She should do this whether she gives birth to a baby boy or a baby girl. The priest should offer the lamb as a wholly burned sacrifice. The woman should also bring a dove or a pigeon to the priest. He should offer it as a purifying sacrifice. {This will purify her and allow her to be pure again before me.}

What was a woman required to do at the end of her purification?

When this happens, I will accept her again and purify her from the impurity of the blood that she bled when she gave birth to the baby. If their skin looks infected, like it may be an infectious skin disease, then someone should bring the infected person to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons or descendants, who are also priests.

What did Yahweh should happen if someone has on his skin a swelling, scab, or bright spot that becomes infected?

Yahweh said that anyone who has a skin infection must be brought to Aaron or to one of his sons, the priests.

Leviticus 13:3

ULT	UST
And the priest shall see the infection on the skin of the flesh, and {if} the hair on the infection has turned white, and the appearance of the infection {is} deeper than the skin of his flesh, it {is} an infection of skin disease. The priest should look to see if the hair on the infection is white and if the infection itself appears to be under their skin. If it is, then that infection is a symptom of an infectious skin disease. When the priest sees this kind of infection, he should judge the infected person to be impure. {The impure person should not touch other people or sacred objects or enter sacred space.}

Leviticus 13:4

He may also see that the infection is only skin-deep, and the hair on the infected spot is not white. If the priest sees this kind of infection, then he should quarantine the person with the infection for one week.

What must be done if the priest determines that the swelling, scab, or bright spot may not be infectious?

If the priest cannot determine that the swelling, scab, or bright spot is infectious, the priest must quarantine the person for one week.

Leviticus 13:5

If it has not, but rather the infection has receded and is now fainter in color, then the priest should judge the infected person to be pure. {That person may now touch other people and sacred objects and enter sacred space.} The infection is just a benign scab. The person with the infection should wash and clean his clothes, and then he will be pure.

What if the swelling, scab, or bright spot proves not to be infectious?

If the swelling, scab, or bright spot is not infectious, the priest will pronounce him clean and he must wash his clothes, and he will be clean.

Leviticus 13:7

ULT	UST
But if, spreading, the scab spreads on the skin after his appearing to the priest for his being pronounced clean, then he shall appear to the priest a second {time}.	However, it may happen that the scab spreads aggressively on the skin after the priest has examined the infected person and judged them to be pure. An infection of skin disease, when it is on a man, then he shall be brought to the priest.	It may also happen that someone develops an infection because of an infectious skin disease. In this case, the person with the infection should go to the priest.

What are the three conditions that the swelling, scab, or bright spot may show if it is to be declared infectious? (13:9-10)

The three conditions which the swelling, scab, or bright spot may show to be pronounced infectious are white swelling in the skin, the hair has turned white, and there is raw flesh in the swelling.

Leviticus 13:10

ULT	UST
And the priest shall see, and behold, a white swelling {is} on the skin, and it has turned the hair white, and a preservation of living flesh {is} on the swelling.	When the priest examines him, the priest should look to see if there is a white swelling on the skin that has caused the hair on the infected spot to become white. The priest should judge the person to be impure. {The impure person should not touch other people or sacred objects or enter into sacred space.} In this case, because the person with the infection is impure, the priest should not merely quarantine the person temporarily.

If the priest determines that this is a chronic skin disease, what must the priest do?

If the priest determines that this is a chronic skin disease, he must pronounce the person unclean, but the priest does not isolate him.

Leviticus 13:12

ULT	UST
But if, breaking out, the skin disease breaks out on the skin, and the skin disease covers all the skin of the infection, from his head and to his feet, to the whole vision of the eyes of the priest,	Alternatively, {when the priest examines the person with the infection, he might see that} the infectious skin disease has broken out aggressively on the person's skin such that, as far as the priest can see, it now covers the infected person's entire body, from head to toe.

If the skin disease covers the person's entire body and living flesh can be seen, what is the person declared to be? (13:12-14)

If the skin disease covers the person's entire body and living flesh can be seen, the person is declared to be unclean.

Leviticus 13:13

The unclean person may become clean again if the infection has been turned to white; the priest shall pronounce him clean.

But the person with a skin disease, who {has} on him the infection, on his clothes, they shall be torn, and his head shall be unbound, and he shall cover over the mustache, and 'Unclean, unclean!' he shall call out.	Anyone who has an infectious skin disease that develops an infection should tear his clothes and let his long hair hang down disheveled. He should also show his shame by covering his upper lip and crying out, 'I am impure! I have a contagious skin disease! Do not come near me!'

What must the unclean person do to let others know that he is unclean?
(13:45-46)

The unclean person must tear his clothes, let his long hair hang down disheveled, cover his upper lip, and shout “Unclean, unclean” when in the presence of others. He must also live alone, outside the camp.

Leviticus 13:46

ULT	UST
All the days that the infection {is} on him he will be unclean. He {is} unclean. He shall dwell alone; his dwelling {shall be} outside the camp.	As long as he has the infection, he is impure. It {is} unclean.	On the last day of the week-long quarantine, the priest should examine the infected fabric again. Whenever the infected spot spreads, the infection is actually a symptom of an infectious, malignant disease. What must the owner do with any garment of wool or linen or leather or anything made of leather that was found to be infected with a rotting fungus?

If any garment of wool or leather or anything made from leather is found to be infected with a rotting fungus, the owner must burn it completely.
