָּל־אֱלֹהִֽים)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were actually positioned above all gods in a physical sense. He means that Yahweh is superior to all other gods. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [who is superior to all other gods]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} a & God	is a & God
and a & king	He is a & king
gods	spirit beings

Psalms 95:4

ULT	UST
who in his hand {has} the depths of the earth; and the heights of the mountains {are} to him,	He controls the whole earth. From the deepest places to the highest mountains, it belongs to him.

ULT in his hand {has
UST controls
(בְּיָדוֹ)

The psalmist is using in his hand as a common expression of his culture to mean “in his control” or “under his authority.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in his control]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT the depths of the earth; and the heights of the mountains
UST the whole earth. From the deepest places to the highest mountains
(מֶחְקְרֵי־אֶרֶץ וְתוֹעֲפ֥וֹת הָרִֽים)

The psalmist is referring to all of the earth by naming two extremes, the depths of the earth and the heights of the mountains. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [every part of the earth; they all]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT are} to him
UST it belongs to him
(לֽוֹ)

The psalmist is using are to him as a common expression of his culture to mean “belong to him” or “are his.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [are his]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the earth	the whole earth

Psalms 95:5

ULT	UST
who to him {is} the sea, and he, he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.	The seas are his because he is the one who made them. He also made the dry land.

ULT who to him {is UST are his (אֲשֶׁר־לֹו)

The psalmist is using who to him is as a common expression of his culture to mean “who owns.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [who owns]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and he, he made it
UST because he is the one who made them
(וְהוּא עָשָׂהוּ)

The writer is stating the pronoun he separately, even though the verb translated as he made it already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one who made the sea. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [and it was he who made it]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and his hands formed the dry land
UST He also made the dry land
(וְיַבֶּשֶׁת יָדָיו יָצָרוּ)

Here the word hands represents the action of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he himself formed the dry land]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and & the dry land	also & the dry land

Psalms 95:6

ULT	UST
Come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel to the face of Yahweh, our maker:	{Everyone,} come, let us worship him and bow down {before him}. Let us kneel before Yahweh, who is the one who made us.

ULT and bow down; let us kneel
UST him and bow down {before him}. Let us kneel
(וְנִכְרָעָה נִבְרְכָה)

The phrases bow down and kneel describe symbolic actions by which people showed submission and reverence to God. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of these actions in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [and show that we submit]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT to the face of
UST before
(לְפָנֵי)

Here, to the face of represents being in front of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the presence of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
let us worship	let us worship
and bow down	him and bow down {before him
let us kneel	Let us kneel
Yahweh	Yahweh
our maker	who is the one who made us

Psalms 95:7

ULT	UST
For he {is} our God, and we {are} the people of his pasture and the flock of his hand. Today—if only you would listen to his voice!	{Do this} because he is our God, and we are the people whom he protects, like sheep that a shepherd takes care of. I desire that today you may hear what Yahweh is saying to you.

ULT our God
UST our God
(אֱלֹהֵ֑ינוּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom we worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the people of his pasture
UST the people whom he protects (עַ֥ם מַרְעִיתֽוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the people were like God's sheep in his pasture. He means that the people are like God's sheep that he provides for. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people who belong to him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the flock of his hand
UST like sheep that a shepherd takes care of (וְצֹ֣אן יָדֽוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking here of God's people as if they were the flock of his hand. This image portrays God as a shepherd who personally cares for and guides his people like sheep. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the group that he directs and guards]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT if only you would listen
UST I desire that & you may hear
(אִם & תִּשְׁמָעוּ)

The psalmist says if only you would listen to introduce a wish that God's people would obey him. Use a natural method in your language for introducing a wish. Alternate translation: [I wish you would listen]

Support Reference: Hypothetical Situations

ULT to his voice
UST what Yahweh is saying to you
(בְּקֹלֹו)

Here, voice represents what God says. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to what he says]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our God	our God
and the flock	like sheep

Psalms 95:8

ULT	UST
“Do not harden your heart, as {at} Meribah, as {on} the day of Massah in the wilderness,	He says, “Do not become stubborn as your ancestors did at Meribah, and as they did long ago at Massah in the wilderness.

ULT Do not harden your heart
UST He says, “Do not become stubborn
(אַל־תַּקְשׁוּ לְבַבְכֶם)

The psalmist is using harden your heart as a common expression of his culture to mean “become stubborn” or “refuse to listen and obey.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Do not be obstinate]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT as {at} Meribah & Massah
UST as your ancestors did at Meribah & at Massah
(כִּמְרִיבָה & מַסָּה)

The words Meribah and Massah are the names of places.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
harden	Do & become stubborn
in the wilderness	in the wilderness

Psalms 95:9

ULT	UST
where your fathers tested me, tried me, though they had seen my deeds.	There your ancestors tested whether I would continue to be patient with them. They wanted to see if they could do evil things and not have me punish them. They did this even though they had seen me perform many miracles.

ULT tested me, tried me
UST tested whether I would continue to be patient with them. They wanted to see if they could do evil things and not have me punish them
(נָסּוּנִי & בְּחָנוּנִי)

The terms tested me and tried me mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [tested my patience] or [refused to trust me]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
tested me	tested whether I would continue to be patient with them

Psalms 95:10

ULT	UST
For 40 years I was angry with the generation and said, ‘They are a people wandering of heart and they, they have not known my ways.’	For 40 years I was angry with those people. I said about them, ‘Those people are unreliable. They completely refuse to obey my commands.’

ULT For 40 years
UST For 40 years
(אַרְבָּעִים שָׁנָה)

Translate this number according to the conventions of your own language and culture. Alternate translation: [For forty years]

Support Reference: Numbers

ULT wandering of heart
UST are unreliable
(תֹּעֵי לֵבָב)

God is using wandering of heart as a common expression of his culture to mean “tending to stray” or “lacking in commitment.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [blowing hot and cold] or [lacking in commitment]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and they, they have not known
UST They completely refuse to obey
(וְהֵם לֹא־יָדְעוּ)

The pronouns they, they refer to the people of Israel whom God is describing. The psalmist is stating the pronoun they separately, even though the verb translated as they have not known already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that these very people failed to know God’s ways. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [and those very people have not known]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT my ways
> UST my commands
> (דְּרָכָי)

Here God is speaking of how he wants people to live as if that were ways that people could walk along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the way that I teach people to live]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
years	years
with the generation	with those people
they have & known	to obey

Psalms 95:11

ULT	UST
Therefore I vowed in my nose, ‘if they enter into my rest.’”	So because I was very angry, I solemnly said about them, ‘They will never enter {the land of Canaan} where I would have allowed them to rest!’”

ULT in my nose
UST because I was very angry
(בְּאַפִּי)

God is using in my nose as a common expression of the culture to mean “in my anger.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in my anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT if they enter into my rest
UST They will never enter {the land of Canaan} where I would have allowed them to rest
(אִם־יְבֹאוּן אֶל־מְנוּחָתִי)

Following the custom of the culture, God is swearing an oath by stating the first part of a condition (If they enter into my rest) but not the second part (“then”). If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explicitly state the second part of this condition. Alternate translation: [If they enter into my rest, then I am not Yahweh]

Support Reference: Oath Formulas

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I vowed	I solemnly said about them

Psalms 96

Psalms 96 Introduction

Psalm 96 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 96 is one of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Call to sing and declare Yahweh’s greatness (1–6)
2. Call the nations to worship (7–9)
3. Yahweh’s reign and coming judgment (10–13)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh, the king

Yahweh is king over all the earth and is worthy of all praise.

Psalms 96:1

ULT	UST
Sing to Yahweh a new song; sing to Yahweh, all the earth.	Sing to Yahweh a new song! All you people throughout the earth, sing to Yahweh!

ULT all the earth
UST All you people throughout the earth
(כָּל־הָאָֽרֶץ)

Here, all the earth represents all the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all you people who live on the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 96:2

ULT	UST
Sing to Yahweh, bless his name; announce his salvation from day to day.	Sing to Yahweh and praise him! Every day proclaim to others that he has saved us.

ULT bless his name
UST and praise him
(בָּרֲכוּ שְׁמוֹ)

Here, name represents who Yahweh is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [bless everything that he is]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his salvation
UST that he has saved us
(יְשׁוּעָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that he is the one who saves]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from day to day
UST Every day
(מִיּוֹם־לְיוֹם)

The psalmist is using from day to day as a common expression of his culture to mean “continually” or “regularly.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [every day]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	Yahweh
bless	and praise
announce	proclaim to others
his salvation	that he has saved us

Psalms 96:3

ULT	UST
Recount his glory among the nations, his marvelous deeds among all the peoples.	Tell about how glorious he is to all people groups; tell all peoples everywhere the marvelous things that he has done.

ULT his glory
UST how glorious he is
(כְּבוֹדוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that he is extremely great]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his marvelous deeds
UST the marvelous things that he has done
(נִפְלְאוֹתָיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [recount his marvelous deeds]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Recount	Tell about
his glory	how glorious he is
among the nations	to all people groups
his marvelous deeds	the marvelous things that he has done

Psalms 96:4

ULT	UST
For Yahweh is great and is to be praised greatly. He is to be feared above all gods.	Do this because Yahweh is great, and he deserves very much for people to praise him; people should revere him more than all other gods.

ULT For
UST Do this because
(כִּ֤י)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and is to be praised
UST and he deserves & for people to praise him
(וּמְהֻלָּ֥ל)

The expression is to be praised is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and everyone should praise him]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT He is to be feared
UST people should revere him
(נוֹרָ֣א הֽוּא)

The expression He is to be feared is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Everyone should fear him]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
and is to be praised	and he deserves & for people to praise him is to be feared	people should revere
gods	gods

Psalms 96:5

ULT	UST
For all the gods of the peoples are idols, but Yahweh made the heavens.	This is true because all of the gods that the other peoples worship are only idols, but it is Yahweh who made the heavens!

ULT For
UST This is true because
(כִּ֤י)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [You see,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the gods	the gods that are idols	worship are only idols
but Yahweh	but it is Yahweh
the heavens	the heavens

Psalms 96:6

ULT	UST
Splendor and majesty {are} to his face. Strength and beauty {are} in his sanctuary.	Yahweh is magnificent and majestic. His holy house shows how strong and beautiful he is.

ULT Splendor and majesty {are} to his face
UST Yahweh is magnificent and majestic
(הוֹד־וְהָדָר לְפָנָיו)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of Splendor and majesty, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [His presence is splendid and majestic]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Strength and beauty {are UST how strong and beautiful he is (עֹז וְתִפְאֶרֶת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of Strength and beauty, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [He is strong and beautiful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT are} to his face
UST Yahweh
(לְפָנָיו)

Here, to his face represents “in his presence.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [are in his presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Splendor	is magnificent and majesty	and majestic
in his sanctuary	His holy house shows

Psalms 96:7

ULT	UST
Ascribe to Yahweh, clans of peoples, ascribe to Yahweh glory and strength.	You peoples in nations all over the earth, Proclaim that Yahweh is the one who is truly glorious and strong!

ULT Ascribe to Yahweh & ascribe to Yahweh
UST Proclaim that Yahweh is the one who is truly
(הָבוּ לַיהוָה & הָבוּ לַיהוָה)

These two phrases Ascribe to Yahweh and ascribe to Yahweh repeat the same meaning. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating it again. If it would be helpful to your readers, you say this once and express the emphasis in another way, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT clans of peoples
UST You peoples in nations all over the earth
(מִשְׁפְּחוֹת עַמִּים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean clans that belong to various peoples or clans from among the peoples. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [all clans in all peoples]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT glory and strength
UST glorious and strong
(כָּבוֹד וְעֹז)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of glory and strength, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [the fact that he is glorious and strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	that Yahweh
clans of	You peoples in glory	glorious
and strength	and strong

Psalms 96:8

ULT	UST
Give to Yahweh the glory of his name. Bring an offering and come into his courts.	Praise Yahweh as he deserves for us to praise him; bring an offering and come to his temple.

ULT Give to Yahweh the glory of his name
UST Praise Yahweh as he deserves for us to praise him
(הָבוּ לַיהוָה כְּבוֹד שְׁמוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Praise Yahweh because he is the glorious one]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the glory of his name
UST as he deserves for us to praise him
(כְּבוֹד שְׁמוֹ)

Here, name represents who God is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the glory of who he is]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the glory of	as he deserves for us to praise him
an offering	an offering
into his courts	to his temple

Psalms 96:9

ULT	UST
Bow down to Yahweh in the splendor of holiness; tremble from his face, all the earth.	Bow down before Yahweh because he is marvelously holy. Everyone on earth should tremble because of who he is.

ULT Bow down
UST Bow down
(הִשְׁתַּחֲווּ)

To Bow down was a symbolic action by which people showed reverence and submission to Yahweh. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Bow down in worship]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT in the splendor of holiness
UST because he is marvelously holy (בְּהַדְרַת־קֹדֶשׁ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of splendor and holiness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [because he is splendid and holy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT tremble
UST should tremble
(חִילוּ)

To tremble was a symbolic action by which people showed reverent fear and awe before God's holy presence. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [tremble in reverent awe]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT from his face
UST because of who he is
(מִפָּנָיו)

The psalmist is using from his face as a common expression of the culture to mean "because of" or "on account of." If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of him]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT all the earth
> UST Everyone on earth
> (כָּל־הָאָרֶץ)

Here, all the earth represents all the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all you people of the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bow down	Bow down
to Yahweh	before Yahweh
in the splendor	because he is marvelously of holiness	holy
tremble	should tremble

Psalms 96:10

ULT	UST
Say among the nations, “Yahweh reigns.” Indeed, the world is established; it cannot be shaken. He judges the peoples with evenness.	Say to {all} the people groups, “Yahweh is the king!” He put the world in its place, and nothing will ever be able to move it. He judges {all} the peoples fairly.

ULT the world is established
UST He put the world in its place
(תִּכּוֹן תֵּבֵל)

The expression the world is established is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [he established the world]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT it cannot be shaken
UST nothing will ever be able to move it
(בַּל־תִּמּוֹט)

The expression it cannot be shaken is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [nothing can shake it]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT He judges
UST He judges
(יָדִין)

This could mean: (1) Yahweh always judges the peoples with evenness, as in the UST, or (2) on the future day of judgment, Yahweh will judge the peoples with evenness. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will judge]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	people groups
Yahweh	Yahweh
reigns	is the king
the world	the world in its place is established	He put
be shaken	will ever be able to move it
He judges	He judges

Psalms 96:11

ULT	UST
Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; let the sea roar and its fullness.	All the beings that are in the heavens should be glad, and all the people on the earth should rejoice. The oceans and all the creatures that are in the oceans should roar {to praise Yahweh}.

ULT Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; let the sea roar
UST All the beings that are in the heavens should be glad, and all the people on the earth should rejoice. The oceans and all the creatures that are in the oceans
(יִשְׂמְחוּ הַשָּׁמַיִם וְתָגֵל הָאָרֶץ יִרְעַם הַיָּם)

Here the psalmist is calling on the heavens, earth, and sea to respond with praise to Yahweh. This is the author's way of expressing that all of creation should respond to Yahweh with joy and praise. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about "let" and "may" and follow the decision of your team on how you could express this with statements about what creation should do, as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT and its fullness
UST should roar {to praise Yahweh
(וּמְלֹאֹו)

By its fullness, the psalmist means all of the creatures that fill the sea. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and all of the creatures that fill it]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice
UST All the beings that are in the heavens should be glad, and all the people on the earth should rejoice
(יִשְׂמְחוּ הַשָּׁמַיִם וְתָגֵל הָאָרֶץ)

This could mean: (1) the heavens and the earth represent those who dwell in those places. Alternate translation: [Let those who live in the heavens be glad and let those who live on the earth rejoice] or (2) the heavens and the earth are spoken of as if they had emotions like people have. Alternate translation: [The heavens should be glad and the earth should rejoice]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	All the beings that are in the heavens
Let & be glad	should rejoice
and let & rejoice	should be glad

Psalms 96:12

ULT	UST
Let the fields rejoice and all that is in them. Then let all the trees in the forest shout for joy	Let it be as though the fields and everything that is in them are rejoicing. Then let it be as though all the trees in the forests are singing joyfully

ULT Let the fields rejoice and all that is in them. Then let all the trees in the forest shout for joy

UST Let it be as though the fields and everything that is in them are rejoicing. Then let it be as though all the trees in the forests are singing joyfully

(יַעֲלֹ֤ז שָׂדַי֙ וְכָל־אֲשֶׁר־בּ֔וֹ אָ֥ז יְרַנְּנ֖וּ כָּל־עֲצֵי־יָֽעַר)

Here the psalmist is speaking of fields and trees as if they were living things that could rejoice and shout for joy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let it be as though the fields and all that is in them are celebrating. Then let it be as though all the trees in the forest are shouting happily]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
rejoice	Let it be as though & are rejoicing
shout for joy	let it be as though & are singing joyfully
shout for joy	let it be as though & are singing joyfully

Psalms 96:13

ULT	UST
to the face of Yahweh, for he is coming, for he is coming to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness and the peoples with his faithfulness.	in front of Yahweh. They should do this because he is coming to judge everyone on the earth, and this is certain. He will judge all the people fairly according to what he knows is true.

ULT to the face of
UST in front of (לִפְנֵי)

Here, to the face of represents being in front of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT for he is coming, for he is coming
UST They should do this because he is coming & and this is certain (כִּי בָא כִּי בָא)

These two phrases for he is coming and for he is coming are the same. The words are repeated to emphasize their meaning. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [for it is sure that he is coming]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the earth
UST everyone on the earth
(הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people of the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the world
UST everyone on the earth
(תֵּבֵל)

Here, the world represents everyone who lives in the world. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [everyone in the world]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with righteousness
UST fairly
(בְּצֶדֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [righteously]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with his faithfulness
UST according to what he knows is true
(בֶּאֱמוּנָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [faithfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the earth & the world
UST everyone on the earth
(הָאָרֶץ & תֵּבֵל)

The terms the earth and the world mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [everyone ... everyone]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT and the peoples with his faithfulness
UST all the people & according to what he knows is true
(וְעַמִּים בֶּאֱמוּנָתוֹ)

The writer is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he will judge the peoples with his faithfulness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
to judge	to judge
He will judge	He will judge
the world	everyone on the earth
with righteousness	fairly
with his faithfulness	according to what he knows is true

Psalms 97

Psalms 97 Introduction

Psalm 97 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 97 is one of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Yahweh reigns in power and glory (1–6)
2. Idols are exposed as worthless (7–9)
3. The righteous are called to love and rejoice in Yahweh (10–12)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s authority

All people who worship idols are disgraced because Yahweh rules over all the world.

Psalms 97:1

ULT	UST
Yahweh reigns; let the earth rejoice; let the many coastlands be glad.	Yahweh is the king! I want everyone on the earth to be glad and I want all the people who live on the land in and around the oceans to {also} rejoice {about that}!

ULT let the earth
UST everyone on the earth
(הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [let the people on the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT let the many coastlands
UST all the people who live on the land in and around the oceans
(אִיִּים רַבִּים)

Here, coastlands represents the people who live on the coastlands. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [let the people on the many coastlands]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
reigns	is the king
rejoice	I want & to be glad be glad	and I want & to {also} rejoice {about that

Psalms 97:2

ULT	UST
Clouds and darkness surround him. Righteousness and justice {are} the foundation of his throne.	There are very dark clouds all around him; he always rules righteously and justly.

ULT Clouds and darkness
UST There are very dark clouds
(עָנָן וַעֲרָפֶל)

The phrase Clouds and darkness expresses a single idea. The word darkness tells more about clouds. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [Dark clouds]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

ULT Righteousness and justice {are UST righteously and justly
(צֶדֶק וּמִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of Righteousness and justice, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [Ruling righteously and justly is]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the foundation of his throne
UST he always rules
(מְכוֹן כִּסְאוֹ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the way in which Yahweh rules were actually the foundation of his throne. The psalmist means that righteousness and justice are the basis on which God rules. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the very basis of his reign]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT of his throne
UST he & rules
(כִּסְאוֹ)

Here, throne represents God's rule as king. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [of his rule as king]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Righteousness	righteously
and justice {are	and justly
the foundation	always
of his throne	he & rules

Psalms 97:3

ULT	UST
Fire goes to his face and burns his adversaries all around.	He sends fire out in front of him, and {that fire} burns all of his enemies.

ULT to his face
UST out in front of him
(לְפָנָיו)

Here, to his face represents being in front of him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his adversaries	his enemies

Psalms 97:4

ULT	UST
His lightning lights up the world; the earth sees and trembles.	All around the world he sends his bright lightning; people on the earth see {it}, and it causes them {to be afraid and} to tremble.

ULT the earth sees
UST people on the earth see {it
(רָאֲתָה & הָאָרֶץ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the earth sees the lightning]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the earth sees and trembles
UST people on the earth see {it}, and it causes them {to be afraid and} to tremble
(רָאֲתָה וַתָּחֵל הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people of the earth see and tremble]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and trembles
UST and it causes them {to be afraid and} to tremble
(וַתָּחֵל)

The implication is that the earth trembles with fear when it sees God's lightning. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and trembles with fear]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the world	All around the world
and trembles	and it causes them {to be afraid and} to tremble

Psalms 97:5

ULT	UST
The mountains melt like wax from to the face of Yahweh, from to the face of the Lord of all the earth.	The mountains melt like wax before Yahweh; he is the Lord who rules over all of the earth.

ULT melt like wax
UST melt like wax
(כַּדּוֹנַג נָמַסּוּ)

The point of this comparison is that just as wax melts easily when heated, so the mountains will easily crumble before Yahweh's power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [crumble as easily as wax melts]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT from to the face of
UST before
(מִלִּפְנֵי)

Here, from to the face of represents the mountains reacting to being in the presence of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before the presence of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from to the face of Yahweh, from to the face of the Lord of all the earth
UST before Yahweh; he is the Lord who rules over all of the earth
(מִלִּפְנֵי יְהוָה מִלִּפְנֵי אֲדוֹן כָּל־הָאָרֶץ)

These two phrases from to the face of Yahweh and from to the face of the Lord of all the earth mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [from the presence of Yahweh, the Lord of all the earth]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the Lord of	he is the Lord

Psalms 97:6

ULT	UST
The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the peoples see his glory.	Everything that people can see in the heavens makes it clear that he is righteous, and all the people groups see how glorious he is.

ULT The heavens declare his righteousness
UST Everything that people can see in the heavens makes it clear that he is righteous
(הַגִּ֣ידוּ הַשָּׁ֣מַיִם צִדְקֹ֑ו)

The psalmist is speaking of the heavens as if they were a living thing that could declare Yahweh's righteousness. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The heavens display his righteousness so clearly, it is as though they declare it]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT his righteousness
UST he is righteous
(צִדְקֹ֑ו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that he is righteous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his glory
UST how glorious he is
(כְּבֹודֹ֗ו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that he is glorious]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The heavens	Everything that people can see in the heavens declare	makes it clear that his righteousness	he is righteous
his glory	how glorious he is

Psalms 97:7

ULT	UST
Let all those serving a carved image have shame, those boasting in worthless idols— bow down to him, all you gods!	Everyone who worships carved images should be ashamed; all those who are proud of their useless false gods should be ashamed. All those gods should bow down to worship Yahweh!

ULT those boasting in worthless idols
UST all those who are proud of their useless false gods should be ashamed (הַמִּתְהַלְלִים בָּאֱלִילִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [let those boasting in worthless idols feel shame]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT bow down to him
UST should bow down to worship Yahweh
(הִשְׁתַּחֲווּ־לוֹ)

The pronoun him refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [bow down to Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT bow down to him
UST should bow down to worship Yahweh
(הִשְׁתַּחֲווּ־לוֹ)

To bow down to him was a symbolic action by which people showed worship and submission to a deity. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [bow down in worship to him]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT bow down to him, all you gods
UST All those gods should bow down to worship Yahweh
(הִשְׁתַּחֲווּ־לוֹ כָּל־אֱלֹהִים)

The psalmist has been addressing his audience, but now he briefly addresses all you gods, even though he knows that these gods cannot hear him. He does this in order to express more powerfully his feelings about Yahweh's supremacy over all other so-called gods. If it would be helpful in your language, you could introduce this more clearly and put the rest of this address in quote marks. Alternate translation: [I would tell those worthless idols to bow down to him]

Support Reference: Aside

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
those serving	who worships
a carved image	carved images
Let & have shame	should be ashamed
those boasting	all those who are proud of
in worthless idols	their useless false gods should be ashamed
bow down	should bow down to worship
you gods	those gods

Psalms 97:8

ULT	UST
Zion heard and was glad, and the daughters of Judah rejoiced because of your judgments, Yahweh.	The people of Jerusalem heard {Yahweh's just decrees} and they were happy {about them}; people in the other cities in Judah also {heard and} rejoiced because you judge {people} justly, Yahweh.

ULT Zion heard and was glad
UST The people of Jerusalem heard {Yahweh's just decrees} and they were happy {about them
(שָׁמְעָה וַתִּשְׂמַח ׀ צִיּוֹן)

Here, Zion represents the people who live in Jerusalem. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [The people living in Zion heard and were glad]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Zion heard
UST The people of Jerusalem heard {Yahweh's just decrees
(שָׁמְעָה & צִיּוֹן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Zion heard Yahweh's judgments]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and was glad
UST and they were happy {about them
(וַתִּשְׂמַח)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and was glad to hear them]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and the daughters of Judah
> UST people in the other cities in Judah
> (בְּנוֹת יְהוּדָה)

The psalmist is speaking as if the towns and cities throughout the territory of Judah were actually daughters of Judah. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the people in the smaller towns in Judah]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT your judgments
> UST you judge {people} justly
> (מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the righteous way that you judge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Zion	The people of Jerusalem
and was glad	and they were happy {about them
Judah	in Judah
rejoiced	also {heard and} rejoiced
your judgments	you judge {people} justly
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 97:9

ULT	UST
For you, Yahweh, are most high above all the earth. You are exalted far above all gods.	Of course, Yahweh, you are the supreme king who rules over all the earth; You are far more powerful than any other spirit beings.

ULT For
UST Of course
(כִּי)

For introduces not a reason but an explanation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a word or phrase that makes this relationship clearer. Alternate translation: [After all,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT are most high above
UST the supreme king who rules over
(עֲלִיּוֹן עַל)

The psalmist is speaking here as if Yahweh were actually most high above all the earth in a physical, spatial sense. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [are completely in charge of]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT You are exalted far above
UST You are far more powerful than (מְאֹד נַעֲלֵיתָ עַל)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were actually exalted in a physical, spatial sense high above all other things. The psalmist means that Yahweh has supreme authority and power over all creation. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You have much more authority than]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT all gods
UST any other spirit beings
(כָּל־אֱלֹהִים)

The term “god,” when applied to a being other than Yahweh, can refer to an idol, but, as here, it can also refer to any lesser spirit being. Alternate translation: [every other being]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
are most high	the supreme king who rules
You are exalted	You are & more powerful gods	other spirit beings

Psalms 97:10

ULT	UST
Lovers of Yahweh, hate evil! The protector of the lives of his faithful, from the hand of the wicked he snatches them.	All you who love Yahweh, you must hate every evil thing {that people do}! Yahweh protects those who are faithful to him; he rescues them when wicked people try to harm them.

ULT evil
UST every evil thing {that people do
(רָ֑ע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of evil, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [all that is evil]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT of his faithful
UST who are faithful to him
(חֲסִידָ֗יו)

The psalmist is using the adjective faithful as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [of everyone loyal to him]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the hand of
UST try to harm them
(מִיַּ֥ד)

Here, hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the power of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the wicked
UST when wicked people
(רְשָׁעִֽים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [bad people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT he snatches them
> UST he rescues them
> (יְפַלְּטֵם)

The psalmist is speaking here as if Yahweh actually snatches his faithful ones from danger. The image is of someone quickly grabbing something to pull it away from harm. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he saves them]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Lovers of	All you who love
Yahweh	Yahweh
evil	every evil thing {that people do
The protector	Yahweh protects of his faithful	who are faithful to him
the wicked	when wicked people

Psalms 97:11

ULT	UST
Light is sown for the righteous and for the upright of heart, gladness.	He makes good things happen for righteous people and he causes those who are honest to rejoice.

ULT Light is sown
UST He makes good things happen
(אוֹר זָרֻעַ)

The psalmist is speaking as if light were actually seeds that could be sown in the ground. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [He scatters light like seeds]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Light is sown
UST He makes good things happen
(אוֹר זָרֻעַ)

The psalmist is speaking here of good and beneficial things as if they were light. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He gives good things]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Light is sown
UST He makes good things happen
(אוֹר זָרֻעַ)

The expression Light is sown is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [Yahweh sows light]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT for the righteous
UST for righteous people
(לַצַּדִּיק)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [for those who are righteous]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT and for the upright of heart, gladness
> UST and he causes those who are honest to rejoice
> (וּלְיִשְׁרֵי־לֵֽב שִׂמְחָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of gladness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he makes glad the upright of heart]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and for the upright of heart
> UST and he causes those who are honest
> (וּלְיִשְׁרֵי־לֵֽב)

The psalmist is using upright of heart as a common expression of his culture to mean “sincere in their inner beings” or “honest in their intentions.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and for those who are sincere in their inner beings]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT gladness
> UST to rejoice
> (שִׂמְחָה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [gladness is sown]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for the righteous	for righteous people and for the upright of	and he causes those who are honest
gladness	to rejoice

Psalms 97:12

ULT	UST
Be glad in Yahweh, you righteous; and give thanks to the remembrance of his holiness!	You righteous people, let Yahweh make you glad, and thank him, the one we all know to be holy!

ULT in Yahweh
UST Yahweh
(בַּיהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking as if being glad were actually something that could happen at a location, in Yahweh. He means that the righteous should be glad because of Yahweh or should find their gladness in their relationship with Yahweh. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you righteous
UST You righteous people
(צַדִּיקִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [you who are righteous]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT to the remembrance of his holiness
UST the one we all know to be holy (לְזֵכֶר קָדְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using to the remembrance of his holiness as a common expression of his culture to mean “to his holy name” or “to him, whose reputation is holiness.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to his holy name] or [to him, whose reputation is holiness]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Be glad	let & make you glad
in Yahweh	Yahweh
you righteous	You righteous people
his holiness	to be holy

Psalms 98

Psalms 98 Introduction

Psalm 98 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 98 is one of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Sing a new song for Yahweh’s saving work (1–3)
2. Shout and rejoice in worship (4–6)
3. All creation celebrates Yahweh’s righteous rule (7–9)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Praise

Everyone and every thing should sing praises to Yahweh because he is worthy of all praise.

Psalms 98:1

ULT	UST
A psalm. Sing to Yahweh a new song, for he has done marvelous things; his right hand and the arm of his holiness have brought him salvation.	A psalm. Sing to Yahweh a new song because he has done wonderful things! By being powerfully holy he has saved {his people}.

ULT his right hand and the arm of his holiness
UST By being powerfully holy
(יְמִינוֹ וּזְרוֹעַ קָדְשׁוֹ)

Here, his right hand and the arm of his holiness represents God's great power. The psalmist is using body parts to refer to God's strength and ability to act. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his great and holy power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and the arm of his holiness
UST By being powerfully holy (וּזְרוֹעַ קָדְשׁוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of holiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and his holy arm]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT have brought him salvation
UST he has saved {his people
(הוֹשִׁיעָה־לּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Make sure that your translation communicates that Yahweh is the one who saves his people; he is not the one who is saved. Alternate translation: [have saved his people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Sing
UST Sing to (שִׁירוּ)

The word Sing, along with all of the command forms in this psalm, is plural here, so use the plural form in your translation if your language marks that distinction.

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	A psalm
to Yahweh	Yahweh
marvelous things	wonderful things
his holiness	By being powerfully holy have brought & salvation	has saved {his people

Psalms 98:2

ULT	UST
Yahweh has made known his salvation; to the eyes of the nations he has revealed his righteousness.	Yahweh has shown openly that he saves {his people}; he has revealed to people all over the world that he always does what is right.

ULT his salvation
UST that he saves {his people
(יְשׁוּעָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to everyone that he saves people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the eyes of the nations
UST to people all over the world
(לְעֵינֵי הַגּוֹיִם)

Here, eyes represents the sight or observation of people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in full view of the nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the nations
UST people all over the world
(הַגּוֹיִם)

Here, the nations represents the people of all the nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people of all the nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his righteousness
UST that he always does what is right
(צִדְקָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that he is righteous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
has made known	has shown openly
his salvation	that he saves {his people
the nations	people all over the world
his righteousness	that he always does what is right

Psalms 98:3

ULT	UST
He remembers his covenant loyalty and his faithfulness to the house of Israel; all the ends of the earth will see the salvation of our God.	He is always loyal to his covenant to be faithful to the Israelite people. Even the people who live in the most remote places of the earth will see that our God saves {his people}.

ULT He remembers
UST He is always
(זָכַר)

By He remembers, the psalmist does not mean that God could forget something, since God cannot forget anything. He means that God consistently knows and acts according to his covenant loyalty and faithfulness. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He bears in mind]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT his covenant loyalty and his faithfulness
UST loyal to his covenant to be faithful
(חַסְדּוֹ ׀ וֶאֱמוּנָתוֹ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant loyalty and faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [that he has committed to love and to be faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the house of Israel
UST to the Israelite people
(לְבֵית יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, house means all the people descended from a particular person. It envisions them as if they were one household living together. So the house of Israel figuratively means all the people descended from the patriarch Jacob, who was also known as Israel. Alternate translation: [to the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the ends of the earth
UST Even the people who live in the most remote places of the earth
(אַפְסֵי־אָרֶץ)

The psalmist is referring to all of the earth by naming the extremes, the ends of the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [people all over the earth]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT the salvation of our God
UST that our God saves {his people
(אֵת יְשׁוּעַת אֱלֹהֵינוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Make sure that your translation communicates that Yahweh is the one who saves his people; he is not the one who is saved. Alternate translation: [how our God saves people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT of our God
UST our God
(אֱלֹהֵינוּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom the people worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [from the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He remembers	He is always
his covenant loyalty	loyal to his covenant and his faithfulness	to be faithful to the house	to the & people of Israel	Israelite
the earth	the earth
the salvation	that & saves {his people
of our God	our God

Psalms 98:4

ULT	UST
Shout to Yahweh, all the earth; burst into song, sing for joy, and make music!	All you people everywhere should shout joyfully to Yahweh; praise him while you sing joyfully and make music!

ULT all the earth
UST All you people everywhere
(כָּל־הָאָֽרֶץ)

Here, all the earth represents all the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all people on the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT burst into song
UST praise him
(פִּצְחוּ)

By burst into song, the psalmist means that people should suddenly begin singing with great emotion. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [express your joy by singing]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT sing for joy
UST while you sing joyfully
(וְרַנְּנוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of joy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [sing joyfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Shout	should shout joyfully
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
sing for joy	while you sing joyfully

Psalms 98:5

ULT	UST
Make music to Yahweh with the harp, with the harp and the voice of a song.	Play to Yahweh on a harp, and sing along as you play.

ULT with the harp
UST on a harp
(בְּכִנּוֹר)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific harp. He means harps in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [with harps]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT with the harp, with the harp
UST on a harp & as you play
(בְּכִנּוֹר בְּכִנּוֹר)

The psalmist repeats the phrase with the harp to emphasize its meaning. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [with the harp, yes, with the harp]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and the voice of a song
UST and sing along
(וְקוֹל זִמְרָה)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe singing that is characterized by being vocal rather than instrumental. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and with people singing]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
with the harp	on a harp

Psalms 98:6

ULT	UST
With trumpets and the sound of the shofar, shout to the face of the King, Yahweh!	{Some of you should} blow trumpets and ram's horns {while others} shout joyfully to Yahweh, our king!

ULT to the face of
UST to (לִפְנֵי)

Here, to the face of represents being in front of the King, Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT shout
UST while others} shout joyfully
(הָרִיעוּ)

Here, shout refers to joyfully cheering in front of Yahweh. Be sure that your translation does not communicate that this is angry shouting. Alternate translation: [raise a cheer]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
With trumpets	Some of you should} blow trumpets
the shofar	and ram's horns
the King	our king
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 98:7

ULT	UST
Let the sea roar and its fulness, the world and the dwellers in it!	The oceans and all {the creatures} that are in the oceans should roar {to praise Yahweh}. The earth itself and everyone on it should do the same!

ULT and its fulness
UST and all {the creatures} that are in the oceans
(וּמְלֹאֹ֑ו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and let its fullness roar]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and its fulness
UST and all {the creatures} that are in the oceans
(וּמְלֹאֹ֑ו)

By its fullness, the psalmist means all the creatures that live in the sea. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and everything that fills it]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the world and the dwellers in it
UST The earth itself and everyone on it should do the same (תֵּ֘בֵ֤ל וְ֝יֹשְׁבֵ֗י בָּהּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [let the world and the dwellers in it roar]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the world
UST The earth itself & should do the same
(תֵּ֘בֵ֤ל)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the world as if it were a living thing that could shout. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [let it be as though the world were shouting]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the world	The earth itself & should do the same

Psalms 98:8

ULT	UST
Let the rivers clap palm; let the mountains rejoice together	It should seem as though the rivers were clapping their hands {to praise Yahweh} and that the hills were singing together joyfully

ULT Let the rivers clap palm
UST It should seem as though the rivers were clapping their hands {to praise Yahweh
(נְהָרוֹת יִמְחֲאוּ־כָף)

The psalmist is speaking of rivers as if they were living beings that could clap palm. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let it be as though the rivers clap palm]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Let the rivers clap palm
UST It should seem as though the rivers were clapping their hands {to praise Yahweh
(נְהָרוֹת יִמְחֲאוּ־כָף)

The psalmist is using clap palm as a common expression of his culture to mean “clap their hands.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Let the rivers clap their hands]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT let the mountains rejoice together
UST and that the hills were singing together joyfully
(יַחַד הָרִים יְרַנֵּנוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of the mountains as if they were living things that could rejoice. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [let it be as though the mountains rejoice together]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
let & rejoice	were singing & joyfully

Psalms 98:9

ULT	UST
to the face of Yahweh who is coming to judge the earth; he will judge the world with righteousness and the peoples with fairness.	before Yahweh because he will come to judge everyone on the earth! He will judge all the people in the world justly and fairly.

ULT to the face of
UST before
(לִפְנֵי)

Here, to the face of represents being in front of the King, Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the presence of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the earth
UST on the earth
(הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people of the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the world
UST in the world
(תֵּבֵל)

Here, the world represents the people who live in the world. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people in the world]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT he will judge the world with righteousness and the peoples with fairness
UST He will judge all the people in the world justly and fairly (יִשְׁפֹּט־תֵּבֵל בְּצֶדֶק וְעַמִּים בְּמֵישָׁרִים)

These two phrases he will judge the world with righteousness and the peoples with fairness mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [he will judge the world with righteousness, yes, he will judge the peoples with fairness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT with righteousness
UST justly
(בְּצֶדֶק)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [righteously]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with fairness
UST and fairly
(בְּמֵישָׁרִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of fairness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [equally]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and the peoples with fairness
UST all the people & and fairly
(וְעַמִּים בְּמֵישָׁרִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he will judge the peoples with fairness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
to judge	to judge everyone
he will judge	He will judge
the world	in the world
with righteousness	justly

Psalms 99

Psalms 99 Introduction

Psalm 99 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 99 is one of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Yahweh reigns over all peoples (1–3)
2. Yahweh loves justice and rules rightly (4–5)
3. Yahweh answers his faithful servants (6–9)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s justice

God is just and fair. Moses, Aaron and Samuel each prayed to him and obeyed him, and he answered their prayers. (See: just, justice, unjust, injustice, justify, justification)

Psalms 99:1

ULT	UST
Yahweh reigns—let the peoples tremble— sitting {above} the cherubim; let the earth quake!	Yahweh is the supreme king, so all people should tremble {in front of him}! He sits on his throne {in the temple} above the {statues of} the cherubim, so the earth should quake!

ULT Yahweh reigns—let the peoples tremble— sitting {above} the cherubim; let the earth quake
UST Yahweh is the supreme king, so all people should tremble {in front of him}! He sits on his throne {in the temple} above the {statues of} the cherubim, so the earth should quake (יְהוָה מָלָךְ יִרְגְּזוּ עַמִּים יֹשֵׁב כְּרוּבִים תָּנוּט הָאָרֶץ)

If it would be helpful in your language, you could move the phrase let the peoples tremble so that it does not interrupt the larger sentence. Alternate translation: [Yahweh reigns, sitting above the cherubim; let the peoples tremble and let the earth quake]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT sitting {above} the cherubim
UST He sits on his throne {in the temple} above the {statues of} the cherubim
(יֹשֵׁב כְּרוּבִים)

If it would be helpful, you could explain in the text or a footnote that Yahweh is pictured here as sitting above the cherubim that are on the lid of the ark of the covenant, which is in his temple in Jerusalem. The biblical writers often spoke of the ark of the covenant as if it were Yahweh's footstool upon which he rested his feet as he sat on his throne in heaven above. Alternate translation: [he sits on his throne above the cherubim on the ark of the covenant]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
reigns	is the supreme king
let & tremble	so & should tremble {in front of him
the cherubim	above the {statues of} the cherubim
let & quake	so & should quake

Psalms 99:2

ULT	UST
Yahweh in Zion {is} great, and he is high above all the peoples.	Yahweh is a mighty king in Jerusalem; he is also the supreme ruler of all peoples.

ULT is} great
UST is a mighty king
(גָּדוֹל)

By is great, the psalmist means that Yahweh is powerful and mighty as a ruler. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [is a powerful ruler]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and he is high above
UST he is also the supreme ruler of (וְרָם הוּא עַל)

The psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh were actually high above all the peoples in a physical sense. He means that Yahweh powerfully rules over all the peoples. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he powerfully rules over]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
in Zion	in Jerusalem

Psalms 99:3

ULT	UST
Let them praise your great and fearsome name; holy {is} he.	They should praise you, Yahweh, because you are great and awesome! {They should say,} “He is holy!”

ULT your great and fearsome name
UST you, Yahweh, because you are great and awesome
(שִׁמְךָ גָּדוֹל וְנוֹרָא)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is or to refer to Yahweh’s reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you, who are great and fearsome]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your great and fearsome name
UST you, Yahweh, because you are great and awesome
(שִׁמְךָ גָּדוֹל וְנוֹרָא)

In this psalm, the psalmist switches between talking about Yahweh in the third person and addressing him in second person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this verse in the third person. Alternate translation: [his great and fearsome name]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Let them praise	They should praise
and fearsome	and awesome
holy	They should say & holy

Psalms 99:4

ULT	UST
And the strength of the king: he loves justice. You, you have established fairness; you, you have done justice and righteousness in Jacob.	Yahweh is a mighty king {because} he loves what is just. You, Yahweh, have established what is fair. You have acted justly and righteously for the people of Israel.

ULT And the strength of the king
UST Yahweh is a mighty king
(וְעֹ֣ז מֶ֭לֶךְ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [And the king is strong]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT he loves justice
UST because} he loves what is just (מִשְׁפָּ֣ט אָ֑הֵב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of justice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he loves doing what is just]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT You, you have established fairness
UST You, Yahweh, have established what is fair
(אַ֝תָּ֗ה כּוֹנַ֥נְתָּ מֵישָׁרִֽים)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you have established already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one who has established fairness. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you are the one who has established fairness]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you have established fairness
UST You & have established what is fair
(כּוֹנַנְתָּ מֵישָׁרִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of fairness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you have given us laws that are fair]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT you, you have done justice and righteousness
UST You have acted justly and righteously
(מִשְׁפָּט וּצְדָקָה & אַתָּה עָשִׂיתָ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you have done already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one who has done justice and righteousness. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you are the one who has done justice and righteousness]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you have done justice and righteousness in Jacob
UST have acted justly and righteously for the people of Israel
(מִשְׁפָּט וּצְדָקָה בְּיַעֲקֹב & עָשִׂיתָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of justice and righteousness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [everything that you have done for Jacob is just and right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in Jacob
UST for the people of Israel
(בְּיַעֲקֹב)

By in Jacob, the psalmist means in the land of Israel. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [in the land of Israel]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And the strength of	is a mighty
the king	Yahweh & king
he loves	because} he loves
justice	what is just
you have established	You & have established and righteousness	and righteously
in Jacob	for the people of Israel

Psalms 99:5

ULT	UST
Exalt Yahweh our God and worship at the stool for his feet. Holy {is} he.	Praise Yahweh, the God whom we worship! Bow down to him at {the temple, which is} his footstool. He is holy!

ULT Exalt & and worship
UST Praise & Bow down to him
(רוֹמְמוּ & וְהִשְׁתַּחֲווּ)

The command forms in this verse and verse 9 are plural, so use that form if your language marks that distinction.

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

ULT and worship at the stool for his feet
UST Bow down to him at {the temple, which is} his footstool
(וְהִשְׁתַּחֲווּ לְהֲדֹם רַגְלָיו)

If it would be helpful, you could explain in the text or a footnote that the psalmist is continuing to picture Yahweh as sitting above the ark of the covenant, which is in his temple in Jerusalem. Alternate translation: [and worship Yahweh before his throne in the temple]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Exalt	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	the God whom we worship
and worship	Bow down to him
Holy	holy

Psalms 99:6

ULT	UST
Moses and Aaron {were} among his priests, and Samuel {was} among those calling his name. They called to Yahweh, and he, he answered them.	Moses and Aaron were two of his priests; Samuel also was someone who prayed to him. Those {three} cried out to Yahweh {to help them}, and he helped them.

ULT was} among those calling his name
UST also was & him
(בְּקֹרְאֵי שְׁמוֹ)

Here, calling his name represents praying to God or calling out to him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [was among those calling out to him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and he, he answered them
UST and he helped them
(וְהוּא יַעֲנָם)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun he separately, even though the verb translated as answered already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh himself responded to Moses, Aaron, and Samuel. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [and he himself answered them]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT he answered them
UST helped them
(יַעֲנָם)

By he answered them, the psalmist means that God helped Moses, Aaron, and Samuel when they called out to him for assistance. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [he helped them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Moses	Moses
and Aaron	and Aaron
were} among his priests	were two of his priests
and Samuel	Samuel
was} among those calling	also was
They called	someone who prayed to
Yahweh	Yahweh {to help them

Psalms 99:7

ULT	UST
In the pillar of cloud he spoke to them. They kept his testimonies and the statutes he gave to them.	He spoke to Moses and Aaron from the cloud that was {like} a {huge} pillar. They obeyed {all} the laws and commandments that he gave to them.

ULT he spoke to them
UST He spoke to Moses and Aaron
(יְדַבֵּר אֲלֵיהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to Moses and Aaron mentioned in the previous verse, since they were the ones whom Yahweh spoke to out of the cloud. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [he spoke to Moses and Aaron]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They kept
UST They obeyed
(שָׁמְרוּ)

The pronoun They probably includes Samuel here, along with Moses and Aaron, since Yahweh also spoke directly to him and he obeyed. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Moses, Aaron, and Samuel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
In the pillar	that was {like} a {huge} pillar
his testimonies	all} the laws
and the statutes	and commandments

Psalms 99:8

ULT	UST
Yahweh our God, you, you answered them. A forgiving God you were to them, but avenging concerning their deeds.	Yahweh, our God, you helped Moses, Aaron, and Samuel {when they cried out to you to help them}; you are the God who forgave them {for the sins that they had committed}, even though you punished them for the things that they did that were wrong.

ULT our God
UST our God
(אֱלֹהֵינוּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom the people worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT you, you answered them
UST you helped Moses, Aaron, and Samuel {when they cried out to you to help them
(אַתָּה עָנִיתָם)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you answered already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that God himself personally answered them. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you answered them yourself]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you answered them
UST helped Moses, Aaron, and Samuel {when they cried out to you to help them
(עָנִיתָם)

The pronoun them refers to Moses, Aaron, and Samuel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [you answered Moses, Aaron, and Samuel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT you answered them
> UST helped Moses, Aaron, and Samuel {when they cried out to you to help them
> (עֲנִיתָם)

The implication is that God answered Moses, Aaron, and Samuel by helping them when they called out to him in times of need. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [you helped them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT their deeds
> UST the things that they did that were wrong
> (עֲלִילוֹתָם)

Here the psalmist assumes that readers will know that their deeds refers to sinful or wrongful actions. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [their sinful deeds]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	our God
forgiving	who forgave & for the sins that they had committed
A & God	the God
but avenging	even though you punished them

Psalms 99:9

ULT	UST
Exalt Yahweh our God, and worship at the hill of his holiness, for Yahweh our God is holy.	Praise Yahweh, our God, and worship him {at the temple} on his holy hill; {it is right to do that} because Yahweh, our God, is holy!

ULT our God
UST our God
(אֱלֹהֵ֑ינוּ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean the God whom the people worship. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the God whom we worship]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT at the hill of his holiness
UST at the temple} on his holy hill
(לְהַ֖ר קָדְשֹׁ֑ו)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the hill that is characterized by his holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [at his holy hill]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT at the hill of his holiness
UST at the temple} on his holy hill
(לְהַ֖ר קָדְשֹׁ֑ו)

By the hill of his holiness, the psalmist means the hill where God's holy temple is located. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [at the hill where his holy temple is located]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Exalt	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	our God
and worship	and worship him
of his holiness	his holy is holy	is holy
for & is holy	it is right to do that} because & is holy

Psalms 100

Psalms 100 Introduction

Psalm 100 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 100 is the last of this group of six “worship psalms” (Psalms 95–100).

1. Call to joyful praise (1–2)
2. Reason for worship: Yahweh is God (3)
3. Enter with thanksgiving and praise (4)
4. Yahweh’s character is the foundation of praise (5)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s care for his creation

God made mankind and takes good care of people.

Psalms 100:1

ULT	UST
A psalm of thanksgiving. Shout to Yahweh, all the earth.	A psalm of thanksgiving. Everyone in the world should shout joyfully to Yahweh!

ULT Shout to Yahweh
UST should shout joyfully to Yahweh
(הָרִ֣יעוּ לַֽיהוָ֑ה)

The command forms such as shout are plural in this psalm because the psalmist is calling all people to praise God, so use the plural form in your translation if your language marks that distinction. See how “shout” is translated in Psalms 47:1. Alternate translation: [Raise a shout to Yahweh]

Support Reference: Forms of ‘You’ — Singular

ULT all the earth
UST Everyone in the world
(כָּל־הָאָֽרֶץ)

Here, all the earth represents all the people who live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [all people on earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	A psalm
to Yahweh	to Yahweh

Psalms 100:2

ULT	UST
Serve Yahweh with gladness; come to his face with rejoicing.	We should worship Yahweh gladly! We should come before him singing joyfully.

ULT with gladness
UST gladly
(בְּשִׂמְחָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of gladness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [gladly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to his face
UST before him
(לְפָנָיו)

Here, to his face represents being in the presence of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [into his presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with rejoicing
UST singing joyfully
(בִּרְנָנָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of rejoicing, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [singing joyful songs]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Serve	We should worship
Yahweh	Yahweh
with gladness	gladly
with rejoicing	singing joyfully

Psalms 100:3

ULT	UST
Know that Yahweh, he {is} God; he, he made us, and not we, his people and the sheep of his pasture.	We should acknowledge that Yahweh is God. It is he who made us; we did not make ourselves. We are the people who belong to him; we are like sheep that he cares for as a shepherd does.

ULT Know
UST We should acknowledge
(דְּעוּ)

The word translated as Know is a command. If, in your language, someone would not command someone else to know something, then use a form in your language that communicates an exhortation to fully realize something. Alternate translation: [Let us fully realize] or [You must believe that it is true]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Yahweh, he {is} God
UST Yahweh is God
(יְהוָה הִוא אֱלֹהִים)

The pronouns Yahweh and he both refer to God. The psalmist is stating the pronoun he separately, even though it could be omitted, in order to emphasize that it is Yahweh specifically who is God. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [it is Yahweh who is God]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT he, he made us
UST It is he who made us
(הִוא־עָשָׂנוּ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun he separately, even though the verb translated as he made us already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one who made us and no one else. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [he is the one who made us]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT and not we
> UST we did not make ourselves
> (ולא אֲנַחְנוּ)

Many ancient manuscripts read and not we. The ULT follows that reading. Other ancient manuscripts read “and we are his.” If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to use the reading that it uses. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to use the reading of the ULT. Alternate translation: [and we are his]

Support Reference: Textual Variants

> ULT and not we
> UST we did not make ourselves
> (ולא אֲנַחְנוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and it was not we who made ourselves]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and the sheep of his pasture
> UST we are like sheep that he cares for as a shepherd does > (וְצֹאן מַרְעִיתוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking here as if the people were actually sheep that belong to God. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he provides for us as though we were sheep in his pasture]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Know	We should acknowledge
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} God	is God
and the sheep	we are like sheep

Psalms 100:4

ULT	UST
Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise. Give thanks to him; bless his name.	Enter the gates {of his temple} thanking him; enter the courtyard {of his temple} singing songs to praise him! Thank him and praise him

ULT with thanksgiving
UST thanking him
(בְּתוֹדָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thanksgiving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as you thank him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with praise
UST singing songs to praise him
(בִּתְהִלָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praise, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as you praise him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his name
UST him
(שְׁמוֹ)

Here, his name represents who he is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his gates	the gates {of his temple
and his courts	enter the courtyard {of his temple
with praise	singing songs to praise him
bless	and praise

Psalms 100:5

ULT	UST
For Yahweh {is} good; his covenant faithfulness {is} to eternity and his truthfulness until generation and generation.	because Yahweh always does good things for us. He will faithfully love us forever, and he will always fulfill everything that he has promised.

ULT For
UST because
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [It is right to do this since]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT his covenant faithfulness {is} to eternity
UST He will faithfully love us forever
(לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and eternity, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [he is eternally faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT is} to eternity
UST forever
(לְעוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of eternity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is everlasting]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his truthfulness
UST he will & fulfill everything that he has promised (אֱמוּנָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truthfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he is trustworthy] or [he is truthful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and his truthfulness until generation and generation
> UST and he will always fulfill everything that he has promised
> (וְעַד־דֹּר וָדֹר אֱמוּנָתְוֹ)

The psalmist is using generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean “for all time” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and his truthfulness endures for all time]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT and his truthfulness until generation and generation
> UST and he will always fulfill everything that he has promised
> (וְעַד־דֹּר וָדֹר אֱמוּנָתְוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and his truthfulness lasts until generation and generation]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} good	always does good things for us
his covenant faithfulness	He will faithfully love us is} to eternity	forever
generation	and & always and generation	and & always

Psalms 101

Psalms 101 Introduction

Psalm 101 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 101 is a psalm of David asking God’s help to live as a person should. With God’s help, David pledges to rule uprightly and to get rid of all evildoers.

1. David commits to upright life (1–2)
2. David rejects evil and deceit (3–7)
3. David promises justice and faithfulness (8)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Encouragement

David wanted to encourage all the good people in the land and restrain all the evil people. (See: evil, wicked, wickedness, unpleasant)

Psalms 101:1

ULT	UST
A psalm of David I shall sing {of} covenant faithfulness and justice; to you, Yahweh, I shall sing praises.	David wrote this psalm. Yahweh, I will praise you with singing! I will sing that you are just and that you faithfully love us.

ULT I shall sing
UST I will sing
(אָשִׁ֫ירָה)

See the introduction to Psalms for an explanation of the word shall.

ULT of} covenant faithfulness and justice
UST that you are just and that you faithfully love us
(חֶ֭סֶד־וּמִשְׁפָּ֣ט)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and justice, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [about how you are always fair and promised to be faithful to us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
A psalm	wrote this psalm
of David	David
of} covenant faithfulness	and that you faithfully love us
and justice	that you are just
Yahweh	Yahweh
I shall sing praises	I will praise & with singing

Psalms 101:2

ULT	UST
I shall study the blameless way. When will you come to me? I will walk in the integrity of my heart within my house.	I will examine how to live in the right way. Yahweh, I need you to come and help me! In everything that I do in my household, I will sincerely try to do what is right.

ULT the blameless way
UST how to live in the right way
(בְּדֶ֣רֶךְ תָּמִ֑ים)

By the blameless way, David means the way of living that is morally perfect and without fault. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the blameless way to live]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT When will you come to me
UST Yahweh, I need you to come and help me
(מָתַ֥י תָּב֗וֹא אֵלָ֫י)

David is using the question form When will you come to me to emphasize the strength of his desire. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [I want you to come to me!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT I will walk
UST I will & try to do
(אֶ֭תְהַלֵּךְ)

David is speaking of how he will live his life as if it were the way in which he will walk. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will behave]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in the integrity of my heart
UST sincerely & what is right
(בְּתֹם־לְבָבִי)

The phrase in the integrity of my heart was a common expression meaning “with complete honesty” or “with pure motives.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [being honest with everyone] or [with a clear conscience]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
blameless	right
in the integrity of	sincerely & what is right
my house	in my household

Psalms 101:3

ULT	UST
I will not put a worthless thing before my eyes; I hate to do transgressions; it will not cling to me.	I will not tempt myself to do any bad thing. I hate any kind of sinful action; I will not allow myself to think about doing those things.

ULT I will not put a worthless thing before my eyes
UST I will not tempt myself to do any bad thing
(לֹא־אָשִׁית | לְנֶגֶד עֵינַי דְּבַר־בְּלִיָּעַל)

David is using put a worthless thing before my eyes as a common expression of his culture to mean “consider doing a worthless thing” or “focus my attention on a worthless thing.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will not consider doing a worthless thing]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT to do transgressions
UST any kind of sinful action
(עֲשֹׂה־סֵטִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of transgressions, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [doing sinful things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT it will not cling to me
UST I will not allow myself to think about doing those things
(לֹא יִדְבַּק בִּי)

David is speaking here as if wrongdoing were actually something physical that could cling to a person. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [doing transgressions will not be part of my behavior]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT it will not cling to me
> UST I will not allow myself to think about doing those things
> (לֹא יִדְבַּק בִּי)

The pronoun it refers to the act of doing transgressions, seen in the previous clause. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [doing transgressions will not cling to me]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a worthless thing	to do any bad thing
transgressions	any kind of sinful

Psalms 101:4

ULT	UST
A perverse heart will turn away from me; I will not know evil.	I will not be dishonest, and I will not do anything evil.

ULT A perverse heart will turn away from me
UST I will not be dishonest
(לֵבָב עִקֵּשׁ יָסוּר מִמֶּנִּי)

This could mean: (1) David will not allow himself to have a perverse heart. Alternate translation: [My heart will reject becoming perverse] or (2) David will not tolerate people with perverse hearts. Alternate translation: [People with perverse hearts will be far from me]

ULT A perverse heart
UST will not be dishonest
(לֵבָב עִקֵּשׁ)

Here David is speaking as if a person's intentions were his heart. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Desiring to do perverse things]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT will turn away from me
UST I will not be dishonest
(יָסוּר מִמֶּנִּי)

Here David is speaking as if perverse intentions were actually objects that could physically turn away from him. He means that he will not allow himself to be influenced by perverse thoughts or intentions. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will avoid] or [I will not allow myself]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT I will not know evil
UST and I will not do anything evil
(רָ֝ע לֹ֗א אֵדָֽע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of evil, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I will not know evil actions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I will not know evil
UST and I will not do anything evil
(רַ֣ע לֹ֣א אֵדָֽע)

David is using I will not know evil as a common expression of his culture to mean “I will have nothing to do with evil.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will have nothing to do with evil] or [I will reject anything evil]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
perverse	will not be dishonest
I will & know	and I will & do evil	anything evil

Psalms 101:5

ULT	UST
The one slandering his neighbor in secret, him I will destroy. The {one} lofty of eyes and the {one} wide of heart, him I cannot.	I will get rid of anyone who secretly slanders someone else. I will not tolerate anyone who is proud or arrogant.

ULT The one slandering his neighbor
UST slanders someone else
(מְלוֹשְׁנִי & רֵעֵהוּ)

David is not referring to a specific person slandering a specific neighbor. He means people who slander neighbors in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Whoever slanders his neighbor]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT The {one} lofty of eyes and the {one} wide of heart
UST who is proud or arrogant
(גְּבַהּ־עֵינַיִם וּרְחַב לֵבָב)

The terms lofty of eyes and wide of heart mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Any prideful person]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT The {one} lofty of eyes
UST who is proud
(גְּבַהּ־עֵינַיִם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific one lofty of eyes. He means people with lofty eyes in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Whoever is lofty of eyes]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT The {one} lofty of eyes
UST who is proud
(גְּבַהּ־עֵינַיִם)

David is using lofty of eyes as a common expression of his culture to mean “haughty” or “arrogant.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Any haughty person]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and the {one} wide of heart
UST or arrogant
(וּרְחַב לֵבָב)

David is not referring to a specific one wide of heart. He means all people with this characteristic. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and whoever is wide of heart]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and the {one} wide of heart
UST or arrogant
(וּרְחַב לֵבָב)

David is using wide of heart as a common expression of his culture to mean “proud” or “arrogant.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and any proud person]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT him I cannot
UST I will not tolerate anyone
(אֹתוֹ לֹא אוּכָל)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. The full meaning is him I cannot tolerate or stand. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [him I cannot stand] or [him I cannot tolerate]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The one slandering	slanders
his neighbor	someone else
I will destroy	I will get rid of
The {one} lofty of	who is proud

Psalms 101:6

ULT	UST
My eyes {are} on the faithful {ones} of the land to sit with me; The {one} walking in the way of integrity, he may serve me.	I look for people in this land who are loyal to God to help me rule {this nation}. Only people who behave honestly may work for me.

ULT My eyes {are} on the faithful {ones} of UST I look for people & who are loyal to God
(עֵינַי | בְּנֶאֱמְנֵי)

Here, My eyes are on represents David's attention or focus. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am seeking the faithful ones of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to sit with me
UST to help me rule {this nation
(לְשֶׁבֶת עִמָּדִי)

The implication is that these faithful people will sit with David as advisors or officials in positions of authority. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [to rule under my authority]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT The {one} walking in the way of integrity
UST Only people who behave honestly
(הֹלֵךְ בְּדֶרֶךְ תָּמִים)

Here David is speaking of living with integrity as if integrity were a path for his walking. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [The one living with integrity]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT The {one} walking
UST Only people who behave
(הֹלֵךְ)

David is not referring to a specific one walking. He means anyone walking in the way of integrity in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Anyone walking]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} on the faithful {ones} of	people & who are loyal to God
integrity	honestly
may serve me	may work for me

Psalms 101:7

ULT	UST
A doer of deceit will not remain within my house; a speaker of lies will not be established before my eyes.	I will not allow anyone who deceives others {to work} in my palace, and I will not allow anyone who tells lies to continue working for me.

ULT A doer of deceit will not remain within my house; a speaker of lies will not be established before my eyes
UST I will not allow anyone who deceives others {to work} in my palace, and I will not allow anyone who tells lies to continue working for me
(לֹא־יֵשֵׁב ׀ בְּקֶרֶב בֵּיתִי עֹשֵׂה רְמִיָּה דֹּבֵר שְׁקָרִים לֹא־יִכּוֹן לְנֶגֶד עֵינָי)

These two phrases A doer of deceit will not remain within my house and a speaker of lies will not be established before my eyes mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [A doer of deceit will not remain within my house, no, a speaker of lies will not be established before my eyes]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT A doer of deceit
UST anyone who deceives others
(עֹשֵׂה רְמִיָּה)

David is not referring to a specific doer of deceit. He means deceitful people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Any doer of deceit]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT a speaker of lies
UST anyone who tells lies
(דֹּבֵר שְׁקָרִים)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific speaker of lies. He means speakers of lies in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [any speaker of lies]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT within my house
UST to work} in my palace
(בְּקֶרֶב בֵּיתִי)

The implication is that David is referring to his royal court or household staff, not just the physical building. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [as a member of my staff]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT will not be established
UST and I will not allow & to continue working (לֹא־יִכּוֹן)

The expression will not be established is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I will not tolerate]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT before my eyes
UST for me
(לְנֶגֶד עֵינָי)

Here, before my eyes represents “in my presence” or “under my supervision.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in my presence] or [under my supervision]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
deceit	anyone who deceives others
my house	my palace
lies	lies
will & be established	and I will & allow & to continue working

Psalms 101:8

ULT	UST
In the mornings I will destroy all the wicked of the land, to cut off all workers of evil from the city of Yahweh.	I will start every day by working to get rid of all of the wicked people in this land. I will expel everyone who does what is evil from this city that belongs to Yahweh.

ULT In the mornings
UST I will start every day
(לַבְּקָרִים)

By In the mornings, the psalmist means that he will consistently and regularly destroy the wicked, day after day. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Morning by morning] or [Each morning]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the wicked of
UST wicked people
(רִשְׁעֵי)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are wicked of]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT to cut off
UST I will expel
(לְהַכְרִית)

The psalmist is using cut off as a common expression of the culture to mean “remove.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to remove]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT workers of evil
UST who does what is evil
(פֹּעֲלֵי אָוֶן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of evil, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [evildoers] or [people who do evil things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT from the city of Yahweh
> UST from this city that belongs to Yahweh
> (מֵעִיר־יְהוָֹה)

The implication is that this city is Jerusalem, where God dwells with his people. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from this city, which is Yahweh's city]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will destroy	by working to get rid of the wicked of	wicked people
the land	in this land
evil	what is evil
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 102

Psalms 102 Introduction

Psalm 102 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 102 is a “lament.”

1. Cry of distress and plea for mercy (1–11)
2. Confidence in Yahweh’s eternal purposes and mercy (12–17)
3. Call to record and remember Yahweh’s mercies (18–22)
4. Yahweh sustains and remains unchanging (23–28)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Salvation

The psalmist does not want to die young. He also wants to see Jerusalem saved. (See: save, saved, safe, salvation, rescue)

Psalms 102:1

ULT	UST
Hear my prayer, Yahweh; let my cry come unto you.	Yahweh, please listen to me when I pray to you; yes, please be attentive as I cry out to you!

ULT Hear my prayer, Yahweh; let my cry come unto you
UST Yahweh, please listen to me when I pray to you; yes, please be attentive as I cry out to you (יְהוָה שִׁמְעָה תְפִלָּתִי וְשַׁוְעָתִי אֵלֶיךָ תָּבוֹא)

These two phrases Hear my prayer, Yahweh and let my cry come unto you mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [Hear my prayer, Yahweh, as I cry out to you]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Hear my prayer
UST please listen to me when I pray to you
(שִׁמְעָה תְפִלָּתִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. Use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please hear my prayer]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT let my cry come unto you
UST yes, please be attentive as I cry out to you (וְשַׁוְעָתִי אֵלֶיךָ תָּבוֹא)

The psalmist is speaking of my cry as if it were a living thing that could come to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [pay attention to what I cry to you]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my prayer	when I pray to you
Yahweh	Yahweh
my cry	yes & as I cry out

Psalms 102:2

ULT	UST
Do not hide your face from me on the day it distresses me. Incline your ear to me. On the day I call out, hurry, answer me.	When distressing things happen to me, please do not ignore me! Listen to me, and answer me quickly as soon as I call out to you!

ULT Do not hide your face from me
UST please do not ignore me
(אַל־תַּסְתֵּר פָּנֶיךָ ׀ מִמֶּנִּי)

The psalmist is using hide your face from me as a common expression of his culture to mean “ignore me” or “reject me.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Do not turn your back on me] or [Do not reject me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT it distresses me
UST distressing things happen to me
(צַר לִי)

Here the pronoun it could refer to: (1) any distressing thing in general. Alternate translation: [when things distress me] or (2) “the day” mentioned just before it. Alternate translation: [that distresses me]

Support Reference: Reflexive Pronouns

ULT on the day & On the day
UST When & as soon as (בְּיוֹם & בְּיוֹם)

The phrase on the day appears twice in this verse with slightly different meanings. The first occurrence refers to any time when distressing things happen, while the second occurrence refers to the specific moment when the psalmist calls out to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use different expressions to distinguish between these general and specific time references, such as “when” for the first occurrence and “as soon as” or “the moment” for the second. Alternate translation: [when … At the time]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT Incline your ear to me
> UST Listen to me
> (הַטֵּה־אֵלַי אָזְנֶךָ)

The psalmist is using Incline your ear to me as a common expression of his culture to mean “pay attention to me” or “listen carefully to me.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
it distresses	distressing things happen
I call out	I call out to you

Psalms 102:3

ULT	UST
For my days expire like smoke, and my bones are charred like a fireplace.	Please hurry because my life is ending as quickly as smoke that disappears; my body feels like a fire is burning it.

ULT For
UST Please hurry because
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [Do this because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT my days expire like smoke
UST my life is ending as quickly as smoke that disappears
(כָּלוּ בְעָשָׁן יָמָי)

Here, my days refers to the author's life, and the idea of smoke is something that quickly disappears. Alternate translation: [my life passes away quickly]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and my bones are charred like a fireplace
UST my body feels like a fire is burning it
(וְעַצְמוֹתַי כְּמוֹקֵד נִחָרוּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if his bones were actually charred like a fireplace. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [and my bones feel like they are charred like a fireplace]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and my bones are charred like a fireplace
UST my body feels like a fire is burning it
(וְעַצְמוֹתַי כְּמוֹקֵד נִחָרוּ)

The point of this comparison is that just as a fireplace becomes blackened and charred from repeated burning of fires in it, so the psalmist's bones feel burned and damaged from his suffering. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and my bones are charred like a fireplace that has had many fires in it]

Support Reference: Simile

> ULT and my bones are charred like a fireplace
> UST my body feels like a fire is burning it
> (וְעַצְמוֹתַי כְּמוֹ־קֶֽד נִחָרוּ)

The expression are charred is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and it feels like fire has charred my bones as it chars a fireplace]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

Psalms 102:4

ULT	UST
My heart is struck like grass and withered, for I have forgotten to eat my bread.	I feel as though I am withering away like grass that the sun has scorched. You see, I do not even remember to eat any food.

ULT My heart is struck like grass and withered
UST I feel as though I am withering away like grass that the sun has scorched
(הוּכָּה־כָעֵשֶׂב וַיִּבַּשׁ לִבִּי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his heart, to mean all of himself in the act of withering away. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am struck like grass and withered]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT My heart is struck like grass and withered
UST I feel as though I am withering away like grass that the sun has scorched
(הוּכָּה־כָעֵשֶׂב וַיִּבַּשׁ לִבִּי)

The psalmist is speaking here as if his heart were actually grass that has been struck and withered. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [I feel as though my heart has been struck like grass and withered]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT My heart is struck like grass and withered
UST I feel as though I am withering away like grass that the sun has scorched
(הוּכָּה־כָעֵשֶׂב וַיִּבַּשׁ לִבִּי)

Here the psalmist is making a comparison between his heart and grass to show how he feels. The point of this comparison is that just as grass becomes withered when it is struck down, so the psalmist's heart has become weak and almost lifeless. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [My heart feels as dead as grass that has been struck down and dried out]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT My heart is struck like grass and withered
UST I feel as though I am withering away like grass that the sun has scorched
(הוּכָּה־כָעֵשֶׂב וַיִּבַשׁ לִבִּי)

The expression My heart is struck like grass and withered uses passive verbal forms. If your language would not use those forms, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [My heart feels as dead as grass that the sun has killed and dried]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT for
UST You see
(כִּי)

Here the word for introduces not a reason but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [indeed,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT my bread
UST any food
(לַחְמִי)

The psalmist is using one kind of food, bread, to mean food in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [a meal]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my bread	any food

Psalms 102:5

ULT	UST
From the voice of my groaning, my bone clings to my flesh.	I groan aloud so much that my bones protrude under my skin.

ULT From the voice of my groaning
UST I groan aloud so much
(מִקּוֹל אַנְחָתִי)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a voice that is characterized by groaning. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [From my loud groans]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT my bone clings
UST that my bones protrude
(דָּבְקָה עַצְמִי)

The psalmist is using the singular bone to refer to all of his bones in the act of becoming extremely thin from distress. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my bones cling]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

Psalms 102:6

ULT	UST
I am like an owl of the wilderness; I have become like a screech owl in the ruins.	I am {lonely and despised} like an owl in the desert; I have become like a screech owl in the ruins {of a town}.

ULT I am like an owl of the wilderness; I have become like a screech owl in the ruins
UST I am {lonely and despised} like an owl in the desert; I have become like a screech owl in the ruins {of a town
(דָּמִיתִי לְקָאַת מִדְבָּר הָיִיתִי כְּכוֹס חָרְבוֹת)

The psalmist is using two comparisons to describe his lonely and desolate condition. The point of those two comparisons is that just as an owl of the wilderness and a screech owl in the ruins are solitary creatures in desolate places, so is the psalmist in his distress. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [I have become as solitary and lonely as an owl of the wilderness or as a screech owl in the ruins]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT an owl of the wilderness
UST lonely and despised & an owl in the desert
(לְקָאַת מִדְבָּר)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe an owl that is characterized by the wilderness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [an owl that lives in the wilderness]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT an owl
UST lonely and despised & an owl
(לְקָאַת)

The word translated as “owl” here is obscure. Most scholars believe that the word refers to a type of owl. The ancient Greek translation used the word for “pelican” here, and that was followed by some older versions, although a pelican is a water bird that cannot live in a dry wilderness. If “pelican” is correct, then the psalmist is saying that he feels as though he is living in a place where he cannot survive. If “owl” is correct, then the psalmist is saying that he feels alone and abandoned. You may want to use the word that the major translation in your area uses.

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of the wilderness	in the desert
in the ruins	in the ruins {of a town

Psalms 102:7

ULT	UST
I am alert, and I have become like a bird alone on a roof.	I lie awake {at night}; I am like a lonely bird sitting on a housetop.

ULT I am alert
UST I lie awake {at night
(שָׁקַדְתִּי)

This could mean: (1) The psalmist is awake when he would like to be sleeping. Alternate translation: [I am unable to sleep] or (2) The psalmist is watching for Yahweh to answer him. Alternate translation: [I am watching]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and I have become like a bird alone
UST I am like a lonely bird
(וָאֶהְיֶה כְּצִפּוֹר בּוֹדֵד)

The point of this comparison is that just as a bird alone is solitary and isolated, so is the psalmist. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and I have become as solitary as a bird alone]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I am alert	I lie awake {at night

Psalms 102:8

ULT	UST
My enemies taunt me all the day; those mocking me swear by me.	During the whole of each day my enemies insult me. Those who make fun of me use my name when they curse people, saying, “May you be like him.”

ULT swear by me
UST use my name when they curse people, saying, “May you be like him
(בִּי נִשְׁבָּעוּ)

By swear by me, the psalmist means that his enemies use his name as a curse, saying something like “May you become as miserable as he is.” You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [refer to me when they curse people]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My enemies	my enemies
taunt me	insult me
those mocking me	Those who make fun of me
swear	when they curse people, saying, “May you be like him
swear by me	use my name when they curse people, saying, “May you be like him

Psalms 102:9

ULT	UST
As ashes as bread I eat, and I mix my drink with weeping

ULT As ashes as bread
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: כִּי־אֵפֶר כַּלֶּחֶם
(כִּי־אֵפֶר כַּלֶּחֶם)

The psalmist is speaking as if eating his bread were the same as eating ashes. He means that his food has no taste or appeal because of his deep sorrow and distress. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Bread and ashes taste the same to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT As ashes as bread
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: כִּי־אֵפֶר כַּלֶּחֶם
(כִּי־אֵפֶר כַּלֶּחֶם)

The psalmist is using one kind of food, bread, to mean food in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [My food is as ashes]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT with weeping
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: בִּבְכִי
(בִּבְכִי)

Here, weeping represents tears. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [with my tears]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and I mix my drink
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: מָסָכְתִּי & וְשִׁקַּוִי
(מָסָכְתִּי & וְשִׁקַּוִי)

The implication is that the psalmist's drink is mixed with his tears because he is weeping. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and my drink becomes mixed]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
as bread	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: כַּלֶּחֶם
with weeping	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: בִּבְכִי

Psalms 102:10

ULT	UST
from the face of your fury and rage, for you have lifted me up and thrown me.

ULT from the face of your fury and rage, for you have lifted me up and thrown me
UST It feels as though you have picked me up and thrown me away! Because you are so very angry with me
(מִפְּנֵי־זַעְמְךָ֥וְקִצְפֶּ֑ךָ כִּ֥י נְשָׂאתַ֖נִי וַתַּשְׁלִיכֵֽנִי)

If it is more natural in your language to state the reason before the result, you could do so by moving this sentence to the previous verse. You would then present the combined verses as 102:9–10. Alternate translation: [because of your fury and rage, for you have lifted me up and thrown me, I eat ashes like bread and mix my drink with weeping]

Support Reference: Verse Bridges

ULT from the face of
UST Because
(מִפְּנֵי)

The psalmist is using from the face of as a common expression of the culture to mean “because of” or “on account of.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT your fury and rage
UST you are so very angry with me
(זַעְמְךָ֥וְקִצְפֶּ֑ךָ)

The phrase fury and rage expresses a single idea. The word fury tells more about the rage. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [your furious rage]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

ULT for
UST It feels as though you have picked me up
(כִּ֤י)

Here the word for introduces not a reason but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [you see,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT you have lifted me up and thrown me
UST It feels as though you have picked me up and thrown me away
(נְשָׂאתַ֥נִי וַתַּשְׁלִיכֵֽנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if God had literally lifted him up and thrown him away like an object. He means that he feels as though God has rejected and abandoned him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I feel like you have lifted me up and thrown me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your fury	you are so very angry with me
and rage	you are so very angry with me

Psalms 102:11

ULT	UST
My days {are} like a lengthening shadow, and I, like grass, have withered.	My time to remain alive is {coming to an end} like an evening shadow {that will soon be gone}. I have withered as grass withers {in the hot sun}.

ULT My days {are
UST My time to remain alive
(יָמַי)

By My days are the psalmist means his remaining time to live. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [My remaining life is]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT My days {are} like a lengthening shadow
UST My time to remain alive is {coming to an end} like an evening shadow {that will soon be gone
(יָמַי כְּצֵל נָטוּי)

The psalmist is making a comparison. The point of this comparison is that just as a lengthening shadow grows longer and fainter as evening approaches, and then it disappears, so My days are coming to an end. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [My days are ending like an evening shadow ends the day]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and I, like grass, have withered
UST I have withered as grass withers {in the hot sun
(וַאֲנִי כָּעֵשֶׂב אִיבָשׁ)

The point of this comparison is that just as grass withers and dies, so the psalmist views himself as withering and dying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and I am dying as grass dies under the hot sun]

Support Reference: Simile

Psalms 102:12

ULT	UST
But you, Yahweh, sit forever, and your remembrance {is} to generation and generation.	But Yahweh, you will rule forever on your royal throne; people of all times will talk about you.

ULT sit forever
UST will rule forever on your royal throne
(לְעוֹלָם תֵּשֵׁב)

By sit forever the psalmist means that Yahweh sits on a throne to rule as king forever. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [sit on your throne as king forever]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and your remembrance {is
UST will talk about you
(וְזִכְרְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of remembrance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and you will be well-known]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to generation and generation
UST people of all times
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

The psalmist is using to generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean “throughout all generations” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [throughout all generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	But Yahweh
forever	forever
to generation	people of all times
and generation	people of all times

Psalms 102:13

ULT	UST
You, you will arise, you will have mercy on Zion; for {it is} the time to favor her; for the appointed time has come.	You yourself will now act and be merciful to the people of Jerusalem; you will do this because it is now the time that you have set for you to be kind to them.

ULT You, you will arise
UST You yourself will now act
(אַתָּה תָקוּם)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun You separately, even though the verb translated as you will arise already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it is God who will act to show mercy to Zion. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [It will be you who will now arise]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT you will arise
UST You & will now act
(תָקוּם)

The psalmist is using you will arise as a common expression of the culture to indicate that God is about to begin taking action to help his people. He does not mean that God is getting out of bed or standing up from a seated position. If this expression does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you will go into action] or [you will do something]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT Zion
UST to the people of Jerusalem
(צִיּוֹן)

Here, Zion represents the people who live there. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people of Zion]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT you will have mercy on
> UST and be merciful
> (תְּרַחֵם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of mercy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you will act mercifully toward]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT the appointed time
> UST that you have set
> (מוֹעֵד)

The expression the appointed time is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [the time that you have appointed]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you will have mercy on	and be merciful
Zion	to the people of Jerusalem
it is} the time	it is now the time to favor her	for you to be kind to them
the appointed time	that you have set
the appointed time	that you have set

Psalms 102:14

ULT	UST
For your servants cherish her stones and favor her dust.	It is true that we who serve you love everything about Jerusalem.

ULT For
UST It is true that
(כִּ֤י)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [After all,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT For your servants cherish her stones and favor her dust
UST It is true that we who serve you love everything about Jerusalem
(כִּֽי־רָצ֣וּ עֲבָדֶ֣יךָ אֶת־אֲבָנֶ֑יהָ וְאֶת־עֲפָרָ֥הּ יְחֹנָֽנוּ)

The psalmist says your servants cherish her stones and favor her dust as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [For your servants absolutely love the city of Jerusalem]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT For your servants cherish her stones and favor her dust
UST It is true that we who serve you love everything about Jerusalem
(כִּֽי־רָצ֣וּ עֲבָדֶ֣יךָ אֶת־אֲבָנֶ֑יהָ וְאֶת־עֲפָרָ֥הּ יְחֹנָֽנוּ)

The psalmist is referring to all of Jerusalem by naming two components that are opposite in size, her stones and her dust. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [For your servants love all of the city]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT your servants
UST we who serve you
(עֲבָדֶ֣יךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself and his people in the third person as your servants to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [we, your people,]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servants	we who serve you
her stones	everything about Jerusalem
favor	everything about Jerusalem

Psalms 102:15

ULT	UST
The nations will fear the name of Yahweh, and all the kings of the earth, your glory.	Yahweh, someday the people of all nations will revere you, and all the kings on the earth will recognize how very glorious you are.

ULT The nations
UST the people of all nations
(גּוֹיִם)

Here, The nations represents the people of the nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [The people of the nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT will fear
UST someday & will revere
(וְיִירְאוּ)

The word translated as fear includes the sense of awe and respect. Use a word that includes these ideas, if possible. Alternate translation: [will deeply respect]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the name of Yahweh
UST Yahweh & you
(אֶת־שֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, name represents who Yahweh is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [who Yahweh is]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and all the kings of the earth, your glory
UST and all the kings on the earth will recognize how very glorious you are (וְכָל־מַלְכֵי הָאָרֶץ אֶת־כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and all the kings of the earth will fear your glory]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT your glory
> UST how very glorious you are > (אֶת־כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you, because you are glorious]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The nations	the people of all nations
will fear	someday & will revere
Yahweh	Yahweh
the kings of	the kings on your glory	how very glorious you are

Psalms 102:16

ULT	UST
For Yahweh builds Zion; he appears in his glory.	You see, it is Yahweh who builds Jerusalem; he will appear {there} gloriously.

ULT For
UST You see
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [After all,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT he appears in his glory
UST he will appear {there} gloriously
(נִרְאָה בִּכְבוֹדוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he is glorious as he appears]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	it is Yahweh
Zion	Jerusalem
in his glory	gloriously

Psalms 102:17

ULT	UST
He turns to the prayer of the destitute and he does not despise their prayer.	Yahweh listens to the prayers of {his} people who are homeless. He does not ignore them when they pray for him to help them.

ULT He turns to the prayer of the destitute and he does not despise their prayer
UST Yahweh listens to the prayers of {his} people who are homeless. He does not ignore them when they pray for him to help them
(פָּנָה אֶל־תְּפִלַּת הֶעְרְעֶר וְלֹא־בָזָה אֶת־תְּפִלָּתָם)

These two phrases He turns to the prayer of the destitute and he does not despise their prayer mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He turns to the prayer of the destitute; certainly, he does not despise their prayer]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT He turns to
UST Yahweh listens to (פָּנָה אֶל)

The psalmist is speaking as if God were physically turning himself toward the prayers of the destitute. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. If not, you could state this plainly. Alternate translation: [He pays attention to]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the prayer of the destitute
UST the prayers of {his} people who are homeless
(תְּפִלַּת הֶעְרְעֶר)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a prayer that is characterized by the destitute. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the destitute when he prays]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and he does not despise their prayer
UST He does not ignore them when they pray for him to help them
(וְלֹא־בָזָה אֶת־תְּפִלָּתָם)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word despise. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [and he accepts their prayer]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the prayer of	the prayers of {his} people
their prayer	when they pray for him to help them

Psalms 102:18

ULT	UST
This will be written for a future generation, and a people being created will praise Yah;	I will write these things down so that people in future years will know {what he has done}, {in order that} people who are not born yet will praise Yahweh.

ULT This will be written
UST I will write these things down
(תִּכָּתֵב זֹאת)

The expression This will be written is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is the psalmist. Alternate translation: [I will write this]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and a people being created
UST in order that} people who are not born yet
(וְעַם נִבְרָא)

The expression a people being created is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [and a people whom Yahweh is still creating]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for a & generation	so that people in future years will know {what he has done being created	who are not born yet will praise	will praise
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 102:19

ULT	UST
that he looked down from the height of his holiness; Yahweh from heaven regarded the earth,	{They will describe} how Yahweh looked down from his holy place in heaven and saw {what was happening on} the earth.

ULT that
UST They will describe} how
(כִּי)

The connecting word that introduces the content of the praise mentioned in the previous verse. Use a way that is natural in your language to introduce what the praise is about. Alternate translation: [They will say that]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT that he looked down from the height of his holiness; Yahweh from heaven regarded the earth
UST They will describe} how Yahweh looked down from his holy place in heaven and saw {what was happening on} the earth
(כִּי־הִשְׁקִיף מִמְּרוֹם קָדְשׁוֹ יְהוָה מִשָּׁמַיִם | אֶל־אֶרֶץ הִבִּיט)

These two phrases that he looked down from the height of his holiness and Yahweh from heaven regarded the earth mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [that he looked down from the height of his holiness; yes, Yahweh from heaven regarded the earth,]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT from the height of his holiness
UST from his holy place
(מִמְּרוֹם קָדְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a height that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from his holy high-place]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT from the height of his holiness
> UST from his holy place
> (מְמְּרוֹם קָדְשׁוֹ)

The phrase the height of his holiness refers to heaven, where God dwells. The psalmist assumes that readers will understand that this is describing God's holy dwelling place above the earth. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from heaven]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT the earth
> UST and & on} the earth
> (אֶל־אֶֽרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the people living on earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people living on earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his holiness	his holy
Yahweh	Yahweh
from heaven	in heaven
the earth	and & on} the earth

Psalms 102:20

ULT	UST
to hear the groaning of the prisoner, to release the sons of execution.	Yahweh looked down in order to help the groaning prisoners. He looked down in order to set free the people whom their enemies were about to kill.

ULT to hear & to release
UST Yahweh looked down in order to help & He looked down in order to set free (לִשְׁמֹעַ & לְפַתֵּחַ)

Here, to hear and to release mark these clauses as the goal or purpose of Yahweh looking down from heaven. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that he could hear … so that he could release]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT to hear
UST Yahweh looked down in order to help
(לִשְׁמֹעַ)

By to hear, the psalmist means to respond to and help. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [to respond to] or [to relieve]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the sons of execution
UST the people whom their enemies were about to kill
(בְּנֵי תְמוּתָה)

The psalmist is using sons of execution as a common expression of the culture to indicate people who have a certain characteristic. In this case, these people have the characteristic of being condemned to death. If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those doomed to die] or [those who would soon be executed]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to release	He looked down in order to set free

Psalms 102:21

ULT	UST
To recount the name of Yahweh in Zion and his praise in Jerusalem	As a result, people in Jerusalem will tell what Yahweh has done and praise him for it.

ULT To recount the name of Yahweh in Zion and his praise in Jerusalem
UST As a result, people in Jerusalem will tell what Yahweh has done and praise him for it (לְסַפֵּר בְּצִיּוֹן שֵׁם יְהוָה וּתְהִלָּתוֹ בִּירוּשָׁלִָם)

These two phrases to recount the name of Yahweh in Zion and his praise in Jerusalem mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [to extol and praise the name of Yahweh in Zion]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the name of Yahweh
UST what Yahweh has done
(שֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, the name of Yahweh represents Yahweh's reputation or who he is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the great things that Yahweh is known for]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and his praise in Jerusalem
UST in Jerusalem & and praise him for it
(וּתְהִלָּתוֹ בִּירוּשָׁלִָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and to recount his praise in Jerusalem]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and his praise
> UST and praise him for it
> (וּתְהִלָּתוֹ)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean praise that is given to him. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and to praise him]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
To recount	As a result & will tell
of Yahweh	Yahweh
in Zion	people
and his praise	and praise him for it in Jerusalem	in Jerusalem

Psalms 102:22

ULT	UST
when peoples and kingdoms gather together to serve Yahweh.	This will happen when many peoples, including those from other kingdoms, gather to worship Yahweh together.

ULT peoples and kingdoms
UST many peoples, including those from other kingdoms
(עַמִּ֣ים & וּ֝מַמְלָכ֗וֹת)

The phrase peoples and kingdoms expresses a single idea. The word kingdoms tells more about peoples. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [peoples from many kingdoms]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and kingdoms	including those from other kingdoms
when & gather	This will happen when & gather to serve	to worship
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 102:23

ULT	UST
He has broken my strength on the road. He has shortened my days.	{But now} he has caused me to become weak while I am still young; {I think that} I will not remain alive very long.

ULT He has broken my strength
UST But now} he has caused me to become weak
(עִנָּה & כחו)

The psalmist is speaking as if his physical vitality were actually an object that God could break. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He has weakened my body]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT on the road
UST while I am still young (בַּדֶּרֶךְ)

The psalmist is speaking of his life as if it were actually the road that he was traveling along. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in the middle of my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT my days
UST I think that} I will not remain alive very long (יָמָי)

Here, days represents the psalmist's lifetime. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my lifetime]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 102:24

ULT	UST
I said, “My God, do not take me away in the middle of my days; your years {are} a generation of generations.	I say {to you}, “My God, do not let me die when I am only half-way through my lifetime! In contrast, you live forever!

ULT do not take me away
UST do not let me die
(אַל־תַּעֲלֵנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if God would literally take him somewhere. He means that God would cause him to die. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [do not end my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT my days
UST my lifetime
(יָמָי)

Here, days represents “life.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my life]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT your years {are
UST In contrast, you live
(שְׁנוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking as if God’s eternal existence were actually years. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your lifespan is]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT a generation of generations
UST forever
(בְּדוֹר דּוֹרִים)

The psalmist is using a generation of generations as a common expression of his culture to mean “forever” or “for all time.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [forever] or [unending]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT a generation of generations
UST forever
(בְּדֹר דֹּרִים)

Some translations mark the end of this verse as the place where the direct quotation ends. Other translations consider that the direct quotation continues until the end of the psalm. You may wish to follow what the major translation in your area does.

Support Reference: Quote Markings

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My God	My God
my days	my lifetime
your years {are	In contrast, you live
a generation of	forever
generations	forever

Psalms 102:25

ULT	UST
Formerly you set the earth, and the heavens {are} the work of your hands.	You created the world long ago, and you are the one who made the heavens.

ULT you set the earth
UST You created the world
(הָאָ֥רֶץ יָסַ֗דְתָּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the earth were actually set in place like an object that someone positions or establishes. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you made the earth what it is]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the heavens {are} the work of your hands
UST and you are the one who made the heavens
(וּמַעֲשֵׂ֖ה יָדֶ֣יךָ שָׁמָֽיִם)

Here, hands represents the power and creative ability of God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the heavens are your creative work]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens {are	the heavens

Psalms 102:26

ULT	UST
They, they will perish, but you, you will stand, and all of them will wear out like a garment; like clothing, you will pass them off, and they will pass away.	As for the earth and the heavens, they will disappear, but as for you, you will remain. All of it will wear out as clothes wear out. You will get rid of them as people get rid of old clothes, and they will no longer exist.

ULT They, they will perish
UST As for the earth and the heavens, they will disappear
(הֵמָּה | יֹאבֵדוּ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun They separately, even though the verb translated as they will perish already contains that meaning. He is doing that for emphasis because he is contrasting the earth and heavens (which will perish) with God (who will remain). If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [As for them, they will perish]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They, they will perish
UST As for the earth and the heavens, they will disappear
(הֵמָּה | יֹאבֵדוּ)

The pronouns they and them in this verse refers to the earth and the heavens mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The heavens and the earth will perish]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT but you, you will stand
UST but as for you, you will remain
(וְאַתָּה תַּעֲמֹד)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you will stand already includes this meaning. He is doing that for emphasis because he is contrasting the permanence of God with the temporary nature of the heavens and the earth. If a speaker of your language would use explicit pronouns for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [but you, in contrast, will stand]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT you will stand
> UST you will remain
> (תַּעֲמֹֽד)

The psalmist is speaking as if God would physically stand. This means that he will continue or endure. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you will continue] or [you will exist always]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT you will pass them off, and they will pass away
> UST You will get rid of them & and they will no longer exist > (תַּחֲלִיפֵ֣ם וְיַחֲלֹ֑פוּ)

The psalmist is repeating forms of the same verb, translated here as pass, in order to intensify his expression of the idea that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [you will completely remove them, and they will be completely gone]

Support Reference: Reduplication

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they will perish	they will disappear

Psalms 102:27

ULT	UST
But you {are} he, and your years will not end.	But you are Yahweh; you will always be.

ULT But you {are} he
UST But you are Yahweh
(וְאַתָּה־הוּא)

The pronoun he refers to Yahweh, the God who always is. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [But you are the one who is]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and your years
UST you will always be (וּשְׁנוֹתֶיךָ)

Here, years represents “existence” or “life.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and your existence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and your years	you will always be

Psalms 102:28

ULT	UST
The sons of your servants will abide, and their seed will be established to your face.”	The children of those who worship you will live safely {in Jerusalem}, and you will protect their descendants as they live in your presence.”

ULT will abide
UST will live safely {in Jerusalem
(יִשְׁכֹּונוּ)

The implication is that the descendants will be safe and secure under God’s protection. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [will dwell securely]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and their seed
UST and & their descendants
(וְזַרְעָם)

The psalmist is speaking as if the people who will descend from God’s servants were actually their seed. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and their descendants] or [and their children]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and their seed will be established
UST and you will protect their descendants
(וְזַרְעָם יִכּוֹן)

The expression their seed will be established is a passive verbal form. If your language would not use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [and you will establish their seed]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT to your face
UST as they live in your presence
(לְפָנֶיךָ)

Here, to your face represents being in Yahweh’s presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of your servants	of those who worship you
and their seed	and & their descendants will be established	you will protect

Psalms 103

Psalms 103 Introduction

Psalm 103 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 103 is the first in a series of five “psalm of praise” to God (Psalm 103–107).

1. Call to bless Yahweh with whole being (1–2)
2. Yahweh’s forgiveness, healing, and provision (3–5)
3. Yahweh’s compassionate character (6–14)
4. Yahweh’s covenant faithfulness from everlasting (15–22)
5. Yahweh’s sovereign rule over all (19–22)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s grace

God shows his goodness to us by forgiving our sins and not punishing us as much as we deserve.

Psalms 103:1

ULT	UST
Of David Bless Yahweh, my soul! And all of my inward parts, the name of his holiness.	A psalm of David I tell myself, “Praise Yahweh!” To everything that is within me, I say, “Praise him because he is holy!”

ULT Bless Yahweh, my soul! And all of my inward parts, the name of his holiness UST I tell myself, “Praise Yahweh!” To everything that is within me, I say, “Praise him because he is holy (בָּרֲכִי נַפְשִׁי אֶת־יְהוָה וְכָל־קְרָבַי אֶת־שֵׁם קָדְשׁוֹ)

The phrases Bless Yahweh, my soul and all of my inward parts, the name of his holiness mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Bless Yahweh, my soul! Yes, all of my inward parts, bless the name of his holiness]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT my soul
UST I tell myself
(נַפְשִׁי)

David is using the term soul to mean his entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [myself] or [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the name of his holiness
UST Praise him because he is holy
(אֶת־שֵׁם קָדְשׁוֹ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [bless the name of his holiness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the name of his holiness
UST Praise him because he is holy
(אֶת־שֵׁם קָדְשׁוֹ)

David is using the term name to refer to Yahweh's holy person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his holy person]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT And all of my inward parts
UST To everything that is within me, I say (וְכָל־קִרְבָּי)

Here, all of my inward parts represents David's entire being from an internal perspective. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and everything that I am]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Of David	A psalm of David
Bless	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	I tell myself
his holiness	because he is holy

Psalms 103:2

ULT	UST
Bless Yahweh, my soul! And do not forget all of his benefits.	I tell myself, “Praise Yahweh, and think about all of the kind things that he has done for me.”

ULT my soul
UST I tell myself
(נַפְשִׁי)

Here, my soul represents David’s entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [myself] or [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT And do not forget
UST and think about (וְאַל־תִּשְׁכְּחִי)

If it would be clearer in your language, you could avoid using the double negative do not forget by expressing the idea in a positive form. Alternate translation: [and remember]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	I tell myself

Psalms 103:3

ULT	UST
The one pardoning all your sins; the one healing all your diseases.	He forgives all of my sins, and he heals me from all of my sicknesses.

ULT The one pardoning all your sins
UST He forgives all of my sins
(הַסֹּלֵחַ לְכָל־עֲוֹנֵכִי)

The pronoun your in verses 3–5 refers to “my soul” in verse 2. In this way, David is referring to himself. If “your” communicates the meaning well in your language, consider using that. Otherwise, consider using “my” here. Use the same translation decision for these phrases through verse 5. Alternate translation: [My soul, he is the one pardoning all your sins] or [He is the one pardoning all my sins]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The one pardoning	He forgives
your sins	my sins

Psalms 103:4

ULT	UST
The one redeeming your life from the pit; the one crowning you with covenant faithfulness and mercy.	He rescues me from things that would kill me; he blesses me by faithfully loving me and acting mercifully to me.

ULT your life
UST me
(חַיֶּיכִי)

Here, life represents the entire person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from the pit
UST from things that would kill me
(מִשַּׁחַת)

Here, the pit represents death. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from dying]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the one crowning you with covenant faithfulness and mercy
UST he blesses me by faithfully loving me and acting mercifully to me (הָֽמְעַטְּרֵכִי חֶסֶד וְרַחֲמִים)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and mercy, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [the one keeping his covenant to love you and be merciful to you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the one crowning you with
UST he blesses me
(הָֽמְעַטְּרֵכִי)

The psalmist is speaking of God as if he were a king placing a crown on the psalmist. He means that God is honoring and blessing him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one blessing you with] or [the one honoring you with]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The one redeeming	He rescues
from the pit	from things that would kill me
the one crowning you with	he blesses me
covenant faithfulness	by faithfully loving me
and mercy	and acting mercifully to me

Psalms 103:5

ULT	UST
The one satisfying your ornaments with good; your youth renews itself like the eagle.	He gives me plenty of good things {during my entire life}. He makes me feel young {and strong} {as though I could fly high} like an eagle.

ULT your ornaments
UST during my entire life
(עֶדְיֵךְ)

The phrase your ornaments is a translation of the written Hebrew text. This reading, however, does not seem to make sense. It seems that the scribe mistook the word translated as ornaments for a similar word that means “existence.” The ancient Greek translation says, “your desires.” You may want to follow one of those readings. Alternate translation: [your existence] or [your desires]

Support Reference: Alternative Readings

ULT with good
UST of good things
(בַּטּוֹב)

David is using the adjective good as a noun to mean good things. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [with good things]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT renews itself
UST He makes me feel
(תִּתְחַדֵּשׁ)

The word itself indicates that the object of the verb is the same as the subject of the verb. Use a way that is natural in your language to indicate that the same thing fills two roles in the sentence. Alternate translation: [becomes renewed]

Support Reference: Reflexive Pronouns

> ULT like the eagle
> UST as though I could fly high} like an eagle
> (כַּנֶּשֶׁר)

The point of this comparison is that just as the eagle is capable and strong, so your youth being renewed makes you feel capable and strong. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like an eagle that can go wherever it desires to go]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with good	of good things
like the eagle	as though I could fly high} like an eagle

Psalms 103:6

ULT	UST
Yahweh, doing righteousness and justice for all those being oppressed.	It is Yahweh who does all this! He does what is right and judges justly for all those whom people have been treating unfairly.

ULT Yahweh, doing righteousness
UST It is Yahweh who does all this! He does what is right
(עֹשֵׂה צְדָקוֹת יְהוָה)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, he is the one doing righteousness]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT righteousness and justice
UST what is right and judges justly
(צְדָקוֹת & וּמִשְׁפָּטִים)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of righteousness and justice, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [what is right and just]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT those being oppressed
UST those whom people have been treating unfairly
(עֲשׁוּקִים)

The expression those being oppressed is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people whom others are oppressing]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	It is Yahweh who does all this
righteousness	what is right
and justice	and judges justly

Psalms 103:7

ULT	UST
He made known his ways to Moses, his deeds to the children of Israel.	{Long ago} he revealed to Moses the way that he works; he showed to {our ancestors,} the people of Israel, the {mighty} things that he can do.

ULT his deeds
UST the {mighty} things that he can do
(עֲלִילוֹתָיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he made known his deeds]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He made known	Long ago} he revealed to Moses	to Moses
Israel	Israel

Psalms 103:8

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} merciful and gracious, long of nostrils and abundant in covenant faithfulness.	Yahweh acts mercifully and kindly; he does not quickly get angry {when we sin}; he always faithfully loves us.

ULT long of nostrils
UST he does not quickly get angry {when we sin
(אֶֽרֶךְ אַפַּ֗יִם)

The psalmist is using long of nostrils as a common expression of his culture to mean “patient” or “slow to become angry.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [very patient]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and abundant in covenant faithfulness
UST he always faithfully loves us
(וְרַב־חָ֝סֶד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and always faithful to his covenant with us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} merciful	acts mercifully
and gracious	and kindly covenant faithfulness	faithfully loves

Psalms 103:9

ULT	UST
He will not contend to the end, and he will not maintain forever.	He will not always rebuke us, and he will not remain angry forever.

ULT He will not contend
UST He will not & rebuke us
(לֹא & יָרִיב)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that contend means to contend with us, his people. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He will not contend with us]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT to the end
UST always
(לָנֶצַח)

The implication is that God will not contend or remain angry for an unlimited length of time, but will eventually cease his anger. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [to the end of time]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and he will not maintain
UST and he will not remain angry
(וְלֹא & יִטּוֹר)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he will not maintain his anger]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forever	forever

Psalms 103:10

ULT	UST
He does not deal with us according to our sins, and he does not treat us according to our iniquities.	He does not punish us for our sins nearly as much as we deserve.

ULT He does not deal with us according to our sins, and he does not treat us according to our iniquities
UST He does not punish us for our sins nearly as much as we deserve
(לֹא כַחֲטָאֵינוּ עָשָׂה לָנוּ וְלֹא כַעֲוֹנֹתֵינוּ גָּמַל עָלֵינוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way, as in the UST. Otherwise, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He does not deal with us according to our sins; let me say again, he does not treat us according to our iniquities]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT He does not deal with us according to our sins, and he does not treat us according to our iniquities
UST He does not punish us for our sins nearly as much as we deserve
(לֹא כַחֲטָאֵינוּ עָשָׂה לָנוּ וְלֹא כַעֲוֹנֹתֵינוּ גָּמַל עָלֵינוּ)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that people’s sins and iniquities deserve punishment from God. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He does not give punishment to us that is as bad as our sins, and he does not treat us as badly as our iniquities deserve]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
according to our sins	for our sins nearly as much as we deserve according to our iniquities	for our sins nearly as much as we deserve

Psalms 103:11

ULT	UST
For as the heavens are high above the earth, his covenant faithfulness is strong toward those fearing him.	Indeed, as high as the sky is above the earth, that is how much Yahweh faithfully loves everyone who reveres him.

ULT For
UST Indeed
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation of how great Yahweh's covenant faithfulness is toward those who fear him. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [You see,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT For as the heavens are high above the earth, his covenant faithfulness is strong toward those fearing him
UST Indeed, as high as the sky is above the earth, that is how much Yahweh faithfully loves everyone who reveres him
(כִּי כִגְבֹהַּ שָׁמַיִם עַל־הָאָרֶץ גָּבַר חַסְדּוֹ עַל־יְרֵאָיו)

The point of this comparison is that just as the heavens are extremely high above the earth, so his covenant faithfulness is extremely strong toward those fearing him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [For just as it is impossible to measure how high the heavens are above the earth, it is also impossible to measure how strong his covenant faithfulness is toward those fearing him]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT his covenant faithfulness is strong
UST that is how much Yahweh faithfully loves (גָּבַר חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [that is how strongly committed he is to being faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	as the sky
his covenant faithfulness	Yahweh faithfully loves
is strong	that is how much
those fearing him	everyone who reveres him

Psalms 103:12

ULT	UST
As far as the sunrise {is} from the sunset, he has removed our transgressions from us.	He has taken away the guilt for our sins and put it as far from us as the east is from the west.

ULT As far as the sunrise {is} from the sunset, he has removed our transgressions from us
UST He has taken away the guilt for our sins and put it as far from us as the east is from the west
(כִּרְחֹק מִזְרָח מִמַּעֲרָב הִרְחִיק מִמֶּנּוּ אֶת־פִּשְׁעֵינוּ)

The point of this comparison is that just as the sunrise from the sunset is an immeasurable distance, so how far he has removed our transgressions from us is an immeasurable distance. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [Just as it is impossible to measure how far the sunrise is from the sunset, it is also impossible to measure how far he has removed our transgressions from us]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT As far as the sunrise {is} from the sunset, he has removed our transgressions from us
UST He has taken away the guilt for our sins and put it as far from us as the east is from the west
(כִּרְחֹק מִזְרָח מִמַּעֲרָב הִרְחִיק מִמֶּנּוּ אֶת־פִּשְׁעֵינוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [As far as the sunrise is from the sunset, that is how far he has removed our transgressions from us]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
our transgressions	the guilt for our sins

Psalms 103:13

ULT	UST
As a father has compassion on his children, Yahweh has compassion on those fearing him.	Just as parents always love their children, Yahweh always loves those who revere him.

ULT As a father has compassion on his children, Yahweh has compassion on those fearing him
UST Just as parents always love their children, Yahweh always loves those who revere him
(כְּרַחֵ֣ם אָ֭ב עַל־בָּנִ֑ים רִחַ֖ם יְהוָ֣ה עַל־יְרֵאָֽיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [As a father has compassion on his children, in the same way, Yahweh has compassion on those fearing him]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT As a father has compassion on his children, Yahweh has compassion on those fearing him
UST Just as parents always love their children, Yahweh always loves those who revere him
(כְּרַחֵ֣ם אָ֭ב עַל־בָּנִ֑ים רִחַ֖ם יְהוָ֣ה עַל־יְרֵאָֽיו)

The point of this comparison is that just as a father has compassion on his children very much, so also Yahweh has compassion on those fearing him very much. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [As a father has constant and strong compassion on his children, so Yahweh has constant and strong compassion on those fearing him]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT As a father has compassion on his children, Yahweh has compassion on UST Just as parents always love their children, Yahweh always loves those who revere him
(כְּרַחֵ֣ם אָ֭ב עַל־בָּנִ֑ים רִחַ֖ם יְהוָ֣ה עַל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of compassion, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [As a father loves his children, Yahweh loves]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
As & has compassion	Just as & always love
Yahweh	Yahweh
has compassion	always loves
those fearing him	those who revere him

Psalms 103:14

ULT	UST
For he, he knows our form; remembering that we {are} dust.	Indeed, he certainly knows how weak we are; he remembers that he created us from dust.

ULT For
UST Indeed
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [You see,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT our form
UST how weak we are (יִצְרֵנוּ)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that form refers to the physical nature and constitution of human beings. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the weakness of our form] or [what weak stuff we are made of]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT he, he knows
UST he certainly knows
(הוּא יָדָֽע)

The pronoun he in the phrase he, he knows refers to Yahweh. The repetition of the pronoun emphasizes that Yahweh, more than anyone else, knows the frailty of human beings. If your language has a way to express this emphasis naturally, you may want to use it in your translation. Alternate translation: [he, more than anyone, knows]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he knows	he & knows

Psalms 103:15

ULT	UST
A man, his days {are} like grass; like a flower of the field, thus he flourishes.	The lifetime of humans passes quickly, like that of grass. We are like wild flowers that bloom for a short while,

ULT A man
UST humans
(אֱנוֹשׁ)

David is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Any person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT his days {are} like grass
UST The lifetime of & passes quickly, like that of grass
(כֶּחָצִיר יָמָיו)

Here, days represents a person's lifetime. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his lifetime is like the lifetime of grass]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his days {are} like grass
UST The lifetime of & passes quickly, like that of grass
(כֶּחָצִיר יָמָיו)

The psalmist is making a comparison to teach that just as grass lives for only a short time, so people live for only a short time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [his days are few, like the length of time that grass lives]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT like a flower of the field, thus he flourishes
UST We are like wild flowers that bloom for a short while (כְּצִיץ הַשָּׂדֶה כֵּן יָצִיץ)

The point of this comparison is that just as a flower of the field flourishes for only a short time, so does a person's life last for only a short time. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [like a flower of the field, the time when he flourishes is short]

Support Reference: Simile

Psalms 103:16

ULT	UST
For the wind passes over it, and it is no more, and its place does not acknowledge it again.	but then the wind blows over them and they disappear, and no one knows they were ever there.

ULT For
UST but then
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation of how people are like grass and flowers. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Indeed,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT over it
UST over them
(בּוֹ)

The pronoun it refers to the flower. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the flower]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and its place does not acknowledge it again
UST and no one knows they were ever there
(וְלֹא־יַכִּירֶנּוּ עוֹד מְקוֹמוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of its place as if it were a person who could acknowledge something. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and there is nothing in its place to indicate that it had been there]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
does & acknowledge it	one knows

Psalms 103:17

ULT	UST
But the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh {is} from everlasting to everlasting on those fearing him, and his righteousness {is} to the children of children,	But Yahweh will continue to faithfully love all those who revere him, forever. He will do what is right for generations of their children,

ULT But the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh {is} from everlasting
UST But Yahweh will continue to faithfully love
(וְחֶסֶד יְהוָה ׀ מֵעוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [But Yahweh will be faithful to his covenant from everlasting]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT is} from everlasting to everlasting
UST continue to & forever
(מֵעוֹלָם וְעַד־עוֹלָם)

The psalmist is using from everlasting to everlasting as a common expression of his culture to mean “eternally” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [lasts forever]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and his righteousness {is UST He will do what is right
(וְצִדְקָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he will be righteous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the children of children
UST for generations of their children
(לִבְנֵי בָנִים)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the children of children refers to future generations. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [to their descendants]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But the covenant faithfulness of	But & will & faithfully love
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} from everlasting	continue to everlasting	forever
those fearing him	all those who revere him
and his righteousness {is	He will do what is right

Psalms 103:18

ULT	UST
to the ones keeping his covenant, and to the ones remembering his precepts, to do them.	that is, he will act that way to all those who obey the covenant that he made with them. Yes, he will act that way to all those who obey what he has commanded us to do.

ULT to the ones keeping his covenant, and to the ones remembering his precepts, to do them
UST that is, he will act that way to all those who obey the covenant that he made with them. Yes, he will act that way to all those who obey what he has commanded us to do
(לְשֹׁמְרֵי בְרִיתוֹ וּלְזֹכְרֵי פִקֻּדָיו לַעֲשׂוֹתָם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [to the ones keeping his covenant, that is, to the ones remembering his precepts, to do them]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT to the ones keeping & and to the ones remembering
UST that is, he will act that way to all those who obey & Yes & will act that way to all those who obey (לְשֹׁמְרֵי & וּלְזֹכְרֵי)

The pronoun the ones refers to people who fear Yahweh, as described in verse 17. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [to those children … and to the children] or [to those descendants … and to the descendants]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and to the ones remembering
UST Yes & will act that way to all those who obey (וּלְזֹכְרֵי)

The implication is that they are actively keeping God’s precepts in their minds so that they can obey them. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [keeping in mind]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT to do them
> UST us to do
> (לַעֲשׂוֹתָם)

Here, to do them marks this clause as the goal or purpose of remembering his precepts. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order to do them]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his covenant	the covenant that he made with them

Psalms 103:19

ULT	UST
Yahweh has established his throne in the heavens, and his kingdom rules over all.	Yahweh rules as king in heaven. From there, he rules over everything.

ULT has established his throne
UST rules as king
(הֵכִ֣ין כִּסְא֣וֹ)

Here, throne represents the authority and power to rule. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [is the supreme ruler]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and his kingdom
UST From there
(וּמַלְכוּתוֹ)

Here, kingdom represents Yahweh ruling as king. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he, as king,]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
has established	rules as king
his throne	rules as king
in the heavens	in heaven
and his kingdom	From there
rules	he rules

Psalms 103:20

ULT	UST
Bless Yahweh, his angels, warriors of strength, doers of his word, listening to the voice of his word!	Praise Yahweh, you angels who belong to Yahweh, You powerful warriors who do what he tells you to do, you who obey what he commands!

ULT listening to
UST you who obey
(לְשֹׁמְעֵ֣)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that listening to the voice of his word means obeying what God says. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [obeying]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the voice of his word
UST what he commands
(בְּקוֹל֥ דְּבָרֽוֹ)

Here, the voice of his word represents what God says. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [what he says]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
his angels	you angels who belong to Yahweh
warriors of	You & warriors
strength	powerful

Psalms 103:21

ULT	UST
Bless Yahweh, all his hosts, ministering to him, doing his pleasure!	Praise Yahweh, all you armies of his angels, you who serve him and do what he desires!

ULT his pleasure
UST what he desires
(רְצוֹנוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of pleasure, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what pleases him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
ministering to him	you who serve him

Psalms 103:22

ULT	UST
Bless Yahweh, all his works, in all the places of his reign! Bless Yahweh, my soul!	All of the creatures that Yahweh has created should praise him! They should praise him in every place where he rules, {which is everywhere}! I say to myself, “Praise Yahweh!”

ULT Bless Yahweh, all his works
UST All of the creatures that Yahweh has created should praise him
(בָּרֲכוּ יְהוָה ׀ כָּל־מַעֲשָׂיו)

The psalmist is speaking to all his works that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about praising Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about all of Yahweh’s works. Alternate translation: [I want all of Yahweh’s works to bless him,]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT the places of his reign
UST place where he rules, {which is everywhere
(מְקֹמוֹת מֶמְשַׁלְתּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of his reign, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the places where he reigns]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my soul
UST I say to myself
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean his entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	should praise
Yahweh	him
his reign	where he rules, {which is everywhere
Bless	Praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	I say to myself

Psalms 104

Psalms 104 Introduction

Psalm 104 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 104 is the second in the series of five “psalms of praise” to God (Psalm 103–107).

1. Yahweh’s greatness in creation (1–6)
2. Yahweh’s sustaining care over creation (7–30)
3. Yahweh’s glory declared forever (31–32)
4. Everlasting praise to Yahweh (33–35)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s creation

God has created everything good on earth, in the sky, and in the sea.

Psalms 104:1

ULT	UST
Bless Yahweh, my soul! Yahweh my God, you are very great; you are clothed with splendor and majesty,	I tell myself, “Bless Yahweh!” Yahweh, my God, you are magnificent! You are more majestic than a king appearing in his beautiful robes!

ULT my soul
UST I tell myself
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean his entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [myself] or [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT you are clothed with splendor and majesty
UST You are more majestic than a king appearing in his beautiful robes
(הוֹד וְהָדָר לְבָשְׁתָּ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were clothed with splendor and majesty. He means that Yahweh possesses splendor and majesty just as a king might wear magnificent robes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent metaphor from your culture. Alternatively, you could express the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you are splendid and majestic]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT splendor and majesty
UST You are more majestic than (הוֹד וְהָדָר)

The terms splendor and majesty mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [extreme magnificence]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT you are clothed with splendor and majesty
> UST You are more majestic than a king appearing in his beautiful robes
> (הוֹד וְהָדָר לְבָשְׁתָּ)

The expression you are clothed with splendor and majesty is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you are splendid and majestic]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT you are clothed with splendor and majesty
> UST You are more majestic than a king appearing in his beautiful robes
> (הוֹד וְהָדָר לְבָשְׁתָּ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of splendor and majesty, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [you are splendid and majestic]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Bless	Bless
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	I tell myself
Yahweh	Yahweh
my God	my God
splendor	You are more majestic than and majesty	You are more majestic than

Psalms 104:2

ULT	UST
wrapping light as the garment; spreading out the heavens as the tent curtain;	You use light {itself} as your robe; you spread out {all of} heaven as your tent.

ULT wrapping light as the garment
UST You use light {itself} as your robe
(עֹטֶה־אוֹר כַּשַּׂלְמָה)

The psalmist is making a comparison to describe how God wears light. The point of this comparison is that just as a garment covers and adorns a person, so light covers and adorns God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [putting light around you as though it were a garment]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT spreading out the heavens as the tent curtain
UST you spread out {all of} heaven as your tent
(נוֹטֶה שָׁמַיִם כַּיְרִיעָה)

The point of this comparison is that just as a tent curtain is stretched out to provide shelter, so the heavens are stretched out by God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [spreading out the heavens as a man would spread out a tent curtain]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	all of} heaven
as the tent curtain	as your tent
as the tent curtain	as your tent

Psalms 104:3

ULT	UST
the one setting his upper chambers on the waters; the one appointing the clouds his chariot; the one walking on the wings of the wind;	The rain clouds are like the upper rooms of your palace. The clouds are like chariots for you; the wind is like a bird that takes you wherever you want to go.

ULT the one setting his upper chambers on the waters
UST The rain clouds are like the upper rooms of your palace
(הַמְקָרֶה בַמַּ֥יִם עֲלִיּוֹתָ֑יו)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were setting his upper chambers on the waters. This image pictures God's dwelling place as being built above the sky, where the rain clouds are. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [It is as though you have set the upper chambers of your home on the waters in the sky]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the one appointing the clouds his chariot
UST The clouds are like chariots for you
(הַשָּׂ֣ם־עָבִ֣ים רְכוּבֽוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a king or mighty warrior who rode across the sky with the clouds serving as his chariot. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [It is as though you ride the clouds like chariots]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the one walking on the wings of the wind
UST the wind is like a bird that takes you wherever you want to go
(הַמְהַלֵּךְ֥ עַל־כַּנְפֵי־רֽוּחַ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were someone who could walk on the wings of the wind. He means that Yahweh moves about freely and swiftly, as if he were riding on the wind itself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you move about freely as though you were flying along with the wind]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the one appointing	are like his chariot	chariots for you

Psalms 104:4

ULT	UST
making the winds his messengers, flaming fire, his servants.	You send the winds like your messengers, {and you control} fire as your servant.

ULT making the winds his messengers, flaming fire, his servants
UST You send the winds like your messengers, {and you control} fire as your servant
(עֹשֶׂה מַלְאָכָיו רוּחוֹת מְשָׁרְתָיו אֵשׁ לֹהֵט)

In these clauses, the subjects and objects are not marked, and could fill either role. They could mean: (1) Yahweh makes the winds his messengers and he makes flaming fire his servants, as in the ULT, or (2) Yahweh makes his messengers winds and he makes his servants flaming fire. Alternate translation: [making his messengers winds, and his servants, flaming fire]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT making the winds his messengers
UST You send the winds like your messengers
(עֹשֶׂה מַלְאָכָיו רוּחוֹת)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were making the winds his messengers. This image means that Yahweh uses the winds to carry out his purposes, just as a king would send messengers to accomplish his will. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [sending the winds as he would send his messengers]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT flaming fire, his servants
UST and you control} fire as your servant
(מְשָׁרְתָיו אֵשׁ לֹהֵט)

The psalmist is speaking of flaming fire as if it were a person who could serve God. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [controlling flaming fire so that it serves him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT flaming fire, his servants
> UST and you control} fire as your servant
> (מְשָׁרְתָיו אֵשׁ לֹהָט)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [making flaming fire his servants]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his messengers	like your messengers
his servants	as your servant

Psalms 104:5

ULT	UST
He set the earth upon its foundations; it will not be moved forever and ever.	You created the world to be secure, so that nothing can ever move it from its place.

ULT He set the earth upon its foundations
UST You created the world to be secure (יָסַד־אֶרֶץ עַל־מְכוֹנֶיהָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the earth as if Yahweh had placed it upon physical foundations like a building is constructed on a foundation. The psalmist means that Yahweh created the world to be stable and secure. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He made the earth to be stable]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT it will not be moved
UST so that nothing can & move it from its place
(בַּל־תִּמּוֹט)

If your language does not use this passive form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [never can anyone move it]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He set	You created
the earth	the world
its foundations	to be secure forever	ever

Psalms 104:6

ULT	UST
You covered it {with} the deep like a garment; the waters stood above the mountains.	Later, you covered the earth with a flood, like covering someone with clothing; water even covered the mountains.

ULT with} the deep
UST with a flood
(תְּהוֹם)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the deep refers to the waters of the ocean or the primeval waters that once covered the earth. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [with deep water]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT like a garment
UST like covering someone with clothing
(כַּלְבּוּשׁ)

The point of this comparison is that just as a garment completely covers a person, so the deep completely covered the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as completely as if that were its clothing]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT the waters stood above the mountains
UST water even covered the mountains
(עַל־הָרִ֥ים יַעַמְד֗וּ־מָֽיִם)

The psalmist is speaking of the waters as if they were a living thing that could stand in a certain position. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the waters were higher than the mountains]

Support Reference: Personification

Psalms 104:7

ULT	UST
From your rebuke they fled; from your voice of thunder they hurried away.	Then you commanded the water, and it receded; yes, you spoke loudly, and the water rushed away.

ULT From your rebuke they fled; from your voice of thunder they hurried away
UST Then you commanded the water, and it receded; yes, you spoke loudly, and the water rushed away
(מִן־גַּעֲרָתְךָ֣ יְנוּסוּן מִן־ק֣וֹל רַֽעַמְךָ֣ יֵחָפֵזוּן)

These two phrases From your rebuke they fled and from your voice of thunder they hurried away mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could combine the phrases. Alternate translation: [From your thunderous rebuke they fled away]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT they fled & they hurried away
UST and it receded & and the water rushed away (יְנוּסוּן & יֵחָפֵזוּן)

The psalmist is speaking of the waters as if they were living things that could flee and hurry away. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they receded … they went away]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your voice of thunder
UST yes, you spoke loudly
(קוֹל רַֽעַמְךָ֣)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a voice that is characterized by thunder. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your thunderous voice]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT your voice of thunder
> UST yes, you spoke loudly
> (קוֹל רַעַמְךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's voice as if it were thunder to express how loud it is. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your loud voice]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your rebuke	Then you commanded the water

Psalms 104:8

ULT	UST
They ascended the mountains; they descended the valleys, to the place that you had appointed for them.	Part of the water ascended {to its place} above the mountains, and part of it descended the valleys {to its place in the earth}. All of it went {back} to the place that you had determined for it.

ULT They ascended the mountains; they descended the valleys
UST Part of the water ascended {to its place} above the mountains, and part of it descended the valleys {to its place in the earth
(יַעֲלוּ הָרִים יֵרְדוּ בְקָעוֹת)

They refers to “the waters” from verse 6. This reflects the idea from Genesis 7:11 that the flood waters came from where they had been stored both above the firmament and underground. Here it is saying that after the flood God returned the waters to those places, so some of it ascended the mountains to return to the heavens and some descended the valleys to return to their places underground.

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They ascended the mountains; they descended the valleys
UST Part of the water ascended {to its place} above the mountains, and part of it descended the valleys {to its place in the earth
(יַעֲלוּ הָרִים יֵרְדוּ בְקָעוֹת)

Some translations take the mountains to be the subject of ascended and the valleys to be the subject of descended. This makes it difficult to translate the following verse however, since verse 9 continues to refer to the waters as “they.” If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to follow what it does here. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to follow the ULT. Alternate translation: [The mountains rose; the valleys descended]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they descended	and part of it descended
you had appointed	you had determined

Psalms 104:9

ULT	UST
You set a boundary they cannot pass; they will not return to cover the earth.	Then you set a boundary for the water that it cannot cross over. That boundary ensures that the water will never again cover the whole earth.

ULT they & pass
UST that it & cross over
(יַעֲבֹרוּן)

The pronoun they refers to the waters. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the waters]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they will & return	again

Psalms 104:10

ULT	UST
The one sending springs into the wadis— between the mountains they flow.	You make the springs that pour water into the stream beds; their water flows between the mountains.

> ULT The one sending
> UST You make
> (הַמְשַׁלֵּחַ)

The one in verses 10, 13, and 14 refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, you send]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
springs	the springs
into the wadis	that pour water into the stream beds

Psalms 104:11

ULT	UST
They give drink to all his animals of the field; the wild donkeys break their thirst.	Those streams provide water for all of his wild animals to drink. The wild donkeys {drink the water and} are no longer thirsty.

ULT They give drink to
UST Those streams provide water & to drink
(יַשְׁקוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the springs (mentioned in the previous verse). It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The streams of water give drink to]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT break their thirst
UST drink the water and} are no longer thirsty
(יִשְׁבְּרוּ צְמָאָם)

The psalmist is using break their thirst as a common expression to mean "quench their thirst" or "satisfy their thirst by drinking." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [quench their thirst] or [drink and are satisfied]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his animals	his & animals
the wild donkeys	The wild donkeys

Psalms 104:12

ULT	UST
Alongside them the birds of the heavens dwell; from between the branches they give voice.	Birds make their nests beside the streams. They sing among the branches {of the trees}.

ULT Alongside them
UST beside the streams
(עֲלֵיהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to the streams of water mentioned in verse 10. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Alongside the streams of water]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT they give voice
UST They sing
(יִתְּנוּ־קוֹל)

The psalmist is using they give voice as a common expression of his culture to mean “they sing” or “they chirp.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they chirp]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the heavens	Birds

Psalms 104:13

ULT	UST
The one watering the mountains from his upper chambers— from the fruit of your works the earth is satisfied.	From the heavens you send rain down on the mountains. As a result of doing this, you satisfy all of the creatures on earth {with many good things}.

ULT The one watering
UST you send rain down
(מַשְׁקֶה)

The psalmist is using the phrase The one watering to refer to God without using a pronoun. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a name or pronoun to clarify the referent. Alternate translation: [Yahweh waters]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT from his upper chambers
UST From the heavens
(מֵעֲלִיּוֹתָיו)

The psalmist is speaking of the sky as if it were upper chambers in a building from which God sends rain down on the mountains. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from high in the sky]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from the fruit of your works the earth is satisfied
UST As a result of doing this, you satisfy all of the creatures on earth {with many good things
(מִפְּרִי מַעֲשֶׂיךָ תִּשְׂבַּע הָאָרֶץ)

Here, fruit could be both literal and figurative. It could mean either of these things or both: (1) The work of watering the mountains produces literal fruit, which satisfies the creatures on earth. The next two verses list some of that fruit. Alternate translation: [this work of yours produces fruit, which satisfies the earth] or (2) The result of watering the mountains is that the earth is satisfied with the water. Alternate translation: [because you do this, the earth is satisfied]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the earth is satisfied
> UST you satisfy all of the creatures on earth
> (תִּשְׂבַּע הָאָרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents the creatures that live on the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the earthly creatures are satisfied]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from the fruit of	As a result of doing this & with many good things

Psalms 104:14

ULT	UST
The one making grass grow for the cattle and plants for the work of man to bring forth bread from the earth.	You make grass to grow for the cattle {to eat}, and you make plants to grow for people to cultivate, so that they can make bread from {those plants that grew in} the soil.

ULT The one making grass grow
UST You make grass to grow
(מַצְמִ֣יחַ חָצִ֣יר)

The phrase The one refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, who makes grass grow]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and plants
UST and you make plants to grow
(וְעֵ֥שֶׂב)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and the one making plants grow]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT to bring forth
UST so that they can make (לְהוֹצִ֥יא)

Here, to bring forth marks bread from the earth as the goal or purpose of plants for the work of man. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order to produce]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT bread
UST bread
(לֶ֝חֶם)

The psalmist is using one kind of food, bread, to represent food in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [food]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for the cattle	for the cattle {to eat
and plants	and you make plants to grow
bread	bread

Psalms 104:15

ULT	UST
And wine—he gladdens the heart of man, to make the face shine from oil, and bread—he sustains the heart of man.	You give us {grapes that produce} wine that makes us cheerful; you give us {olives that produce} oil to make our faces shine, and you give us {grain to make} bread that makes us strong.

ULT And wine
UST You give us {grapes that produce} wine
(וְיַיִן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [And by providing wine]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the heart of man
UST us
(לְבַב־אֱנוֹשׁ)

Here the heart represents a person's inner self, including their emotions and sense of well-being. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all mankind] or [everyone]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to make the face shine
UST to make our faces shine
(לְהַצְהִיל פָּנִים)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific face. He means faces in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [to make people's faces shine]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT to make the face shine
UST to make our faces shine
(לְהַצְהִיל פָּנִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he gives olives to make the face shine]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and bread
UST and you give us {grain to make} bread
(וְלֶחֶם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and by providing bread]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And wine	You give us {grapes that produce} wine
he gladdens	that makes & cheerful
from oil	you give us {olives that produce} oil
and bread	and you give us {grain to make} bread

Psalms 104:16

ULT	UST
The trees of Yahweh are satisfied—the cedars of Lebanon which he planted,	Yahweh, you send plenty of rain to water your cedar trees that you planted in Lebanon.

ULT The trees of Yahweh are satisfied
UST Yahweh, you send plenty of rain to water your & trees
(יִשְׂבְּעוּ עֲצֵי יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of the trees of Yahweh as if they were living things that could be satisfied. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The trees of Yahweh get plenty of rain]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT the cedars of Lebanon which he planted
UST cedar & that you planted in Lebanon
(אַרְזֵי לְבָנוֹן אֲשֶׁר נָטָע)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the cedars of Lebanon which he planted are satisfied]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the cedars of	cedar
Lebanon	in Lebanon
he planted	you planted

Psalms 104:17

ULT	UST
where birds make their nests there, the stork, the cypress tree her home,	Birds make their nests in those trees, and storks make their nests in the cypress trees.

ULT where birds make their nests there
UST Birds make their nests in those trees
(אֲשֶׁר־שָׁם צִפֳּרִים יְקַנֵּנוּ)

The expression where birds make their nests there contains extra information that would not be natural to express in many languages. The word there repeats the idea of where. If this would be unnatural in your language, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [where birds make their nests]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

ULT the stork, the cypress tree her home
UST and storks make their nests in the cypress trees
(חֲסִידָה בְּרוֹשִׁים בֵּיתָהּ)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific stork. He means storks in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [storks, cypress trees their home]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT the stork, the cypress tree her home
UST and storks make their nests in the cypress trees
(חֲסִידָה בְּרוֹשִׁים בֵּיתָהּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the stork makes the cypress tree her home]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the cypress tree	in the cypress trees
her home	make their nests

Psalms 104:18

ULT	UST
the high mountains for the wild goats, the cliffs, a refuge for the hyraxes.	High up in the mountains is where the wild goats live, and hyraxes live in the rocky cliffs.

ULT the high mountains for the wild goats
UST High up in the mountains is where the wild goats live
(הָרִים הַגְּבֹהִים לַיְעֵלִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the high mountains are the home for the wild goats]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the cliffs, a refuge for the hyraxes
UST and hyraxes live in the rocky cliffs
(סְלָעִים מַחְסֶה לְשְׁפַנִּים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the cliffs are a refuge for the hyraxes]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT for the hyraxes
UST and hyraxes
(לְשְׁפַנִּים)

A hyrax is a kind of small, furry animal that lives in rocky areas. If your readers would not be familiar with what a hyrax is, you could use the name of a similar animal that your readers would recognize, or you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [for the rock badgers]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for the wild goats	is where the wild goats live
a refuge	live in

Psalms 104:19

ULT	UST
He made the moon for appointed times; the sun knows its setting.	Yahweh, you made the moon to indicate the times for our festivals, and you made the sun to always go down at the right time.

ULT He made
UST Yahweh, you made
(עָשָׂה)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh made]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT for appointed times
UST to indicate the times for our festivals
(לְמוֹעֲדִים)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the appointed times are the festivals and religious observances that are determined by the phases of the moon. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [to indicate the times for the special days of each month]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the sun knows its setting
UST and you made the sun to always go down at the right time
(שֶׁמֶשׁ יָדַע מְבוֹאוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of the sun as if it were a living thing that could know when to set. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you made the sun to set at the proper time each night]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for appointed times	to indicate the times for our festivals
for appointed times	to indicate the times for our festivals
knows	always & at the right time

Psalms 104:20

ULT	UST
You set darkness and it is night; in it all of his creatures of the forest crawl —	You bring darkness, and it becomes night when all of your forest animals prowl around.

ULT and it is night
UST and it becomes night
(וַיְהִי לָיְלָה)

The psalmist uses and to indicate that it is night is the result of God setting darkness. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result of what came before. Alternate translation: [and night happens] or [which creates night]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT in it
UST when
(בּוֹ)

The pronoun it refers to the darkness. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the night]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his creatures of	your & animals

Psalms 104:21

ULT	UST
the young lions roaring for prey and seeking their food from God.	The young lions roar then as they seek their prey, looking for the food that you have provided for them.

ULT and seeking their food from God
UST looking for the food that you have provided for them
(וּלְבַקֵּשׁ מֵאֵל אָכְלָם)

The psalmist is speaking of the young lions as if they were seeking their food from God. He means that God provides food for the lions. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as though they are asking God to give them their food]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the young lions	The young lions
for prey	as they seek their prey
and seeking	looking for
from God	you

Psalms 104:22

ULT	UST
The sun rises, they retreat, and lie down in their dens.	At dawn, they go back to their dens and lie down.

ULT The sun rises
UST At dawn
(תִּזְרַח הַשֶּׁמֶשׁ)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that he means that the young lions retreat because the sun rises and it becomes daytime. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When the sun rises]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

Psalms 104:23

ULT	UST
Man goes out to his work and to his labor until evening.	{That is when} people go to their work; and they do their work until it is evening.

ULT to his work and to his labor
UST their work; and they do their work
(לְפָעֳלֹו וְלַעֲבֹדָתֹו)

The terms work and labor mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [to all of his work that he does]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT Man
UST people
(אָדָם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific Man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Each person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and to his labor	and they do their work

Psalms 104:24

ULT	UST
How many {are} your works, Yahweh! You made all of them with wisdom; the earth is full of your creation.	Yahweh, you have made so many different kinds of things! You were very wise as you made them all. The earth is full of the creatures that you made.

ULT with wisdom
UST You were very wise
(בְּחָכְמָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wisdom, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [wisely] or [skillfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your creation
UST of the creatures that you made
(קִנְיָנֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of creation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what you have created]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
with wisdom	You were very wise
your creation	of the creatures that you made

Psalms 104:25

ULT	UST
There {is} the sea, great and broad of hands; creeping things {are} there, and there is no number, living things, small with great.	We see the ocean, which is vastly wide between its shores! It is full of many kinds of wriggling creatures, so many that no one can count them. There are creatures ranging from small to big.

ULT great and broad of hands
UST which is vastly wide between its shores
(גָּדוֹל וּרְחַב יָדָיִם)

The terms great and broad of hands mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [enormous in size]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT and broad of hands
UST wide between its shores
(וּרְחַב יָדָיִם)

The psalmist is using broad of hands as a common expression of his culture to mean that the shores of the sea are far apart. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and with distant shorelines]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT great
UST which is vastly
(גָּדוֹל)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that great refers to the sea's vast size or extent. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [large]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and there is no number
UST so many that no one can count them
(וְאֵין מִסְפָּֽר)

The psalmist says there is no number as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [and there are too many to count]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT living things, small with great
UST There are creatures ranging from small to big (חַיָּ֥ת קְטַנּ֗וֹת עִם־גְּדֹלֽוֹת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the small living things are there with the great living things]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT great
UST big (גְּדֹלֽוֹת)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that great refers to the large size of some of the sea creatures. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [large]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT small with great
UST ranging from small to big
(קְטַנּ֗וֹת עִם־גְּדֹלֽוֹת)

The psalmist is using the adjectives small and great as nouns to mean small creatures and large creatures. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate these words with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [small ones with large ones]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT small with great
UST ranging from small to big
(קְטַנּ֗וֹת עִם־גְּדֹלֽוֹת)

The psalmist is referring to all of the living creatures in the sea by naming two extremes, small and great. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [of every size together]

Support Reference: Merism

Psalms 104:26

ULT	UST
Ships travel there; Leviathan, which you formed to play in it.	Ships sail on the sea. Leviathan is also there, the creature that you made to splash around in it.

ULT Leviathan

UST Leviathan is also there, the creature
(לִוְיָתָן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Leviathan travels there]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Leviathan	Leviathan is also there, the creature

Psalms 104:27

ULT	UST
All of them look to you to give their food at its time.	All of these creatures depend on you to give them the food that they need at the right time.

ULT All of them
UST All of these creatures
(כֻּלָּם)

The pronoun them refers to all of the living creatures that the psalmist has been describing, including the sea creatures mentioned in the previous verses. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [All of these living creatures]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT look to you
UST depend on you
(אֵלֶיךָ יְשַׂבֵּרוּן)

The psalmist is speaking of creatures depending on God for their food as if they were physically looking at someone for help. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [need you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
at its time	at the right time

Psalms 104:28

ULT	UST
You give to them; they gather {it}; you open your hand; they are satisfied {with} good.	When you give them the food that they need, then they gather it. You give it to them freely. They eat until they are full of your good things.

ULT You give to them; they gather {it
UST When you give them the food that they need, then they gather it (תִּתֵּן לָהֶם יִלְקֹטוּן)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that it is when God provides the food that the creatures gather it. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When you give to them; then they gather it]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT you open your hand
UST You give it to them freely
(תִּפְתַּח יָדְךָ)

The psalmist is using you open your hand as a common expression of his culture to mean “you give generously.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you give generously]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT they are satisfied {with} good
UST They eat until they are full of your good things
(יִשְׂבְּעוּן טוֹב)

The adjective good is functioning as a noun, referring to good things (specifically, good food that God provides). If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this with a noun phrase or indicate what kind of good things are meant. Alternate translation: [they are satisfied with the good food]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with} good	your good things

Psalms 104:29

ULT	UST
You hide your face; they are terrified; you take away their breath; they expire and return to their dust.	But when you refuse to give food to them, they panic. When you cause them to stop breathing, they die; their bodies decay and become part of the soil.

ULT You hide your face; they are terrified
UST But when you refuse to give food to them, they panic
(תַּסְתִּיר פָּנֶיךָ יִבָּהֵלוּן)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that it is when God hides his face from his creatures that they then become terrified. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When you hide your face; then they are terrified]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT You hide your face
UST But when you refuse to give food to them
(תַּסְתִּיר פָּנֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using You hide your face as a common expression of his culture to mean “You withdraw your care” or “You turn away from them.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [When you ignore them]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT they are terrified
UST they panic
(יִבָּהֵלוּן)

The expression they are terrified is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [that terrifies them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT you take away their breath; they expire
UST When you cause them to stop breathing, they die
(תֹּסֵף רוּחָם יִגְוָעוּן)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that it is when God takes the breath away that creatures then expire. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When you take away their breath; then they expire]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and return to their dust
UST their bodies decay and become part of the soil
(וְאֶל־עֲפָרָם יְשׁוּבוּן)

The psalmist is using return to their dust as a common expression of his culture to mean “die and decay.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and turn into dirt]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their breath	When you cause them to stop breathing
return	their bodies decay and become part of the soil

Psalms 104:30

ULT	UST
You send out your breath; they are created, and you renew the face of the land.	When you cause {newborn} creatures to begin to breathe, they begin to live. You give new life to {all the living creatures on} the earth.

ULT You send out your breath; they are created
UST When you cause {newborn} creatures to begin to breathe, they begin to live
(תְּשַׁלַּח רוּחֲךָ יִבָּרֵאוּן)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that it is when God sends out his breath that creatures then begin to live. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [When you send out your breath; then they are created]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT You send out your breath; they are created
UST When you cause {newborn} creatures to begin to breathe, they begin to live
(תְּשַׁלַּח רוּחֲךָ יִבָּרֵאוּן)

The same word that is translated as breath in this and the previous verse also means “spirit.” If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to translate as it does. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to translate as the ULT does. Alternate translation: [You send out your Spirit; they are created]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT they are created
UST they begin to live
(יִבָּרֵאוּן׃)

The expression they are created is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [you create them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT the face of the land
> UST on} the earth
> (פְּנֵי אֲדָמָה)

Here, the face of the land represents everything living on the surface of the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [everything living on the earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your breath	When you cause {newborn} creatures to begin to breathe
they are created	they begin to live and you renew	You give new life to {all the living creatures
the land	earth

Psalms 104:31

ULT	UST
May the glory of Yahweh be forever; may Yahweh rejoice in his creation!	I want all of Yahweh's creatures to glorify him forever! I want Yahweh to rejoice about everything that he has created!

ULT May the glory of Yahweh be forever
UST I want all of Yahweh's creatures to glorify him forever
(יְהִי כְבוֹד יְהוָה לְעוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [May his creatures honor Yahweh forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in his creation
UST everything that he has created
(בְּמַעֲשָׂיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of creation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in what he has created]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May the glory of	all of & creatures to glorify
Yahweh	Yahweh's & him
forever	forever
Yahweh	Yahweh
may & rejoice	I want & to rejoice about in his creation	everything that he has created

Psalms 104:32

ULT	UST
The one looking at the earth, and it shakes— he touches the mountains, and they smoke.	He makes the earth shake just by looking at it! When he {merely} touches the mountains they start to burn!

ULT The one looking at the earth
UST He makes the earth & just by looking at it (הַמַּבִּיט לָאָרֶץ)

The phrase the one refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh looks at the earth]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT The one looking at the earth, and it shakes
UST He makes the earth shake just by looking at it (הַמַּבִּיט לָאָרֶץ וַתִּרְעָד)

The psalmist uses and to indicate that it shakes is the result of God looking at the earth. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result of what came before. Alternate translation: [the one looking at the earth, so that it shakes]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT he touches the mountains, and they smoke
UST When he {merely} touches the mountains they start to burn
(יִגַּע בֶּהָרִים וְיֶעֱשָׁנוּ)

The psalmist uses and to indicate that they smoke is the result of God touching the mountains. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result of what came before. Alternate translation: [he touches the mountains, which causes them to smoke]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
at the earth	He makes the earth and it shakes	shake

Psalms 104:33

ULT	UST
I shall sing to Yahweh in my life; I shall sing praise to my God during my existence.	I will sing to Yahweh as long as I live. I will praise my God until the day that I die.

ULT to my God
UST praise my God
(לֵאלֹהָי)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to describe his relationship with God. The phrase my God indicates the God whom the psalmist worships and serves. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to the God whom I worship]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT during my existence
UST until the day that I die
(בְּעוֹדִי)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the idea of existence, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [while I am alive]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	to Yahweh
I shall sing praise	I will
to my God	praise my God

Psalms 104:34

ULT	UST
May my meditation be sweet to him; I, I will rejoice in Yahweh.	May Yahweh be pleased by all {these things} that I have thought about him. As for me, I will rejoice because I know him.

ULT my meditation
UST by all {these things} that I have thought about him
(שִׂיחִי)

By my meditation, the psalmist is probably referring to the things that he has expressed in this psalm. If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of meditation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the things that I have expressed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT May my meditation be sweet to him
UST May Yahweh be pleased by all {these things} that I have thought about him
(יֶעֱרַב עָלָיו שִׂיחִי)

The psalmist is speaking of his meditation as if it were something that could have a sweet taste. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May my meditation please him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT I, I will rejoice
UST As for me, I will rejoice
(אֲנֹכִי אֶשְׂמַח)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I will rejoice already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize his personal commitment to rejoice in Yahweh. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [For my part, I will rejoice]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT in Yahweh
> UST because I know him
> (בַּיהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a location that the psalmist could be in. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your language or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of who Yahweh is]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my meditation	by all {these things} that I have thought about him
I will rejoice	I will rejoice
in Yahweh	because I know him

Psalms 104:35

ULT	UST
May sinners cease from the earth, and the wicked be no more. Bless Yahweh, my soul! Hallelu Yah!	However, I want sinners to disappear from the earth, and for there to be no more wicked people! I tell myself, "Bless Yahweh!" Praise Yahweh!

ULT and the wicked
UST and & wicked people
(וּרְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean wicked people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [and wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and the wicked be no more
UST and for there to be no more wicked people
(וּרְשָׁעִים ׀ עוֹד אֵינָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may the wicked be no more]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT my soul
UST I tell myself
(נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean his entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [myself] or [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
sinners	sinners
and the wicked	and & wicked people
Bless	Bless
Yahweh	Yahweh
my soul	I tell myself
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 105

Psalms 105 Introduction

Psalm 105 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 105 is the third in a series of five “psalms of praise” to God (Psalm 103–107). Psalm 105 retells the history of Israel from Yahweh’s covenant with Abraham, to the people’s enslavement in Egypt, to Yahweh’s liberation of the people through the plagues in Egypt, to Yahweh giving them the land of Canaan.

1. Praise Yahweh and seek his works (1–6)
2. Yahweh’s covenant and deeds with the patriarchs (7–15)
3. Yahweh’s guidance over Joseph and Israel in Egypt (16–25)
4. Yahweh’s deliverance and provision in the wilderness (26–45)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s protection

God protected Abraham and Jacob. He worked throughout Israel’s history to bring Israel into the land he had promised them. (See: Promised Land)

Psalms 105:1

ULT	UST
Give thanks to Yahweh, call on his name; make known his deeds among the peoples!	Give thanks to Yahweh; worship him and pray to him. Tell everyone in the world what he has done!

> ULT call on his name
> UST worship him and pray to him & what he > (קִרְאוּ בִשְׁמוֹ)

The psalmist is using the term name to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [call on him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
call on	worship him and pray to him
make known	Tell

Psalms 105:3

ULT	UST
Boast in the name of his holiness; let the heart of the seekers of Yahweh rejoice.	Be proud of Yahweh, who is the holy one. You people who worship Yahweh, rejoice!

ULT in the name of his holiness
UST of Yahweh, who is the holy one
(בְּשֵׁ֣ם קָדְשֽׁוֹ)

Here, the name of his holiness represents Yahweh himself, who is holy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in Yahweh, who is holy]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT in the name of his holiness
UST of Yahweh, who is the holy one
(בְּשֵׁ֣ם קָדְשֽׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a name that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in his holy name]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT let the heart of the seekers of Yahweh rejoice
UST You people who worship Yahweh, rejoice
(יִשְׂמַ֖ח לֵ֣ב | מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י יְהוָֽה)

Here the heart represents where a person's thoughts, feelings, and desires exist. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [let the people who seek Yahweh rejoice]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT let the heart of the seekers of Yahweh rejoice
UST You people who worship Yahweh, rejoice
(יִשְׂמַ֖ח לֵ֣ב | מְבַקְשֵׁ֣י יְהוָֽה)

The psalmist is speaking of people who desire to know Yahweh as if they were seekers of him, or trying to find him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [let the heart of those who desire to know Yahweh rejoice]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Boast	Be proud
his holiness	who is the holy one of the seekers of	who worship
Yahweh	Yahweh
rejoice	rejoice

Psalms 105:4

ULT	UST
Seek Yahweh and his strength; search for his face continually.	Ask Yahweh to help you and to make you strong; always try to be with him!

ULT Seek Yahweh and his strength
UST Ask Yahweh to help you and to make you strong (דִּרְשׁוּ יְהוָה וְעֻזּוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of needing to Seek Yahweh as if he were a lost object that needed to be sought and found. He means that the people should pray to Yahweh and desire to be in his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression from your culture or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Pray to Yahweh and ask for his strength]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and his strength
UST and to make you strong
(וְעֻזּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of strength, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for him to strengthen you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT search for his face
UST try to be with him
(בַּקְּשׁוּ פָנָיו)

Here, his face represents his presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [seek his presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Seek	Ask & to help you
Yahweh	Yahweh
and his strength	and to make you strong search for	try to be

Psalms 105:5

ULT	UST
Recall the marvelous things that he has done, his miracles and the decrees from his mouth,

ULT and the decrees from his mouth
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: וּמִשְׁפְּטֵי־פִיו
(וּמִשְׁפְּטֵי־פִיו)

Here, his mouth represents Yahweh speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the decrees that he spoke]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the marvelous things	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: נִפְלְאוֹתָיו
his miracles	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: מֹפְתָיו
and the decrees	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: וּמִשְׁפְּטֵי

Psalms 105:6

ULT	UST
seed of Abraham his servant, sons of Jacob, his chosen ones.

ULT seed of Abraham his servant, sons of Jacob, his chosen ones
UST You people who are descendants of Yahweh's servant Abraham, you descendants of Jacob, the people whom Yahweh has chosen (זֶרַע אַבְרָהָם עַבְדּוֹ בְּנֵי יַעֲקֹב בְּחִירָיו)

If it would be helpful to your readers, you could move 105:6 before 105:7 as the UST does, in order to state who is being addressed before giving the content of the speech. You would then combine the verses into a verse bridge (105:5–6).

Support Reference: Verse Bridges

ULT seed of Abraham
UST You people who are descendants of & Abraham
(זֶרַע אַבְרָהָם)

The psalmist is speaking of the Israelites as if they were the seed of Abraham. He means that they are Abraham's descendants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [descendants of Abraham]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT his servant
UST Yahweh's servant
(עַבְדּוֹ)

The pronoun his refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh's servant]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT sons of Jacob
UST you descendants of Jacob
(בְּנֵי יַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist is speaking as if the people of Israel were the sons of Jacob. He means that they are his descendants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [descendants of Jacob]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT his chosen ones
> UST the people whom Yahweh has chosen
> (בְּחִירָיו)

The psalmist is using the adjective chosen as a noun to mean people who are chosen. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those he has chosen]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
seed of	You people who are descendants of
Abraham	Abraham
his servant	Yahweh’s servant
Jacob	Jacob
his chosen ones	the people whom Yahweh has chosen

Psalms 105:7

ULT	UST
He is Yahweh, our God. His decrees {are} in all the earth.	He is Yahweh, the God whom we worship. He rules over people throughout the earth.

ULT our God
UST the God whom we worship
(אֱלֹהֵ֑ינוּ)

By using this possessive form, our God, the psalmist is not saying that the Israelites possess or control Yahweh. Rather he is using these words to indicate that Yahweh is the God whom the Israelites worship as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Possession

ULT His decrees {are} in all the earth
UST He rules over people throughout the earth
(בְּכָל־הָאָ֗רֶץ מִשְׁפָּטָֽיו)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's decrees as if they were physical objects that existed in all the earth. He means that Yahweh's laws and judgments apply to all people everywhere on earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His laws apply to everyone on earth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	the God whom we worship
His decrees	He rules

Psalms 105:8

ULT	UST
He remembers his covenant forever, the word he commanded for a thousand generations,	He never forgets the covenant that he made; that is, he will maintain what he promised for countless generations.

ULT He remembers
UST He never forgets
(זָכַר)

The psalmist assumes that his audience will understand that God's remembering is not merely recalling information but actively maintaining and fulfilling his commitments. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He keeps in mind]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT He remembers his covenant forever, the word he commanded for a thousand generations
UST He never forgets the covenant that he made; that is, he will maintain what he promised for countless generations
(זָכַר לְעוֹלָם בְּרִיתוֹ דָּבָר צִוָּה לְאֶלֶף דּוֹר)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He remembers his covenant forever, yes, the word he commanded for a thousand generations]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the word he commanded
UST that is, he will maintain what he promised
(דָּבָר צִוָּה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he remembers the word he commanded]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the word he commanded
UST that is, he will maintain what he promised
(דְּבָר צִוָּה)

Here, the word represents the covenant that God spoke. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the covenant he commanded]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT for a thousand generations
UST for countless generations
(לְאֶלֶף דּוֹר)

The psalmist is using for a thousand generations as a common expression of his culture to mean “for all time” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for all time]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his covenant	the covenant that he made forever	He never forgets
generations	generations

Psalms 105:9

ULT	UST
that he cut with Abraham and his oath to Isaac.	That is the covenant that he made with Abraham, and that he repeated with an oath to Isaac.

ULT that he cut
UST That is the covenant that he made
(אֲשֶׁר כָּרַת)

The psalmist is using the phrase he cut as a common expression of his culture to mean “he made.” This idiom comes from the ancient practice of cutting animals in two as part of making a covenant. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that he made]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT that he cut
UST That is the covenant that he made
(אֲשֶׁר כָּרַת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the covenant that he cut]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and his oath
UST and that he repeated with an oath
(וּשְׁבוּעָתוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he remembers his oath]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Abraham	Abraham
and his oath	and that he repeated with an oath
to Isaac	to Isaac

Psalms 105:10

ULT	UST
He confirmed it to Jacob as a statute; to Israel, an everlasting covenant,	Then he repeated it as a reliable covenant with Jacob, that is, with Israel, and it was a covenant that would last forever.

ULT He confirmed it to Jacob as a statute; to Israel, an everlasting covenant

UST Then he repeated it as a reliable covenant with Jacob, that is, with Israel, and it was a covenant that would last forever

(וַיְעֲמִידֶהָ לְיַעֲקֹב לְחֹק לְיִשְׂרָאֵל בְּרִית עוֹלָם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He confirmed it to Jacob as a statute; yes, to Israel, an everlasting covenant]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT to Israel, an everlasting covenant

UST that is, with Israel, and it was a covenant that would last forever

(לְיִשְׂרָאֵל בְּרִית עוֹלָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he confirmed it to Israel, an everlasting covenant]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He confirmed it	Then he repeated it to Jacob	with Jacob
as a statute	as a reliable covenant
to Israel	that is, with Israel
everlasting	that would last forever
an & covenant	and it was a covenant

Psalms 105:11

ULT	UST
saying, “I will give to you the land of Canaan {as} the portion of your inheritance,”	What Yahweh said to them was, “I will give to you the region of Canaan; that will be what you {and your descendants} inherit from me.”

ULT saying
UST What Yahweh said to them was (לֵאמֹר)

This is the beginning of what Yahweh said. You may wish to mark the words of this speech with a first-level quotation mark at the beginning and end of them or with some other punctuation or convention that your language uses to indicate a direct quotation.

Support Reference: Quote Markings

ULT your inheritance
UST you {and your descendants} inherit from me
(נַחֲלַתְכֶם)

Here your is plural, indicating that Yahweh made this same covenant with Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and their descendants. Use the plural form here if your language marks that distinction.

Support Reference: Forms of ‘You’ — Singular

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the land	the region
of Canaan	of Canaan
your inheritance	you {and your descendants} inherit from me

Psalms 105:12

ULT	UST
when they were few in number, very few, and strangers in it.	Yahweh said that to the people of Israel when there were only a few of them. They were just a tiny group of people who were living in that land like strangers.

ULT when they were
UST Yahweh said that to the people of Israel when there were (בִּֽהְיוֹתָם)

The pronoun they refers to the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in it
UST in that land
(בָּהּ)

The pronoun it refers to the land of Canaan. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in the land of Canaan]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

Psalms 105:13

ULT	UST
They wandered from nation to nation, from a kingdom to other people.	They continually wandered from one place to another, living in various kingdoms and people groups.

ULT from nation to nation, from a kingdom to other people
UST from one place to another, living in various kingdoms and people groups
(מִגּוֹי אֶל־גּוֹי מִמַּמְלָכָה אֶל־עַם אַחֵר)

These two phrases from nation to nation and from a kingdom to other people mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [repeatedly from one kingdom to another]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT from a kingdom
UST living in & kingdoms
(מִמַּמְלָכָה)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific kingdom. He means kingdoms in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [from one kingdom]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from nation	from one place
nation	another
from a kingdom	living in & kingdoms

Psalms 105:14

ULT	UST
He did not allow anyone to oppress them; he rebuked kings because of them.	But Yahweh did not allow others to oppress the people of Israel. On their behalf, he warned kings {by saying to them},

ULT because of them
UST On their behalf
(עֲלֵיהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [because of the people of Israel] or [for the sake of the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he rebuked	he warned & by saying to them
kings	kings

Psalms 105:15

ULT	UST
“Do not touch my anointed ones, and do not harm my prophets.”	“Do not harm the people whom I have chosen! Do nothing bad to my prophets!”

ULT Do not touch my anointed ones
UST Do not harm the people whom I have chosen (אַל־תִּגְּעוּ בִמְשִׁיחָי)

This is the beginning of what God said to the kings. You may wish to mark the words of this speech with a first-level quotation mark at the beginning and end of them or with some other punctuation or convention that your language uses to indicate a direct quotation.

Support Reference: Quote Markings

ULT Do not touch
UST Do not harm
(אַל־תִּגְּעוּ)

The psalmist says Do not touch as a warning against doing even the slightest harm to emphasize God’s strictness about this. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [In no way should you hurt]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my anointed ones	the people whom I have chosen harm	Do & bad
and & my prophets	to my prophets

Psalms 105:16

ULT	UST
He called for a famine on the land; he broke all of the staff of bread.	Yahweh created a famine in the land of Canaan, that is, all of the people there had no food to eat.

ULT He called for a famine on the land
UST Yahweh created a famine in the land of Canaan
(וַיִּקְרָא רָעָב עַל־הָאָרֶץ)

The psalmist is speaking of the famine as if it were something that could hear and respond to Yahweh calling it. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He made the land produce a famine]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT he broke all of the staff of bread
UST that is, all of the people there had no food to eat
(כָּל־מַטֵּה־לֶחֶם שָׁבָר)

The psalmist is using he broke all of the staff of bread as a common expression of his culture to mean “he caused there to be a famine” or “he made it so that there was no food.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he made the land unable to produce food]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT bread
UST that is, all of the people there had no food to eat
(לֶחֶם)

The psalmist is using one kind of food, bread, to mean food in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [food]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He called for	Yahweh created a famine	a famine
the staff of	that is, all of the people there had no food to eat bread	that is, all of the people there had no food to eat

Psalms 105:17

ULT	UST
He sent a man ahead of them; Joseph was sold as a servant.	{So the people of Israel went to Egypt, but} before they went, Yahweh had already sent someone {there}. {He sent} Joseph, whom his brothers had sold to be a slave.

ULT He sent
UST Yahweh had already sent & there
(שָׁלַח)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh sent]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT ahead of them
UST So the people of Israel went to Egypt, but} before they went (לִפְנֵיהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to the people of Israel. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the people of Israel]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Joseph was sold as a servant
UST He sent} Joseph, whom his brothers had sold to be a slave (לְעֶבֶד נִמְכַּר יוֹסֵף)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that God orchestrated Joseph's sale into slavery as part of his plan to send Joseph ahead to Egypt. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Joseph was the man whom Yahweh sent ahead by allowing him to be sold as a servant]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Joseph	He sent} Joseph
as a servant	to be a slave

Psalms 105:18

ULT	UST
They oppressed his feet in a shackle; his neck went into the iron,	{Later, while Joseph was in prison in Egypt,} the guards trapped his feet in shackles, and they put an iron collar around his neck.

ULT They oppressed
UST Later, while Joseph was in prison in Egypt,} the guards trapped (עִנּוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the prison guards in Egypt. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The prison guards in Egypt oppressed]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in a shackle
UST in shackles
(בַּכֶּבֶל)

A shackle is a device made of metal used to restrain a prisoner by fastening around the ankles or wrists. If your readers would not be familiar with what a shackle is, you could use a more general term or explain it in a footnote. Alternate translation: [in metal restraints used to fasten a prisoner's wrists or ankles together]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

ULT the iron
UST an iron collar
(בַּרְזֶל)

By the iron, the psalmist means an iron collar that was put around Joseph's neck. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [an iron collar attached to a chain]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the iron	an iron collar

Psalms 105:19

ULT	UST
until the time of his word coming to pass. The speaking of Yahweh refined him.	{Joseph was in prison} until the time when the events that he had predicted happened. Yahweh spoke to him {during this time} and taught Joseph to trust him more.

ULT his word
UST the events that he had predicted
(דְּבָרוֹ)

Here, his word represents what Joseph said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the things that he said]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT refined him
UST and taught Joseph to trust him more
(צְרָפָתְהוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's testing of Joseph as if Yahweh were a metalworker who refined him. This image pictures God's word purifying and strengthening Joseph's character during his time of suffering, just as fire removes impurities from metal. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [tested and taught him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the time of	the time when
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 105:20

ULT	UST
The king sent and released him; the one ruling the people, and liberated him.	The king of Egypt, the ruler of the people, commanded his servants who went to the prison and set Joseph free.

ULT The king sent and released him; the one ruling the people, and liberated him

UST The king of Egypt, the ruler of the people, commanded his servants who went to the prison and set Joseph free

(שָׁלַח מֶלֶךְ וַיַּתִּירֵהוּ מֹשֵׁל עַמִּים וַיְפַתְּחֵהוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [The king sent and released him; yes, the one ruling the people, and liberated him]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT The king sent and released him

UST The king of Egypt & commanded his servants who went to the prison and set Joseph free

(שָׁלַח מֶלֶךְ וַיַּתִּירֵהוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [The king sent officials and released him]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the one ruling the people

UST the ruler of the people

(מֹשֵׁל עַמִּים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the one ruling the people sent officials]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The king	The king of Egypt
and released him	who went to the prison and set Joseph free
the one ruling	the ruler

Psalms 105:21

ULT	UST
He appointed him lord of his house and ruler over all of his possessions	Then the king chose Joseph as the one to decide about everything in the king's household, that is, to be in charge of everything that the king possessed.

ULT He appointed him
UST Then the king chose Joseph as the one
(שָׂמֵ֣ו)

The pronoun He refers to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, while the pronoun him refers to Joseph. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The king appointed Joseph]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT of his house
UST everything in the king's household
(לְבֵיתֹ֑ו)

Here, house represents everything concerning the king's palace. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [of everything concerning his palace]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He appointed him	Then the king chose Joseph as the one lord	to decide about
of his house	everything in the king's household and ruler	that is, to be in charge of his possessions	that the king possessed

Psalms 105:22

ULT	UST
to bind his princes according to his soul and he taught his elders wisdom.	The king permitted Joseph to command the king's officials to do anything that Joseph wanted them to do, and Joseph taught the king's advisors how to be wise.

ULT his princes
UST the king's officials
(שָׂרָיו)

The psalmist is speaking of the officials of Egypt as if they were his princes. The psalmist means that Pharaoh gave Joseph authority over Egypt's highest-ranking officials. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his chief rulers]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to bind his princes according to his soul
UST The king permitted Joseph to command the king's officials to do anything that Joseph wanted them to do
(לֶאְסֹר שָׂרָיו בְּנַפְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using according to his soul as a common expression of his culture to mean "according to his will" or "according to his desire." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to subject his princes to Joseph's desires]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT to bind his princes according to his soul
UST The king permitted Joseph to command the king's officials to do anything that Joseph wanted them to do
(לֶאְסֹר שָׂרָיו בְּנַפְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He appointed him to bind his princes according to his soul]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to bind	The king permitted Joseph to command
his princes	the king’s officials
according to his soul	to do anything that Joseph wanted them to do and & his elders	the king’s advisors
he taught & wisdom	and Joseph taught & how to be wise

Psalms 105:23

ULT	UST
Then Israel came into Egypt, and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham.	{Later, Joseph's father} Jacob, also called Israel, arrived in Egypt. He lived like a foreigner in that land that belonged to the descendants of Ham.

ULT Then Israel came into Egypt, and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham

UST Later, Joseph's father} Jacob, also called Israel, arrived in Egypt. He lived like a foreigner in that land that belonged to the descendants of Ham
(וְיִבֹא יִשְׂרָאֵל מִצְרָיִם וְיַעֲקֹב גָּר בְּאֶרֶץ־חָם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Then Israel came into Egypt; yes, Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then Israel	Joseph's father & also called Israel
into Egypt	Egypt
and Jacob	Jacob
sojourned	He lived like a foreigner
in the land	in that land
of Ham	that belonged to the descendants of Ham

Psalms 105:24

ULT	UST
He made his people very fruitful, and he made him stronger than his enemies.	Over the years, Yahweh caused the descendants of Jacob to become very numerous. As a result, the enemies of the people of Israel considered that the people of Israel were becoming too strong.

ULT He made his people very fruitful
UST Over the years, Yahweh caused the descendants of Jacob to become very numerous
(וַיְּפֶר אֶת־עַמּוֹ מְאֹד)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. The pronoun his refers to Jacob. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh made Jacob's people very fruitful]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT He made his people very fruitful
UST Over the years, Yahweh caused the descendants of Jacob to become very numerous
(וַיְּפֶר אֶת־עַמּוֹ מְאֹד)

The psalmist is speaking of God causing his people to increase in number as if he were making them fruitful. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He made his people multiply greatly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and he made him stronger than his enemies
UST As a result, the enemies of the people of Israel considered that the people of Israel were becoming too strong (וַיְעַצְּמֵהוּ מִצָּרָיו)

The pronouns him and his refer to people, which is singular in form. If it would be helpful, you could use plural pronouns instead. Alternate translation: [and he made them stronger than their enemies]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He made & fruitful	Over the years, Yahweh caused & to become & numerous and he made him stronger	As a result & the people of Israel were becoming too strong than his enemies	the enemies of the people of Israel considered that

Psalms 105:25

ULT	UST
He turned their hearts to hate his people, to plot against his servants.	So Yahweh caused the rulers of Egypt to hate Yahweh's people, and they devised ways to oppress his people.

ULT He turned their hearts
UST So Yahweh caused the rulers of Egypt
(הָפַךְ לִבָּם)

The psalmist is speaking of God changing the Egyptians' attitudes as if he had physically turned their hearts. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He changed their emotions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to plot against his servants
UST and they devised ways to oppress his people
(לְהִתְנַכֵּל בַּעֲבָדָיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He turned their hearts to plot against his servants]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
against his servants	his people

Psalms 105:26

ULT	UST
He sent Moses, his servant, Aaron, whom he had chosen him.	But then Yahweh sent his servant Moses along with {Moses' older brother} Aaron, whom Yahweh had also chosen {to serve him}.

ULT Aaron
UST along with {Moses' older brother} Aaron (אַהֲרֹן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He sent Aaron]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT whom he had chosen him
UST whom Yahweh had also chosen {to serve him
(אֲשֶׁר בָּחַר־בּוֹ)

The expression whom he had chosen him contains extra information that would not be natural to express in many languages, since the word whom already indicates Aaron as the object. If it would be clearer in your language, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [whom he had chosen]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Moses	Moses
his servant	his servant
Aaron	along with {Moses' older brother} Aaron
he had chosen	Yahweh had also chosen {to serve him

Psalms 105:27

ULT	UST
They performed among them the matters of his signs, and his wonders in the land of Ham.	Those two performed Yahweh's amazing miracles among the people of Egypt in that land where the descendants of Ham lived.

ULT They performed among them the matters of his signs, and his wonders in the land of Ham
UST Those two performed Yahweh's amazing miracles among the people of Egypt in that land where the descendants of Ham lived (שָׂ֣מוּ־בָ֭ם דִּבְרֵ֣י אֹתוֹתָ֑יו וּמֹפְתִ֥ים בְּאֶֽרֶץ חָֽם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [They performed among them the matters of his signs, yes, his wonders in the land of Ham]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and his wonders in the land of Ham
UST amazing & in that land where the descendants of Ham lived (וּמֹפְתִ֥ים בְּאֶֽרֶץ חָֽם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and they performed his wonders in the land of Ham]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT among them
UST among the people of Egypt
(בָּ֭ם)

The pronoun them refers to the Egyptians. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [among the Egyptians]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his signs	Yahweh's & miracles
and his wonders	amazing
in the land of	in that land
Ham	where the descendants of Ham lived

Psalms 105:28

ULT	UST
He sent darkness and made it dark, and they did not rebel against his words.	Yahweh sent darkness so that the land of Egypt was dark, and Moses and Aaron obeyed what Yahweh told them to do.

ULT and they did not rebel against
UST and Moses and Aaron obeyed
(וְלֹא־מָרוּ)

The pronoun they refers to Moses and Aaron. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and Moses and Aaron did not rebel against]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and they did not rebel against
UST and Moses and Aaron obeyed
(וְלֹא־מָרוּ)

Here they did not rebel is a double negative consisting of the negative particle not and the negative verb rebel. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [and they obeyed]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

ULT his words
UST what Yahweh told them to do
(אֶת־דבריו)

Here, his words represents what God said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [what he said to them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they did & rebel against	and Moses and Aaron obeyed

Psalms 105:29

ULT	UST
He turned their water into blood and killed their fish.	Yahweh caused all of the water in Egypt to become blood, which caused all of their fish to die.

ULT and killed their fish
UST which caused all of their fish to die
(וַיְמֶת אֶת־דְּגָתָם)

The word translated as and indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result of what came before. Alternate translation: [which killed their fish]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and killed	which caused & to die

Psalms 105:30

ULT	UST
Their land swarmed with frogs— in the rooms of their kings!	Then he caused the land to become full of frogs; the royal family even had frogs in their bedrooms!

ULT in the rooms of their kings
UST the royal family even had frogs in their bedrooms
(בְּחַדְרֵי מַלְכֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [frogs swarmed in the rooms of their kings]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Their land	the land
of their kings	the royal family

Psalms 105:31

ULT	UST
He spoke, and flies came; gnats in all their territory.	Then Yahweh commanded {that flies come}, and {swarms of} flies descended {on the people of Egypt}. Gnats also swarmed across the whole country.

ULT He spoke
UST Then Yahweh commanded {that flies come
(אָמַר)

The implication is that Yahweh commanded the flies to come. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh commanded the flies]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT gnats in all
UST Gnats also swarmed across the whole
(כִּנִּים בְּכָל)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [gnats came into all]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT their territory
UST country
(גְּבוּלָם)

The pronoun their refers to the Egyptians. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the Egyptians' territory]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

Psalms 105:32

ULT	UST
He made their rain hail, fire of flames on their land.	Yahweh sent them hail instead of rain, and he started fires that burned throughout their land.

> ULT fire of flames
> UST and he started fires that burned
> (אֵשׁ לֶהָבוֹת)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He made fire of flames]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT fire of flames
> UST and he started fires that burned
> (אֵשׁ לֶהָבוֹת)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe fire that is characterized by flames. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [flaming fire] or [burning fire]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
hail	hail
on their land	throughout their land

Psalms 105:33

ULT	UST
He struck their vines and their figs; he shattered the trees of their territory.	The hail ruined their grapevines, fig trees, and destroyed all the other trees in their country.

ULT He struck
UST The hail ruined
(וַיַּךְ)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that God struck the vines and fig trees with the hail mentioned in the previous verse. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He destroyed]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their vines	their grapevines
and their figs	fig trees

Psalms 105:34

ULT	UST
He spoke, and the locust came, and the young locust, and there was no number.	Yahweh commanded locusts to come, and hordes of them came of different kinds; so many came that no one could count them.

ULT He spoke
UST Yahweh commanded locusts to come
(אָמַר)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that He spoke means that God gave a command for the locusts to come. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh commanded the locusts]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and the locust came, and the young locust
UST and hordes of them came of different kinds (וַיָּבֹא אַרְבֶּה וְיֶלֶק)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the locust and the young locust refer to different kinds of locusts that came in large swarms, not just one of each. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and locusts came, and young locusts]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and the young locust
UST and hordes of them & of different kinds (וְיֶלֶק)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and the young locust came]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and there was no number
UST so many came that no one could count them
(וְאֵין מִסְפָּר)

The psalmist says there was no number as an overstatement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [in swarms that were impossible to count]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the locust	and hordes of them & of different kinds and the young locust	and hordes of them & of different kinds

Psalms 105:35

ULT	UST
And they ate all of the vegetation in their land; and they ate the fruit of their ground.	The locusts ate every green plant in their land, including all of the crops.

ULT And they ate all of the vegetation in their land; and they ate the fruit of their ground
UST The locusts ate every green plant in their land, including all of the crops
(וַיֹּאכַל כָּל־עֵשֶׂב בְּאַרְצָם וַיֹּאכַל פְּרִי אַדְמָתָם)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [And they ate all of the vegetation in their land; yes, they ate the fruit of their ground]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the fruit of their ground
UST all of the crops
(פְּרִי אַדְמָתָם)

The psalmist is using the fruit of their ground to represent all of the crops that grew in the land. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the crops that grew on their ground]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they ate	The locusts ate
in their land	in their land
the fruit of	all of the crops

Psalms 105:36

ULT	UST
Then he struck every firstborn in their land, the first of all their strength.	Then Yahweh killed every firstborn son, the one who first demonstrated that the man was virile, {in every house} of the people of Egypt.

ULT Then he struck
UST Then Yahweh killed
(וַיַּךְ)

The implication is that God killed all the firstborn people and animals in Egypt. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Then he killed]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
firstborn	firstborn son
in their land	in every house} of the people of Egypt
the first of	the one who first demonstrated

Psalms 105:37

ULT	UST
He brought them out with silver and gold; and there was no stumbling among his tribes.	Then Yahweh brought the Israelite people out {from Egypt}. They were carrying {many heavy things made of} silver and gold {that the people of Egypt had given to them}, and yet none of his people stumbled as they went.

ULT He brought them out with silver and gold
UST Then Yahweh brought the Israelite people out {from Egypt}. They were carrying {many heavy things made of} silver and gold {that the people of Egypt had given to them
(וַיּוֹצִיאֵם בְּכֶסֶף וְזָהָב)

The psalmist assumes that his readers will know that the silver and gold refers to items made of silver and gold that the Israelites carried out of Egypt, as described in Exodus. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He brought them out as they carried silver and gold]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with silver	They were carrying {many heavy things made of} silver and gold	and gold {that the people of Egypt had given to them stumbling	stumbled as they went among his tribes	of his people

Psalms 105:38

ULT	UST
Egypt was glad when they departed, for the dread of them had fallen upon them.	The people of Egypt were glad when the Israelite people left because the people of Egypt had become very afraid of the Israelites.

ULT Egypt was glad
UST The people of Egypt were glad (שָׂמַח מִצְרַיִם)

Here, Egypt represents the people of Egypt. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The Egyptian people were glad]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Egypt	The people of Egypt
was glad	were glad
the dread of them	very afraid of the Israelites

Psalms 105:39

ULT	UST
He spread a cloud for a covering and fire to light up the night.	{Then} Yahweh spread a cloud to cover the Israelites; and at night {it became} a {big} fire {in the sky} to give them light.

ULT and fire
UST it became} a {big} fire {in the sky
(וְאֵשׁ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the sentence if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and he spread fire] or [and he provided fire]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for a covering	to cover the Israelites

Psalms 105:40

ULT	UST
He asked, and he brought quail and satisfied them with bread from heaven.	{Then} the Israelites asked {for meat to eat}, and Yahweh sent {flocks of} quail to them, and he gave them plenty of {manna} bread from the sky {each morning}.

ULT He asked
UST Then} the Israelites asked {for meat to eat
(שָׁאַל)

The pronoun He refers to Israel, which is a singular way to refer to all the people. If it would be helpful, you could use a plural pronoun instead. Alternate translation: [They asked]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and he brought quail
UST and Yahweh sent {flocks of} quail to them
(וַיָּבֵא שְׂלָו)

The pronoun he refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and Yahweh brought quail]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT quail
UST flocks of} quail
(שְׂלָו)

A quail is a kind of medium-sized game bird. If your readers would not be familiar with what a quail is, you could use the name of a similar thing that your readers would recognize, or you could use a more general term. Alternate translation: [medium-size birds]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and & bread	and & manna} bread
from heaven	from the sky {each morning

Psalms 105:41

ULT	UST
He split the rock and waters gushed out; they went forth in the desert a river.	{One day} Yahweh split open a rock, and water poured out {from the opening for the people to drink}. The water became a river flowing in the desert.

ULT He split
UST One day} Yahweh split open
(פָּתַח)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh split]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT they went forth
UST The water became & flowing (הָלְכוּ)

The pronoun they refers to the waters. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the waters went forth] or [the water went forth]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT a river
UST a river
(נָהָר)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [as a river] or [as much water as a river]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the desert	in the desert

Psalms 105:42

ULT	UST
For he remembered the word of his holiness with Abraham his servant.	Yahweh did those things because he continually thought about the sacred promise that he had given to his servant, Abraham.

ULT For
UST Yahweh did those things because
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [The reason he did those things was that]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT he remembered
UST he continually thought about
(זָכַר)

The pronoun he refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh remembered]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT he remembered
UST he continually thought about
(זָכַר)

The psalmist assumes that his audience will understand that God's remembering is not merely recalling information but actively maintaining and fulfilling his commitments. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [he kept in mind]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the word of his holiness
UST the sacred promise
(אֶת־דְּבַר קָדְשׁוֹ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a word that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his holy word]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the word of his holiness
UST the sacred promise
(אֶת־דְּבַר קָדְשׁוֹ)

Here, his holiness represents his holy promise or covenant. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his holy covenant]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with Abraham
UST that he had given to & Abraham
(אֶת־אַבְרָהָם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [through which he made a promise to Abraham]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his holiness	sacred
Abraham	Abraham
his servant	his servant

Psalms 105:43

ULT	UST
He led his people out with joy, his chosen with shouts of triumph.	So his people were joyful as Yahweh brought them out {from Egypt}. These people whom he had chosen were shouting joyfully as they went.

ULT He led his people out with joy, his chosen with shouts of triumph
UST So his people were joyful as Yahweh brought them out {from Egypt}. These people whom he had chosen were shouting joyfully as they went (וַיּוֹצֵא עַמּוֹ בְשָׂשׂוֹן בְּרִנָּה אֶת־בְּחִירָיו)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He led his people out with joy, yes, his chosen with shouts of triumph]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT He led his people out
UST So his people & as Yahweh brought them out {from Egypt
(וַיּוֹצֵא עַמּוֹ)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use Yahweh's name here. Alternate translation: [Yahweh led his people out]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with joy
UST were joyful
(בְשָׂשׂוֹן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of joy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and they were joyful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his chosen
UST These people whom he had chosen
(אֶת־בְּחִירָיו)

The psalmist is using the adjective chosen as a noun to mean a certain kind of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [his chosen people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT with shouts of triumph
UST were shouting joyfully as they went (בְּרִנָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of triumph, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [shouting triumphantly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his chosen with shouts of triumph
UST These people whom he had chosen were shouting joyfully as they went (בְּרִנָּה אֶת־בְּחִירָיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from earlier in the verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He led his chosen out with shouts of triumph]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with joy	were joyful
chosen	These people whom he had chosen with shouts of triumph	were shouting joyfully as they went

Psalms 105:44

ULT	UST
Then he gave to them the lands of the nations, and they took possession of the toil of the peoples	Then Yahweh gave to the people of Israel the land that had belonged to the people groups {that lived there in Canaan}. So the Israelites took over the fields that those peoples had planted.

ULT Then he gave to them the lands of the nations, and they took possession of the toil of the peoples
UST Then Yahweh gave to the people of Israel the land that had belonged to the people groups {that lived there in Canaan}. So the Israelites took over the fields that those peoples had planted
(וַיִּתֵּן לָהֶם אַרְצוֹת גּוֹיִם וַעֲמַל לְאֻמִּים יִירָשׁוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Then he gave to them the lands of the nations; yes, they took possession of the toil of the peoples]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Then he gave to them
UST Then Yahweh gave to the people of Israel
(וַיִּתֵּן לָהֶם)

The pronoun He refers to Yahweh. The pronoun them refers to the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Then Yahweh gave to the Israelites]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and they took possession of the toil of the peoples
UST So the Israelites took over the fields that those peoples had planted (וַעֲמַל לְאֻמִּים יִירָשׁוּ)

Here, toil represents what the people produced by their work. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they took possession of what other peoples had worked to produce]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT they took possession of
> UST So the Israelites took over
> (יִירְשׁוּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of possession, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [they took for themselves]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the lands of	the land
the nations	that had belonged to the people groups {that lived there in Canaan
they took possession of	So the Israelites took over

Psalms 105:45

ULT	UST
so that they might keep his statutes and comply with his laws. Hallelu Yah!	Yahweh did all these things so that his people would do all the things that he had commanded them to do. Praise Yahweh!

ULT they might keep his statutes and comply with his laws
UST his people would do all the things that he had commanded them to do
(יִשְׁמְרוּ חֻקָּיו וְתוֹרֹתָיו יִנְצֹרוּ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [they might keep his statutes, that is, comply with his laws]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his statutes	all the things that he had commanded them to do and & his laws	all the things that he had commanded them to do
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 106

Psalms 106 Introduction

Psalm 106 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 106 is the fourth in a series of five “psalms of praise” to God (Psalm 103–107). The book of Psalms is divided into five sections, also called “books,” and Psalm 106 ends book four. Verses 47 and 48 are considered to be a closing petition and praise for book four, rather than belonging specifically to Psalm 106.

1. Praise Yahweh for his goodness and faithfulness (1–3)
2. Plea for pardon and Yahweh’s acceptance (4–6)
3. Recount Israel’s rebellion and Yahweh’s mercy (7–46)
4. Prayer and praise to Yahweh (47–48)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Israel’s sin

Although Israel continually sinned in the desert, God still took them to the Promised Land. (See: sin, sinful, sinner, sinning and Promised Land)

Psalms 106:1

ULT	UST
Hallelu Yah! Give thanks to Yahweh, for {he is} good, for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever.	Praise Yahweh! Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever!

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST and because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [give thanks to Yahweh for his covenant faithfulness is to forever]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST and because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is using to forever as a common expression of his culture to mean “eternally” or “without end.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for his covenant faithfulness lasts forever]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT his covenant faithfulness
> UST he faithfully loves us
> (חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way he is faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
to Yahweh	Yahweh
he is} good	he is good
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 106:2

ULT	UST
Who can utter the mighty acts of Yahweh, proclaim all of his praise?	Because Yahweh has done so many great things, no one can tell all the great things that Yahweh has done, and no one can praise him enough.

ULT Who can utter the mighty acts of Yahweh, proclaim all of his praise
UST Because Yahweh has done so many great things, no one can tell all the great things that Yahweh has done, and no one can praise him enough
(מִי יְמַלֵּל גְּבוּרוֹת יְהוָה יַשְׁמִיעַ כָּל־תְּהִלָּתוֹ)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [No one can utter the mighty acts of Yahweh or proclaim all of his praise.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT proclaim all of his praise
UST and no one can praise him enough
(יַשְׁמִיעַ כָּל־תְּהִלָּתוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [who can proclaim all of his praise]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT proclaim all of his praise
UST and no one can praise him enough
(יַשְׁמִיעַ כָּל־תְּהִלָּתוֹ)

Here, praise represents praiseworthy deeds. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [proclaim all of his praiseworthy deeds]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the mighty acts	all the great things
of Yahweh	that Yahweh has done
proclaim	and no one can praise him enough
his praise	and no one can praise him enough

Psalms 106:3

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the guardians of justice, the doers of righteousness at all times!	How happy are those who act fairly, always doing what is right!

ULT The happinesses of
UST How happy
(אַשְׁרֵי)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Oh, how happy are] or [Truly blessed are]

ULT the guardians of justice, the doers of righteousness
UST are those who act fairly & doing what is right
(שֹׁמְרֵי מִשְׁפָּט עֹשֵׂה צְדָקָה)

The terms guardians of justice and doers of righteousness mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are careful to do what is right]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT the guardians of justice
UST are those who act fairly
(שֹׁמְרֵי מִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of justice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [those who are always just]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the doers of righteousness
UST doing what is right
(עֹשֵׂה צְדָקָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [those who do what is right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the guardians of	are those who act
justice	fairly
righteousness	what is right
times	always

Psalms 106:4

ULT	UST
Remember me, Yahweh, in the favor of your people; visit me in your salvation,	Yahweh, be kind to me when you help your people! Include me when you rescue them!

ULT Remember me
UST be kind to me
(זָכְרֵנִי)

By Remember me, the psalmist is not implying that Yahweh forgot him, but he means for Yahweh to act favorably to him or to show him favor. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT in the favor of your people
UST when you help your people
(בִּרְצוֹן עַמֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of favor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when you are kind to your people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT visit me
UST Include me
(פָּקְדֵנִי)

By visit me, the psalmist means “be kind to me” or “show favor to me.” You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [be kind to me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT in your salvation
UST when you rescue them
(בִּישׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when you save them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the favor of	when you help
in your salvation	when you rescue them

Psalms 106:5

ULT	UST
to look on the good of your chosen, to rejoice in the gladness of your nation, to boast with your inheritance.	Allow me to see the people whom you have chosen become prosperous again. Allow me to be happy with the people of your nation when they become happy again. Allow me to praise you along with all those others who belong to you.

ULT to look on the good of UST Allow me to see & become prosperous again
(לִרְאוֹת ׀ בְּטוּבַת)

The psalmist is using the adjective good as a noun to mean good things or good experiences. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [to look on the good experiences] or [to look on the prosperity]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT your chosen
UST the people whom you have chosen
(בְּחִירֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective chosen as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [your chosen people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT in the gladness of your nation
UST with the people of your nation when they become happy again
(בְּשִׂמְחַת גּוֹיֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective gladness as a noun to mean a certain kind of experience or state. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [when your nation becomes glad again]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT to boast with your inheritance
> UST Allow me to praise you along with all those others who belong to you > (לְהִתְהַלֵּל עִם־נַחֲלָתֶךָ)

Here the phrase your inheritance refers to the Israelites, the people who belong to Yahweh. When Yahweh saves them, they will boast about Yahweh. Alternate translation: [to boast of your greatness with your people] or [to boast with your people about you]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
on the good of	become prosperous again
your chosen	the people whom you have chosen to rejoice	Allow me to be happy
in the gladness of	when they become happy again
your nation	with the people of your nation
to boast	Allow me to praise you your inheritance	all those others who belong to you

Psalms 106:6

ULT	UST
We have sinned like our fathers; we have done wrong; we have done evil.	We have sinned just as our ancestors did; we have done all kinds of evil.

ULT our fathers
UST our ancestors did
(אֲבוֹתֵ֑ינוּ)

Here the psalmist is using the term fathers to mean "ancestors." If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [our ancestors]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT we have done wrong; we have done evil
UST we have done all kinds of evil
(הֶעֱוִ֥ינוּ הִרְשָׁ֗עְנוּ)

The terms translated as we have done wrong and we have done evil mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [we have continually done what is wrong]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT we have done wrong; we have done evil
UST we have done all kinds of evil
(הֶעֱוִ֥ינוּ הִרְשָׁ֗עְנוּ)

The psalmist is using the adjectives wrong and evil as nouns to mean certain kinds of actions or behaviors. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [we have done what is wrong; we have done what is evil]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
We have sinned	We have sinned
we have done wrong	we have done all kinds of evil
we have done evil	we have done all kinds of evil

Psalms 106:7

ULT	UST
Our fathers did not consider your marvelous deeds in Egypt; they did not remember the abundance of your covenant faithfulness, and they rebelled at the sea, the Sea of Reeds.	Our ancestors did not appreciate the wonderful things that you did when they were in Egypt. They forgot about the many times that you showed that you faithfully loved them. Instead, when they were at the Sea of Reeds, they rebelled against you.

ULT the abundance of your covenant faithfulness
UST the many times that you showed that you faithfully loved them
(אֶת־רַ֥ב חֲסָדֶ֗יךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of abundance and covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in other ways. Alternate translation: [how you were constantly faithful to your covenant with them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the sea, the Sea of Reeds
UST they were at the Sea of Reeds
(יָ֥ם בְּיַם־סֽוּף)

The terms the sea and the Sea of Reeds refer to the same place. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [the Sea of Reeds]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your marvelous deeds	the wonderful things that you did in Egypt	when they were in Egypt
your covenant faithfulness	that you showed that you faithfully loved them and they rebelled	Instead & they rebelled against you
the Sea of Reeds	they were at the Sea of Reeds

Psalms 106:8

ULT	UST
But he saved them on account of his name, to make known his power.	Even so, he rescued them because of who he is, so that he could show that he is very powerful.

ULT on account of his name
UST because of who he is (לְמַעַן שְׁמוֹ)

Here, his name represents his reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for the sake of his reputation]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to make known
UST so that he could show that
(לְהוֹדִיעַ)

Here, to make known marks to make known his power as the goal or purpose of he saved them on account of his name. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order to make known]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT to make known
UST so that he could show that
(לְהוֹדִיעַ)

The expression to make known is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [so that everyone would know]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT his power
UST he is very powerful
(אֶת־גְּבוּרָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of power, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how powerful he is]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
But he saved them	Even so, he rescued them to make known	so that he could show that

Psalms 106:9

ULT	UST
He rebuked the Sea of Reeds, and it dried up. Then he led them through the depths, as {through} a desert.	He rebuked the Sea of Reeds and it became dry. Then he led our ancestors through it and even the deepest parts were as dry as a desert.

ULT He rebuked the Sea of Reeds, and it dried up
UST He rebuked the Sea of Reeds and it became dry (וַיִּגְעַר בְּיַם־סוּף וַיֶּחֱרָב)

Here, and it dried up marks it dried up as the goal or purpose of He rebuked the Sea of Reeds. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [He rebuked the Sea of Reeds so that it dried up]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT as {through} a desert
UST were as dry as a desert
(כַּמִּדְבָּר)

The psalmist is making a comparison about how God led the Israelites through the dried-up sea. The point of this comparison is that just as a desert is dry land that can be walked on, so were the depths of the sea after God dried it up. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and it was as dry as a desert]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He rebuked	He rebuked
the Sea of Reeds	the Sea of Reeds
as {through} a desert	were as dry as a desert

Psalms 106:10

ULT	UST
So he saved them from the hand of the hater, and he rescued them from the hand of the enemy.	In that way he rescued them from their hateful enemies.

ULT So he saved them from the hand of the hater, and he rescued them from the hand of the enemy
UST In that way he rescued them from their hateful enemies (וַיּוֹשִׁיעֵם מִיַּד שׂוֹנֵא וַיִּגְאָלֵם מִיַּד אוֹיֵב)

These two phrases he saved them from the hand of the hater and he rescued them from the hand of the enemy mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [So he saved them from the hand of the hater; yes, he rescued them from the hand of the enemy]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT from the hand of & from the hand of UST from (מִיַּד & מִיַּד)

Here, hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the power of … from the power of]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the hater
UST their hateful (שׂוֹנֵא)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific hater. He means haters in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [those who hated them]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT the enemy
> UST enemies
> (אוֹיֵב)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific enemy. He means enemies in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [their enemies]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
So he saved them	In that way he rescued them
and he rescued them	In that way he rescued them
the enemy	enemies

Psalms 106:11

ULT	UST
Then the waters covered their adversaries; one of them was not left.	Then their enemies drowned under the water {of the Sea of Reeds}; not one of them remained {alive}.

ULT one of them was not left
UST not one of them remained {alive
(אֶחָד מֵהֶם לֹא נוֹתָר)

The expression one of them was not left contains a passive verbal form. It means that none of them were left alive. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [all of them died]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their adversaries	Then their enemies

Psalms 106:12

ULT	UST
Then they believed his words; they sang his praise.	When that happened, our ancestors believed that Yahweh had truly done for them what he had promised to do, and they sang to praise him.

ULT his words
UST what he had promised to do
(בִּדְבָרָיו)

Here, words represents what God said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [what he had said to them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT his praise
UST to praise him
(תְּהִלָּתוֹ)

Here, praise represents songs or words that praised God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [songs that praised him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they believed	When that happened, our ancestors believed that Yahweh had truly done for them
his praise	to praise him

Psalms 106:13

ULT	UST
But they hurried, they forgot his deeds; they did not wait for his instructions.	But they soon forgot what he had done for them; they did things without waiting to find out what Yahweh wanted them to do.

ULT But they hurried, they forgot
UST But they soon forgot
(מָהֲרוּ שָׁכְחוּ)

The phrases they hurried, they forgot express a single idea. The word hurried tells more about forgot. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [But they quickly forgot]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for his instructions	to find out what Yahweh wanted them to do

Psalms 106:14

ULT	UST
And they craved a craving in the wilderness, and they tested God in the wasteland.	They intensely wanted certain foods in the wilderness. They did evil things there that challenged God to punish them.

ULT in the wilderness & in the wasteland
UST in the wilderness & there
(בַּמִּדְבָּר & בִּישִׁימוֹן)

These two phrases in the wilderness and in the wasteland mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could indicate in some way that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [in the wilderness … in that wasteland]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT And they craved a craving
UST They intensely wanted certain foods
(וַיִּתְאַוּוּ תַאֲוָה)

The psalmist is using a construction in which a verb and its object come from the same root. You may be able to use the same construction in your language to express the meaning here. Alternatively, your language may have another way of saying this. Alternate translation: [And they had strong cravings]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT and they tested God
UST They did evil things & that challenged God to punish them
(וַיְנַסּוּ־אֵל)

The implication is that they tested God’s patience and faithfulness by demanding things from him and complaining against him. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and they pushed the limits of God’s patience with them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the wilderness	in the wilderness
and they tested	They did evil things & that challenged & to punish them
God	God
in the wasteland	there

Psalms 106:15

ULT	UST
So he gave to them their request, but he sent a wasting disease upon their lives.	So he gave them what they requested, but then he made many of them sick so that they died.

ULT but he sent a wasting disease
UST but then he made many of them sick
(וַיְשַׁלַּח רָזוֹן)

The psalmist is speaking as if God literally sent a wasting disease. This means that God caused the disease to affect the Israelites. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but he caused a wasting disease]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT upon their lives
UST so that they died
(בְּנַפְשָׁם)

The psalmist is using upon their lives as a common expression of his culture to mean “that killed them” or “that took their lives.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that took their lives] or [that killed many of them]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a wasting disease	sick

Psalms 106:16

ULT	UST
And they became envious of Moses in the camp, of Aaron, the holy one of Yahweh.	Later when some of the men in the camp became resentful of Moses and of {his older brother} Aaron, who was dedicated to serve Yahweh {by being a priest},

ULT And they became envious
UST became resentful
(וַיְקַנְאוּ)

The pronoun they refers to some of the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [And some of the men became envious]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT of Aaron
UST and of {his older brother} Aaron
(לְאַהֲרֹן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and they also became envious of Aaron]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the holy one of Yahweh
UST who was dedicated to serve Yahweh {by being a priest
(קְדוֹשׁ יְהוָה)

The psalmist is using the adjective holy one as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the holy priest of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they became envious	became resentful
of Moses	of Moses
of Aaron	and of {his older brother} Aaron
the holy one of	who was dedicated to serve & by being a priest
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 106:17

ULT	UST
The earth opened and swallowed Dathan and covered over the congregation of Abiram.	the ground opened up and Dathan fell into it and it also buried Abiram and his people.

ULT and swallowed Dathan
UST and Dathan fell into it
(וַתִּבְלַע דָּתָן)

The psalmist is speaking as if the earth were a person who swallowed Dathan. He means that the earth opened up and Dathan fell into it and died. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and Dathan went down in it]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Dathan & Abiram
UST Dathan & Abiram
(דָּתָן & אֲבִירָם)

The words Dathan and Abiram are the names of men.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT the congregation of Abiram
UST Abiram and his people
(עֲדַת אֲבִירָם)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the congregation of Abiram refers to Abiram's followers who joined him in rebelling against Moses and Aaron. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the followers of Abiram]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The earth	the ground
and swallowed	and & fell into it
the congregation of	and his people

Psalms 106:18

ULT	UST
Fire blazed up in their congregation; a flame burned up the wicked.	God made a fire start among their people that burned up all the wicked people {who agreed with them}.

ULT Fire blazed up in their congregation; a flame burned up the wicked
UST God made a fire start among their people that burned up all the wicked people {who agreed with them
(וּתְבַעֲר־אֵשׁ בַּעֲדָתָם לֶהָבָה תְּלַהֵט רְשָׁעִים)

These two phrases Fire blazed up in their congregation and a flame burned up the wicked mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Fire blazed up in their congregation; indeed, a flame burned up the wicked]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the wicked
UST all the wicked people {who agreed with them
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in their congregation	among their people
the wicked	all the wicked people {who agreed with them

Psalms 106:19

ULT	UST
They made a calf at Horeb and worshiped a cast image.	Then the Israelite leaders made a metal statue of a calf at Mount Horeb and they worshiped it.

ULT They made a calf at Horeb and worshiped a cast image
UST Then the Israelite leaders made a metal statue of a calf at Mount Horeb and they worshiped it (יַעֲשׂוּ־עֵגֶל בְּחֹרֵב וַיִּשְׁתַּחֲווּ לְמַסֵּכָה)

These two phrases They made a calf at Horeb and worshiped a cast image mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [They made a calf at Horeb; yes, they worshiped that cast image]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT They made a calf
UST Then the Israelite leaders made & a calf
(יַעֲשׂוּ־עֵגֶל)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that this calf was not a real calf but was made of gold as an idol to worship. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [They made a model of a calf]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and worshiped a cast image
UST a metal statue of & and they worshiped it
(וַיִּשְׁתַּחֲווּ לְמַסֵּכָה)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that a cast image refers to the golden calf that the Israelites made at Mount Horeb. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and worshiped that calf, which was a cast image]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a calf	a calf
at Horeb	at Mount Horeb
and worshiped	and they worshiped it
a cast image	a metal statue of

Psalms 106:20

ULT	UST
Thus they traded their Glory for the likeness of a bull eating grass.	So instead of worshiping their glorious God, they worshiped a statue of a bull that eats grass!

ULT their Glory
UST their glorious God
(אֶת־כְּבוֹדָם)

The implication is that their Glory refers to God himself, who is glorious. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [their God, who is glorious,]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Thus they traded their Glory for the likeness of a bull eating grass
UST So instead of worshiping their glorious God, they worshiped a statue of a bull that eats grass
(וַיָּמִירוּ אֶת־כְּבוֹדָם בְּתַבְנִית שׁוֹר אֹכֵל עֵשֶׂב)

The psalmist is speaking of worshiping an idol rather than God as though they had traded God for this idol. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Thus they replaced worshiping their Glory with worshiping the likeness of a bull eating grass]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their Glory	their glorious God for the likeness of	they worshiped a statue of a bull	a bull
eating	that eats

Psalms 106:21

ULT	UST
They forgot God their Savior, the doer of great {deeds} in Egypt:	They ignored God, who had rescued them by the great miracles that he performed in Egypt.

ULT They forgot God
UST They ignored God
(שָׁכְחוּ אֵל)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites forgot God, that is, as if he had slipped from their memory. The psalmist means that they acted as if God did not exist or matter to them. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They rejected God]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the doer of great {deeds
UST by the great miracles that he performed
(עֹשֵׂה גְדֹלוֹת)

The implication is that God is the one who had done these great deeds to deliver the Israelites from Egypt. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [who had done great deeds]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
their Savior	who had rescued them
in Egypt	in Egypt

Psalms 106:22

ULT	UST
wonders in the land of Ham, awesome {acts} at the Sea of Reeds.	They stopped thinking about the wonderful things that he did for them in Egypt and the amazing things that he did for them at the Sea of Reeds.

ULT wonders
UST They stopped thinking about the wonderful things
(נִפְלְאוֹת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonders, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [wonderful things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the land of Ham
UST that he did for them in Egypt
(בְּאֶרֶץ חָם)

The implication is that the land of Ham refers to Egypt, since Ham was the ancestor of the Egyptians according to biblical genealogies. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [in the land where Ham's descendants lived]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wonders	They stopped thinking about the wonderful things in the land	that he did for them in
of Ham	Egypt
awesome {acts	and the amazing things that he did for them
the Sea of Reeds	the Sea of Reeds

Psalms 106:23

ULT	UST
So he said to annihilate them— had not Moses, his chosen one, stood in the breach to his face, to turn away his heat from destroying.	Because of that, God said that he would get rid of the Israelites; but Moses, whom God had chosen {to serve him}, confronted God to persuade him not to destroy {them}.

ULT So he said to annihilate them
UST Because of that, God said that he would get rid of the Israelites (וַיֹּאמֶר לְהַשְׁמִידָם)

The implication is that God was determined to destroy the Israelites because of their sin, but Moses interceded for them. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [So he intended to annihilate them] or [So he would have annihilated them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT had not Moses, his chosen one, stood in the breach
UST but Moses, whom God had chosen {to serve him}, confronted God
(לוּלֵי מֹשֶׁה בְחִירוֹ עָמַד בַּפֶּרֶץ)

The psalmist says had not Moses, his chosen one, stood in the breach to introduce a situation that did not happen in order to help explain what would have happened if Moses had not interceded for the Israelites. Use a natural method in your language for introducing a situation that did not happen. Alternate translation: [if Moses, his chosen one, had not stood in the breach]

Support Reference: Hypothetical Situations

ULT his chosen one
UST whom God had chosen {to serve him
(בְחִירוֹ)

The expression his chosen one is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [the one whom God had chosen]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT stood in the breach
UST confronted God
(עָמַד בַּפֶּרֶץ)

The psalmist is using stood in the breach as a common expression of his culture to mean “defended them” or “interceded for them.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [defended them]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT to his face
UST confronted God
(לְפָנָיו)

Here, to his face represents being in God’s presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [before God]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to turn away his heat from destroying
UST to persuade him not to destroy {them
(לְהָשִׁיב חֲמָתוֹ מָהַשְׁחִית)

The psalmist is using to turn away his heat as a common expression of the culture to mean “to turn away his anger.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to keep him from destroying them in his anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to annihilate them	he would get rid of the Israelites
Moses	Moses
his chosen one	whom God had chosen {to serve him
his heat	to persuade him
from destroying	not to destroy {them

Psalms 106:24

ULT	UST
Then they despised the delightful land; they did not believe his word,	Then our ancestors refused to enter the beautiful land {of Canaan} because they did not believe that God would fulfill his promise {that he would enable them to take the land from the people who were living there}.

ULT his word
UST fulfill his promise {that he would enable them to take the land from the people who were living there (לִדְבָרוֹ)

Here, word represents what God said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [what he had said]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the & land	the & land {of Canaan
they did & believe	believe that God would

Psalms 106:25

ULT	UST
but grumbled in their tents; they did not listen to the voice of Yahweh.	Instead, they stayed in their tents and complained. They did not obey what Yahweh said that they should do.

ULT they did not listen to the voice of
UST They did not obey what & said that they should do (לֹא שָׁמְעוּ בְּקוֹל)

By they did not listen to the voice, the psalmist means they did not obey or heed what Yahweh said. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [they did not heed the voice of]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT to the voice of Yahweh
UST what Yahweh said that they should do
(בְּקוֹל יְהוָה)

Here, the voice of Yahweh represents what Yahweh said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to what Yahweh said to them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in their tents	Instead, they stayed in their tents
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 106:26

ULT	UST
Then he raised his hand to them to make them fall in the desert,	So Yahweh solemnly swore to them that he would cause them to die there in the wilderness,

ULT Then he raised his hand to them
UST So Yahweh solemnly swore to them
(וַיִּשָּׂא יָדוֹ לָהֶם)

The phrase raised his hand describes a symbolic action by which God showed that he was making a solemn oath or vow to the Israelites. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Then he made an oath to them]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT to make them fall
UST that he would cause them to die
(לְהַפִּיל אוֹתָם)

The psalmist is using to make them fall as a common expression of his culture to mean “to kill them.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to kill them]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the desert	there in the wilderness

Psalms 106:27

ULT	UST
and to make their seed fall among the nations, and to scatter them among the lands.	and that he would spread their descendants among the people of other nations, yes, that he would disperse them in those {foreign} lands.

ULT and to make their seed fall among the nations, and to scatter them among the lands
UST and that he would spread their descendants among the people of other nations, yes, that he would disperse them in those {foreign} lands
(וּלְהַפִּ֣יל זַרְעָ֗ם בַּגּוֹיִם֮ וּלְזָרוֹתָ֪ם בָּאֲרָצוֹת)

These two phrases to make their seed fall among the nations and to scatter them among the lands mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [and to scatter their descendants among people of foreign lands]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and to make their seed fall
UST and that he would spread their descendants
(וּלְהַפִּ֣יל זַרְעָ֗ם)

The psalmist is speaking of the descendants of the Israelites as if they were seed that would fall and be scattered as a farmer scatters seed on a field. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and to spread their descendants]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT among the nations
UST among the people of other nations
(בַּגּוֹיִם֮)

Here, the nations represents the people of foreign nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [among people of foreign nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their seed	their descendants
among the nations	among the people of other nations and to scatter them	yes, that he would disperse them
among the lands	in those {foreign} lands

Psalms 106:28

ULT	UST
They joined themselves to the Baal of Peor and ate the sacrifices of the dead.	Later the Israelite people began worshiping the statue of Baal at Mount Peor, and they ate meat that had been sacrificed to dead {ancestors}.

ULT They joined themselves
UST Later the Israelite people began worshiping
(וַיִּצָּמְדוּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites had joined themselves to the Baal of Peor, that is, as if they were attaching themselves physically to the idol. The psalmist means that they gave their loyalty and devotion to this false god. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They gave their loyalty]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the sacrifices of the dead
UST meat that had been sacrificed to dead {ancestors
(זִבְחֵי מֵתִים)

This could mean: (1) the people worshiped their dead ancestors and treated them as gods. Alternate translation: [the sacrifices given to dead ancestors] or (2) the psalmist is describing Baal and the people's other idols as dead. Alternate translation: [sacrifices given to lifeless idols]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the sacrifices of the dead
UST meat that had been sacrificed to dead {ancestors
(זִבְחֵי מֵתִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective dead as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the sacrifices for dead people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT the sacrifices of the dead
> UST meat that had been sacrificed to dead {ancestors
> (זִבְחֵי מֵתִים)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean sacrifices offered to idols, which were considered to be dead gods. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the sacrifices given to those who had died]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to the Baal of	the statue of Baal
Peor	at Mount Peor
and ate	and they ate
the sacrifices of	meat that had been sacrificed

Psalms 106:29

ULT	UST
And they angered with their actions, and a plague broke out among them.	When the people did these things, that made Yahweh angry, so {again} he caused many of them to get a terrible disease.

ULT And they angered
UST that made Yahweh angry
(וַיַּכְעִיסוּ)

Some ancient manuscripts read And they angered. The ULT follows that reading. Other ancient manuscripts read “And they angered him.” If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to use the reading that it uses. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to use the reading of the ULT. Alternate translation: [And they angered him]

Support Reference: Textual Variants

ULT and a plague broke out among them
UST so {again} he caused many of them to get a terrible disease
(וַתִּפְרָץ־בָּם מַגֵּפָה)

The psalmist is using a plague broke out among them as a common expression of his culture to mean “many of them became sick with a plague.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and many of them became sick with a plague]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and a plague broke out among them
UST so {again} he caused many of them to get a terrible disease
(וַתִּפְרָץ־בָּם מַגֵּפָה)

The implication is that God sent the plague as judgment for their sinful actions. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and Yahweh afflicted them with a plague]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a plague	a terrible disease

Psalms 106:30

ULT	UST
Then Phinehas stood and intervened, and the plague was restrained.	But Phinehas stood up and punished {the ones who had sinned}, and as a result the plague ended.

ULT Then Phinehas stood
UST But Phinehas stood up
(וַיַּעֲמֹד פִּינְחָס)

The psalmist is speaking of Phinehas as if he had stood up from a sitting position. The psalmist means that Phinehas took action courageously to intervene in the situation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Then Phinehas showed his courage]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and intervened
UST and punished {the ones who had sinned
(וַיְפַלֵּל)

The implication is that Phinehas acted on behalf of Yahweh to stop the plague by executing judgment on those who were sinning. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and acted on behalf of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and the plague was restrained
UST and as a result the plague ended
(וַתֵּעָצַר הַמַּגֵּפָה)

The expression the plague was restrained is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [and the plague stopped]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Phinehas	But Phinehas
the plague	and as a result the plague

Psalms 106:31

ULT	UST
It was counted to him as righteousness to generation and generation until forever.	Because of what Phinehas did, people have considered him to be a righteous man, and people in all future years will continue to remember him as righteous.

ULT It was counted to him
UST Because of what Phinehas did, people have considered him to be a & man
(וַתֵּחָשֶׁב לְוֹ)

The expression It was counted to him is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [People credited it to him]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT as righteousness
UST righteous
(לִצְדָקָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [as a righteous deed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to generation and generation
UST and people & will continue to remember him as righteous
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

The psalmist is using to generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean “throughout all generations” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and will be so throughout all generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
as righteousness	righteous
to generation	and people & will continue to remember him as righteous and generation	and people & will continue to remember him as righteous
forever	in all future years

Psalms 106:32

ULT	UST
And they angered at the waters of Meribah, and it was bad for Moses on account of them.	Then at Meribah, where the water came out {of the rock}, our ancestors caused Yahweh to become angry {again}, and Moses suffered because of what they did.

ULT And they angered
UST Then & our ancestors caused Yahweh to become angry {again
(וַיַּקְצִיפוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [And they angered Yahweh]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT Meribah
UST at Meribah
(מְרִיבָה)

The word Meribah is the name of a place. Alternate translation: [the place called Meribah]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT and it was bad for Moses
UST and Moses suffered
(וַיֵּרַע לְמֹשֶׁה)

The pronoun it refers to what happened at the waters of Meribah. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and what happened there was bad for Moses]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for Moses	Moses

Psalms 106:33

ULT	UST
For they rebelled against his spirit, and he spoke rashly with his lips.	Moses suffered because they caused him to become very angry, and he said things that were foolish.

ULT For
UST Moses suffered because
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation of what happened to Moses at the waters of Meribah. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [What happened was that]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT they rebelled against his spirit
UST they caused him to become very angry
(הִמְרֻ֖ אֶת־רוּח֑וֹ)

Here, his could refer to: (1) Moses. Alternate translation: [they rebelled against Moses' spirit] or (2) Yahweh. Alternate translation: [they rebelled against Yahweh's Spirit]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT they rebelled against his spirit
UST they caused him to become very angry
(הִמְרֻ֖ אֶת־רוּח֑וֹ)

Some ancient manuscripts read they rebelled against his spirit. The ULT follows that reading. Other ancient manuscripts read "they embittered his spirit." If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to use the reading that it uses. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to use the reading of the ULT. Alternate translation: [they embittered his spirit]

Support Reference: Textual Variants

ULT they rebelled against his spirit
UST they caused him to become very angry
(הִמְרֻ֖ אֶת־רוּח֑וֹ)

Here, his spirit represents him as a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they rebelled against him]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT and he spoke rashly with his lips
> UST and he said things that were foolish
> (וַיְבַטֵּא בִּשְׂפָתָיו)

It might seem that the expression with his lips contains extra information that would not be natural to express in your language. If so, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [and he spoke rashly]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

> ULT and he spoke rashly with his lips
> UST and he said things that were foolish
> (וַיְבַטֵּא בִּשְׂפָתָיו)

Here the pronouns he and his refer to Moses. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and Moses spoke rashly with his lips]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they rebelled against	they caused & to become very angry
his spirit	him

Psalms 106:35

ULT	UST
but they mingled with the nations and learned their ways	Instead, the men married women from those people groups, and they started doing the {evil} things that those people did.

ULT but they mingled with the nations
UST Instead, the men married women from those people groups
(וַיִּתְעָרְבוּ בַגּוֹיִם)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites had mingled or mixed themselves physically with the nations. He means that they intermarried with people from other nations and adopted their religious and cultural practices. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but they intermarried with people of the nations]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT but they mingled with the nations
UST Instead, the men married women from those people groups
(וַיִּתְעָרְבוּ בַגּוֹיִם)

Here, the nations represents the people of those nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [but they intermarried with the people of the other nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with the nations	people groups

Psalms 106:36

ULT	UST
and served their idols, and they became a snare to them.	Our ancestors worshiped the idols of those people, and that is how they began to reject Yahweh and his ways.

ULT and they became a snare to them
UST and that is how they began to reject Yahweh and his ways
(וַיִּהְיוּ לָהֶם לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

The pronoun they refers to the idols, while the pronoun them refers to the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and the idols became a snare to the people]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and they became a snare to them
UST and that is how they began to reject Yahweh and his ways
(וַיִּהְיוּ לָהֶם לְמוֹקֵשׁ)

The psalmist is speaking of the idols as if they were a snare that could trap the Israelites and destroy them. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this in plain language. Alternate translation: [and that was the beginning of their destruction]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and served	Our ancestors worshiped
their idols	the idols of those people
a snare	and that is how they began to reject Yahweh and his ways

Psalms 106:37

ULT	UST
And they sacrificed their sons and their daughters to demons.	{Many of} the Israelites sacrificed their sons and daughters to the demons {that those idols represented}.

ULT And they sacrificed
UST Many of} the Israelites sacrificed
(וַיִּזְבְּחוּ)

The pronoun they refers to the Israelites. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Our ancestors sacrificed]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And they sacrificed	Many of} the Israelites sacrificed to demons	to the demons {that those idols represented

Psalms 106:38

ULT	UST
And they shed innocent blood, the blood of their sons and their daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, and the land was desecrated by bloodshed.	They killed their own sons and daughters, who had done nothing wrong, by offering them as sacrifices to the idols of the Canaanites. Because of those murders, the land of Canaan became defiled.

ULT And they shed innocent blood
UST They killed & who had done nothing wrong
(וַיִּשְׁפְּכוּ דָם נָקִי)

Here, blood represents the lives of people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They killed innocent people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan
UST by offering them as sacrifices to the idols of the Canaanites
(אֲשֶׁר זָבְחוּ לַעֲצַבֵּי כְנָעַן)

Here, idols represents the spiritual beings that the people believed the idols represented. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [whom they sacrificed to the spirits that the people of Canaan worshiped]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and the land was desecrated by bloodshed
UST Because of those murders, the land of Canaan became defiled
(וַתֶּחֱנַף הָאָרֶץ בַּדָּמִים)

By the land was desecrated by bloodshed, the psalmist means that the land became unfit for God's people to live in because of the murders committed there. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and the land became unfit for the people of God to live in because they murdered people there]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
innocent	who had done nothing wrong
they sacrificed	by offering them as sacrifices to the idols of	to the idols of
Canaan	the Canaanites
and & was desecrated	became defiled
by bloodshed	Because of those murders

Psalms 106:39

ULT	UST
And they became unclean by their deeds; and they prostituted themselves by their actions.	Because of what they did they made it impossible for Yahweh to accept them. By worshiping idols instead of faithfully worshiping only Yahweh, they became like prostitutes.

ULT And they became unclean by their deeds; and they prostituted themselves by their actions
UST Because of what they did they made it impossible for Yahweh to accept them. By worshiping idols instead of faithfully worshiping only Yahweh, they became like prostitutes
(וַיִּטְמְאוּ בְמַעֲשֵׂיהֶם וַיִּזְנוּ בְּמַעַלְלֵיהֶם)

These two phrases And they became unclean by their deeds and and they prostituted themselves by their actions mean basically the same thing. The second phrase emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [And they became unclean by their deeds; indeed, they prostituted themselves by their actions]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT And they became unclean
UST they made it impossible for Yahweh to accept them
(וַיִּטְמְאוּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites had become unclean physically through their sinful actions. He means that they became spiritually defiled or morally corrupted by their idolatrous practices. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And they became very sinful]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and they prostituted themselves
UST they became like prostitutes
(וַיִּזְנוּ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites were unfaithful wives who prostituted themselves. He means that they violated their covenant relationship with Yahweh by worshiping idols. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they violated their relationship with Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and they prostituted themselves	they became like prostitutes

Psalms 106:40

ULT	UST
So Yahweh’s nose burned with his people, and he despised his inheritance.	So Yahweh became very angry with his people; he was completely disgusted with them.

ULT So Yahweh’s nose burned
UST So Yahweh became very angry
(וַיִּֽחַר־אַף יְהוָה)

The psalmist is using the phrase Yahweh’s nose burned as a common expression of the culture to mean that Yahweh was angry. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [So Yahweh was very angry]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT his inheritance
UST them
(אֶת־נַחֲלָתֽוֹ)

The psalmist is speaking of the people of Israel as if they were Yahweh’s inheritance. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people who belonged to him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh’s	Yahweh
his inheritance	them

Psalms 106:41

ULT	UST
And he gave them into the hand of the nations, and the haters of them ruled over them.	As a result, he allowed other people groups to conquer our ancestors, so that those who hated our ancestors were their rulers.

ULT And he gave them into the hand of the nations
UST As a result, he allowed other people groups to conquer our ancestors
(וַיִּתְּנֵם בְּיַד־גּוֹיִם)

Here, hand represents the power and control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And he gave them into the control of people of other nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and the haters of them ruled
UST so that those who hated our ancestors were & rulers
(וַיִּמְשְׁלוּ & שֹׂנְאֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is using the verb haters as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use verbs in the same way. If not, you can translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [and people who hated them]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	other people groups
and & ruled	so that & were & rulers

Psalms 106:42

ULT	UST
And their enemies oppressed them, and they were humbled under their hand.	Their enemies oppressed our ancestors and completely controlled them.

ULT And their enemies oppressed them, and they were humbled under their hand
UST Their enemies oppressed our ancestors and completely controlled them
(וַיִּלְחָצוּם אוֹיְבֵיהֶם וַיִּכָּנְעוּ תַּחַת יָדָם)

These two phrases And their enemies oppressed them and and they were humbled under their hand mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [And their enemies oppressed them; yes, they were humbled under their hand]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and they were humbled under their hand
UST and completely controlled them
(וַיִּכָּנְעוּ תַּחַת יָדָם)

The expression they were humbled is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and the hand of their enemies humbled them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and they were humbled under their hand
UST and completely controlled them
(וַיִּכָּנְעוּ תַּחַת יָדָם)

Here, hand represents the power and control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they were humbled under their control]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their enemies	Their enemies
and they were humbled	and completely controlled them

Psalms 106:43

ULT	UST
Many times he rescued them, but they, they were rebellious in their counsel and sank in their sin.	Many times Yahweh saved his people, but they insisted on rebelling against him, and they destroyed themselves by being more and more sinful.

ULT but they, they were rebellious
UST but they & rebelling against him
(וְהֵמָּה יַמְרוּ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun they separately, even though the verb translated as they were rebellious already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize the contrast between God's repeated rescue and the people's persistent rebellion. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [but those people, they were rebellious]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT in their counsel
UST insisted on (בַּעֲצָתָם)

The implication is that the Israelites were rebellious in their plans and decisions against God. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [in their thinking]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and sank in their sin
UST and they destroyed themselves by being more and more sinful
(וַיִּמַּכּוּ בַּעֲוֹנָם)

The psalmist is speaking as if the Israelites were objects that sank down into something. He means that they became more and more deeply involved in sinful behavior. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and their sinfulness became progressively worse]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he rescued them	Yahweh saved his people they were rebellious	rebelling against him
in their counsel	insisted on in their sin	by being more and more sinful

Psalms 106:44

ULT	UST
Yet he saw in the narrow to them, when he was hearing their cry.	However, Yahweh saw everything that was distressing to them, and he listened to them when they cried out to him for help.

ULT in the narrow to them
UST everything that was distressing to them
(בַּצַּר לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using in the narrow to them as a common expression of his culture to mean “when they were in distress” or “when they were in trouble.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that these things were very hard for them]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT when he was hearing their cry
UST and he listened to them when they cried out to him for help
(בְּשָׁמְעוֹ אֶת־רִנָּתָם)

The implication is that the Israelites were crying out to God for help during their distress. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [when he was hearing them cry out to him in distress]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their cry	when they cried out to him for help

Psalms 106:45

ULT	UST
And he remembered his covenant with them and relented because of the abundance of his covenant faithfulness.	He thought about the covenant that he had made with them, and because he was completely committed to faithfully loving them, he decided that he would stop {punishing them}.

ULT And he remembered
UST He thought about (וַיִּזְכֹּר)

By he remembered, the psalmist means that God was mindful of his covenant, that he acted because of his covenant, not that he had forgotten about it and then remembered. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [And he called to mind]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and relented
UST he decided that he would stop {punishing them
(וַיִּנָּחֵם)

By relented, the psalmist means that God turned away from his anger and chose not to continue punishing his people. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and held back from punishing them further]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT because of the abundance of his covenant faithfulness
UST and because he was completely committed to faithfully loving them (כְּרֹב חסדו)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of abundance and covenant faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [because he is so abundantly faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his covenant	the covenant that he had made his covenant faithfulness	and because he was completely committed to faithfully loving them

Psalms 106:46

ULT	UST
He gave them for compassion to the face of all of their captors.	He caused all those who had captured the Israelites to feel sorry for them.

ULT He gave them for compassion
UST He caused & to feel sorry for them
(וַיִּתֵּן אוֹתָם לְרַחֲמִים)

The psalmist is using gave them for compassion as a common expression of his culture to mean “caused them to be treated with compassion” or “made them objects of compassion.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He made them objects of compassion]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT He gave them for compassion to the face of all of their captors
UST He caused all those who had captured the Israelites to feel sorry for them
(וַיִּתֵּן אוֹתָם לְרַחֲמִים לִפְנֵי כָּל־שׁוֹבֵיהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of compassion, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He made all of their captors compassionate toward them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to the face of all of their captors
UST all those who had captured the Israelites to feel sorry
(לִפְנֵי כָּל־שׁוֹבֵיהֶם)

Here, to the face of represents being in the thinking or consideration of their captors. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [in the thinking of all of their captors]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for compassion	to feel sorry
their captors	those who had captured the Israelites

Psalms 106:47

ULT	UST
Save us, Yahweh, our God! Gather us from the nations to give thanks to the name of your holiness, to glory in your praises.	Yahweh our God, rescue us and bring us back to Israel from among those other people groups so that we may thank you who are holy and joyfully praise you!

ULT to give thanks
UST so that we may thank (לְהֹדוֹת)

Here, to give thanks marks giving thanks to God's holy name as the goal or purpose of Gather us from the nations. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order that we may give thanks]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT to give thanks to the name of your holiness
UST so that we may thank you who are holy
(לְהֹדוֹת לְשֵׁם קָדְשֶׁךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a name that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to give thanks to your holy name]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT to give thanks to the name of your holiness
UST so that we may thank you who are holy
(לְהֹדוֹת לְשֵׁם קָדְשֶׁךָ)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who God is or to refer to God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to give thanks to you, the one who is known to be holy]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to glory in your praises
UST and joyfully praise you
(לְהִשְׁתַּבֵּחַ בִּתְהִלָּתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of praises, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to be proud about praising you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Save us	rescue us
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	our God
Gather us	and bring us back to Israel
the nations	those other people groups
your holiness	who are holy to glory	and joyfully
in your praises	praise you

Psalms 106:48

ULT	UST
May Yahweh, the God of Israel, be blessed from everlasting and to everlasting, and all the people say, “Amen. Hallelu Yah!”	Praise Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship! Praise him now and forever! Let all the people say, “We agree! Praise Yahweh!”

ULT May Yahweh, the God of Israel, be blessed
UST Praise Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship
(בָּרוּךְ־יְהוָה אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The expression be blessed is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [May people bless Yahweh, the God of Israel]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT the God of Israel
UST the God whom we Israelites worship
(אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is not using this possessive form the God of Israel to indicate that the Israelites possess or control God. Rather the psalmist is using these words to indicate that God is the one whom Israel worships. Alternate translation: [who is the God whom Israel worships]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT from everlasting and to everlasting
UST Praise him now and forever
(מִן־הָעוֹלָם ׀ וְעַד הָעוֹלָם)

The psalmist is using from everlasting and to everlasting as a common expression of his culture to mean “for all eternity.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for all eternity]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT Amen. Hallelu Yah
> UST We agree! Praise Yahweh
> (אָמֵן הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Amen. Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Amen. Halleluia] or [May it be so. Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

> ULT Yah
> UST Yahweh
> (יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the God	the God
of Israel	whom we Israelites worship
May & be blessed	Praise
everlasting	Praise him now
Amen	We agree
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 107

Psalms 107 Introduction

Psalm 107 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 107 is the last in a series of five “psalms of praise” to God (Psalm 103–107).

1. A call to thanksgiving (1–3)
2. Stories of Yahweh’s deliverance (4–32)
3. Yahweh’s transformative power (33–41)
4. A final exhortation (42–43)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Praise

The psalmist praises Yahweh for saving people lost in the desert, in prison, sick, in a storm at sea, homeless and oppressed. (See: save, saved, safe, salvation, rescue)

Psalms 107:1

ULT	UST
Give thanks to Yahweh, for {he is} good, for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever.	Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever!

ULT his covenant faithfulness {is
UST he faithfully loves us
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he remains faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to forever
UST forever
(לְעוֹלָם)

The psalmist is using to forever as a common expression of his culture to mean “eternally” or “for all time.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [everlasting]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	Yahweh
he is} good	he is good
his covenant faithfulness {is	he faithfully loves us
to forever	forever

Psalms 107:2

ULT	UST
Let the redeemed of Yahweh say {it}, who he rescued them from the hand of the opponent.	Those whom Yahweh has saved should tell others that he has rescued them from their enemies.

ULT the redeemed of Yahweh
UST Those whom Yahweh has saved
(גְּאוּלֵי יְהוָה)

The expression the redeemed of Yahweh is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [those whom Yahweh has redeemed]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Let the redeemed of Yahweh say {it
UST Those whom Yahweh has saved should tell others
(יֹאמְרוּ גְּאוּלֵי יְהוָה)

By using Let, the psalmist is expressing what he desires or prays will happen. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I desire that the redeemed of Yahweh say that they have been redeemed]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT who he rescued them
UST that he has rescued them
(אֲשֶׁר גְּאָלָם)

It might seem that the expression who he rescued them contains extra information that would not be natural to express in your language. If so, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [whom he rescued]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

ULT from the hand of the opponent
UST from their enemies
(מִיַּד־צָר)

Here, hand represents the power or control of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the control of the opponent]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT the opponent
> UST their enemies
> (צָר)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific opponent. He means opponents in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [every opponent]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the redeemed of	Those whom & has saved
Yahweh	Yahweh
he rescued them	he has rescued them
the opponent	their enemies

Psalms 107:3

ULT	UST
And he has gathered them from lands, from the sunrise and from the evening, from the north and from the sea.	He has gathered them together from {many foreign} lands; he has gathered them from the east and the west, from the north and from the {southern} sea.

ULT from the sunrise and from the evening, from the north and from the sea
UST he has gathered them from the east and the west, from the north and from the {southern} sea
(מִמִּזְרָח וּמִמַּעֲרָב מִצָּפוֹן וּמִיָּם)

The psalmist is referring to all of the earth by naming two extremes, the sunrise (the east) and the evening (the west), the north and the sea (the south). If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from all directions and from everywhere in between]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT from the sunrise and from the evening, from the north and from the sea
UST he has gathered them from the east and the west, from the north and from the {southern} sea
(מִמִּזְרָח וּמִמַּעֲרָב מִצָּפוֹן וּמִיָּם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he has gathered them from the sunrise and from the evening, from the north and from the sea]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT from the sunrise and from the evening
UST he has gathered them from the east and the west
(מִמִּזְרָח וּמִמַּעֲרָב)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that the sunrise and the evening refer to the east and the west. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from the east and from the west]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT from the north and from the sea
> UST from the north and from the {southern} sea
> (מִצָּפוֹן וּמִיָּם)

The implication is that the sea refers to the southern sea, since the psalmist has already mentioned the other three directions (east, west, and north). You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from the north and from the south]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And he has gathered them	He has gathered them together
from lands	from {many foreign} lands

Psalms 107:4

ULT	UST
They wandered in the desert with wilderness for a road; a city for a home they did not find.	Some of those who returned from those countries wandered in the trackless desert; they could find no town to live in.

ULT They wandered
UST Some of those who returned from those countries wandered (תָּעוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the redeemed people whom Yahweh has gathered from foreign lands, as mentioned in the previous verses. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Some of them wandered]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with wilderness for a road
UST trackless
(בִּישִׁימ֣וֹן דֶּ֭רֶךְ)

By with wilderness for a road, the psalmist means that they had no proper road to travel on, only the trackless wilderness. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [with no road to walk on, only wilderness]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the desert	in the & desert
with wilderness for	trackless

Psalms 107:5

ULT	UST
Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted within them.	They were hungry and thirsty, and they became weak and discouraged.

ULT Hungry and thirsty
UST They were hungry and thirsty
(רְעֵבִים גַּם־צְמֵאִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT their soul fainted within them
UST and they became weak and discouraged
(נַפְשָׁם בָּהֶם תִּתְעַטָּף)

David is using their soul fainted within them as a common expression of his culture to mean “they felt like they were dying” or “they became weak and discouraged.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they felt like they were dying]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their soul	and they became weak and discouraged

Psalms 107:6

ULT	UST
Then they called out to Yahweh in the distressing to them; he rescued them from their distresses.	Then because they were distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them.

ULT in the distressing to them
UST Then because they were distressed
(בַּצַּר לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using the adjective distressing as a noun to mean a certain kind of situation. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [in their distress]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from their distresses
UST from what was distressing them
(מִמְּצוּקוֹתֵיהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distresses, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from the distressing things that were happening to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they called out	they called out
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the distressing	Then because & were distressed
he rescued them	and he rescued them
from their distresses	from what was distressing them

Psalms 107:7

ULT	UST
He led them by a direct path to go to a city of dwelling.	He led them along a straight road where they walked {safely} to cities where they could live.

ULT a city of dwelling
UST cities where they could live
(עִיר מוֹשָׁב)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a city that is characterized by dwelling. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a city to dwell in]

Support Reference: Possession

Psalms 107:8

ULT	UST
May they thank Yahweh {for} his covenant faithfulness and his amazing deeds for the sons of man!	They should praise Yahweh for how he has loved them faithfully and for the wonderful things that he does for all people!

ULT May they thank Yahweh
UST They should praise Yahweh
(יוֹדוּ לַיהוָה)

Here and repeatedly throughout this psalm, the psalmist is using May to express his wish or desire that the people would praise Yahweh. See the discussion in the introduction to this book about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [I desire that they thank Yahweh]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT for} his covenant faithfulness
UST for how he has loved them faithfully
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for being faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for the sons of man
UST for all people
(לִבְנֵי אָדָם)

The psalmist is using sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “people” or “humanity.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for mankind]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
for} his covenant faithfulness	for how he has loved them faithfully

Psalms 107:9

ULT	UST
For he satisfies the thirsty soul, and the hungry soul he fills with good.	They should thank him because he satisfies people who are thirsty, and he gives hungry people plenty of good food to eat.

ULT the thirsty soul
UST people who are thirsty
(נֶפֶשׁ שֹׁקֵקָה)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific thirsty soul. He means thirsty people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [every thirsty soul]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT the thirsty soul
UST people who are thirsty
(נֶפֶשׁ שֹׁקֵקָה)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual and emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [any thirsty person]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and the hungry soul
UST and & hungry people
(וְנֶפֶשׁ רְעֵבָה)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific hungry soul. He means hungry souls in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [and every hungry soul]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and the hungry soul
UST and & hungry people
(וְנֶפֶשׁ רְעֵבָה)

Here, soul represents the entire person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and any hungry person]

Support Reference: Metonymy

> ULT he fills with good
> UST he gives & plenty of good food to eat
> (מְלֵא־טוֹב)

The psalmist is using the adjective good as a noun to mean good things. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [he fills with good things]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the & soul	people
and the & soul	and & people
good	good food to eat

Psalms 107:10

ULT	UST
Sitting in darkness and gloom, prisoners of affliction and iron	Some of them sat in deep darkness; they were prisoners, suffering in iron {chains fastened to their hands and feet}.

ULT Sitting in
UST Some of them sat in (יֹשְׁבֵי)

The word Sitting starts a new section of the psalm and refers to another thing that happened to some of Yahweh's people. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Some of Yahweh's people had to sit in]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT darkness and gloom
UST deep darkness
(חֹשֶׁךְ וְצַלְמָוֶת)

The terms darkness and gloom mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [depressing darkness]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT prisoners of affliction and iron
UST they were prisoners, suffering in iron {chains fastened to their hands and feet
(אֲסִירֵי עֳנִי וּבַרְזֶל)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe prisoners that are characterized by affliction and iron. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [prisoners afflicted by iron fetters]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT prisoners of affliction and iron
> UST they were prisoners, suffering in iron {chains fastened to their hands and feet
> (אֲסִירֵי עֳנִי וּבַרְזֶל)

The phrase affliction and iron expresses a single idea. The word affliction tells more about iron. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [prisoners held by painful iron chains]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of affliction	suffering
and iron	in iron {chains fastened to their hands and feet

Psalms 107:11

ULT	UST
because they had rebelled against the words of God and despised the counsel of the Most High,	They were suffering in prison because they had rebelled against God; they actually rejected the instructions that the Most High God gave to them.

ULT they had rebelled against the words of God and despised the counsel of the Most High
UST they had rebelled against God; they actually rejected the instructions that the Most High God gave to them
(הִמְרוּ אִמְרֵי־אֵל וַעֲצַת עֶלְיוֹן נָאָצוּ)

These two phrases had rebelled against the words of God and despised the counsel of the Most High mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [they had rebelled against the words of God, indeed, they had despised the counsel of the Most High]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT they had rebelled against the words of God
UST they had rebelled against God
(הִמְרוּ אִמְרֵי־אֵל)

Here, words represents what God said by using words. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they had rebelled against God when he instructed them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they had rebelled against	they had rebelled against
God	God
and & the counsel of	the instructions that & gave to them
the Most High	the Most High God

Psalms 107:12

ULT	UST
he humbled their hearts through hardship; they stumbled and there was no helper.	God made them experience difficult things so that they would no longer be proud. When bad things happened to them, there was no one who would help them.

ULT their hearts
UST they (לִבָּם)

Here, their hearts represents their inner selves or their pride. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [them]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT through hardship
UST God made them experience difficult things
(בֶּעָמָל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of hardship, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [by making them suffer]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they stumbled
UST When bad things happened to them
(כָּשְׁלוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the prisoners experiencing difficulties and hardships as if they stumbled while walking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they experienced troubles]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he humbled	so that & would no longer be proud through hardship	God made them experience difficult things
they stumbled	When bad things happened to them

Psalms 107:13

ULT	UST
Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them; he saved them from their distresses.	Then because they were so distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them.

ULT Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them; he saved them from their distresses
UST Then because they were so distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them
(וַיִּזְעֲקוּ אֶל־יְהוָה בַּצַּר לָהֶם מִמְּצָקוֹתֵיהֶם יוֹשִׁיעֵם)

See how you translated the similar phrases in Psalms 107:6. Alternate translation: [Then they prayed to Yahweh to help them in their trouble and he saved them from it]

ULT in the distressing to them
UST Then because they were so distressed
(בַּצַּר לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using the adjective distressing as a noun to mean a certain kind of situation. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [in their distress]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from their distresses
UST from what was distressing them
(מִמְּצָקוֹתֵיהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distresses, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from the distressing things that were happening to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they cried out	they called out
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the distressing	Then because & were so distressed
he saved them	and he rescued them
from their distresses	from what was distressing them

Psalms 107:14

ULT	UST
He brought them out of darkness and gloom and broke apart their bonds.	He broke the chains that were on their hands and feet and brought them out of those very dark prisons.

ULT of darkness and gloom
UST of those very dark prisons
(מֵחֹשֶׁךְ וְצַלְמָוֶת)

The terms darkness and gloom mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [of deep darkness]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT He brought them out of darkness and gloom and broke apart their bonds
UST He broke the chains that were on their hands and feet and brought them out of those very dark prisons
(יְוֹצִיאֵם מֵחֹשֶׁךְ וְצַלְמָוֶת וּמוֹסְרוֹתֵיהֶם יְנַתֵּק)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the part about breaking their bonds before the part about bringing them out of the darkness, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Information Structure

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their bonds	the chains that were on their hands and feet

Psalms 107:15

ULT	UST
May they thank Yahweh {for} his covenant faithfulness and his amazing deeds for the sons of man!

ULT for} his covenant faithfulness
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: חַסְדּוֹ
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for being faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for the sons of man
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: לִבְנֵי אָדָם
(לִבְנֵי אָדָם)

The psalmist is using the sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “people” or “human beings.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for mankind]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: לַיהוָה
for} his covenant faithfulness	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: חַסְדּוֹ

Psalms 107:16

ULT	UST
For he has broken the gates of bronze and cut through the bars of iron.

ULT For he has broken the gates of bronze and cut through the bars of iron
UST Yahweh broke down the bronze gates and he cut through the iron bars of their prison. Therefore (כִּי־שִׁבַּר דַּלְתוֹת נְחֹשֶׁת וּבְרִיחֵי בַרְזֶל גִּדָּע)

If it is more natural in your language to state the reason before the result, you could do so by moving this sentence to the previous verse. You would then present the combined verses as 15–16 as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Verse Bridges

ULT For he has broken the gates of bronze and cut through the bars of iron
UST Yahweh broke down the bronze gates and he cut through the iron bars of their prison. Therefore (כִּי־שִׁבַּר דַּלְתוֹת נְחֹשֶׁת וּבְרִיחֵי בַרְזֶל גִּדָּע)

The implication is that God freed the prisoners by breaking down the prison gates and bars. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [For he has freed them from prison by breaking down the gates of bronze and cutting through the bars of iron]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT For
UST Therefore
(כִּי)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [They should do this because]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

> ULT the gates of bronze
> UST the bronze gates
> (דַּלְתוֹת נְחֹשֶׁת)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe gates that are characterized by being made of bronze. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the gates made of bronze]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT the bars of iron
> UST the iron bars of their prison
> (וּבְרִיחֵי בַרְזֶל)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe bars that are characterized by being made of iron. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the bars made of iron]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the gates	the & gates
of bronze	bronze
of iron	iron

Psalms 107:17

ULT	UST
Foolish from their rebellious way and afflicted from their sins,	Some of them foolishly rebelled {against God}, and they suffered because of their sins.

ULT Foolish
UST Some of them foolishly
(אֱוִלִים)

The word Foolish starts a new section of the psalm and refers to another thing that happened to some of Yahweh's people. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Some of Yahweh's people became foolish]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT from their rebellious way
UST rebelled {against God
(מִדֶּרֶךְ פִּשְׁעָם)

The implication is that they were rebelling against Yahweh. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [because of rebelling against Yahweh]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Foolish	Some of them foolishly
their rebellious	rebelled {against God
afflicted	they suffered
and & from their sins	and & because of their sins

Psalms 107:18

ULT	UST
their soul detested all food, and they touched the gates of death.	They did not want to eat any food, and they almost died.

ULT their soul
UST They
(נַפְשָׁם)

The psalmist is using the term their soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual/emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [they]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and they touched the gates of death
UST and they almost died
(וַיַּגִּיעוּ עַד־שַׁעֲרֵי מָוֶת)

The psalmist is using touched the gates of death as a common expression of his culture to mean “came very close to dying.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and they came close to dying]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
their soul	They
detested	did not want
the gates of	and they almost died

Psalms 107:19

ULT	UST
Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them; he saved them from their distresses.	Then because they were so distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them.

ULT Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them; he saved them from their distresses
UST Then because they were so distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them
(וַיִּזְעֲקוּ אֶל־יְהוָה בַּצַּר לָהֶם מִמְּצָקוֹתֵיהֶם יוֹשִׁיעֵם)

See how you translated the similar phrases in Psalm 107:6 and Psalm 107:13. Alternate translation: [Then they prayed to Yahweh to help them in their trouble and he saved them from it]

ULT in the distressing to them
UST because they were so distressed
(בַּצַּר לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using the adjective distressing as a noun to mean a certain kind of situation. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [in their distress]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from their distresses
UST from what was distressing them
(מִמְּצָקוֹתֵיהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distresses, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from the distressing things that were happening to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they cried out	Then & they called out
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the distressing	because & were so distressed
he saved them	and he rescued them
from their distresses	from what was distressing them

Psalms 107:20

ULT	UST
He sent his word and healed them, and he delivered them from their destruction.	Then Yahweh healed them by speaking a message of healing; in this way he saved them from dying.

ULT He sent his word
UST by speaking a message of healing
(יִשְׁלַ֣ח דְּבָר֑וֹ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's healing power as if it were his word that he could send like a messenger. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he commanded that they be healed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from their destruction
UST from dying
(מִשְּׁחִיתוֹתָֽם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of destruction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from destroying themselves]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and he delivered them	in this way he saved them
from their destruction	from dying

Psalms 107:21

ULT	UST
May they thank Yahweh {for} his covenant faithfulness and his amazing deeds for the sons of man!	They should praise Yahweh for how he has loved them faithfully and for the wonderful things that he does for all people!

ULT for} his covenant faithfulness
UST for how he has loved them faithfully
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for being faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for the sons of man
UST that he does for all people
(לִבְנֵי אָדָם)

The psalmist is using the sons of man as a common expression of the culture to mean “mankind” or “all people.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for mankind]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
for} his covenant faithfulness	for how he has loved them faithfully

Psalms 107:22

ULT	UST
May they sacrifice sacrifices of thanksgiving and recount his deeds with a shout!	They should give offerings to him to show that they are thankful, and they should tell about the miracles that he has performed by singing joyfully!

ULT May they sacrifice sacrifices of thanksgiving
UST They should give offerings to him to show that they are thankful
(וְיִזְבְּחוּ זִבְחֵי תוֹדָה)

The psalmist is using a construction in which a verb and its object come from the same root. You may be able to use the same construction in your language to express the meaning here. Alternatively, your language may have another way of saying this. Alternate translation: [May they offer sacrifices of thanksgiving]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT May they sacrifice sacrifices of thanksgiving
UST They should give offerings to him to show that they are thankful
(וְיִזְבְּחוּ זִבְחֵי תוֹדָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thanksgiving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [May they sacrifice sacrifices in order to thank him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT with a shout
UST by singing joyfully
(בְּרִנָּה)

By with a shout, the psalmist means with a joyful shout or loud, celebratory exclamation. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [by shouting joyfully]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May they sacrifice	They should give offerings to him sacrifices	They should give offerings to him and recount	and they should tell about with a shout	by singing joyfully

Psalms 107:23

ULT	UST
Going down to the sea in ships, doing business on abundant waters,	Some of them sailed in ships; they bought and sold things far away across the sea.

ULT Going down
UST Some of them sailed
(יוֹרְדֵי)

The words Going down start a new section of the psalm and refer to another thing that some of Yahweh's people did. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Some of Yahweh's people went down]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT on abundant waters
UST far away across the sea
(בְּמַ֥יִם רַבִּֽים)

The implication is that the abundant waters are the open seas where merchants would travel for international trade. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [by crossing large amounts of water]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

Psalms 107:24

ULT	UST
they, they saw the deeds of Yahweh and his wonders in the deep.	These people saw the creatures that Yahweh created; they saw the amazing things that he had made {as they traveled} across the very deep seas.

ULT they, they saw
UST These people saw
(הֵמָּה רָאוּ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun they separately, even though the verb translated as they saw already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that they are the only ones who saw the wonders that Yahweh created in the sea. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [they are the ones who saw]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and his wonders
UST they saw the amazing things that he had made (וְנִפְלְאוֹתָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wonders, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and the wonderful things he did]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the deep
UST as they traveled} across the very deep seas
(בִּמְצוּלָה)

By in the deep, the psalmist means in the deep parts of the ocean. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [in the deep parts of the ocean]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Yahweh	Yahweh
and his wonders	they saw the amazing things that he had made

Psalms 107:25

ULT	UST
Then he spoke and aroused the wind of a hurricane and raised up his waves.	Then he commanded the winds to become strong. They became a storm and stirred up very high waves.

ULT Then he spoke and aroused the wind of a hurricane UST Then he commanded the winds to become strong. They became a storm (וַיֹּאמֶר וַיַּעֲמֵד רוּחַ סְעָרָה)

Here, Then he spoke and aroused marks the wind of a hurricane as the goal or purpose of he spoke. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [Then he spoke to the wind so that it become as strong as a hurricane]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

Psalms 107:26

ULT	UST
They went up {to} the sky; they went down {to} the depths. Their souls melted in the disaster.	The ships in which they were sailing went up on the high waves, then they went down into the troughs between the waves. This dangerous action terrified the sailors.

ULT They went up {to} the sky; they went down {to} the depths
UST The ships in which they were sailing went up on the high waves, then they went down into the troughs between the waves
(יַעֲלוּ שָׁמַיִם יֵרְדוּ תְהוֹמוֹת)

The psalmist says They went up to the sky; they went down to the depths as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [They went up very high; they went down very low]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT They went up {to} the sky; they went down {to} the depths
UST The ships in which they were sailing went up on the high waves, then they went down into the troughs between the waves
(יַעֲלוּ שָׁמַיִם יֵרְדוּ תְהוֹמוֹת)

By They went up to the sky; they went down to the depths, the psalmist means that the ships were lifted high on the waves and then dropped low into the troughs between the waves. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [The waves would carry their ships up to the sky; then the ships would fall to the depths between the waves]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Their souls melted in the disaster
UST This dangerous action terrified the sailors (נַפְשָׁם בְּרָעָה תִתְמוֹגָג)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the sailors' souls melted from fear and terror during the storm. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They lost all courage in the disaster]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to} the sky	The ships in which they were sailing went up on the high waves
Their souls	the sailors in the disaster	This dangerous action

Psalms 107:27

ULT	UST
They swayed and staggered as intoxicated and all their wisdom became confounded.	They stumbled about and staggered as drunken men do, and everything that they tried to do was useless.

ULT as intoxicated
UST as drunken men do
(כַּשִּׁכּוֹר)

The psalmist is using the adjective intoxicated as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [as though they were intoxicated]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and all their wisdom became confounded
UST and everything that they tried to do was useless
(וְכָל־חָכְמָתָם תִּתְבַּלָּע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wisdom, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and even though they were wise about sailing, they did not know what to do]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and staggered	and staggered
their wisdom	that they tried to do

Psalms 107:28

ULT	UST
Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them and he rescued them from their distresses.	Then because they were distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them.

ULT Then they cried out to Yahweh in the distressing to them and he rescued them from their distresses
UST Then because they were distressed, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from what was distressing them
(וַיִּצְעֲקוּ אֶל־יְהוָה בַּצַּר לָהֶם וּמִמְּצוּקֹתֵיהֶם יוֹצִיאֵם)

See how you translated the similar phrases in Psalm 107:6, 107:13, and 107:19. Alternate translation: [Then they prayed to Yahweh to help them in their trouble and he saved them from it]

ULT in the distressing to them
UST because they were distressed
(בַּצַּר לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using the adjective distressing as a noun to mean a certain kind of situation. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [in their distress]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and he rescued them from their distresses
UST and he rescued them from what was distressing them
(וּמִמְּצוּקֹתֵיהֶם יוֹצִיאֵם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distresses, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he rescued them from the distressing things that were happening to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they cried out	Then & they called out
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the distressing	because & were distressed
he rescued them	and he rescued them
and & from their distresses	from what was distressing them

Psalms 107:29

ULT	UST
He raised the storm to calmness and he quieted the waves.	He calmed the storm and he stilled the waves.

ULT He raised the storm to calmness
UST He calmed the storm
(יָקֶם סְעָרָה לִדְמָמָה)

The psalmist is using raised the storm to calmness as a common expression of the culture to mean “calmed the storm” or “made the storm stop.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He made the wind stop blowing]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 107:30

ULT	UST
Then they rejoiced because they subsided, and he guided them to the harbor of their desire.	Then they were very glad that the storm had become calm and Yahweh brought them {safely} into the harbor where they had wanted to go.

ULT Then they rejoiced
UST Then they were very glad (וַיִּשְׂמְחוּ)

The words they rejoiced refer to the sailors mentioned in the previous verses who were in distress during the storm. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could clarify this referent. Alternate translation: [Then the people rejoiced]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT because they subsided
UST that the storm had become calm
(כִּי־יִשְׁתֹּקוּ)

The words they subsided refer to the waves mentioned in the previous verse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could repeat the word “waves” here for clarity. Alternate translation: [because the waves subsided]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the harbor of their desire
UST the harbor where they had wanted to go
(מְחוֹז חֶפְצָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of desire, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the harbor where they had desired to arrive]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they rejoiced	Then they were very glad

Psalms 107:31

ULT	UST
May they thank Yahweh {for} his covenant faithfulness and his amazing deeds for the sons of man!	They should praise Yahweh for how he has loved them faithfully and for the wonderful things that he does for all people!

ULT for} his covenant faithfulness
UST for how he has loved them faithfully
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for being faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for the sons of man
UST for all people
(לִבְנֵי אָדָם)

The psalmist is using the sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “people” or “human beings.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for mankind]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
for} his covenant faithfulness	for how he has loved them faithfully

Psalms 107:32

ULT	UST
May they exalt him in the assembly of the people and praise him at the seat of the elders.	They should praise him among the Israelite people when they have gathered together, and they should praise him in front of the leaders of the community.

ULT May they exalt him
UST They should praise him
(וְיָרֹמְמוּהוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if the people could physically exalt or lift up Yahweh. He means that they should honor and praise him highly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May they extol him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and praise him at the seat of the elders
UST and they should praise him in front of the leaders of the community
(וּבְמוֹשַׁב זְקֵנִים יְהַלְלוּהוּ)

The seat of the elders is where the elders gather in a formal setting to make decisions and provide leadership for the community. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and praise him where the elders of the community sit to discuss important issues]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May they exalt him	They should praise him
in the assembly of	when they have gathered together
praise him	they should praise him
the elders	the leaders of the community

Psalms 107:33

ULT	UST
He turns rivers into a desert and springs of water into thirsty land,	Yahweh causes rivers to become dry so that the land becomes barren, and he makes springs of water to become dusty ground.

ULT into thirsty land
UST to become dusty ground
(לְצִמָּאוֹן)

Here the psalmist is speaking of land as if it were a person who could be thirsty. He means that the land becomes dry and without water. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [into land that is without water]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
into a desert	to become dry so that the land becomes barren
and springs	and he makes springs into thirsty land	to become dusty ground

Psalms 107:34

ULT	UST
fruitful ground into salt land, from the wickedness of the dwellers in it.	Yahweh causes land that normally produces a lot of crops to become salty wastelands. He does that because the people who live there are very wicked.

ULT fruitful ground
UST Yahweh causes land that normally produces a lot of crops
(אֶרֶץ פְּרִי)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [he turns fruitful ground]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT fruitful ground
UST Yahweh causes land that normally produces a lot of crops
(אֶרֶץ פְּרִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of land as if it were fruitful ground. He means land that produces abundant crops. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [productive ground]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT into salt land
UST to become salty wastelands
(לִמְלֵחָה)

Here, salt land represents land that cannot produce crops. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [into land that cannot produce crops]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from the wickedness of the dwellers in it
UST He does that because the people who live there are very wicked
(מֵרָעַת יֹשְׁבֵי בָהּ)

The implication is that God turns fruitful land into salt land because the people living there are wicked. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [because of the wickedness of the dwellers in it]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT from the wickedness of the dwellers in it
> UST He does that because the people who live there are very wicked
> (מֵרָעַ֥ת יֹשְׁבֵ֖י בָּהּ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wickedness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because the dwellers in it are so wicked]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT from the wickedness of the dwellers in it
> UST He does that because the people who live there are very wicked
> (מֵרָעַ֥ת יֹשְׁבֵ֖י בָּהּ)

The pronoun it refers to the fruitful ground that God turns into salt land. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [because of the wickedness of the people who dwell in that land]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
fruitful	that normally produces a lot of crops
into salt land	to become salty wastelands
from the wickedness of	He does that because & are very wicked

Psalms 107:35

ULT	UST
He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and dry land into springs of water.	But Yahweh also creates pools of water in deserts, that is, he causes springs to flow where the ground had been dry.

ULT He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and dry land into springs of water
UST But Yahweh also creates pools of water in deserts, that is, he causes springs to flow where the ground had been dry
(יָשֵׂם מִדְבָּר לַאֲגַם־מָיִם וְאֶרֶץ צִיָּה לְמֹצָאֵי מָיִם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and he turns dry land into springs of water]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and dry land into springs of water
UST But Yahweh also creates pools of water in deserts, that is, he causes springs to flow where the ground had been dry
(יָשֵׂם מִדְבָּר לַאֲגַם־מָיִם וְאֶרֶץ צִיָּה לְמֹצָאֵי מָיִם)

These two phrases He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and dry land into springs of water mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [He turns the wilderness into a pool of water, yes, dry land into springs of water]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT He turns the wilderness into a pool of water and dry land into springs of water

UST But Yahweh also creates pools of water in deserts, that is, he causes springs to flow where the ground had been dry

(יָשֵׂם מִדְבָּר לַאֲגַם־מָיִם וְאֶרֶץ צִיָּה לְמֹצָאֵי מָיִם)

The psalmist says this as an overstatement for emphasis. He assumes that readers will know that only parts of the wilderness and dry land become water. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [He turns many areas of the wilderness into pools of water and places springs of water throughout the dry land]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wilderness	in deserts
dry	had been dry
and & land	that is & where the ground
into springs	he causes & to flow

Psalms 107:36

ULT	UST
He settles the hungry there, and they build a city of dwelling.	Then he brings people who are hungry into that land, to live there and to build cities there.

ULT the hungry
UST people who are hungry
(רְעֵבִֽים)

The psalmist is using the adjective hungry as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [hungry people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT there
UST into that land
(שָׁ֭ם)

The pronoun there refers to the land that Yahweh has transformed from wilderness into a place with pools of water and springs. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [in that land that was dry]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT a city of dwelling
UST to live there & cities
(עִ֣יר מוֹשָׁ֑ב)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a city that is characterized by dwelling. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [a city to dwell in]

Support Reference: Possession

Psalms 107:37

ULT	UST
Then they sow fields and plant vineyards, and they produce the fruit of the harvest.	Then they sow {some of} the fields with seeds and {in other fields} they plant grapevines and it all produces {a large amount of} crops.

ULT Then they sow fields and plant vineyards
UST Then they sow {some of} the fields with seeds and {in other fields} they plant grapevines
(וַיִּזְרְעוּ שָׂדוֹת וַיִּטְּעוּ כְרָמִים)

The implication is that the people are able to settle and farm in the land that God has provided for them. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Then that land is able to produce crops, so they sow fields and plant vineyards there]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the fruit of the harvest
UST a large amount of} crops
(פְּרִי תְבוּאָה)

The psalmist is using the possessive form the fruit of the harvest to describe fruit that is characterized by being harvested. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the crops that grew on the land]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Then they sow	Then they sow & with seeds
and plant	and {in other fields} they plant
vineyards	grapevines
and they produce	and it all produces
the fruit of	a large amount of the harvest	crops

Psalms 107:38

ULT	UST
He blesses them and they become very many and their cattle do not become few.	He blesses those people so that they have very many children, and so that their herds of cattle become very large.

ULT and they become very many
UST so that they have very many children
(וַיִּרְבּוּ מְאֹד)

Here, and marks they become very many as the goal or purpose of He blesses them. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so they become very many]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT and their cattle do not become few
UST and so that their herds of cattle become very large
(וּבְהֶמְתָּם לֹא יַמְעִיט)

The psalmist is emphasizing a positive meaning by using a negative word, not, together with a mild expression that is the opposite of the intended meaning. If it would be helpful in your language, you could emphasize the positive meaning in a strong way. Alternate translation: [and their cattle become very many]

Support Reference: Litotes

ULT and their cattle do not become few
UST and so that their herds of cattle become very large
(וּבְהֶמְתָּם לֹא יַמְעִיט)

Here, and marks their cattle do not become few as the goal or purpose of He blesses them. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [and so their cattle do not become few]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He blesses them	He blesses those people and they become very many	so that they have very many children and their cattle	and so that their herds of cattle
do not become few	become very large

Psalms 107:39

ULT	UST
Then they become few and become low from distress of evil and sorrow.	Then the people become fewer because the leaders oppress them and cause them to become distressed and to suffer.

ULT Then they become few and become low
UST Then the people become fewer because the leaders oppress them
(וַיִּמְעֲטוּ וַיָּשֹׁחוּ)

Here, they could refer to: (1) Yahweh's people, whom the psalmist describes in verses 36–38. Alternate translation: [Then those people become few and become low] or (2) The enemies of Yahweh's people. Alternate translation: [Then their enemies become few and become low]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and become low
UST because the leaders oppress them
(וַיָּשֹׁחוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of people as if they could physically become low. He means that they become humbled or brought down in status and circumstances. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and become humbled]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from distress of evil and sorrow
UST and cause them to become distressed and to suffer
(מֵעֹצֶר רָעָה וְיָגוֹן)

The word from indicates that what follows is a reason for the result that came before. The people became few and low because of the distress, evil, and sorrow they experienced. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because of distress of evil and sorrow]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT from distress of evil and sorrow
UST and cause them to become distressed and to suffer
(מֵעֹצֶר רָעָה וְיָגוֹן)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a distress that is characterized by evil and sorrow. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from distressing evil and sorrow]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT from distress of evil and sorrow
> UST and cause them to become distressed and to suffer
> (מֵעֹצֶר רָעָה וְיָגוֹן)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of distress, evil, and sorrow, you could express the same ideas in other ways.
Alternate translation: [from the evil things that make them distressed and sorrowful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from distress	and cause them to become distressed
of evil	and cause them to become distressed and sorrow	and to suffer

Psalms 107:40

ULT	UST
He pours contempt on the leaders and causes them to wander in an empty place of no road.	Then Yahweh shows that he despises the leaders {who oppress them}, and makes those leaders wander in a wilderness where there are no roads.

ULT He pours contempt on the leaders
UST Then Yahweh shows that he despises the leaders {who oppress them
(שֹׁפֵךְ בּוּז עַל־נְדִיבִים)

Here the psalmist is speaking of contempt as if it were a liquid that Yahweh could pour on the leaders. The psalmist means that God shows his contempt for these leaders. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He shows contempt for the leaders]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT He pours contempt on the leaders
UST Then Yahweh shows that he despises the leaders {who oppress them
(שֹׁפֵךְ בּוּז עַל־נְדִיבִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of contempt, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He humbles the leaders]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in an empty place of no road
UST in a wilderness where there are no roads
(בְּתֹהוּ לֹא־דָרֶךְ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe an empty place that is characterized by having no road. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in a land so empty that there is not even a road]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
contempt	that he despises
the leaders	the leaders {who oppress them

Psalms 107:41

ULT	UST
But he raises up the needy from affliction and establishes families like a flock.	But he rescues poor people from those who oppress them and causes {their} families to increase in number as flocks of sheep do.

ULT But he raises up the needy from affliction
UST But he rescues poor people from those who oppress them
(וַיְשַׂגֵּב אֶבְיוֹן מֵעֹנִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if affliction were a physical location from which God raises up the needy. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this in a different way. Alternate translation: [But he removes the needy from their affliction]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the needy
UST poor people
(אֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using the adjective needy as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [any needy people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from affliction
UST from those who oppress them
(מֵעֹנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of affliction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from what is afflicting them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and establishes families like a flock
UST and causes {their} families to increase in number as flocks of sheep do (וַיָּשֶׂם כַּצֹּאן מִשְׁפָּחוֹת)

The point of this comparison is that just as a flock grows and multiplies, so God causes families to increase in number. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and establishes families so that they grow as a healthy flock of sheep grows]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from affliction	from those who oppress them
and establishes	and causes & to increase in number families	their} families
like a flock	as flocks of sheep do

Psalms 107:42

ULT	UST
The upright see and rejoice, and all wickedness shuts its mouth.	People who live rightly see {Yahweh do these things}, and they rejoice; wicked people {know about these things, too,} {but they} have nothing to say in reply.

ULT The upright
UST People who live rightly
(יְשָׁרִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective upright as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [People who do what is right]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT see
UST see {Yahweh do these things
(יִרְאוּ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [see all of these things]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and all wickedness
UST wicked people {know about these things, too
(וְכָל־עַוְלָה)

Here, wickedness represents “wicked people.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and every wicked person]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT shuts its mouth
UST but they} have nothing to say in reply
(קָפְצָה פִּיהָ)

The psalmist is using shuts its mouth as a common expression of his culture to mean “can say nothing” or “is silenced.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [can say nothing]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The upright	People who live rightly
and rejoice	and they rejoice
and all wickedness	wicked people {know about these things, too wickedness	wicked people {know about these things, too

Psalms 107:43

ULT	UST
Who is wise? Then may he keep these things and may they ponder the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh.	Those who are wise should think carefully about these things; they should thoughtfully consider all the things that Yahweh has done to show that he faithfully loves them.

ULT Who is wise? Then may he keep these things
UST Those who are wise should think carefully about these things
(מִי־חָכָם וְיִשְׁמָר־אֵלֶּה)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [May whoever is wise keep these things]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Then may he keep these things
UST should think carefully about these things
(וְיִשְׁמָר־אֵלֶּה)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if Yahweh's actions that he has been describing were objects that a wise person can keep. He means for every wise person to think about these things. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Then may he keep thinking about these things] or [Then may he remember these things]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Then may he keep UST should think carefully about (וְיִשְׁמָר)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific wise person by saying may he keep. He means wise people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Then may they keep]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and may they ponder
UST they should thoughtfully consider
(וְיִתְבּוֹנָנוּ)

The pronoun they refers to people who are wise. These are the same people who are referred to as he in the first part of this sentence. Use a way that is natural in your language to indicate that this refers to the same wise people. Alternate translation: [and may all wise people ponder]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the covenant faithfulness of Yahweh
UST all the things that Yahweh has done to show that he faithfully loves them (חַסְדֵי יְהוָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the ways that Yahweh is faithful to his covenant with his people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
is wise	are wise
and may they ponder	they should thoughtfully consider the covenant faithfulness of	all the things that & has done to show that he faithfully loves them
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 108

Psalms 108 Introduction

Psalm 108 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 108 is a psalm of praise and petition.

1. Praise for Yahweh’s covenant faithfulness (1–5)
2. Yahweh’s sovereign dominion and promised kingdom (6–9)
3. Prayer for deliverance and victory (10–13)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Victory

God affirms that he is in control of all nations, but the psalmist has not had success against his enemies. He admits that only God can give him victory, and so he asks God to give him victory over Edom.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Verses 1–5 are very similar to Psalm 57:7–11, and verses 6–13 are very similar to Psalm 60:5–12. If you have already translated those psalms, look at them to see how to translate this psalm.

Psalms 108:1

ULT	UST
My heart is made steadfast, God; I will sing and I will make music, indeed, {with} my glory!	God, I am completely committed to {worshiping} you. I will sing and I will play music {to praise you}. I will do this with my whole being!

ULT My heart is made steadfast
UST I am completely committed to {worshiping} you
(נָכוֹן לִבִּי)

Here David is speaking as if his heart were something that could be made steadfast. He means that he has become determined and committed to praising God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have made myself steadfast]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT My heart is made steadfast
UST I am completely committed to {worshiping} you
(נָכוֹן לִבִּי)

The expression My heart is made steadfast is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I have made my heart steadfast]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT indeed, {with} my glory
UST I will do this with my whole being (אַף־כְּבוֹדִי)

The word translated as glory could be: (1) a reference to all of David's strength. Alternate translation: [indeed, with all that I am] or (2) translated as the very similar word for "liver." In this case, it would be understood as functioning very much like heart in the first part of the verse, and also stand for the place in the body where a person's will and emotions are. Either way you translate it, the meaning is very similar. Alternate translation: [indeed, with my liver] or [indeed, with my entire will]

Support Reference: Alternative Readings

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
with} my glory	I will do this with my whole being

Psalms 108:2

ULT	UST
Awaken, lyre and harp; I will awaken the dawn.	I will arise before the sun rises, and I will praise you while I play my lyre and my harp.

ULT Awaken, lyre and harp; I will awaken the dawn
UST I will arise before the sun rises, and I will praise you while I play my lyre and my harp
(עוּרָה הַנֵּבֶל וְכִנּוֹר אָעִירָה שָׁחַר)

See how you translated the similar phrases in Psalm 57:8.

ULT Awaken, lyre and harp
UST and I will praise you while I play my lyre and my harp
(עוּרָה הַנֵּבֶל וְכִנּוֹר)

David is speaking of his lyre and harp as if they were living things that could wake up from sleep. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will start making music with my lyre and harp]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT I will awaken the dawn
UST I will arise before the sun rises
(אָעִירָה שָׁחַר)

David is speaking of the dawn as if it were a living thing that could be awakened. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will play them before the sun comes up]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
lyre	while I play my lyre
and harp	and my harp

Psalms 108:3

ULT	UST
I will thank you, Yahweh, among the peoples; I will make music to you among the nations.	Yahweh, I will thank you as foreign people listen; yes, I will play music to praise you before other people groups.

ULT I will thank you, Yahweh, among the peoples; I will make music to you among the nations
UST Yahweh, I will thank you as foreign people listen; yes, I will play music to praise you before other people groups
(אוֹדְךָ בָעַמִּים | יְהוָה וַאֲזַמֶּרְךָ בַּל־אֻמִּים)

These two phrases I will thank you, Yahweh, among the peoples and I will make music to you among the nations mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [I will thank you and make music to you, Yahweh, among the peoples of other nations]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the nations	other people groups

Psalms 108:4

ULT	UST
For your covenant faithfulness {is} great from above the heavens, and your trustworthiness, above the clouds.	I will do that because the way that you faithfully love us is so great that it is like the distance between the heavens and the earth, and the way that you faithfully keep your promises is so great that it is like the distance between the earth and the clouds.

ULT For your covenant faithfulness {is} great from above the heavens, and your trustworthiness, above the clouds
UST I will do that because the way that you faithfully love us is so great that it is like the distance between the heavens and the earth, and the way that you faithfully keep your promises is so great that it is like the distance between the earth and the clouds
(כִּי־גָדוֹל מָעַל־שָׁמַיִם חַסְדֶּךָ וְעַד־שְׁחָקִים אֲמִתָּךְ)

These two phrases your covenant faithfulness is great from above the heavens and your trustworthiness above the clouds mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [For your covenant faithfulness and your trustworthiness are higher than the heavens]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT For your covenant faithfulness {is} great from above the heavens, and your trustworthiness, above the clouds
UST I will do that because the way that you faithfully love us is so great that it is like the distance between the heavens and the earth, and the way that you faithfully keep your promises is so great that it is like the distance between the earth and the clouds
(כִּי־גָדוֹל מָעַל־שָׁמַיִם חַסְדֶּךָ וְעַד־שְׁחָקִים אֲמִתָּךְ)

Here David is speaking of God's covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness as if they were physical things that could extend above the heavens and above the clouds. He means that God's faithfulness and trustworthiness are immeasurably great. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [For your covenant faithfulness is better than any human covenant faithfulness, and your trustworthiness is better than any human trustworthiness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT For your covenant faithfulness {is} great from above the heavens
UST I will do that because the way that you faithfully love us is so great that it is like the distance between the heavens and the earth
(כִּי־גָדוֹל מֵעַל־שָׁמַיִם חַסְדֶּךָ)

David is using great from above the heavens as a common expression of his culture to mean “higher than the heavens” or “greater than the heavens.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [For your covenant faithfulness is higher than the heavens]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT your covenant faithfulness
UST the way that you faithfully love us
(חַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way that you faithfully love us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and your trustworthiness, above the clouds
UST and the way that you faithfully keep your promises is so great that it is like the distance between the earth and the clouds
(וְעַד־שְׁחָקִים אֲמִתָּךְ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and your trustworthiness is great from above the clouds]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT your trustworthiness
UST the way that you faithfully keep your promises
(אֲמִתָּךְ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of trustworthiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the amount that we can trust you is]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your covenant faithfulness	the way that you faithfully love us
the heavens	the heavens
your trustworthiness	the way that you faithfully keep your promises

Psalms 108:5

ULT	UST
Be exalted, God, above the heavens, and your glory, over all the earth.	God, show {all creatures} that you are greater than anything in the heavens! Show how wonderful you are {to people} all over the earth!

ULT Be exalted, God, above the heavens, and your glory, over all the earth
UST God, show {all creatures} that you are greater than anything in the heavens! Show how wonderful you are {to people} all over the earth
(רוֹמָה עַל־שָׁמַיִם אֱלֹהִים וְעַל כָּל־הָאָרֶץ כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

See how you translated the similar phrases in Psalm 57:5

ULT Be exalted, God, above the heavens, and your glory, over all the earth
UST God, show {all creatures} that you are greater than anything in the heavens! Show how wonderful you are {to people} all over the earth
(רוֹמָה עַל־שָׁמַיִם אֱלֹהִים וְעַל כָּל־הָאָרֶץ כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

Here David is speaking of God as if he were a person who could be exalted, or lifted, above the heavens. David means that God should be recognized and praised as being greater than anything in the heavens. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [Show how great you are, God, greater than the heavens, and show your glory to everyone on earth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and your glory, over all the earth
UST Show how wonderful you are {to people} all over the earth
(וְעַל כָּל־הָאָרֶץ כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may your glory be exalted over all the earth]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT and your glory, over all the earth
UST Show how wonderful you are {to people} all over the earth
(וְעַל כָּל־הָאָרֶץ כְּבוֹדֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and how glorious you are over all the earth]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Be exalted	show {all creatures} that you are greater
God	God
the heavens	anything in the heavens
your glory	Show how wonderful you are

Psalms 108:6

ULT	UST
So that your beloved ones may be rescued, save {with} your right hand and answer me.	Please answer our prayers and rescue us from our enemies by your power so that we, the people whom you love, may be safe.

ULT So that your beloved ones may be rescued, save {with} your right hand and answer me
UST Please answer our prayers and rescue us from our enemies by your power so that we, the people whom you love, may be safe (לְמַעַן יֵחָלְצוּן יְדִידֶיךָ הוֹשִׁיעָה יְמִינְךָ וַעֲנֵנִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the information about the purpose, So that your beloved ones may be rescued, after the request, save with your right hand and answer me. Alternate translation: [Save with your right hand and answer me so that your beloved ones may be rescued]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT So that your beloved ones may be rescued
UST so that we, the people whom you love, may be safe
(לְמַעַן יֵחָלְצוּן יְדִידֶיךָ)

The expression may be rescued is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [So that you rescue your beloved ones]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT save {with} your right hand and answer me
UST Please answer our prayers and rescue us from our enemies by your power (הוֹשִׁיעָה יְמִינְךָ וַעֲנֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please save with your right hand and answer me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT with} your right hand
UST by your power
(יְמִינְךָ)

Here David is using hand to represent Yahweh's power or strength. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [by your ability] or [by your strength]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and answer me
UST Please answer our prayers
(וְעָנֵנִי)

Here, answer me represents "do what I have been requesting." If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and do what I have been requesting]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your beloved ones	we, the people whom you love
may be rescued	may be safe
save	and rescue us from our enemies

Psalms 108:7

ULT	UST
God has spoken in his holiness: “I shall rejoice; I shall divide Shechem and measure out the Valley of Succoth.	Because God is holy, he answered, “I will joyfully divide the area of Shechem {for you} and I will distribute {among my people} the land in the Valley of Succoth.

ULT God has spoken in his holiness: “I shall rejoice; I shall divide Shechem and measure out the Valley of Succoth
UST Because God is holy, he answered, “I will joyfully divide the area of Shechem {for you} and I will distribute {among my people} the land in the Valley of Succoth
(אֱלֹהִים ׀ דִּבֶּר בְּקָדְשׁוֹ אֶעְלֻזָה אֲחַלְּקָה שְׁכֶם וְעֵמֶק סֻכּוֹת אָמָדֵד)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:6

ULT in his holiness
UST Because & is holy (בְּקָדְשׁוֹ)

Here, in his holiness could either represent (1) the basis or source of God’s authority when he speaks. Alternate translation: [by his holy authority] or [from his holy nature] or (2) the holy place where God was thought to dwell. Alternate translation: [from his holy place] or [from his sanctuary]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT I shall divide Shechem
UST divide the area of Shechem {for you
(אֲחַלְּקָה שְׁכֶם)

By I shall divide Shechem, God means that he will divide the land where Shechem is located. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [I shall divide the land surrounding Shechem]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and measure out the Valley of Succoth
UST and I will distribute {among my people} the land in the Valley of Succoth
(וְעֵמֶק סֻכּוֹת אֲמַדֵּד)

By the Valley of Succoth, God means the territory or region around the Valley of Succoth. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and measure out the territory of the Valley of Succoth]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT measure out
UST I will distribute {among my people
(אֲמַדֵּד)

By measure out, God means "measure out for my people to possess." You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [for my people make portions of]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God
in his holiness	Because & is holy
I shall rejoice	I will joyfully
Shechem	the area of Shechem
of Succoth	Succoth

Psalms 108:8

ULT	UST
To me {is} Gilead; to me {is} Manasseh, and Ephraim {is} the protection of my head, Judah, my scepter.	{The region of} Gilead is mine; {the area of the tribe of} Manasseh is mine; {the tribe of} Ephraim is {like} my war helmet; and {the tribe of} Judah is {like} my royal scepter.

ULT To me {is} Gilead; to me {is} Manasseh, and Ephraim {is} the protection of my head, Judah, my scepter
UST The region of} Gilead is mine; {the area of the tribe of} Manasseh is mine; {the tribe of} Ephraim is {like} my war helmet; and {the tribe of} Judah is {like} my royal scepter
(לִי גִלְעָד ׀ לִי מְנַשֶּׁה וְאֶפְרַיִם מָעוֹז רֹאשִׁי יְהוּדָה מְחֹקְקִי)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:7

ULT To me {is} Gilead; to me {is} Manasseh
UST The region of} Gilead is mine; {the area of the tribe of} Manasseh is mine
(לִי גִלְעָד ׀ לִי מְנַשֶּׁה)

God is using To me is as a common expression of his culture to mean "belongs to me" or "is mine." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Gilead belongs to me; Manasseh belongs to me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and Ephraim {is} the protection of my head
UST the tribe of} Ephraim is {like} my war helmet
(וְאֶפְרַיִם מָעוֹז רֹאשִׁי)

Here God is speaking of Ephraim as if it were the protection of my head, meaning a helmet that protects a warrior in battle. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the people of Ephraim are my warriors]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT Judah, my scepter
> UST and {the tribe of} Judah is {like} my royal scepter
> (לִֽיהוּדָ֥ה מְחֹקְקִֽי)

Here God is speaking of Judah as if it were a scepter. He means that God rules through the kings of the tribe of Judah. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I rule through the kings of the tribe of Judah]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT Judah, my scepter
> UST and {the tribe of} Judah is {like} my royal scepter
> (לִֽיהוּדָ֥ה מְחֹקְקִֽי)

God is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [Judah is my scepter]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Gilead	The region of} Gilead
Manasseh	the area of the tribe of} Manasseh
and Ephraim	the tribe of} Ephraim is} the protection of	is {like} my war helmet
Judah	and {the tribe of} Judah
my scepter	is {like} my royal scepter

Psalms 108:9

ULT	UST
Moab {is} a tub for my washing; over Edom I throw my sandal; over Philistia I shout triumphantly.”	The people of Moab serve me as those who wash my feet; the people of Edom also belong to me as menial servants; I have defeated the people of Philistia.”

ULT Moab {is} a tub for my washing; over Edom I throw my sandal; over Philistia I shout triumphantly
UST The people of Moab serve me as those who wash my feet; the people of Edom also belong to me as menial servants; I have defeated the people of Philistia
(מוֹאָב ׀ סִ֣יר רַחְצִ֑י עַל־אֱד֥וֹם אַשְׁלִ֗יךְ נַעֲלִ֫י עָלַ֥י פְּלֶ֥שֶׁת אֶתְרוֹעָ֑ע)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:8.

ULT Moab {is} a tub for my washing
UST The people of Moab serve me as those who wash my feet
(מוֹאָב ׀ סִ֣יר רַחְצִ֑י)

Here God is speaking of Moab as if it were a tub for my washing. He means that the people of Moab will serve him in a menial way, like servants who bring a basin for washing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The people of Moab are like servants who wash my feet]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT over Edom I throw my sandal
UST the people of Edom also belong to me as menial servants
(עַל־אֱד֥וֹם אַשְׁלִ֗יךְ נַעֲלִ֫י)

Here God is speaking of Edom as if it were a servant who removes his sandals. This image shows that Edom will be completely defeated and will serve Israel in the most menial ways. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the people of Edom are like servants who remove my sandals]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Moab	The people of Moab
Edom	the people of Edom also belong to me
my sandal	as menial servants
Philistia	the people of Philistia
I shout triumphantly	I have defeated

Psalms 108:10

ULT	UST
Who will bring me {into} the strong city? Who will lead me to Edom?	I wait for God to lead us to {fight against the people of} Edom; I wait for God to lead my army to {attack} their {capital} city that has strong walls around it.

ULT Who will bring me {into} the strong city? Who will lead me to Edom
UST I wait for God to lead us to {fight against the people of} Edom; I wait for God to lead my army to {attack} their {capital} city that has strong walls around it
(מִי יְבַלְּנִי עִיר מְבֻצָר מִי נָחַנִי עַד־אֱדֹום)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:9.

ULT Who will bring me {into} the strong city? Who will lead me to Edom
UST I wait for God to lead us to {fight against the people of} Edom; I wait for God to lead my army to {attack} their {capital} city that has strong walls around it
(מִי יְבַלְּנִי עִיר מְבֻצָר מִי נָחַנִי עַד־אֱדֹום)

If it would be more natural in your language, you may want to put the information about Who will lead me to Edom before the information about Who will bring me into the strong city. Alternate translation: [Who will lead me to Edom? Who will bring me into the strong city?]

Support Reference: Information Structure

ULT Who will bring me {into} the strong city
UST I wait for God to lead my army to {attack} their {capital} city that has strong walls around it
(מִי יְבַלְּנִי עִיר מְבֻצָר)

David assumes that readers will know that the strong city refers to a fortified city in Edom, likely its capital. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Who will bring me into the strong capital city of Edom?]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Who will bring me {into} the strong city
UST I wait for God to lead my army to {attack} their {capital} city that has strong walls around it
(מִי יוֹבִלַנִי עִיר מִבְצָר)

David is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Only God can bring me into the strong city.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Who will lead me to Edom
UST I wait for God to lead us to {fight against the people of} Edom (מִי נָחַנִי עַד־אֱדוֹם)

David is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Only God can lead me to Edom.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Edom	the people of} Edom

Psalms 108:11

ULT	UST
God, have you not rejected us? And you do not go out with our army, God.	God, we hope that you have not abandoned us; {we are distressed that} you have not been going with us when our army marches out {to fight our enemies}.

ULT God, have you not rejected us? And you do not go out with our army, God
UST God, we hope that you have not abandoned us; {we are distressed that} you have not been going with us when our army marches out {to fight our enemies (הֲלֹא־אֱלֹהִים זְנַחְתָּנוּ וְלֹא־תֵצֵא אֱלֹהִים בְּצִבְאֹתֵינוּ)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:10.

ULT God, have you not rejected us
UST God, we hope that you have not abandoned us
(הֲלֹא־אֱלֹהִים זְנַחְתָּנוּ)

David is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [God, it seems that you have rejected us!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
God	God, we hope that you have not abandoned us
you & rejected us	God, we hope that you have not abandoned us

Psalms 108:12

ULT	UST
Give to us help against the enemy, and futility {is} the deliverance of man.	Please help us when we fight against our enemies because the help that humans can give {to us} is worthless.

ULT Give to us help against the enemy, and futility {is} the deliverance of man
UST Please help us when we fight against our enemies because the help that humans can give {to us} is worthless
(הָבָה־לָּנוּ עֶזְרַת מִצָּר וְשָׁוְא תְּשׁוּעַת אָדָם)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:11.

ULT against the enemy
UST when we fight against our enemies
(מִצָּר)

David is not referring to a specific enemy. He means enemies in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [against all of our enemies]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT and futility {is} the deliverance of man
UST because the help that humans can give {to us} is worthless
(וְשָׁוְא תְּשׁוּעַת אָדָם)

Here the word and introduces not an additional action but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [since futility is the deliverance of man]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT and futility {is} the deliverance of man
UST because the help that humans can give {to us} is worthless
(וְשָׁוְא תְּשׁוּעַת אָדָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of futility, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [since expecting humans to save us is futile]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT the deliverance of man
> UST the help that humans can give {to us
> (תְּשׁוּעַת אָדָם)

David is using this possessive form the deliverance of man to mean deliverance that comes from human beings. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [any deliverance by human beings]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
against the enemy	when we fight against our enemies
the deliverance of	the help that

Psalms 108:13

ULT	UST
With God we will accomplish valor; and he, he will trample our adversaries.	{But} with you {helping us}, we will win; you are the one who will {enable us to} defeat our enemies.

ULT With God we will accomplish valor; and he, he will trample our adversaries
UST But} with you {helping us}, we will win; you are the one who will {enable us to} defeat our enemies
(בֵּאלֹהִים נַעֲשֶׂה־חָיִל וְהוּא יָבוּס צָרֵינוּ)

See how you translated this in Psalm 60:12.

ULT we will accomplish valor
UST we will win
(נַעֲשֶׂה־חָיִל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of valor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [we will succeed valiantly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and he, he will trample our adversaries
UST you are the one who will {enable us to} defeat our enemies
(וְהוּא יָבוּס צָרֵינוּ)

David is stating the pronoun he separately, even though the verb translated as will trample already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it is God who will defeat the enemies. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [and it is he who will trample our adversaries]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and he, he will trample our adversaries
UST you are the one who will {enable us to} defeat our enemies
(וְהוּא יָבוּס צָרֵינוּ)

Here David is speaking of God in the third person as he even though he has been addressing God directly in the previous verses. This may be to give encouragement to the Israelites who are listening. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the second person to maintain the direct address. Alternate translation: [and you, you will trample our adversaries]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

> ULT and he, he will trample our adversaries
> UST you are the one who will {enable us to} defeat our enemies
> (וְהוּא יְבוּס צָרֵינוּ)

Here David is speaking of God as if he were a warrior who would trample the enemies underfoot. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this plainly. Alternate translation: [and he, he will completely defeat our adversaries]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
With God	But} with you {helping us
valor	we will win
he will trample	who will {enable us to} defeat
our adversaries	our enemies

Psalms 109

Psalms 109 Introduction

Psalm 109 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 109 is a “psalm of petition,” asking Yahweh to give David relief from his enemies who are falsely accusing him and persecuting him. He also asks Yahweh to curse these people who are enemies of both Yahweh and David.

1. Complaint and accusation (1–5)
2. Curses against enemies (6–20)
3. David’s plea for himself (21–29)
4. Praise and confidence (30–31)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Cursing of Enemies

In this psalm, David takes evil very seriously and calls on Yahweh to punish those who are doing evil to himself and others so that the evil will stop. It is important to note that David does not take vengeance personally, but only calls on Yahweh to combat evil and to perform justice, as Yahweh has promised to do.

Translation Issues in This Psalm

Singular and Plural

David refers to his enemies in the singular in verses 6–19 and in the plural in the rest of the psalm. You may want to use the plural throughout the psalm, or you may want to add a footnote at verse 6 that explains that in the section of verses 6–19 David may be speaking of the leader of his enemies or he may be speaking of each one individually.

Psalms 109:1

ULT	UST
To the chief musician: a psalm of David. God of my praise, do not be silent!	A note to the worship leader: David wrote this psalm. God, you are the one whom I praise, so please answer my prayer

ULT To the chief musician
UST A note to the worship leader
(לַמְנַצֵּחַ)

The word translated as chief musician likely refers to the person in charge of music for worship. Some languages may have a term for a music leader. Alternate translation: [For the music director] or [For the leader of worship music]

Support Reference: Translate Unknowns

ULT God of my praise
UST God, you are the one whom I praise
(אֱלֹהֵי תְהִלָּתִי)

Here David is using the possessive form God of my praise to describe God as the one whom he praises. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [God whom I praise]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT do not be silent
UST so please answer my prayer
(אַל־תֶּחֱרַשׁ)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please do not be silent]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a psalm	wrote this psalm
of David	David
God of	God
my praise	you are the one whom I praise

Psalms 109:2

ULT	UST
For a wicked mouth and a mouth of deceit open against me; they speak a tongue of untruth with me,	because evil and dishonest people slander me and tell lies about me.

ULT a wicked mouth and a mouth of deceit open against me
UST evil and dishonest people slander me
(פִּי רָשָׁע וּפִי־מִרְמָה עָלַי פָּתָחוּ)

Here, mouth represents people who are speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [wicked and deceitful people speak against me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT they speak a tongue of untruth with me
UST and tell lies about me
(דִּבְּרוּ אִתִּי לְשׁוֹן שָׁקֶר)

Here, tongue represents the words that people speak. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [they speak untrue things concerning me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
wicked	evil
deceit	dishonest
a tongue of	lies

Psalms 109:3

ULT	UST
and words of hatred surround me, and they attack me without cause.	On all sides of me they say things that show that they hate me, and they harm me for no reason.

ULT and words of hatred surround me

UST On all sides of me they say things that show that they hate me

(וְדִבְרֵי שִׂנְאָה סְבָבוּנִי)

Here, words of hatred represents people speaking hateful things. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and people surround me saying hateful things]

Support Reference: Metonymy

Psalms 109:4

ULT	UST
In return for my love they accuse me, but I—prayer.	I show them that I love them but instead of being kind to me, they say that I have done evil things. So I pray to God {about it}.

ULT In return for my love
UST I show them that I love them but instead of being kind to me
(תְּחַת־אַהֲבָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of love, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Instead of loving me as I love them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they accuse me
UST they say that I have done evil things
(יִשְׂטְנוּנִי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [they accuse me of doing bad things]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT but I—prayer
UST So I pray to God {about it
(וַאֲנִי תְפִלָּה)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [but I turn to prayer] or [but I continue to pray]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my love	I show them that I love them
prayer	pray to God {about it

Psalms 109:5

ULT	UST
They put upon me evil in return for good, and hatred in return for my love.	I do good things for them and they respond by doing evil things to me. I love them and they respond by hating me.

ULT They put upon me evil in return for good
UST I do good things for them and they respond by doing evil things to me (וַיָּשִׁ֣ימוּ עָלַ֣י רָעָ֣ה תַּחַ֣ת טוֹבָ֑ה)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of evil and good, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [They do evil things to me although I did good things to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and hatred in return for my love
UST I love them and they respond by hating me
(וְשִׂנְאָ֥ה תַּחַ֗ת אַהֲבָתִֽי)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of hatred and love, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [and they hate me although I was loving to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and hatred in return for my love
UST I love them and they respond by hating me
(וְשִׂנְאָ֥ה תַּחַ֗ת אַהֲבָתִֽי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and they put hatred upon me in return for my love]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
evil	evil things
good	I do good things for them
my love	I love them

Psalms 109:6

ULT	UST
Appoint a wicked one over him; and may an accuser stand at his right hand.	So appoint a wicked judge who will judge my enemy, and bring one {of his enemies} who will stand next to him and accuse him {of doing evil things}.

ULT Appoint a wicked one over him
UST So appoint a wicked judge who will judge my enemy
(הַפְקֹד עָלָיו רָשָׁע)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please appoint a wicked one over him]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Appoint a wicked one over him
UST So appoint a wicked judge who will judge my enemy
(הַפְקֹד עָלָיו רָשָׁע)

Here David is speaking as if God would appoint a human judge to preside over his enemy. He means that he wants God to bring judgment upon his enemy. If this image does not communicate well in your language, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Appoint a wicked one to judge him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT a wicked one
UST a wicked judge
(רָשָׁע)

David is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [a wicked man]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT and may an accuser stand at his right hand
> UST and bring one {of his enemies} who will stand next to him and accuse him {of doing evil things
> (וְשָׂטָן יַעֲמֹד עַל־יְמִינוֹ)

By an accuser, David means someone who will bring formal charges against his enemy in court. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and may someone accuse him before that wicked judge of doing evil things]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Appoint	So appoint
a wicked one	a wicked judge

Psalms 109:7

ULT	UST
When he is judged, may he come out guilty; and may his prayer be as sin.	Let that judge declare that my enemy is guilty, and may you judge that even his prayer {to you} is a sin.

ULT When he is judged
UST Let that judge
(בְּהִשָּׁפְטוֹ)

The expression is judged is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [When the wicked one judges him]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT may he come out guilty
UST declare that my enemy is guilty
(יֵצֵא רָשָׁע)

David is using may he come out guilty as a common expression of his culture to mean “may the verdict be that he is guilty.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [may the verdict be that he is guilty]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and may his prayer be as sin
UST and may you judge that even his prayer {to you} is a sin
(וּתְפִלָּתוֹ תִּהְיֶה לְחַטָּאָה)

This could mean: (1) The enemy is praying to Yahweh and since his prayer is insincere, Yahweh should count it as sinful. Alternate translation: [and may his prayer be considered as another sin] or (2) The enemy is pleading with the judge, and the judge should count his plea as a further offense. Alternate translation: [and may his plea be considered as an offense]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
When he is judged	Let that judge
guilty	that my enemy is guilty and & his prayer	and may you judge that even his prayer {to you
as sin	a sin

Psalms 109:8

ULT	UST
May his days be few; may another take his position.	Then cause him to die soon; let people honor someone else rather than him.

ULT May his days be few
UST Then cause him to die soon
(יְהִיוּ־יָמָיו מְעַטִּים)

David is using May his days be few as a common expression of his culture to mean “May he die soon” or “May he live only a short time.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May he live only a short time]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT may another take his position
UST let people honor someone else rather than him
(פְּקֻדָּתוֹ יִקַּח אַחֵר)

Here David is speaking of a person’s role or authority as if it were a position that someone could physically occupy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [may another take his authority] or [may another replace him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 109:9

ULT	UST
May his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.	Cause his children not to have a father anymore, and cause his wife to become a widow.

ULT and his wife a widow
UST and cause his wife to become a widow
(וְאִשְׁתּוֹ אַלְמָנָה)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may his wife be a widow]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

Psalms 109:10

ULT	UST
And wandering, may his children wander and beg and seek from their desolations.	Cause his children to wander far from their ruined homes, begging and looking for food.

ULT And wandering, may his children wander
UST Cause his children to wander far
(וְנוֹעַ יְנוֹעוּ בָנָיו)

David is repeating forms of the verb wander in order to intensify his expression of the idea that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [And may his children wander far away]

Support Reference: Reduplication

ULT and beg and seek
UST begging and looking for food
(וְשֹׁאֲלוּ וְדָרְשׁוּ)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and beg and seek for food]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT from their desolations
UST from their ruined homes
(מֵחָרְבוֹתֵיהֶם)

By their desolations, David means their ruined homes or destroyed dwellings. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from their destroyed houses]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and beg	begging
and seek	and looking for food
from their desolations	from their ruined homes

Psalms 109:11

ULT	UST
May a creditor snare all that {is} to him; may strangers plunder his work.	Let the people to whom he owed money seize all of his property; let strangers take away everything that he worked to acquire.

ULT May a creditor snare
UST Let the people to whom he owed money seize (יְנַקֵּשׁ נוֹשֶׁה)

Here David is speaking as if a creditor were a hunter or trapper who could snare the enemy's possessions. He means that the creditor should seize or take control of everything the enemy owns. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May a creditor take]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT all that {is} to him
UST all of his property
(לְכָל־אֲשֶׁר־לוֹ)

David is using all that is to him as a common expression of his culture to mean "everything that belongs to him." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [everything that belongs to him]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT his work
UST everything that he worked to acquire (יְגִיעוֹ)

The implication is that his work refers to the things that he worked for or the results of his labor. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the things that he worked for]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May & snare	Let & seize
may & plunder	let & take away

Psalms 109:12

ULT	UST
May there not be to him {one} extending covenant faithfulness; and may there not be {one} pitying his orphans.	Make sure that no one is faithfully loving to him; make sure that no one pities his fatherless children.

ULT May there not be to him
UST Make sure that no one & to him
(אַל־יְהִי־לוֹ)

David is using May there not be to him as a common expression of his culture to mean “May he not have.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May he not have]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT one} extending covenant faithfulness
UST is faithfully loving (מֹשֵׁךְ חֶסֶד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [someone who is kindly loyal to him]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT one} pitying his orphans
UST pities his fatherless children
(חוֹנֵן לְיִתוֹמָיו)

The implication is that these would be children who have lost their father due to the curse pronounced against him in the previous verses. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [someone who pities his orphaned children]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
covenant faithfulness	faithfully loving

Psalms 109:13

ULT	UST
May his posterity be to cut off; may their name be blotted out in the next generation.	Cause all his children to die, so that there will not be another generation to continue his name.

ULT May his posterity be to cut off
UST Cause all his children to die
(יְהִי־אַחֲרִיתוֹ לְהַכְרֵית)

David is using be to cut off as a common expression of his culture to mean “die” or “be destroyed.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May his posterity be destroyed]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT may their name be blotted out
UST there will not be & to continue his name
(יִמַּח שְׁמָם)

The expression may their name be blotted out contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is God. Alternate translation: [may you blot out their name]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT may their name be blotted out
UST there will not be & to continue his name
(יִמַּח שְׁמָם)

Here David is speaking of making people be forgotten as if their names were written words that could be erased or blotted out. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [may there be no one bearing their name] or [may no one remember their name]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
may & be blotted out	there will not be & to continue in the & generation	so that & generation

Psalms 109:14

ULT	UST
May the sin of his fathers be remembered to Yahweh; and the offense of his mother not be blotted out.	Yahweh, consider all of the evil things that his ancestors did and do not forgive the sins that his mother committed.

ULT May the sin of his fathers be remembered to Yahweh
UST Yahweh, consider all of the evil things that his ancestors did (יִזָּכֵר ׀ עֲוֹן אֲבֹתָיו אֶל־יְהוָה)

The expression be remembered is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [May Yahweh keep in mind the sin of his fathers] or [May you remember the sin of his fathers]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT his fathers
UST that his ancestors did
(אֲבֹתָיו)

David is using the term fathers to mean “ancestors.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his ancestors]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the offense of his mother not be blotted out
UST and do not forgive the sins that his mother committed
(וְחַטַּאת אִמּוֹ אַל־תִּמָּח)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may the offense of his mother not be blotted out]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and the offense of his mother not be blotted out
> UST and do not forgive the sins that his mother committed
> (וְחַטָּאת אִמּוֹ אַל־תִּמָּח)

The expression not be blotted out contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [and do not blot out the offense of his mother]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT and the offense of his mother not be blotted out
> UST and do not forgive the sins that his mother committed
> (וְחַטָּאת אִמּוֹ אַל־תִּמָּח)

David is using not be blotted out as a common expression of his culture to mean “not be forgiven.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the offense of his mother not be forgiven]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT and the offense of his mother not be blotted out
> UST and do not forgive the sins that his mother committed
> (וְחַטָּאת אִמּוֹ אַל־תִּמָּח)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of offense, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and the things that his mother did that offended Yahweh not be blotted out]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the sin of	all of the evil things
Yahweh	Yahweh
and the offense of	and & the sins that be blotted out	do & forgive

Psalms 109:15

ULT	UST
May they be before Yahweh continually and may he cut off their remembrance from the earth,	Please think about their sins always, but cause everyone on earth to completely forget who they were.

ULT May they be before Yahweh continually
UST Please think about their sins always
(יִהְיוּ נֶגֶד־יְהוָה תָּמִיד)

The pronoun they refers to the sins of the enemy's father and mother mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [May those sins be before Yahweh continually]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT May they be before Yahweh continually
UST Please think about their sins always
(יִהְיוּ נֶגֶד־יְהוָה תָּמִיד)

Here David is speaking of the sins as if they were objects that could be continually placed before Yahweh for him to see. He means he wants Yahweh to notice those sins. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May Yahweh continually consider them]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and may he cut off their remembrance
UST but cause & to completely forget who they were (וְיִכָּרֵת & זִכְרָם)

David is using cut off their remembrance as a common expression of his culture to mean "destroy anything that would cause people to remember them." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and may he destroy anything that would cause people to remember them]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT and may he cut off their remembrance
> UST but cause & to completely forget who they were > (וְיִכְרֵת & זִכְרָם)

The pronoun he refers to Yahweh, while the pronoun their refers to David's enemies. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and may he cut off any remembrance of those people]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT from the earth
> UST everyone on earth
> (מֵאֶרֶץ)

Here, the earth represents any people living on earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from any people living on earth]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Please think about their sins
from the earth	everyone on earth

Psalms 109:16

ULT	UST
because he never remembered to do covenant faithfulness, but pursued the humble man and the needy and the dejected in heart to death.	I pray these things because that man{, my enemy,} was never faithful toward anyone as your covenant says we must be; instead, he persecuted poor, needy, and grieving people until they were dead.

ULT he never remembered
UST that man{, my enemy,} was never faithful toward anyone as your covenant says we must be (לֹא זָכַר)

The pronoun he refers to David's enemy. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [that man never remembered]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT to do covenant faithfulness
UST that man{, my enemy,} was & faithful toward anyone as your covenant says we must be (עֲשׂוֹת חָסֶד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to be kind to others]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT but pursued
UST instead, he persecuted
(וַיִּרְדְּפֵ֫הוּ)

Here David is speaking of the man's treatment of vulnerable people as if he pursued them like a hunter chasing prey. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but harassed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the humble man and the needy and the dejected in heart
> UST poor, needy, and grieving people
> (אִישׁ־עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן וְנִכְאֵה לֵבָב)

David is not referring to specific humble and needy and dejected people. He means people who were humble and needy and dejected in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use expressions that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people who were humble and needy and dejected in heart]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT and the needy and the dejected in heart
> UST needy, and grieving
> (וְאֶבְיוֹן וְנִכְאֵה לֵבָב)

David is using the adjectives needy and dejected as nouns to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [and needy people and people dejected in their hearts]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT and the dejected in heart
> UST and grieving
> (וְנִכְאֵה לֵבָב)

Here David is speaking of people as if their emotions were located in their heart. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and those who felt very sad]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT to death
> UST until they were dead
> (לְמוֹתָת)

The implication is that he pursued these people until they died. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [until they died]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
covenant faithfulness	that man{, my enemy,} was & faithful toward anyone as your covenant says we must be humble	poor

Psalms 109:17

ULT	UST
And he loved cursing, and it came to him, and he did not delight in blessing, and it was far from him.	He enjoyed cursing {other people}, so now people are cursing him. He did not want to bless {other people}, so there will be no one who blesses him.

ULT and it came to him
UST so now people are cursing him
(וַתְּבוֹאֵֽהוּ)

Here David is speaking as if cursing were an object that physically came to someone. He means that the person experienced the effects or consequences of cursing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and now those curses have fallen on him] or [and now I wish those bad things to happen to him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and he did not delight in blessing
UST He did not want to bless {other people
(וְלֹא־חָפֵ֥ץ בְּבְרָכָ֑ה)

David is emphasizing a negative meaning by using a negative word, not, together with a mild expression that is the opposite of the intended meaning. If it would be helpful in your language, you could emphasize the negative meaning in a strong way. Alternate translation: [and he hated blessing]

Support Reference: Litotes

ULT and it was far from him
UST so there will be no one who blesses him
(וַתִּרְחַ֥ק מִמֶּֽנּוּ)

Here David is speaking as if blessing were an object that could be physically far from his enemy. He means that his enemy will not receive any blessing. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he will not receive any]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And he loved	He enjoyed
cursing	cursing {other people
he did & delight	He did & want
in blessing	to bless {other people

Psalms 109:18

ULT	UST
And he put on cursing as his garment, and it entered into his inner being like water, and like oil into his bones.	Cursing {other people} is as natural for him as wearing clothes. Cursing {other people} is so much a part of who he is that it is like the water that he drinks; it is so much a part of who he is that it is like olive oil that has soaked into his bones.

ULT And he put on cursing as his garment
UST Cursing {other people} is as natural for him as wearing clothes
(וַיִּלְבַּשׁ קְלָלָה כְּמַדּוֹ)

Here David is speaking of his enemy as if cursing were his garment that he put on. He means that cursing other people was habitual for this person, like clothing that someone wears regularly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And he cursed other people continually]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and it entered into his inner being like water
UST Cursing {other people} is so much a part of who he is that it is like the water that he drinks
(וַתָּבֹא כַמַּיִם בְּקִרְבּוֹ)

David is making a comparison between it entered into his inner being like water and how deeply cursing has become part of his enemy's character. The point of this comparison is that just as water penetrates thoroughly into a person when they drink, so cursing has penetrated deeply into this man's inner being. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and it became a part of him like water does when we drink it]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT and like oil into his bones
UST it is so much a part of who he is that it is like olive oil that has soaked into his bones
(וְכַשֶּׁמֶן בְּעַצְמוֹתָיו)

David is making a comparison between how oil soaks into bones and how cursing has become part of his enemy's inner being. The point of this comparison is that just as oil penetrates deeply and becomes absorbed, so cursing has become deeply absorbed into the enemy's very nature. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and it became a part of him like oil would after it had entered into his bones]

Support Reference: Simile

> ULT and like oil into his bones
> UST it is so much a part of who he is that it is like olive oil that has soaked into his bones
> (וְכַשֶּׁמֶן בְּעַצְמוֹתָיו)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and it entered into his inner being like oil penetrating his bones]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
cursing	Cursing {other people
and like oil	it is so much a part of who he is that it is like olive oil

Psalms 109:19

ULT	UST
May it be to him like the clothing he wears, and for the belt he always girds himself with it.	Cause those terrible curses to continually afflict him like clothes that cling to him and like the belt that he wears every day.

ULT May it be to him like the clothing he wears
UST Cause those terrible curses to continually afflict him like clothes that cling to him
(תְּהִי־לוֹ כְּבֶגֶד יַעְטֶה)

David is making a comparison between curses and clothing that someone wears. The point of this comparison is that just as clothing clings closely to a person's body, so the curses should cling closely to his enemy. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [May it wrap itself tightly to him like the clothing that he wears]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT May it be to him like the clothing he wears
UST Cause those terrible curses to continually afflict him like clothes that cling to him
(תְּהִי־לוֹ כְּבֶגֶד יַעְטֶה)

The pronoun it refers to the cursing mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [May that cursing be to him like the clothing that he wears]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and for the belt
UST and like the belt
(וּלְמֵזַח)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may it be for him like the belt]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and for the belt
> UST and like the belt
> (וּלְמֵזַח)

David is making a comparison. The point of this comparison is that just as the belt is something that a person wears constantly, so the curse should cling to his enemy constantly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [and may it always be around him as the belt]

Support Reference: Simile

> ULT he always girds himself with it
> UST that he wears every day
> (תָּמִיד יַחְגְּרֶנָּה)

It might seem that the expression he always girds himself with it contains extra information that would not be natural to express in your language. If so, you could shorten it. Alternate translation: [he always girds himself with] or [with which he always girds himself]

Support Reference: Making Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information Explicit

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and for the belt	and like the belt
he & girds himself with it	that he wears

Psalms 109:20

ULT	UST
This, the payment of my accusers from Yahweh, and those speaking evil against my soul.	Yahweh, let this {curse} be the way that you punish all of those who accuse me {of doing bad things} and all of those who say evil things about me.

ULT This
UST let this {curse} be
(זֹאת)

The pronoun This refers to the curse that David has been describing in the previous verses. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [May the effects of this curse be]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT This
UST let this {curse} be
(זֹאת)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [May the effects of this curse be]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT This, the payment
UST let this {curse} be the way that you punish (זֹאת פְּעֻלַּת)

Here, This, the payment could mean: (1) David is asking Yahweh that this be the payment to his accusers. Alternate translation: [May this be the payment] or (2) David is stating that this is the payment to his accusers. Alternate translation: [This will be the payment]

ULT This, the payment of my accusers from Yahweh
UST Yahweh, let this {curse} be the way that you punish all of those who accuse me {of doing bad things
(זֹאת פְּעֻלַּת שֹׂטְנַי מֵאֵת יְהוָה)

Here David is speaking of God's punishment as if it were payment that God gives to David's accusers. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [This, the punishment of my accusers from Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT and those speaking evil against my soul
> UST and all of those who say evil things about me
> (וְהַדֹּבְרִים רָֽע עַל־נַפְשִׁי)

David is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and may this be the payment from Yahweh to those speaking evil against my soul]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT and those speaking evil against my soul
> UST and all of those who say evil things about me
> (וְהַדֹּבְרִים רָֽע עַל־נַפְשִׁי)

Here, soul represents the entire person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and those speaking evil against me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
evil	evil things
my soul	me

Psalms 109:21

ULT	UST
But you, Yahweh, my Lord, do with me on account of your name. Because your covenant faithfulness {is} good, rescue me!	But you, Yahweh, my God, please be kind to me because of who you are! Rescue me {from my enemies} because you faithfully love me as you promised.

ULT do with me
UST please be kind to me
(עֲשֵׂה־אִתִּי)

By do with me, David means “treat me kindly” or “act favorably toward me.” You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [do good to me] or [do what I ask]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT on account of your name
UST because of who you are
(לְמַעַן שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, name represents who God is or God’s reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [on account of your character]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Because your covenant faithfulness {is} good
UST because you faithfully love me as you promised (כִּי־טוֹב חַסְדְּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Because you are good and faithful to your covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
my Lord	my God
your covenant faithfulness	you faithfully love me as you promised
is} good	you faithfully love me as you promised rescue me	Rescue me {from my enemies

Psalms 109:22

ULT	UST
For I am poor and needy, and my heart breaks within me.	I ask you to do this because I am destitute and I am intensely sorrowful.

ULT I am poor and needy
UST I am destitute
(עָנִי וְאֶבְיוֹן אָנֹכִי)

The terms poor and needy mean similar things. David is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [I am very poor]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT and my heart breaks within me
UST and I am intensely sorrowful
(וְלִבִּי חָלָל בְּקִרְבִּי)

Here David is speaking of his emotional distress as if his heart breaks physically. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am in great despair]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 109:23

ULT	UST
Like a shadow when it lengthens I am made to go; I am shaken off like a locust.	I think that my time to remain alive will end as quickly as an evening shadow disappears. I will be gone as quickly as a man shakes off a locust.

ULT Like a shadow when it lengthens
UST as quickly as an evening shadow disappears
(כְּצַלְּ־כִּנְטוֹתוֹ)

The point of this comparison is that just as a shadow when it lengthens quickly disappears, so David's life is quickly passing away. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [Like how quickly a shadow disappears as it lengthens]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT I am made to go
UST I think that my time to remain alive will end
(נֶהֱלָכְתִּי)

The expression I am made to go contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I will leave]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I am shaken off like a locust
UST I will be gone as quickly as a man shakes off a locust
(נְנֻעַרְתִּי כָּאַרְבֶּה)

The expression I am shaken off contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I will fall off like a locust]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I am shaken off like a locust
UST I will be gone as quickly as a man shakes off a locust
(נְנֻעַרְתִּי כָּאַרְבֶּה)

David is making a comparison. The point of this comparison is that just as a locust is easily shaken off, so David is easily dismissed or removed from his position. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [I will disappear as quickly as someone shakes off a locust]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like a locust	as quickly as a man shakes off a locust

Psalms 109:24

ULT	UST
My knees are weak from fasting and my flesh is gaunt from fatness.	My knees are weak because I have fasted very often, and my body has become very thin; any fat is gone.

ULT My knees are weak
UST My knees are weak
(בֶּרֶכַי כָּשְׁלוּ)

Here, knees represents the strength of the whole body. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [My body is weak]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from fasting
UST because I have fasted very often (מִצֹּם)

The word from indicates that fasting is the reason for the weakness described in the first part of the verse. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that the fasting is the cause of the weakness. Alternate translation: [because of fasting very much]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and my flesh is gaunt from fatness
UST and my body has become very thin; any fat is gone
(וּבְשָׂרִי כָּחַשׁ מִשְּׁמֶן)

By my flesh is gaunt from fatness, David means that his flesh is gaunt from the complete absence of fat. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [and my flesh is gaunt, very far from being fat]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from fasting	because I have fasted very often

Psalms 109:25

ULT	UST
And I, I am a disgrace to them; they see me; they shake their head.	The people who accuse me despise me; when they see me, they insult me by shaking their heads at me.

ULT And I, I am
UST me
(וְאָנִי | הָיִיתִי)

The pronoun I is stated twice here for emphasis. David is emphasizing his own condition or state in contrast to his enemies. If a speaker of your language would use explicit pronouns for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [As for me, I am]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT I am a disgrace to them
UST The people who accuse me despise me
(הָיִיתִי חֶרְפָּה לָהֶם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of disgrace, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I am disgusting to them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they see me
UST when they see me
(יִרְאוּנִי)

Here the word that is translated they see me does not clearly indicate when the action of seeing occurs. It could mean “whenever they see me” or refer to a specific instance. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [whenever they see me]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

> ULT they shake their head
> UST they insult me by shaking their heads at me
> (יְנִיעוּן רֹאשָׁם)

The expression shake their head describes a symbolic action by which people showed contempt or mockery. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could explain the significance of this action in the text of your translation or in a footnote. Alternate translation: [they show that they despise me by shaking their heads]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a disgrace	despise
they shake	they insult me by shaking

Psalms 109:26

ULT	UST
Help me, Yahweh my God; save me according to your covenant faithfulness,	Yahweh, the God whom I worship, please help me! Rescue me because you faithfully love me!

ULT Help me
UST please help me
(עָזְרֵנִי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please help me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT my God
UST the God whom I worship
(אֱלֹהָי)

The psalmist is not using the phrase my God to mean that he possesses or controls Yahweh, but rather to emphasize that Yahweh is the God he worships as modeled in the UST. See the introduction to Psalms for further discussion.

Support Reference: Possession

ULT according to your covenant faithfulness
UST because you faithfully love me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to your covenant to be faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT according to your covenant faithfulness
UST because you faithfully love me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

By according to your covenant faithfulness, David means according to God’s promise to be faithful to his people. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [since you have promised to be faithful to me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
my God	the God whom I worship
save me	Rescue me
according to your covenant faithfulness	because you faithfully love me

Psalms 109:27

ULT	UST
so that they know that this {is} your hand; you, Yahweh, you have done it.	Then my enemies will know that you, Yahweh, are the one who has done it!

ULT so that they know
UST Then my enemies will know
(וְיֵדְעוּ)

Here, so that marks they know that this is your hand; you, Yahweh, you have done it as the goal or purpose of "Help me, Yahweh my God; save me according to your covenant faithfulness" in the previous verse. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [because I want them to know]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT so that they know
UST Then my enemies will know
(וְיֵדְעוּ)

The pronoun they refers to David's accusers. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [so that the people who accuse me know]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT that this {is} your hand
UST that & are the one
(כִּי־יָדְךָ זֹּאת)

Here, hand represents the power of a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that this is your doing]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT you, Yahweh, you have done it
UST you, Yahweh & who has done it
(אַתָּה יְהוָה עָשִׂיתָהּ)

David is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you have done it already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that Yahweh is the one who has acted. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [it is you, Yahweh, who have done it]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT you, Yahweh, you have done it
> UST you, Yahweh & who has done it
> (אַתָּה יְהוָה עָשִׂיתָה)

The pronoun it refers to Yahweh saving David, as he asked Yahweh to do in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [you, Yahweh, are the one who saved me]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
so that they know	Then my enemies will know
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 109:28

ULT	UST
They, they will curse, but you, you will bless; they arise, but then become ashamed, and your servant will rejoice.	As for them, they will curse {me}, but you, in contrast, will bless {me}. When they persecute {me}, {the result will be that} you make them ashamed, but you cause {me,} your servant, to be glad!

ULT They, they will curse
UST As for them, they will curse {me
(יְקַלְלוּ־הֵמָּה)

The pronoun They refers to David's accusers. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The people who accuse me, they will curse]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They, they will curse, but you, you will bless
UST As for them, they will curse {me}, but you, in contrast, will bless {me
(יְקַלְלוּ־הֵמָּה וְאַתָּה תְּבָרֵךְ)

David is stating the pronouns they and you separately for emphasis, even though the verbs translated as they will curse and you will bless already include their meanings. He is doing that to create a strong contrast between what his enemies will do (curse) and what God will do (bless). If a speaker of your language would use explicit pronouns for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [They are the ones who will curse, but you are the one who will bless]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT they arise
UST When they persecute {me
(קָמוּ)

By they arise, David means they arise to attack him. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [they arise to attack me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT and your servant
> UST but & me,} your servant
> (וְעַבְדְּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [and I, your servant]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they will curse	they will curse {me
you will bless	will bless {me
but then become ashamed	the result will be that} you make them ashamed and your servant	but & me,} your servant
will rejoice	you cause & to be glad

Psalms 109:29

ULT	UST
May my accusers be clothed with disgrace; may they wear their shame like a robe.	Please let everyone see that those who accuse me are completely disgraceful! Yes, cause other people to see that they are shameful as easily as someone sees the clothes that they wear!

ULT May my accusers be clothed with disgrace; may they wear their shame like a robe
UST Please let everyone see that those who accuse me are completely disgraceful! Yes, cause other people to see that they are shameful as easily as someone sees the clothes that they wear
(יִלְבְּשׁוּ שׂוֹטְנַי כְּלִמָּה וְיַעֲטוּ כַמְעִיל בָּשְׁתָּם)

These two phrases May my accusers be clothed with disgrace and may they wear their shame like a robe mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [May my accusers be clothed with shameful disgrace as though it were a robe]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT May my accusers be clothed with disgrace
UST Please let everyone see that those who accuse me are completely disgraceful (יִלְבְּשׁוּ שׂוֹטְנַי כְּלִמָּה)

Here David is speaking of his accusers as if they were people who could be clothed with disgrace. He means that their disgrace should be clearly seen and obvious to everyone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May it be obvious how disgraceful my accusers are]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT may they wear their shame like a robe
> UST Yes, cause other people to see that they are shameful as easily as someone sees the clothes that they wear
> (וְיַעֲטוּ כַמְעִיל בָּשְׁתָּם)

David is making a comparison between their shame and a robe. The point of this comparison is that just as a robe is visible to everyone who sees the person wearing it, so David wants his accusers' shame to be visible and obvious to everyone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [may their shame be so obvious to everyone that it is like a robe that they are wearing]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
disgrace	are completely disgraceful
their shame	that they are shameful
like a robe	as easily as someone sees the clothes that they wear

Psalms 109:30

ULT	UST
With my mouth I greatly thank Yahweh; and in the midst of many I will praise him.	I will thank Yahweh very much out loud; I will praise him when I am among the crowd of people who are worshiping him.

ULT With my mouth I greatly thank Yahweh
UST I will thank Yahweh very much out loud
(אֹודֶה יְהוָה מְאֹד בְּפִי)

Here, mouth represents speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will speak to greatly thank Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and in the midst of many
UST when I am among the crowd of people who are worshiping him
(וּבְתוֹךְ רַבִּים)

David is using the adjective many as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [and in the midst of many people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
I will praise him	I will praise him

Psalms 109:31

ULT	UST
For he stands at the right hand of the needy, to save {him} from the judges of his soul.	I will do that because he defends poor people {like me} in order to save {us} from those who would condemn us to die.

ULT he stands at the right hand of the needy
UST he defends poor people {like me
(יַעֲמֹד לִימִין אֶבְיוֹן)

Here David is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a person who could physically stand at the right hand of the needy. The image of standing at someone's right hand means to be ready to help and defend them. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [he advocates for the needy] or [he helps the needy]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the needy
UST poor people {like me
(אֶבְיוֹן)

David is using the adjective needy as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [needy people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from the judges of his soul
UST those who would condemn us to die
(מִשֹּׁפְטֵי נַפְשׁוֹ)

By the judges of his soul, David means those who seek to condemn him to death. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [from officials who want to take his life]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to save {him	in order to save {us} from from the judges of	those who would condemn
his soul	us to die

Psalms 110

Psalms 110 Introduction

Psalm 110 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 110 is a psalm honoring the king as he becomes king and was also recognized as a prophecy about the coming messiah. (See: prophet, prophecy, prophesy, seer, prophetess and Christ, Messiah)

1. The divine proclamation (1–2)
2. The people’s response (3)
3. The eternal priesthood (4)
4. The king’s judgment & victory (5–7)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

King

Yahweh will enable the king to conquer his enemies. Christ is seen as both high priest and king. (See: high priest, chief priest)

Psalms 110:1

ULT	UST
Of David, a psalm. The declaration of Yahweh to my lord {the king}: “Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.”	David wrote this psalm. Yahweh said to my lord, “Sit {here,} close to me, in the place of highest honor until I completely defeat your enemies and make them {like} a stool for your feet!”

ULT Sit at my right hand
UST Sit {here,} close to me, in & place of highest honor
(שֵׁב לִימִינִי)

Yahweh is using Sit at my right hand as a common expression of the culture to mean “Take the place of highest honor and authority beside me.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Sit with me in the honored place]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet
UST until I completely defeat your enemies and make them {like} a stool for your feet
(עַד־אָשִׁית אֹיְבֶיךָ הֲדֹם לְרַגְלֶיךָ)

Here Yahweh is speaking of defeating enemies as if he were making them into a footstool for your feet. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [until I give you victory over your enemies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Of David	David
a psalm	wrote this psalm
The declaration of	said to
Yahweh	Yahweh
to my lord {the king	my lord & the
to my lord {the king	my lord & the
your enemies	your enemies & them
a footstool	like} a stool for

Psalms 110:2

ULT	UST
Yahweh will stretch out the scepter of your strength from Zion; rule in the midst of your enemies!	Yahweh will extend your powerful kingdom from Zion {to other lands}; you are to rule over all your enemies.

ULT Yahweh will stretch out the scepter of your strength
UST Yahweh will extend your powerful kingdom & to other lands
(מַטֵּה־עֻזְּךָ֤ יִשְׁלַ֨ח יְהוָ֗ה)

Here, scepter represents royal authority and power. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will expand the area where you strongly rule]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the scepter of your strength
UST your powerful kingdom
(מַטֵּה־עֻזְּךָ֤)

David is using the possessive form to describe a scepter that is characterized by strength. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your strong scepter]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT rule
UST you are to rule
(רְדֵ֥ה)

The word translated as rule is an imperative, but it communicates an invitation to rule rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate an invitation for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates an invitation. Alternate translation: [I want you to rule]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
the scepter of	kingdom
your strength	your powerful from Zion	from Zion
rule	you are to rule
your enemies	all your enemies

Psalms 110:3

ULT	UST
Your people, freewill offerings on the day of your strength, in the beauty of holiness; from the womb of the dawn, the dew of your youth {is} to you.	When you lead your army into battle, your people will offer themselves freely {to join your army}. The way that they are completely devoted to you will be beautiful. You will be as strong as you were as a young man every day, as surely as the dew comes that waters the earth every morning.

ULT Your people, freewill offerings
UST your people will offer themselves freely {to join your army
(עַמְּךָ נְדָבֹת)

David is speaking of Your people as if they were freewill offerings. He means that the people will willingly offer themselves to serve the king, just as people willingly bring offerings to God. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your people are like freewill offerings]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT on the day of your strength
UST When you lead your army into battle
(בְּיוֹם חֵילֶךָ)

David is using this possessive form the day of your strength to mean when you show how strong you are. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [when you show how strong you are]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT in the beauty of holiness
UST The way that they are completely devoted to you will be beautiful
(בְּהַדְרֵי־קֹדֶשׁ)

David is using the possessive form to describe a beauty that is characterized by holiness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in holy beauty]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT in the beauty of holiness
> UST The way that they are completely devoted to you will be beautiful
> (בְּהַדְרֵי־קֹדֶשׁ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the ideas of beauty and holiness, you could express the same ideas in another way. Alternate translation: [they will be beautiful and holy] or [because they are holy, they will be beautiful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT from the womb of the dawn, the dew of your youth {is} to you
> UST You will be as strong as you were as a young man every day, as surely as the dew comes that waters the earth every morning
> (מֵרֶחֶם מִשְׁחָר לְךָ טַל יַלְדֻתֶיךָ)

Here David is speaking of the king's youthful vigor as if it were the dew of your youth that comes from the womb of the dawn. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [you will be as fresh as the dew that comes early every morning]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
freewill offerings	will offer themselves freely {to join your army
your strength	you lead your army into battle
holiness	The way that they are completely devoted to you from the womb of	every day & every morning

Psalms 110:4

ULT	UST
Yahweh has sworn, and will not revoke {it}: “You {are} a priest forever, after the manner of Melchizedek.”	Yahweh has made a solemn promise and he will never change his mind {about it}; {he said to the king,} “You are an eternal priest in the way that Melchizedek was a priest.”

ULT and will not revoke {it
UST and he will never change his mind {about it (וְלֹא יִנָּחֵם)

The pronoun it refers to the oath or solemn promise that Yahweh has made and that David is about to repeat. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and will not revoke this oath]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
has sworn	has made a solemn promise
a priest	an & priest
forever	eternal
Melchizedek	Melchizedek

Psalms 110:5

ULT	UST
The Lord {is} at your right hand. He crushes kings on the day of his nose.	The Lord fights for you; when he becomes angry, he defeats many kings.

ULT The Lord {is} at your right hand
UST The Lord fights for you
(אֲדֹנָי עַל־יְמִינְךָ)

David is using at your right hand as a common expression of his culture to mean “near you to help you” or “fighting for you.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The Lord is near you to help you]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT The Lord {is
UST The Lord
(אֲדֹנָי)

David assumes that readers will know that The Lord refers to Yahweh. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT He crushes kings
UST he defeats many kings
(מָחַץ & מְלָכִים)

Here David is speaking as if the Lord were a person who physically crushes kings. He means that the Lord defeats enemy kings. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He defeats enemy kings]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT on the day of his nose
> UST when he becomes angry
> (בְּיוֹם־אַפּוֹ)

David is using the phrase the day of his nose as a common expression of the culture to mean that the Lord is angry. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [on the day of his anger] or [when he displays his anger]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The Lord {is	The Lord
kings	many kings

Psalms 110:6

ULT	UST
He will judge the nations; he fills {with} bodies, he crushes the head, upon abundant land.	He will punish the people of many nations; he will cause many {enemy soldiers} to fall dead, with crushed heads, all over a broad land.

ULT He will judge the nations
UST He will punish the people of many nations
(יָדִ֣ין בַּגּוֹיִ֑ם)

By He will judge the nations, David means that Yahweh will punish the nations for their wickedness. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He will punish the nations]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the nations
UST the people of many nations
(בַּגּוֹיִ֑ם)

Here, the nations represents the people who live in the nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the people living in many nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT he fills {with} bodies
UST he will cause many {enemy soldiers} to fall dead
(מָלֵ֣א גְוִיּ֑וֹת)

By he fills with bodies, David means he fills the battlefield with dead bodies. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [he fills the battlefield with dead bodies]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT he crushes the head
UST with crushed heads
(מָחַ֥ץ רֹ֝אשׁ)

David is not referring to a specific head. He means the heads of the king's enemies in general. The word translated as head could refer to: (1) the heads of the enemy soldiers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh crushes the heads of the enemy soldiers] or (2) the leaders of the enemy armies. Alternate translation: [Yahweh defeats the leaders of the enemy armies]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT upon abundant land
> UST all over a broad land
> (עַל־אֶ֥רֶץ רַבָּֽה)

The word translated as land could refer to: (1) a battlefield. Alternate translation: [on a large battlefield] or (2) the earth. Alternate translation: [over the whole earth]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He will judge	He will punish
the nations	the people of many nations
land	a & land

Psalms 110:7

ULT	UST
He will drink from the stream along the path, Therefore, he will lift up the head.	But the king will drink from the stream alongside the road; because of {all} this, he will be victorious.

ULT He will drink
UST But the king will drink
(יִשְׁתֶּה)

Here, He could refer to: (1) the king. Alternate translation: [The king will drink] or (2) Yahweh. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will drink]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Therefore
UST because of {all} this
(עַל־כֵּן)

Therefore introduces the result of Yahweh fighting for and strengthening the king, as the previous verses of this psalm describe. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Because Yahweh has fought for him]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT he will lift up the head
UST he will be victorious
(יָרִים רֹאשׁ)

David is using he will lift up the head as a common expression of his culture to mean “he will triumph over his enemies.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he will triumph over his enemies]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 111

Psalms 111 Introduction

Psalm 111 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 111 is a psalm of praise to God for his miracles and care. (See: miracle, wonder, sign)

1. Call to praise (1–2)
2. Yahweh’s majestic works (3–6)
3. Yahweh’s trustworthy and enduring nature (7–9)
4. Wisdom and praise (10)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s character

God is great. He has given his people food, land, and always keeps his promises to his people. (See: promise, promised and people of God)

Psalms 111:1

ULT	UST
Hallelu Yah! I will thank Yahweh with the whole heart in the assembly of the upright and congregation.	Praise Yahweh! I will thank Yahweh with my entire inner being every time that those who do what is right meet together.

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT with the whole heart
UST with my entire inner being (בְּכָל־לֵבָב)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the place where his emotions and will reside as his heart. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with my whole heart] or [with all that I am]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the upright and congregation
> UST those who do what is right meet together
> (יְשָׁרִים וְעֵדָה)

The phrase upright and congregation expresses a single idea. The word upright tells more about congregation. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [the congregation of upright people]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

> ULT the upright
> UST those who do what is right
> (יְשָׁרִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective upright as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the upright people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
Yahweh	Yahweh
in the assembly of	every time that the upright	those who do what is right and congregation	meet together

Psalms 111:2

ULT	UST
The works of Yahweh {are} great, searched by everyone desirous of them.	The things that Yahweh does are wonderful! All those who delight in those things study them carefully.

ULT searched by everyone desirous of them
UST All those who delight in those things study them carefully
(דְּרוּשִׁים לְכָל־חֶפְצֵיהֶם)

The expression searched by everyone desirous of them contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [everyone desirous of them searches them]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT searched by everyone desirous of them
UST All those who delight in those things study them carefully
(דְּרוּשִׁים לְכָל־חֶפְצֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is using the adjective desirous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [searched by everyone who desires them]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT searched by everyone desirous of them
UST All those who delight in those things study them carefully
(דְּרוּשִׁים לְכָל־חֶפְצֵיהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to the works of Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [they are searched by everyone desirous of his works]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT searched
UST study them carefully
(דְּרוּשִׁים)

This could mean: (1) people examine and study Yahweh's works. Alternate translation: [studied] or (2) people are looking for Yahweh to do his works. Alternate translation: [eagerly awaited]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Yahweh	Yahweh
searched	study them carefully

Psalms 111:3

ULT	UST
His work {is} splendor and majesty, and his righteousness stands forever.	The things that he does show how wonderful and glorious he is, and that he is eternally righteous.

ULT His work {is} splendor and majesty
UST The things that he does show how wonderful and glorious he is (הוֹד־וְהָדָר פָּעֳלֹו)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of splendor and majesty, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [His work is splendid and majestic]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and his righteousness stands forever
UST and that he is eternally righteous
(וְצִדְקָתֹו עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he is righteous forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and his righteousness stands forever
UST and that he is eternally righteous
(וְצִדְקָתֹו עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God's righteousness as if it were a structure that stands forever. He means that God's righteousness is permanent and will never change or fail. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and his righteousness endures forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
splendor	show how wonderful and majesty	and glorious he is and his righteousness	and that & righteous
forever	eternally

Psalms 111:4

ULT	UST
He makes a remembrance for his wonders; Yahweh {is} gracious and merciful.	He has done wonderful things that people will always remember; Yahweh always acts kindly and mercifully.

ULT He makes a remembrance for his wonders
UST He has done wonderful things that people will always remember (זֵכֶר עָשָׂה לְנִפְלְאֹתָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of remembrance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He makes sure that people will always remember the wonderful things that he does]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for his wonders	wonderful things
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} gracious	always acts kindly and merciful	and mercifully

Psalms 111:5

ULT	UST
He gives food to those fearing him. He remembers his covenant forever.	He provides food for those who profoundly respect him; he never forgets the covenant that he made {with our ancestors}.

ULT to those fearing him
UST for those who profoundly respect him
(לְיִרְאָ֑יו)

The psalmist is using the adjective fearing as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [to the people who fear him]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT He remembers his covenant forever
UST he never forgets the covenant that he made {with our ancestors
(יִזְכֹּ֖ר לְעוֹלָ֣ם בְּרִיתֽוֹ׃)

This means that Yahweh will always act according to his covenant. See how you translated this in Psalm 105:8. Alternate translation: [He will honor his covenant forever]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to those fearing him	for those who profoundly respect him
his covenant	the covenant that he made {with our ancestors
forever	he never forgets

Psalms 111:6

ULT	UST
He showed the power of his works to his people, to give to them the inheritance of the nations.	By enabling his people to capture the lands that had belonged to other people groups, he showed to {us,} his people, that he is very powerful.

ULT the power of his works
UST that he is very powerful
(כֹּ֣חַ מַעֲשָׂ֑יו)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe works that are characterized by power. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his powerful works]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT to give to them
UST By enabling his people to capture
(לָתֵ֥ת לָהֶ֗ם)

The implication is that Yahweh showed his power by means of giving his people the lands that had belonged to other nations as their inheritance. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [by giving to them]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the inheritance of the nations
UST the lands that had belonged to other people groups
(נַחֲלַ֖ת גּוֹיִֽם)

The implication is that this refers to the land that belonged to other nations. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [land that belonged to other nations]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the power of	that he is very powerful the inheritance of	the lands that had belonged to
the nations	other people groups

Psalms 111:7

ULT	UST
The works of his hands {are} truth and justice; all of his precepts are reliable.	He does everything fairly and in the right way, and we can trust that everything that he tells us to do is for our good.

ULT The works of his hands
UST He does everything
(מַעֲשֵׂי יָדָיו)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the things that God does as if they were the works of his hands. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [All the things that he does]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT are} truth and justice
UST fairly and in the right way
(אֱמֶת וּמִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of truth and justice, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [are true and just]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT all of his precepts are reliable
UST and we can trust that everything that he tells us to do is for our good (נֶאֱמָנִים כָּל־פִּקּוּדָיו)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know that precepts refers to God's commands and instructions. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [We can rely on all of his instructions]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and justice	fairly
are reliable	and we can trust that & is for our good

Psalms 111:8

ULT	UST
They are established forever, for eternity, done in faithfulness, and upright.	We must obey his instructions forever; he created them in order to do what is best for us, and they are completely right.

ULT They are established forever
UST We must obey his instructions forever
(סְמוּכִים לָעַד)

The expression They are established contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [He established them to last forever]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT forever, for eternity
UST forever
(לָעַד לְעוֹלָם)

The terms forever and for eternity mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [for all eternity]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT done in faithfulness, and upright
UST he created them in order to do what is best for us, and they are completely right
(עֲשׂוּיִם בֶּאֱמֶת וְיֹשֶׁר)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you can state this in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. This could mean: (1) Yahweh has given his instructions in a faithful and proper manner. Alternate translation: [made faithfully and uprightly] or (2) his people are to observe Yahweh's instructions in a faithful and proper manner. Alternate translation: [for his people to observe faithfully and properly]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT done in faithfulness
UST he created them in order to do what is best for us
(עֲשׂוּיִם בֶּאֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [done faithfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and upright
UST and they are completely right
(וְיָשָׁר)

The psalmist is using the adjective upright as a noun to mean upright things or upright instructions. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [and they are instructions that are upright]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
They are established	We must obey his instructions
forever	forever
for eternity	forever
in faithfulness	in order to do what is best for us
and upright	and they are completely right

Psalms 111:9

ULT	UST
He has sent redemption to his people; he ordained his covenant forever; holy and awesome {is} his name.	He rescued us, his people, {from being slaves in Egypt,} and he made a covenant {with us} that will last forever. He is holy and awesome!

ULT He has sent redemption to his people
UST He rescued us, his people, {from being slaves in Egypt
(פְּדוּת | שָׁלַח לְעַמּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of redemption, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [He has redeemed his people]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT holy and awesome {is} his name
UST He is holy and awesome
(קָדוֹשׁ וְנוֹרָא שְׁמוֹ)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is or to refer to Yahweh's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is holy and awesome]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
redemption	He rescued us & from being slaves in Egypt
he ordained	and he made his covenant	a covenant {with us
forever	that will last forever
holy	is holy
and awesome	and awesome

Psalms 111:10

ULT	UST
The fear of Yahweh {is} the beginning of wisdom; good understanding to all those doing them. His praise stands forever!	Having a profound respect for Yahweh is the way to become wise. All those who obey his instructions will come to understand why it is good to do them. We should praise him forever!

ULT The fear of Yahweh
UST Having a profound respect for Yahweh
(יִרְאַ֣ת יְהוָ֑ה)

The psalmist is using this possessive form to mean a deep reverence for Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. See how you translated this in Psalm 19:9. Alternate translation: [Revering Yahweh]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT is} the beginning of wisdom
UST is the way to become wise
(רֵ֣אשִׁ֣ית חָכְמָ֑ה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of wisdom, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is how a person begins to become wise]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT good understanding to all those doing them
UST All those who obey his instructions will come to understand why it is good to do them
(שֵׂ֤כֶל טֹ֨וב ׀ לְכָל־עֹשֵׂיהֶ֗ם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [all those doing them will gain a good understanding of how to live well]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT to all those doing them
UST All those who obey his instructions
(לְכָל־עֹשֵׂיהֶ֗ם)

The pronoun them refers to Yahweh's precepts, mentioned in verse 7. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [to all those doing his precepts]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT His praise stands forever
> UST We should praise him forever
> (תְּהִלָּתוֹ עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

Here the psalmist is speaking of praise as if it were something that could stand in the sense of remaining upright and stable. He means that God will be praised forever. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His praise endures forever] or [He is to be praised forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The fear of	Having a profound respect for
Yahweh	Yahweh
of wisdom	wise
good	why it is good to do them
understanding	will come to understand
His praise	We should praise him
forever	forever

Psalms 112

Psalms 112 Introduction

Psalm 112 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 112 is a “wisdom psalm” teaching the value of a righteous life. (See: wise, wisdom and righteous, righteousness, unrighteous, unrighteousness, upright, uprightness)

1. The blessings of the Yahweh-fearing (1–3)
2. The character and security of the upright (4–9)
3. The contrast with the wicked (10)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Righteous people

The righteous people will be well-known for their generosity and they will not have to worry about bad news because God is taking care of them.

Psalms 112:1

ULT	UST
Hallelu Yah! The happinesses of the man fearing Yahweh, greatly delighting in his commandments!	Praise Yahweh! How fortunate are those who have a profound respect for Yahweh; How fortunate are those who happily obey his commands!

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT The happinesses of
UST How fortunate
(אַשְׁרֵי)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Oh, how happy is] or [Truly blessed is]

Support Reference: Exclamations

> ULT the man
> UST are those
> (אִישׁ)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means any man who fears Yahweh. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [anyone]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

> ULT greatly delighting in his commandments
> UST How fortunate are those who happily obey his commands
> (בְּמִצְוֹתָ֗יו חָפֵ֥ץ מְאֹֽד)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [how happy is the one who greatly delights in his commandments]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
fearing	who have a profound respect for
Yahweh	Yahweh
delighting	How fortunate are those who happily obey

Psalms 112:2

ULT	UST
His seed will be powerful on the earth; a generation of upright ones will be blessed.	Their descendants will prosper in their land; Yahweh will bless all who do what is right.

ULT His seed
UST Their descendants
(זַרְעֹו)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the man's children as if they were seed that he had planted. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [His offspring]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT a generation of upright ones will be blessed
UST Yahweh will bless all who do what is right
(דּוֹר יְשָׁרִים יְבֹרָךְ)

The expression will be blessed is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [Yahweh will bless a generation of upright ones]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT a generation of upright ones
UST all who do what is right
(דּוֹר יְשָׁרִים)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a generation that is characterized by being upright. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [everyone who is upright]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
His seed	Their descendants powerful	prosper
on the earth	in their land
a generation of	all
upright ones	who do what is right
will be blessed	Yahweh will bless

Psalms 112:3

ULT	UST
Wealth and riches {are} in his house, and his righteousness stands forever.	Their families will be wealthy, and their righteous deeds will endure forever.

ULT Wealth and riches
UST will be wealthy
(הוֹן־וְעֹשֶׁר)

The terms Wealth and riches mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Abundant riches]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT are} in his house
UST Their families
(בְּבֵיתוֹ)

The psalmist is using the term house to mean an entire household living together. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [belong to his household]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT are} in his house
UST Their families
(בְּבֵיתוֹ)

The pronoun his refers to the man who fears Yahweh mentioned in verse 1. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [belong to such a person]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT and his righteousness
UST and their righteous deeds
(וְצִדְקָתוֹ)

The pronoun his refers to the man who fears Yahweh from verse 1. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [and the righteousness of such a person]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT and his righteousness
> UST and their righteous deeds
> (וְצִדְקָתוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and each righteous thing that he does]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT stands forever
> UST will endure forever
> (עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

This could mean: (1) Yahweh and/or people will always remember the righteous things that such a person does. Alternate translation: [continues to be remembered forever] or (2) Such people never stop doing righteous deeds. Alternate translation: [keeps going continually]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
are} in his house	Their families and his righteousness	and their righteous deeds
forever	forever

Psalms 112:4

ULT	UST
Light shines in the darkness for the upright ones; gracious and compassionate and just.	For those who honor God, it is as if a light were shining on them in the darkness, on those who are kind, merciful, and righteous.

ULT Light shines in the darkness for the upright ones
UST For those who honor God, it is as if a light were shining on them in the darkness
(זָרַח בַּחֹשֶׁךְ אוֹר לַיְשָׁרִים)

Here, Light could be: (1) the subject of the verb shines as in the ULT, or (2) the object of the verb shines, and then the subject of the verb would be "he," continuing the subject of the previous verse. Alternate translation: [He shines light in the darkness for the upright]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Light shines in the darkness for the upright ones
UST For those who honor God, it is as if a light were shining on them in the darkness
(זָרַח בַּחֹשֶׁךְ אוֹר לַיְשָׁרִים)

The psalmist speaks of God blessing the upright person in difficult times as if his blessings were a light shining in darkness. Alternate translation: [The blessings that an upright person receives from God are like a light that shines in the darkness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT gracious and compassionate and just
UST on those who are kind, merciful, and righteous
(חַנּוּן וְרַחוּם וְצַדִּיק)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [such a person is gracious and compassionate and just]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for the upright ones	For those who honor God
gracious	on those who are kind and compassionate	merciful
and just	and righteous

Psalms 112:5

ULT	UST
a gracious and lending man {is} good; he conducts his affairs with justice.	It is good to be kind to others and to generously lend money to them. A person like that does everything honestly.

ULT a gracious and lending man {is} good
UST It is good to be kind to others and to generously lend money to them
(טֽוֹב־אִישׁ חוֹנֵן וּמַלְוֶה)

This could mean: (1) it is good to be person who is gracious and lends freely. Alternate translation: [It is good to be a gracious and lending man] or (2) good things will happen to a man who is gracious and lending. Alternate translation: [Life goes well for a gracious and lending man]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT a gracious and lending man
UST It is good to be kind to others and to generously lend money to them
(אִישׁ חוֹנֵן וּמַלְוֶה)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [a gracious and lending person]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT he conducts his affairs with justice
UST A person like that does everything honestly (יְכַלְכֵּל דְּבָרָיו בְּמִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of justice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he is just in all his dealings]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
gracious	to be kind to others
is} good	It is good
with justice	honestly

Psalms 112:6

ULT	UST
For he will not be moved for forever; the righteous will be for an eternal remembrance.	Righteous people do this because they know that bad things will never overwhelm them; other people will always {joyfully} remember them.

ULT For he will not be moved for forever
UST Righteous people do this because they know that bad things will never overwhelm them
(כִּי־לְעוֹלָם לֹא־יִמּוֹט)

The word translated as For indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [He does this because he will not be moved for forever]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT For he will not be moved for forever
UST Righteous people do this because they know that bad things will never overwhelm them
(כִּי־לְעוֹלָם לֹא־יִמּוֹט)

The expression he will not be moved contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [For nothing will move him for forever]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT For he will not be moved for forever
UST Righteous people do this because they know that bad things will never overwhelm them
(כִּי־לְעוֹלָם לֹא־יִמּוֹט)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the righteous person as if he were an object that could be moved from its place. He means that nothing will cause the righteous person to fail or be overcome by difficulties. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [For nothing will ever cause him to fail]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the righteous
UST them
(צַדִּיק)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [righteous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT will be for an eternal remembrance
UST other people will always {joyfully} remember (לְזֵכֶר עוֹלָם יִהְיֶה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of remembrance, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [will always be remembered]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for forever	never
the righteous	them
eternal	always

Psalms 112:7

ULT	UST
He does not fear bad news; his heart is sure, trusting in Yahweh.	Righteous people are not afraid when they receive bad news; they confidently trust in Yahweh.

ULT his heart is sure
UST when they receive & confidently
(נָכוֹן לִבּוֹ)

Here the heart represents where a person's thoughts and motives exist. The psalmist is speaking of a person's inner confidence as if it were sure, meaning firmly established or steadfast. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he is confident]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He does & fear	Righteous people are & afraid bad	bad
trusting	they & trust
in Yahweh	in Yahweh

Psalms 112:8

ULT	UST
His heart is upheld, he does not fear, until he looks over his adversaries.	They are confident and not afraid because they know that they will see God defeat their enemies.

ULT His heart is upheld
UST They are confident and & they know
(סָמוּךְ לִבּוֹ)

Here the heart represents where a person's thoughts and motives exist. The psalmist is speaking of the righteous person's emotional state as if his heart were upheld or supported, meaning that he is calm. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [He is tranquil]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT until he looks over his adversaries
UST because & that they will see God defeat their enemies
(עַד אֲשֶׁר־יִרְאֶה בְצָרָיו)

The implication is that the righteous person will remain confident and unafraid while God vindicates him by defeating his enemies. This does not mean that he will begin to fear when he sees his enemies. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [all the way to the time that he looks triumphantly over his adversaries]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
he does & fear	afraid
over his adversaries	their enemies

Psalms 112:9

ULT	UST
He scatters, he gives to the poor; his righteousness stands forever; his horn is high with honor.	They give things generously to poor people; their kind deeds will endure forever; people will greatly honor them.

ULT He scatters, he gives
UST They give things generously
(פִּזַּר | נָתַן)

The terms scatters and gives mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [He gives generously]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT to the poor
UST to poor people
(לָאֶבְיוֹנִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective poor as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [to anyone who is poor]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT his righteousness stands forever
UST their kind deeds will endure forever
(צִדְקָתוֹ עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [his righteous works stand forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT his righteousness stands forever
UST their kind deeds will endure forever
(צִדְקָתוֹ עֹמֶדֶת לָעַד)

This could mean: (1) Yahweh and/or people will always remember the righteous things that such a person does. Alternate translation: [his righteousness continues to be remembered forever] or (2) Such people never stop doing righteous deeds. Alternate translation: [his righteousness keeps going continually]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT his horn is high with honor
> UST people will greatly honor them
> (קַרְנוֹ תָּרוּם בְּכָבוֹד)

The psalmist is using his horn is high as a common expression of the culture to mean “he is honored and respected by others.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [people respect and honor him]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He scatters	They & generously
his righteousness	their kind deeds
forever	forever
his horn	people will greatly honor them
with honor	people will greatly honor them

Psalms 112:10

ULT	UST
The wicked will see and be angry; he will grind his teeth and he will melt away; the desire of the wicked will perish.	Wicked people will see {those things} and become angry; they will gnash their teeth {angrily}, then people will stop hearing from them and they will die. The wicked things that they want to do will never happen.

ULT The wicked will see
UST Wicked people will see {those things
(רָשָׁע יִרְאֶה)

The implication is that the wicked will see the prosperity and honor of the righteous person described in the previous verses. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [The wicked will see these things happen]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT The wicked will see
UST Wicked people will see {those things
(רָשָׁע יִרְאֶה)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Wicked people will see]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT he will grind his teeth
UST they will gnash their teeth {angrily
(שִׁנָּיו יַחֲרֹק)

The grinding of teeth is an expression of extreme anger. See how you translated a similar phrase in Psalms 35:16. Alternate translation: [he will grind his teeth in rage]

Support Reference: Symbolic Action

ULT and he will melt away
UST then people will stop hearing from them and they will die (וְנִמַּס)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the wicked person as if he were something that could melt away like ice or wax. He means that the wicked person will become unimportant and die. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he will become unimportant and die]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the desire of the wicked will perish
UST The wicked things that they want to do will never happen
(תַּאֲוַת רְשָׁעִים תֹּאבֵד)

Here, desire could mean: (1) the emotional desire that wicked people have to do wicked things. Alternate translation: [the things that wicked people want to do will never happen] or (2) it represents the things that wicked people have desired. Alternate translation: [wicked people will lose the things that they desired to have]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The wicked	Wicked people
wicked	they
will perish	will never happen

Psalms 113

Psalms 113 Introduction

Psalm 113 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 113 is a “psalm of praise” to God for his goodness. (See: good, right, pleasant, better, best, goodness)

1. The call to universal and eternal praise (1–3)
2. The greatness of Yahweh’s majesty (4–6)
3. The grace of Yahweh’s compassion (7–9)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s help

God helps the poor and gives children to the wife who cannot conceive children.

Psalms 113:1

ULT	UST
Hallelu Yah! Praise him, servants of Yahweh; praise the name of Yahweh!	Praise Yahweh! You people who serve Yahweh, praise him! Praise Yahweh for who he is!

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name "Yahweh," the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT praise the name of Yahweh
UST Praise Yahweh for who he is (הַלְלוּ אֶת־שֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, name represents who Yahweh is or to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [praise everything about Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
Praise him	praise
servants of	You people who serve
Yahweh	Yahweh & him

Psalms 113:2

ULT	UST
Blessed be the name of Yahweh, from now and to forever.	Everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is, both now and forevermore!

ULT Blessed be the name of Yahweh
UST Everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is (יְהִי שֵׁם יְהוָה מְבֹרָךְ)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise Yahweh. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [We bless Yahweh] or [Let us all praise Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Blessed be the name of Yahweh
UST Everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is (יְהִי שֵׁם יְהוָה מְבֹרָךְ)

The expression Blessed be is a passive verbal form. The psalmist is expressing his desire to praise Yahweh. If it would be unnatural to use that form for this purpose, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Let us bless the name of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT Blessed be the name of Yahweh
UST Everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is (יְהִי שֵׁם יְהוָה מְבֹרָךְ)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who Yahweh is or to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Blessed be Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT from now and to forever
UST both now and forevermore
(מֵעַתָּה וְעַד־עוֹלָם)

The psalmist is referring to all of time by naming two extremes, now and to forever. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [for all eternity]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed	Everyone should praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
forever	forevermore

Psalms 113:3

ULT	UST
From the rising of the sun to its setting, may the name of Yahweh be praised.	From the people who live in the far east to the people who live in the far west, everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is!

ULT From the rising of the sun to its setting
UST From the people who live in the far east to the people who live in the far west
(מִמִּזְרַח־שֶׁמֶשׁ עַד־מְבוֹאוֹ)

The psalmist is referring to all of the earth by naming two extremes, the rising of the sun and its setting. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [All over the earth]

Support Reference: Merism

ULT may the name of Yahweh be praised
UST everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is (מְהֻלָּל שֵׁם יְהוָה)

The expression may the name of Yahweh be praised contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [may people praise the name of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT may the name of Yahweh be praised
UST everyone should praise Yahweh for who he is (מְהֻלָּל שֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, name represents who Yahweh is or to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [may Yahweh be praised] or [may everything about Yahweh be praised]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
may & be praised	everyone should praise

Psalms 113:4

ULT	UST
Yahweh is high above all nations; his glory above the skies.	Yahweh rules over all the nations, he is more glorious than anything under the heavens.

ULT Yahweh is high above all nations
UST Yahweh rules over all the nations
(רָם עַל־כָּל־גּוֹיִם | יְהוָה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were physically high above the nations, like someone standing on a mountain looking down. This image emphasizes Yahweh's supreme authority and power over all earthly kingdoms. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is supreme over all nations]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT his glory above the skies
UST he is more glorious than anything under the heavens
(עַל הַשָּׁמַיִם כְּבוֹדוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [his glory is high above the skies]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT his glory above the skies
UST he is more glorious than anything under the heavens
(עַל הַשָּׁמַיִם כְּבוֹדוֹ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's glory as if it were positioned above the skies. The psalmist means that Yahweh's glory is greater than anything that can be seen in the heavens. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his glory exceeds anything visible from earth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT his glory above the skies
> UST he is more glorious than anything under the heavens
> (עַל הַשָּׁמַיִם כְּבוֹדוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of glory, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he is more glorious than anything visible from earth]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
nations	the nations
his glory	he is & glorious
the skies	than anything under the heavens

Psalms 113:5

ULT	UST
Who is like Yahweh our God, the one making high to sit,	There is no one who is like Yahweh, the God whom we worship, who sits on his throne in the highest heaven

ULT Who is like Yahweh our God
UST There is no one who is like Yahweh, the God whom we worship
(מִי כַּיהוָה אֱלֹהֵינוּ)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis, which begins here and continues through verse 6. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [There is no one like Yahweh our God]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT the one making high to sit
UST who sits on his throne in the highest heaven
(הַמַּגְבִּיהִי לָשָׁבֶת)

The psalmist is using the one making high to sit as a common expression of the culture to mean “the one who sits on high” or “the one who rules in the highest position.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one sitting on high] or [the one who rules in the highest position]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
our God	the God whom we worship

Psalms 113:6

ULT	UST
the one making low to look on the sky and on the earth?	and who stoops down to look at the sky and at the earth.

ULT the one making low to look on the sky and on the earth
UST and who stoops down to look at the sky and at the earth
(הַמַּשְׁפִּילִי לִרְאוֹת בַּשָּׁמַיִם וּבָאָרֶץ)

This is the second part of the question form that began in verse 5. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for the purpose of creating emphasis as this does, you could translate these two verses as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [the one making low to look on the sky and on the earth.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT the one making low to look on the sky and on the earth
UST and who stoops down to look at the sky and at the earth
(הַמַּשְׁפִּילִי לִרְאוֹת בַּשָּׁמַיִם וּבָאָרֶץ)

The psalmist is using the one making low to look as a common expression of the culture to mean “the one who humbles himself to look” or “the one who condescends to look.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one who lowers himself to look down on the sky and on the earth]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and on the earth	and at the earth

Psalms 113:7

ULT	UST
raising up the poor from the dust, he lifts the needy from the garbage,	He rescues very poor people from the very poor way that they live

ULT raising up the poor from the dust, he lifts the needy from the garbage
UST He rescues very poor people from the very poor way that they live
(מְקִימִי מֵעָפָר דָּל מֵאַשְׁפֹּת יָרִים אֶבְיוֹן)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [raising up the poor from the dust, yes, he lifts the needy from the garbage]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT raising up the poor from the dust, he lifts the needy from the garbage
UST He rescues very poor people from the very poor way that they live
(מְקִימִי מֵעָפָר דָּל מֵאַשְׁפֹּת יָרִים אֶבְיוֹן)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the extremely poor condition of needy people as if they were sitting in dust and garbage. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he takes the poor out of their dirty and poor condition]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT raising up the poor from the dust, he lifts the needy from the garbage
UST He rescues very poor people from the very poor way that they live
(מְקִימִי מֵעָפָר דָּל מֵאַשְׁפֹּת יָרִים אֶבְיוֹן)

The psalmist is using the adjectives poor and needy as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [raising up poor people from the dust, he lifts needy people from the garbage]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

Psalms 113:8

ULT	UST
to seat him with princes, with the princes of his people.	and causes people to honor them by making them leaders among those who rule his people.

ULT to seat him with princes
UST and causes people to honor them by making them leaders
(לְהוֹשִׁיבִי עִם־נְדִיבִֽים)

The psalmist is using to seat him with princes as a common expression of the culture to mean “to give him a position of honor and authority.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to cause him to rule with princes]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT to seat him with princes
UST and causes people to honor them by making them leaders
(לְהוֹשִׁיבִי עִם־נְדִיבִֽים)

The pronoun him refers to the poor person mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [to seat the poor person with princes]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT with the princes of his people
UST among those who rule his people
(עִֽם נְדִיבֵי עַמּֽוֹ)

The phrase with the princes of his people clarifies who the princes are from the previous phrase. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [that is, to seat him with the princes of his people]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT with the princes of his people
UST among those who rule his people
(עִֽם נְדִיבֵי עַמּֽוֹ)

Here, his could refer to: (1) Yahweh. Alternate translation: [with the princes of Yahweh’s people] or (2) the poor person. Alternate translation: [with the princes of the man’s people]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
princes	leaders
the princes	who rule

Psalms 113:9

ULT	UST
He causes the barren woman of the house to dwell, the joyful mother of children! Hallelu Yah!	He also enables women who have had no children to live in their houses as happy mothers with children. Praise Yahweh!

ULT He causes the barren woman of the house to dwell, the joyful mother of children
UST He also enables women who have had no children to live in their houses as happy mothers with children
(מְוֹשִׁיבִי | עֲקֶרֶת הַבַּיִת אֵם־הַבָּנִים שְׂמֵחָה)

The implication is that God transforms a barren woman into a mother by giving her children. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [He causes a woman who is barren to become the joyful mother of children]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT He causes the barren woman of the house to dwell
UST He also enables women who have had no children to live in their houses
(מְוֹשִׁיבִי | עֲקֶרֶת הַבַּיִת)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific barren woman. He means barren women in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [He causes barren women of their houses to dwell]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

> ULT Yah
> UST Yahweh
> (יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the barren woman of	women who have had no children
the house	to live in their houses
joyful	happy
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 114

Psalms 114 Introduction

Psalm 114 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 114 is a “psalm of praise” to God for his miracles in bringing the people of Israel to the promised land. (See: miracle, wonder, sign and Promised Land)

1. God claims his people (1–2)
2. Creation’s astonished response (3–6)
3. Earth’s reverent awe (7–8)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Praise

The psalmist praises God for all the ways he helped his people in the past. This psalm references many miraculous events the Israelites experienced like the parting of the Sea of Reeds (Red Sea), the reversal of the Jordan River, bringing water from a rock, and the awe-inspiring presence of God at Mount Sinai, with creation itself responding, as the earth trembled with, God’s power as he delivered his people from Egypt and led them to the land he had promised them.

Psalms 114:1

ULT	UST
When Israel went out from Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people speaking a foreign language,	When the Israelite people left Egypt, yes, when the descendants of Jacob left those people who spoke a foreign language,

ULT When Israel went out from Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people speaking a foreign language
UST When the Israelite people left Egypt, yes, when the descendants of Jacob left those people who spoke a foreign language
(בְּצֵאת יִשְׂרָאֵל מִמִּצְרָיִם בֵּית יַעֲקֹב מֵעַם לֹעֵז)

These two phrases When Israel went out from Egypt and the house of Jacob from a people speaking a foreign language mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [When Israel went out from Egypt, that is, the house of Jacob from a people speaking a foreign language]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Israel
UST the Israelite people
(יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Israel represents the Israelite people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [the Israelites]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT the house of Jacob from a people speaking a foreign language
UST yes, when the descendants of Jacob left those people who spoke a foreign language
(בֵּית יַעֲקֹב מֵעַם לֹעֵז)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [when the house of Jacob went out from a people speaking a foreign language]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT the house of Jacob
> UST yes, when the descendants of Jacob left > (בֵּית יַעֲקֹב)

Here, the house of Jacob represents the descendants of Jacob. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Jacob's descendants]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Israel	the Israelite people
from Egypt	Egypt
the house	yes, when the descendants of Jacob	of Jacob left speaking a foreign language	who spoke a foreign language

Psalms 114:2

ULT	UST
Judah became his sanctuary, Israel his realm.	the land of Judah became the place where people worshiped God; and the land of Israel became the area that he ruled over.

ULT Judah became his sanctuary, Israel his realm
UST the land of Judah became the place where people worshiped God; and the land of Israel became the area that he ruled over
(הָיְתָה יְהוּדָה לְקָדְשׁוֹ יִשְׂרָאֵל מַמְשְׁלוֹתָיו)

Here, Judah and Israel could refer to: (1) the territories of Judah and Israel, since the previous verse talks about leaving the territory of Egypt, as modeled in the UST, or (2) the people of Judah and Israel. Alternate translation: [The people of Judah became those among whom Yahweh lived, the people of Israel became those over whom he ruled]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Judah became his sanctuary, Israel his realm
UST the land of Judah became the place where people worshiped God; and the land of Israel became the area that he ruled over
(הָיְתָה יְהוּדָה לְקָדְשׁוֹ יִשְׂרָאֵל מַמְשְׁלוֹתָיו)

The pronoun his refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Judah became Yahweh's sanctuary, Israel Yahweh's realm]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Israel his realm
UST and the land of Israel became the area that he ruled over (יִשְׂרָאֵל מַמְשְׁלוֹתָיו)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and Israel became his realm]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Judah	the land of Judah
his sanctuary	the place where people worshiped God
Israel	and the land of Israel became

Psalms 114:3

ULT	UST
The sea looked and fled; the Jordan turned backward.	{When they came to} the Sea {of Reeds}, {it was as though the water} saw {them} and ran away! {When they came to} the Jordan River, {the water in the river} stopped flowing {so that the Israelites could cross it}.

ULT The sea looked and fled
UST When they came to} the Sea {of Reeds}, {it was as though the water} saw {them} and ran away (הַיָּם רָאָה וַיָּנֹס)

The psalmist is speaking of the sea as if it were a living thing that could look and flee. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The sea parted as they approached]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT the Jordan turned backward
UST When they came to} the Jordan River, {the water in the river} stopped flowing {so that the Israelites could cross it
(הַיַּרְדֵּן יִסֹּב לְאָחוֹר)

The psalmist is speaking of the Jordan as if it were a living thing that could turn around and go in the opposite direction. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the water of the Jordan flowed away]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the Jordan	When they came to} the Jordan River, {the water in the river

Psalms 114:4

ULT	UST
The mountains skipped like rams, the hills like sons of the flock.	{When Mount Sinai shook,} {it was as though} the mountains skipped like rams and the hills jumped like lambs.

ULT The mountains skipped like rams, the hills like sons of the flock
UST When Mount Sinai shook,} {it was as though} the mountains skipped like rams and the hills jumped like lambs
(הֶהָרִים רָקְדוּ כְאֵילִים גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is speaking of mountains and hills as if they were living things that could skip and jump. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The mountains seemed to skip like rams, the hills like sons of the flock]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT the hills like sons of the flock
UST and the hills jumped like lambs
(גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the hills skipped like sons of the flock]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT like sons of the flock
UST like lambs
(כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is using sons of the flock as a common expression of the culture to mean “lambs.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as if they were lambs]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like rams	like rams
the flock	like lambs

Psalms 114:5

ULT	UST
What {is} to you, sea, that you flee? Jordan, you turn backwards?	{If someone asks,} “What happened at the Sea {of Reeds} that made it seem to run away? What happened that caused {the water in} the Jordan {River} to stop flowing?

ULT What {is} to you, sea, that you flee
UST If someone asks,} “What happened at the Sea {of Reeds} that made it seem to run away
(מַה־לְּךָ הַיָּם כִּי תָנוּס)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [It is amazing that the sea would flee away!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT What {is} to you, sea, that you flee
UST If someone asks,} “What happened at the Sea {of Reeds} that made it seem to run away
(מַה־לְּךָ הַיָּם כִּי תָנוּס)

The psalmist is speaking to the sea that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God’s mighty power over creation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the sea. Alternate translation: [What happened to the sea, that it flees]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT What {is} to you
UST If someone asks,} “What happened at the (מַה־לְּךָ)

The psalmist is using What is to you as a common expression of the culture to mean “What is the matter with you?” or “What is wrong with you?” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [What is the matter with you] or [What is wrong with you]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT Jordan, you turn backwards
> UST What happened that caused {the water in} the Jordan {River} to stop flowing
> (הַיַּרְדֵּן תִּסֹּב לְאָחוֹר)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [What is to you, Jordan, that you turn backwards]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

> ULT Jordan, you turn backwards
> UST What happened that caused {the water in} the Jordan {River} to stop flowing
> (הַיַּרְדֵּן תִּסֹּב לְאָחוֹר)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [It is amazing that the Jordan would turn backwards!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

> ULT Jordan, you turn backwards
> UST What happened that caused {the water in} the Jordan {River} to stop flowing
> (הַיַּרְדֵּן תִּסֹּב לְאָחוֹר)

The psalmist is speaking to Jordan that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God's power over creation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the Jordan. Alternate translation: [What happened to the Jordan, that it turns backwards]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Jordan	What happened that caused {the water in} the Jordan {River

Psalms 114:6

ULT	UST
Mountains, you skip like rams, hills, like sons of the flock?	{What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs?”

ULT Mountains, you skip like rams, hills, like sons of the flock
UST What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs
(הָהָרִים תִּרְקְדוּ כְאֵילִים גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

See how you translated these similar phrases in verse 4.

ULT Mountains, you skip like rams
UST What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams
(הָהָרִים תִּרְקְדוּ כְאֵילִים)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context of the previous verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [What is to you, mountains, that you skip like rams]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT Mountains, you skip like rams
UST What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams
(הָהָרִים תִּרְקְדוּ כְאֵילִים)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [It is amazing that the mountains would skip like rams!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Mountains, you skip like rams
UST What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams
(הָהָרִים תִּרְקְדוּ כְאֵילִים)

The psalmist is speaking of Mountains as if they were living things that could skip. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Why did the mountains seem to skip like rams]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Mountains, you skip like rams
UST What happened at Mount Sinai that made the} mountains {seem to} skip like rams
(הָהָרִים תִּרְקְדוּ כְאֵילִים)

The psalmist is speaking to Mountains that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God's power displayed in creation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the mountains. Alternate translation: [What happened to the mountains, that they skip like rams]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT hills, like sons of the flock
UST and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs
(גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context of the previous verse if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [what is to you, hills, that you skip like sons of the flock]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT hills, like sons of the flock
UST and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs
(גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [it is amazing that the hills would skip like sons of the flock!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT hills, like sons of the flock
UST and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs
(גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is speaking of hills as if they were living things that could skip. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [why did the hills seem to skip like sons of the flock]

Support Reference: Personification

> ULT hills, like sons of the flock
> UST and made the hills {seem to} jump like lambs
> (גְּבָעוֹת כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is speaking to hills that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God's power displayed in creation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the hills. Alternate translation: [what happened to the hills, that they skip like sons of the flock]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

> ULT like sons of the flock
> UST like lambs
> (כִּבְנֵי־צֹאן)

The psalmist is using sons of the flock as a common expression of the culture to mean "lambs." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as if they were lambs]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like rams	like rams
the flock	like lambs

Psalms 114:7

ULT	UST
Tremble, earth, from to the face of the Lord, from to the face of the God of Jacob,	{I would reply,} “The earth trembles because the Lord is there! Everyone should tremble because of the presence of the God whom Jacob worshiped!”

ULT Tremble, earth, from to the face of the Lord, from to the face of the God of Jacob
UST I would reply,} “The earth trembles because the Lord is there! Everyone should tremble because of the presence of the God whom Jacob worshiped
(מִלִּפְנֵי אָדוֹן חוּלִי אֶרֶץ מִלִּפְנֵי אֱלוֹהַּ יַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist has asked in the previous verse why the mountains and hills moved, so this verse provides the answer: it is because of the presence of the Lord. But this verse also is an exhortation to the people who live on the earth to tremble with respect before the powerful God of Jacob. So earth here probably refers both to the physical earth and to the people who live on it. You may want to use the parallel structure to bring out both meanings. Alternate translation: [Tremble, earth, from to the face of the Lord, you people of earth, from to the face of the God of Jacob]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Tremble, earth, from to the face of the Lord, from to the face of the God of Jacob
UST I would reply,} “The earth trembles because the Lord is there! Everyone should tremble because of the presence of the God whom Jacob worshiped
(מִלִּפְנֵי אָדוֹן חוּלִי אֶרֶץ מִלִּפְנֵי אֱלוֹהַּ יַעֲקֹב)

These two phrases from to the face of the Lord and from to the face of the God of Jacob mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation as modeled in the UST. If, however, it would be more clear in your language, you could combine the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Tremble, earth, from to the face of the Lord, the mighty God of Jacob]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT Tremble, earth
UST The earth trembles
(חוּלִי אֶרֶץ)

The psalmist is speaking to the earth that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about God's awesome power and presence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about the earth. Alternate translation: [The earth must tremble]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT from to the face of the Lord
UST I would reply & because the Lord is there
(מִלִּפְנֵי אֲדוֹן)

The psalmist is using from to the face of as a common expression of the culture to mean "because of the presence of" or "on account of the presence of." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [because of the presence of the Lord] or [on account of the Lord's presence]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT from to the face of the God of Jacob
UST Everyone should tremble because of the presence of the God whom Jacob worshiped
(מִלִּפְנֵי אֱלוֹהַּ יַעֲקֹב)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [tremble, earth, from to the face of the God of Jacob]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Tremble	trembles
earth	The earth
the Lord	the Lord
the God of	the God
Jacob	whom Jacob worshiped

Psalms 114:8

ULT	UST
the one turning the rock into a pool of water, flint into a spring of water!	He is the one who caused pools of water to flow from a rock {for the Israelite people to drink}; indeed, he caused a spring to flow from a solid rock!

ULT the one turning the rock into a pool of water, flint into a spring of water
UST He is the one who caused pools of water to flow from a rock {for the Israelite people to drink}; indeed, he caused a spring to flow from a solid rock
(הַהֹפְכִי הַצּוּר אֲגַם־מָיִם חַלָּמִישׁ לְמַעְיְנוֹ־מָיִם)

These two phrases turning the rock into a pool of water and flint into a spring of water mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [the one turning the rock into a pool of water, even flint into a spring of water]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT the one turning the rock into a pool of water, flint into a spring of water
UST He is the one who caused pools of water to flow from a rock {for the Israelite people to drink}; indeed, he caused a spring to flow from a solid rock
(הַהֹפְכִי הַצּוּר אֲגַם־מָיִם חַלָּמִישׁ לְמַעְיְנוֹ־מָיִם)

Here the psalmist is speaking as though God turned rock into water. He means that God miraculously made water come out from solid rock for the Israelites in the wilderness. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the one making a pool of water come out of the rock, a spring of water come out of flint]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT flint into a spring of water
> UST indeed, he caused a spring to flow from a solid rock
> (חַלְמִישׁ לְמַעְיְנוֹ־מָיִם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [the one turning flint into a spring of water]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
into a spring	indeed, he caused a spring to flow

Psalms 115

Psalms 115 Introduction

Psalm 115 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 115 is a “psalm of praise.”

1. Glory belongs to Yahweh alone (1–3)
2. Futility of idols (4–8)
3. Call for God’s people to trust Yahweh (9–11)
4. Yahweh’s Faithfulness and Blessing (12–15)
5. Life, praise, and hope in the living God (16–18)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Yahweh’s power

Yahweh is in heaven and is able to do whatever he wants. Idols can not do anything. Therefore, people and priests should trust Yahweh for their protection.

Psalms 115:1

ULT	UST
Not to us, Yahweh, not to us, but to your name give honor, upon your covenant faithfulness, upon your trustworthiness.	Yahweh, {we ask} not so people will honor us, no, not that at all; rather, we want people to honor you alone because of seeing how you faithfully love us and by seeing you do what you have promised to do.

ULT Not to us, Yahweh, not to us
UST Yahweh, {we ask} not so people will honor us, no, not that at all (לֹא לָנוּ יְהוָה לֹא לָנוּ)

The psalmist is using the repetition for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Not at all to us, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT but to your name give honor
UST rather, we want people to honor you alone
(כִּי־לְשִׁמְךָ תֵּן כָּבוֹד)

The phrase but to your name give honor is an imperative, but rather than commanding, it is expressing a desire that something happen or that someone do something. If the imperative does not communicate this for your readers, then use a form in your language to indicate the speaker is expressing what he wants someone to do or what he wishes someone would do. Alternate translation: [but people should instead honor your name]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT but to your name give honor
UST rather, we want people to honor you alone
(כִּי־לְשִׁמְךָ תֵּן כָּבוֹד)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of honor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [but let people honor your name]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT but to your name give honor
UST rather, we want people to honor you alone
(כִּי־לְשִׁמְךָ תֵּן כָּבוֹד)

The psalmist is using the term name to represent who God is or to refer to God's reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but let people honor you]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT upon your covenant faithfulness, upon your trustworthiness
UST because of seeing how you faithfully love us and by seeing you do what you have promised to do
(עַל־חַסְדְּךָ עַל־אֲמִתֶּךָ)

The word translated as upon could mean: (1) the psalmist wants Yahweh to be honored for demonstrating his covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness, as in the UST, or (2) Yahweh deserves honor because of his covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness. Alternate translation: [because of your covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness]

ULT upon your covenant faithfulness, upon your trustworthiness
UST because of seeing how you faithfully love us and by seeing you do what you have promised to do
(עַל־חַסְדְּךָ עַל־אֲמִתֶּךָ)

If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [by seeing your covenant faithfulness and by seeing your trustworthiness]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT upon your covenant faithfulness, upon your trustworthiness
UST because of seeing how you faithfully love us and by seeing you do what you have promised to do
(עַל־חַסְדְּךָ עַל־אֲמִתֶּךָ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of covenant faithfulness and trustworthiness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [because they see that you are faithful to your covenant and that you are trustworthy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
honor	to honor
your covenant faithfulness	how you faithfully love us
your trustworthiness	you do what you have promised to do

Psalms 115:2

ULT	UST
Why should the nations say, “Where, then, {is} their God?”	It is not right that other people groups should say {about us}, “We do not see their God doing anything {to help them}.”

ULT Why should the nations say
UST It is not right that other people groups should say {about us
(לָמָּה יֹאמְרוּ הַגּוֹיִם)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [The nations should not say]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT Where, then, {is} their God
UST We do not see their God doing anything {to help them
(אַיֵּה־נָּא אֱלֹהֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Their God is doing nothing.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	other people groups
their God	their God

Psalms 115:3

ULT	UST
And our God {is} in heaven; everything that he desires, he does.	Well, the God whom we worship lives in heaven; he does whatever he wants!

ULT And our God {is} in heaven
UST Well, the God whom we worship lives in heaven
(וֵאלֹהֵ֥ינוּ בַשָּׁמָ֑יִם)

Here the word And is not introducing something additional, but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [To that I say, our God is in heaven]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
And our God is} in heaven	Well, the God whom we worship lives in heaven

Psalms 115:4

ULT	UST
Their idols {are} silver and gold, the work of the hands of man.	But the idols of those people groups are only silver and gold {statues}; humans made them.

ULT Their idols
UST But the idols of those people groups are only & statues
(עֲצַבֵּיהֶם)

The pronoun Their refers to the nations mentioned in verse 2. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The idols of the nations]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT the work of the hands of man
UST humans made them
(מַעֲשֵׂה יְדֵי אָדָם)

Here, hands of man represents the craftsmanship and ability of people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express the idea with an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [the work of men] or [made by men]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Their idols	But the idols of those people groups are only & statues are} silver	silver
and gold	and gold

Psalms 115:5

ULT	UST
A mouth {is} to them, but they do not speak; eyes {are} to them, but they do not see;	Their idols have mouths, but they cannot say anything; they have eyes, but they cannot see anything.

ULT A mouth {is} to them
UST Their idols have mouths
(פֶּה־לָהֶם)

The pronoun them refers to the idols mentioned in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [A mouth is to those idols]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT A mouth {is} to them
UST Their idols have mouths
(פֶּה־לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using A mouth is to them as a common expression of the culture to mean “They have mouths.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They have mouths]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT eyes {are} to them
UST they have eyes
(עֵינַיִם לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using eyes are to them as a common expression of the culture to mean “they have eyes.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those idols have eyes]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 115:6

ULT	UST
ears {are} to them, but they do not hear; a nose {is} to them, but they do not smell.	They have ears, but they cannot hear anything; they have noses, but they cannot smell anything.

> ULT ears {are} to them
> UST They have ears
> (אָזְנַיִם לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using ears are to them as a common expression of the culture to mean “they have ears.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those idols have ears]

Support Reference: Idiom

> ULT a nose {is} to them
> UST they have noses
> (אַף לָהֶם)

The psalmist is using a nose is to them as a common expression of the culture to mean “they have a nose.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they have a nose]

Support Reference: Idiom

Psalms 115:7

ULT	UST
Their hands, but they do not feel; their feet, but they cannot walk; they do not murmur in their throats.	They have hands, but they cannot feel anything; they have feet, but they cannot walk; they cannot even make any sounds in their throats!

ULT Their hands
UST They have hands
(יְדֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [The idols have their hands]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT their feet
UST they have feet
(רַגְלֵיהֶם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [they have their feet]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

Psalms 115:8

ULT	UST
Their makers are like them—everyone who is trusting in them.	The people who make those idols are {as powerless} as those idols, Everyone who trusts in those idols {to do anything} is also {powerless}!

ULT Their makers
UST The people who make those idols
(עֹשֵׂיהֶם)

The pronoun Their refers to the idols mentioned in verse 4. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [The makers of those idols]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT are like them
UST are {as powerless} as those idols
(כָּמוֹהֶם יִהְיוּ)

By are like them, the psalmist means that the people who make idols become as powerless and lifeless as the idols they create. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [are like them, lacking life and power]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT everyone who is trusting in them
UST Everyone who trusts in those idols {to do anything} is also {powerless
(כֹּל אֲשֶׁר־בֹּטֵחַ בָּהֶם)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [everyone who trusts in them is like them]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Their makers	The people who make those idols
is trusting	trusts & to do anything

Psalms 115:9

ULT	UST
Israel, trust in Yahweh; he {is} their help and their shield.	You, my fellow Israelite people, trust in Yahweh! He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

ULT Israel
UST You, my fellow Israelite people
(יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Israel represents the Israelite people. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Israelite people]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT their help and their shield
UST the one who helps you and protects you like a shield
(עֶזְרָם וּמָגִנָּם)

The psalmist switches here from the second person exhortation trust in Yahweh to the third person their help and their shield. It is probable that when this psalm was sung, a leader would sing the second person exhortation parts and a chorus would sing the third-person parts of verses 9–11. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate the third person parts as second person. Alternate translation: [your help and your shield]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT their help
UST the one who helps you
(עֶזְרָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one who helps them] or [the one who helps you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and their shield
UST and protects you like a shield
(וּמָגִנָּם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a shield that protects people in battle. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and the one who protects them] or [and the one who protects you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Israel	You, my fellow Israelite people
trust	trust
in Yahweh	in Yahweh
and their shield	and protects you like a shield

Psalms 115:10

ULT	UST
House of Aaron, trust in Yahweh; he {is} their help and their shield.	You {priests, the} descendants of Aaron, trust in Yahweh! He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

ULT House of Aaron
UST You {priests, the} descendants of Aaron
(בֵּ֣ית אַהֲרֹ֗ן)

Here, House means all the people descended from a particular person. This image envisions them as if they were one household living together. So House of Aaron figuratively means all the people descended from Aaron, the first high priest. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Descendants of Aaron]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT their help and their shield
UST the one who helps you and protects you like a shield
(עֶזְרָ֖ם וּמָגִנָּ֣ם)

The psalmist switches here from the second person exhortation trust in Yahweh to the third person their help and their shield. It is probable that when this psalm was sung, a leader would sing the second person exhortation parts and a chorus would sing the third-person parts of verses 9–11. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate the third person parts as second person. Alternate translation: [your help and your shield]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT their help
UST the one who helps you
(עֶזְרָ֖ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one who helps them] or [the one who helps you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

> ULT and their shield
> UST and protects you like a shield
> (וּמָגִנָּם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a shield that protects people from attack. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [and the one who protects them] or [and the one who protects you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
House	You {priests, the} descendants of
of Aaron	Aaron
trust	trust
in Yahweh	in Yahweh
and their shield	and protects you like a shield

Psalms 115:11

ULT	UST
Fearers of Yahweh, trust in Yahweh; he {is} their help and their shield.	All you who deeply respect Yahweh, trust in Yahweh! He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

ULT their help and their shield
UST the one who helps you and protects you like a shield
(עֶזְרָם וּמָגִנָּם)

The psalmist switches here from the second person exhortation trust in Yahweh to the third person their help and their shield. It is probable that when this psalm was sung, a leader would sing the second person exhortation parts and a chorus would sing the third-person parts of verses 9–11. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate the third person parts as second person. Alternate translation: [your help and your shield]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT their help
UST the one who helps you
(עֶזְרָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of help, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the one who helps them] or [the one who helps you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and their shield
UST and protects you like a shield
(וּמָגִנָּם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a shield that protects people in battle. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [and the one who protects them] or [and the one who protects you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Fearers of	All you who deeply respect
Yahweh	Yahweh
trust	trust
in Yahweh	in Yahweh
and their shield	and protects you like a shield

Psalms 115:12

ULT	UST
Yahweh remembers us; he will bless; he will bless the house of Israel; he will bless the house of Aaron.	Yahweh has not forgotten us; he will bless {us}. he will bless us Israelite people! He will bless the priests!

ULT Yahweh remembers us
UST Yahweh has not forgotten us
(יְהוָ֗ה זְכָרָ֥נוּ)

The psalmist is using Yahweh remembers us as a common expression of the culture to mean “Yahweh thinks about us” or “Yahweh is mindful of us.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh thinks about us]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT he will bless
UST he will bless {us
(יְבָ֫רֵ֥ךְ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language as is modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT the house of Israel
UST us Israelite people
(אֶת־בֵּ֣ית יִשְׂרָאֵ֑ל)

Here, house means all the people descended from a particular person. It envisions them as if they were one household living together. So the house of Israel figuratively means all the people descended from the patriarch Jacob, who was also known as Israel. Alternate translation: [the descendants of Israel]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the house of Aaron
> UST the priests
> (אֶת־בֵּ֖ית אַהֲרֹֽן)

Here, house means all the people descended from a particular person. It envisions them as if they were one household living together. So the house of Aaron figuratively means all the people descended from Aaron, the first high priest. Alternate translation: [the descendants of Aaron]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
he will bless	he will bless {us
the house of Israel	us Israelite people
the house of	us Israelite people
Aaron	the priests

Psalms 115:13

ULT	UST
He will bless those fearing Yahweh, the small with the great.	Yahweh will bless all those who deeply respect him— those who are less important as well as the important people, that is, each one!

ULT those fearing
UST all those who deeply respect
(יִרְאֵי)

The psalmist is using the adjective fearing as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [the people who fear]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the small with the great
UST those who are less important as well as the important people, that is, each one
(הַקְּטַנִּים עִם־הַגְּדֹלִים)

The psalmist is using the adjectives small and great as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [the small people as well as with the great people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the small with the great
UST those who are less important as well as the important people, that is, each one
(הַקְּטַנִּים עִם־הַגְּדֹלִים)

The psalmist is speaking of insignificant people and prominent people as if they were physically small and great. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the insignificant people along with the prominent people]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT the small with the great
> UST those who are less important as well as the important people, that is, each one
> (הַקְּטַנִּים עִם־הַגְּדֹלִים)

The psalmist is referring to all people by naming two extremes, the small and the great. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [from the insignificant ones to the important ones]

Support Reference: Merism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
He will bless	Yahweh will bless
those fearing	all those who deeply respect
Yahweh	him

Psalms 115:14

ULT	UST
May Yahweh add to you, to you and to your sons.	I pray that Yahweh may give {many children} {both} to you, {my fellow Israelite people,} and to your children {after you}.

ULT May Yahweh add to you
UST I pray that Yahweh may give {many children} {both} to you, {my fellow Israelite people
(יֹסֵף יְהוָה עֲלֵיכֶם)

The psalmist assumes that readers will know what Yahweh should add to you. The context of blessing families suggests that this refers to adding children or descendants. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [May Yahweh add children to your families]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT May Yahweh add to you
UST I pray that Yahweh may give {many children} {both} to you, {my fellow Israelite people
(יֹסֵף יְהוָה עֲלֵיכֶם)

The word you is plural here because the psalmist is addressing the Israelites, so use the plural form in your translation if your language marks that distinction. Alternate translation: [May Yahweh add to all of you]

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

ULT to you, to you
UST both} to you, {my fellow Israelite people
(עֲלֵיכֶם עֲלֵיכֶם)

The psalmist repeats to you for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis in another way. Alternate translation: [to you, yes, to you]

Support Reference: Doublet

> ULT and to your sons
> UST and to your children {after you > (וְעַל־בְּנֵיכֶם)

The psalmist is speaking as if future generations were actually sons. He means descendants in general. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and to your descendants]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
May & add	I pray that & may give {many children

Psalms 115:15

ULT	UST
May you be blessed by Yahweh, the maker of heaven and earth.	I pray that Yahweh, the one who made heaven and the earth, may bless all of you!

> ULT May you be blessed by Yahweh
> UST I pray that Yahweh & may bless all of you
> (בְּרוּכִ֥ים אַתֶּ֗ם לַיהוָ֫ה)

The expression May you be blessed by Yahweh contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [May Yahweh bless you]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

> ULT May you be blessed by Yahweh
> UST I pray that Yahweh & may bless all of you
> (בְּרוּכִ֥ים אַתֶּ֗ם לַיהוָ֫ה)

The word you is plural here because the psalmist is addressing all the people of Israel, so use the plural form in your translation if your language marks that distinction. Alternate translation: [May all of you be blessed by Yahweh]

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
May & be blessed	I pray that & may bless
by Yahweh	Yahweh
the maker of	the one who made heaven	heaven
and earth	and the earth

Psalms 115:16

ULT	UST
The heavens of heavens {are} to Yahweh; but the earth he has given to the sons of man.	The highest heavens belong to Yahweh, but he gave everything that is on the earth to humankind.

ULT The heavens of heavens
UST The highest heavens
(הַשְּׁ מַיִם שָׁמָיִם)

The psalmist is using The heavens of heavens as a common expression of the culture to mean “the highest heavens” or “the most exalted heavens.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The most heavenly heavens]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT are} to Yahweh
UST belong to Yahweh
(לַיהוָה)

The psalmist is using are to Yahweh as a common expression of the culture to mean “belong to Yahweh.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [are Yahweh’s]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT to the sons of man
UST to humankind
(לִבְנֵי־אָדָם)

The psalmist is using sons of man as a common expression of his culture to mean “human beings.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to human beings]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The heavens of	The highest heavens	heavens
are} to Yahweh	belong to Yahweh
but the earth	but & everything that is on the earth

Psalms 115:17

ULT	UST
The dead do not praise Yah, and not any descending {to} silence;	People who are dead are not able to praise Yahweh; when they go to the place where dead people are, they become silent and cannot praise him.

ULT The dead
UST People who are dead
(הַמֵּתִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective dead as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Dead people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

The word Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh” as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT descending {to} silence
UST when they go to the place where dead people are, they become silent
(יֹרְדֵי דוּמָה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of death as if it were descending to silence. This image portrays death as going down to a place where there is no speech or praise. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [going to the grave, where they are silent]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and not any descending {to} silence
UST when they go to the place where dead people are, they become silent and cannot praise him
(וְלֹא כָּל־יֹרְדֵי דוּמָה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and not any people descending to silence praise Yah]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
do & praise	are & able to praise
Yah	Yahweh
descending	when they go to the place where dead people are

Psalms 115:18

ULT	UST
But we, we will bless Yah from now and to forever! Hallelu Yah!	But we who are alive will praise Yahweh, both now and forevermore. Praise Yahweh!

ULT But we, we will bless
UST But we who are alive will praise
(וַאֲנַחְנוּ | נְבָרֵךְ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun we separately, even though the verb translated as we will bless already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize the contrast between the living and the dead. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [But as for us, we will bless]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT we will bless Yah
UST will praise Yahweh
(נְבָרֵךְ יָהּ)

The word Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh.” Alternate translation: [we will bless Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
we will bless	will praise
Yah	Yahweh
forever	forevermore

Psalms 116

Psalms 116 Introduction

Psalm 116 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 116 is a “psalm of praise” for saving the psalmist’s life. (See: save, saved, safe, salvation, rescue)

1. Declaration of love and prayer (1–2)
2. Recounting deliverance and finding rest (3–9)
3. Vows, sacrifice, and public praise (10–19)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Healing

The psalmist was very sick and expected to die but God healed him. So he will pay his vow and sacrifice an offering of thanks. (See: promise, promised)

Psalms 116:1

ULT	UST
I love {him} because Yahweh hears my voice, my pleas,	I love Yahweh because he hears me when I cry out for him to help me.

ULT Yahweh hears my voice
UST Yahweh & he hears me when I cry out for him
(יִשְׁמַע | יְהוָה אֶת־קוֹלִי)

Here, my voice represents the psalmist's prayers and requests. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh hears me]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT my pleas
UST to help me
(תַּחֲנוּנָי)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [because Yahweh hears my pleas]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I love {him	I love
Yahweh	Yahweh
my pleas	to help me

Psalms 116:2

ULT	UST
because he extends his ear to me; and throughout my days I will call out.	I love him because he listens to me, so I will call out to him all during my life.

ULT he extends his ear to me
UST he listens to me
(הִטָּה אָזְנוֹ לִי)

The psalmist is using he extends his ear to me as a common expression of the culture to mean “he listens to me” or “he pays attention to what I say.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [he pays attention to what I say]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and throughout my days
UST all during my life
(וּבְיָמַי)

The psalmist is using the term days to refer to his lifetime. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and throughout my lifetime]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT I will call out
UST so I will call out to him
(אֶקְרָא)

The psalmist assumes that readers will understand that I will call out means he will call out to Yahweh. You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [I will call out to Yahweh]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will call out	so I will call out to him

Psalms 116:3

ULT	UST
The cords of death surrounded me, and the constrictions of Sheol found me; I found anguish and sorrow.	Everything around me caused me to think that I was about to die; it seemed to me that I was already dying. I was distressed and very sad.

ULT The cords of death surrounded me, and the constrictions of Sheol found me
UST Everything around me caused me to think that I was about to die; it seemed to me that I was already dying
(אֲפָפ֥וּנִי | חֶבְלֵי־מָ֗וֶת וּמְצָרֵ֥י שְׁא֗וֹל מְצָא֥וּנִי)

These two phrases The cords of death surrounded me and the constrictions of Sheol found me mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [The cords of death surrounded me, indeed, the constrictions of Sheol found me]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT The cords of death surrounded me
UST Everything around me caused me to think that I was about to die
(אֲפָפ֥וּנִי | חֶבְלֵי־מָ֗וֶת)

Here the psalmist is picturing death as if it were cords that could wrap around and bind someone. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [It seemed that I would die soon]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and the constrictions of Sheol found me
UST it seemed to me that I was already dying
(וּמְצָרֵ֥י שְׁא֗וֹל מְצָא֥וּנִי)

Here David is speaking of the constrictions of Sheol as if they were ropes or chains that could physically grip and restrain him. He means that he felt as though he was very close to dying. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I felt as though I were dying]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT I found anguish and sorrow
> UST I was distressed and very sad
> (צָרָה וְיָגוֹן אֶמְצָא)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of anguish and sorrow, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [I was anguished and sorrowful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of Sheol	I was already dying
anguish	distressed
and sorrow	and very sad

Psalms 116:4

ULT	UST
Then I called on the name of Yahweh: “Please Yahweh, rescue my life.”	But then I called out to Yahweh. I said, “Yahweh, I plead with you to save me!”

ULT Then I called on the name of Yahweh
UST But then I called out to Yahweh
(וּבְשֵׁם־יְהוָה אֶקְרָא)

The psalmist is using the term name to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Then I called on Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT rescue my life
UST to save me
(מַלְּטָה נַפְשִׁי)

This is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. Alternate translation: [I beg you to rescue my life]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT rescue my life
UST to save me
(מַלְּטָה נַפְשִׁי)

Here, life represents the person himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [rescue me] or [keep me from dying]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I called	I called out to
Yahweh	But then & Yahweh
Please	I said & I plead with you rescue	to save

Psalms 116:5

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} merciful and righteous, and our God {is} compassionate.	Yahweh is kind and does what is right. He is the God whom we worship, and he loves us.

ULT and our God {is} compassionate
UST He is the God whom we worship, and he loves us
(וֵאלֹהֵ֥ינוּ מְרַחֵֽם)

Here and introduces not an addition but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, our God, is also compassionate]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} merciful	is kind
and righteous	and does what is right
and our God	He is the God whom we worship is} compassionate	and he loves us

Psalms 116:6

ULT	UST
Yahweh guards the naive; I was low, and he saved me.	Yahweh protects those who are helpless; when I was experiencing bad things, he saved me.

ULT the naive
UST those who are helpless
(פְּתָאיִם)

The psalmist is using the adjective naive as a noun to refer to people who are inexperienced or who cannot care for themselves. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who cannot care for themselves]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT I was low
UST when I was experiencing bad things & me
(דַּלּוֹתִי וְלִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his difficult circumstances as if he were physically low. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I was in a bad way] or [I was in trouble]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
guards	protects
and he saved me	he saved

Psalms 116:7

ULT	UST
Return to your rest, my soul, for Yahweh has repaid you.	I encourage myself to relax once again because Yahweh has restored me.

ULT Return to your rest, my soul, for Yahweh has repaid you
UST I encourage myself to relax once again because Yahweh has restored me (שׁוּבִי נַפְשִׁי לְמְנוּחָיְכִי כִּי־יְהוָה גָּמַל עָלָיְכִי)

The psalmist is speaking to himself in the second person as your and you. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT Return to your rest, my soul
UST I encourage myself to relax once again
(שׁוּבִי נַפְשִׁי לְמְנוּחָיְכִי)

The psalmist is using the term soul to mean the entire person from the perspective of his spiritual/emotional existence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [I must return myself to calmness]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Return to your rest
UST to relax once again
(שׁוּבִי & לְמְנוּחָיְכִי)

By rest, the psalmist means “a state of restfulness.” You could say that explicitly if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Return to your state of restfulness]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT for Yahweh has repaid you
UST because Yahweh has restored me
(כִּי־יְהוָה גָּמַל עָלָיְכִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh’s good deeds as if they were repaid like a debt or wages. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for Yahweh has done good things for you] or [for Yahweh has done good things for me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Return	once again
my soul	I encourage myself
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 116:8

ULT	UST
For you rescued my soul from death, my eye from weeping, my foot from stumbling.	Indeed, Yahweh has saved me from dying, he has delivered me from being sorrowful, and he has kept me from making bad mistakes.

ULT For
UST Indeed
(כִּ֤י)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [After all,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT For you rescued my soul from death
UST Indeed, Yahweh has saved me from dying
(כִּֽי חִלַּצְתָּ נַפְשִׁ֥י מִמָּ֑וֶת)

Here, my soul represents the psalmist himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [For you rescued me from death]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT For you rescued my soul from death
UST Indeed, Yahweh has saved me from dying
(כִּֽי חִלַּצְתָּ נַפְשִׁ֥י מִמָּ֑וֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of death, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [For you rescued my soul from dying]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my eye from weeping
UST he has delivered me from being sorrowful
(אֶת־עֵינִ֥י מִן־דִּמְעָ֑ה)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, his eye, to mean all of him in the act of weeping. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [me from weeping]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

> ULT my foot from stumbling
> UST and he has kept me from making bad mistakes
> (אֶת־רַגְלִ֥י מִדֶּֽחִי׃)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, his foot, to mean all of him in the act of stumbling or falling. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [me from stumbling]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
you rescued	Yahweh has saved
my soul	me
weeping	being sorrowful
from stumbling	from making bad mistakes

Psalms 116:9

ULT	UST
I will walk to the face of Yahweh in the lands of the living.	So while I am still alive, I will live as Yahweh directs me.

ULT I will walk to the face of Yahweh
UST I will live as Yahweh directs me
(אֶֽתְהַלֵּךְ֙ לִפְנֵ֣י יְהוָ֔ה)

Here the psalmist is speaking as if he were literally walking to the face of Yahweh. He means that he will live in a way that acknowledges Yahweh in all that he does. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will acknowledge Yahweh in all that I do]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT to the face of Yahweh
UST as Yahweh directs me
(לִפְנֵ֣י יְהוָ֔ה)

The psalmist is using to the face of as a common expression of the culture to mean “in the presence of” or “before.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [before Yahweh]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT in the lands of the living
UST So while I am still alive
(בְּאַרְצ֥וֹת הַחַיִּֽים)

The psalmist is using in the lands of the living as a common expression of the culture to mean “as long as I am alive” or “during my lifetime.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [as long as I live]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	as Yahweh directs me
in the lands of	So while I am

Psalms 116:10

ULT	UST
I trusted, though I spoke, “I, I am very wretched.”	I continued to trust {in Yahweh}, even when I said, “As for me, I am greatly suffering.”

ULT I trusted
UST I continued to trust {in Yahweh
(הֶֽאֱמַנְתִּי)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [I trusted Yahweh]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT though I spoke
UST even when I said
(כִּי אֲדַבֵּר)

The implication is that the psalmist was speaking to himself or to God about his distress. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [though I said to myself]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT I, I am very wretched
UST As for me, I am greatly suffering
(אֲנִי עָנִיתִי מְאֹד)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I twice, even though it is not necessary for understanding. He is doing that to emphasize his personal distress and suffering. If a speaker of your language would use repeated pronouns for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing that meaning here. Alternate translation: [woe is me; I am very wretched]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I trusted	I continued to trust {in Yahweh

Psalms 116:11

ULT	UST
I, I said in my panic, “All mankind lies.”	For my part, I was so distressed that I thought, “I cannot trust anyone.”

ULT I, I said
UST For my part & that I thought
(אֲנִי אָמַרְתִּי)

The pronoun I is stated twice for emphasis. The psalmist is emphasizing that he himself was the one who made this statement. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the emphasis here. Alternate translation: [As for me, I said]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT I, I said
UST For my part & that I thought
(אֲנִי אָמַרְתִּי)

By I, I said, the psalmist means that he said this to himself or thought this to himself. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [I, I said to myself]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT in my panic
UST I was so distressed
(בְּחָפְזִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of panic, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because I was panicking]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in my panic	I was so distressed lies	I cannot trust

Psalms 116:12

ULT	UST
How can I return to Yahweh all of his bestowments to me?	I can never repay Yahweh for all the good things that he has done for me.

ULT How can I return to Yahweh all of his bestowments to me
UST I can never repay Yahweh for all the good things that he has done for me
(מָה־אָשִׁיב לַיהוָה כָּל־תַּגְמוּלוֹהִי עָלָי)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [It is not possible for me to return to Yahweh all of his bestowments to me.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT How can I return to Yahweh
UST I can never repay Yahweh
(מָה־אָשִׁיב לַיהוָה)

The implication is that the psalmist cannot fully repay Yahweh for all his goodness. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [How can I pay back to Yahweh]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT all of his bestowments to me
UST for all the good things that he has done for me
(כָּל־תַּגְמוּלוֹהִי עָלָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of bestowments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [everything that he has done to be kind to me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
can I return	I can never repay
to Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 116:13

ULT	UST
I will raise the cup of salvation, and call on the name of Yahweh.	{But I can do this:} I will present a cup {of wine as a thank offering} as I call out to thank him for saving me.

ULT I will raise the cup of salvation
UST But I can do this:} I will present a cup {of wine as a thank offering & to thank & for saving me
(כּוֹס־יְשׁוּעוֹת אֶשָּׂא)

This is probably a reference to a drink offering, which was a sacrifice that involved pouring wine on the altar, and which the psalmist will offer as a grateful response to Yahweh for saving him. The full meaning of this statement can be made explicit. Alternate translation: [I will present a drink offering to Yahweh because he saved me]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT and call on the name of Yahweh
UST as I call out & him
(וּבְשֵׁם יְהוָה אֶקְרָא)

The psalmist is using the term name to refer to Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [and call on Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of salvation	to thank & for saving me
and call on	as I call out of Yahweh	him

Psalms 116:14

ULT	UST
I will fulfill my vows to Yahweh right in front of all of his people.	Also, as the people who belong to Yahweh watch, I will give to him the offerings that I solemnly promised to give to him.

ULT his people
UST the people who belong to Yahweh
(עַמּוֹ)

The implication is that these are people who have gathered to worship Yahweh. You could include this information if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the people who have gathered to worship him]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will fulfill	I will give my vows	the offerings that I solemnly promised to give to him to Yahweh	to him

Psalms 116:15

ULT	UST
Precious in the eyes of Yahweh {is} the death of his faithful.	Yahweh is very grieved when one of his people dies.

ULT Precious in the eyes of Yahweh {is} the death of his faithful
UST Yahweh is very grieved when one of his people dies
(יָקָר בְּעֵינֵי יְהוָה הַמָּוְתָה לַחֲסִידָיו)

The word Precious here does not imply that Yahweh desires the death of his faithful ones, but that the death of his saints is costly to him and grieves him. See how you translated a similar expression in Psalm 72:14. Alternate translation: [Yahweh considers the death of his faithful ones to be a costly thing]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT Precious in the eyes of Yahweh {is} the death of his faithful
UST Yahweh is very grieved when one of his people dies
(יָקָר בְּעֵינֵי יְהוָה הַמָּוְתָה לַחֲסִידָיו)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of death, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [When one of his faithful people dies, that grieves Yahweh very much]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the eyes of Yahweh
UST Yahweh is very grieved
(בְּעֵינֵי יְהוָה)

The psalmist is using in the eyes of as a common expression of the culture to mean “in the judgment of” or “in the opinion of.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in Yahweh’s judgment]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT is} the death of his faithful
UST when one of his people dies
(הַמָּוְתָה לַחֲסִידָיו)

The psalmist is using the adjective faithful as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [is the death of any of his faithful people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
of his faithful	when one of his people

Psalms 116:16

ULT	UST
Indeed, Yahweh, for I {am} your servant; I {am} your servant, the son of your servant woman; you have undone my bonds.	Certainly I am one of Yahweh's people; I am his servant; I have belonged to him since my mother bore me. So he saved me from what was going to kill me.

ULT Indeed, Yahweh, for I {am} your servant; I {am} your servant, the son of your servant woman; you have undone my bonds
UST Certainly I am one of Yahweh's people; I am his servant; I have belonged to him since my mother bore me. So he saved me from what was going to kill me
(אָנָּה יְהוָה כִּי־אֲנִי עַבְדֶּךָ אֲנִי־עַבְדְּךָ בֶּן־אֲמָתֶךָ פִּתַּחְתָּ לְמוֹסֵרָי)

The psalmist here switches to second person by saying your servant. If it would be helpful in your language, you could continue using third person as in the previous verse. Alternate translation: [Indeed, for I am Yahweh's servant; I am his servant, the son of his servant woman; he has undone my bonds]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT for I {am} your servant
UST I am one of Yahweh's people
(כִּי־אֲנִי עַבְדֶּךָ)

Here the word for introduces not a reason but an explanation. If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [definitely I am your servant]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT I {am} your servant, the son of your servant woman
UST I am his servant; I have belonged to him since my mother bore me
(אֲנִי־עַבְדְּךָ בֶּן־אֲמָתֶךָ)

The phrase the son of your servant woman adds to the meaning of I am your servant. In the culture of the time, the son of a servant woman was a permanent servant, without the right to go free after six years. See Exodus 21:2–4. You could include this information if it would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [I am your permanent servant, the son of your servant woman]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

> ULT you have undone my bonds
> UST So he saved me from what was going to kill me
> (פִּתַּחְתָּ לְמוֹסֵרָי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his troubles as if they were bonds that tied him up and prevented him from moving freely. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [you have freed me from my troubles]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: יְהוָה
your servant	one of Yahweh's people
your servant woman	I have belonged to him since my mother bore me
my bonds	from what was going to kill me

Psalms 116:17

ULT	UST
I will sacrifice to you the sacrifice of thanksgiving and I will call on the name of Yahweh.	So I will offer to him a sacrifice to thank him, and I will pray to Yahweh.

ULT I will sacrifice to you the sacrifice of thanksgiving
UST So I will offer to him a sacrifice to thank him
(לְךָ־אֶזְבַּח זֶבַח תּוֹדָה)

The psalmist is using a construction in which a verb and its object come from the same root. You may be able to use the same construction in your language to express the meaning here. Alternatively, your language may have another way of saying this. Alternate translation: [I will make a sacrifice to you to thank you]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT I will sacrifice to you the sacrifice of thanksgiving
UST So I will offer to him a sacrifice to thank him
(לְךָ־אֶזְבַּח זֶבַח תּוֹדָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of thanksgiving, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I will make a sacrifice to you to thank you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and I will call on the name of Yahweh
UST and I will pray to Yahweh
(וּבְשֵׁם יְהוָה אֶקְרָא)

Here, name represents the person of Yahweh himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I will call out to Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will sacrifice	So I will offer
the sacrifice of	a sacrifice
I will call	I will pray
Yahweh	and & to Yahweh

Psalms 116:18

ULT	UST
I will fulfill my vows to Yahweh right in front of all of his people,

ULT I will fulfill my vows to Yahweh right in front of all of his people
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: נְדָרַי לַיהוָה אֲשַׁלֵּם נֶגְדָה־נָּא לְכָל־עַמּוֹ
(נְדָרַי לַיהוָה אֲשַׁלֵּם נֶגְדָה־נָּא לְכָל־עַמּוֹ)

See how you translated this in verse 14.

ULT right in front of all of his people
UST QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: נֶגְדָה־נָּא לְכָל־עַמּוֹ
(נֶגְדָה־נָּא לְכָל־עַמּוֹ)

The psalmist says right in front of all of his people as an extreme statement for emphasis. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a different way to express the emphasis. Alternate translation: [right in front of a gathering of his people]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will fulfill	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: אֲשַׁלֵּם
my vows	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: נְדָרַי
to Yahweh	QUOTE_NOT_FOUND: לַיהוָה

Psalms 116:19

ULT	UST
in the courts of the house of Yahweh, in your midst, Jerusalem. Hallelu Yah!

ULT the house of Yahweh
UST his temple
(בֵּית יְהוָֹה)

The psalmist is speaking of the temple of Yahweh as if it were a house in which he lived. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the temple of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in your midst, Jerusalem
UST in the middle of Jerusalem
(בְּתֹוכֵכִי יְרוּשָׁלִָם)

The psalmist is speaking to Jerusalem that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about his commitment to worship and praise God in the holy city. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about Jerusalem. Alternate translation: [in the midst of Jerusalem]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

> ULT Yah
> UST Yahweh
> (יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the courts of	in the courtyard outside the house of Yahweh	his temple
Jerusalem	Jerusalem
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 117

Psalms 117 Introduction

Psalm 117 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 117 is a “psalm of praise.”

1. Call to praise
2. Reasons to praise

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Praise

Everyone should praise God for his love and unending faithfulness. (See: love, beloved and faithful, faithfulness, trustworthy)

Psalms 117:1

ULT	UST
Praise Yahweh, all nations; extol him, all peoples!	You people of all nations, praise Yahweh! All you people groups, greatly praise him!

ULT Praise Yahweh, all nations; extol him, all peoples
UST You people of all nations, praise Yahweh! All you people groups, greatly praise him
(הַלְלוּ אֶת־יְהוָה כָּל־גּוֹיִם שַׁבְּחוּהוּ כָּל־הָאֻמִּים)

These two phrases Praise Yahweh, all nations and extol him, all peoples mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. Hebrew poetry was based on this kind of repetition, and you may want to show this to your readers by including both phrases in your translation. If it is helpful, you could connect the phrases in a way that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Praise Yahweh, all nations; yes, extol him, all peoples]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT all nations
UST You people of all nations
(כָּל־גּוֹיִם)

Here, all nations represents the people in all nations. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [you people in all nations]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Praise	praise
Yahweh	Yahweh
nations	You people of & nations

Psalms 117:2

ULT	UST
For his covenant faithfulness is strong toward us, and the trustworthiness of Yahweh {is} to forever. Hallelu Yah!	Do this, because he is fully committed to love us faithfully, just as he promised to do, and we can trust that Yahweh will be faithful forever. Praise Yahweh!

ULT For his covenant faithfulness is strong toward us
UST Do this, because he is fully committed to love us faithfully, just as he promised to do
(כִּי גָבַר עָלֵינוּ | חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [For he will never stop being faithful to his covenant to love us]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and the trustworthiness of Yahweh {is} to forever
UST and we can trust that Yahweh will be faithful forever (וֶאֱמֶת־יְהוָה לְעוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of trustworthiness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and Yahweh will be trustworthy to do this forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Hallelu Yah
UST Praise Yahweh
(הַלְלוּ־יָהּ)

The words Hallelu Yah are Hebrew words, containing a plural command to praise Yahweh. You will need to decide if you will use these words in their Hebrew form or if you will instead translate the meaning into your language. Either approach has broad support. If you use the Hebrew words, you could spell them the way that they sound in your language and then put the translation in a footnote. Alternate translation: [Halleluia] or [Praise Yah]

Support Reference: Copy or Borrow Words

> ULT Yah
> UST Yahweh
> (יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
his covenant faithfulness	to love & faithfully, just as he promised to do is strong	he is fully committed and the trustworthiness of	and we can trust that & will be faithful
Yahweh	Yahweh
is} to forever	forever
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 118

Psalms 118 Introduction

Psalm 118 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 118 is a “psalm of thanksgiving” written on the occasion of a military victory. At the same time, it is a messianic psalm that looks forward to the triumph of Jesus Christ. Jesus applied Psalm 118:22 to himself (Matthew 21:42, Mark 12:10, Luke 20:17), and the apostle Peter applied it to Jesus both in a speech recorded in Acts (Acts 4:11), and in his first letter (1 Peter 2:7). See the discussion of the types of psalms in the introduction to the book of Psalms.

1. Call to Thanksgiving (1–4)
2. Testimony of deliverance (5–18)
3. Messianic celebration (9–29)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

Rejected stone

The psalmist praised Yahweh for rescuing him. God enabled him to overpower his enemies. The new Testament, and even Jesus himself, saw the rejected stone as a reference to the Messiah’s rejection by the Jewish leaders. (See: Christ, Messiah)

Psalms 118:1

ULT	UST
Give thanks to Yahweh, for {he is} good, for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever!	Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever!

ULT Give thanks to Yahweh, for {he is} good, for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever
(הוֹדוּ לַיהוָה כִּי־טוֹב כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

See how you translated this in Psalm 106:1.

ULT for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST and because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [thank Yahweh for his covenant faithfulness is to forever]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT his covenant faithfulness
UST he faithfully loves us
(חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he remains faithful to his covenant]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT is} to forever
UST forever
(לְעוֹלָם)

The psalmist is using to forever as a common expression of his culture to mean “eternally” or “without end.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [lasts throughout eternity]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	Yahweh
he is} good	he is good
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 118:2

ULT	UST
Let Israel indeed say, “For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever.”	All Israelite people should repeatedly shout, “because he faithfully loves us forever!”

ULT Let Israel indeed say
UST All Israelite people should repeatedly shout
(יֹאמַר־נָא יִשְׂרָאֵל)

Here, Israel represents the people of Israel. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Let the people of Israel indeed say]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Let Israel indeed say
UST All Israelite people should repeatedly shout
(יֹאמַר־נָא יִשְׂרָאֵל)

The psalmist is saying what he wants Israel to do. See the discussion in the introduction to Psalms about “let” and “may” and follow the decision of your team of how a speaker will express in this context what he wants someone to do. Alternate translation: [May Israel indeed say]

Support Reference: Third-Person Imperatives

ULT For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

See how you translated this in the previous verse.

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [We praise Yahweh for his covenant faithfulness is to forever]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Israel	All Israelite people
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 118:3

ULT	UST
Let the house of Aaron indeed say, “For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever.”	You {priests} who are descendants of Aaron should repeatedly shout, “because he faithfully loves us forever!”

ULT Let the house of Aaron indeed say
UST You {priests} who are descendants of Aaron should repeatedly shout
(יֹאמְרוּ־נָ֣א בֵֽית־אַהֲרֹ֑ן)

Here, house means all the people descended from a particular person. It envisions them as if they were one household living together. So the house of Aaron figuratively means all the people descended from Aaron, who was the first high priest. Alternate translation: [Let the descendants of Aaron indeed say]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּ֖י לְעוֹלָ֣ם חַסְדּֽוֹ)

See how you translated this in the previous verse.

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the house of	You {priests} who are descendants of
Aaron	Aaron
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 118:4

ULT	UST
Let the fearers of Yahweh indeed say, “For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever.”	All you who deeply revere Yahweh should repeatedly shout, “because he faithfully loves us forever!”

ULT For his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

See how you translated this in the previous verse.

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 118:5

ULT	UST
From the constriction I called out to Yah; Yah answered me with wideness.	When I was distressed, I called out to Yahweh, and Yahweh answered me and set me free.

ULT From the constriction
UST When I was distressed
(מִן־הַמֵּצַר)

The psalmist is using From the constriction as a common expression of the culture to mean “from a distressing situation” or “from a time of trouble.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [From between a rock and a hard place] or [From a distressing situation]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT I called out to Yah; Yah answered me
UST I called out to Yahweh, and Yahweh answered me
(קָרָאתִי יָהּ עָנָנִי יְהוָה)

The word Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh.” Alternate translation: [I called out to Yahweh and he answered me]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT Yah answered me with wideness
UST and Yahweh answered me and set me free
(עָנָנִי בַמֶּרְחָב יְהוָה)

The psalmist is using with wideness as a common expression of the culture to mean “by setting me free” or “by relieving my distressing situation.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yah set me in a wide place] or [Yah answered me by relieving my distressing situation]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I called out to	I called out
Yah	to Yahweh

Psalms 118:6

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} for me; I will not be afraid; what can man do to me?	Yahweh is on my side, so I will not be afraid of anything. I know that humans cannot really harm me!

ULT Yahweh {is} for me
UST Yahweh is on my side
(יְהוָה לִי)

The psalmist is using Yahweh is for me as a common expression of the culture to mean “Yahweh supports me” or “Yahweh is on my side.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh wants me to succeed]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT what can man do to me
UST I know that humans cannot really harm me
(מַה־יַּעֲשֶׂה לִי אָדָם)

The psalmist is using the question form for emphasis. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [man do nothing to harm me]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
I will & be afraid	so I will & be afraid of anything

Psalms 118:7

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} for me as my helper, and I, I will gaze on the haters of me.	Yes, Yahweh is on my side. He helps me defeat my enemies, so I know that I will look {triumphantly} on them.

ULT Yahweh {is} for me as my helper
UST Yes, Yahweh is on my side. He helps me defeat my enemies
(יְהוָה לִי בְּעֹזְרָי)

The psalmist is using Yahweh is for me as my helper as a common expression of the culture to mean "Yahweh wants me to succeed and so he helps me." If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh wants me to succeed and so he helps me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and I, I will gaze
UST so I know that I will look {triumphantly
(וַאֲנִי אֶרְאֶה)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I will gaze already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize his personal commitment to triumph over his enemies. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [and so for my part, I will gaze]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT on the haters of me
UST on them
(בְּשֹׂנְאָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of haters, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [on those who hate me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yes, Yahweh

Psalms 118:8

ULT	UST
Better to take shelter in Yahweh than to trust in man.	It is better to rely on Yahweh than to depend on people.

ULT to take shelter in Yahweh
UST to rely on Yahweh
(לַחֲסוֹת בַּיהוָה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as if he were a shelter that people could go into for protection from danger. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to let Yahweh protect us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT than to trust in man
UST than to depend on people
(מִבְּטֹחַ בָּאָדָם)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific man. He means people in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [than to trust in people]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Better	It is better
to take shelter	to rely in Yahweh	on Yahweh
than to trust	than to depend

Psalms 118:9

ULT	UST
Better to take shelter in Yahweh than to trust in princes.	It is better to rely on Yahweh than to trust that influential people will protect us.

ULT to take shelter in Yahweh
UST to rely on Yahweh
(לַחֲסוֹת בַּיהוָה)

See how you translated this phrase in the previous verse. Alternate translation: [to let Yahweh protect us]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Better	It is better
to take shelter	to rely on
in Yahweh	Yahweh
than to trust	than to trust
in princes	that influential people will protect us

Psalms 118:10

ULT	UST
All the nations surrounded me; in the name of Yahweh, indeed I fended them off.	Armies of many nations surrounded me, but Yahweh powerfully enabled me to make them retreat.

ULT All the nations
UST Armies of many nations
(כָּל־גּוֹיִם)

The psalmist says All the nations as a generalization for emphasis. If it would be clearer in your language, you could express the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [It seemed as though all the nations] or [So many nations]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT in the name of Yahweh
UST but Yahweh powerfully enabled me
(בְּשֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, name represents the power and authority of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [by Yahweh's power]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT I fended them off
UST to make them retreat
(אֲמִילָם)

The word translated as I fended them off could mean: (1) the psalmist's army pushed back the other armies. Alternate translation: [I defeated them] or it could be a different word that is spelled the same way that means: (2) the psalmist's army circumcised the enemy armies. Alternate translation: [I circumcised them] or [I cut them off]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the nations	nations
Yahweh	but Yahweh powerfully enabled me

Psalms 118:11

ULT	UST
They surrounded me; yes, they surrounded me; in the name of Yahweh, indeed I fended them off.	They completely surrounded me, but Yahweh powerfully enabled me to make them retreat.

ULT They surrounded me; yes, they surrounded me
UST They completely surrounded me
(סַבּוּנִי גַם־סְבָבוּנִי)

The expressions They surrounded me and yes, they surrounded me mean the same thing. The psalmist is using repetition for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [They had me completely surrounded]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT in the name of Yahweh, indeed I fended them off
UST but Yahweh powerfully enabled me to make them retreat
(בְּשֵׁם יְהוָה כִּי אֲמִילַם)

See how you translated this in the previous verse.

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 118:12

ULT	UST
They surrounded me like bees; they were extinguished like a fire of thorns; in the name of Yahweh, indeed I fended them off.	They swarmed around me like {angry} bees, but they diminished as quickly as a fire that is burning only thorns; Yahweh powerfully enabled me to make them retreat.

ULT They surrounded me like bees
UST They swarmed around me like {angry} bees
(סַבּוּנִי כִדְבוֹרִים)

The psalmist is making a comparison between his enemies and bees. The point of this comparison is that just as bees swarm around aggressively when attacking, so his enemies surrounded him aggressively. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [They surrounded me like bees do when they are attacking someone]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT they were extinguished like a fire of thorns
UST but they diminished as quickly as a fire that is burning only thorns
(דֹּעֲכוּ כְּאֵשׁ קוֹצִים)

The expression they were extinguished is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [they died away quickly like a fire burning thorns]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT they were extinguished like a fire of thorns
UST but they diminished as quickly as a fire that is burning only thorns
(דֹּעֲכוּ כְּאֵשׁ קוֹצִים)

The point of this comparison is that just as a fire of thorns burns out quickly, so the psalmist's enemies were extinguished quickly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [they were extinguished as quickly as is a fire among thorns]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT in the name of Yahweh, indeed I fended them off
UST Yahweh powerfully enabled me to make them retreat
(בְּשֵׁם יְהוָה כִּי אֲמִילָם)

See how you translated this in verse 10.

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
thorns	is burning only thorns
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 118:13

ULT	UST
To push down, you pushed me down to fall, but Yahweh helped me.	My enemies attacked me fiercely and thought that they would defeat me, but Yahweh helped me.

ULT To push down, you pushed me down
UST My enemies attacked me fiercely
(דַּחֹה דְּחִיתַנִי)

The psalmist is using a construction in which a verb and its object come from the same root. You may be able to use the same construction in your language to express the meaning here. Alternatively, your language may have another way of saying this. Alternate translation: [You pushed me down hard]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT to fall
UST and thought that they would defeat me
(לִנְפֹּל)

Here, to fall marks this clause as the goal or purpose of To push down, you pushed me down. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that I would fall]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT To push down, you pushed me down to fall
UST My enemies attacked me fiercely and thought that they would defeat me
(דַּחֹה דְּחִיתַנִי לִנְפֹּל)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his enemies' attack as if the enemies were able to push him down physically to make him fall. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison. Alternate translation: [You attacked me violently in order to defeat me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT To push down, you pushed me down to fall
> UST My enemies attacked me fiercely and thought that they would defeat me
> (דַּחֹה דְּחִיתַנִי לִנְפֹּל)

The psalmist is speaking to his enemies that he knows cannot hear him. He is doing this to communicate to the people listening to him that he feels very strongly about how violently they attacked him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate these words as if he were speaking directly to the people about his enemies. Alternate translation: [My enemies attacked me violently in order to defeat me]

Support Reference: Apostrophe

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
but Yahweh	but Yahweh

Psalms 118:14

ULT	UST
Yah {is} my strength and song, and he is to me for salvation.	Yahweh is the one who makes me strong, and who gives me a reason to sing; and he saves me from my enemies.

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT Yah {is} my strength and song
UST Yahweh is the one who makes me strong, and who gives me a reason to sing
(עָזִּי וְזִמְרָת יָהּ)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of strength and song, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [Yah makes me strong and joyful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Yah {is} my strength and song
UST Yahweh is the one who makes me strong, and who gives me a reason to sing
(עָזִּי וְזִמְרָת יָהּ)

Here, song represents “a reason to sing” or “joy.” If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [Yah gives me strength and the joy to sing]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT and he is to me for salvation
UST and he saves me from my enemies
(וַיְהִי־לִי לִישׁוּעָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and he saves me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh
for salvation	and he saves me

Psalms 118:15

ULT	UST
The voice of a shout and salvation {is} in the tents of the righteous; the right hand of Yahweh does valor!	Listen to the joyful songs of how Yahweh saves people! They come from the tents of the people who honor God! They sing, “Yahweh has powerfully defeated our enemies;

ULT The voice of a shout and salvation
UST Listen to the joyful songs of how Yahweh saves people
(קוֹל | רִנָּה וִישׁוּעָה)

The phrase a shout and salvation expresses a single idea. The word shout tells more about salvation. If it would be more natural in your language, you could express this meaning in a different way. Alternate translation: [The voice of a victorious shout]

Support Reference: Hendiadys

ULT the righteous
UST of the people who honor God
(צַדִּיקִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [righteous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the right hand of Yahweh does valor
UST They sing, “Yahweh has powerfully defeated our enemies
(יְמִין יְהוָה עֹשָׂה חָיִל)

The psalmist may be quoting a song of victory, starting here and going through verse 16. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark this as the beginning of a song, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT the right hand of Yahweh does valor
UST They sing, “Yahweh has powerfully defeated our enemies
(יְמִין יְהוָה עֹשָׂה חָיִל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of valor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the right hand of Yahweh does valiant things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the right hand of Yahweh
UST They sing, “Yahweh
(יְמִין יְהוָה)

Here, right hand represents the power of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the power of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT valor
UST has powerfully defeated our enemies (חָיִל)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of valor, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [valiant things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
a shout	Listen to the joyful songs of
and salvation	how Yahweh saves people is} in the tents of	They come from the tents
the righteous	of the people who honor God
Yahweh	They sing, “Yahweh
valor	has powerfully defeated our enemies

Psalms 118:16

ULT	UST
The right hand of Yahweh is high; the right hand of Yahweh does valor!	Yahweh has shown himself to be victorious! Yahweh has powerfully defeated our enemies!”

ULT The right hand of Yahweh is high
UST Yahweh has shown himself to be victorious
(יְמִין יְהוָה רוֹמֵמָה)

The psalmist is using The right hand of Yahweh is high as a common expression of the culture to mean that Yahweh is superior to all others or that Yahweh is victorious. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is superior to all others]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT the right hand of Yahweh does valor
UST Yahweh has powerfully defeated our enemies
(יְמִין יְהוָה עֹשָׂה חָיִל)

See how you translated this phrase in the previous verse.

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
valor	has powerfully defeated our enemies

Psalms 118:17

ULT	UST
I will not die, but live and I will declare the deeds of Yah.	My enemies will not kill me; no, I will live to proclaim the great things that Yahweh has done.

ULT I will not die, but live
UST My enemies will not kill me; no, I will live
(לֹ֤א אָמ֨וּת כִּי־אֶחְיֶ֗ה)

The psalmist uses the word but here to indicate a contrast between dying and living. In your translation, indicate this contrast in a way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [I will not die; instead, I will live]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT of Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָֽהּ)

The word Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh.” Alternate translation: [of Yahweh]

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and I will declare	to proclaim of Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 118:18

ULT	UST
To chastise, Yah has chastised me; but to death he has not given me.	Yahweh has punished me severely, but he has not allowed me to die.

ULT To chastise, Yah has chastised me
UST Yahweh has punished me severely
(יַסֹּר יִסְּרַנִּי יָהּ)

The psalmist is repeating forms of the verb chastise in order to intensify his expression of the idea that it conveys. If your language can repeat words for intensification, it would be appropriate to do that here in your translation. If not, your language may have another way of expressing the intensification. Alternate translation: [Yah has certainly chastised me]

Support Reference: Reduplication

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name "Yahweh," the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

ULT but to death he has not given me
UST but he has not allowed me to die
(וְלַמָּוֶת לֹא נְתָנָנִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of death as if it were a place or person that Yahweh could give him to. He means that Yahweh has not allowed him to die. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but he has kept me alive]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 118:19

ULT	UST
Open to me the gates of righteousness; I will enter them; I will thank Yah.	{You gatekeepers,} open for me the gates through which those who obey Yahweh may enter, so that I may enter through them and thank Yahweh.

ULT Open to me
UST You gatekeepers,} open for me
(פִּתְחוּ־לִי)

The word translated as Open is a plural command form, addressed to the keepers of the gates, which could refer to (1) the gates of the temple, or (2) the gates of Jerusalem. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could include the addressees, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT the gates of righteousness
UST the gates through which those who obey Yahweh may enter (שַׁעֲרֵי־צֶדֶק)

Here, righteousness could refer to (1) the people who are allowed to enter through the gates (as indicated in the next verse), which could be either the gates of the temple or the gates of Jerusalem. Alternate translation: [the gates where the righteous may enter] or (2) Yahweh, who is righteous and who dwells in the temple. Alternate translation: [the gates of the temple of the righteous God]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Yah
UST Yahweh
(יָהּ)

Yah is a shortened form of the name “Yahweh,” the God of Israel. You could use the full name if that would be helpful to your readers as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: How to Translate Names

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the gates	the gates
of righteousness	through which those who obey Yahweh may enter
Yah	Yahweh

Psalms 118:20

ULT	UST
This {is} the gate of Yahweh; the righteous may enter through it.	{The gatekeeper says,} “This is Yahweh’s gate; all who obey him may enter through it.”

ULT This {is} the gate of Yahweh; the righteous may enter through it
UST The gatekeeper says,} “This is Yahweh’s gate; all who obey him may enter through it (זֶה־הַשַּׁ֥עַר לַיהוָ֗ה צַדִּיקִ֥ים יָבֹ֗אוּ בּֽוֹ)

The psalmist may be quoting the response of the gatekeeper in this verse. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark this as a quotation, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT the gate of Yahweh
UST Yahweh’s gate
(הַשַּׁ֥עַר לַיהוָ֗ה)

Here, the gate of Yahweh probably does refer to the gate of the temple, and could mean (1) the gate belonging to Yahweh. Alternate translation: [the gate that belongs to Yahweh] or (2) the gate that leads to Yahweh. Alternate translation: [the gate to where Yahweh dwells]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the righteous
UST all who obey him
(צַדִּיקִ֥ים)

The psalmist is using the adjective righteous as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [righteous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the gate	gate
of Yahweh	Yahweh’s
the righteous	all who obey him

Psalms 118:21

ULT	UST
I will thank you, for you answered me, and you have become salvation for me.	{Yahweh,} I thank you that you answered my prayer and saved me {from my enemies}.

ULT I will thank you, for you answered me, and you have become salvation for me
UST Yahweh,} I thank you that you answered my prayer and saved me {from my enemies
(אוֹדְךָ כִּי עֲנִיתָנִי וַתְּהִי־לִי לִישׁוּעָה)

The psalmist switches to addressing Yahweh directly using you in this verse. If it would be helpful in your language, you could continue using the third person here. Alternate translation: [I will thank Yahweh, for he answered me, and he has become salvation for me]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT for you answered me
UST that you answered my prayer
(כִּי עֲנִיתָנִי)

The psalmist is using answered me as a common expression of the culture to mean “acted on my behalf” in response to a request. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for you acted on my behalf]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT and you have become salvation for me
UST and saved me {from my enemies
(וַתְּהִי־לִי לִישׁוּעָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and you have saved me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
salvation	saved & from my enemies

Psalms 118:22

ULT	UST
The stone that the builders rejected has become the head of the corner.	{People considered me worthless, like} a stone that builders rejected, {but then Yahweh showed that he highly values me, as if} that stone then became the most important stone in the building.

ULT The stone that the builders rejected has become the head of the corner
UST People considered me worthless, like} a stone that builders rejected, {but then Yahweh showed that he highly values me, as if} that stone then became the most important stone in the building
(אֶבֶן מָאֲסוּ הַבּוֹנִים הָיְתָה לְרֹאשׁ פִּנָּה)

This is likely a proverb that the psalmist has used to describe either himself or the nation of Israel. If possible, translate this proverb in a way that will be recognized as a proverb and be meaningful in your language and culture. Otherwise, you could give the plain meaning. Alternate translation: [That which others have considered worthless, Yahweh has made to be the most important]

Support Reference: Proverbs

ULT the head of the corner
UST but then Yahweh showed that he highly values me, as if} that stone then became the most important stone in the building
(לְרֹאשׁ פִּנָּה)

By the head of the corner, the psalmist means the cornerstone, which is the most important stone that holds a building together. You could indicate this explicitly in your translation if that would be helpful to your readers. Alternate translation: [the cornerstone]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The stone that	People considered me worthless, like} a stone that & rejected rejected	People considered me worthless, like} a stone that & rejected

Psalms 118:23

ULT	UST
This is from Yahweh; it is marvelous in our eyes.	The people said, “Yahweh made that happen, and for us, it is a wonderful thing.

ULT This is from Yahweh; it is marvelous in our eyes
UST The people said, “Yahweh made that happen, and for us, it is a wonderful thing (מֵאֵת יְהוָה הָיְתָה זֹּאת הִיא נִפְלָאת בְּעֵינֵינוּ)

The psalmist may be quoting the response of the congregation to the psalmist in verses 23–27. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could mark this as a quotation, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

ULT This is from Yahweh
UST The people said, “Yahweh made that happen
(מֵאֵת יְהוָה הָיְתָה זֹּאת)

The pronoun This refers to the rejected stone becoming the most important stone, as described in the previous verse. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [This reversal from rejection to victory is from Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT it is marvelous in our eyes
UST and for us, it is a wonderful thing
(הִיא נִפְלָאת בְּעֵינֵינוּ)

The psalmist is using it is marvelous in our eyes as a common expression of the culture to mean “we consider it to be a marvelous thing.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [we consider it to be a marvelous thing]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
is marvelous	wonderful thing

Psalms 118:24

ULT	UST
This {is} the day Yahweh made; Let us rejoice and be glad in it.	Yahweh made possible everything that we are celebrating today; we should be extremely happy about all of it!

ULT This {is} the day Yahweh made
UST Yahweh made possible everything that we are celebrating today
(זֶה־הַיּוֹם עָשָׂה יְהוָה)

The psalmist is using the term day to refer to a specific time when God acted to bring about the events being celebrated. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh caused the events we are celebrating today to happen]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT Let us rejoice and be glad
UST we should be extremely happy
(נָגִילָה וְנִשְׂמְחָה)

The terms rejoice and be glad mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Let us rejoice greatly]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
Let us rejoice	we should be extremely happy
and be glad	we should be extremely happy

Psalms 118:25

ULT	UST
Please, Yahweh, save please! Please, Yahweh, give success please!	Yahweh, we plead with you to keep rescuing us {from our enemies}. Yahweh, please continue to help us to succeed {against our enemies}.

ULT save please
UST we plead with you to keep rescuing us {from our enemies
(הוֹשִׁיעָה נָּא)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [save us please]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT give success please
UST please continue to help us to succeed {against our enemies
(הַצְלִיחָה נָּא)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [give us success please]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT give success please
UST please continue to help us to succeed {against our enemies
(הַצְלִיחָה נָּא)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of success, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [enable us to succeed please]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Please	we plead with you
Yahweh	Yahweh
save	to keep rescuing us {from our enemies
please	we plead with you
give success	continue to help us to succeed {against our enemies

Psalms 118:26

ULT	UST
Blessed is the one coming in the name of Yahweh; we bless you from the house of Yahweh.	Yahweh, bless the one who will come with your power. From the temple we bless all of you.

ULT Blessed is the one coming
UST bless the one who will come
(בָּרוּךְ הַבָּא)

The expression Blessed is is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [Yahweh blesses the one coming]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT in the name of Yahweh
UST Yahweh & with your power
(בְּשֵׁם יְהוָה)

Here, name represents the power and authority of Yahweh. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with the authority of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT we bless you
UST we bless all of you
(בֵּרַכְנוּכֶם)

The word you is plural here because the psalmist is addressing all the people who have come to the temple. So use the plural form in your translation if your language marks that distinction. Alternate translation: [we bless you all]

Support Reference: Forms of 'You' — Singular

ULT from the house of Yahweh
UST From the temple
(מִבֵּית יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of the temple of Yahweh as if it were a house in which he lived. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from the temple of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Blessed is	bless
Yahweh	Yahweh
we bless you	we bless all of you from the house of Yahweh	From the temple

Psalms 118:27

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} God, and he has given light to us; bind the sacrifice with cords to the horns of the altar.	Yahweh is God, and he has made us victorious. Bring an animal sacrifice {for him} and tie it to the horns of the altar.”

ULT and he has given light to us
UST and he has made us victorious
(וַיֵּאֶר לָנוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of God’s favor and blessing as if it were light that God had given to them. If this image communicates well in your language, please use it. If not, you could express this as a comparison or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and he has given us success]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT bind the sacrifice with cords to the horns of the altar
UST Bring an animal sacrifice {for him} and tie it to the horns of the altar
(אִסְרוּ־חַג בַּעֲבֹתִים עַד־קַרְנוֹת הַמִּזְבֵּחַ)

Here the psalmist ends his quotation of the people. You may want to indicate this with closing quote marks, as in the UST.

Support Reference: Quotations and Quote Margins

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is	Yahweh is
God	God
bind	and tie it
the sacrifice	Bring an animal sacrifice {for him
the horns of	the horns
the altar	of the altar

Psalms 118:28

ULT	UST
You {are} my God, and I will thank you; my God, I will exalt you.	Yahweh, you are the God whom I worship, and I will praise you! You are the only God whom I worship, and I will tell everyone that you are great!

ULT I will exalt you
UST and I will tell everyone that you are great (אֲרוֹמְמֶךָּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of praising God as if it were exalting him or lifting him up to a high position. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will publicly praise you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my God	Yahweh & the God whom I worship
my God	You are the only God whom I worship
I will exalt you	and I will tell everyone that you are great

Psalms 118:29

ULT	UST
Give thanks to Yahweh; for {he is} good; for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever!	Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever!

ULT Give thanks to Yahweh; for {he is} good; for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST Thank Yahweh because he is good and because he faithfully loves us forever
(הוֹדוּ לַיהוָה כִּי־טוֹב כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

See how you translated this in Psalm 106:1 and 118:1.

ULT for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST and because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [give thanks to Yahweh for his covenant faithfulness is to forever]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT for his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST and because he faithfully loves us forever
(כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

The psalmist is using to forever as a common expression of his culture to mean “eternally” or “without end.” If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for his covenant faithfulness lasts forever]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT his covenant faithfulness {is} to forever
UST he faithfully loves us forever
(לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [he remains faithful to his covenant forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to Yahweh	Yahweh
he is} good	he is good
his covenant faithfulness	he faithfully loves us
is} to forever	forever

Psalms 119

Psalms 119 Introduction

Psalm 119 Introduction

Structure and Formatting

Psalm 119 is a “wisdom psalm” about the law of Yahweh. This psalm is an “acrostic” (see discussion in the Introduction to Psalms), an alphabetic poem with twenty-two groups of eight verses each. Each group begins with a letter of the alphabet in the order of the Hebrew alphabet.

The psalmist uses many different words to refer to Yahweh’s message to us. You could attempt to use a different word for each term (ULT uses words such as “precepts,” “commandments,” and “law”), but most languages will not have that many, so just use the words that your language has.

1. Blessing for those who walk in Yahweh’s law (1–32)
2. Prayer for understanding and guidance from Yahweh’s word (33–72)
3. Comfort and hope in Yahweh’s word during affliction (73–112)
4. Devotion to Yahweh’s law despite opposition (113–144)
5. Cry for deliverance and life through Yahweh’s word (145–176)

Religious and Cultural Concepts in This Psalm

The law

The psalmist loved the law of Yahweh and was blessed by obeying it. (See: love, beloved and bless, blessed, blessing)

Translation Issues in This Psalm

“your word”

Throughout this psalm, the psalmist uses the phrase “your word” to refer more generally to Yahweh’s commandments, instructions, promises, and messages to us.

Request form

Throughout this psalm, the psalmist is requesting things from Yahweh by using an imperative which may sound like a command in your language. If this would be impolite in your language, then use a form that would be more appropriate for addressing Yahweh with a request.

Psalms 119:1

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the blameless of way, the ones walking in the teaching of Yahweh!	How fortunate are those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong! Those are the people who always obey Yahweh's instructions.

ULT The happinesses of
UST How fortunate are
(אַשְׁרֵי)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of joy or blessing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [Oh, how happy are] or [How blessed are]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT the blameless of way
UST those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong
(תְּמִימֵי־דֶרֶךְ)

The psalmist is using the adjective blameless as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [people who are blameless in their conduct]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT the blameless of way
UST those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong
(תְּמִימֵי־דֶרֶךְ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a way that is characterized by being blameless. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [people whose way is blameless]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT way
UST those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong
(דֶּרֶךְ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of behavior as if it were a way that a person walks along. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [conduct]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the ones walking in the teaching of Yahweh
UST Those are the people who always obey Yahweh's instructions
(הַהֹלְכִ֥ים בְּתוֹרַ֖ת יְהוָֽה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of living according to Yahweh's instructions as if it were walking along a path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those who live by the teaching of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the blameless of	those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong
in the teaching of	instructions
Yahweh	Yahweh's

Psalms 119:2

ULT	UST
The happinesses of the keepers of his testimonies! They seek him with a whole heart.	How fortunate are those who do what he tells them to do! Those are the people who sincerely want to know him.

ULT The happinesses of
UST How fortunate are
(אַשְׁרֵי)

See how you translated the exclamation starting with “The happinesses of” in the previous verse.

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT his testimonies
UST what he tells them to do
(עֵדֹתָ֑יו)

The pronoun his refers to Yahweh, mentioned in verse 1. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [the testimonies of Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They seek him
UST Those are the people who & want to know him
(יִדְרְשֻׁהוּ)

The pronoun They refers to the keepers of Yahweh’s testimonies, while the pronoun him refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [Those who keep his testimonies seek Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT They seek him
UST Those are the people who & want to know him
(יִדְרְשֻׁהוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of wanting to know Yahweh as if people were looking for or seeking him. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They live to know him]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT with a whole heart
> UST sincerely
> (בְּכָל־לֵב)

Here, heart represents where a person's thoughts, feelings, and emotions exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with all that I am]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the keepers of	those who do
his testimonies	what he tells them to do
They seek him	Those are the people who & want to know him

Psalms 119:3

ULT	UST
Surely they do not practice injustice; they walk in his ways.	They certainly do not want to cheat other people; they live in a way that pleases Yahweh.

ULT injustice
UST to cheat other people
(עַוְלָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of injustice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [unjust actions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT they walk in his ways
UST they live in a way that pleases Yahweh
(בִּדְרָכָיו הָלָכוּ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of living in obedience to Yahweh's commands as if it were to walk along his paths or ways. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they live according to his commands]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
injustice	to cheat other people

Psalms 119:4

ULT	UST
You, you have commanded your precepts to keep diligently.	Yahweh, you have given us your instructions so that we would carefully obey them.

ULT You, you have commanded
UST Yahweh, you have given us
(אַתָּה צִוִּיתָה)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as you have commanded already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he is now addressing Yahweh instead of the people. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [You yourself have commanded]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT to keep diligently
UST so that we would carefully obey them
(לִשְׁמֹר מְאֹד)

Here, to keep diligently marks careful obedience as the goal or purpose of giving the precepts. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that we would keep them diligently]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

Psalms 119:5

ULT	UST
Oh, that my paths would be established to keep your statutes!	I want very much to continually obey everything that you command!

ULT Oh, that my paths would be established
UST I want very much & continually & everything
(אַחֲלַי יִכֹּנוּ דְרָכָי)

The psalmist is using a phrase that expresses a strong feeling of desire and longing. There may be an equivalent word or phrase in your language that you can use in your translation to convey this feeling. Alternate translation: [I earnestly desire that my paths would be established]

Support Reference: Exclamations

ULT Oh, that my paths would be established
UST I want very much & continually & everything
(אַחֲלַי יִכֹּנוּ דְרָכָי)

The expression would be established contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Oh, how I want to firmly set my paths]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT my paths
UST everything
(דְרָכָי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his behavior and conduct as if they were paths that he travels. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my conduct]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
would be established	continually
your statutes	that you command

Psalms 119:6

ULT	UST
Then I would not have shame when I look to all of your commandments.	If I did that, then I would not be ashamed when I think about everything that you command.

ULT Then I would not have shame
UST If I did that, then I would not be ashamed
(אָ֤ז לֹא־אֵבוֹשׁ)

The psalmist is making a conditional statement that sounds hypothetical, but he knows that the condition from the previous verse is not yet true. He is stating it as a condition to show that if always kept Yahweh's statues, shame would not follow. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a condition that the speaker believes is not yet true. Alternate translation: [If that were so, then I would not be feeling this shame]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
not have shame	not
your commandments	that you command

Psalms 119:7

ULT	UST
I will thank you with uprightness of heart when I learn the judgments of your righteousness.	As I learn all of your just regulations, I thank you sincerely.

ULT with uprightness of heart
UST sincerely
(בְּיֹשֶׁר לֵבָב)

Here, heart represents where a person's intentions and motives exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with integrity]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with uprightness of heart
UST sincerely
(בְּיֹשֶׁר לֵבָב)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a heart that is characterized by uprightness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with an upright heart]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT with uprightness of heart
UST sincerely
(בְּיֹשֶׁר לֵבָב)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of uprightness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [with a right and sincere attitude]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT when I learn
UST As I learn
(בְּלָמְדִי)

The word when indicates that the psalmist's thanking and his learning happen at the same time. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could describe the time relationship more explicitly. Alternate translation: [as I come to know]

Support Reference: Connect — Simultaneous Time Relationship

> ULT the judgments of your righteousness
> UST all of your just regulations
> (מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgments that are characterized by righteousness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your righteous judgments]

Support Reference: Possession

> ULT your righteousness
> UST your just
> (צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your righteous character]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
with uprightness of	sincerely
the judgments of	all of & regulations
your righteousness	your just

Psalms 119:8

ULT	UST
I will keep your statutes; do not utterly leave me. BETH	I will obey your regulations; do not desert me! BETH

ULT do not utterly leave me
UST do not desert me
(אַל־תַּעַזְבֵנִי עַד־מְאֹד)

Here and throughout this psalm, the psalmist uses an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please do not utterly leave me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will keep	I will obey
your statutes	your regulations
do & leave me	desert me

Psalms 119:9

ULT	UST
How can a young man keep his path pure? By keeping according to your word.	I know how a young person can live in the right way; it is by obeying your commands.

ULT How can a young man keep his path pure
UST I know how a young person can live in the right way
(בַּמֶּה יְזַכֶּה־נַּעַר אֶת־אָרְחֹו)

The psalmist is using the question form to emphasize how difficult this would be without the word of Yahweh as a guide. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [A young man can keep his path pure!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT his path
UST can live in (אֶת־אָרְחֹו)

Here the psalmist is speaking of a person's conduct and behavior as if it were a path that the person travels. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [his conduct]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
can & keep & pure	the right way

Psalms 119:10

ULT	UST
With all of my heart I seek you. Do not let me stray from your commandments.	I eagerly want to please you. Do not allow me to disobey what you have commanded.

ULT With all of my heart
UST eagerly
(בְּכָל־לִבִּי)

Here the heart represents where a person's thoughts, feelings, and desires exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [With everything that I am]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT I seek you
UST I & want to please you
(דְּרַשְׁתִּיךָ)

In this verse, the speaker shifts from third person to first person. The pronoun I refers to the psalmist, and you refers to Yahweh. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [I seek you, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT Do not let me stray
UST Do not allow me to disobey
(אַל־תַּשְׁגֵּנִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of disobeying Yahweh as if it were to stray from a path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Do not let me turn away]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I seek you	I & want to please you

Psalms 119:11

ULT	UST
I have hidden your word in my heart so that I might not sin against you.	I have memorized your commands in order to not sin against you.

ULT I have hidden your word in my heart
UST I have memorized your commands
(בְּלִבִּי צָפַנְתִּי אִמְרָתֶךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of memorizing Yahweh's commands as if he had hidden them inside his heart. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have stored up your word in my mind] or [I have memorized your words]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT so that I might not sin
UST in order to not sin against (לְמַעַן לֹא אֶחֱטָא)

Here, so that I might not sin marks avoiding sin as the goal or purpose of memorizing Yahweh's word. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [with the purpose of avoiding sin]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I might & sin	sin against

Psalms 119:13

ULT	UST
With my lips I have recounted all of the judgments of your mouth.	I have proclaimed to the people all of the things that you have commanded us to do.

ULT With my lips
UST I have proclaimed to the people
(בִּשְׂפָתַ֥י)

The psalmist is using lips to mean speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [With my words]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT all of the judgments of your mouth
UST all of the things that you have commanded us to do
(כֹּ֖ל מִשְׁפְּטֵי־פִֽיךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgments that come from Yahweh's mouth. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [every judgment that you have pronounced]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT all of the judgments of your mouth
UST all of the things that you have commanded us to do
(כֹּ֖ל מִשְׁפְּטֵי־פִֽיךָ)

The psalmist is using mouth to mean what Yahweh has spoken. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [every judgment that you have spoken]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the judgments of	the things that & have commanded us to do

Psalms 119:14

ULT	UST
I rejoice in the way of your testimonies as upon all riches.	I delight in obeying your instructions; I enjoy that more than being very rich.

ULT in the way of your testimonies
UST in obeying your instructions
(בְּדֶרֶךְ עֵדְוֹתֶיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of following Yahweh's testimonies as if it were walking along a way or path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in following your testimonies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT as upon all riches
UST I enjoy that more than being very rich
(כְּעַל כָּל־הוֹן)

The point of this comparison is that just as a person would rejoice over possessing great riches, so the psalmist rejoices in following Yahweh's testimonies. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [as much as I would in having riches]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I rejoice	I delight
your testimonies	your instructions

Psalms 119:15

ULT	UST
I will meditate on your precepts and I will study your paths.	I will carefully think about everything that you have commanded me, yes, I will pay attention to the way of living that you have taught me.

ULT I will meditate on your precepts and I will study your paths
UST I will carefully think about everything that you have commanded me, yes, I will pay attention to the way of living that you have taught me
(בְּפִקֻּדֶיךָ אָשִׂיחָה וְאַבִּיטָה אֹרְחֹתֶיךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could combine them and express the emphasis in another way. Another approach would be to connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. See how you as a team have decided to translate the parallel phrases in the Psalms, and follow that approach here and throughout this psalm. Alternate translation: [I will ponder everything that you have taught me about how to live]

Support Reference: Parallelism

ULT and I will study your paths
UST yes, I will pay attention to the way of living that you have taught me
(וְאַבִּיטָה אֹרְחֹתֶיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's instructions as if they were paths to examine and follow. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I will think carefully about your instructions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I will meditate	I will carefully think about

Psalms 119:16

ULT	UST
I delight in your statutes; I will not forget your word. GIMEL	I am happy to obey your decrees; I will not forget what you have said. GIMEL

ULT I will not forget
UST I will not forget
(לֹ֣א אֶשְׁכָּֽח)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forget to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh's precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I will continually keep in mind everything in]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I delight	I am happy to obey
in your statutes	your decrees

Psalms 119:17

ULT	UST
Deal kindly with your servant so that I may live and keep your word.	Do good things for me, the one who serves you, in order that I may continue to live and obey you.

ULT with your servant
UST for me, the one who serves you
(עָל־עַבְדְּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [with me, your servant]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servant	me, the one who serves you

Psalms 119:18

ULT	UST
Uncover my eyes so that I may gaze on the marvelous things from your teaching.	Help me to understand how wonderful your instructions are.

ULT Uncover my eyes
UST Help me to understand
(גַּל־עֵינַי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of gaining spiritual understanding as if Yahweh would Uncover someone's eyes so they could see. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Help me to my understand]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT so that I may gaze on the marvelous things
UST Help me to understand how wonderful
(וְאַבִּיטָה נִפְלָאוֹת)

Here the psalmist is speaking of understanding Yahweh's teaching as if it were an object that someone could gaze at with his eyes. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [so that I may understand the marvelous things]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from your teaching	your instructions are

Psalms 119:19

ULT	UST
I am a sojourner in the land; do not hide your commandments from me.	I am living here on the earth for only a short time; please let me know your instructions.

ULT I am a sojourner in the land
UST I am living here on the earth for only a short time
(גֵּר אָנֹכִי בָּאָרֶץ)

This could mean: (1) the psalmist speaks of his short life on earth as a sojourner as if he were a foreigner who is living a temporary life on earth, Alternate translation: [I am like a foreigner living a brief time in the land] or (2) the psalmist's ignorance of Yahweh's law as if he were a foreigner who did not know the laws of the land. Alternate translation: [I am ignorant like a foreigner in the land]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT do not hide your commandments from me
UST please let me know your instructions
(אַל־תַּסְתֵּר מִמֶּנִּי מִצְוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the difficulty of understanding Yahweh's commandments as if they were an object that Yahweh could hide from him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [do not keep me from understanding your commandments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the land	here on the earth
your commandments	your instructions

Psalms 119:20

ULT	UST
My soul languishes with longing for your judgments at all times.	I am weak from constantly desiring to know your instructions.

ULT My soul languishes
UST I am weak
(גָּרְסָה נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to mean all of him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I languish]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT with longing
UST from & desiring (לְתַאֲבָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of longing, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [longingly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for your judgments
UST to know your instructions
(אֶל־מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for the things you have decided]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	I
your judgments	to know your instructions

Psalms 119:21

ULT	UST
You rebuke the proud, the cursed, those wandering from your commandments.	You rebuke people who are proud; you curse people who disobey your commands.

ULT the proud, the cursed
UST people who are proud; you curse
(זֵדִים אֲרוּרִים)

The psalmist is using the adjectives proud and cursed as nouns to mean certain kinds of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate these adjectives with equivalent phrases. Alternate translation: [proud people, who are cursed]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT those wandering from your commandments
UST people who disobey your commands
(הַשֹּׁגִים מִמִּצְוֹתֶיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's commandments as if they were a path and disobedience to them as if it were wandering away from that path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [those disobeying your commandments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You rebuke	You rebuke
the proud	people who are proud
the cursed	you curse
from your commandments	your commands

Psalms 119:22

ULT	UST
Roll from upon me disgrace and humiliation, for I have guarded your testimonies.	Do not allow them to continue to insult and scorn me; {I request this} because I have obeyed what you have required.

ULT Roll from upon me
UST Do not allow them to continue to & me
(גַּל מֶֽעָלַי)

The psalmist is speaking of disgrace and humiliation being removed from him as if these were objects that were placed on him that he needs Yahweh to Roll off of him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Rescue me from] or [Keep me from]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT disgrace and humiliation
UST insult and scorn
(חֶרְפָּה וָבוּז)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of disgrace and humiliation, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [anything that will disgrace and humiliate me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT disgrace and humiliation
UST insult and scorn
(חֶרְפָּה וָבוּז)

The terms disgrace and humiliation mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [utter shame]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT for I have guarded your testimonies
UST I request this} because I have obeyed what you have required
(כִּי עֵדֹתֶֽיךָ נָצָרְתִּי)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because I have guarded your testimonies]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
disgrace	insult
and humiliation	and scorn
I have guarded	what you have required
your testimonies	I have obeyed

Psalms 119:23

ULT	UST
Though rulers sit and discuss against me, your servant meditates on your statutes.	Rulers gather together and plan ways to harm me, but I, your servant, will meditate on what you have commanded me.

ULT your servant
UST I, your servant
(עַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
rulers	Rulers
your servant	I, your servant
meditates	will meditate
on your statutes	on what you have commanded me

Psalms 119:24

ULT	UST
Indeed, your testimonies are my pleasure, my men of counsel. DALETH	Yes, I am delighted with your requirements; they are like {good} advisors for me. DALETH

ULT are my pleasure
UST I am delighted with
(שַׁעֲשֻׁעָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of pleasure, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are what please me greatly]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my men of counsel
UST they are like {good} advisors for me
(אַנְשֵׁי עֲצָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of counsel, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [my counselors]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my men of counsel
UST they are like {good} advisors for me
(אַנְשֵׁי עֲצָתִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's testimonies as if they were people who could give advice. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they advise me]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your testimonies	your requirements are my pleasure	I am delighted with my & counsel	they are like {good} advisors for me

Psalms 119:25

ULT	UST
My soul clings to the dust! Revive me according to your word.	{Sometimes} I feel like I will soon die; allow me to live as you have told me that you would do.

ULT My soul clings to the dust
UST Sometimes} I feel like I will soon die
(דָּבְקָה לֶעָפָר נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to mean all of him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I cling to the dust]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT My soul clings to the dust
UST Sometimes} I feel like I will soon die
(דָּבְקָה לֶעָפָר נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is speaking as if his soul were pressed down and clinging to the dust of the ground which could mean (1) being near death and being buried in the ground, Alternate translation: [I am close to death] or (2) being in deep despair. It was part of the culture to sit or lay in the dust to express deep sorrow or mourning. Alternate translation: [I am in deep despair]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Revive me
UST allow me to live
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Restore me to a full life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	Sometimes} I feel like I will soon die

Psalms 119:26

ULT	UST
I recounted my ways, and you answered me. Teach me your statutes.	When I told you about what was happening with me, you responded to me; teach me the things that you want me to do.

ULT I recounted my ways
UST When I told you about what was happening with me
(דְּרָכַי סִפַּרְתִּי)

The psalmist is speaking of his experiences as if they were ways or paths that he had walked along. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I recounted what I have done]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Teach me your statutes
UST teach me the things that you want me to do
(לַמְּדֵנִי חֻקֶּיךָ)

The word Teach is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please teach me your statutes]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I recounted	When I told you about
Teach me	teach me
your statutes	the things that you want me to do

Psalms 119:27

ULT	UST
Make me understand the way of your precepts, so that I can meditate on your wonders.	Help me to understand how you want me to behave, and then I can think about how amazing your instructions are.

ULT the way of your precepts
UST how you want me to behave
(דֶּרֶךְ־פִּקּוּדֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's precepts or rules as if they were a way or path to follow. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [how to follow your precepts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the way of your precepts
UST how you want me to behave
(דֶּרֶךְ־פִּקּוּדֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the way that is characterized by following Yahweh's precepts. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way that your precepts prescribe]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT so that I can meditate
UST and then I can think about (וְאָשִׂיחָה)

The phrase so that I can meditate indicates the purpose for which the psalmist wants understanding. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a purpose clause. Alternate translation: [in order for me to meditate]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Make me understand	Help me to understand
so that I can meditate	and then I can think about on your wonders	how amazing your instructions are

Psalms 119:28

ULT	UST
My soul melts from grief. Lift me up by your word.	I am very sad, with the result that I am becoming weak; enable me to be strong again through a message from you.

ULT My soul melts from grief
UST I am very sad, with the result that I am becoming weak
(דְּלְפָ֣ה נַ֭פְשִׁי מִתּוּגָ֑ה)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to mean all of him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I melt from grief]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT My soul melts from grief
UST I am very sad, with the result that I am becoming weak
(דְּלְפָ֣ה נַ֭פְשִׁי מִתּוּגָ֑ה)

The psalmist is speaking of becoming weak and tired from sadness or grief as if his soul were a solid object that melts and dissolves. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am weary from sadness]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from grief
UST am very sad
(מִתּוּגָ֑ה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of grief, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because I am so sad]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Lift me up
UST enable me to be strong again
(קַיְּמֵ֥נִי)

The psalmist is speaking of being strengthened as if Yahweh would lift him up physically from the ground. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Strengthen me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	I & I
from grief	am very sad

Psalms 119:29

ULT	UST
Turn from me the path of deceit, and favor me with your teaching.	Prevent me from telling lies, and be kind to me by teaching me your instructions.

ULT Turn from me the path of deceit
UST Prevent me from telling lies
(דֶּרֶךְ־שֶׁקֶר הָסֵר מִמֶּנִּי)

The word Turn is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please turn from me the path of deceit]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the path of deceit
UST from telling lies
(דֶּרֶךְ־שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of deceit, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the practice of deceiving]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the path of deceit
UST from telling lies
(דֶּרֶךְ־שֶׁקֶר)

The psalmist is speaking of deceptive behavior as if it were a path or road that a person walks along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [behaving in deceptive ways]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the path of deceit
UST from telling lies
(דֶּרֶךְ־שֶׁקֶר)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the path that is characterized by deceit. If your language would not use this form, you could express the idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the deceitful path]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
deceit	lies
favor me with	be kind to me by
and & your teaching	and & teaching me your instructions

Psalms 119:30

ULT	UST
I have chosen the way of faithfulness; I agree with your judgments.	I have decided that I will faithfully obey you; I know that what you say is right.

ULT the way of faithfulness
UST that I will faithfully obey you
(דֶּרֶךְ־אֱמוּנָה)

The psalmist is speaking of faithful behavior as if it were a way or path that he has chosen to walk along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [to behave faithfully]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the way of faithfulness
UST that I will faithfully obey you
(דֶּרֶךְ־אֱמוּנָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [to obey you faithfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the way of faithfulness
UST that I will faithfully obey you
(דֶּרֶךְ־אֱמוּנָה)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the way that is characterized by faithfulness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the faithful way]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT I agree with
UST I know that & is right
(שִׁוִּיתִי)

The word translated as I agree with could be: (1) a word meaning that the psalmist conforms himself with Yahweh's judgments. Alternate translation: [I conform myself to] or (2) a different word that is spelled the same way that means to set or place something. But in this case, there is no indication of where the psalmist would place Yahweh's judgments. Alternate translation: [I place]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have chosen	I have decided faithfulness	that I will faithfully obey you your judgments	what you say

Psalms 119:31

ULT	UST
I cling to your testimonies; Yahweh, do not let me be shamed.	Yahweh, I try to carefully obey what you say; please do not allow me to do anything shameful.

ULT do not let me be shamed
UST please do not allow me to do anything shameful
(אַל־תְּבִישֵׁנִי)

If your language does not use the passive form in this way, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [do not let anyone put me to shame]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I cling to your testimonies
UST I try to carefully obey what you say
(דָּבַקְתִּי בְעֵדְוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of being committed to obeying Yahweh's testimonies as if they were an object he could hold tightly to or cling to. Alternate translation: [I hold tightly to your testimonies] or [I am committed to obeying your testimonies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT do not let me be shamed
UST please do not allow me to do anything shameful
(אַל־תְּבִישֵׁנִי)

The expression be shamed is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [please do not shame me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to your testimonies	what you say
Yahweh	Yahweh
do & let me be shamed	do & allow me to do anything shameful

Psalms 119:32

ULT	UST
I run in the way of your commandments, for you enlarge my heart. HE	I eagerly obey your instructions because you help me increasingly to understand {how they benefit me}. HE

ULT I run in the way of your commandments
UST I eagerly obey your instructions
(דֶּרֶךְ־מִצְוֹתֶיךָ אָרוּץ)

The psalmist is speaking of being committed to obeying Yahweh's commandments as if he would run along a way or path. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I will be committed to obey your commandments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT you enlarge my heart
UST you help me increasingly to understand {how they benefit me
(תַּרְחִיב לִבִּי)

The psalmist uses the phrase you enlarge my heart as if Yahweh were making his heart physically larger which could mean (1) that Yahweh is increasing the psalmist's understanding his commandments, Alternate translation: [you give me greater understanding of your commandments] or (2) that Yahweh is giving the psalmist a greater desire to obey his commandments. Alternate translation: [you give me greater desire to obey your commandments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 119:33

ULT	UST
Teach me, Yahweh, the way of your statutes, and I will keep it {to} the end.	Yahweh, teach me what your regulations mean, and then I will always obey them.

ULT Teach me, Yahweh, the way of your statutes
UST Yahweh, teach me what your regulations mean (הוֹרֵנִי יְהוָה דֶּרֶךְ חֻקֶּיךָ)

The word Teach is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please teach me, Yahweh, the way of your statutes]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT the way of your statutes
UST what your regulations mean
(דֶּרֶךְ חֻקֶּיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh’s statutes as if they were a way or path to follow. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [how to follow your statutes]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the way of your statutes
UST what your regulations mean
(דֶּרֶךְ חֻקֶּיךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a way that is characterized by following Yahweh’s statutes. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way that your statutes prescribe]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT and I will keep it
UST and then I will & obey them
(וְאֶצְּרֶנָּה)

The phrase and I will keep it communicates a result of being taught. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a result clause. Alternate translation: [so that I will keep it]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Teach me	teach me
Yahweh	Yahweh
your statutes	your regulations

Psalms 119:34

ULT	UST
Give me understanding, and I will guard your teaching, and I will keep it with a whole heart.	Help me to understand your instructions so that I may eagerly obey them.

ULT and I will guard your teaching, and I will keep it
UST your instructions so that I may & obey them
(וְאֶצְרָה תוֹרָתֶךָ וְאֶשְׁמְרֶנָּה)

The phrases and I will guard your teaching, and I will keep it communicate results of receiving understanding. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a result clause. Alternate translation: [so that I will guard your teaching, and so that I will keep it]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT and I will guard your teaching
UST your instructions so that I may & obey them
(וְאֶצְרָה תוֹרָתֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of his commitment to obeying Yahweh's teaching as if he were physically standing guard over something. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I will surely observe your law] or [and I am completely committed to doing what it says]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT with a whole heart
UST eagerly
(בְּכָל־לֵב)

Here the heart represents where a person's devotion and commitments exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with complete devotion]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Give me understanding	Help me to understand and I will guard	so that I may & obey them
your teaching	your instructions

Psalms 119:35

ULT	UST
Guide me in the path of your commandments, for I delight in it.	I am happy to do the things that you command, so teach me the best way to obey them.

ULT in the path of your commandments
UST the things that you command, so teach me the best way to obey
(בִּנְתִיב מִצְוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's commandments as if they were a path to walk along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [in obeying your commandments]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in the path of your commandments
UST the things that you command, so teach me the best way to obey
(בִּנְתִיב מִצְוֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe the path that is characterized by following Yahweh's commandments. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in the path your commandments have set out]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I delight	I am happy

Psalms 119:36

ULT	UST
Incline my heart toward your testimonies and not toward unrighteous gain.	Cause me to want to do what you say rather than to want to get things {that belong to other people}.

ULT Incline my heart toward your testimonies and not toward unrighteous gain
UST Cause me to want to do what you say rather than to want to get things {that belong to other people
(הַט־לִבִּי אֶל־עֵדוֹתֶיךָ וְאַל אֶל־בָּצַע)

Here the psalmist is speaking of desiring to do Yahweh's will as if his heart were able to incline or lean toward Yahweh's teachings. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Cause me to desire your testimonies and not unrighteous gain]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT unrighteous gain
UST to get things {that belong to other people
(בָּצַע)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of gain, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [getting things wrongfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your testimonies	what you say unrighteous gain	to get things {that belong to other people

Psalms 119:37

ULT	UST
Turn away my eyes from looking at worthless things; in your ways, revive me.	Do not allow me to desire things that are not good for me; make me able to live as you want me to live.

ULT Turn away my eyes
UST Do not allow me to desire
(הַעֲבֵר עֵינַי)

Here, eyes represent the psalmist's attention and desire. By asking Yahweh to turn away his eyes, he means he wants to keep his attention away. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Keep my attention away]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT in your ways
UST as you want me to live
(בִּדְרָכֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's instructions as if they were ways or paths to walk along. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [according to your instructions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT revive me
UST make me able to live
(חַיֵּנִי)

The word revive is an imperative, but it communicates a polite request rather than a command. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as "please" to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please revive me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

> ULT revive me
> UST make me able to live
> (חַיָּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [restore me to a full life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 119:38

ULT	UST
Fulfill for your servant your word, which {is} for the fear of you.	Please do what you promised to do for me, your servant. Your promises are what cause people to deeply revere you.

ULT for your servant
UST for me, your servant
(לְעַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT is} for the fear of you
UST what cause people to deeply revere you (לְיִרְאָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of fear, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is for those who reverently honor you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Fulfill	Please do
for your servant	for me, your servant
is} for the fear of you	what cause people to deeply revere you

Psalms 119:39

ULT	UST
Turn away my reproach, which I dread, for your judgments are good.	I become afraid when my enemies insult me {for obeying you}; so please stop them, because it is good to do what you tell us to do.

ULT Turn away my reproach
UST my enemies insult me {for obeying you}; so please stop them
(הַעֲבֵר חֶרְפָּתִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if reproach were a physical object that a person could Turn away from. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Stop my enemies from reproaching me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT my reproach
UST my enemies insult me {for obeying you (חֶרְפָּתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of reproach, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the insults against me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for your judgments are good
UST because it is good to do what you tell us to do
(כִּי מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ טוֹבִים)

The phrase for your judgments are good introduces the reason or grounds for the request. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a reason clause. Alternate translation: [because your judgments are good]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT for your judgments are good
UST because it is good to do what you tell us to do
(כִּי מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ טוֹבִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for you judge rightly and your decisions are good]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my reproach	my enemies insult me {for obeying you
I dread	I become afraid
your judgments	to do what you tell us to do are good	it is good

Psalms 119:40

ULT	UST
Behold, I long for your precepts! In your righteousness, revive me! WAW	Indeed, I very much desire to obey what you have declared that we should do! Because you are righteous, please make me joyful again in living {for you}. WAW

ULT Behold
UST Indeed
(הִנֵּה)

The psalmist is using the term Behold to focus attention on what he is about to say. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation. Alternate translation: [Listen to me when I say that]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT In your righteousness
UST Because you are righteous
(בְּצִדְקָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Because you do what is right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT revive me
UST please make me joyful again in living {for you
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [restore me to a full life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for your precepts	what you have declared that we should do
In your righteousness	Because you are righteous

Psalms 119:41

ULT	UST
And let your covenant faithfulness come to me, Yahweh; your salvation, according to your word;	Then I will know that you faithfully love me, Yahweh; and that you will save me as you promised that you would do.

ULT And let your covenant faithfulness come to me
UST Then I will know that you faithfully love me
(וִיבֹאֵנִי חֲסָדֶךָ)

The psalmist speaks of covenant faithfulness as if it were a person who could come to him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And show me your faithful love]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your salvation
UST and that you will save me
(תְּשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [rescue me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your salvation
UST and that you will save me
(תְּשׁוּעָתֶךָ)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You can supply these words from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [and let your salvation come to me]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your covenant faithfulness	you faithfully love me
Yahweh	Yahweh
your salvation	and that you will save me

Psalms 119:42

ULT	UST
then I will answer the one reproaching me {with} a word, for I trust in your word.	After you do that, I will be able to reply to those who insult me because I trust what you have said.

ULT the one reproaching me
UST to those who insult me
(חֹרְפִ֑י)

The psalmist is not referring to a specific one of his enemies that is reproaching him. He means all his enemies who are insulting him in general. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could use an expression that would be more natural in your language. Alternate translation: [all my enemies who are insulting me]

Support Reference: Generic Noun Phrases

ULT then I will answer the one reproaching me {with} a word, for I trust in your word
UST After you do that, I will be able to reply to those who insult me because I trust what you have said
(וְאֶֽעֱנֶ֣ה חֹרְפִ֣י דָבָ֑ר כִּֽי־בָטַ֖חְתִּי בִּדְבָרֶֽךָ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Since I I trust in your word, I will answer the one reproaching me with a word]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the one reproaching me	to those who insult me
I trust	I trust

Psalms 119:43

ULT	UST
So do not utterly snatch the word of truth from my mouth, for I wait for your judgments.	Please do allow me to truthfully tell {them how you saved me}; you see, I am patiently waiting for you to act justly.

ULT So do not utterly snatch the word of truth from my mouth
UST Please do allow me to truthfully tell {them how you saved me
(וְאַל־תַּצֵּל מִפִּי דְבַר־אֱמֶת עַד־מְאֹד)

Here the psalmist is speaking about telling the word of truth about Yahweh saving him as if they were something that someone could snatch out of his mouth. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [So do not keep me from being able to tell others the word of truth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the word of truth
UST to truthfully tell {them
(דְבַר־אֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the word that is true]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the word of truth	to truthfully tell {them
for your judgments	for you to act justly

Psalms 119:44

ULT	UST
Then I will observe your teaching continually, forever and ever.	I will consistently obey your instructions, for as long as I live.

ULT forever and ever
UST for as long as I live
(לְעוֹלָם וָעֶד)

The terms forever and ever mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [always without end]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your teaching	your instructions
forever	for as long as I live

Psalms 119:45

ULT	UST
And I will walk about in the broad, for I seek your precepts.	I will live freely and safely because I {always} try to obey your regulations.

ULT And I will walk about in the broad
UST I will live freely and safely
(וְאֶתְהַלְּכָה בָרְחָבָה)

The psalmist is speaking of living his life in freedom as if he could walk about in the broad open spaces. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [And I will live in freedom]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in the broad
UST freely and safely
(בָרְחָבָה)

The psalmist is leaving out some of the words that the reader that in many languages a sentence would need in order to be complete. You could supply it from the context if that would be clearer in your language. Alternate translation: [in the broad open places]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

ULT for I seek your precepts
UST because I {always} try to obey your regulations
(כִּי פִקֻּדֶיךָ דָרָשְׁתִּי)

The phrase for I seek your precepts introduces the reason for the previous statement. Use a natural form in your language for introducing a reason clause. Alternate translation: [because I seek your precepts]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT for I seek your precepts
UST because I {always} try to obey your regulations
(כִּי פִקֻּדֶיךָ דָרָשְׁתִּי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of trying to understand and follow Yahweh's rules as if they were an object someone would actually go search for or seek. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for I will try to follow your precepts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I seek	I {always} try to obey
your precepts	your regulations

Psalms 119:46

ULT	UST
And I will speak of your testimonies before kings, and I will not have shame.	I will tell kings the things that you have said; I will not be ashamed {to do so}.

ULT and I will not have shame
UST I will not be ashamed {to do so
(וְלֹא אֵבוֹשׁ)

The psalmist is expressing a positive meaning by using a negative word together with a word that is the opposite of the intended meaning. If it would be clearer in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and I will speak boldly]

Support Reference: Litotes

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
of your testimonies	the things that you have said
kings	kings
I will & have shame	I will & be ashamed {to do so

Psalms 119:48

ULT	UST
And I will lift up my palms to your commandments, which I love, and I will meditate on your statutes. ZAYIN	I eagerly ask to receive more of your commandments. I love them, and I will think deeply about everything that you require us to do. ZAYIN

ULT And I will lift up my palms to your commandments
UST I eagerly ask to receive more of your commandments
(וְאֶשָּׂא־כַפַּי אֶל־מִצְוֹתֶיךָ)

The phrase And I will lift up my palms usually refers to prayer, but here it could mean: (1) that the psalmist is reaching out to receive Yahweh's commandments. Alternate translation: [And I want more of your commandments] or (2) that the psalmist highly respects Yahweh's commandments. Alternate translation: [And I honor your commandments]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I love	I love
and I will meditate	and I will think deeply about
on your statutes	everything that you require us to do

Psalms 119:49

ULT	UST
Remember the word to your servant by which you have given me hope.	Please do what you said you would do for me, the one who serves you, because what you have said has caused me to confidently expect good things from you.

ULT to your servant
UST for me, the one who serves you
(לְעַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [to me, your servant]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT you have given me hope
UST has caused me to confidently expect good things from you (יִחַלְתָּנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of hope, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [you have caused me to hope]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to your servant	for me, the one who serves you you have given me hope	has caused me to confidently expect good things from you

Psalms 119:50

ULT	UST
This {is} my comfort in my affliction because your promise revives me.	When I am suffering, your promise to me comforts me; knowing that you will do what you have said makes me joyful again in living {for you}.

ULT This {is} my comfort
UST your promise to me comforts me
(זֹאת נֶחָמָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of comfort, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [This is what makes me feel better]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in my affliction
UST When I am suffering
(בְּעָנְיִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of affliction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in what afflicts me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT your promise revives me
UST you will do what you have said makes me joyful again in living {for you (אִמְרָתְךָ חִיָּתְנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and Yahweh's promise revives or makes him alive again. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [you restore my life through your promise]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in my affliction	When I am suffering
your promise	you will do what you have said

Psalms 119:51

ULT	UST
The proud utterly scoff at me; from your teaching I do not turn aside.	Proud people are always making fun of me, but I do not stop obeying your instructions.

ULT The proud
UST Proud people
(זֵדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective proud as a noun to refer to a group of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [People who are proud]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT from your teaching I do not turn aside
UST but I do not stop obeying your instructions
(מִתּוֹרָתְךָ֥ לֹ֗א נָטִ֫יתִי)

The psalmist is speaking of obedience to Yahweh's teaching as if it were staying on a physical path, and disobedience as if it were to turn aside from that path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your teaching I do not disobey]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The proud	Proud people
scoff at me	are & making fun of me
from your teaching	obeying your instructions

Psalms 119:53

ULT	UST
Rage has seized me from the wicked rejecting your teaching.	When I see wicked people disregard your instructions, I become very angry.

ULT Rage has seized me from the wicked rejecting your teaching
UST When I see wicked people disregard your instructions, I become very angry
(זַלְעָפָה אֲחָזַתְנִי מֵרְשָׁעִים עֹזְבֵי תּוֹרָתֶךָ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases as modeled in the UST, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes.

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Rage has seized me
UST I become very angry
(זַלְעָפָה אֲחָזַתְנִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Rage as if it were a person who could seize or grab someone. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am overcome with rage]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Rage has seized me
UST I become very angry
(זַלְעָפָה אֲחָזַתְנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Rage, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I become extremely angry]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from the wicked
UST When I see wicked people
(מֵרְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to refer to a group of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could add a word such as “people.” Alternate translation: [from wicked people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Rage	very angry
has seized me	I become from the wicked	When I see wicked people rejecting	disregard
your teaching	your instructions

Psalms 119:54

ULT	UST
Your statutes are music to me in the house of my sojourning.	During this short time that I am living here on the earth, the regulations that you have given to us are like music to me.

ULT Your statutes are music to me
UST the regulations that you have given to us are like music to me
(זְמִרוֹת הָיוּ־לִי חֻקֶּיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of your statutes as if they were music that brings delight. If your language has a comparable expression, you could use it here, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your statutes are a delight to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT in the house of my sojourning
UST During this short time that I am living here on the earth
(בְּבֵית מְגוּרָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of sojourning, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [where I temporarily dwell]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in the house of my sojourning
UST During this short time that I am living here on the earth
(בְּבֵית מְגוּרָי)

The psalmist is speaking of his life on earth as if it were a temporary dwelling place, calling it the house of my sojourning. If your language has a comparable expression, you could use it here, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [during my temporary stay on earth]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your statutes	the regulations that you have given to us
my sojourning	During this short time that I am living here on the earth

Psalms 119:55

ULT	UST
I remember your name during the night, Yahweh, and I shall observe your teaching.	Yahweh, {even} during the night I think about you, so that I {always} obey your instructions.

ULT I remember your name
UST I think about you
(זָכַרְתִּי & שִׁמְךָ)

Here, your name represents Yahweh himself, including his character and reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I think about who you are]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
your teaching	your instructions

Psalms 119:56

ULT	UST
This is for me, that I keep your precepts. HETH	This is what I do; I obey your regulations. HETH

ULT This
UST This
(זֹאת)

Here, This refers to what the psalmist has described in the preceding verse, his practice of remembering Yahweh and obeying his teaching. It may be helpful to clarify this for your readers. Alternate translation: [What I have described]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

Psalms 119:57

ULT	UST
Yahweh {is} my portion; I promise to observe your words.	Yahweh, you have granted to me that I would belong to you, and I promise to obey what you tell me to do.

> ULT Yahweh {is} my portion
> UST Yahweh, you have granted to me that I would belong to you
> (חֶלְקִי יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh as the most valuable thing the psalmist possesses as if Yahweh were his portion, an allotment of land, or inheritance. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Yahweh is my treasure]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT Yahweh {is} my portion
> UST Yahweh, you have granted to me that I would belong to you
> (חֶלְקִי יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh in the third person even though he has been addressing him directly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the second person. Alternate translation: [Yahweh, you are my portion]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
I promise	and I promise to

Psalms 119:58

ULT	UST
I entreat your face with a whole heart; be merciful to me according to your word.	I earnestly plead with you {to be good to me}; act kindly to me as you promised that you would do.

ULT I entreat your face
UST I & plead with you {to be good to me
(חִלִּ֥יתִי פָנֶ֗יךָ)

Here, your face represents Yahweh's presence and attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I earnestly seek your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT with a whole heart
UST earnestly
(בְּכָל־לֵ֑ב)

Here the heart represents where a person's intentions and motives exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with complete sincerity] or [with sincere devotion]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
be merciful to me	act kindly to me

Psalms 119:59

ULT	UST
I examine my ways and turn my feet to your testimonies.	I think about my behavior, and {when it is wrong,} I once again obey what you tell me to do.

ULT I examine my ways and turn my feet
UST I think about my behavior, and {when it is wrong,} I once again obey (חִשַּׁבְתִּי דְרָכָי וָאָשִׁיבָה רַגְלַי)

The word and here indicates a sequence of events. First the psalmist examines his conduct, and then he redirects himself toward Yahweh's instructions. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this sequence more explicit. Alternate translation: [I examine my ways and then turn my feet]

Support Reference: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

ULT I examine my ways
UST I think about my behavior, and {when it is wrong
(חִשַּׁבְתִּי דְרָכָי)

The psalmist is speaking of his behavior or conduct as if it were physical paths or ways that he could study or examine. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I consider my conduct]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and turn my feet to your testimonies
UST I once again obey what you tell me to do
(וָאָשִׁיבָה רַגְלַי אֶל־עֵדֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of obedience to Yahweh's testimonies as if it were on a physical path, and he would turn his feet to follow that path. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and redirect myself to obey your testimonies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your testimonies	what you tell me to do

Psalms 119:60

ULT	UST
I hurry and do not delay to observe your commandments.	{When I understand} your instructions, I do them immediately.

ULT I hurry and do not delay
UST immediately
(חַשְׁתִּי וְלֹא הִתְמַהְמָהְתִּי)

The phrases I hurry and do not delay mean similar things. The psalmist is saying it first positively and then negatively in order to emphasize the urgency with which he obeys Yahweh's commands. If a speaker of your language would not use repetition like this, in your translation you can convey the emphasis in a different way. Alternate translation: [I quickly determine]

Support Reference: Parallelism

Psalms 119:61

ULT	UST
The cords of the wicked ensnare me; I do not forget your teaching.	Wicked people try to make me do bad things, but I continue to obey your instructions.

ULT The cords of the wicked ensnare me
UST Wicked people try to make me do bad things
(חֶבְלֵי רְשָׁעִים עִוְּדֵנִי)

The psalmist is speaking of the schemes of wicked people as if they were physical cords that are intended to ensnare him. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Those who are wicked try to trap me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the wicked
UST Wicked people
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to refer to a group of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could add a word such as “people.” Alternate translation: [people who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT I do not forget
UST but I continue to obey
(לֹא שָׁכָחְתִּי)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forget to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh’s precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I will continually keep in mind everything in]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked	Wicked people
ensnare me	try to make me do bad things
your teaching	your instructions

Psalms 119:62

ULT	UST
In the middle of the night I rise to praise you because of the judgments of your righteousness.	In the middle of the night I get up, in order to praise you because everything that you say is completely right.

ULT because of the judgments of your righteousness
UST because everything that you say is completely right
(עַל מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because of the judgments of your righteousness, I rise in the middle of the night to praise you]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT the judgments of your righteousness
UST everything that you say is completely right
(מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgments that is characterized by righteousness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the judgments that reflect your righteousness]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT your righteousness
UST is completely right
(צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your just character]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
to praise	in order to praise
the judgments of	everything that you say
your righteousness	is completely right

Psalms 119:64

ULT	UST
Your covenant faithfulness fills the earth, Yahweh; teach me your statutes. TETH	Yahweh, you faithfully love people all over the earth; please {continue to} teach me how you want people to live. TETH

ULT Your covenant faithfulness fills the earth
UST you faithfully love people all over the earth
(חַסְדְּךָ & מָלְאָה הָאָרֶץ)

The psalmist is speaking of covenant faithfulness as if it were a substance that could fill a physical space. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your covenant faithfulness includes everyone throughout the earth]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT Your covenant faithfulness
UST you faithfully love
(חַסְדְּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [The way you faithfully love]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your covenant faithfulness	you faithfully love
Yahweh	Yahweh
your statutes	how you want people to live

Psalms 119:65

ULT	UST
You do good to your servant, Yahweh, according to your word.	Yahweh, you have done good things for me, your servant, just as you promised that you would do.

ULT your servant
UST me, your servant
(עַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
good	good things
your servant	me, your servant
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 119:66

ULT	UST
Teach me good discernment and understanding, for I trust in your commandments.	Teach me to understand {what is happening around me} and to think carefully {before I decide what to do}, because I believe that the best way to live is to obey what you tell us to do.

ULT good discernment and understanding
UST to understand {what is happening around me} and to think carefully {before I decide what to do
(טְוּב טַעַם וְדַעַת)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of discernment and understanding, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [to discern well and to understand]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT good discernment and understanding
UST to understand {what is happening around me} and to think carefully {before I decide what to do
(טְוּב טַעַם וְדַעַת)

The terms discernment and understanding mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [wise understanding]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
good	carefully
discernment	and to think & before I decide what to do and understanding	to understand {what is happening around me
I trust	I believe that the best way to live

Psalms 119:67

ULT	UST
Before I was afflicted, I was going astray, but now I observe your word.	Before you afflicted me, I did things that were wrong, but now I obey what you say to do.

ULT Before I was afflicted, I was going astray
UST Before you afflicted me, I did things that were wrong
(טֶרֶם אֶעֱנֶה אֲנִי שֹׁגֵג)

The word Before here indicates a sequence of events. First there was a time of going astray, and then affliction came. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this sequence more explicit. Alternate translation: [I was going astray, and then I was afflicted]

Support Reference: Connect — Sequential Time Relationship

ULT I was afflicted
UST you afflicted me
(אֶעֱנֶה)

The expression was afflicted is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [you caused me to suffer]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I was going astray
UST I did things that were wrong
(אֲנִי שֹׁגֵג)

The psalmist is speaking of disobedience as if it were physically going astray from a path. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I was disobeying your instructions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I was afflicted	you afflicted me
I observe	I obey

Psalms 119:68

ULT	UST
You {are} good, and you do good. Teach me your statutes.	You are good, and what you do is good; teach me the {good} things that you have told us to do.

ULT and you do good
UST and what you do is good
(וּמֵטִיב)

The psalmist is leaving out information that the reader needs in order to understand the sentence. If it would be helpful in your language, you could supply this information from the context. Alternate translation: [and everything you do is good]

Support Reference: Ellipsis

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
good	are good
and you do good	and what you do is good your statutes	the {good} things that you have told us to do

Psalms 119:69

ULT	UST
The arrogant smear lies on me; I, with a whole heart, I keep your precepts.	Proud people tell many lies about me, but as for me, I enthusiastically obey what you have told us to do.

ULT The arrogant
UST Proud people
(זֵדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective arrogant as a noun to refer to a group of people. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you could add a word such as “people.” Alternate translation: [Arrogant people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT smear lies on me
UST tell many lies about me
(טָפְלוּ עָלַי שֶׁקֶר)

The psalmist is using smear lies on me as a common expression of his culture to mean to slander someone by spreading false accusations about them. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [spread false accusations about me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT I, with a whole heart, I keep your precepts
UST but as for me, I enthusiastically obey what you have told us to do
(אֲנִי בְּכָל־לֵב | אֶצֹּר פִּקּוּדֶיךָ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I keep already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that he is making a commitment to obey Yahweh. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [but as for me, I wholeheartedly promise to keep your precepts]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

> ULT with a whole heart
> UST enthusiastically
> (בְּכָל־לֵב)

Here the heart represents where a person's intentions and motives exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with complete devotion] or [with full intentionality]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The arrogant	Proud people
lies	many lies
your precepts	what you have told us to do

Psalms 119:70

ULT	UST
Their hearts {are} unfeeling like fat, I, {in} your teaching, I delight.	Those people are stupid, but as for me, I happily obey your instructions.

ULT Their hearts {are} unfeeling
UST Those people are stupid
(טָפַשׁ & לִבָּם)

Here, hearts are unfeeling represents that the enemies' hearts which represent their inner thoughts are unfeeling which means their emotions do not work and they lack feelings. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They are insensitive]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Their hearts {are} unfeeling like fat
UST Those people are stupid
(טָפַשׁ כַּחֵלֶב לִבָּם)

The point of this comparison is that just as fat is insensitive, so his enemies' hearts are unable to feel or understand. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [Their hearts are dull]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT I, {in} your teaching, I delight
UST but as for me, I happily obey your instructions
(אֲנִי תּוֹרָתְךָ שִׁעֲשָׁעְתִּי)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I delight already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize his enjoyment of obeying Yahweh's teaching. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [but as for me, I find joy in obeying your teaching]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in} your teaching	your instructions
I delight	I happily obey

Psalms 119:72

ULT	UST
The teaching of your mouth {is} good for me, more than thousands of gold and silver. YODH	The instructions that you give {to us} are beneficial to me. They are more beneficial than thousands of pieces of gold and silver. YODH

ULT The teaching of your mouth
UST The instructions that you give {to us
(תּוֹרַת־פִּיךָ)

Here, your mouth represents Yahweh speaking. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The teaching that you speak]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT The teaching of your mouth
UST The instructions that you give {to us
(תּוֹרַת־פִּיךָ)

The psalmist uses the possessive form teaching of your mouth to indicate that the teaching comes from Yahweh's mouth, meaning he is the source of the teaching. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this relationship in another way. Alternate translation: [The teaching that you have spoken]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT more than thousands of gold and silver
UST They are more beneficial than thousands of pieces of gold and silver (מֵאַלְפֵי זָהָב וָכָסֶף)

The psalmist says the teaching is more than thousands of gold and silver. This is a generalization for emphasis, meaning he considers Yahweh's teaching to be incomparably better and more valuable than any amount of wealth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use a comparable expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [better than any amount of gold and silver]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The teaching of	The instructions that you give {to us
is} good	are beneficial
gold	gold
and silver	and silver

Psalms 119:73

ULT	UST
Your hands have made me and established me; give me understanding so that I may learn your commandments.	You created me and made me who I am; please help me to be wise so that I may learn {to obey} what you tell me to do.

ULT Your hands have made me
UST You created me
(יָדֶיךָ עָשׂוּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh creating him as if he made him by using his hands to shape him as an object might be formed out of clay. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You are the one who created me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and established me
UST and made me who I am
(וַיְכוֹנְנוּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh has made him who he is as if he were a structure being established or firmly built. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and established me	and made me who I am
give me understanding	please help me to be wise

Psalms 119:74

ULT	UST
May the fearful of you see me and rejoice because I hope in your word.	I want everyone who deeply reveres you to see {what you have done for} me. Then they will be glad, because they will see {how good it is} that I have trusted you to do what you said.

ULT May the fearful of you see me and rejoice because I hope in your word

UST I want everyone who deeply reveres you to see {what you have done for} me. Then they will be glad, because they will see {how good it is} that I have trusted you to do what you said

(יְרֵאֶיךָ יִרְאוּנִי וְיִשְׂמָחוּ כִּי לִדְבָרְךָ יִחָלְתִּי׃)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because I hope in your word, may those who fear you see me and rejoice]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT the fearful of you

UST everyone who deeply reveres you

(יְרֵאֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective fearful as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who fear you]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the fearful of you	everyone who deeply reveres you and rejoice	Then they will be glad
I hope	they will see {how good it is} that I have trusted you

Psalms 119:75

ULT	UST
Yahweh, I know that your judgments {are} just, and {in} faithfulness you humble me.	Yahweh, I know that when you judge people, you are always right. I know that you have made me suffer only because you faithfully love me.

ULT your judgments
UST when you judge people
(מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the things you have judged]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and {in} faithfulness
UST you faithfully love me
(וֶאֱמוּנָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and in being faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	Yahweh
I know	I know
your judgments	when you judge people
are} just	you are always right
and {in} faithfulness	you faithfully love me
you humble me	I know that you have made me suffer only because

Psalms 119:76

ULT	UST
Please may your covenant faithfulness be to comfort me, according to your word to your servant.	Please comfort me by showing that you faithfully love me as you said to me, your servant, that you would do.

ULT your covenant faithfulness be to comfort me
UST comfort me & you faithfully love me
(חַסְדְּךָ֥ לְנַחֲמֻֽנִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the way you faithfully love me comforts me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to your servant
UST to me, your servant
(לְעַבְדֶּֽךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Please	Please
your covenant faithfulness be	you faithfully love me
to your servant	to me, your servant

Psalms 119:77

ULT	UST
May your compassion come to me so that I may live, for your teaching {is} my delight.	I want you to act mercifully to me in order that I may continue to live, because I am delighted with your instruction.

ULT May your compassion come to me
UST I want you to act mercifully to me
(יְבֹאֻנִי רַחֲמֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of compassion as if it were a person who could travel or come to him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May you show compassion to me]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your compassion
UST act mercifully
(רַחֲמֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of compassion, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your merciful care]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT is} my delight
UST I am delighted with
(שַׁעֲשֻׁעָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of delight, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what delights me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your compassion	act mercifully
your teaching	your instruction is} my delight	I am delighted with

Psalms 119:78

ULT	UST
Let the proud have shame, for they have slandered me {with} a lie; I, I will meditate on your precepts.	Cause the proud people who falsely accuse me to be ashamed; but as for me, I will continue meditating on what you have commanded that I should do.

ULT the proud
UST the proud people
(זֵדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective proud as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are proud]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT I, I will meditate
UST but as for me, I will continue meditating
(אֲנִי֙ אָשִׂ֣יחַ)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as I will meditate already includes this meaning. He is doing that to mark a contrast between himself and the proud who slander him. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [as for me, I will meditate]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the proud	the proud people
Let & have shame	Cause & to be ashamed
they have slandered me	accuse me
with} a lie	falsely
I will meditate	I will continue meditating
on your precepts	on what you have commanded that I should do

Psalms 119:79

ULT	UST
May the fearful of you turn to me, so that they may know your testimonies.	Cause those who deeply revere you to come to me in order that they may learn what you say to us.

ULT the fearful of you
UST those who deeply revere you
(יְרֵאֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using the adjective fearful as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who fear you]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT May the fearful of you turn to me
UST Cause those who deeply revere you to come to me
(יָשׁוּבוּ לִי יְרֵאֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking as if the people were not paying attention to him but he wants them to turn back to him and pay attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May the fearful of me pay attention to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT so that they may know
UST in order that they may learn
(וידעו)

Some ancient manuscripts read “so that they may know.” The ULT follows that reading. Other ancient manuscripts read “also those knowing.” If a translation of the Bible exists in your region, you may wish to use the reading that it uses. If a translation of the Bible does not exist in your region, you may wish to use the reading of the ULT.

Support Reference: Textual Variants

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the fearful of you	those who deeply revere you
so that they may know	in order that they may learn
your testimonies	what you say to us

Psalms 119:80

ULT	UST
May my heart be blameless in your statutes, so that I may not have shame. KAPH	Enable me to want to perfectly obey your regulations in order that I may not be ashamed {because of not doing that}. KAPH

ULT May my heart be
UST Enable me to want to & obey
(יְהִי־לִבִּי)

Here, my heart represents where the psalmist's inner life and devotion exist. You may have a comparable expression in your language, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [May my inner being be]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
blameless	perfectly
in your statutes	your regulations
not have shame	because of not doing that

Psalms 119:81

ULT	UST
My soul faints for your salvation! I wait for your word.	I desperately long for you to save me {from my enemies}, but I will wait, knowing that you will answer {my prayer}.

ULT My soul faints
UST I desperately long
(כָּלְתָה & נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, My soul, to represent his whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I faint]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT for your salvation
UST for you to save me {from my enemies
(לִתְשׁוּעָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for you to deliver me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	I
for your salvation	for you to save me {from my enemies

Psalms 119:82

ULT	UST
My eyes faint for your promise; saying, “When will you comfort me?”	My eyes are tired from watching for you to do what you promised that you would do, and I ask, “When will you help me?”

ULT My eyes faint
UST My eyes are tired
(כָּלְוּ עֵינַי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his eyes, to represent his whole person in the act of watching expectantly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I grow weary with looking]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT When will you comfort me
UST When will you help me
(מָתַי תְּנַחֲמֵנִי)

The psalmist is using the question form to express urgent longing rather than to seek information. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or a request. Alternate translation: [Please comfort me soon!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for your promise	from watching for you to do what you promised that you would do

Psalms 119:83

ULT	UST
For I have become like a wineskin in the smoke; I do not forget your statutes.	Indeed, I feel as {weak and useless as} a wineskin that is {shriveled up from} hanging {a long time} in the smoke, but I have not forgotten your regulations.

ULT For
UST Indeed
(כִּי)

Here the word For introduces not a reason but an explanation. You may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. Alternate translation: [In fact,]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

ULT like a wineskin in the smoke
UST as {weak and useless as} a wineskin that is {shriveled up from} hanging {a long time} in the smoke
(כְּנֹאד בְּקִיטֹור)

The point of this comparison is that just as a wineskin left in the smoke becomes shriveled and no longer useful, so the psalmist feels dried out and useless. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [just as useless as a wineskin that is ruined by smoke]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT I do not forget
UST I have not forgotten
(לֹא שָׁכָחְתִּי)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forget to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh's precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I will continually keep in mind everything in]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
like a wineskin	as {weak and useless as} a wineskin
your statutes	but & your regulations

Psalms 119:84

ULT	UST
How many {are} the days of your servant? When will you act in pursuing justice for me?	I, your servant, cannot wait any longer! I want you to punish those who persecute me soon!

ULT How many {are} the days of your servant
UST I, your servant, cannot wait any longer
(כַּמָּה יְמֵי־עַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is using the question form to express his frustration with waiting so long. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [My life is too short to wait any longer.]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT your servant
UST I, your servant
(עַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [me, your servant]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT When will you act in pursuing justice for me
UST I want you to punish those who persecute me soon
(מָתַי תַּעֲשֶׂה בְרֹדְפַי מִשְׁפָּט)

The psalmist is using the question form to urge Yahweh to act, not to seek information about timing. If a speaker of your language would not use the question form for that purpose, you could translate this as a statement or as an exclamation. Alternate translation: [Please act soon in pursuing justice for me!]

Support Reference: Rhetorical Question

ULT in pursuing justice for me
UST I want you to punish those who persecute me soon
(בְרֹדְפַי מִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of justice, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [in judging justly for me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servant	I, your servant
justice	I want you to punish those who persecute me soon

Psalms 119:85

ULT	UST
The proud have dug pits for me, which is not according to your teaching.	It is as though my proud enemies have dug deep pits for me {to fall into}. These people disobey your instructions {to us}.

ULT The proud
UST my proud enemies
(זֵדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective proud as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Proud people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT have dug pits for me
UST It is as though & have dug deep pits for me {to fall into (כָּרוּ־לִי & שִׁיחוֹת)

The psalmist is speaking of his enemies plotting harm as if they had dug pits to trap him. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [have plotted to harm me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The proud	my proud enemies
pits	deep pits
according to your teaching	your instructions {to us

Psalms 119:86

ULT	UST
All of your commandments are truth. They pursue me {in} deceit; help me!	Everything that you tell us to do is truly good {for us}; but people are persecuting me by telling lies {about me}, so please help me!

ULT are truth
UST is truly good {for us
(אֱמוּנָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are trustworthy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT in} deceit
UST by telling lies {about me
(שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of deceit, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [deceitfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

Psalms 119:87

ULT	UST
As a little they have made an end of me in the land, but I, I have not rejected your precepts.	Those people have come very close to killing me, but as for me, I have not stopped obeying what you have told us to do.

ULT As a little they have made an end of me
UST Those people have come very close to killing me
(כִּמְעַט כִּלּוּנִי)

The psalmist is using As a little they have made an end of me as a common expression of his culture to mean that the psalmist's enemies have nearly destroyed him. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [They have almost destroyed me]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT but I, I have not rejected
UST but as for me, I have not stopped obeying
(וַאֲנִי לֹא־עָזַבְתִּי)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun I separately, even though the verb translated as have not rejected already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize a contrast between the psalmist and his enemies. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [but I myself have not rejected]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
in the land	Those people & to killing me
I have & rejected	I have & stopped obeying

Psalms 119:88

ULT	UST
According to your covenant faithfulness, keep me alive, so that I may observe the testimony of your mouth. LAMEDH	Because you faithfully love {me}, allow me to {continue to} live so that I may {continue to} obey what you have instructed {us to do}. LAMEDH

ULT According to your covenant faithfulness
UST Because you faithfully love {me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [According to how you love me so faithfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the testimony of your mouth
UST what you have instructed {us to do
(עֵדוּת פִּיךָ)

The psalmist uses the possessive form the testimony of your mouth to indicate that the testimony comes from Yahweh's mouth, the source of the testimony. Alternate translation: [the testimony that you have spoken]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the testimony of your mouth
UST what you have instructed {us to do
(עֵדוּת פִּיךָ)

The psalmist is using the term mouth to mean what Yahweh has spoken. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all that you have told us to do]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
According to your covenant faithfulness	Because you faithfully love {me
the testimony of	what & have instructed {us to do

Psalms 119:89

ULT	UST
Forever, Yahweh, your word is established in the heavens.	Yahweh, what you have proclaimed is eternal; it exists forever in heaven.

ULT your word is established in the heavens
UST what you have proclaimed & it exists forever in heaven
(לְעֹלָם יְהוָה דְּבָרְךָ נִצָּב בַּשָּׁמָיִם)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's word as if it were a physical structure that is permanently established in the heavens. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [what you have said will be true in heaven forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your word is established
UST what you have proclaimed & it exists forever
(לְעֹלָם יְהוָה דְּבָרְךָ נִצָּב)

The expression is established is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [you have established your word]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Forever	is eternal
Yahweh	Yahweh
is established	it exists forever
in the heavens	in heaven

Psalms 119:90

ULT	UST
Your faithfulness {is} to generation and generation; you have established the earth, and it stands.	You will continue to act faithfully for people of every generation; you have put the earth in its place, and it remains firmly {there}.

ULT Your faithfulness {is
UST You will continue to act faithfully
(אֱמוּנָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [You are faithful]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT to generation and generation
UST for people of every generation
(לְדֹר וָדֹר)

The psalmist is using to to generation and generation as a common expression of his culture to mean “throughout all generations” or “forever.” If this phrase does not have that meaning in your language, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [throughout all generations]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT you have established the earth, and it stands
UST you have put the earth in its place, and it remains firmly {there (כּוֹנַנְתָּ אֶרֶץ וַתַּעֲמֹד)

The phrase and it stands describes the result of Yahweh’s having established the earth. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a result. Alternate translation: [you have established the earth, and that is why it remains firm]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your faithfulness {is	You will continue to act faithfully
to generation	for people of every generation
and generation	for people of every generation
you have established	you have put & in its place
the earth	the earth

Psalms 119:91

ULT	UST
By your judgments, they stand today, for all things are your servants.	To this day, all things on the earth remain because you decided that they should remain; that is because everything on the earth serves you.

ULT By your judgments, they stand today
UST To this day, all things on the earth remain because you decided that they should remain
(לְמִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ עָמְדוּ הַיּוֹם)

The pronoun they refers to heaven and earth, which the psalmist described in the previous two verses. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state that plainly. Alternate translation: [By your judgments, heaven and earth stand today]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

ULT By your judgments
UST because you decided that they should remain
(לְמִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [According to your decisions]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT all things are your servants
UST everything on the earth serves you
(הַכֹּל עֲבָדֶיךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of all things as if they were people who could serve Yahweh as servants. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [everything you created obeys your commands]

Support Reference: Personification

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
By your judgments	because you decided that they should remain
are your servants	serves you

Psalms 119:92

ULT	UST
If your teaching {had} not {been} my delight, then I would have perished in my affliction.	If I had not been delighted to obey your instructions, then I would have died because of what I was suffering.

ULT If your teaching {had} not {been} my delight, then I would have perished in my affliction
UST If I had not been delighted to obey your instructions, then I would have died because of what I was suffering
(לוּלֵי תוֹרָתְךָ שַׁעֲשֻׁעָי אָז אָבַדְתִּי בְעָנְיִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if your teaching had not been my delight were a hypothetical possibility, but he means that Yahweh's teaching has been his delight. If your readers might think that what the psalmist is saying is uncertain, then you could translate this as a confident positive statement. Alternate translation: [Because your teaching has been my delight, I have not perished in my affliction]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrary to Fact Conditions

ULT in my affliction
UST because of what I was suffering
(בְעָנְיִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of affliction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [when I was afflicted]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your teaching	your instructions
had & been} my delight	I had & been delighted to obey
I would have perished	I would have died
in my affliction	because of what I was suffering

Psalms 119:93

ULT	UST
I will not forget your precepts forever, for through them you have preserved me alive.	I will always remember what you have declared that we should do. I obeyed those things, and as a result, you have enabled me to continue to live.

ULT I will not forget
UST I will always remember
(לֹא־אֶשְׁכַּח)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forget to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh's precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I will continually keep it in mind]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

ULT for through them you have preserved me alive
UST I obeyed those things, and as a result, you have enabled me to continue to live
(כִּי בָם חִיִּיתָנִי)

The word for indicates that the psalmist is giving the reason why he will not forget Yahweh's precepts. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason. Alternate translation: [because I obeyed them, you have kept me alive]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
forever	always remember

Psalms 119:94

ULT	UST
I am yours; save me, for I seek your precepts.	I belong to you; please save me from my enemies because I intentionally obey what you have declared that we should do.

ULT I seek your precepts
UST I intentionally obey what you have declared that we should do (פִּקּוּדֶיךָ דָרָשְׁתִּי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of trying to obey Yahweh's instructions as if they were an object for which a person must seek. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I try hard to obey all your precepts]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
save me	please save me from my enemies
I seek	I intentionally obey

Psalms 119:95

ULT	UST
The wicked wait for me to destroy me; I pay attention to your testimonies.	Wicked men are waiting to ambush and kill me, but I think about what you have instructed {us to do}.

ULT The wicked
UST Wicked men
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Those who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT I pay attention to your testimonies
UST but I think about what you have instructed {us to do (עֵדֹתֶיךָ אֶתְבּוֹנָן)

The phrase I pay attention to your testimonies marks a contrast between the psalmist and the wicked who wait to destroy him. Use a connector in your language that makes this contrast clear. Alternate translation: [I, however, pay attention to your testimonies]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The wicked	Wicked men
to destroy me	and kill me
your testimonies	what you have instructed {us to do

Psalms 119:96

ULT	UST
I have seen an end for all perfection; your commandment is very broad. MEM	I have learned that there is a limit to {even} the best {that people can achieve}, but what you decree is limitless. MEM

ULT perfection
UST the best {that people can achieve
(תְּכִלָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of perfection, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [things that are perfect]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I have seen an end for all perfection
UST I have learned that there is a limit to {even} the best {that people can achieve (לְכָל תִּכְלָה רָאִיתִי קֵץ)

Here the psalmist uses or invents a proverb in order to convey the idea that even the best that man can do has its limits and comes to an end. Translate this proverb in a way that will be recognized as a proverb and be meaningful in your language and culture. Alternate translation: [I have seen that even the best has a limit]

Support Reference: Proverbs

ULT your commandment is very broad
UST but what you decree is limitless
(רְחָבָה מִצְוָתְךָ מְאֹד)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's commandment as if it were a physical space that is very broad, meaning it is without limit in its scope or application. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [your commandment has no limits]

Support Reference: Metaphor

> ULT your commandment is very broad
> UST but what you decree is limitless
> (רְחָבָה מִצְוָתְךָ מְאֹד)

If the connection between this statement and the previous one is not clear, you may want to use a different connecting word to show how this statement relates to what comes before it. [however, your commandment is very broad]

Support Reference: Connecting Words and Phrases

Psalms 119:97

ULT	UST
How I love your teaching! It is my meditation all the day.	I love your instructions very much! I meditate on them throughout the day.

ULT my meditation
UST I meditate on (שִׂיחָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of meditation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what I think deeply about]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I love	I love
your teaching	your instructions
my meditation	I meditate on

Psalms 119:98

ULT	UST
Your commandment makes me wiser than my enemies, for it is with me forever.	Because I know what you have told us to do and because I think about those things all the time, I have become wiser than my enemies.

ULT Your commandment makes me wiser than my enemies, for it is with me forever
UST Because I know what you have told us to do and because I think about those things all the time, I have become wiser than my enemies
(מֵאֹיְבַי תְּחַכְּמֵנִי מִצְוֹתֶךָ כִּי לְעוֹלָם הִיא־לִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because I meditate on your commandment all the time, it makes me wiser than my enemies]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
makes me wiser	I have become wiser than my enemies	than my enemies
forever	all the time

Psalms 119:99

ULT	UST
I have more insight than all my teachers, for your testimonies are a meditation to me.	I understand more than any of my teachers do because I continually think about everything that you tell {us}.

ULT I have more insight than all my teachers, for your testimonies are a meditation to me
UST I understand more than any of my teachers do because I continually think about everything that you tell {us
(מִכָּל־מְלַמְּדַי הִשְׂכַּלְתִּי כִּי עֵדְוֹתֶיךָ שִׂיחָה לִי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Since your testimonies are a meditation to me, I have more insight than all my teachers]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT are a meditation to me
UST I continually think about (שִׂיחָה לִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of meditation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are what I meditate on]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have & insight	I understand
my teachers	my teachers
your testimonies	everything that you tell {us are a meditation	continually think about

Psalms 119:100

ULT	UST
I understand more than the elders, for I have kept your precepts.	I behave more intelligently than many old people do because I obey what you have declared that we should do.

ULT I understand more than the elders, for I have kept your precepts
UST I behave more intelligently than many old people do because I obey what you have declared that we should do
(מִזְּקֵנִים אֶתְבּוֹנָן כִּי פִקּוּדֶיךָ נָצָרְתִּי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because I have kept your precepts, I understand more than the elders]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I understand	I behave & intelligently
more than the elders	more & than many old people do

Psalms 119:101

ULT	UST
I have restrained my feet from every evil path, so that I might keep your word.	I have avoided all evil behavior in order that I may obey what you have told us to do.

ULT I have restrained my feet
UST I have avoided
(כָּלִ֣אתִי רַגְלָ֑י)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, his feet, to mean all of himself in the act of conducting his life. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have kept myself]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT from every evil path
UST all evil behavior
(מִכָּל־אֹ֣רַח רָ֭ע)

The psalmist is speaking of avoiding sinful behavior as if he were staying away from walking on an evil path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [from every sinful behavior]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
evil	evil
I might keep	I may obey

Psalms 119:102

ULT	UST
I have not turned aside from your judgments, for you, you have taught me.	I have not stopped obeying your regulations because you are the one who taught {them} to me.

ULT I have not turned aside
UST I have not stopped obeying
(לֹא־סַרְתִּי)

The psalmist is speaking of disobeying Yahweh's judgments as if they were path that he could physically turn aside from or depart from. Your language may have a comparable expression you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have not departed]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT from your judgments
UST your regulations
(מִמִּשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from what you have decreed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT you, you have taught me
UST you are the one who taught {them} to me
(אַתָּה הוֹרֵתָנִי)

The psalmist is stating the pronoun you separately, even though the verb translated as have taught already includes this meaning. He is doing that to emphasize that it is Yahweh himself who has taught him. If a speaker of your language would use an explicit pronoun for the same purpose, you may want to use that construction in your translation. If not, your language may have other ways of showing the meaning here. Alternate translation: [you yourself have taught me]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from your judgments	your regulations

Psalms 119:103

ULT	UST
How your word is sweet to my palate, more than honey to my mouth!	When I read your words, it is like eating something sweet; {yes,} it is even better than eating honey!

ULT How your word is sweet to my palate
UST When I read your words, it is like eating something sweet (מַה־נִּמְלְצוּ לְחִכִּי אִמְרָתֶךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's word as pleasing and satisfying as if it were food that could be eaten and taste sweet. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [How pleasing your word is to me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
more than honey	yes,} it is even better than & honey

Psalms 119:104

ULT	UST
From your precepts I gain understanding; therefore, I hate every path of falsehood. NUN	Because I have learned what you have declared that we should do, I am able to understand {many things}; therefore, I hate all evil activities. NUN

ULT I gain understanding
UST I am able to understand {many things
(אֶתְבּוֹנָן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of understanding, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I come to understand things]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT therefore, I hate every path of falsehood
UST therefore, I hate all evil activities
(עַל־כֵּ֥ן שָׂנֵ֗אתִי | כָּל־אֹ֣רַח שָׁ֑קֶר)

The term translated as therefore indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [as a result, I hate every path of falsehood]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT every path of falsehood
UST all evil activities
(כָּל־אֹ֣רַח שָׁ֑קֶר)

The psalmist is speaking of behavior as if it were a path that a person walks along. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [every way of living that is false]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT every path of falsehood
UST all evil activities
(כָּל־אֹ֣רַח שָׁ֑קֶר)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a path that is characterized by falsehood. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [every false path]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT falsehood
UST evil
(שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of falsehood, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what is false]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I gain understanding	I am able to understand {many things

Psalms 119:105

ULT	UST
Your word {is} a lamp to my foot and a light to my path.	Your instruction is like a lamp that guides me; yes, it is like a light that shows me where to walk.

ULT Your word {is} a lamp to my foot and a light to my path
UST Your instruction is like a lamp that guides me; yes, it is like a light that shows me where to walk
(נֵר־לְרַגְלִי דְבָרֶךָ וְאוֹר לִנְתִיבָתִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's word providing guidance for how to live as if it were a lamp and a light that illuminate a dark path that a person is walking along. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your word guides my steps and shows me how to live]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is} a lamp to my foot and a light to my path
UST is like a lamp that guides me; yes, it is like a light that shows me where to walk
(נֵר־לְרַגְלִי & וְאוֹר לִנְתִיבָתִי)

These two phrases a lamp to my foot and a light to my path mean basically the same thing. The psalmist is using the two phrases together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [is a guide for where I should walk]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
is} a lamp	is like a lamp that guides

Psalms 119:106

ULT	UST
I have sworn and I will confirm {it}, to keep the judgments of your righteousness.	I have solemnly promised, and I am solemnly promising it again, that I will always obey your regulations; they are always right.

ULT to keep the judgments of your righteousness
UST that I will always obey your regulations; they are always right (לִשְׁמֹר מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

Here, to keep marks the judgments of your righteousness as the goal or purpose of I have sworn and I will confirm it. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [so that I would keep the judgments of your righteousness]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT the judgments of your righteousness
UST your regulations; they are always right
(מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgments that is characterized by righteousness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [the judgments that reflect your righteousness]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT the judgments of your righteousness
UST your regulations; they are always right
(מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract nouns for the ideas of judgments and righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [all that you have declared to be right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have sworn	I have solemnly promised and I will confirm {it	and I am solemnly promising it again
the judgments of	your regulations
your righteousness	they are always right

Psalms 119:107

ULT	UST
I have been afflicted exceedingly; Yahweh, revive me according to your word.	Yahweh, I am suffering very much; cause me to be strong again as you have promised to do.

ULT I have been afflicted exceedingly
UST I am suffering very much
(נַעֲנֵיתִי עַד־מְאֹד)

The expression been afflicted exceedingly contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [Others have afflicted me exceedingly] or [I have suffered exceedingly]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT revive me
UST cause me to be strong again
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [restore me to a full life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have been afflicted	I am suffering
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 119:108

ULT	UST
Please accept the freewill offerings of my mouth, Yahweh, and teach me your judgments.	Yahweh, sometimes the sacrifices that I offer to you are just my prayers to thank and praise you. Please accept them, and teach me the things that you tell us to do.

ULT the freewill offerings of my mouth
UST sometimes the sacrifices that I offer to you are just my prayers to thank and praise you (נִדְבוֹת פִּי)

The psalmist is speaking of the praises that he says with his mouth as if they were a physical freewill offerings that he is voluntarily or freely presenting to Yahweh. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [the praises that I freely bring to you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Please	Please
the freewill offerings of	sometimes the sacrifices that I offer to you & to thank and praise you
Yahweh	Yahweh
teach me	teach me
and & your judgments	and & the things that you tell us to do

Psalms 119:109

ULT	UST
My soul {is} in my palm continually, but I do not forget your teaching.	My enemies are constantly trying to kill me, but I do not forget your instructions.

ULT My soul {is} in my palm continually
UST My enemies are constantly trying to kill me
(נַפְשִׁי בְכַפִּי תָמִיד)

The psalmist is using My soul is in my palm as a common expression of his culture to mean that the psalmist's life is in constant danger. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [My life is in constant danger]

Support Reference: Idiom

ULT I do not forget
UST I do not forget
(לֹא שָׁכָחְתִּי)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forget to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh's precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I will continually keep in mind everything in]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	My enemies are & trying to kill me
but & your teaching	but & your instructions

Psalms 119:110

ULT	UST
The wicked have set a snare for me, but I have not wandered from your precepts.	Wicked people have tried to seize me {as a hunter tries to catch little animals} with a trap, but I have not disobeyed what you declared that we should do.

ULT The wicked
UST Wicked people
(רְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. If it would be clearer in your language, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [Those who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT have set a snare for me
UST have tried to seize me {as a hunter tries to catch little animals} with a trap
(נָתְנוּ פַּח לִי)

The psalmist is speaking of the wicked plotting against him as if they had set a snare for him like a hunter trapping an animal. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [have plotted to catch me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT but I have not wandered from your precepts
UST but I have not disobeyed what you declared that we should do
(וּמִפִּקּוּדֶיךָ לֹא תָעִיתִי)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's precepts as if they were a path and disobedience to them as if it were wandering away from that path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [but I have not stopped obeying your instructions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The wicked	Wicked people
a snare	as a hunter tries to catch little animals} with a trap

Psalms 119:111

ULT	UST
I have inherited your testimonies forever, for they {are} the joy of my heart.	You have given me your instructions and they are mine forever; Indeed, they are what make me joyful.

ULT I have inherited your testimonies forever
UST You have given me your instructions and they are mine forever
(נָחַלְתִּי עֵדוֹתֶיךָ לְעוֹלָם)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's testimonies being a valuable gift that the psalmist has given to keep forever as if they were inherited gift of land or goods which is given to someone's descendants. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your testimonies are a valuable gift to me for all time]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT the joy of my heart
UST what make me joyful
(שְׂשׂוֹן לִבִּי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of joy, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what makes my heart rejoice]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT my heart
UST me
(לִבִּי)

The psalmist is using the word heart to refer to the place where his inner feelings and emotions exist. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [my inner being]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have inherited	You have given me
your testimonies	your instructions
forever	and they are mine forever
the joy of	what make & joyful

Psalms 119:112

ULT	UST
I have inclined my heart to do your statutes to forever, the end. SAMEKH	I have determined that I will always obey your commands as long as I live, to the very end. SAMEKH

ULT I have inclined my heart
UST I have determined
(נָטִ֣יתִי לִבִּ֣י)

Here the psalmist is speaking of desiring or resolving to do Yahweh's will as if his heart were inclined or leaning toward Yahweh's teachings. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have resolved]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your statutes	your commands
to forever	as long as I live

Psalms 119:113

ULT	UST
The double-minded I have hated, but your teaching I have loved.	I hate people who cannot decide what to commit to, but I love your instructions.

> ULT The double-minded
> UST people who cannot decide what to commit to
> (סֵעֲפִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective double-minded as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. If it would be clearer in your language, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [People who are double-minded]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

> ULT The double-minded
> UST people who cannot decide what to commit to
> (סֵעֲפִים)

Here the psalmist is speaking of a person who is not fully committed to obeying Yahweh as if they had two minds or were double-minded. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Those who are not completely committed to obeying you]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The double-minded	people who cannot decide what to commit to but your teaching	your instructions
I have loved	but I love

Psalms 119:114

ULT	UST
My hiding place and my shield {are} you; for your word I wait.	You are like a place where I can hide {from my enemies}, and you are like a shield {behind which I am protected from them}; I will wait, knowing that you will answer {my prayer}.

ULT My hiding place and my shield {are} you
UST You are like a place where I can hide {from my enemies}, and you are like a shield {behind which I am protected from them
(סִתְרִי וּמָגִנִּי אָתָּה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh protecting him as if he were a hiding place and a shield that provide safety from danger. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You are the one who hides me and defends me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT My hiding place and my shield {are} you
UST You are like a place where I can hide {from my enemies}, and you are like a shield {behind which I am protected from them
(סִתְרִי וּמָגִנִּי אָתָּה)

The terms hiding place and shield mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [You are my sure protection]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and my shield	are like a shield {behind which I am protected from them

Psalms 119:115

ULT	UST
Turn aside from me, doers of evil, and let me keep the commandments of my God.	You people who do evil things, go away from me so that I may obey what my God has commanded!

ULT doers of evil
UST You people who do evil things
(מְרֵעִים)

The psalmist is using the phrase doers of evil to describe people. If it would be clearer in your language, you could translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [you who make a practice of doing evil things]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT and let me keep the commandments of my God
UST so that I may obey what my God has commanded (וְאֶצְרָה מִצְוֹת אֱלֹהָי)

Here, and let me keep marks the commandments of my God as the goal or purpose of the evildoers departing. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that this is the purpose. Alternate translation: [in order to allow me to keep the commandments of my God]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
doers of evil	You people who do evil things
of my God	my God

Psalms 119:116

ULT	UST
Sustain me according to your word so that I may live, and do not make me ashamed of my hope.	Please enable me to be strong as you promised that you would do, in order that I may {continue to} live. I am confidently expecting {that you will restore me}; please do not disappoint me.

ULT of my hope
UST I am confidently expecting {that you will restore me
(מִשִּׂבְרִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of hope, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [of what I hope for]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
make me ashamed	please do & disappoint me
of my hope	I am confidently expecting {that you will restore me

Psalms 119:117

ULT	UST
Support me so that I will be saved, and so I may gaze on your statutes continually.	Please take care of me so that I can be safe and so that I can always pay attention to what you have decreed that we should do.

ULT so that I will be saved
UST so that I can be safe
(וְאִוָּשֵׁעָה)

The expression will be saved contains a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. Alternate translation: [so that you will save me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT so that I will be saved, and so I may gaze
UST so that I can be safe and so that I can & pay attention to (וְאִוָּשֵׁעָה וְאֶשְׁעֶה)

Here, so that marks I will be saved and I may gaze on your statutes as two goals or purposes of the request Support me. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that these are the purposes. Alternate translation: [in order that I will be saved and may gaze]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

ULT and so I may gaze on your statutes
UST and so that I can & pay attention to what you have decreed that we should do
(וְאֶשְׁעֶה בְחֻקֶּיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of understanding Yahweh's statutes as if it were an object that someone could gaze at with his eyes. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [so that I may understand all of your instructions]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
so that I will be saved	so that I can be safe
on your statutes	what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:118

ULT	UST
You reject all those straying from your statutes, for their deceit {is} falsehood.	You despise everyone who disregards what you have decreed that we should do; indeed, they deceive others by lying.

ULT all those straying from your statutes
UST everyone who disregards what you have decreed that we should do (כָּל־שֹׁגִים מֵחֻקֶּיךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's precepts as if they were a path and disobedience to them as if it were straying away from that path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [all those disobeying your statutes]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT their deceit
UST they deceive others
(תַּרְמִיתָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of deceit, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how they deceive]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT is} falsehood
UST by lying
(שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of falsehood, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is false]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
You reject	You despise
from your statutes	what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:119

ULT	UST
You cause to cease {as} dross all the wicked of the earth; therefore, I love your testimonies.	You get rid of all the wicked people on the earth as {people get rid of} trash; therefore, I love what you say to us.

ULT You cause to cease {as} dross all the wicked of UST You get rid of all the wicked people & as {people get rid of} trash (סִגִּ֥ים הִשְׁבַּ֗תָּ כָּל־רִשְׁעֵי־)

The point of this comparison is that just as a metalworker removes dross or worthless waste from metal, so Yahweh removes the wicked from the earth. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this point explicitly. Alternate translation: [You discard like worthless waste all the wicked of]

Support Reference: Simile

ULT the wicked of the earth
UST the wicked people on the earth
(רִשְׁעֵי־אָ֫רֶץ)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. If it would be clearer in your language, you could translate this word with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those on earth who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

ULT therefore
UST therefore
(לָ֭כֵן)

The term translated as therefore indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [This is why]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the wicked of	the wicked people
the earth	on the earth
I love	I love
your testimonies	what you say to us

Psalms 119:120

ULT	UST
My flesh shudders from dread of you, and I fear your judgments. AYIN	I tremble because I am afraid of you; I am afraid {because you punish those who do not obey} the rules that you have given to us. AYIN

ULT My flesh shudders
UST I tremble
(סָמַר & בְּשָׂרִי)

The psalmist is using one part of a person, his flesh, to mean all of himself in the act of trembling with fear. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I shudder]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT from dread of you
UST because I am afraid of you
(מִפַּחְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of dread, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [because I dread you]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and I fear your judgments
UST I am afraid {because you punish those who do not obey} the rules that you have given to us
(וּמִמִּשְׁפָּטֶיךָ יָרֵאתִי)

The phrase and I fear your judgments is explaining the a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because I fear your judgments]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
from dread of you	because I am afraid of you and I fear	I am afraid
your judgments	because you punish those who do not obey} the rules that you have given to us

Psalms 119:121

ULT	UST
I have done justice and righteousness; do not leave me to those oppressing me.	But I have done what is right and fair; so please do not allow people to oppress me.

ULT justice and righteousness
UST what is right and fair
(מִשְׁפָּט וְצֶדֶק)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of justice and righteousness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [what is just and what is right]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
justice	what is right
and righteousness	and fair
do not leave me	so please do not allow

Psalms 119:122

ULT	UST
Be surety for your servant for good; do not let the arrogant oppress me.	Please ensure that good things will happen for me, your servant, and do not allow proud people to oppress me.

ULT Be surety for your servant for good; do not let the arrogant oppress me
UST Please ensure that good things will happen for me, your servant, and do not allow proud people to oppress me
(עָרַ֣ב עַבְדְּךָ֣ לְטוֹב֮ אַל־יַעַשְׁקֻ֪נִי זֵדִ֫ים)

These are imperatives, but they communicate polite requests rather than commands. If the imperatives do not communicate polite requests for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates polite requests. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [Please guarantee the safety of your servant; please do not let arrogant people oppress me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

ULT Be surety for your servant
UST Please ensure that & for me, your servant
(עָרַ֣ב עַבְדְּךָ֣)

Here, Be surety means to be a guarantor for. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Guarantee the safety of your servant]

Support Reference: Assumed Knowledge and Implicit Information

ULT for your servant
UST for me, your servant
(עַבְדְּךָ֣)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

> ULT the arrogant
> UST proud people
> (זֵדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective arrogant as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [arrogant people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for your servant	for me, your servant
for good	good things will happen
the arrogant	proud people

Psalms 119:123

ULT	UST
My eyes have failed for your salvation and for the word of your righteousness.	My eyes are tired from watching for you to save me, yes, from watching for you to do what is right, as you promised to do.

ULT My eyes have failed
UST My eyes are tired from watching
(עֵינַי כָּלְוּ)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his eyes, to mean all of himself in the act of watching and waiting. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have grown weary from watching]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

ULT for your salvation
UST for you to save me
(לִישׁוּעָתֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [waiting for you to rescue me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and for the word of your righteousness
UST yes, from watching for you to do what is right, as you promised to do
(וּלְאִמְרַת צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a word that is characterized by righteousness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [and for your righteous word]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT your righteousness
UST what is right
(צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your righteous promise]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
for your salvation	for you to save me
your righteousness	what is right

Psalms 119:124

ULT	UST
Deal with your servant according to your covenant faithfulness, and teach me your statutes.	Please do {things} for me, your servant, to show that you faithfully love me, and teach me how to do what you have decreed that we should do.

ULT your servant
UST me, your servant
(עַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

ULT according to your covenant faithfulness
UST to show that you faithfully love me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [by loving me faithfully as you have promised]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your servant	me, your servant
according to your covenant faithfulness	to show that you faithfully love me
and & your statutes	and & what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:126

ULT	UST
{It is} time for Yahweh to act; they have broken your law.	Yahweh, you should punish {people} now because they have disobeyed your laws.

ULT It is} time for Yahweh to act; they have broken your law
UST Yahweh, you should punish {people} now because they have disobeyed your laws
(עֵ֤ת לַעֲשׂוֹת֙ לַיהוָ֔ה הֵפֵ֖רוּ תּוֹרָתֶֽךָ׃)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because they have broken your law, it is time for Yahweh to act]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT for Yahweh
UST Yahweh
(לַיהוָ֔ה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh in the third person even though he has been addressing him directly. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in the second person. Alternate translation: [for you, Yahweh,]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
It is} time	now
for Yahweh	Yahweh
your law	your laws

Psalms 119:127

ULT	UST
Therefore, I love your commandments more than gold and more than fine gold.	Because {I do not want to be like those people,} I love your instructions more than I love gold; I love them more than I love very pure gold.

ULT Therefore, I love your commandments
UST Because {I do not want to be like those people,} I love your instructions
(עַל־כֵּן אָהַבְתִּי מִצְוֹתֶיךָ)

The term translated as Therefore indicates that what follows is a result of the psalmist's reaction to what came before. Here the psalmist's reaction to the commandments is in contrast with those mentioned in the previous verse who broke Yahweh's laws. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [Because, unlike those people, I love your commandments]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I love	I love
more than gold	more than I love gold and more than fine gold	I love them more than I love very pure gold

Psalms 119:128

ULT	UST
Therefore, all the precepts of everything I carefully observe; every path of falsehood I hate. PE	So I am careful to obey everything that you have declared that we should do, and I hate all of the evil things that people do. PE

ULT Therefore
UST So
(עַל־כֵּן)

The term translated as Therefore indicates that what follows is a result of what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes this clear. Alternate translation: [Because of this]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT every path of falsehood
UST all of the evil things that people do
(כָּל־אֹרַח שָׁקֶר)

Here the psalmist is speaking of behavior as if it were a path that a person walks on. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [every way of living that is false]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT every path of falsehood
UST all of the evil things that people do
(כָּל־אֹרַח שָׁקֶר)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe a path that is characterized by falsehood. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [every false path]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT falsehood
UST the evil things that people do
(שָׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of falsehood, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [what is false]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

Psalms 119:129

ULT	UST
Your testimonies {are} wonderful; therefore, my soul has kept them.	All the things that you have instructed us to do are wonderful, so I obey them enthusiastically.

ULT my soul has kept them
UST I obey them enthusiastically
(נְצָרָתַם נַפְשִׁי)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to mean all of himself. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I have kept them]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your testimonies	All the things that you have instructed us to do
my soul	I & enthusiastically

Psalms 119:130

ULT	UST
The doorway of your words gives light, giving understanding to the simple.	When someone explains what you have said {to us}, it is as though he is opening a door to a bright light {that allows people to see what they did not see before}; what he says causes {even} people who have not studied your instructions to be wise.

ULT The doorway of your words gives light
UST When someone explains what you have said {to us}, it is as though he is opening a door to a bright light {that allows people to see what they did not see before
(פֵּתַח דְּבָרֶיךָ יָאִיר)

Here the psalmist is speaking of understanding and insight that he gets from Yahweh's words as if it were a light shining through an open doorway. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [When your words are explained, they bring insight]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT giving understanding to the simple
UST what he says causes {even} people who have not studied your instructions to be wise
(מֵבִין פְּתָיִים)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of understanding, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [helping the simple to understand]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT the simple
UST even} people who have not studied your instructions
(פְּתָיִים)

SPEAKER is using the adjective simple as a noun to mean a certain kind of person. Your language may use adjectives in the same way. If not, you can translate this adjective with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [those who are unlearned]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The doorway of	When someone explains & it is as though he is opening a door
giving understanding to	what he says causes & to be wise

Psalms 119:131

ULT	UST
I open wide my mouth and I pant, for I long for your commandments.	I eagerly desire to know what you have commanded {us}, as eagerly as though I were panting {for food and water}.

ULT I open wide my mouth and I pant, for I long for your commandments
UST I eagerly desire to know what you have commanded {us}, as eagerly as though I were panting {for food and water
(פִּי־פָעַרְתִּי וְאֶשְׁאָפָה כִּי לְמִצְוֹתֶיךָ יָאָבְתִּי)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because I long for your commandments, I open wide my mouth and I pant]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT I open wide my mouth and I pant
UST as eagerly as though I were panting {for food and water
(פִּי־פָעַרְתִּי וְאֶשְׁאָפָה)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his spiritual desire for Yahweh's commandments as if it caused him to open wide his mouth and pant. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I eagerly desire and yearn deeply]

Support Reference: Metaphor

Psalms 119:132

ULT	UST
Turn to me and be gracious to me, according to the judgment for the ones loving your name.	Pay attention to me and act kindly to me as is right {for you to do} for {all} those who love you.

ULT according to the judgment
UST as is right {for you to do
(כְּמִשְׁפָּט)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgment, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to how you judge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Turn to me
UST Pay attention to me
(פְּנֵה־אֵלָי)

The psalmist is speaking as if God were not looking at him and he asked him to turn to him and notice him. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Consider me]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your name
UST you
(שְׁמֶךָ)

Here, your name represents Yahweh himself, including his character and reputation. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [everything about who you are]

Support Reference: Metonymy

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and be gracious to me	and act kindly to me
according to the judgment	as is right {for you to do for the ones loving	for {all} those who love

Psalms 119:133

ULT	UST
Establish my steps in your word, and do not let any iniquity rule over me.	Please guide me by your instructions; do not allow me to desire to do sinful things more than to obey you.

ULT Establish my steps in your word
UST Please guide me by your instructions
(פְּעָמַי הָכֵן בְּאִמְרָתֶךָ)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his conduct in life as if it were steps that Yahweh could Establish or direct. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Guide my conduct by your word]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT and do not let any iniquity rule over me
UST do not allow me to desire to do sinful things more than to obey you (וְאַל־תַּשְׁלֶט־בִּי כָל־אָוֶן)

The psalmist is speaking of iniquity as if it were (1) a living thing that could rule over someone, Alternate translation: [and do not let me be controlled by any sin] or (2) evil men that could have power over the psalmist. Alternate translation: [and do not let wicked men have power over me]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT iniquity
UST sinful things
(אָוֶן)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of iniquity, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [wicked thing]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Establish	Please guide
iniquity	sinful things
do & let & rule	do & allow & to desire to do & more than to obey you

Psalms 119:134

ULT	UST
Redeem me from the oppression of man, that I may keep your precepts.	Rescue me from the people who oppress me so that I may obey what you have declared that we should do.

ULT from the oppression of man
UST from the people who oppress me
(מֵעֹ֣שֶׁק אָדָ֑ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of oppression, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from those who mistreat me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from the oppression of man
UST from the people who oppress me
(מֵעֹ֣שֶׁק אָדָ֑ם)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe oppression that is performed by man. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [from those who mistreat me]

Support Reference: Possession

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Redeem me	Rescue me

Psalms 119:135

ULT	UST
Make your face shine on your servant, and teach me your statutes.	Please act kindly toward me, your servant, and teach me what you have decreed that we should do.

ULT Make your face shine
UST Please act kindly toward (פָּנֶיךָ הָאֵר)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh showing favor and kindness as if his face could shine on someone. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Show favor]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT your face
UST Please act kindly toward
(פָּנֶיךָ)

Here, your face represents Yahweh's presence and attention. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or plain language. Alternate translation: [your presence]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT on your servant
UST me, your servant
(בְּעַבְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person. Alternate translation: [on me, your servant]

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
on your servant	me, your servant
and teach me	and teach me
your statutes	what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:136

ULT	UST
Streams of water go down {from} my eyes, because they do not keep your law. TSADE	I cry very much because many people do not obey your instructions. TSADHE

ULT Streams of water go down {from} my eyes
UST I cry very much
(פַּלְגֵי־מַ֥יִם יָרְד֗וּ עֵינָ֑י)

Here the psalmist is speaking of his many tears as if they were Streams of water coming out of his eyes. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I weep greatly]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT they do not keep your law
UST many people do not obey your instructions
(לֹא־שָׁמְר֥וּ תוֹרָתֶֽךָ)

Here the psalmist is using the pronoun they in a general sense, not to refer to specific people. Use an expression for this that would be natural in your language. Alternate translation: [people do not keep your law]

Support Reference: Pronouns — When to Use Them

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
they do & keep	many people do & obey
your law	your instructions

Psalms 119:137

ULT	UST
Righteous {are} you, Yahweh, and upright {are} your judgments.	Yahweh, you are righteous and the rules that you have given to us are just.

ULT Righteous {are} you, Yahweh, and upright {are} your judgments
UST Yahweh, you are righteous and the rules that you have given to us are just (צַדִּיק אַתָּה יְהוָה וְיָשָׁר מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ)

These two phrases mean basically the same thing. The second emphasizes the meaning of the first by repeating the same idea with different words. If it would be helpful to your readers, you could connect the phrases with a word that shows that the second phrase is repeating the first one, not saying something additional. Alternate translation: [Righteous are you, Yahweh, indeed, upright are your judgments]

Support Reference: Parallelism

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Righteous {are	are righteous
Yahweh	Yahweh
and upright {are	and & are just your judgments	the rules that you have given to us

Psalms 119:138

ULT	UST
You have commanded your testimonies {in} righteousness and faithfulness exceedingly.	All of the things that you have instructed us to do are absolutely right and exactly what we need.

ULT your testimonies {in} righteousness and faithfulness exceedingly

UST All of the things & us to do are absolutely right and exactly what we need

(צֶדֶק עֵדֹתֶיךָ וֶאֱמוּנָה מְאֹד)

If your language does not use abstract nouns for the ideas of righteousness and faithfulness, you could express the same ideas in other ways. Alternate translation: [your testimonies rightly and faithfully beyond measure]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
your testimonies	All of the things & us to do in} righteousness	are absolutely right
and faithfulness	and & what we need

Psalms 119:139

ULT	UST
My zeal consumes me, for my adversaries have forgotten your words.	I am furious because my enemies disregard what you have told us to do.

> ULT My zeal consumes me
> UST I am furious
> (צִמְּתַתְנִי קִנְאָתִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of zeal, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I am overwhelmingly angry]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My zeal	I am furious
consumes me	I am furious
my adversaries	my enemies

Psalms 119:140

ULT	UST
Your word {is} refined exceedingly, and your servant loves it.	All of the things that you have said are perfectly dependable, and I, your servant, love them.

ULT Your word {is} refined exceedingly
UST All of the things that you have said are perfectly dependable
(צְרוּפָה אִמְרָתְךָ מְאֹד)

Here the psalmist is speaking of the purity of Yahweh's word as if it were metal that has been refined by fire to remove impurities. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Your word is completely pure]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Your word {is} refined exceedingly
UST All of the things that you have said are perfectly dependable
(צְרוּפָה אִמְרָתְךָ מְאֹד)

The expression is refined is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is Yahweh. Alternate translation: [You have completely tested and proven your word to be pure]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT and your servant
UST and I, your servant
(וְעַבְדְּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of himself in the third person as your servant to show humility. If it would be helpful in your language, you could translate this in a humble form in the first person as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: First, Second or Third Person

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and your servant	and I, your servant
loves it	love them

Psalms 119:141

ULT	UST
Small {am} I and despised; your precepts I have not forgotten.	I am not important, and people despise me, but I do not forget what you have declared that we should do.

ULT and despised
UST and people despise me
(וְנִבְזֶה)

The expression despised is a passive verbal form. If it would be unnatural to use that form, you could express the idea in active form or in another way that is natural in your language. If you need to say who does the action, the context indicates that it is people generally. Alternate translation: [and others look down on me]

Support Reference: Active or Passive

ULT I have not forgotten
UST but I do not forget
(לֹא שָׁכָחְתִּי)

This is a double negative, consisting of the negative particle not and the negative word forgotten to emphasize that he will carefully remember Yahweh's precepts. If it would be clearer in your language, you could use a positive expression to translate this. Alternate translation: [I have carefully kept in my mind]

Support Reference: Double Negatives

Psalms 119:142

ULT	UST
Your righteousness {is} righteousness forever, and your law {is} truth.	You are righteous and you will be righteous forever, and your instructions are completely reliable.

ULT Your righteousness {is} righteousness forever
UST You are righteous and you will be righteous forever
(צֶדֶק צִדְקָתְךָ צֶדֶק לְעוֹלָם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [You always do what is right, and you will always be righteous]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT truth
UST are completely reliable
(אֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [trustworthy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your righteousness {is	You are righteous righteousness	and you will be righteous
forever	forever
and your law {is	and your instructions

Psalms 119:143

ULT	UST
Narrow and distress have found me; your commandments {are} my delight.	I am constantly stressed and anxious, but what you have commanded {us} causes me to rejoice.

ULT Narrow and distress have found me
UST I am constantly stressed and anxious
(צַר־וּמָצוֹק מְצָאֻונִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of distress, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [I am troubled and distressed]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT Narrow and distress have found me
UST I am constantly stressed and anxious
(צַר־וּמָצוֹק מְצָאֻונִי)

The terms Narrow and distress mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [Great trouble has found me]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT Narrow and distress have found me
UST I am constantly stressed and anxious
(צַר־וּמָצוֹק מְצָאֻונִי)

The psalmist is speaking of Narrow and distress as if they were living things that could have found a person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am experiencing great trouble]

Support Reference: Personification

ULT your commandments {are} my delight
UST but what you have commanded {us} causes me to rejoice
(מִצְוֹתֶיךָ שַׁעֲשֻׁעָי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of delight, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your commandments delight me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and distress	and anxious
my delight	causes me to rejoice

Psalms 119:144

ULT	UST
The righteousness of your testimonies {is} forever; give me understanding, so that I may live. QOPH	All of the things that you have instructed us to do are always right; help me to understand them in order that I may {continue to} live. QOPH

ULT The righteousness of your testimonies {is} forever
UST All of the things that you have instructed us to do are always right
(צֶֽדֶק עֵדְוֹתֶ֣יךָ לְעוֹלָ֑ם)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Your testimonies are righteous forever]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT The righteousness of your testimonies {is} forever
UST All of the things that you have instructed us to do are always right
(צֶֽדֶק עֵדְוֹתֶ֣יךָ לְעוֹלָ֑ם)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe testimonies that are characterized by righteousness. If a speaker of your language would not use the possessive form for this, you could express this idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Your righteous testimonies last forever]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT give me understanding
UST help me to understand them
(הֲבִינֵ֥נִי)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of understanding, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [enable me to understand them]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
The righteousness of	are & right
your testimonies	All of the things that you have instructed us to do is} forever	always give me understanding	help me to understand them

Psalms 119:145

ULT	UST
I call out with a whole heart; answer me, Yahweh! I shall keep your statutes.	Yahweh, fervently I call out to you; please answer me! I fully intend to obey what you have decreed that we should do.

ULT with a whole heart
UST fervently
(בְּכָל־לֵב)

Here the heart represents where a person's intentions and motives exist. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [with complete sincerity]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I call out	I call out to
Yahweh	Yahweh & you
your statutes	what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:146

ULT	UST
I call out to you; save me, so that I may keep your testimonies.	I call out to you, “Save me, in order that I may obey the things that you have instructed us to do.”

> ULT save me
> UST Save me
> (הוֹשִׁיעֵ֥נִי)

The psalmist is using the imperative save me to make a request to Yahweh. If the imperative does not communicate a polite request for your readers, then use a form in your language that communicates a polite request. It may be helpful to add an expression such as “please” to make this clear. Alternate translation: [please save me]

Support Reference: Imperatives — Other Uses

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I call out to you	I call out to you save me	Save me
your testimonies	the things that you have instructed us to do

Psalms 119:147

ULT	UST
I preempt the dawn and cry for help; for your words I wait.	{Each morning} I arise before dawn and call to you to help me; I confidently wait for you to do what you have promised to do.

ULT I preempt the dawn
UST Each morning} I arise before dawn
(קִדַּמְתִּי בַנֶּשֶׁף)

The psalmist is using preempt the dawn as a common expression of his culture to mean rising before the sun comes up. If this phrase does not have that meaning for your readers, you could use a comparable expression from your language that does have that meaning, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I wake up before daylight]

Support Reference: Idiom

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and cry for help	and call to you to help me

Psalms 119:148

ULT	UST
My eyes preempt the night watches, to meditate on your word.	All during the night I am awake, so that I can think about what you have said {to us}.

ULT My eyes preempt the night watches
UST All during the night I am awake
(קִדְּמוּ עֵינַי אַשְׁמֻרוֹת)

Here, My eyes preempt the night watches represents the psalmist staying awake throughout the night (the night was divided into 3 periods called watches). If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I stay awake through the night]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT to meditate on your word
UST so that I can think about what you have said {to us
(לָשִׂיחַ בְּאִמְרָתֶךָ)

The phrase to meditate on your word communicates the purpose for staying awake. The psalmist stays awake in order to think about what Yahweh has said. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this connection more explicit. Alternate translation: [in order to meditate on your word]

Support Reference: Connect — Goal (Purpose) Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
the night watches	All during the night to meditate	so that I can think about

Psalms 119:149

ULT	UST
Hear my voice according to your covenant faithfulness; Yahweh, according to your judgment, revive me.	Yahweh, because you faithfully love me, please listen to me {while I pray}; because you do what is right, make me joyful again in living {for you}.

ULT Hear my voice
UST please listen to me {while I pray
(קוֹלִי שְׁמָעָה)

Here, my voice represents what the psalmist says when he prays. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [Hear my prayer]

Support Reference: Metonymy

ULT according to your covenant faithfulness
UST because you faithfully love me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [loving me faithfully as you have promised]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT according to your judgment
UST because you do what is right
(כְּמִשְׁפָּטֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgment, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to the way you judge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT revive me
UST make me joyful again in living {for you
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. If it would be helpful in your language, you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [bring me back to right living]

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
according to your covenant faithfulness	because you faithfully love me
Yahweh	Yahweh
according to your judgment	because you do what is right

Psalms 119:150

ULT	UST
The pursuers of evil purpose have drawn near; from your law they are far away.	People who intend to harm me are approaching me; they completely disregard your instructions.

ULT The pursuers of evil purpose
UST People who intend to harm me
(רֹדְפֵי זִמָּה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of evil purpose, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Those who are scheming to do evil things to me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from your law they are far away
UST they completely disregard your instructions
(מִתּוֹרָתְךָ רָחָקוּ)

The psalmist is speaking of the wicked people as if they were physically far away from Yahweh's law. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [they do not obey your law at all]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
evil purpose	People who intend to harm me
from your law	your instructions

Psalms 119:151

ULT	UST
Near {are} you, Yahweh, and all your commandments {are} truth.	But Yahweh, you are near to me, and {I know that} what you command is completely right.

ULT Near {are} you, Yahweh
UST But Yahweh, you are near to me
(קָרוֹב אַתָּה יְהוָה)

The psalmist is speaking of the closeness of Yahweh's presence and help as if he were physically Near. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [You are present with me, Yahweh]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT are} truth
UST is completely right
(אֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [are true]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Yahweh	But Yahweh

Psalms 119:152

ULT	UST
Long ago, I knew from your testimonies that you have founded them forever. RESH	Long ago, I learned from what you have said that you established your commandments to last forever. RESH

> ULT that you have founded them forever
> UST that you established your commandments to last forever
> (כִּי לְעוֹלָם יְסַדְתָּם)

Here the psalmist is speaking of Yahweh's testimonies as if they were a structure built on a strong foundation that will last forever. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [that you issued them to last forever]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I knew	I learned
from your testimonies	from what you have said
you have founded them	you established your commandments
forever	to last forever

Psalms 119:153

ULT	UST
See my affliction and rescue me, for I have not forgotten your law.	Please acknowledge that I am suffering, and save me {from it}, because I continually obey your instructions.

ULT my affliction
UST that I am suffering
(עָנְיִ֑י)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of affliction, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [how I am afflicted]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT for I have not forgotten your law
UST because I continually obey your instructions
(כִּי־תּוֹרָתְךָ֥ לֹ֗א שָׁכָ֫חְתִּי)

Here, for introduces the reason why the psalmist appeals to Yahweh. He grounds his request in his faithfulness to Yahweh's law. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this connection more explicit as modeled in the UST.

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
my affliction	that I am suffering and rescue me	and save me {from it
your law	your instructions

Psalms 119:154

ULT	UST
Plead my plea and redeem me; for your word, revive me.	Defend me {when others accuse me} and rescue me {from them}; allow me {to continue} to live as you promised that you would do.

ULT Plead my plea
UST Defend me {when others accuse me
(רִיבָה רִיבִי)

The psalmist is using a construction in which the verb and its object come from the same root. You may be able to use the same construction in your language to express the meaning here. Alternatively, your language may have another way of saying this. Alternate translation: [Please defend my cause]

Support Reference: Poetry

ULT for your word
UST as you promised that you would do
(לְאִמְרָתֶךָ)

The word translated as for indicates that what follows is a reason for what came before. Use a connector in your language that makes it clear that what follows is a reason for what came before. Alternate translation: [because of what you have promised]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT revive me
UST allow me {to continue} to live
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [preserve my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Plead	Defend me
my plea	when others accuse me
and redeem me	and rescue me {from them

Psalms 119:155

ULT	UST
Salvation {is} far from the wicked, for they have not sought your statutes.	Wicked people do not obey what you have decreed that we should do, so you will certainly not save them.

ULT Salvation {is} far from the wicked, for they have not sought your statutes
UST Wicked people do not obey what you have decreed that we should do, so you will certainly not save them
(רָחוֹק מֵרְשָׁעִים יְשׁוּעָה כִּי־חֻקֶּיךָ לֹא דָרָשׁוּ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because the wicked have not sought your statutes, salvation is far from them]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT Salvation {is} far from the wicked
UST Wicked people & you will certainly not save them
(רָחוֹק מֵרְשָׁעִים יְשׁוּעָה)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh not saving the wicked as if Salvation were an object that was physically far from them. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The wicked have no hope of being delivered]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT Salvation
UST save them
(יְשׁוּעָה)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Being saved]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT from the wicked
UST Wicked people
(מֵרְשָׁעִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective wicked as a noun to refer to a type of person. If your language does not use adjectives this way, you could translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [from those who are wicked]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Salvation	save them
from the wicked	Wicked people
they have & sought	do & obey
your statutes	what you have decreed that we should do

Psalms 119:156

ULT	UST
Your compassions {are} many, Yahweh; according to your judgments, revive me.	Yahweh, you are constantly being merciful {to me} in many ways; because you always do what is right, please allow me {to continue} to live.

ULT Your compassions
UST you are constantly being merciful {to me
(רַחֲמֶ֣יךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of compassions, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Your acts of compassion]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT according to your judgments
UST because you always do what is right
(כְּמִשְׁפָּטֶ֣יךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of judgments, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to the way you judge]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT revive me
UST please allow me {to continue} to live
(חַיֵּֽנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [preserve my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Your compassions	you are constantly being merciful {to me
Yahweh	Yahweh
according to your judgments	because you always do what is right

Psalms 119:157

ULT	UST
Many {are} my pursuers and my adversaries; from your testimonies I do not turn aside.	Many people cause me to suffer, but I continue to obey what you have instructed us to do.

ULT my pursuers and my adversaries
UST cause me to suffer
(רֹדְפַי וְצָרָי)

The terms my pursuers and my adversaries mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [my enemies who pursue me]

Support Reference: Doublet

ULT from your testimonies I do not turn aside
UST but I continue to obey what you have instructed us to do
(מֵעֵדוֹתֶיךָ לֹא נָטִיתִי)

The psalmist is speaking of obedience to Yahweh's testimonies as if it were staying on a physical path, and disobedience as if it were to turn aside from that path. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I do not disobey your testimonies]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
and my adversaries	cause me to suffer
from your testimonies	but & what you have instructed us to do

Psalms 119:158

ULT	UST
I have seen the treacherous, and I was disgusted, because they have not kept your word.	When I look at those who are not faithful to you, I feel disgust because they do not obey what you have instructed us to do.

ULT the treacherous
UST those who are not faithful to you
(בֹּגְדִים)

The psalmist is using the adjective treacherous as a noun to refer to a type of person. If your language does not use adjectives this way, you could translate this with an equivalent phrase. Alternate translation: [treacherous people]

Support Reference: Nominal Adjectives

Psalms 119:159

ULT	UST
See that I have loved your precepts; Yahweh, according to your covenant faithfulness, revive me.	Yahweh, please notice that I love what you have declared that we should do; because you faithfully love me, please allow me {to continue} to live.

ULT according to your covenant faithfulness
UST because you faithfully love me
(כְּחַסְדֶּךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of covenant faithfulness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [according to how you love me so faithfully]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT revive me
UST please allow me {to continue} to live
(חַיֵּנִי)

The psalmist is speaking as if he were dead and is asking Yahweh to revive or make him alive again. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [preserve my life]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I have loved	I love
your precepts	what you have declared that we should do
Yahweh	Yahweh
according to your covenant faithfulness	because you faithfully love me

Psalms 119:160

ULT	UST
The head of your word {is} truth, and every judgment of your righteousness {is} forever. SHIN	Everything that you have said is true; every statement that you have made is right and will endure forever. SIN and SHIN

ULT The head of your word
UST Everything that you have said
(רֹאשׁ־דְּבָרְךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of the essence or totality of Yahweh's word as if it were the head. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [The essence of your word]

Support Reference: Metaphor

ULT is} truth
UST is true
(אֱמֶת)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of truth, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [is trustworthy]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT every judgment of your righteousness
UST every statement that you have made is right
(כָּל־מִשְׁפַּט צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgment characterized by Yahweh's righteousness. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this differently. Alternate translation: [every judgment that comes from your righteousness]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT of your righteousness
UST is right
(צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [of your right standards]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
judgment	statement that you have made
of your righteousness	is right
and & is} forever	and will endure forever

Psalms 119:161

ULT	UST
Princes pursue me without cause, and my heart trembles from your words.	Rulers persecute me for no reason, but I deeply respect your words.

ULT and my heart trembles from your words
UST but I deeply respect your words
(ומדבריך פָּחַד לִבִּי)

Here, and introduces a contrast. Even though his enemies are persecuting the psalmist without cause, his fear and reverence are directed toward Yahweh's words, not toward the princes. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make this contrast more explicit. Alternate translation: [however, my heart trembles from your words]

Support Reference: Connect — Contrast Relationship

ULT my heart trembles
UST I deeply respect
(פָּחַד לִבִּי)

Here the psalmist describes his deep inner reverence or awe as if his heart were actually trembling in fear. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I am in awe]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Princes	Rulers
trembles	deeply respect

Psalms 119:162

ULT	UST
I am rejoicing over your word, like one finding great plunder.	The things that you say make me very happy, as happy as someone who has found a great treasure.

ULT like one finding great plunder
UST as happy as someone who has found a great treasure
(כְּמוֹצֵא שָׁלָל רָב)

The point of this comparison is to emphasize the great joy the psalmist finds in Yahweh's word, comparing it to the joy of discovering something very valuable or great plunder. If it would be helpful in your language, you could make the meaning of this comparison more explicit. Alternate translation: [as joyful as one who finds a great treasure]

Support Reference: Simile

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
am rejoicing	very happy
plunder	a & treasure

Psalms 119:163

ULT	UST
Falsehood I hate and I abhor; your law I love.	I thoroughly hate {all} lies but I love your instructions.

ULT Falsehood
UST all} lies
(שֶׁקֶר)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of Falsehood, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [Everything that is false]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT I hate and I abhor
UST I thoroughly hate
(שָׂנֵאתִי וְאֵתַעֵבָה)

The terms I hate and I abhor mean similar things. The psalmist is using the two terms together for emphasis. If it would be clearer for your readers, you could express the emphasis with a single phrase. Alternate translation: [I completely despise]

Support Reference: Doublet

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Falsehood	all} lies
your law	your instructions
I love	but I love

Psalms 119:164

ULT	UST
Seven times in the day I praise you, because of the judgments of your righteousness.	I praise you throughout the day because everything that you tell us to do is completely right.

ULT Seven times in the day
UST throughout the day
(שֶׁבַע בַּיּוֹם)

The psalmist says Seven times in the day as a generalization to emphasize how frequently he praises Yahweh. He does not necessarily mean exactly seven times. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression. Alternate translation: [Many times in the day]

Support Reference: Hyperbole

ULT the judgments of your righteousness
UST everything that you tell us to do is completely right
(מִשְׁפְּטֵי צִדְקֶךָ)

The psalmist is using the possessive form to describe judgments characterized by Yahweh's righteousness. If it would be helpful in your language, you could express this differently. Alternate translation: [your righteous judgments]

Support Reference: Possession

ULT your righteousness
UST is completely right
(צִדְקֶךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of righteousness, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [your right standards]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
Seven times	throughout
I praise you	I praise you
the judgments of	everything that you tell us to do
your righteousness	is completely right

Psalms 119:165

ULT	UST
Great peace {is} to the ones loving your law, and there is no stumbling block for them.	Those who love your instructions live very peacefully; they will continually do the right thing.

ULT peace
UST live & peacefully
(שָׁלֹום)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of peace, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [well-being]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

ULT and there is no stumbling block for them
UST they will continually do the right thing
(וְאֵין־לָמוֹ מִכְשׁוֹל)

The psalmist is speaking of sinning as if it were a physical stumbling block which those who love Yahweh's law do not need to trip over. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [and nothing causes them to sin]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
peace	live & peacefully
is} to the ones loving	Those who love
your law	your instructions
stumbling block	they will continually do the right thing

Psalms 119:166

ULT	UST
I hope for your salvation, Yahweh, and I do your commandments.	Yahweh, I confidently expect that you will rescue me, and I obey what you have commanded {us}.

ULT for your salvation
UST that you will rescue me
(לִישׁוּעָתְךָ)

If your language does not use an abstract noun for the idea of salvation, you could express the same idea in another way. Alternate translation: [for when you will save me]

Support Reference: Abstract Nouns

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I hope	I confidently expect
for your salvation	that you will rescue me
Yahweh	Yahweh

Psalms 119:167

ULT	UST
My soul keeps your testimonies, and I love them exceedingly.	I obey what you have told us to do; I love all of it very much.

ULT My soul keeps your testimonies
UST I obey what you have told us to do
(שָׁמְרָה נַפְשִׁי עֵדֹתֶיךָ)

The psalmist is using one part of himself, his soul, to represent his whole person. If it would be helpful in your language, you could use an equivalent expression or state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [I keep your testimonies]

Support Reference: Synecdoche

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
My soul	I
keeps	obey
your testimonies	what you have told us to do and I love them	I love all of it

Psalms 119:168

ULT	UST
I keep your precepts and your testimonies, for all my ways {are} before you. TAV	I obey what you have instructed us to do, because you know everything that I do. TAW

ULT I keep your precepts and your testimonies, for all my ways {are} before you
UST I obey what you have instructed us to do, because you know everything that I do (שָׁמַרְתִּי פִקּוּדֶיךָ וְעֵדֹתֶיךָ כִּי כָל־דְּרָכַי נֶגְדֶּךָ)

If it would be more natural in your language, you could reverse the order of these phrases, since the second phrase gives the reason for the result that the first phrase describes. Alternate translation: [Because all my ways are before you, I keep your precepts and your testimonies]

Support Reference: Connect — Reason-and-Result Relationship

ULT all my ways {are} before you
UST you know everything that I do
(כָל־דְּרָכַי נֶגְדֶּךָ)

The psalmist is speaking of Yahweh seeing and knowing everything he does as if his ways were physical paths that are visible before Yahweh. Your language may have a comparable expression that you can use in your translation, or you could state the meaning plainly. Alternate translation: [for you see everything I do]

Support Reference: Metaphor

TRANSLATION WORDS

ULT	UST
I keep	I obey
your precepts	what you have instructed us to do and your testimonies	what you have instructed us to do

Psalms 119:169

ULT	UST
May my cry come near to your face, Yahweh; according to your word, give me understanding.	Yahweh, please listen as I call out to you {to help me}; help me to understand {your message}, as you said that you would do.

ULT May my cry come near to your face
